

World Peace Is Threatened by US, Russia

Speaking at assembly Wednesday on "America and Russia in Asia" Dr. No-Yong Park, author and lecturer, said, "There will never be peace and unity in China, or in the world as long as the world is split between the two rival camps of communism and democracy, each seeking to win the world to their side."

Dr. Park, who has taught the subject of far Eastern problems at a number of American universities, believes it is important for Americans to understand the situation in China. "In the past you forgot China and paid for it at Pearl Harbor. It could happen again," he said.

The national government of China has been pictured as a corrupt and inefficient dictatorship controlled by conservatives, reactionaries, fascists and powerful landlords, he said. In his visit to China, he stated that he found this not to be the truth.

"I had a lot of nerve so I talked personally with the leader of the party in control and learned that he did not own a bit of land. He was a radical rather than a conservative, anxious for reform and progress," Dr. Park said.

Considering what it has to work with, the government is very efficient, according to Park. He compared the job which the government has to do with that of a cook who must prepare a meal in an empty kitchen.

"Whenever China has been strong enough to unite herself, some foreign power has intervened and prevented it," Dr. Park stated. After the surrender of Japan, Russia prevented national troops from entering Manchuria until the communists were entrenched and their lines of communication established.

"At the present time the United States is not giving enough aid to the Chinese government to use in fighting the communists. Your relief aid is doing a good job, however," he said.

The rift between Russia and the United States must be crossed before the world can have peace, he believes. It may be crossed by two ways—voluntary cooperation by working through the UN or by military conflict. "I believe we will see real peace, one way or the other, within our lifetime," he said.

His latest book is "The White Man's Peace," an Oriental view of Western attempts at building a new order in Asia. "In this book I make fools of all the authorities on peace, including Henry Wallace," he remarked.

Dr. Park was born and reared in Manchuria. He attended the University of Minnesota and Harvard University where he received A. M. and Ph. D. degrees. For the past ten years he has served as a special lecturer on Far Eastern Affairs at the University of International Understanding under the auspices of Rotary International.

Dean Attends Confab

R. L. Throckmorton, dean of the School of Agriculture, will attend a conference of the Soil Conservation Service and the Great Plains Agricultural Council in Lincoln, Neb., next Thursday and Friday. The conference will concern relations between the United States Department of Agriculture and state colleges, and the relationship of the Bureau of Reclamation to the Department of Interior to the Missouri River Basin Project.

Eldridge Will Head Breeding Research

Dr. Franklin E. Eldridge of Cornell University, Ithaca, N. Y., will head the cattle breeding research program at the College beginning March 1. F. W. Atkeson, head of the animal husbandry department, has announced. As an associate professor, Dr. Eldridge will teach an advanced course in breeding and selection of dairy cattle and assist with undergraduate courses, Professor Atkeson said.

Eldridge holds a Bachelor of Science degree from the University of Idaho, master of science in dairy husbandry, Kansas State, and PhD in dairy cattle genetics from Cornell. He served in the Pacific theater during the war, is married and has two children.

Next Week To Be Brotherhood Week

Observance of Brotherhood Week in Manhattan will be February 15-22. This week has been proclaimed by President Truman for the nation and Governor Carlson for the state. The Manhattan Roundtable in charge of plans are Sam Saroff, William Farrell and W. E. West, YMCA executive secretary.

Dr. Max Milner, professor in milling industry, will address the Young People at the Congregational Church Sunday on the "Jewish Aspects of Brotherhood." Speakers at the Kiwanis Club Tuesday evening will be The Rev. William Hage, First Presbyterian Church of Emporia, and Prof. Erwin Benjamin, civil engineering instructor.

One of the highlights of the week will be a joint program sponsored by the Social Action Group of the Congregational Church and the Manhattan Roundtable. The speaker, Mr. Bayard Rustin, is a nationally known Negro leader and author of the "Inter-Racial Prayer." He will be at the College Forum, Wednesday at 4 p. m. in Rec. Center and will address a community meeting at the Congregational Church at 8 p. m.

Activities on Thursday will be led by Father Paul Meier and the Rev. Robert Gordon, both of Wichita and Dr. Milner. They will speak at the Rotary Club, the Co-op Club and Manhattan High School assembly.

Manhattan ministers will present Brotherhood sermons February 22, and special music at Brotherhood functions throughout the week will be furnished by the YMCA quartet.

Veterans May Voice Problems February 24

Student veterans with personal problems will have an opportunity to talk with Hollis D. Kemper, personal counselor from the Wichita V. A. office, on February 24 and 25. Kemper will be in Room 5A, Veterans Guidance Center, Anderson Hall, during regular office hours.

Veterans desiring to talk to Kemper during office hours need not make appointments in advance. L. W. Henning of the guidance center said, and efforts will be made to accommodate anyone seeking an evening interview.

"Mr. Kemper is concerned only with the veteran's personal problems," Henning added. "Questions about such items as subsistence payments and insurance claims should not be referred to Kemper but handled through the regular channels."

Psychology Meets

A meeting of all undergraduate and graduate majors in Psychology will be held Monday, Feb. 16, at 4:00 p. m. in G 206 for the purpose of forming a Psychology Club. If such a club is desired it is suggested that an election of officers be held at this meeting so that the organization can begin to function in the immediate future.

Students who are prospective majors in Psychology are also invited. Prof. H. Leigh Baker, education and psychology head, said.

KING OF HEARTS WILL BE CHOSEN TOMORROW NITE

Striking the Valentine's Day mood, the Purple Peppers will sponsor a "Heartthrob" dance in the Community House Saturday night from 9 to 12. Matt Betton's second band, the Varsity Club Orchestra, will provide the music.

A King of Hearts will be chosen from candidates entered by men's organized houses, according to Naomi Fralick, president of Purple Peppers. Candidates will be presented to the student body in a pre-game basketball pep rally to-night in Nichols Gym at 7:00.

The candidates are Bill Flannelly, Sigma Alpha Epsilon; Richard Caffrey, Delta Sigma Phi; Bob Rogers, Sigma Nu; Paul Kelly, Alpha Tau Omega; Tom Means, Farm House; Richard Harman, Beta Theta Pi; Bill Sturdevant, Acacia; John Fuller, Phi Delta Theta; Jule Thompson, Amistad; Terry Walter, Alpha Kappa Delta; Bob Hatcher, Pi Kappa Alpha; Loren Wiens, Theta Xi; James Kirkemide, Alpha Gamma Rho; Mister "X" (Karl Anderson), Tau Kappa Epsilon and Bob Robbins, Sigma Phi Epsilon.

Girls will vote for the King upon entering the building. The King will be crowned following intermission. Tickets for the girl-take-boy affair are on sale in Anderson Hall.

Faculty To Speak at Topeka High

Faculty representatives from each school at K-State will join representatives from other colleges today for "College Day" at Topeka high school.

The Topeka school sets aside one day annually for colleges to furnish high school students information about college curricula and college life. Faculty members of the different colleges are available for interviews with the high school students. Different colleges also furnish speakers for the assembly program that day.

The five schools at K-State will be represented by 21 faculty members at Topeka. They are:

School of Agriculture—Dean C. W. Mullen, William F. Pickett, and Merton Otto.

School of Engineering and Architecture—John F. Helm, Jr., R. M. Kerchner, Reed F. Morse, A. O. Flinner and G. C. Kolsky.

School of Arts and Sciences—Charles Stratton, R. C. Langford, M. J. Harbaugh, A. B. Sager, Eric Tebow, S. E. Witcomb, and Dean R. W. Babcock.

School of Home Economics—Miss Margaret Raffington, Miss Alpha Latzke and Miss Rosamond Kedzie.

The pre-veterinary medicine curriculum is in the School of Arts and Sciences and will be represented by Arts and Sciences faculty members. Dean A. L. Pugsley, Mrs. Hulda Keith and A. Thornton Edwards will represent the administration.

Math Test to Be Tuesday at 4 P.M.

Mathematic placement tests will be given in the Mathematics building from 4 to 5:30 p. m. Tuesday, February 17. Professor C. F. Lewis, associate professor of mathematics has announced. The examination will be given to the following classes of students:

(1) Students who entered the college for the first time after September 1, 1947, are enrolled in a class in college algebra or intermediate algebra and have not previously taken the test.

(2) Students entering the college for the first time after September 1, 1947, and who are enrolled in a curriculum in which mathematics in human affairs or general algebra is required (a) who have satisfied entrance requirements in mathematics, (b) have not presented transfer credit for at least one course in college mathematics, and (c) have not previously taken the test.

Students under group two should register in the office of the Department of Mathematics before February 17. Professor Lewis stated.

Dean Margaret Justin left Thursday for an extended trip to Utah, where she will make several talks in connection with the American Association of University Women. Dean Justin is first vice-president of the A. A. U. W.

While in Utah, Dean Justin will also consult with various home economists in the state.

H. S. Student Wins

Elmer L. Peltan, a senior in high school at Raymond had his college financial worries wiped out at Fort Worth, Tex., last week when his grand champion Hereford steer topped the all-time record and sold $5.60 a pound for $6,000. Peltan said he would use $5,000 of it for training in animal husbandry at K-State.

Teams To Tour 15 High Schools

Students who want to tour Kansas high schools this April with the Kansas State "Go to College" teams can try out for a team at auditions Tuesday from 7 to 9 p. m. in Nichols 203. Barbara King, chairman of the team committee, has announced.

Six students, Barbara states, will make up a team. Speakers, musicians, dancers and students of dramatics are needed, she pointed out. A master of ceremonies will be appointed to head each team composed.

"We would like to find lots of new talent," Barbara said. "Anyone has a chance to be on a team."

The speech and music departments are assisting the "Go to College" committee by helping select team members and by supervising programs.

One team will tour Salina, Hutchinson, Dodge City, and Great Bend. Another's itinerary will be Wichita, El Dorado, Winfield and Arkansas City. A third team will go to Independence, Coffeyville, Parsons and Iola. Ottawa and Topeka high schools will be reached by another team.

Princess Prom Dance to Be February 28

Plans for the Princess Prom, a semi-formal dance sponsored by Amistad, have been completed, according to Gail Morrison, social chairman of the organization. The dance, which is for all college students, will be February 28 at the Community House.

Miss Marjorie Cornelius and Miss Mita Brown have been selected as Amistad's candidates for Princess. Other independent, organized houses have been asked to select candidates.

The Princess will be selected by popular vote the evening of the dance and will be crowned after intermission. Pictures of the possible princesses will be on display in Anderson Hall the next two weeks. Tickets for the dance will go on sale at the same time.

Eddie Wortman's Twelve Melow Men from Emporia will play for the dance.

Cooperative Nursery

Wives of student veterans at Kansas State College manage a cooperative nursery for their children on the College campus.

Mothers leave their children at the nursery in the afternoon. They assist as teachers in the nursery under the direction of Dr. Lois Schulz, head of the child welfare and eugenics department at the College.

Some fathers also serve in the nursery. "And we find they do a fine job," Dr. Schulz said.

The nursery school is independently managed by veterans and their wives with Dr. Schulz acting only in an advisory capacity.

Eisenhower to East for UNESCO Meet

Fres. Milton S. Eisenhower and Kenneth S. Davis will attend United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization meetings in Washington and New York, February 16 to 21.

President Eisenhower is chairman of the executive board of the U. S. National Commission for UNESCO, which will meet Monday in Washington. The full commission meets Tuesday and Wednesday followed by conferences with the State Department Thursday.

President Eisenhower and Davis will attend meetings of the information committee on UNESCO in New York Friday and Saturday.

BOILER PARTS ARRIVE TODAY

Repair parts for the broken boiler in West Stadium are to arrive today, and installation and repair will take about 48 hours, R. F. Ginzrich, superintendent of Building and Repair, said yesterday.

Thermostatic controls on the boiler failed when the temperature dropped during the semester holiday. Two sections of the boiler were cracked.

Men living in West Stadium have been moved to a barracks in Moro Court and the hospital annex.

Montgomery Says U. S. Must Accept European Goods

"The Marshall Plan can be a sound economic investment from which we can realize substantial returns if we accept European goods in payment," declared Prof. George Montgomery, head of the Department of Economics and Sociology as he spoke on "The Marshall Plan—Russia and the United States in Europe" in Recreation Center Tuesday.

The lecture was the eighth in a series on Russia sponsored by the Institute of Citizenship.

U. S. at Fault

The plan for European recovery is not a program to stop Russia, but an economic investment, said Montgomery. "Much of our difficulty in Europe today lies in the mistakes of United States and Great Britain, rather than simple aggression of Russia."

Montgomery stated that Russia is opposed to the Marshall plan because economic chaos fits into the Russian scheme. "The tendency of the people of the United States to think of the Marshall plan solely as a relief program is holding back the success of the plan."

Production—Not Dollars

Montgomery went on to say that the success of the Marshall Plan rests on re-establishing production in Europe and establishing overseas markets in payment for raw materials. "This will be difficult because of the scarcity of food, machinery, transportation, equipment and technical leadership in western Europe. These are the things the Marshall plan should supply—not just dollars as some people think."

Dairymen to Meet at KSC Next Week

Approximately 50 people will attend the first annual dairy industry week to be held at the College next Tuesday thru Friday, according to Prof. W. H. Martin of the dairy department.

The program will be divided into two sections with the first two days being devoted to the problems of field men who work in the field for the milk plants and creameries. The second two days of the conference will be comprised of a special program for plant operators, Professor Martin said.

The conference will be of special interest to managers, plant superintendents, and others interested in the procurement, processing, sales and distribution of dairy products, Martin added. Outside speakers from various dairy industries will assist College dairy staff members at the meetings.

An ice cream clinic Friday will give the ice cream manufacturer an opportunity to send his product to the College for a complete analysis, Martin continued. Then he can compare his product with other manufacturers' ice cream while at the clinic.

Dairy industry week is designed to give technical training to the key men of the dairy manufacturing industry, and to discuss with them the phases and developments of new research work in the industry, he asserted.

Roderick Journeys

Dr. L. M. Roderick of the Department of Veterinary Pathology is in Washington D. C. this week attending a Veterinarians conference.

'Courtship' to Be Topic of KSC Marriage Lecture

"Courtship—the Prelude to Marriage" is the subject to be discussed Monday, when Dr. Robert Geib Foster, well known educator and author of college texts on marriage relations will keynote the College lecture series on Courtship and Marriage. Doctor Foster's lecture, the first of a series of five to be given here by nationally known speakers, will be in the College Auditorium, Monday, Feb. 16, from 7:30 to 9 p. m. Doctor Foster will allow a 30-minute period for questions from the floor.

Dr. Robert Geib Foster

Judging Teams Have Dinner Tonight, 6:30

Members of all College judging teams will attend their annual dinner at 6:30 p. m. to-night in Thompson hall.

Approximately 50 persons will attend. President and Mrs. Milton Eisenhower and members of the faculty will be present. Dr. H. E. Myers, head of the agronomy department, will be toastmaster.

Medals will be presented to team members by R. J. Throckmorton, dean of the School of Agriculture.

FUEL REACHES CRITICAL STAGE

The fuel oil situation at the College will become increasingly critical if the cold wave continues, said Case A. Bonebrake of the heat and power department Wednesday.

The College started using fuel oil at 4 a. m. Sunday. The daily consumption has far exceeded the daily supply, Bonebrake said. On good days when the oil can be transported here, the College receives 2700 gallons.

Last Tuesday's consumption of oil was 7,000 gallons and Wednesday's 9,000 gallons. There are 59,000 gallon held in reserve. In cold weather this reserve would last only five or six days.

Normally the College uses gas from the Kansas Power and Light Company. Under the contract, when the load gets heavy, the gas for the College is shut off, and fuel oil is used.

With the fuel oil supply as low as it is now, Bonebrake says the emergency is much more serious than either the faculty or students realize. The Manhattan public schools closed Wednesday noon and Thursday.

Mental Health Care

Mental illness in Kansas, its needs and present state facilities for its cure will be discussed here today. Dr. Edgar Warren, director of the division of mental hygiene of the State Board of Health, will lead the discussion, sponsored by the Manhattan Association of University Women.

Psychiatric facilities of Kansas rank 45th among the states with emphasis on care rather than treatment, members of the AAUW say.

Dr. Warren, a graduate of the Yale school of medicine, became a fellow in the Menninger Foundation, Topeka, two years ago.

Brazil Student in Home Economics

A new foreign student is registered in the School of Home Economics this semester. She is Miss Ivone Henriques from Juiz de Fora, Minas, Brazil. A graduate of Colégio Bennett, Rio de Janeiro, she taught home economics at Isabela Hendrix School at Belo Horizonte, Minas. She will major in foods and nutrition at Kansas State.

All students, their wives and friends are invited to attend the series, according to members of the lecture committee. Letters urging student attendance and support of the series have been sent to the presidents of all College social organizations and houses, student religious groups and the ministry of Manhattan's churches.

An educator with years of experience in the marriage field, Doctor Foster has taught at Cornell University, Iowa State, University of Chicago, Columbia University, Nebraska and Kansas Universities. He is head of the Family Life Institute at the Merrill-Palmer Institute of Detroit, Mich.

Both Letters and Books

Holder of Bachelor of Science and Doctor of Philosophy degrees, the doctor has also studied special courses in the Yale Institute of Human Relations. Now on sabbatical leave from Detroit, Doctor Foster is teaching courses on marriage relationships at Kansas University and doing special work in clinical psychiatry at the Menninger Foundation in Topeka.

In addition to his teaching activities, the Doctor is the author of many articles and two books, "Women After College, A Study of the Effectiveness of Their Education," and "Marriage and Family Relationships," a college textbook.

Doctor Foster has lectured on marriage and various connected subjects in every state in the middle west, according to Ralph Salisbury, chairman of the lecture committee. "The committee is most pleased at having the College invitation accepted by so sound an authority on this subject."

Six other speakers are confirmed for the series, the chairman said. They will cover various phases of the marriage subject, including courtship, the physical aspects, divorce, psychological adjustments, and religion in marriage.

Needs Student Support

The lecture series is a direct result of a "much voiced student demand," according to Salisbury. "It was student requested, President Eisenhower approved it, the committee has done a marvelous job—all that remains now is for students to support it."

Recommended as an annual presentation, this is the first series of public lectures on Courtship and Marriage to be officially sponsored by the College. Much the same type of program has been presented on a smaller scale, by the YMCA and the YWCA, the chairman said, "and they have cooperated in lining up the program for this year."

Members of the lecture committee, besides Salisbury, are Betty Rich, Norma Lou Meyers, Joan Beggs, Verle West, Wilbur Engelland, Bill Root, Dr. Earl Edgar, Prof. Charles Mathews, and Mrs. B. A. Rogers.

Counseling Bureau Will Assume Tasks

Foreign student counseling will be carried on by the Counseling Bureau instead of the Faculty Subcommittee on Foreign Students, Dean of Administration A. L. Pugsley announced yesterday. The change has been approved by the Faculty Council and President Eisenhower.

Members of the modern language department, who had been serving on the committee felt that because of their increased teaching load foreign student counseling could be more effectively carried out by the Counseling Bureau.

Faculty volunteers to serve as personal advisors to students from foreign countries are still needed, Pugsley said.

"I would like to express my appreciation for the service and work of the Committee in counseling and advising the students from other countries," the Administration head stated.

Another Title?

The student body at Kansas State College is rapidly approaching its second consecutive Big Six (Seven) title. No, it's not a distinction that goes down in the record book or something to be proud or to brag about. The championship we are talking about is the one handed to this college last year.

At a meeting of conference coaches and officials last spring, the student body of this college was named the most rowdy, unmannered and unhospitable group of basketball spectators in the conference. That is not a title to be proud of. All indications point to a repeat performance in that category.

Booing and name calling at basketball games not only show poor taste, but also show the ignorance of the person and lack of manners of the person doing it. We enjoy a basketball game as much, or more, as anyone. But if the person who boos would only stop to think of the bad impression of the College presented to visiting coaches, officials and guests, we are sure he would not be so "quick on the trigger" to condemn the opposition or the officials.

We remember seeing a game not too long ago that was lost, not by the players, but by a highly partisan crowd. A referee's decision was vociferously disputed by the crowd. The official continued to call technical fouls on the crowd and the booing ceased. The free throws were made by the opposition in that interlude proved to be the deciding margin of the contest. Coach Jack Gardner and his fighting Wildcats have compiled a record this season that is one of the most outstanding in the nation. In doing so they have brought the name of Kansas State College into the national limelight as well as being potential Big Seven champions.

It would be a mighty chagrined group of students if this fine record was marred by an incident similar to one in 1944. Following a red-hot K-State-K.U. battle, in which the Hawkers came out on top, the referee was mobbed, his shirt torn off and more harm might have happened to him but for President Eisenhower's appeal to the students to go home and forget about the whole thing.

When the Oklahoma Sooners invade Nichols Gym Saturday night, and Jayhawkers come to Manhattan next Wednesday, let's go out there and be "every man a Wildcat" and "yell our heads" off for our team. But let's not be so quick to censor the referee and the opposing players. REMEMBER, THE FINAL OUTCOME OF THE BIG SEVEN RACE MAY WELL DEPEND ON US, THE STUDENTS, AS WELL AS BRANNUM, HOWEY, HARMAN, SHANNON, DEAN AND THE REST OF THE GANG.

OUTSIDE the Ivy WALLS

by Clyde A. Osburn
Grain prices are dropping the daily limits of 10 cents on wheat and 8 cents on corn. The sharp declines were immediately reflected by the large grocery chains' announcement of lower prices on food. The price of wheat a bushel on the Chicago Board of Trade has dropped from the January high of $3.12 to this week's low of $2.55.

Seven Southern Governors have given the Democratic National Administration an ultimatum to cease attacks on "white supremacy" or face a full-fledged revolt in the South.

The State Department has informed Congress it will ask for a global total of $9,333,000,000 for foreign aid through the fiscal 1949. Included would be $570,000,000 aid to China beginning April 1.

The Arab Higher Committee of Palestine sent to the United Nations a formal declaration of war in "self defense" against any attempt to partition the Holy land. It declared that the Arabs would fight "to the last man" against any force going to Palestine to partition the country.

Russia has offered to buy 87 ships she got from the United States through wartime lend-lease. Moscow's retention of the vessels has long been a point of controversy.

Columbia University is beginning to remodel its president's house for General of the Army Dwight D. Eisenhower's occupancy. Alterations are expected to be finished by April 15.

Edwin W. Pauley, subject to Congressional inquiries into his commodity market dealings, resigned as special assistant to Secretary of the Army. Mr. Pauley said his job was done. The published profits of Pauley over a three year period was $932,000.

The price of food is dropping in the nation's grocery stores. A spot survey made across the country by the Associated Press disclosed price cutting in meats, flour, butter and sugar. No appreciable drop has been noticed in Manhattan yet.

New Students

New students—persons who were not in school during the fall semester—may still have their pictures taken and placed in the class section of the Royal Purple by getting a receipt at the R. P. business office, K-105, immediately.

Pictures will be taken by appointment at the Studio Royal in Aggieville on or before February 21, according to Virginia Gingrich, editor of the annual.

"This offer is not open to students here during the first semester," the editor said, "and although we would like to include them, it is too late for any pictures to be included in the organizations sections, or any other part of the book."

Chapel Window Bought by Boyds

A window in the Meditation Chapel has been chosen as a memorial to Frank W. Boyd, former editor of the Jewell County Record, who died September 16, 1947. Kenney L. Ford, alumni secretary announced today.

Every member of the Boyd family attended Kansas State College. Frank Boyd was a student here and his wife, Mame Alexander Boyd, graduated with the class of 1902. Both of their sons, McDill "Huck" Boyd, Phillipsburg, and Francis, Manhattan, are former journalism students. A few years ago Mrs. Boyd was honored by being chosen the first President of the Kansas State College Alumni Association.

Two Appointed to College Committees

Two vacancies have occurred in all-College Presidential Committees, the office of the President has announced.

The Student Council has recommended that Virginia Grandfield become a member of the student evaluation of teachers' committee. Last summer this committee carried out an evaluation program of the faculty. Results of questionnaires given to summer school students were announced this fall. The committee, under the direction of Prof. Reed Morse is making plans to use the evaluation program again this spring.

The other committee change was the appointment of Mike Burns to the academic dishonesty committee under the direction of Prof. Wilson Tripp. Both vacancies were the result of fall semester graduations.

Dance Club Tonight

Friday-Nite Dance Club, sponsored by the YMCA-YWCA, will be tonight at 9 p. m. in the women's gym. Tickets dated February 6 will be honored and may be purchased in the YMCA or YWCA office. Remaining dances will be February 20, 27 and March 5.

Record Hour

Programs for the next four presentations of the Noon Day Record Hour are announced as follows: Today: Tchaikovsky's "Romeo and Juliet," Mozart's "Eine Klein Nachtmusik" and Mendelssohn's "Midsummer Night's Dream Overture."

Monday, students will hear two numbers, the Mendelssohn Stravinsky's "Fire - Bird" "Concerto in E Minor" and Suite. Tuesday's program will include Svendsen's "Carnival in Paris," Bach's "Concerto in D Minor" and Beethoven's "Grosse Fugue." The three numbers for Wednesday are Dukas' "The Sorcerer's Apprentice," the Bach "St. Matthew's Passion" and Rachmaninoff's "Rhapsody" for piano and orchestra.

The Noon Day Record Hour is presented in Recreation Center every week day with the exception of Saturday and Sunday. Programs are made up from student requests. Dewey Carpenter is in charge of the presentations.

Change Dates For Pygmalion Showing

Performance dates for "Pygmalion," the offering of the K-State Players, have been changed from February 20 and 21 to March 5 and 6, according to an announcement by Director Earl G. Hoover after a conference with C. O. Price, assistant to President Eisenhower. The delay was caused by a shortage of fuel oil for heating college buildings, Professor Hoover stated.

Student tickets already reserved for the play will be valid on the new Friday and Saturday dates. Student tickets for "Pygmalion" will not be on sale at the box office until ticket sales for the Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra have been completed February 27.

Gates Leads Society

Dr. F. C. Gates, professor of botany and plant pathology, has been appointed by the president of the National Ecological Society to head a committee to form a cumulative index for 28 published volumes on ecology. Other committee members include Dr. J. Aickman, Iowa State College, and Dr. Alfred Emerson, University of Chicago. Professor Gates estimated it would take more than a year to complete the work.

Monro Writes Reptile Article

By keeping an eye on the pet snakes he keeps in his basement, Dr. F. Munro, associate professor of modern language, was able to gather material for an article on the behavior of snakes in captivity and the result of one poisonous snake biting another. The article appeared in the December 12 issue of Herpetologica magazine, which publishes studies of the various phases of reptile life.

Professor Munro keeps the several species of snakes which he owns in wire cages and feeds them a diet of frogs and chopped horse meat.

Judgers Eat Steak

Steak will be on the menu Friday night for the Judging Teams Banquet to be held in the College Cafeteria. Judging teams representing the livestock, meats, crops, poultry and dairy divisions will be represented at the dinner. One representative selected from each judging team will make a brief speech following the dinner.

Chairmen Note

A non-credit class in parliamentary procedure is being organized for the benefit of organization officers or any one else who is interested. The class will be in Education Hall Thursdays from 5 to 6. Dr. Hill of the speech department is to instruct the class. Anyone interested in joining the class should contact O. O. Vieux, box 389 KSC, before Tuesday.

Cold Wave Affects KSC Campus Court

"Residents of Campus Courts are 'sweating out' the latest cold wave," A. J. Kearns, maintenance head at Campus Courts, reported today. More than two-thirds of the fuel oil stoves in the trailers have been used so much this winter they are clogged with carbon and need to be cleaned, but the weather is so cold the occupants can't give them up to be fixed.

Mr. Kearns also said the fine snow accompanying the cold wave is sifting into the trailers around the doors and windows where weather stripping needs repairing.

Ben M. Starks of Campus Courts said he awakened yesterday morning in a miniature blizzard. The snow had sifted around the windows of the trailer and was on the bed and floor.

Sooners Enter Cat Lair for Toss-Up Cage Clash

The chips will be down in Nichols Gymnasium tomorrow night when Bruce Drake's high-powered court aggregation moves into action against Jack Gardner's whirlwind Wildcats. The conference clash will be the first of a three game home stand that may make or break K-State title chances. The tip-off will be at 8 o'clock.

The league leading Cats will have a 4-1 Big Seven record in the battle with the third place Sooners. Drake's crew holds a 3-2 conference mark.

Next week the Cats will again take to the Nichols Gymnasium court, meeting Phog Allen's Jayhawks on Wednesday and seeking revenge on the Missouri Tigers Saturday night.

The Oklahomans have come along fast since bowing to the Wildcats during the Big Seven pre-season tournament at Kansas City. Big Bill Waters, successful K-State title chances. The tip-off will be at 8 o'clock.

KSC Matmen Lose to Husker Team by 17-9 Decision

"Pat" Patterson, former wrestling coach at K-State, returned to Nichols Gym Tuesday night to coach his Nebraska grapplers to a 17-9 decision over the Wildcat matmen.

As Wildcat coach "Red" Reynard had predicted, Patterson brought a strong team from the Cornhusker state, and proved they would make it rough in conference competition this year.

The match was closer than the score indicated and the outcome was in doubt until the final horn blew. The Wildcats came into the heavyweight class needing a fall to salvage a tie for the evening. Joe Blanchard, K-State heavyweight, wrestled a good match but found De Biase of Nebraska too big and dropped a 2-1 decision in one of the outstanding matches on the program.

Nebraska jumped to a quick lead when Yombar pinned Falwell in 1:05 of the second period in the 121 lb. class for the only fall of the night. The K-State matmen annexed the next three matches and held a 9-5 lead at the half-way point. From then on it was all Nebraska as they won the last four classes.

Coach Reynard's two sons, Jimmy, age 5, and Jerry, age 7, wrestled a preliminary three minute exhibition match. The boys showed they knew their stuff and will make it tough on future opponents.

The scores: 121 lb. class, Yombar, N. U. pinned Falwell, K-State in 1:05 of second period.

175 lb. class, Marinkovich, NU, decided Romero, KS, 7-6.

Heavyweight, De Biase, NU, decided Blanchard, KS, 2-1.

Grid Schedule

A 10-game Kansas State football schedule for 1948 was announced recently by Athletic Director Thurlio E. McCrady. The slate includes four non-conference battle and six Big Seven encounters.

Two of the Wildcat opponents in 1948 will be appearing on the K-State schedule for the first time in history. They are Illinois University and Arkansas State College. Another foe, St. Louis University, will meet the Cats for the first time since 1923. K-State topped the St. Louis club in that last meeting by a 20-14 score.

The 1948 schedule:

- Sept. 25—Illinois University at Urbana
- Oct. 2—Iowa State College at MANHATTAN
- Oct. 9—Arkansas State College at MANHATTAN
- Oct. 16—Oklahoma University at Norman
- Oct. 23—Colorado University at Boulder
- Oct. 30—Missouri University at MANHATTAN
- Nov. 6—Nebraska University at Lincoln
- Nov. 13—Kansas University at MANHATTAN
- Nov. 20—Oklahoma A. and M. College at Stillwater
- Nov. 25—St. Louis University at St. Louis

Dr. Fred A. Kummerow, associate professor in the Department of Chemistry, has received a citation from the quartermaster corps in recognition of "outstanding contributions in fields of interest to the Food Container Institute." The citation stated that he has been appointed to the Institute's Liaison and Scientific Advisory Board to serve in a food and container research program for national security.

In addition to the quartermaster corps, Dr. Kummerow has been directing research on the campus for the Office of Naval Research and the Kansas Industrial Development Commission.

CAPT. STANLEY FANSHER (left) and CHARLEY NIGHSWONGER will be two of Coach "Red" Reynard's main hopes tonight when the Cat matmen meet Minnesota's Golden Gophers in Nichols Gymnasium.

Conference K-frat to Honor Alums at Banquet

By Roger Swanson

With the Big Seven boasting one of the most talent-packed rosters in years, sportswriters around the loop will face a tough job when it comes to picking the all-conference squad this year.

From the cellar to the top, the circuit overflows with quality court stars. On two clubs alone, Missouri and Kansas State, there's enough talent to name an outstanding starting five.

Here at home, Hal Howey, Howard Shannon, and Rick Harman will bear consideration, while in Tigerland, Thornton Jenkins and Dan Pippin are just about "must" choices for the all-conference honors. State cage mentor Jack Gardner calls Pippin the "most outstanding and brilliant" court star he's seen play against his Wildcats since 1939 when he took over coaching duties here.

Pippin bucketed 24 points for Mixou to account for half his club's scoring in the 48-46 edge of the Wildcats. Gardner said the 6-2 ace displayed great accuracy and covered the court in such a manner that some of his shots were unguardable.

At Kansas, Otto Schnellbacher will be mentioned as a possible choice, and certainly Paul Courty, the outstanding Oklahoma forward will be thought highly of when it's conference-picking time, as will Ken Pryor and Paul Merchant, Sooner guards. Colorado's Carr Baseman is another standout as are Ron Norman, a gridiron passing artist in the fall, and Bob Petersen at Iowa State. Norman busted a field goal record in Ames recently and Petersen has been the honor man for Cyclone scoring in many contests.

Gossip: The Big Seven now has a full time secretary. He's Reaves Peterson, former Kansas City high school coach, long active in conference affairs, who maintains an office in the Hotel Phillips, Kansas City. Most sports fans agree that C. E. (K.C. Star) McBride's column on Mike Ahearn was a fine and fitting tribute to the "honest dean". K-State sports publicity director Fred Parris has a whale of a job Saturday night. At the request of the Daily Oklahoman, Oklahoma City, he'll file a story of 750 words on the Sooner-Wildcat tussle. Resignation of grid coach Bernie Masterson at Nebraska was the result of several months bickering by students and others there. Sam Francis is still in Lee's Summit, Mo., his wife's home. Ted Warren, a former K-State football and basketball star, may be a new member of College athletic staff. He'll be a field representative for the athletic dept., making contacts and conducting general liaison with high schools and prospective talent over the state. LET'S NAME IT AHEARN FIELD HOUSE.

CAT GRAPPLERS MEET GOPHERS

The Kansas State wrestlers, under the tutelage of Leon "Red" Reynard, will tangle with the University of Minnesota grapplers tonight at 8 o'clock in Nichols Gymnasium. Ticket no. 2 in both books will be honored.

Wrestling for K-State will be Dean Hess, 121 lbs.; Wayne Coltrain, 128 lbs.; Stanley Fansher, 145 lbs.; Verle McClellan or William Brown, 155 lbs.; Walter Dalton, 165 lbs.; Ray Romero, 175 lbs.; and Joe Blanchard, heavyweight.

Charlie Lyons, regular 175-pounder, is still unable to wrestle because of his knocked-down shoulder. "We hope to have Lyons back for the Big Seven meet March 5-6 at Boulder, Colo." Coach Reynard said.

Vets Wives' Nursery Elects New Officers

New officers for the Veterans Wives' Co-op Nursery School are president, Mrs. Willard Leppold; vice-president, Mrs. J. Sconland; secretary, Mrs. Richard Rose and treasurer, Mrs. W. M. Miller.

Board members for the coming term will be Mrs. W. R. Coutant and Mrs. I. A. Askew.

Walker, Tebow Aid

Dr. Robert A. Walker, director of the Institute of Citizenship, and Eric Tebow, of the Institute, will aid in the organization of the Saline County UNESCO Council Saturday.

Dr. Walker, chairman of the Kansas Commission for UNESCO, will speak at afternoon session. Mr. Tebow will show films at the banquet meeting at night.

HOWARD SHANNON, ace Wildcat guard, is the number two scorer for the squad this season. His graceful court style and miraculous jump-shot have made him a great favorite with the cage fans.

backboard sentinels, battle for control of the sphere with the Wildcats' claying pair, Rick Harman and Clarence Brannum. The biggest worry for Coach Bruce Drake will be devising a means of stopping the five-alarm Wildcat offense. The Purple and White scoring attack has piled up an average of more than 56 points a game while winning 15 and losing two. Meanwhile, the Cats have been more than normally stingy on the defense. The Gardner Ballhawks have limited their opponents to an average of less than 45 tallies per contest.

The majority of Sooner-Wildcat games in recent years have been close, hard fought thrillers. Most of the time, only a few points have separated the winner and loser. Last season, the Cats tripped the favored Oklahomans in early season play by a 59-55 count. The Sooners came roaring back in conference play to dump the Cats twice by 50-30 and 57-38 scores.

SOCIETY

February 14th—the verses say, "Won't you be mine?" That old familiar line rings as now we approach St. Valentine's. But the leading question at K State is—who will be our Heart Throb King?

Chocolates at Pal-O-Mie and cigars at the Theta Xi house Wednesday night told of the engagement of Helen Taddicken to Morris Arnold.

Helen is a junior in history and government and Morris is a junior in engineering. They are both from Marysville.

'Tis a Sig Alph pin that Betty Hinkhouse is now wearing! Betty treated her Pi Phi sisters to chocolates Wednesday evening to announce her engagement to Bill Aubel. Betty is from Hays and Bill is from Manhattan.

Arcadia is having a house party tonight from 8-12.

Miss Patricia McCarty became the bride of Kenneth Hunt at a double ring ceremony at the Presbyterian Church of Concordia on Sunday afternoon during vacation.

Chadler were lighted by Lil. Mac Hansen, and Verna Lee Sarvis. The bride was attended by her sister, Mrs. L. E. Ward. The best man was L. E. Ward and ushers were Tom Lanman and Rudolph Kramer, fraternity brothers of the bridegroom.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's grandparents.

Patricia, Pi Beta Phi, graduated in medical technology at the end of the fall semester. Kenneth, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, is a junior in business administration.

A Superstition Party will be held at Van Zile Hall tonight from 8 to 11.

Not one, but two! The Delta Sigma Phi's had a double surprise Wednesday evening. Lester Shriver, sophomore in Arts and Science from Kansas City, Mo., passed cigars announcing his engagement to Virginia Emery of Wichita. The second round of cigars announced the engagement of Carl Morgan and Martha Jane Henry, Alpha Xi Delta. Carl is a junior in Arts and Science. Mary Jane is a junior in home economics. They are both from Kansas City.

The city alumni club of Al-were Ben Pickering, Benny York, and P. J. Baker.

Mary attended Kansas State for the past three years and is a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority. Mary and Carl are at home in Lawrence where he is attending Kansas University.

A valentine party will be held at Maison-elle tonight.

Miss Phyllis Barr and Clarence Stanley Williams were married Saturday afternoon at the Manhattan Christian Church.

Mrs. Otis Pearce attended her cousin as matron of honor. Kyle Morgan acted as best man. Kermit Kora and Newton Wright ushered.

A reception was held following the ceremony at the Pal-O-Mie House where Phyllis lived while attending school.

Phyllis graduated from Kansas State in January. Clarence, a member of Acacia, graduated in electrical engineering last spring. The couple is now at home in Kansas City, Mo., where he is an instructor at the Central Radio School.

Barclay; vice-president, Jane Stinebaugh; secretary-treasurer, Margaret Atwood; social chairman, Francis Weaver; publicity chairman, Pat Pottorff; song leader, Marguerite Jolly.

Announcement has been made of the engagement of Roberta Ince, Wamego, to Clyde Stroman of Chicago. Roberta lived at Van Zile Hall and graduated from Kansas State in '46. She is now working in Chicago.

Groups Observe Brotherhood at KSC This Week

American Brotherhood Week, being celebrated in Manhattan and on the Kansas State College campus, opened Sunday at the Congregational Church. Dr. Max Milner, milling industry professor, spoke to the young peoples group at the Congregational Church on "Jewish Aspects of Brotherhood." He will address the Manhattan Kiwanis Club tonight with the Rev. William Hage, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Emporia, and Prof. Erwin Benjamin, civil engineering instructor.

Brotherhood Week is sponsored annually by the National Conference of Christians and Jews, Inc., to foster justice, amity, understanding and cooperation among Christians and Jews.

Speaks Tomorrow

Bayard Rustin, Negro leader among colleges and churches, will speak at a College Forum in Rec Center tomorrow at 4 p.m. The Negro speaker was the leading speaker at the Kansas-Oklahoma Student Peace Conference last year. He has spoken before many student and church groups in the nation. Born in Pennsylvania, he graduated from high school with honors in scholarship, football, track, tennis, singing and speaking.

He will be in Manhattan under the auspices of the YWCA, YMCA and Institute of International Relations. He will also speak at a general community meeting at the Congregational Church tomorrow at 8 p.m.

Part of the week's program will be presentation of the picture "Crossfire" at a local theatre. This is the first Hollywood production which directly attacks anti-semitism.

Thursday's activities will be led by Dr. Milner, the Rev. Paul Meir and the Rev. Robert Gordon, both of Wichita. He will speak at the Rotary Club, G.O.P. Club and a Manhattan High School assembly.

Manhattan ministers will present Brotherhood sermons Sunday. Special music throughout the week will be furnished by the YMCA quartet.

Schovee, Wright Take First Place

William Schovee and Harvey Wright took first place honors in the bridge play-offs at Van Zile Hall Tuesday. Art Hiser and Jim McGovern, top pair in two other play-offs, were second.

The next elimination tournament will be Thursday at the Sun Room of the Gillett hotel. The contestants will play hands sent to tournament director Bill West.

After the tournament has been completed, the national committee will select 16 teams from colleges throughout the nation to compete in the national finals in Chicago in April.

Other placings in the Tuesday tournament were: Howard Shelton and John Hudeston, third; Morris Rowe and Edward May, fourth; and Jerry Collins and Jack Dean, fifth.

GOOD NEIGHBOR POLICY PAYS

Milling Head Has Savage Face on Office Wall

By David Meier

Dr. J. A. Shellenberger, head of the milling department, owns a face that invariably arouses comment. It is provocative, eye-catching face—primitive, powerful, and suggestive of crude intelligence counterbalanced by subdued savagery.

Dr. Shellenberger has no grounds for a libel suit. The face is a charcoal portrait of an Indian adorning his office wall in East Ag.

The portrait is by Beatrice Capra, an Argentine art student. "It is a strikingly original and mature effort for a girl of 17," said Dr. Shellenberger, who was working for the Argentine government in 1942 as an agricultural consultant.

Dr. Shellenberger learned

Courage Paves Way to Medical Career

Several front-page articles in the Kansas City Star recently have featured 18-year old Bob Bickie, brother of K-State cheerleader Don Bickie. Bob's courageous ring showing in the Kansas City Golden Gloves, has paved the way for a medical career.

Dr. McHale, examining physician for the Golden Gloves, attracted by the courage of young Bob who got up off the floor to defeat his quarter-final opponent, has offered Bob the necessary help to get into K. U. Medical School. When Bickie completes his schooling, Dr. McHale will turn over his established practice to him.

Bob advanced to the finals of the 126-pound class in Kansas City, but lost in the championship bout to Fernando Rivera, in an unpopular decision that was soundly booed by the 12,000 fans. He was later presented the sportsmanship trophy for his courageous performance. Bob is a junior at Holsington High School.

Cure Vocal Faults in Special Classes

Students with speech defects can find help in the speech correction class. The class is taught by Mrs. B. A. Rogers and Mrs. R. A. Wade.

The class, with 28 students, is in greater demand than ever before. Foreign students, stutterers, and people with other speech defects are in the class. A speech defect may be corrected in a few months or several years, depending on its seriousness, said Mrs. Wade.

Mrs. Rogers studied at Emerson College of Oratory in Boston and did speech correction in Boston hospitals. Mrs. Wade studied with Miss Louise Abney, nationally-known speech correctionist, and did speech correction in Bell Memorial Hospital, Kansas City, Mo.

Students wishing help correcting defects should leave their names at the speech office.

Millers to Meet

A joint meeting of districts 1 and 2 of the Association of Operative Millers will be at the College April 16 and 17. Dr. J. A. Shellenberger, head of the department of milling industry, announced. The meeting is to be a technical presentation of milling industry. Luncheon will be served in Thompson Hall on noon of April 17.

Sororities Pledge

Only ten girls were pledged to sororities at the College second semester, according to an announcement by Helen Moore, dean of women.

The sororities and their pledges are: Alpha Chi Omega—Virginia Price, Donna Ashlock, Janice Barstow, Yvonne Swenson.

Alpha Xi Delta—Jacqueline Vaughn.

Kappa Kappa Gamma—Norma Hollebeck.

that the girl longed for a chance to study in the United States. He consulted the U. S. Embassy concerning her chances of being admitted to this country as an exchange student. Diplomatic relations between the United States and Argentina then were so strained that the authorities deemed such a step inadvisable. This, coupled with the objections of the girl's parents, curtailed the entire endeavor.

Here the element of mystery enters the tale. Dr. Shellenberger, who returned to the States in 1944, has no knowledge of what has become of his promising young friend. He stated that "his inadequate knowledge of Spanish, the confused state of the Argentine government since the advent of a military regime, and the pressure of his work have all acted as barriers to an investigation of the girl's whereabouts and activities."

Dr. Shellenberger indicated that in spite of these obstacles he would be willing to try to locate Miss Capra if sufficient local interest were indicated.

Essay Contest for Ag Majors

Dr. A. D. Weber, head of the animal husbandry department announced yesterday that he has received information concerning the Saddle and Sirolo Club Medal Essay Contest. The subject of the 1948 contest will be "The Rib of Beef," stated Doctor Weber. The contest is open to undergraduates in the School of Agriculture.

Prizes for this contest include gold, silver, and bronze medals for the first three places, and the choice of numerous agricultural books for the next seven best essays.

A sterling silver cup is offered to the college making the best showing, this cup becoming the permanent possession of the college winning three times.

"It is my hope that many agricultural students from Kansas State College will participate in the contest this year," said Doctor Weber.

Plans Are Made for First Royal at KSC Since '42

Kansas State's first Little American Royal since 1942 will be April 10, Douglas George, senior in agriculture and chairman of this year's Royal committee, announced this week.

"Student showmen are now registering for the fitting period which starts February 28," George said. "The show this year, will include fitting and showing contests in the College livestock pavilion, exhibits rodeo by the Chaparrals, college rodeo club, and a dinner for entrants, to be served in the meats laboratory following the show."

Major Event The Little American Royal, a major event of the Ag school year before the war, attracted visitors from all over the state to view the fitting and showing by students of 120 college purebreds, dairy and beef cattle, sheep, swine, and horses.

Awards for showing were presented by the American Royal of Kansas City and the College. With the first show held in 1924, the Little Royal was originally a part of Farm and Home Week. This year it is being sponsored separately by the Block and Bridle and KSC Dairy Clubs and the dairy and animal husbandry departments.

"The Little Royal gives students an opportunity to become better acquainted with the College staff, herdsmen, and activities that center around the College stock farms. It also gives students an opportunity to improve their showing ability," George pointed out.

Any student interested in showing is eligible to enter competition and should register in East Waters Hall 6, before February 28, the Royal chairman said.

Committee chairmen for the event are: Douglas George; Art Jacobs; Clair Parcel, and Richard Spare, executive council; Stan Fansher, entry; Harry Mudge, program; Sam Clair, decorations; Bill Reid, prizes; Dick Warren, entertainment; Bob Steele, food; Tom Carleton, properties; Gene Fracis, tickets; Tom Sullivan, publicity; Prof. David L. Mackintosh and Prof. Glenn Beck, faculty sponsors.

Now in its 53rd season the Cincinnati Symphony is the fifth oldest of the major orchestras of the United States.

Its 86 musicians are directed by its newly-appointed conductor, Thor Johnson. Still in his early thirties, Mr. Johnson has directed many of the nation's leading orchestras and is one of the few American-born conductors.

"The program was chosen with students in mind and is the type that will appeal to everyone," Prof. Luther Leavengood, head of the Department of Music, said yesterday.

Many good seats are still available, according to Mr. Earl G. Hoover, manager of the Artist Series.

Beast Invades P K Premises

A fleet-footed intruder was surprised in the Phi Kappa house Sunday morning by several members of the fraternity. Furniture was knocked askew in the 10 minute chase through the downstairs rooms. The police were not informed of the incident as no valuables were reported missing.

Mrs. Estelle Halstead, house-mother, escaped injury during the chase by locking herself in her room. After skillfully eluding pursuers the culprit escaped out the front door which was momentarily left unguarded. The fraternity members are still wondering how that squirrel got in the house.

Dr. Howe said.

To Poultry Meet

Dr. D. C. Warren, poultry geneticist at the College, attended a two-day meeting in Washington, D. C. last week with poultry leaders representing eight southeastern states to discuss a hybrid poultry project for the South.

Open Letter to KSC Students

Even though the events leading up to the KU-K-State game Wednesday night may have given you Wildcat supporters a justified urge for revenge, it is my wish in the name of good sportsmanship, for both yourself and your school, to show proper conduct during and after the game.

Don't stoop to the level of those who would like to arouse you and your team into an un-sportsmanlike demonstration. Let your team take care of the revenge angle on the court in a good clean manner. This they will do.

Jack Gardner, Head Basketball Coach.

Rogers Named King of Hearts

After the "oh's" and "ah's" and fluttering of hearts had subsided in the Community House Saturday night, Bob Rogers, representing Sigma Nu, was announced King of Hearts for 1948.

Shortly after intermission the King was escorted through the crowd and onto the stage to his throne of hearts where Naomi Wallick, president of Purple Peppers, presented him with a crown of hearts.

First and second attendants respectively, were Rick Harman, Beta Theta Pi, and Bob Robbins, Sigma Phi Epsilon.

Cincy Orchestra Next Artist Group

Box office seat sales opened yesterday for two concerts by the Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra in the College Auditorium on February 27. The Cincinnati Symphony, one of the six major orchestras of the nation, will present both a matinee of semi-classical numbers and an evening program. Tickets are on sale in the box office of the auditorium.

Now in its 53rd season the Cincinnati Symphony is the fifth oldest of the major orchestras of the United States.

Its 86 musicians are directed by its newly-appointed conductor, Thor Johnson. Still in his early thirties, Mr. Johnson has directed many of the nation's leading orchestras and is one of the few American-born conductors.

"The program was chosen with students in mind and is the type that will appeal to everyone," Prof. Luther Leavengood, head of the Department of Music, said yesterday.

Many good seats are still available, according to Mr. Earl G. Hoover, manager of the Artist Series.

Wants the Air

Dean Harold Howe of the Graduate School has an example of the difficulty foreign students have with the English language.

In a letter from a student applying for admission to the Graduate School was this sentence: "I hope you can spare a few vacancies for some students of other nationality to join the atmosphere."

Language is often the worst obstacle for American students to overcome when studying abroad as well as foreign students studying in this country. Dr. Howe said.

Heat Rules Stay

Emergency heat restrictions are still in effect, it was announced by the office of President Milton S. Eisenhower. Although the cold wave has broken, the restrictions are necessary to build up a surplus of fuel oil in case the College is shut off from its gas supply again. Gas is being used again, Dean of Administration, A. L. Pugsley, announced.

President Goes to Capitol for UNESCO Confab

Fourth meeting of the United States National Commission for UNESCO will be in Washington today and Wednesday, it was announced by President Milton S. Eisenhower. National Commission Chairman, President Eisenhower and Kenneth S. Davis, assistant to Eisenhower, left Friday for Washington.

Sessions will be in the Department of State Conference rooms. The Executive Committee of the National Commission met Monday. At noon today, the opening day of the Conference, the Commission will be received by President Truman at the White House.

The Commission of 100 members, including representatives of 60 national organizations, will receive reports on the UNESCO program for 1948, as approved by the delegates from 37 member nations at the General Conference in Mexico in November. Members also will discuss methods of carrying out this program with individuals, agencies and organizations in the United States.

Eisenhower to Open Meeting President Eisenhower will open the meeting with an address on the growing importance of the role of national commissions in UNESCO.

Dr. Howard Wilson, associate director of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace, will conduct a panel discussion assessing results of the recent General Conference. Members of this panel will be asked to give views on items in the program contributing most directly to the establishment of permanent peace.

Dr. George D. Stoddard, president of the University of Illinois, now at UNESCO House in Paris, is scheduled to return in time to make a report on the results of the meeting of the Executive Board to which he was elected in Mexico.

Other Reports

Reports will be made also by Dr. Waldo G. Leland, director emeritus of the Council of Learned Societies and chairman of the Commission Committee on Program; Justin Miller, president of the National Association of Broadcasters; and a vice-chairman of the National Commission, who will submit the report of the Executive Committee.

Second day's activities will include a report by Edward W. Barrett, editorial director of Newsweek, for the Information Committee, together with discussions of Smith-Mundt and Fulbright Acts and their meaning to the UNESCO program. UNESCO and its relationship to the United Nations as one of its eight "specialized agencies" also will be discussed.

Labor-Management Conference Plans Near Completion

Plans are being completed for Kansas State's annual Labor-Management Roundtable conference April 9 and 10, according to Dr. A. A. Holtz, professor of labor economics. Attendance at the conference is expected to be approximately 200, Dr. Holtz said. "We hope to be able to name our speakers within two weeks," he added.

The roundtable is arranged to allow labor and management representatives an opportunity to get together at the College and discuss their problems, Dr. Holtz explained.

The conference is the only one of its kind in the Middle West, Dr. Holtz states. It will be open to students and faculty members.

Social World Shrinks

Enrollment in Man and the Social World classes has dropped 22 per cent from last semester's registration. Prof. John M. Brewster, head of the comprehensive course, has announced. The total this semester is 579 as compared with 750 for the fall term.

K-State Meets K U in Tomorrows Tilt

King basketball will reign again tomorrow night in Nichols Gymnasium when K-State's victory-hungry Wildcats entertain their arch-rivals from down the Kaw, the University of Kansas Jayhawks. The eagerly awaited intra-state cage battle, which has been the subject of much campus conversation in recent weeks, will find Coach Jack Gardner's Purple and White squad trying to regain their winning ways after two consecutive Big Seven Conference losses.

As has been the case in past years, both teams are pointing for tomorrow night's battle. In the K-State record books, a win over the Jayhawks means a successful season, regardless of the outcome of other contests.

Cats Out To Repeat The Wildcats, still smarting from their recent setbacks, will be out to score a repeat of their performance in the Big Seven pre-season tournament which saw them hand the Jayhawks a 56-42 pasting. However, Coach F. C. "Phog" Allen's cagers have gained added strength since the December meeting and are expected to offer plenty of opposition for the speedy Cats.

Tomorrow's scuffle will be the 107th meeting of the Kansas schools. On the basis of all-time records, the Jayhawks hold a decided edge over the home club. The KU lads have won on 73 occasions while the K-Statesters have been triumphant 33 times. The Wildcat-Jayhawk feud began in 1907 with the Cats winning a 29-25 contest.

The 48-45 K-State victory last year was the first over the Hawks since 1937, and the initial win for Coach Jack Gardner over wily "Phog" Allen. The Jayhawk mentor holds a 7-2 edge over Gardner in games won.

K-State in Second Current Big Seven standings find the Wildcats resting in a tie for second place with the Oklahoma Sooners. The Cats have won four and lost two. The Jayhawks, after winning their first three starts in league play, have dropped three in a row to make their record stand even at three and three.

Both teams opened the conference season by running up unbeaten strings. The Wildcats had a four-game skid while the Hawks took three before starting their downward skid. The clash tomorrow night may have an important bearing on the final outcome of the conference race. The KU team needs a victory to keep in the running, and the Wildcats with a tough road schedule facing them, need a triumph on their home court to maintain the hot Big Seven pace.

On the basis of comparative scores against a common opponent, the two squads are about even. The Missouri Tigers dropped both of the Kansas schools in recent encounters. The Tigers took the K-Statesters by a 48-46 count and a few nights later they downed the Jayhawks 42-39.

Big gun in the KU attack is three-time all-conference forward Otto Schnellbacher. Schnellbacher didn't play against the Cats when the teams met in the Kansas City tournament. Since joining the Kansas club Otto has piled in the points with regularity. He has averaged more than 11.5 points a contest and is the third ranking scorer in the loop.

Lineup Packs Power The remainder of the Kansas lineup packs a potential scoring power that will keep the Cats hustling on the defense all evening.

Big Clarence Brannum has been named by Gardner as game captain for the Wildcats against the rivals from Lawrence.

K-State, only member of the original Big Six that has not won a conference basketball title in 19 years of play, needs a win over the Red and Blue to keep open the road to the top.

Dr. Allen, who was unable to accompany his team to Ames, Iowa last week, has indicated that he will start his regular lineup against the Cats. Gardner will open with his five-star attack as usual.

Copy Flourishes

Kansas State Journalism students had 495 inches of news copy in the Topeka Daily Capital on January 30, when they edited the Kansas day edition for the 27th year.

Coed Laments Valentine's Day

"She's a real sad tomato, a busted valentine"—is just a song, but oh how true! This stuff about February 14 is baloney, ask a woman who knows.

Tradition has it that "lovers' day" originated in folk and village customs, but no one knows precisely how. Why then do we celebrate it? All because of Dan Cupid, and St. Valentine. The Saint died on February 14, 271, through persecution inflicted by Emperor Claudius. Because of a decree issued by the Emperor, marriage was forbidden.—Valentine, being a red-blooded man, didn't like this and performed marriage ceremonies secretly. Caught in the act, he was tossed into prison where he withered and died. Sad, yes, but not true, for sure, because it's only a rumor.

The little man with the arrows originated in the time of William Tell—when Bill missed his mark he had to blame someone, didn't he?

Through the years valentines meant sugary verses and love notes. Today if you're lucky, it means a movie, cake and good night-kiss. This modern age! Not all men consider the day passé, since lots of girls receive candy, flowers, and even jewelry. To these—congratulations!

Though the celebration is over, custom remains, and next year it will be the same thing again—no valentine. Aw, come on lover, please be my valentine in '49!

Holiday

There will be an all-school holiday Thursday providing Kansas State downs Kansas U. Wednesday night. Classrooms and offices will not be heated if the team is victorious. Dean of Administration, A. L. Pugsley announced.

Brotherhood Every Week

Once again American Brotherhood Week is being celebrated. Still reports from all over the country come in relating of Negro lynchings in the South, the breaking of Jewish merchants' windows and countless other examples of bigotry, intolerance and narrow mindedness in this country.

American Brotherhood Week is intended to drive home the great need for brotherhood rooted in religious principles in the shattered and broken world of today. Words alone, though, will not win world peace. We will not reach it unless we have a strong, united nation here at home. Intolerance is bound to produce a divided people, a weak nation.

Brotherhood Week is sponsored by the National Conference of Christians and Jews, which is composed of all interested citizens, whether Protestant, Catholic or Jewish. Participation in Brotherhood Week programs is an excellent opportunity for citizens to "speak up for good will", as the late William Allen White so aptly put it.

We Americans are committed to the cause of world peace. We will not reach it unless we have a strong, united nation here at home. To reach this goal we must make every week Brotherhood Week, not just one week out of the year.

Here on the campus are presented unequal opportunities for practicing and achieving understanding and fellowship. Students from almost every country in the world take advantage of the educational facilities offered here. Persons representing almost every religion mingle freely in classrooms.

If we students, the citizens of tomorrow, can retain the lessons, training and stimulating experiences of associations with persons of different races and religions, then lynchings, race riots and other examples of bigotry and intolerance will be a thing of the past.

Overflow Causes Course to Expand

Expansion in the new course in Labor Management because of an over-flow enrollment is probable, Dr. A. A. Holtz, instructor in the course has announced.

"The course has attracted a larger number of students than had been anticipated," Dr. Holtz explained, "and if interest continues at the present level, we will have to have more classes." There are 62 students now enrolled in labor management.

Designed for students who are likely to hold positions requiring supervision of labor, the course was originally to have been limited to seniors. There are six graduate students and two faculty members and several juniors attending class, according to Dr. Holtz.

New Turbine Will Up College Power

A 2,000-kilowatt turbo-generator has been ordered for the College, but it is not expected to arrive for possibly two years, according to R. F. Gingrich, superintendent of building and repair. The generator is one of three supplying power to the College.

The new turbine will replace a Murray Uniflow agent which has been sold and sent to the Osawatomie State Hospital. The base for the Murray agent has been taken down and work on the new base begun.

A total of 3,750 kilowatts will be made available after the new turbine is installed. Two smaller turbines, one supplying 750 kilowatts, the other 1,000, are now furnishing all the power to the campus.

Stassen Tops

Presidential aspirant, Harold Stassen came out on top with 34 votes at the Young Republicans Club straw vote Thursday. Senator Robert Taft was runner up with 14 tallies. Governor Thomas E. Dewey was preferred by eight and Governor Earl Warren and Senator Arthur Vandenberg each got one vote.

Journalists Hear Magazine Editor

"Specialized training available at Kansas State will prepare students for one of the most attractive fields of journalism, business journalism," Paul Dittmore, technical editor of Northwestern Miller, told 200 journalism students here last week.

Emphasizing the importance of this training, he went on to say business journalism can't take time to make a specialist out of a journalist. They could use a journalist who had specialized training in some field.

Dittmore is a graduate of the journalism department. He is also a former bulletin editor for the Agricultural Experiment Station here.

French Bride Arrives at KSC

Campus Courts became the home of another French bride this semester. Jack Kimball, a mechanical engineering student, and his wife, Denyse, met in Paris, France in November, 1944, while Jack was stationed there in the army.

Jack left France in August of 1944, but Denyse was not able to come to America until 21 months later. After Denyse arrived in the United States, she married Jack Kimball. They lived in Michigan until September when they moved to Manhattan so Jack could finish his engineering course.

The French lady speaks English very well. She took English for four years in preliminary school in France as do many of the French students, but she says the only way to learn a language is to live in the country where the language is spoken.

Mrs. Kimball said that her neighbors are all very friendly and helpful, and she likes living in Campus Courts. The other French woman is Mrs. Robert Nothman, who lives in trailer number 5.

"My", said the old grad of 1925 returning to the campus for a visit, "things certainly have changed. Why, in my time, if a cute blonde like that were seen pushing a baby carriage down Denison street, half the Betas would leave town!"

Living in Splinterville can have its advantages. For one thing, you don't have to bother about doors and keys. Just walk in through any of the cracks . . .

 The Kappa Deities are mad. They say they do not have a no-goodnight-kissing rule. In fact they say they'll kiss anybody goodnight . . .

"Coops!" said the eccentric professor as he slugged a passerby with his umbrella, "I thought you were my wife."
 Hardy Berry has complained because his name was not in the paper last week. We haven't got the space . . .

"Doctor," said the nurse in the student health service, "we got in a case of beri-beri. What shall we do with it?"
 "Phooey," says the doc, "send it over to the Zeta Beta Thetas—they'll drink anything!" . . .

Mo: Understand you got a new job at the Eagle Laundry; how do you like it?
 Joe: Don't!

Mo: Why not?
 Joe: Don't like to wash eagles.

Not Going Steady Yet
 Virginia Price, who arrived at K-State for the first time this semester after spending a while at Washburn, says, "this is the friendliest campus I've ever been on." To a gal like her, any campus would be friendly. The number's 5338 . . .

A prof in the geology department has been here too long. After carefully seeing everyone in his class alphabetically, he goes ahead and calls the roll every day anyway.
 The statue of William Alexander Harris has been painted for the first time in a long while, finally bringing the old boy the attention he so richly deserves.

Then there was the student who excelled in everything except college.
 This time it's the other side of the fence in the Young Republican's organization that missed the boat. Benjamin R. Petrie, an ex-lieutenant commander in the navy who acts like one, and his cohorts outsmarted the Daily Sports-Vieux regime. Wouldn't it be unusual if the Gops did something once in a while besides bicker?

Phog Allen may get police protection during the K. U.-Kansas State game Wednesday night. Might get a few of the force to play on his basketball squad while he's at it.

The repeal of prohibition in Kansas, if it is voted, will seriously affect the incomes of many K-Staters. One guy has gone to Kansas City 20 out of the 21 weekends so far this school year.

Maybe For Our Children
 We think the people at Missouri U. have the right idea about memorials. They're building a Memorial Student Union which can be used by anybody at any time, and will fill a much recognized need. Oh well, we have the old converted post exchange for a temporary union. Guess it'll have to do.

 The Heart Throb dance "was a howling success" at the Community House Saturday night. We're all for these women-take-men affairs . . . incidentally we hear the old ballot box took quite a beating. Is that why it took so long to count the votes? . . .

If new room assignments bothered you this semester, take heart. An astonished coed burst into the mathematics secretary's office:

"My assignment card says I am to have a class in X 110," she complained, "and that's the men's rest room!"

Both secretary and student were relieved to learn, on checking, that an assigners pencil had slipped. The room was V 110.

Cash on Hand for Chapel Memorial

Contributions totaling $65,000 were received in 1947 in support of the Kansas State College All-Faith Memorial Chapel, Kenney L. Ford, alumni secretary has reported. All told there has been $101,000 in cash received, and an additional $38,000 is pledged. Contributions for January of this year amounted to $2,800.

Nearly $37,000 of the cash now on hand has been specifically dedicated for the 83 individual memorials that are to be constructed in the chapel. Eleven of the purchasers are still undecided as to the type of memorials they prefer, Ford said.

Types of memorials already purchased for the main Chapel and the small meditation chapel include two pipe organs, an altar, the pulpit, railing and cushions, baptismal font and cover, 14 windows, a rose window about the altar, a chancel window, plaques of the war dead, 46 pews, and three choir stalls.

According to Ford, more than 25 individual memorials are still available to purchasers. These include windows, pews, lighting fixtures and choir stalls.

More than 2,700 alumni, former students and friends of the College have made donations to the Chapel Fund. Contributions have come in from all but six states and six Kansas counties. States which have not made contributions are Delaware, New Hampshire, North Dakota, Rhode Island, and South Carolina. Counties not yet contributing are Cheyenne, Graham, Greeley, Hamilton, Haskell and Stanton.

CAMPUS CAPERS

with LIZ.

Hi kids! Gee, after the beautiful day we had Sunday, I'm beginning to wish spring would come to stay. It may be a little early to suggest this, but winter can't last forever, so let's start thinking about the summer and the spring sports season that's just around the corner. The Campus Book Store is K-State headquarters for sporting goods. We carry the best—Spalding, Rackets and balls are coming in now, so you'd better keep them in mind. Now is the best time to get your old rackets restrung, too, and we do it at the store with twenty-four hour service.

The King of Hearts campaign is over, and I'll bet there are some weary candidates who are weary of a slight of hand. The boys certainly went "all out" for it with their cute suits. The Sigma Nus should really be proud of Bob Rogers—the King—as he really came through with a bang! . . . You people who have been looking for a good study lamp can stop looking—cause we have it! They're the fluorescent desk lamps, are one and two-tube, flexible. These lamps have scientific direction of bright clear light that guarantees you will have light when you want it. We have the clamp-on type for drawing tables and also the base type that sits on the desk. They are really the finest lamps on the market, so drop in at the store and look at them. . . . Valentine's day was certainly exciting this year—for the boys as well as the girls! Seems as if a certain Den Bieckle and a Rodney Boyles received Valentines from some unknown "admirer", and they would appreciate it if the unknown would make himself known! Willie Hart looked like the best pick-up over Valentines. He doesn't seem to think Valentines are here to stay, so he didn't invest in any. Now isn't that just like a man? . . . Seems the ATO's are in quite a dither. The current issue before the house is—have you seen Paul Degenhardt? If so, where is his pin? Does he have it? Where is it, Paul? We'd all like to know! . . . Now that the semester is well under way, be sure to come in and get your College Outline Series for that course you think will be tough. Remember the Campus Book Store has the complete line covering most of the major college courses. Spring can't be too far around the corner, so you'd best I say we'd better work on your studies now, cause when it gets warm—well, you know what happens! Try for now, and see you next week—oh, don't forget—BEAT K. U.!

Fiser Calls First Baseball Meet

Varsity and freshmen baseball players are to meet in Room 207, Nichols Gym, Thursday at 4 p. m. Lud Fiser, baseball coach, announced yesterday.

Fiser stated there would be a Freshman squad this year which will be formed some time after the Varsity have started practice. At the meeting Coach Fiser plans to outline the approaching baseball season and describe the conference ruling which prohibits the use of freshmen in Varsity competition.

Veterans Start Flight Training

Twelve Kansas State College veteran students will take flight training under the G. I. bill at Pottawatomie Airport, Lloyd Henderson, manager of the field, said this morning.

Ten of these students have submitted certificates which enable training under the G. I. bill. The other two are expected to submit the necessary certificates today or tomorrow.

Training began Thursday for students who had received the necessary documents. The students should complete the required number of hours flying time to apply for private pilots licenses in about eight weeks if the weather stays nice, Henderson stated.

The field maintains a modern flight time table board that enables each student to know just what days, time and plane he will fly.

College students flew a total of 19 and one half hours Saturday, Henderson said.

Vet Total 4,170

Veteran enrollment for the present semester totals 4,170, according to Orval Ebberts, Veterans Service Officer.

The figure reflects no appreciable change from those of last semester or last spring semester, Ebberts said. During fall semester veterans numbered 4,380 and 4,271 completed the term. Last spring 4,168 veterans were enrolled.

Cold Ruins Buds on College Hort Farm

More than 60 percent of the peach buds and nearly half the sweet cherry buds on the College horticulture farm were killed by low winter temperatures, a recent survey by a Practical Hortology class showed. Apple and sour cherry buds were not damaged.

Elberta, Champion, Belle and Halehaven peaches were damaged equally, but Duke sweet cherries showed a 50 percent loss compared to 33 percent for Stark Golden.

Dr. George A. Flinger, class instructor, said weakened condition of trees from drought last summer and the severe winter a year ago was responsible for some of the damage.

Lowest temperature on the horticulture farm this year was 13 degrees below zero, January 28.

Dr. Vail Reports to Research Group

At Atlantic City last week, Dr. Gladys E. Vail, head of the Department of Food Economics and Nutrition, made a report to the executive council and board of directors of the Refrigeration Research Foundation.

The foundation has allotted a fund to Kansas State College to study keeping qualities of frozen pork and precooked frozen meats. Results of the experiments were reported by Dr. Vail.

Rumblings from down the Kaw have it that some thoughtful and mistrusting soul has suggested that police protection might be in order for publicity-minded "Phog" Allen when he enters the Wildcat stronghold tomorrow night. Personally we have more confidence in the good sense of the student body at Kansas State than the misguided individual who suggested the

Regardless of how strongly we may feel about "Phog's" accusations and charges concerning our Wildcats, the student body of Kansas State College is not in the habit of heating up rival coaches or players. Evidently someone hasn't much confidence in us. Let's take this opportunity to prove to our friends with the suspicious minds that we have better manners than they credit us with.

—Beat KU—
Boxing fans will remember the headlines given to Bobby Riddle, game little 184 pounder from Holmgren High School, at the Golden Gloves tournament in Kansas City last week. Bobby was runnerup in the 160-pound open division after losing the title on a disputed decision. Here on the K-State campus is the man who taught Bobby most of his boxing tricks. He's Don Bickie, Bob's older brother and a K-State champion. Don is a pretty good hands with the gloves on.

—Beat KU—
Last week Coach Jack Gardner called a meeting of the basketball squad to vote on the game captain for the KU game tomorrow night. The vote, surprisingly enough, was taken in favor of "Controversial Clarence" Brannum. Stand aside you Jayhawks.

—Beat KU—
Indications are that basketball coach Red Flenk will have one of the strongest teams this year than the Wildcat school has had in many a season. Most of last year's conference runner-up squad has returned for a new try at the diamond quest.

—Beat KU—
Basketball reports issued from the "Flaw in the Kaw" this season have consistently pointed to the youth and inexperience of the Jayhawkers. Perhaps we don't read well but it seems to us that something is amiss. As was previously pointed out in this column, the Jayhawks have the services of no less than 11 lettermen who have earned a total of 18 varsity letters in basketball. Normally we don't despise the good people from Lawrence but in this matter the screaming of "inexperience" from "Phog" leave us cold and unsympathetic.

As a means of comparison, let's take the Wildcats starters and the Jayhawk five. Looking at the Kansas State quintet carries a total of five years of college varsity experience. Each of Jack Gardner's men has played one year of varsity basketball prior to the current season. Down at KU, the starting front seven seasons of varsity experience. Schnellbacher has three; Bapp, two; Eskridge and Houshain, one apiece. Vaughn, the freshman center and sparkplug of the squad, had no college experience before this year.

From this corner it looks like a good time for the Jayhawks to put a sliver on their wall of "inexperience" and consider on playing ball with the wealth of talent they actually have.

—Beat KU—

Tomorrow's Wildcat-Jayhawk tiff should be well publicized, according to word from the office of Fred Harris, sports publicity director. Besides local sportswriters, Fred has received reservations for seats at the battle from the United Press, Associated Press, Topeka Daily Capital, Topeka State Journal, Kansas City Star, Lawrence Journal-World, the Daily Kansan, AP Wirephoto, and Home News Photo. Looks like the press bench will be a little crowded.

Courty's Heave Sends Cats Down to Second Defeat

The Oklahoma Sooners succeeded in derailing the fast moving Wildcat express Saturday night in Nichols Gymnasium as they squeezed past the skidding K-Staters by a slim 49-47 count. It was the second consecutive conference loss for the Cats by a two-point margin and left the Purple and White in a second place tie with the Oklahoma Sooners in the loop standing.

It was a dazed band of Wildcats who left the court when the final gun sounded. After trailing nearly the entire game, the Gardner men put on a valiant rally to knot the score in the final minutes. There were only 12 seconds remaining when Hal Howey dropped in a charity toss to make the count read 47-47. An overtime battle seemed inevitable, but Paul Courty, the game's high scorer, unhooked a wild southpaw heave that cut the cords clearly to give the Sooners the victory. A few seconds later, a joyous crew of Sooners swarmed on the court, cheering and pummeling hero Courty.

K-State started fast against the Sooners. Jack Dean popped in the first basket of the game before one minute had passed, and Rick Harman followed a few seconds later with a setup. The Wildcat lead was short lived, however, as Paul Courty pulled out the stopper on his post-side heaves to score the first six points for the Sooners. The count was tied five times in the first half as the two squads displayed ragged floor play and ball handling. Poor rebounding cost the Wildcats possession of the ball on more than one occasion and was a major factor in the 26-21 half-time lead built up by the Sooners.

Dean Ties Score
With four and one-half minutes remaining on the clock, Ward Clark dumped in a push shot to close the margin to 46-44. A short time later, clutch player Jack Dean slipped past the Sooner defense for a game tying setup.

The K-State success was only temporary as Krone fouled Courty who promptly wished one from the charity line to send the Oklahoma Sooners back into the lead.

The screaming Wildcat followers were on the edge of their seats as Kenny Pryor, slippery Sooner guard, fouled Hal Howey. After hurrying Hal out the cords to throw the contest into another tie, it seemed an overtime period was in the offing. It was then, with six seconds showing on the scoreboard clock, that Courty let fly the stunning, game-winning heave.

Courty Is High
Courty carried off high point honors for the game with a 20 point performance. Ward Clark was high for the Cats with 10 tallies to his credit. Jack Dean contributed 8 markers to the K-State total, while Hal Howey hit for 7 points, and Rick Harman, Howard Shannon, and Lloyd Krone turned in 6 point totals.

Wildcat Matmen Thump Gophers

Coach Leon "Red" Reynard's grapplers ended their losing streak Friday night by staving off a last minute rally to defeat Minnesota 14-13. The teams came into the heavyweight bout with the Golden Gophers needing a fall to take home a victory. Joe Blanchard K-State heavyweight, escaped from a near fall in the first period of his match with Verne Gagne to save the meat for Kansas State. Gagne has been Big Nine heavyweight champ for two years.

Garth Lappin, of Minnesota, pinned Ralph Falwell in the 121 lb. class for the only fall of the evening. Lappin ranked third in the Nationals last year and is undefeated this season. The results: 121 lb.—Lappin, Minn., pinned Falwell, KS, 1:58. 128 lb.—Coltrain, KS, decision Wingard, Minn., 8-4. 136 lb.—Price, Minn., decision Nighswonger, KS, 3-1. 145 lb.—Fancher, KS, decision Rasbok, Minn., 10-5. 155 lb.—McClellan, KS, decision Holmes, Minn., 18-9. 165 lb.—Dalton, KS, decision Adams, Minn., (Dalton winner on riding time 1:34). 175 lb.—Fields, KS, drew with Biersdorf, Minn., 4-4. Heavyweight—Gagne, Minn., decision Blanchard, KS, 9-5.

Set-Ups Capture Intramural Title

The Set-Ups, independent champions, rolled to an easy 59-30 victory over Sigma Phi Epsilon, fraternity champs, to win the all-school intramural basketball championship. The Set Ups, a team composed of six member from the freshman basketball squad, jumped into an early lead and were never headed. The score at half-time was 25 to 14. The freshmen basketballers showed superiority in nearly every department. With Jack Stone and Walter Way dominating the backboards, and Ernie Barrett and Ed Head spearheading a dazzling fast break, the outcome of the game was never in doubt.

Don Button led the Sig Eps in scoring with 12 points, but the remainder of their attack bogged down and was almost silent.

Lanky Ed Head dropped in eight field goals and three free throws for 19 points to top the Set-Ups scores. Ernie Barrett contributed 14 points.

CLARENCE BRANNUM A K-STATE STAR

Onetime Caddy Holds Down Pivot for Cats

By Pat Patterson
Seven years ago basketball Coach Jack Gardner was in Winfield talking "Kansas State" to Gerald Tucker, one of the best high school prospects in years. While there he had a chance to play golf with a well-known K-State alumnus. Caddying for the pair was a set of 14 year old twins. One was named Bob, the other Clarence—their last name—Brannum. Gardner didn't realize that one of those totin' kids was to become a K-State star.

At Winfield high school Bob became an outstanding center. Clarence didn't make the first team until his senior year. When they were graduated at the age of 16, they were offered scholarships to Kentucky University. Kentucky got Bob and typhus got Clarence.

Whipping his illness, Clarence went to work to support his wife, bidding his time until called into the service. Bob made All-American center.

Played In Service
The infantry put the brothers together again. The Camp Hood, Texas team, which boasted stars like Bob Brannum, Alex Groza, Bill Tatum and John White, with Clarence at a guard post, won 19 and lost 3. It defeated Southern Methodist University three times.

"That was the same SMU team that beat us (KS) in the pre-season Kansas City tournament in 1946," Clarence recalled.

Set. Clarence Brannum was discharged from the service in June 1946. Again he didn't go to Kentucky. "I'd had some difficulty with Coach Rupp; anyway I wanted to stay close to home," Brannum said.

That summer Jack Gardner was visited by Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Brannum and daughter Sharon. "Big Clancy" enrolled in September.

Always a guard before, Brannum was switched to center by Gardner. "It was sure different on the post. I didn't know when to shoot. In fact, I still don't, although I have more confidence this year," Clarence laughed.

A Center Standout
Gardner won't hesitate when you ask him what he thinks of Clarence. "Last year Clarence showed improvement. At the end of the season he was playing some great ball. He's continued to improve this year. In our system the post-man is primarily a feeder. Brannum has set-up his teammates and found time to hold up his end of the scoring too. And, apparent to everyone, he's got a great competitive spirit. I wouldn't trade him for any center in the league. As an all around post-man the Big Seven has none better."

Gardner brings out the fact that no center he had last year averaged more than three points a game. This season

Clarence is hitting the hoop at an eight point clip.

Brannum likes his role. "Sure it makes me feel good to hit a basket, but my biggest thrill is passing off to one of the boys coming down the middle wide open."

Rates Opponents
He rates Pritchard of Drake and Nebraska's Whitehead as the best offensive centers he's played against this season. He praised the defensive play of Charlot of Canisius. "Charlot gave me a bad time the first half. He wouldn't let me get

AT STATE

St. Valentine's Day came through with numerous announcements as predicted. It also furnished plenty of parties, guests and even a wedding. K-Staters, that had enough energy left after the nerve-wrecking O. U. game Saturday night, journeyed downtown to the Community House which was gaily decorated with balloons and hearts for the Pepster's Heart Throb dance. The big event of the evening was the crowning of Bob Rogers, Sigma Nu, as the King of Hearts.

Friday evening John Jordan passed cigars to his Acacia fraternity brothers to announce his engagement to Miss Patricia Dods of Riley. John is from Freeport.

House guests at La Piel last week end were: Norma Hall, Lynn Bell, Betty Kelly. All three guests were here from Kansas City.

More chocolates and cigars!! Anita Lynes, of Troy, is now wearing Clayton Wolfe's PIKA pin chained to her Kappa Delta pin. The traditional smooch lines were held for the couple after dinner Sunday. Clayton is from Atchison.

The Sigma Nus have four transfer students this semester from K.U., M. U., and Michigan. They are: Russell O'Hara, K.U., Bill Sikes and Leland Franz from M. U., and Frank Fryley, pledge, from Michigan. Russell, Bill, and Leland attended Kansas State before the war.

Girls of Pal-O-Mie and their dates enjoyed desserts Sunday evening. The treat was given by the housemother, Mrs. Lillian Fuller.

Chimes from the Alpha Delta Pi sorority dining room, announced the future wedding chimes of Jeanne Hill and Bob Young, Phi Delta Theta. The wedding date has been set for March 27, at the Methodist Church in Topeka.

A Valentine breakfast was had by members of Chatterbox Sunday morning before church.

Guests at the Alpha Tau Omega fraternity house Sunday were: Mrs. Ike Berndt, Miss Lynn Bell and Betty Givin.

Open House was held at the Farmhouse this weekend. Alumni and their wives were guests.

John Crowfoot, Alpha Gamma Rho, and Marian Hurst, Van Zile Hall, of Ness City, exchanged "I do's" this weekend. The marriage was performed at the home of the bridegroom in Cedarpoint. Dave Schirmer, fraternity brother of the groom, acted as best man. Both former students of K-State, John was a sophomore in agriculture, and Marian a sophomore in biological science. The couple will be at home in Cedarpoint.

The Delta Tau Delta fraternity house was full of guests this weekend. Ray Alswall and his bride returning from their honeymoon in Mexico, visited the chapter house Friday. Bill Buser, former president, was a weekend guest. Sunday dinner found the recently married Mr. and Mrs. Keith Askins present, as were the Mr. and Mrs. Dick Merrimans.

Election returns from Keim's Kabana are in. Second semester house officers include: Elizabeth Hunt, president; Donna Gels, vice-president and social chairman; Delores Knoche, secretary; Anna Calahan, treasurer; Lois Kraner, publicity chairman; Corinne Gilchrist, song leader.

Smoke rings were floating through the Alpha Kappa Lambda fraternity house Sunday. Lloyd Smith, former president and a graduate in engineering, announced his engagement to Jacqueline Bowen. Jacqueline is attending Ohio University where she is president of Pi Beta Phi sorority.

A good time was had by all Friday night at a Smoker session at the Alpha Kappa Lambda fraternity house. Alumni and honorary members were present.

A mock wedding highlighted the Valentine's party at Mason-elle Friday night, when the girls entertained their dates and guests. The couple winning number 13 on a dartboard played the bride and bridegroom.

Decorations in traditional red and white were the false ceiling of red hearts and a huge valentine on the wall. A special attraction was the "beau gallery."

Alpha Delta Pi sorority was hostess for a faculty tea Sunday at the chapter house.

Four more men now wear the Alpha Tau Omega fraternity pledge pin. Formal pledging was held Sunday for Bob Hahn, Dick Wedge, Bruce Gans and Ron Stinson.

Coach Jack Gardner was guests at the Beta Theta Pi fraternity house Sunday for dinner.

House guests at Crippen Inn last week end were: Betty Warp from K.U.; Lizzie Hicks from Kansas City; and Jean Grauerholz from Kensington. Jean was graduated from K-State in '46.

The Kappa Sigma had an open house for members and their dates Friday night. The couples danced, played ping pong and cards.

Father Welsberg, Phi Kappa national chaplain, visited the local chapter over the weekend for formal pledging ceremonies.

House guest of Alpha Chi Omega Sunday was Phyllis Landau, former president of the sorority. Phyllis is from Overland.

Pledges of Acacia fraternity held election for second semester officers last Wednesday night. Ken Walden was elected president; Keith Duckers, vice president; Henry Wilson, secretary-treasurer; and John Ellison, interfraternity pledge council representative.

Cigars at the TKE house last week announced the engagement of Kenny Rowland to Phyllis McGraw of Washington, D. C. Kenny was a freshman here at K-State last year. He is now attending radio school in Washington.

Plans for a spring formal dance, April 30, and a mixer, February 25, by the independent women's organizations, were decided at a meeting last week at the Chatterbox. The mixer, for all Amicosembl members, will be in Nichols Gymnasium. The spring formal dance will be in the Wareham hotel.

Locker Conference to Train Operators

A frozen food locker conference intended as a refresher for locker plant operators and a training course for prospective operators will be held at the College June 7-12. Dr. G. A. Filing, professor of horticulture, has announced.

The members of the committee planning the conference are Dr. W. F. Pickett, head of the horticulture department; Dr. D. L. Mackintosh, professor of animal husbandry; and Doctor Filing.

Demonstrations and lectures will be given on the latest methods of preparing, packaging, freezing and utilizing meats, fruits, vegetables and prepared and pre-cooked products normally stored in frozen food lockers and home cabinets. Problems connected with locker plant management will also be discussed.

Payne to K. C.

New developments in Chicken Breeding - Hybrids will be discussed by Prof. L. F. Payne, head of the poultry department, at the Fourth Annual Agricultural Forum at the Hotel President in Kansas City next Thursday and Friday. The forum, sponsored by the Mid-west Feed Manufacturing Association, will discuss critical livestock and poultry problems. Representatives from Midwestern states will be present.

Senior Class Rings Can Be Ordered Now

Seniors who wish to obtain their Kansas State rings and pins in time for graduation must order them soon. Kenney L. Ford, alumni secretary announced recently. They may be ordered at anytime. But in order to have them in time for spring graduation it is necessary to place orders before February 25.

These mementoes may be obtained with any degree and for any year. The year is placed on the shanks of the ring below the Wildcat insignia. The ring may be set with almost any color of stone.

Rings and pins may be ordered through the Kansas State College Alumni Office.

Medical Sorority Has Founder's Day

Zeta chapter of Alpha Delta Theta, national professional sorority for medical technicians, had its annual Founder's Day dinner Thursday at the Hartman House. C. A. Dorf, faculty sponsor, reviewed the history of the organization at Kansas State, and Dr. Ralph Ball spoke on recent advances in the field of medicine. Guests included Dr. J. O. Harris and Miss Helen Moore, dean of women. Charlotte Dorf, acted as toastmistress for the program.

Alpha Delta Theta was founded February 1, 1944 at Minneapolis, Minn., and the chapter at Kansas State was installed in October, 1947.

Receive $2500 for Ag Research

Receipt of $2,500 for two research funds at Kansas State College was announced by R. I. Throckmorton, dean of the School of Agriculture.

One, for $1,500, is to be used by the Department of Milling Industry for a continuation of a study of milling by impact. The fund was provided by the Safety Car Heating and Lighting company, Inc., of New Haven, Conn.

The Anaconda (Montana) Copper Mining company provided $1,000 for the agronomy department to study use of phosphate and nitrogen fertilizers. It, too, is for continuing studies already in progress.

Single Summer Term Offered This Year

Slowing down from its post-war pace to accommodate veterans, Kansas State College will have only one summer term of school this year, A. L. Pugsley, dean of administration, has announced.

The short four and one-half weeks' session in August will be eliminated this year. A single nine-weeks session will be offered, he said.

The College has been offering courses around the calendar for the convenience of veterans anxious to complete work for degrees as rapidly as possible.

Courtship Lecture Launches K-State Marriage Series

Students, faculty members and townspeople interested in successful marriage crowded the Auditorium Monday night to hear Dr. Robert Foster, director of the Family Life Institute of the Merrill-Palmer Institute, Detroit launch the Courtship and Marriage public lecture series with his address on courtship.

Dr. Foster, now on Sabbatical leave from Merrill-Palmer, is teaching at Kansas University. "The most important cause of divorce," Dr. Foster quipped at the outset of his lecture, "is marriage." Top authorities differ widely, he stated, on whether money, children, sex relationships, or the wife working outside the home cause marriage difficulties. He cited several instances in which educational and economic differences and maladjusted physical relationships were harmful to marriage. "Thousands of dollars are spent each year for progress in science against each nickel spent for the improvement of human relations," Foster pointed out.

Marry Now
Many people inquire, Foster asserted, whether it is wise to marry in inflationary times, such as the present. "The world has always been at the brink of a precipice. Provided both members are physically and emotionally mature, a couple may as well marry now as later," he advised. "Some risk is involved in any marriage," he added.

Success, according to Foster, is always a better criterion for marriage than happiness. Success is brought about when a couple meets the goals it attempts to attain in marriage. A long-range plan should always be outlined by any couple contemplating marriage, he said.

Successful Marriage
If a person planning marriage had parents who were successfully married, had a well-adjusted childhood, had frank sex education, and can participate in social, religious, and civic activities, he can be reasonably assured of success in marriage, Foster concluded. He listed several aspects of wise selection of a marriage partner. "Correct choice of the individual you will marry can be facilitated by trying out a succession of different people in dating. Do not marry the first person who comes along," he admonished, "but do not try to find The Perfect Mate either—that person just does not exist."

Go Together a Year
Courtship for at least a year, Foster said, is a sufficient length of time to make sure of a probable marriage partner. He advised against marrying anyone in less than a year after first dating that person. Marrying at too young an age and marrying someone outside one's own religious, social, educational and economic group is risky, he added.

If a person marries outside his own religion or nationality, he must be "big enough" to leap added hurdles in the path of his marriage, Foster maintained. Differences can lead to disruption of marriage if stressed and not understood properly.

More Pre-Marital Sex
Pre-marital sex relationships are more in evidence today among high school students than ever before, Foster brought out. "Promiscuity is a dangerous involvement. An individual should consider carefully the physical and emotional risk involved before engaging in sexual relations before marriage."

Wells Will Conduct Forum in Rec Center

Charles A. Wells, statesman, journalist and cartoonist, will conduct a Conference on Christ forum in Rec Center at 4 p. m. February 26 and 27. The forums will be sponsored by the Manhattan Ministerial Alliance and the Kansas State Religious Federation.

Wells has seen revolution and war during his years in Asia, Russia and Europe, states the Rev. B. A. Rogers, faculty sponsor of the Religious Federation. He has been a sports writer and cartoonist. In recent years he has written for newspapers and religious periodicals and has made frequent radio broadcasts.

Loyal Fans Wait in Line to See Heroes Stomp Hawks

By Tom Leathers
Wednesday was a busy day in the Wildcat lair. Some guys spent a total of nine hours on basketball—standing in line, waiting, hoping, watching and cheering. But the weather and the spirit was right, as were 44 percent of the Purple shots, so everyone went home knowing it had been a red-letter day in K-State history.

1:15 p. m.—The doors of Nichols Gym weren't supposed to open until 6:15, but at fifteen minutes past one, up the steps at the East door came Jim Stehley, Bob Bogue, Lea Cavanaugh, Joe Zollinger and Paul LaCroix with five chairs and a deck of cards, content to wait the next five hours for the chance to see their heroes in action.

1:45 p. m.—A while later five or six others joined the original quintet to round out a cozy group. One even brought a radio.

3:00—By this time several hundred were in line, mostly someone would squeeze in ahead books or playing cards.

4:00—An hour later all paths led to Nichols Gym, as over a thousand swarmed the four doors. Many held places in the lines for friends or wives, and each time someone would squeeze in ahead he would be met with a chorus of boos from further back.

4:30—A 10-year old boy and his younger sister peddled ham sandwiches to those in the lines, and their supply was quickly taken up by the hungry crowd. Some students brought rubber pads to sit on, others folding chairs, but most just sat on blankets. By half-past four, 45 bridge games were counted in the line leading from the East door and winding around toward the Canteen and on the south wall of the campus. Many stood solidly near the end of the line, knowing they probably wouldn't get a seat in the gym, but holding on to a faint hope. Traffic

CANCER TO BE ASSEMBLY TOPIC

"Present Trends in Cancer Research" will be discussed by Dr. E. W. Bertner, director of the Texas Medical Center, Houston, at an all College assembly Wednesday. Classes will be shortened accordingly.

Dr. Bertner is also chairman of the Executive Committee of the Texas Division of the American Cancer Society. "He should bring a fascinating story with latest information on the subject of cancer research," said A. L. Pugsley, dean of administration. Prof. J. Forrest West, baritone, of the Department of Music, will sing "Requiem" by Homer and "Preach Not Me Your Musty Rules" (from Milton's "Comus") by Arne.

Class Schedule
7:00-7:50 will meet 7:00-7:40
8:00-8:50 will meet 7:50-8:30
9:00-9:50 will meet 8:40-9:20

ASSEMBLY
10:10-10:50 will meet 10:30-11:05
11:00-11:50 will meet 11:15-11:50

Get New Instrument

A Flame Photometer is the latest testing instrument added to the soils laboratory at the College. The instrument is the only model of its kind in use at the present time.

The Flame Photometer is used for the determination of a large number of chemical constituents commonly found in soils.

One Hour Parking Affects Aggieville

Students at KSC found a one hour parking regulation enforced in Aggieville effective last Wednesday. Parking limitation on week days is between the hours of 9 a. m. and 6 p. m. On Saturdays regulations are in effect between 9 a. m. to 9 p. m. Sundays and legal holidays are not restricted.

Another officer has been added to the district in order to run three men on an eight-hour shift every day. Police Chief Clinton Bolte said.

No 'Friday Niter'

Friday-Nite Dance Club will not meet this evening but tickets for this dance will be honored next Friday when the club meets in the women's gym.

Awards Presented to Judging Teams

Members of Kansas State College's judging teams were awarded medals at the School of Agriculture's annual banquet Friday in Thompson Hall.

Teams and their members: Dairy—Thomas Bentley, Arthur Jacobs, Harry Mudge, and Richard Eaton.

Field Crops—Roger Hamilton, Roland Livers, Charles Roy, and Wayne Pearce.

Livestock—James Collier, Linton Lull, Clair Parcel, Richard Winger, Richard Warren, Charles Nesbit and Philip Sanders.

Meats team—Harold Black, Bobbie Steel, Thomas Sullivan, Howard Lindholm, and George Dunn.

Poultry—Tom Carleton, Victor Dewhirst, Fred Gleue, and Tom Tasker.

Dr. H. E. Myers, agronomy head, was toastmaster; Dean R. I. Throckmorton, of the School of Agriculture presented the medals.

Stassen, Dewey Will be Invited

The Student Council at their last meeting approved a request of the Y. M. C. A. political effectiveness committee to invite debate at K-State between presidential candidates Harold Stassen and Thomas Dewey to a March 1 and April 30. The debate, if the candidates accept the invitation, will be conducted according to procedure outlined by Dean Pugsley.

The Council also announced that rules pertaining to fraternity and sorority initiations are still in effect. The registrar must certify the eligibility of each candidate for initiation before the candidate can be taken into the organization.

They also wished to remind all college organizations that before any social function can be held, a social permit must be obtained from the Dean of Women 48 hours before the beginning of the social function. Any organization failing to do this is subject to a fine of $5 by the Council.

Pens Education Article

Dr. R. A. Walker, head of the Institute of Citizenship is author of an article in the current issue of the Kansas Teacher Magazine.

The article, "Is Political Education a Lost Art?" was taken from a talk Dr. Walker gave before the National Council for Social Studies in St. Louis in November. The Council is also using the speech as an article in the February issue of its journal, "Social Education."

Future Instructors

Students who will be candidates for teaching positions beginning next September are expected to meet in Willard-115 at 4 p. m. Tuesday, according to Dr. H. L. Baker, head of the Department of Psychology. Services of the Bureau of Teaching appointments will be explained by the director, Dr. Baker. Information concerning preparation of credentials and applications will be given.

Every student who expects to teach next September should be present, Dr. Baker said.

No School

Since Monday, February 23 is a national holiday, no class sessions will be held at Kansas State that day. Classes will resume at 7 a. m. Tuesday, February 24. The next issue of the Collegian will be published Friday, February 27.

Manuscripts Accepted for Club Membership

The American College Quill Club is now accepting original manuscripts from any college student for membership in the club. The Quill Club is a national organization for the encouragement of literary effort and criticism. "The Parchment" is a national publication made up entirely of material submitted by members.

All forms of creative writing including poems, plays or sketches, are acceptable. Each applicant will send two copies of each manuscript, preferably typewritten and double-spaced, with the writer's real name placed in a sealed envelope bearing the name of his manuscript and attached to the manuscript. All manuscripts must be turned in to Joy Reinhardt, College post office box 414, before March 5.

Milling Receives Research Grant

A research grant of $1,500 has been made to the Department of Milling Industry by the Safety Car Heating and Lighting Company, New Haven, Conn. Dr. J. A. Shellenberger, head of the department, said yesterday. The money is for continuation of the study of milling by impact, a process employing centrifugal force instead of steel rollers.

Another grant of $500 from the Kurth Milling Company, Milwaukee, Wis., was also reported by Dr. Shellenberger. The funds are for studying improved methods of milling malt.

Gretzinger Heads Chemical Engineers

The student chapter of the American Institute of Chemical Engineers has elected Jim Gretzinger president for the spring semester.

Other officers are Bob Meyer, vice-president; Ernie Pence, secretary; Melvin Barb, treasurer; Bob Arnold, program chairman.

Two scholastic awards have been made by the organization. J. C. Hassler, sophomore, earned the award for his work in his freshman year. M. V. Barb, junior, got the award for his scholastic standing as a sophomore.

Hospitality Days Are April 16-17

"Our Future Begins Today" is the theme for Hospitality Days, the 18th annual home economics open house to be April 16 and 17, said Louise Mosier, chairman of the steering committee yesterday afternoon.

Working with the chairman are Willa Dean Mills, assistant to the chairman; Miss Margaret Raffington, professor in the Department of Child Welfare and Ethnics, general advisor; Mae Weaver, assembly chairman; Jeanne Miller, signs chairman; Rosalie Germann, posters chairman.

Others include June Sorenson, badges chairman; Barbara Carter, hostesses chairman; Judy Gardner, reception chairman; Marilyn Larson, program for town women; Ruthann Loomis, tea for town women.

Clarice Cooper, box lunch chairman; Eugenia Beezley, high school contest chairman; Mary Jane Meili, guides and tours chairman; and Loretta Stricklin, exhibits chairman.

Between 700 and 1,000 visitors are expected to attend the open house this spring.

Welch Head UNESCO Social Science Group

John F. Welch recently was elected chairman of the KSC-UNESCO social science interest group for the second semester.

Other officers chosen include Michael R. Myers, vice-chairman; Barbara Calderwood, secretary; and Joan Reynolds, delegate to UNESCO council.

The group heard a report on Germany by John Kier at 4 p. m. Thursday in Anderson Hall. Kier, an instructor in economics and sociology at the College, recently returned from Germany.

Bork Receives County Agent Appointment

William S. Bork, first semester graduate of Kansas State, was recently appointed agricultural agent of Hamilton county at Syracuse. He was the first graduate of the College to receive the bachelor of science degree in agricultural journalism, offered only since the war. He has sold articles on agriculture to several magazines and done some fiction writing also marked. He is a member of Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalism society.

Bork's home before entering College was Milton, Mo. He is married and has two sons.

College Slang Is Confusing

German War Bride Finds No Wild Indians at KSC

By Ardith Darnell

As the wife of a graduating senior in architectural engineering, Mrs. Donald (Ingeborg) Westbrook, 412 Moro, finds there is little time for social life, here at K-State. Inge, as she is known by her friends, met her husband while he was in Germany with the army of occupation. They were married when she came to New York last May.

Her husband will graduate this spring, here goes to school also the only German war bride on the campus, she is enrolled as a special student in business and is taking some courses at the Palmer Secretarial School. Inge said, "We spend our evenings studying, and find little time to go out. The entertainment here is so different. At home we had lots of music—and ballet."

College Slang

Mrs. Westbrook speaks English with a slight accent. At first, college terms often confused her, but she is quickly catching on to popular slang expressions on the campus. Inge studied languages when in college in Germany. College life in Germany is much different, she says. She did not attend any co-educational schools. During the

Myers to Confab

Dr. H. E. Myers, head of the agronomy department, will attend a meeting of the newly organized Collaborators, March 1 through 3, in Washington, D. C., to discuss plant and soil irrigation. The Collaborators, a division of the Bureau of Plant Industry, U. S. Department of Agriculture, consists of 16 members from four sections of the country.

New Citizenship Club Formed on Campus

The first meeting of the Collegium, an organization for Institute of Citizenship majors, was held at the home of Dr. Robert Walker, director of the Institute, Sunday evening. The meetings, held the third Sunday of each month, will be for the purpose of discussing contemporary affairs.

The topic of the meeting Sunday was the political comparisons of urban and community areas. Bill Brainerd was chairman of the discussion.

Officers of the organization are: Nadine Smith, chairman; Chris Copt, vice chairman and Ann Callaghan, secretary and treasurer. Bill Brainerd and Paul Kuckelman comprise the executive board.

The organization is not restricted specifically to Institute of Citizenship majors. Anyone interested may attend the meetings.

To Attend Milling Meeting in Chicago

Dr. J. A. Shellenberger, head of the department of milling industry, will attend a meeting of the American Society of Bakery Engineers at Edgewater Beach Hotel in Chicago March 8 to 12.

In addition, he will preside at a meeting of the program committee of the American Society of Cereal Chemists March 8. Dr. Shellenberger is committee chairman. The society will meet in Cincinnati, Ohio May 23.

Nation's Head Physician Next in Marriage Series

Dr. Morris Fishbein, head of the American Medical Society, will deliver the second of the College series of lectures on Courtship and Marriage in the College Auditorium, Tuesday, Feb. 24, at 7:30 p. m. Doctor Fishbein's subject for the evening will be "The Physical and Medical Aspects of Marriage."

Begun Monday with a talk by Dr. Robert Foster, the series drew an initial audience of more than 2,100 students and townspeople.

Dr. Morris Fishbein

First TB X-ray Results Received

Results for the first group of students X-rayed for tuberculosis have been received from Topeka by the Student Health Service. A few suspicious cases have been found in this group, Dr. Robert R. Snook, director, said yesterday.

Approximately 500 of the 7,000 students X-rayed, will show suspicious tests, and only a small percentage of these will be new tuberculosis cases, Dr. Snook stated.

Notices concerning the tests will be sent out to all students X-rayed by the Kansas Tuberculosis Association. The first to receive notices will be those who show a possible positive test.

Students hearing from the Student Health in the near future should not be apprehensive of coming to the student hospital. Many will have nothing wrong with them, and others will be healed cases, Dr. Snook added.

Student Health Emergency Room Open All Hours

Many students are using the Student Health Service incorrectly and are unable to receive proper and immediate attention at the student hospital when they become ill, Dr. Robert R. Snook, director, has announced.

College doctors cannot make home calls, Dr. Snook emphasized. If a student is too sick to go to Student Health, he should be taken to the hospital immediately without need of consulting a doctor.

Students are also urged to call the emergency room if they should become ill after Student Health hours, Dr. Snook said. This facility is to provide a receiving room for patients after 5 p. m., Saturdays and holidays. If a student should become ill after hospital hours, he should call the emergency room before leaving for the hospital to allow the doctor on duty to reach the hospital at approximately the same time as the patient. The new telephone number is 4134.

Collegiate 4-H Clubs Transcribes Program

Collegiate 4-H Club members will have an opportunity to hear themselves perform over the radio next Saturday afternoon, Floyd Ricker, chairman of the Collegiate 4-H Club radio committee, announced. Ricker says that the drama section of the Collegiate 4-H Club program was transcribed by wire recorder on February 19 and will be replayed Saturday, February 21, at the time of the regular program between 1 and 1:30 p. m.

According to Ricker this is the first time that any portion of the Collegiate 4-H Club program has ever been recorded. The drama section of the program this week will consist of the adventures of the "Sunnybrook 4-H Club" as they prepare for participation in the 4-H Club Days—soon to be held in most Kansas counties.

Doctor Fishbein will fly both ways from Chicago in order to take part in the program being initiated at Kansas State this year, according to Ralph Salisbury, chairman of the lecture committee. "Since we have invited him," Salisbury said, "Doctor Fishbein has accepted an invitation to make an afternoon address at the Menninger Psychiatric Foundation in Topeka. Dr. Karl Menninger will then drive him to Manhattan."

Doctors Will Entertain

Prior to the speech time Tuesday, the Riley County Medical Association will meet with the Doctor at a dinner at a local hotel. Invitations were extended by two other local organizations, but could not be accepted by Doctor Fishbein, according to members of the lecture committee. Doctor Menninger will drive the medical leader back to Topeka in time for his return flight.

"As in the other lectures of the series, Doctor Fishbein will follow his address with a question period in which the audience may ask questions from the floor," the chairman said. President Milton Eisenhower will introduce the speaker.

Is Well Qualified

Well qualified on the subject, committee members said, the famed doctor has been a lecturer as well as a practicing doctor and an editor for more than 20 years. Among the editorships now held by Doctor Fishbein are the head positions on Hygiene, The Journal of the American Medical Association, the Quarterly Communicative Index of Medicine, and the Whitlensay House Health Series.

Doctor Fishbein has made many significant contributions to medical literature for the layman as well as for the doctor, according to Who's Who. He is a frequent contributor to such nationally known publications as the Saturday Evening Post, Good Housekeeping and the Reader's Digest. In addition, he is the medical editor for the Encyclopedia Britannica and writes a syndicated column for the Chicago Times and affiliated newspapers.

Has Written 20 Books

Doctor Fishbein is the author of 20 books on medical subjects, and has been editor for 6 more. Including such works as The Human Body and Its Care, Shattering Health Superstitions, and Frontiers of Medicine, the latest to be released is dated this year. It is The Complete Guide to Successful Marriage.

Sale of Hereford Adds $1000 to Fund

Sale of W. H. Princess Toner, a Hereford heifer, at the Kansas Hereford Association Show and Sale in Hutchinson Monday added $1,000 to the Memorial Chapel fund.

The heifer, donated by Mrs. Thomas Taylor and sons, Tom and John, of Great Bend, was purchased for $500 by Willis Kelly, Hutchinson miller and member of the College Board of Regents. Kelly returned the calf to the ring where it sold again for $500 to Aaron Sell, Royal Hereford Ranch, Stafford.

Donations from the sale, and show crowd added $600 to the Memorial Chapel fund. Kenney L. Ford, alumni secretary, and Bonnie Woods, Endowment fund field representative, attended the sale.

Congratulations

You students of Kansas State College are to be congratulated. Your conduct at the KU-K-State was exemplary.

The requests for police protection for Dr. Allen were proved to be ridiculous. The good doctor's health was not damaged in any way by your actions with the exception of trampling of his prestige by the rampaging Wildcats.

When the Jayhawk team took the floor for their pre-game warmup, you totally greeted them, which was surprising considering the long wait most of you had before getting into the gym. A few minutes later when Phog Allen walked out on the floor, your tremendous ovation probably gave the vociferous mentor one of the biggest surprises of his life.

Paul Zeh, Daily Kansan reporter sitting at the press table, remarked that it was one of the finest exhibitions of sportsmanship he had ever seen.

Although you rabidly supported the Cat team during the game, booing was held to a minimum. By your actions you proved to visiting sports writers and officials that the "unsportsmanship" title handed to you last spring will not be handed to this school again this year.

Let's keep up the good work gang, there are still two more home games. Anything can happen yet. Prove that your sportsmanlike actions Wednesday night weren't an accident. When the Missouri Tigers and the Nebraska Cornhuskers come to Nichols Gym, let's give them a hand when they come on the floor but when the game starts—EVERY MAN A WILDCAT.

A Big Step Ahead

A long stride in progressive education at Kansas State was taken last week. Dr. Robert G. Foster, now a professor of sociology at Kansas University, openly discussed sex relationships before and after marriage with the crowd of men and women students who filled the Auditorium to hear him. After the lecture many students stated that they had benefited from his address.

Perhaps the Monday night lecture was the first time many students had ever heard sex discussed so frankly in a public lecture before a mixed crowd. Less than four years ago sex was considered a touchy subject for mixed group discussion. Sex was talked about in non-medical groups, all right, but only by people who did not, according to society, conform to the moral standards of the times.

Usually facts about sex were extremely distorted. Women gathered in their own groups to whisper and giggle about sex, pregnancy and childbirth. What they whispered and giggled about was usually gossip or the product of their own imaginations, since few of them had been informed by their mothers about the actual facts of sex. The pitiful thing was, and still is in many cases, many of the mothers did not really know much about sex themselves.

Sex, usually in the form of risqué stories, has always been a choice subject for bandying around tavern tables. Seldom has sex been treated as objectively as it must be if progress is to be made in teaching young people about the subject. Parents have been prone to avoid the subject of correct sex education.

Now educators are realizing that if the rising rate of juvenile delinquency cases, divorce cases, abortions and illegitimate births is to be curbed, they must take over the task of giving young people the facts about sex.

Kansas State College, with its lecture series including speakers on all phases of married life, is a leader in this important undertaking. By next fall the non-credit lecture series may be augmented by a credit course on courtship and marriage.

OUTSIDE the Ivy WALLS

By Clyde A. Osburn
 The leading question this week in world affairs is who is going to restore and keep peace between the Jews and Arabs when the British troops pack up their kits. The British mandate over Palestine ends May 15, 1948.

Britain is out to prevent at all costs the sending of an international force to Palestine, according to British authorities. British fear that would mean bringing Soviet troops into the Middle East. The United States so far has kept mum.

American Farm Bureau Federation warned the Senate Committee on Agriculture to be not too hasty in passing legislation further regulating trading in futures on grain and other commodity exchanges. Senator Barkley, Democrat floor leader in the Senate, introduced a bill authorizing 100 per cent margins on future trading.

Action on wage-price legislation has been shelved for the time being and turned over to the "law of supply and demand." Senate banking committee said legislation will be delayed indefinitely by the market break.

Britain's labor government has run into trouble in its attempt to stabilize wages as a barrier against inflation. Unions representing 5,000,000 workers are pressing for wage increases in defiance of the voluntary attempt to freeze wages and profits.

France also is having wage and price difficulties. Food since January 1 has increased as high as 70 per cent on some vegetables. The General Confederation of Labor, led by the Communists, are demanding wage increases to meet the rising costs.

The State Department has received what it considers reliable information that Russia considers 1948 as its golden opportunity to consolidate its political position in the maze of European postwar crises because it being our Presidential election year.

In three identical notes, Russia protested to the United States, Britain, and France against any plans they might make on long range economic plans for Germany. The three governments meet next week to discuss reorganization of the economic structure of Germany. In the notes, Russia warned they wouldn't recognize any decisions reached.

On Other Campuses

By Ralph C. Arnold

The University of Texas' Legal Aid Clinic handled 261 cases of 433 applications for legal help. Cases involving property were most numerous, but running a close second were domestic cases. A number of divorce cases have been handled by the clinic. Is our College failing to give the married students all the benefits they might expect?

At Drake University one observer saw "seven students turned away from the health clinic because the one hour 'sick call' time limit was up."

A harried mother of a University of Texas student reported to the county attorney that within three blocks of the college was a place where students could be divided from their money. The boys from Splinterville can go the lady one better than that.

"Who is Miss Huckster?" is the latest question on the campus at the University of Oklahoma. The clues are: "I'll not leave you in the shade, one is found in lemonade. Bees and pins will help a lot. With winter's blast, I'm not forgot. Read your history and you will see, the French and Germans fought over me." And they are offering prizes too!

A recent survey at Iowa State indicated that less than one per cent of the students had a desire to dance to the music of Stan Kenton. The same survey revealed that one out nine students could not dance when they came to college.

Two Northwestern University co-eds have resigned as editors of the University humor magazine because faculty members criticized the publication for placing "undue emphasis on sex and liquor."

A reader of the Oklahoma University daily paper complains that, "The boots are back again! On any camp or dripping morning, the scuff and scrape of galoshes can be heard all over the campus. This unsavory scratch is caused by the apparent inability of some big-footed co-eds to lift their dogs off the ground." I didn't say it, I merely quoted the gentleman but...

was getting congested in Aggieville and along Anderson street. 5:00—Some of the early birds were relieved in line by friends, giving them a chance to grab a coke and sandwich at the Canteen. Girls were attired in all sorts of outfits, some in slacks, a few in heels, but mostly in their school clothes.

5:30—The scalping of tickets reached a new high when a fellow near the front of the line offered his ticket and place in line for $10. He had no takers. Amateur photographers dotted the crowd, catching shots of the winding lines of students.

6:00—The crowd started jamming forward as the time for the doors to open drew close. A few sneaked a little ahead in line, but for the most part the students respected the position of the guy who got their first.

6:10—The officials caught the crowd of around 4,000 by surprise by opening the doors five minutes early. In surged the shouting, over-anxious ticket holders, some who had waited for five hours finding it hard to realize that finally they were getting in.

6:30—Ten minutes after the doors were open the 2500 seats were filled and the officials closed the doors again. Hundreds milled around outside, still looking for a way to get in. Thirty officials were on duty to handle the crowd.

The program sellers were swamped and quickly sold their supply. Everyone wanted a souvenir of the K. U. game. The K-fraternity stationed eight of its members behind the bench occupied by "Phog" Allen, and the subsequent cheering of the K. U. coach made the eight look like an honor guard rather than police protection it was intended for.

7:45—The game finally started.
 9:30—It's over. We won! Whew!

Hustling Cats Maul Allen's Jayhawks Before Capacity Crowd in Nichols Gym

A fighting, snarling K-State Wildcat clawed the feathers from the Kansas Jayhawk in Nichols Gymnasium Wednesday night as Jack Gardner's league-leading cagers plastered a 48-29 decision on "Phog" Allen's fluttering fowls from Lawrence. A capacity crowd of screaming Wildcat partisans yelled themselves hoarse as the Cats grabbed an early lead and went on to swamp the baffled birds under an avalanche of second half baskets.

Coach Allen of the Jayhawks attempted to fool the Purple and White defense with a stall-off offense in the first half but the Gardnermen clung to their opponents with the tenacity of a leech and roared to a 14-9 half-time lead. Allen's strategy backfired again in the second period as the Hawks resumed their ball freezing tactics and the Wildcats began to pour in the buckets.

Jayhawks Stall
It was a strange start the Jayhawkers made. For nearly five and one-half minutes they controlled the ball far out in the front court without attempting a shot at the hoop.

The Kansans continued their attempts to baffle the Cats throughout the entire first half and part of the second. But instead of throwing the Purple and White into a frenzy, the Jayhawks threw themselves into their fourth consecutive Big Seven defeat.

The Wildcat victory was sweet music to K-State ears and a delectable morsel for center Clarence Brannum and coach Jack Gardner in particular. Brannum, whose eligibility has repeatedly been questioned by Allen, played a spectacular defensive game, rebounded brilliantly, and poured 8 points through the hoops. For Gardner, it was the first conference win over the wily Jayhawk mentor.

K-State broke up the Jayhawk freighting tactics midway in the first half as Rick Harman, Lloyd Krone, and Howard Shannon went to work at stealing passes and taking advantage of KU miscues. Before the fireworks died down, the Wildcats owned a 14-9 lead and the initial period had ended. Strangely, the Jayhawks took only three shots at the basket in the entire opening period. Two were setups and scored baskets.

Harman Leads Cats
It was the offensive power displayed by hustling Rick Harman and high jumping Howard Shannon that shoved the Cats into a commanding second half lead. Harman swished the nets for 5 quick points as the half opened then added a trio of free tosses later in the period. Shannon hit four of his most spectacular shots during the course of the game.

Harman's 13 tallies paced the Wildcats while Shannon pushed in 10 markers to rank second. Clarence Brannum hit 8 points and Jack Dean turned in a 6 point performance.

Six volleyball games Tuesday night in Nichols Gymnasium will usher in the intramural volleyball season.

The games scheduled are Phi Delta vs Sig Alpha and Sig Psi vs Phi Kappa at 7:15. Pi K A vs Delta Sigma and Farm House vs Theta Xi at 8:00 p. m. A K L vs Kappa Alpha Psi and Delta vs ATO at 8:45 p. m.

There are 18 fraternity teams entered and 16 independent teams. Both groups have been divided into three sections.

The fraternity divisions are, Group I—Sigma Phi Epsilon, Pi Kappa Alpha, Alpha Kappa Lambda, Kappa Alpha Psi, Delta Sigma Phi, and Phi Kappa.

Group II—Phi Delta Theta, Farm House, Delta Tau Delta, Alpha Tau Omega, Theta Xi, and Sigma Alpha Epsilon. Group III—Beta Theta Pi, Tau Kappa Epsilon, Kappa Sigma, Acacia, Sigma Nu, and Alpha Gamma Rho.

The independent divisions are, Group I—Set-Ups, Gamma Delta, Y. M. C. A., Wesley Foundation, Baptist Students, and Poultry Club. Group II—P. E. M., A. V. M., A., Boozedoes, Amistad, and Black Cats. Group III—L. S. A., Gutterbuns, Ag Education Club, House of Williams, and Sigma Phi Nothing.

Beta Theta Pi won the fraternity section of intramural volleyball last year and will be the favorite to repeat as champions again this year. Barracks No. 5, Splinterville, won the independent division and also the all-school championship last year.

Schnellbacher, the Kansas ace, was limited to a scanty 6 tallies by the tight man-for-man Kansas State defense. The big Jayhawk forward left the game on fouls shortly before the final gun.

Wildcats Fast Break
Midway in the second period, the Kansans attempted to apply a tight defense all over the floor but the blistering Wildcat fast break whipped past the Hawks for repeated set-ups.

CHALK TALK

By NORV GISH

The Kansas State victory over "Phog" Allen's Jayhawks Wednesday night produced one of the wildest victory demonstrations in the history of Wildcat athletics. Pandemonium broke loose in the streets of Aggieville following the game. Manhattan residents, who have suffered through numerous victory celebrations, called the display the noisiest in years.

Allen, never content to let things ride, had a comment on the K-State holiday. The vociferous Jayhawk mentor said "We've been beating the Wildcats for years and we've never had a holiday." Stick around "Phog," maybe we can run up a string of wins over your boys that will warrant a Kansas holiday in the future. We believe in cooperation here at K-State.

Paul Zeh, Daily Kansan sportswriter, told us after the game that the action of the K-State crowd during the evening was one of the finest displays of sportsmanship he had seen in a long time. He commented that he thought the Wildcats were the top club in the Big Seven after seeing them beat the Oklahoma Aggies in Kansas City earlier this season. Following Wednesday night's rout of the Jayhawks, Paul admitted that the Cats had made a "believer" of him.

The "big shove" to get a seat when the doors opened for the game Wednesday night was quite an experience. Several students narrowly escaped injury in the pushing mob of basketball hungry fans. Something should be done to prevent any recurrence of that situation.

The coaching situation in the Big Seven may clear up a little by next week. Both Nebraska and Kansas Universities have announced intentions of naming grid coaches soon. George "Pot" Clark and Ray Elliot are being mentioned prominently for the Cornhusker job while Volney Ashford of Missouri Valley College seems to have an inside track at Kansas.

WILDCATS SEEK REVENGE FROM MISSOURI HERE

Fir will fly in the crackerbox coliseum tomorrow night when the Missouri Tigers invade the Wildcat's home lair. The game will begin at 7:45. First place in the Big Seven conference is at stake with the Wildcats needing a victory to maintain their supremacy. Wednesday night's win over the Kansas Jayhawkers strengthened K-State's hold on the top rung, but a defeat could topple them.

In a previous meeting this season at Columbia, the clawing Tigers eked out a 48-46 decision over Coach Jack Gardner's hardwood proteges. All eyes will be focused on "Jumping Jack" Dan Pippin, Missouri's star forward, who was the principal figure in the Wildcat loss. Pippin pushed through 24 counters, half of his team's total. Since then, however, he has been extremely cold at the hoop and has scored only 15 points in Missouri's last three games. Thornton Jenkins, the other half of the Tiger's high scoring twins, will also bear watching. Jenkins is the leading scorer of the Conference for all games played this season.

The contest promises to be a hard-fought battle. The Gardnermen are after revenge and will settle for nothing short of a win. On the other hand, coach Sparky Stalcup's charges must pull down a victory in this game to remain in a challenging position for the conference crown.

As the second half of the scoreboard clock crept around to the final minute of play, coach Gardner pulled his regulars and inserted his second and third string men.

A terrific ovation went up from the partisan K-State crowd as each Wildcat regular left the floor. The leather lunged fans outdid themselves when big Clarence Brannum came off the court. It was three minutes before the cheers for "Eligible" Clarence subsided.

KSC Swimmers Meet Iowa State Saturday

The K-State swimming team will be host to the Iowa State team here tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 in Nichols Gymnasium.

In two of the last three games, all of which went to Missouri, two points or less has been the margin of victory. This points to a game of fast, up and down basketball.

Coach Gardner has indicated that he will come out with his usual five-star lineup which worked so well against the Jayhawks. Rick Harman and Hal Howey, fire-wagon forwards, big Clarence Brannum at center and Jack Dean and Howard Shannon at the guard posts. Anyone of these men is capable of breaking out in a scoring rash which could spell defeat for the opposition. On the bench Al Langston, Lloyd Krone and Ward Clark are ready for action.

For Missouri, Coach Stalcup has named Dan Pippin and Thornton Jenkins at forwards. Jerry Fowler will probably start the game at center for the Tigers, with Pierpoint and McMullen in the guard slots.

Wildcats Battle Cyclone Mattmen in Gym Tonight

Iowa State's Cyclones blow in to Nichols Gym tonight at 7:30 to tangle with the Wildcats on the wrestling mat. The Cyclones are Big Seven defending champs and boast a power-packed club again this year.

According to K-State coach "Red" Reynard, the match will be a toss-up. Comparative scores bear out the wisdom of Reynard's prediction. Iowa State beat Nebraska, drew with Minnesota and were beaten by Colorado A. & M. Against these same three teams, Kansas State defeated Minnesota, drew with Colorado A&M and lost to Nebraska. On the basis of these scores a prediction would be difficult to make.

Reynard names Glen Brand, 175 lb. and heavyweight star, as the outstanding wrestler on the Iowa State team. Close behind Brand, he ranks Dick Ditsworth, 155 lb. class. Ditsworth is unbeaten in five matches this year and will return to action tonight after missing the last three matches because of injuries.

Coach Hugo Glopalik, of Iowa State, has indicated that Ditsworth will wrestle in the 145 lb. class for the rest of the season. This will pit Ditsworth against Captain Stan Fansher, of K-State.

in what Reynard designates as the outstanding match of the evening.

Cigars at the Alpha Gamma Rho fraternity house. This time it was Sam Harris announcing his engagement to Evelyn Bohm, both of whom are from Iowa. Sam is a junior in agriculture.

The annual Sig Ep Golden Heart Ball will be tomorrow night. A dinner starting at 6:30 p. m. will be held at the Warehouse. The community house will be the scene of the dance from 9 to 12 p. m. During the evening the Sig Ep Sweetheart will be crowned.

pledge ribbons of Kappa Delta. Wearing the green and white is Carol Waggoner of Kansas City.

New officers at East Stadium are: Doris Downing, president; Peggy Lee, vice-president; Bonnie Stephan, secretary; Margaret Boone, treasurer; Mary Margaret Sage, social chairman; Martha Betz, publicity chairman; Kathleen Curry, athletic chairman; Marilyn Hart, pianist; Roberta Ann King, song leader; Barbara Calderwood, UNESCO council representative; Addie Mae Lambert, UNESCO alternate.

Sig Eps will have their 30th anniversary Founder's Day dinner Sunday at the chapter house. A joint alumni and active meeting will follow the dinner.

Sigma Phi Chi members have elected officers. Fred Kramer is the new high official. Mildred Duwe is vice-president and Shirley Smith executive secretary and treasurer.

Formal pledging was held last night at the Alpha Chi Omega house for Donna Ashlock, Kansas City, Mo.; Yvonne Swenson, Leonardville; Virginia Price, Topeka; and Janis Barston, Larned.

The Phi Delta house will be the scene of a hobo party tonight from 8:30 to 11:30.

New officers for Alpha Tau Omega fraternity have been elected. They are: president, Keith Kehmerer; secretary, Gene Bruner; chaplain, Kenneth Bell; treasurer, Glen Scanlan; sentinel, Jack Brown; usher, Harold Kyser; and reporter, Ken Slyhoff. Keeper of the annuals is Dave Lewis. Pledge officers include: president, Corliss Kiser; secretary-treasurer, Bob Hahn; social chairman, Dick Wedge; and inter-fraternity council representative, Ronnie Stinson.

Frank Kessler of Hayes and Earl Means of Kinsley, have been guests at the Farm House this week.

Installation of officers was held at the Kappa Delta chapter house Wednesday night for Arlene Abelson, president; Helen Morton, vice-president; Anita Lyness, secretary; Barbara Baker, treasurer; Jane Campbell, assistant treasurer; Ruby Jo Morgan, membership chairman and LaVerne Robert, editor.

"Fatal Fling" was the theme of the Alpha Xi Delta house party held last Friday the 13th. Despite the supposedly unlucky date, a gay time was had by all. The pledges presented a skit, "How Fatal Can a Fling Be." Cards, dancing, and refreshments added to the entertainment.

K-State to Have Real Live Wildcat for New Mascot

Kansas State will soon have a real live wildcat for a mascot according to Wyatt Siker of Alpha Phi Omega, national service fraternity. He said yesterday that the wildcat has been paid for and should arrive here within two weeks.

A cage to house the mascot will be built under the north radio tower sometime this spring, Siker said. Until the cage can be built the wildcat will be kept at the city zoo. The veterinary school has agreed to take care of it in case of illness.

Alpha Phi Omega undertook the project to promote more school spirit. The wildcat will be the property of the student body but it will be managed by Alpha Phi Omega, according to Siker. Other organizations may have the use of it by making arrangements with them.

The athletic department has approved the idea and it is now subject to approval by the Student Council.

Caught in Michigan
Arrangements to secure the genuine wildcat were made through Dave Hockman, Kansas State student from Cheboygan, Mich. It had been caught in Hockman's trap line in Michigan. The cat is about seven months old and cost the Alpha Phi Omegas $50.

A wildcat fund will be raised to pay for the cost of keeping the mascot by projects which Alpha Phi Omega will carry out. Siker stated that a contest to name it would be held soon after it arrives.

Kansas State has had two real wildcats in the past. In 1920 a wildcat was sent to the college and named Touchdown I. It died that winter and soon after another was sent to the college. It was named Touchdown II.

When Touchdown II died a taxidermist stuffed the skin and it can still be seen in the display case in the Nichols gymnasium. The mascot of the play case in Nichols gymnasium, football team was a probably less ferocious wildcat named Scrapper. It was a girl dressed in a wildcat costume. Scrapper was the idea of former head football coach, Sam Francis.

PROFS GET INSIDE DOPE

Coyotes Find Life Dead in Basement of Fairchild

BY ROGER SWANSON

These are busy days for profs in room 9 of the zoology department over in Fairchild hall.

Dr. D. J. Ameel, Professor H. T. Gies, and instructor Otto Tiemeier, are cutting apart 170 coyotes and removing their stomachs and other abdominal viscera. They are doing this to find out what coyotes eat.

Why do these three men want to know what coyotes eat, you ask? There's an answer for that, but since it involves as much zoology as a five hour course in the subject, it is better skipped here. Go see the profs.

Assembly Line Autopsy
Anyway, they've got these 170 dead wild dogs and they are performing a mass assembly line autopsy on them. In describing his work, one of the profs said, "We're snowed under with coyotes, people keep sending them to us from all over the state. First they came from Ft. Riley, then Garden City, and Dodge City. Why, we even got one from St. George."

The zoology prof said he liked the job of taking out a coyote's insides, but added, "It takes guts to do this kind of work."

Even though the exact purpose of removing the coyote's insides is more or less a mystery, some results have been observed: (1) Only a very small percentage of coyotes eat chickens, (2) They do eat field mice, rabbits, and sometimes small pigs. (3) They are increasing in numbers over this area (especially in room nine, and in the

Ivy to Return

Cutting down the vines on Kedzie and Anderson Halls does not mean they are gone forever. The vines have been growing on the walls for 20 or 30 years.

If the vines are cut down they will grow back faster and will be more attractive, Prof. L. R. Quilan of the horticulture department said yesterday.

The vines, which are usually thought of as ivy, are really Virginia creeper. This type of vine grows better if it is trimmed in the early spring.

DEAN'S PICTURE GIVEN TO KSC

A portrait of James Edward Ackert, dean emeritus of the graduate school, will be presented the College at the Agricultural Experiment Station luncheon in Thompson Hall Saturday, according to Dr. L. M. Roderick, chairman of the portrait committee.

The portrait, painted by Mrs. Elfreda Johnson Peterson, Manhattan artist, was supported by students and friends of the dean. They oversubscribed the fund more than $75 which will go to the Memorial Chapel fund, Dr. Roderick said.

Dean Ackert came to Kansas State as a parasitologist on the experiment station staff in 1913 after receiving A. B., A. M. and Ph. D. degrees from the University of Illinois. He did postgraduate study at Johns Hopkins and Cambridge Universities.

The graduate dean served as secretary and editor of the American Microscopical Society from 1931 to 1945, the same years he was dean of the graduate school. He also has been president of three scientific organizations, Kansas Academy of Science, the American Microscopical Society and the American Society of Parasitologists.

The dean is author or co-author of more than 100 scientific articles.

He became chairman of the Graduate Council in 1923 and dean of the graduate school in 1931. More than 1,400 advanced degrees were conferred by the College while he was head of graduate study. During his nearly 35 years as an instructor, Dean Ackert taught more than 5,000 students.

He was a delegate to the International Zoological Congress in Padua, Italy, in 1930. He also served as an investigator for the Rockefeller Expedition to Trinidad.

After being on display at the experiment station luncheon, the portrait will hang in the office of the graduate school.

Pickering; dead-pan Lesley Denison, playing the part of a dominating housekeeper; temperamental Rebecca Lamoreaux, as urchin Eliza Doolittle; disturbed Garth Grissom, who has the part of phonetician Henry Higgins; and sputtering Fred Kramer, Papa Doolittle. "Pygmalion" will be presented in the College Auditorium next Friday and Saturday by the Kansas State Players.—Photo by Walter Warren.

SEX IN MARRIAGE TOPIC OF SECOND LECTURE SERIES

Diseases and physical handicaps which used to break up marriages are now mostly under control, Dr. Morris Fishbein, nationally known medical authority, told a crowd of more than 2,500 people who attended the second marriage series lecture here Tuesday evening.

"A normal sex life," Dr. Fishbein explained, "occurs when both partners derive satisfaction from sex relationships. Neither partner should abuse the physical capacities of his body. Skill and good form should be used in the sexual aspects of marriage. Successful human sex relationships cannot be achieved if ignorance and brutality parallel that of the animals."

Pre-Marital Exam
Often attempts to console the physical aspects of marriage with psychological aspects is difficult, Fishbein pointed out. A competent physician should make a thorough study of all the sex organs of both parties before marriage, he advised. If physical handicaps go undiscovered until after marriage, severe mental disturbances can result. Many divorces can be prevented if medical advice and treatment is given before marriage, he added.

Divorce Once Wicked
Before 1909 no one discussed the physical aspects of marriage, Fishbein said. Divorce was considered wicked. Married people who were sexually maladjusted remained together because of social pressure. The causes of their maladjustment was seldom exposed and their problem was not solved. Now, with one marriage in three ending in divorce, it is important that solutions to sexual problems be found.

"Very little venereal disease is transmitted by extra-sexual means," Dr. Fishbein declared. Nearly 3 percent of the American people have syphilis, and most of it is transmitted by sexual intercourse. "Syphilis is now controllable and can be made rare in this country. It is nothing short of folly to avoid cure of the disease by modern means," he added.

Personal hygiene in marriage is of paramount importance, Fishbein brought out. "There is nothing shameful about sex," he stated, "but successful sex relationships demand cleanliness."

Childless Marriages
"Childless marriages are somewhat abnormal," he asserted. "The aim of marriage is to perpetuate the race. If a couple cannot have children they should adopt a child from a reliable agency."

After his lecture Fishbein replied to one student question by stating that the physical, economic, and social state of a couple should determine the amount of time to allow between child-births. The number of Caesarians a woman can have should be determined by her own doctor, he advised.

President Reports KSC Appointments

Seventeen appointments, including a full professor, to the Kansas State College staff were announced Wednesday by President Milton S. Eisenhower. Five resignations were also accepted, one from a doctor in surgery and medicine.

Other appointments included a special field representative, an assistant coach, two instructors, two assistants, a research assistant, three graduate assistants and six graduate research assistants.

The appointments and departments in which they will serve: William S. Chepil, professor of agronomy; Kenneth M. Warren, special representative, and Emmett Breen, assistant coach, both in the physical education department; Instructors, John R. Winters, architecture; Jackson L. Hedgecock, applied mechanics.

Assistants, Harold W. Pierpoint, applied mechanics; Dale F. Bowlin, mechanical engineering. Graduate assistants, Marion E. Postlethwaite, agronomy; James F. Holland, physics; Vageline A. Strobel, household economics. Graduate research assistant, Daniel A. Kitchen, agricultural engineering; Joseph Rosenberg, chemistry; Mrs. Barbara Myers Flenor and Elizabeth A. Heckman, both home economics (foods and nutrition); Louis W. Clark, chemistry; and John S. Kogel, chemical engineering.

Research assistant, Merrill Toburen, chemistry. Resignations were accepted from: William B. Roberts and Mrs. Dorothy Smith, both instructors in chemistry; Virginia V. Trotter, graduate assistant in household economics; Charles T. Brackney, graduate research assistant in agronomy; and Dr. George B. Moore, professor of surgery and medicine.

Chemistry Society Initiates Students

Eighteen students were initiated by Phil Lamba Upslon, honorary chemistry society recently. Dr. A. B. Cardwell, professor and atomic physicist at Oak Ridge, Tenn., during the war, spoke at the banquet following initiation services. Students chosen are from chemistry, chemical engineering and milling curriculums.

Men initiated were Donald C. Abbott, Robert F. Arnold, Melvin V. Barb, Donald M. Beeson, Herbert E. Book, Everett L. Brosius and Hurley D. Cook.

Boys V. Dougherty, William Fawcett, James B. Folz, Benjamin Grogg, Neil O. Haflich, George D. Huston, Elmer D. Jones, Lynn R. Kinnamon, Robert H. Meyer, William H. Richards, and Duane L. Sawhill.

The negative and affirmative sides will be taken by each team.

'Friday Nites' Resume

The FRIDAY NITER DANCE CLUB will again be held in the Rec. Center from 9-11 p. m. this evening. The ticket stub dated February 13 will be valid and single admissions will be accepted. The Nightwatchmen orchestra will play.

U. S. REPLACES JAPAN AS FOE OF RUSSIANS

"We have been able to keep a rugged peace with Russia since our Republic was born. Should not we view our relations with Russia quite normal even when the going is rough?" said Prof. Fred Parrish, head of the history department, in an address Tuesday in Recreation Center.

The lecture was the ninth in a series of lectures on Russia sponsored by the Institute of Citizenship.

"We are to expect that the United States and Russia will continue to have frictions in the Far East as a matter of course," said Professor Parrish. "The Soviet Union and the United States are the two growing powers of the Far East."

"To hold only the views that Russia in the Far East is a problem to the United States is not the whole story. Americans are a problem to the Russians, to the Koreans, to the Japanese and to the Chinese," said Professor Parrish.

Hypnotic Voice No Help in Class, McClintock Says

By Shirley Nichols
If you want an "A" in Man and the Social World, John McClintock, chemical engineering sophomore, might be the man for you to see. He's a hypnotist. Any A's that McClintock has are the results of study, however, since he's never hypnotized a professor.

No one can be hypnotized unless they want to be, but anyone can become a hypnotist, according to McClintock. He became interested in the science about two years ago. After witnessing a demonstration, he read several books before testing his power of hypnotizing.

Only one out of five persons are good subjects, but these may be hypnotized in many ways. McClintock does not hypnotize through the use of his eyes but with his voice. In this manner the subject is controlled by the power of suggestion and is hypnotized.

People do not commit acts which they ordinarily might not under hypnosis, except through trickery. According to McClintock, a person can be tricked into committing a crime.

Spell Is Broken

And don't worry about being returned to normal, once in a hypnotic state. All that is needed is a simple cue by the hypnotist and the spell is broken. In beginning the hypnosis, the eyes are usually closed, but when the sub-conscious mind is released the eyes may open and hallucinations are present.

If anyone wishes to become a hypnotist, they need only books on the subject, a subject to be hypnotized and perhaps the services of John McClintock.

College Lifted Heat Control on Tuesday

Emergency heat regulations, established by the office of President Milton S. Eisenhower at the college January 28, were lifted Tuesday.

During the cold period when the College was alternately on gas furnished by a commercial company and its own supply of fuel oil, buildings at the College could not be used at night or on holidays.

Education Hall, Nichols gymnasium, the Cafeteria and Student Union were the only buildings cancelled or postponed during the emergency period.

Class Window Shops

Six students from the art class, problems in design, will go to Kansas City tomorrow to study window displays in shops and stores. The students making the trip are Mary Ellen Gunning, Darlene Hague, Betty Lou Hertz, June Schendler, Joy Reinhardt and Opal Hill, an art instructor who is taking the course. Mrs. Jess Alexander is the faculty sponsor.

Divorce Question to Be Discussed by Judge Monday

Favors Coffee

Spring weather at the College has increased consumption of cold drinks at the Student Union, but sale of the students' favorite drink, coffee, is still holding up. Bill West, manager of the Union, said today.

More than 1,200 cups of the brew are sold daily, West reported. Milk sales at the Union average only slightly more than 100 glasses a day. Doughnut sales are good today.

Symphony Concert Presented Tonight

The Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra will appear in two concerts today in the College Auditorium. A special young people's matinee of semi-classical numbers will be given at 3 p. m.

The night performance, to begin at 8:15 will include the following selections: Tchaikovsky's "Romeo and Juliette Overture," "Concerto Grosso in D-minor," by Vivaldi, transcribed by Vitorio Giannini, Debussy's "Prelude a l'apres midi d'un Faune," three dances from the ballet, "Gayane"; "Dance of the Rose Maidens," "Lullaby," and "Saber Dance" by Khatchaturian and "Symphony No. 5 in E-minor" from the New World Symphony by Dvorak.

Townpeople from twelve surrounding towns have requested tickets for the matinee concert. The towns are Wamego, Keats, Randolph, Concordia, Leonardville, Cleburne, Riley, Herington, Junction City, Waterville, Tabor Valley and Clay Center.

Sales have been excellent for both the matinee and evening performance, according to Earl G. Hoover, manager of the Kansas State Artist Series.

"Divorce—the Problems, Its Causes and Its Cures" will be the topic presented Monday night when Judge Philip B. Gilliam, of Denver, Colo., will appear in the third of the College sponsored series of lectures on Courtship and Marriage. The program will be in the College Auditorium, from 7:30 to 9 p. m. and will include a 30 minute period for questions from the floor.

An authority on divorce problems, Judge Gilliam has been cited both by Denver and by national organizations for his outstanding work in marriage relations. Succeeding the well known Judge Benjamin Lindsey, the magistrate is now completing his eighth year as judge of the Juvenile and Domestic Court.

Founded "Marriage Clinic"
Judge Gilliam is the founder and head counselor of a "marriage clinic" which works in connection with the courts in Denver, according to Ralph Salisbury, chairman of the student and faculty lecture committee for the series. In addition, he instructs an annual course in marriage counseling at the University of Denver.

The divorce judge was recommended to the committee by James Price, Chancellor of Den-

Judge Philip B. Gilliam

K-State Coeds May Work at Camp Resort

Kansas State women students who wish to work at resort Camp Nagawicka next summer will be interviewed by Colonel and Mrs. Mousie in the office of the Dean of Women Monday, according to Dean Helen Moore.

Colonel and Mrs. Mousie employed approximately 20 K-State coeds last summer. Girls interested in working at the resort camp must be 20 years of age or over and should schedule appointments at the Dean of Women's office as soon as possible, the Dean stated.

Camp Nagawicka is sponsored by the U. S. Military Academy. It is located near Delafield, Wis. The girls accepted will have jobs as counselors, waitresses, or salad girls. "The girls chosen will have use of the recreational facilities at the camp, their transportation to and from camp will be paid, they will receive room, board and a salary for their services," Dean Moore said.

Fifteen Towns, 1800 Students to Concert

At least 15 Kansas towns will send some 1,800 grade and high school students to the matinee performance of the Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra at the College Friday at 3:30 p. m. Luther Leavenworth, head of the College music department, has announced.

Leavenworth said reservations already had been made for students from Wamego, Keats, Chapman, Beloit, Tabor Valley, Randolph, Concordia, Leonardville, Cleburne, Riley, Herington, Junction City, Waterville, Manhattan and Clay Center. Other schools also are expected to attend, he said.

The afternoon program for school children is an annual affair, sponsored this year, by the Artist Series in Manhattan. The Cincinnati Symphony is presented in the concert Friday evening as a regular Artist Series program.

The orchestra played in Quincy, Ill. last night. It will go from Manhattan to Beatrice, Neb.

ver university. Chancellor Price is the son of Prof. R. R. Price, of the history and government department here.

Judge Gilliam's record is one of the most unusual in the country, according to committee members. When he succeeded Judge Lindsey in Denver, he was the youngest judge ever appointed in the history of the city. He was subsequently re-elected with the highest vote ever given any candidate for any public office in the city or county of Denver.

No Cases Appealed
Since his first appointment, none of the Judge's decisions have been appealed to the Colorado Supreme Court.

In addition to his work with the divorce problem, Judge Gilliam is well known for research in juvenile delinquency. During the past eight years he has managed the juvenile court in the mountain city, which has one of the lowest delinquency rates in the nation. The Judge is a member of the International Kiwanis Committee for underprivileged children and was recently elected national vice-president of the Juvenile Court Judges Association.

The lecture on divorce marks the mid-way point in the College lecture series. Yet to appear on the program are Dr. Karl Menninger, psychologist and psychiatrist, and the Rev. Dr. Arthur Miller, the Rev. Thomas S. Bowdler, and Rabbi Samuel Mayerburg, who will represent the Protestant, Catholic and Jewish faiths in the last lecture of the series.

Labor-Management Date Set April 9-10

An annual Labor-Management Roundtable conference will be at the College April 9 and 10, Dr. A. A. Holtz, professor of labor economics at the College, announced.

The conference, the only one of its kind in the Middle West, gives representatives of labor and management an opportunity to get together to discuss their problems, Holtz said.

Started last year at Kansas State, the conference has been endorsed by the state and national A. F. of L. and C. I. O. local labor unions and the Kansas Chamber of Commerce.

More than 200 management and labor leaders attended the conference last year.

Peace Pact Ineffective

Incidents arising from the K-State-K.U. rivalry have reached an all-time high on the Manhattan and Lawrence campuses.

Oldtimers can tell of the time 25 K. U. painters got their heads shaved by the local pep club. Some may recite other outgrowths of the intra-state rivalry. But never before has such a steady swish of rival paint brushes been heard on the two campuses.

Some say the splattering of the statuses of K.U.'s Jimmy Green and K-State's Bill Harris were home-town jobs. No proof has been offered to substantiate these beliefs, nor have any disproved this theory. The best guess seems to be that the paintings were part local talent and part the work of the rival school.

Now we've pinned the blame on both schools. But we haven't solved the problem.

We do have our Peace Pact. Formulated in 1931 by the student governing bodies of Kansas University and Kansas State College, the Peace Pact has weathered many storms by paint brush wielders. But the latest attacks covered it so deeply with paint that it appears students no longer can read it. The present pact in theory is good, but is entirely too ineffective.

The K. U. and K-State student council tried to do something about the situation when they met in Manhattan last October. The governing groups, meeting jointly, revised certain portions of the present Pact. But other revisions are necessary.

It is true that it seldom can be determined which group of students does the painting. So a possible solution is to penalize both schools equally. Take equal amounts from the student activity fund of both K. U. and K-State to pay for any damage on either campus resulting from the rivalry.

For example—the three recent daubings of the KSC campus cost the College $250 in damages. Take $125 from the K. U. activity fund and another $125 from K-State's. The same goes for any damages on the K.U. campus. Let the College announce that this year no new furniture will be bought for the student union or no new ping pong tables because they spent the money for damages to K. U.'s statue. We believe then, and only then, will student sentiment be strong enough to hold down the offenders.

Some may ask, "Why penalize the entire student body for the foolishness of a few?" But it may be necessary if we are ever to return to a friendly relationship between the two neighboring schools.

This is only one plan. Maybe there are some better ones. But we are certain that action must be taken soon to bring peace between the schools.

Charles A. Wells, lecturer and cartoonist, will conduct a general forum in Rec. Center at 4 p. m. today. It will be his second appearance at the college. Mr. Wells is here at the invitation of the Kansas State Religious Federation and the Manhattan Ministerial Alliance. He is well known as a lecturer and a cartoonist and will demonstrate his ability by drawing illustrations as he talks. The forum is open to the public.

Hillel Foundation
 Hillel Foundation is sponsoring a 15-minute radio broadcast Friday afternoon at 4:45 over KSAC. The broadcast is in commemoration of Brotherhood Week and is being produced in cooperation with the American Theater Wing War Service and the Institute of Citizenship here on the campus. Hillel Foundation will not meet this week.

Congregational Church
 The Student Fellowship will meet at the Church at 5:30 Sunday evening for a box supper. The boxes, prepared by the girls, will be auctioned off to the highest bidder.

Sunday morning at 9:45 Dr. Harman's class will meet followed by the regular morning worship at 11 a. m. The topic of the sermon will be "Sharing our Faith."

Charles Wells will speak in the Church Saturday evening at 7:30. His discussion will be "Must We Fight Russia?"

First Methodist Church
 Guest speaker at the Soma Theater church service Sunday morning will be Charles A. Wells, well known journalist, cartoonist and world traveler. The program begins at 10 a. m. Music will be provided by Prof. Forrest West and quartet. This service is for the convenience of college students who lack transportation to down town churches.

United Presbyterian
 College Bible class will meet Sunday at 10 a. m. Morning worship will be conducted at 11 by the Rev. J. W. Curry. College fellowship group will be at 7 p. m. under the leadership of Dr. Taylor.

Christian Student Fellowship
 Christian Student Fellowship will be held in the Community Hall Sunday evening at 5:15. Jean Pinon will lead vespers and Maurice Warner will direct the forum. The guest speaker, the Reverend Charles Davis, will speak on the subject "Why Protestantism?"

The Fellowship will have a skating party March 6. Members planning to attend should contact Bob Sisler or the Student Center at 1633 Anderson.

 Bill Jennings of Oklahoma University just can't win for losing. In 1942 his classmates at the Oklahoma Military Academy voted him "The man least likely to succeed." Two years later his air cadet class nominated him "The dumbest pilot at Randolph Field." The newest title conferred upon him is the "Ugliest man on the Campus."

Students who find that mistakes have been made on their record for last semester's grades should report the error to the Registrar's office, so goes an announcement by the Daily Texan. At Kansas State would such an announcement mean the first semester last year?

A recent poll at the University of Alabama and quoted by the Oklahoma Daily showed that one of every three coeds on the campus wear "falsies." It doesn't state how the facts were ascertained but the answers are supposed to be authentic.

Two students turned out at a forum on the newly-proposed "student body constitution" at Oregon State last week.

King of the Campus Canines is the latest unique campus contest to be held. Male students at the Rocky Mountain College are fed up with all the beauty queen contest so they held a canine contest in defiance of the fairer sex and their beauty. George won.

At Arkansas Tech a poll of men and co-eds alike came up with some contradictory information. A man couldn't be found who would go on record as saying any girl he had been out with had kiss-proof lipstick. A like question found 51 percent of the co-eds claiming to have kiss-proof lipstick.

Letters to the Editor

VOX STUDENS

(Editor's note: The opinions presented in this column may or may not express the opinion of The Collegian. The letters are presented here for student information.)

Dear Editor:

Sometimes, I have a very hard time finding something to do. I don't study too much, but I do hit the books once in a while. Someone seems to have this town fairly well sewed up since all there is to do is to go to a dance, play a little poker once in a while, or maybe go down and bowl a game or two to settle a couple of beers. Oh, yes, I take in a show occasionally. The shows here in town are generally a couple of months behind those at "The Flaw in the Kaw," but that doesn't bother me too much since I know what I'll get to see them eventually.

AND I HAVE TO SIT THROUGH ABOUT 10 MINUTES OF ADVERTISING EVERY TIME I GO. If I ever build a house, I certainly won't use Nu Enamel. I don't drink milk anymore, the Army store can keep all of my old stuff, I'm too broke to invest in some bank, and I have stopped sending my clothes to the cleaners.

In a recent Tweed poll, 36 men in Barracks I and II stated they attended the local theater a grand total of 47 time a week. This is an average of 1.3 shows per man. 1.3x10x36 equals 468 minutes not spent in Sunset. EACH ONE HATES THE ADVERTISING. Will anything short of a picket line do more than put a bug in someone's ear? JOHN A. TWEED

Increased Voltage in President's Home

President Eisenhower's home will have plenty of electricity from now on.

A 2,300 volt cable is being laid by the building and repair department to replace a 220 volt cable now in use, according to R. F. Gingrich, superintendent of building and repair.

The old 220 volt cable was overloaded by the electrical equipment in the president's home and prevented the equipment from working correctly.

Cats Bring Down Home Curtains Against Huskers

K-State's whirlwind Wildcats will be making their final home appearance of the season tonight in Nichols Gymnasium when they meet the always dangerous Nebraska Cornhuskers. Game time for the Big Seven clash is 7:45 p. m.

The battle will mark the last home contest for forward Dave Weatherby, who will become the first Wildcat to win four varsity cage letters since the start of the old Big Six conference.

Although he has seen only limited action this season, Weatherby has been a valuable cog in the K-State cage machines in the past four seasons. In 1946 he scored 28 points against Missouri to tie Frank Groves, ace Wildcat center of 10 years ago, for the all-time individual high for one game for K-State players.

Huskers Are Shooters

When the Huskers invade Manhattan tonight, they will bring to town a crew of basket shooters who respect no man's attempt to guard them. The Huskers are noted for taking more shots at the hoops than any other team in the conference, and on a hot night they can trip any squad in the conference.

Although they hold a convincing 64-45 win over the Cornhuskers at Lincoln earlier this season, the Cats are not taking the Nebraska visit lightly. The lads from the corn country have been as unpredictable as February in Kansas. On three occasions the Huskers have surprised conference foes with upsets. They have been victorious over Kansas and Iowa State and put up a hard fight before bowing to the Missouri Tigers 47-41.

Husker Scoring Threats

The Nebraskans boast scoring threats in Claude Retherford, gun chewing forward, and Bus Whitehead, 6-foot, 9-inch center. Retherford is the leading Husker scorer with an average of nearly 10 points a game. Whitehead flipped in 13 tallies against the Cats in the last meeting of the two teams.

Additional offensive power for the Cornermen is wrapped up in forward Rodney Cox, center Dick Schleiger, and guards Dick Cerv and Bob Mosser.

Coach Jack Gardner has indicated that he will come up with his fighting five for a starting lineup again tonight.

Former KSC Star to be Grid Aid

John (Biff) Crawley, star guard and tackle on the 1936 and 1937 Wildcat football teams, has been named line coach at Kansas State, according to Ralph Graham, head football coach. Crawley's selection has been approved by the State Board of Regents.

Graham's selection of Crawley brings to three the number of former Wildcat football greats who have been added to the grid staff at K-State. The fourth member of the football staff is end coach Paul Walker, a graduate of Wichita University.

Crawley will report to Kansas State immediately. He has been football coach at El Dorado High School during the past two seasons. His team last year won 6 and lost 4 for the best gridiron record at El Dorado since 1941.

Prior to four years service in the marine corps, including the invasions of Saipan, Tinian, and Iwo Jima, "Biff" Crawley coached three years at Fredonia High School. While there he lifted football from the cellar to a championship. In 1941, his third year at Fredonia, his team was all victorious. He coached one year at Eskridge High School immediately following his graduation from Kansas State in 1938.

While competing in athletics at Kansas State, Crawley won two varsity football letters and three varsity boxing awards. He was captain of the boxing team in his senior year. He attended high school at Elkhart, Kan.

WILDCAT GRAPPLERS GO DOWN FIGHTING

Kansas State's matmen dropped two decisions this week, one to the Iowa State Cyclones and the other to the Oklahoma A & M Cowboys. The match with the Cyclones was hard-fought with the outcome in doubt until the final bout, which left Iowa State on the long end of a 17-13 count. The Cowboys from Oklahoma showed why they are perennial champs of the mat when they routed the Wildcats-29-3. Verle McClellan, former Big Six champ was the only K-Stater to win a match.

In the Iowa State dual, Stan Fansher, Wildcat ace, decisioned Dick Ditsworth for the Iowan's

Doors Open 5:30

The Nebraska-Kansas State game tonight will be preceded by a Frosh intra-squad contest beginning at 6 o'clock. The doors of the Gym will open at 5:30 and the Varsity game will start at 7:45.

Ticket good for tonight is number 8 in the odd-numbered activity books.

WILDCATS DOWN TIGERS, IOWANS IN LEAGUE PLAY

Kansas State's pace-setting Wildcats continued on their way to Big Seven honors Tuesday night as they tamed the Iowa State Cyclones 54-48 at Ames. Saturday night, the Cats grabbed undisputed possession of the league lead with a thrilling 55-53 triumph over the Missouri Tigers.

"Controversial Clarence" Brannum connected with a last-second field goal from 25 feet out to account for the margin over a rough and stubborn Missouri five. Following Brannum's shot, which was in mid-air when the final gun sounded, Missouri Coach Sparky Staup began protesting that the ball was still in Brannum's hands when the gun sounded but the rush of the 3,000 screaming Wildcat fans on to the floor settled the issue. The game was tinted with fast breaks and alternate scoring, but was clouded by excessive fouling. Referees Louis House and Clay Van Reen called a total of 45 fouls, 27 of which were charged to Missouri. Forward Hal Howey was booted from the game after being charged with unsportsmanlike conduct.

Harman Stars

Rick Harman, rapidly developing into one of the finest forwards in the Big Seven, garnered 17 points against Missouri and hit for 11 against the Cyclones.

In the Tuesday night defeat of Iowa State, guard Howard Shannon sparked a second-half rally and collected 10 points as the Gardnermen rolled to their seventh conference victory. High point man for the game was Iowa's ace, Ray Wende, with 15 counters. Brannum, who was high for K-State, followed Wehde with 14 points.

Deadlocked at halftime at 28-28, the Wildcats and Cyclones battled to within eight minutes of the finish before the Cats took the lead. After the intermission Iowa State jumped into a 33-28 advantage on Roy Wehde's bucket and charity tosses by Ray Wehde and Paulsen.

Shannon Hits Nets

With the Cyclones holding a six-point lead the 12 minute mark, Howard Shannon revived the Wildcat attack by hitting three fast baskets and within three minutes Kansas State held a six point margin.

Deadlocked at halftime at 28-28, the Wildcats and Cyclones battled to within eight minutes of the finish before the Cats took the lead. After the intermission Iowa State jumped into a 33-28 advantage on Roy Wehde's bucket and charity tosses by Ray Wehde and Paulsen.

Roll Dem Bones

Action in the Missouri-Kansas State thriller in Nichols Gymnasium last Saturday halted momentarily while players from both squads engaged in what looked like a private crap game on the court. On the floor are Howard Shannon, K-State guard, and "Red" Haynes, Missouri center. Standing from left to right are Jack Dean (6), K-State guard; Thornton Jenkins (33) Missouri forward; Don McMillen, Missouri guard; Rick Harman (8), K-State forward; and Dan Pippin, Missouri forward.

CHALK TALK

By NORV GISH

Strange noises are still issuing from Lawrence, Kansas, home of the not-so-mighty Jayhawks, despite the settling of the Brannum eligibility case some time ago. Without straining our mental capacities to the breaking point, we managed to conclude that the wild-eyed citizens from down the Kaw are interested in stirring up additional unpleasantness. After witnessing the sorry exhibition put on by the Jayhawks in that 48-29 drubbing here last week, we can see plenty of reason for them to feel depressed.

Winning teams at K-State have been comparatively rare in modern history. As a result, the Kansas State student body and alumni have thoroughly enjoyed basking in the radiance of this year's shining Wildcat eagles.

Accusations and uncompromising comments issuing from Lawrence therefore have given K-Staters ample cause for resentment at the KU tactics. Strange, isn't it, that no accusations were forthcoming as long as the Cats occupied the lower rung of the conference ladder.

It seems a shame that the Jayhawk students can't accept defeat with the same easy grace that characterized their football triumphs. It's a neat trick to be a winner, but it's even better to be a good loser. We should know at K-State. We've had plenty of practice at the latter.

Getting down to facts, students at Kansas University are wailing in their loudest voices that everyone in the Big Seven conference is all wet except "Phog" Allen. They demand (without a shred of authority) that the Brannum case be reopened when the faculty representatives meet today.

"Any conference school which has lost a game to Kansas State this season has a legitimate complaint. Kansas has perhaps less basis than others, because of Brannum's ineffectiveness in all departments against the Jayhawks. . . . If Kansas State does win the championship, it will leave an all-time black mark on the first year record of the new conference. It certainly will be a step in the wrong direction for the new league if the first title is won in opposition to the conference statutes.

The faculty board has made a bad blunder. If it allows it to stand uncorrected, the board will be committing one even worse. It has one chance to save face. . . . You can't take the games away from Kansas State because the board has pulled a boner and sanctioned his play, but you can take Brannum away from Kansas State athletics. . . ."

From this side of the fence it appears that Dellinger has climbed way out on a limb in his attempts to dig up something to write about since the Jayhawks turned from their winning football ways to their somewhat puny attempts at basketball.

From our seat in Nichols Gym it looked like Brannum put on a neat demonstration against the Kansans last week. We saw no evidences of the ineffectiveness mentioned by Dellinger.

To this day, we have heard no complaints from any school in the conference, other than KU, about Clarence Brannum's eligibility. When Dellinger says Kansas has no basis for complaint, he hits the old nail right on the head. The case has been decided and closed. KU's own faculty representative voted in favor of Brannum. What more do they expect?

The K-club, varsity lettermen's organization at KU, has asked the Jayhawk student body to accord the Wildcats the same type of sportsmanlike treatment that Kansas athletes received here.

The game will be broadcast direct from the playing floor Monday night by station WREN. Max Falkenstein, WREN sportscaster, will bring listeners the play by play account of the clash.

The broadcast will begin at 7:25 p. m., five minutes before the opening play.

New Cheerleader

Filling the empty space in the cheerleader squad is Jack Dunn from Topeka. Chosen last Monday by the Wampus Cats, he will finish the season for Barney Johnson who left school at the semester.

K-State Trackmen to League Meet

Veteran Wildcat track coach Ward Haylett will take his luckless thinclads to Kansas City tomorrow for the Big Seven indoor track meet in the Municipal Auditorium. From all indications the meet should be one of the most interesting and successful events in its 20-year history.

Last year more than 8,000 persons watched the Missouri Tigers annex the championship. Reeves Peters, assistant secretary of the conference and manager of the meet, expects even a larger turnout than last year.

Coach Haylett plans to take a full squad to the meet, but previous conference matches this season have shown the Wildcats to be woefully weak in nearly all departments.

Pre-meet predictions have selected the Missouri Tigers to repeat last year's performance and take the meet. Ed Quirk, defending shotput champion, is now doing better than 52 feet per heave. Quirk holds the meet record with a previous toss of 51 feet 1 inch. Wildcat shotput artist Rollin Prather recently took honors against Nebraska with a heave of 51 feet 1/2 inch.

The Missouri mile relay apparently has no match in the conference. It was clocked at 3:23.7 against the Wildcats, as compared with the Big Seven meet record of 3:26.9. Tiger hurdle ace Bud Gartiser will find little competition in the league in that bracket. His .074 registered in the high hurdles last Saturday at Columbia is a tenth of a second better than the record which his teammate set at Kansas City last year, and his .06.9 is the lows, also against the Wildcats, equals the meet record. Nebraska's Berkshire has also done .06.9, but he has been beaten in competition this year by Gartiser.

Of the five men who broke or tied conference records last year, four are returning this year.

The 90-piece University of Missouri band will be in the hall to provide music for the meet.

SOCIETY

AT STATE

Kedzie's old typewriters had a rest over the holiday but social events went on at State anyway so now we've got loads of news for you. This week-end also promises plenty of entertainment. You can't say that K-Stater's don't believe in variety. Tonight's schedule of events includes the Cincinnati Symphony concert and the Nebraska U. game. Come Saturday night there is the Princess Prom, Beta Pig and numerous house parties. But now for this week's latest.

Cigar smoke filled the Sigma Nu dining room when Lowell Fogus, Manhattan graduate of K-State, announced his engagement to Betty O'Neal, Pi Beta Phi, of Colby. Betty passed sweets to her sorority sisters after which the traditional lines were held for the couple.

Members of Sigma Alpha Epsilon will entertain their dates with a buffet supper and dance Sunday evening at the chapter house.

Sweets at Van Zile Hall Wednesday night announced the engagement of Marilyn Bohnenblust to Wallace Shelley. Marilyn, a sophomore in Arts and Sciences, is from Minneapolis. Wallace is a student of Omaha University in Nebraska.

The Beta Theta Pi fraternity will hold their annual Beta Pig dinner-dance tomorrow. Dinner will start at seven in the Flame Room of the Wareham. Dancing will follow at the Avalon from nine to twelve.

Kathy Lowell, Chi Omega, was crowned "Sig Ep Girl" at the Sigma Phi Epsilon's annual Golden Heart Ball Saturday night in the Community House.

A formal dinner in the Green Room of the Wareham proceeded the dance. Heart shaped jewel boxes were given as favors. On the wall of the Community House were eight large murals illustrating the "Sig Ep Girl" song. In the center of the ceiling was a lighted replica of the Sig Ep pin. A false ceiling was made of red and purple streamers extending from the pin. Behind Matt Betton's band was the fraternity's crest.

In the receiving line were: Harold Rines, Arlene Mastin, Mrs. Ruth Daughters, Dean Helen Moore, Dr. and Mrs. D. L. Mackintosh and Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Smith.

Roses at the Kappa Delta house Sunday announced the approaching marriage of Elaine Brown to Mark Magie. Both are dates set for May 2. Elaine from Great Bend. The wedding was graduated from K-State last year.

Bill Jernigan, Sig Ep wrestler from Oklahoma A. & M. was a guest at the local chapter Wednesday. Bill ranks second in the nation for wrestling in the 121 pound class.

What's a carnival party Where: Delta Tau Delta chapter house When: Saturday night, 9-12 Why: For loads of fun!

Karen Kennedy's Alpha Xi Delta pin is now chained to Bernard Callahan's Phi Kappa pin. The two passed chocolates and cigars at their respective houses Wednesday night. Karen is from Topeka and Bernard from Manhattan.

Tau Delta fraternity house is George Gerner from Kansas City.

The Counseling Bureau reports this announcement:

Case of: Cleo Kitchen, Harris Claimed interest: Ray Mulcahey, also of Harris Immediate objective: Choc-lates to staff members Tentative analysis: Engaged to be wed.

The Sig Ep pledges elected their officers for the spring semester Wednesday night. They were formally installed in the meeting and are as follows: president, Jack Keyser; vice-president, Jack Jones; secretary, Bob Robbins; treasurer, Ralph Sjorgren; social chairman, John Chalfas; and athletic chairman, Phil Stallard.

Mrs. Warren Keller, social advisor, and Barbara Fleener, Tri Delta alumnae, were dinner guests at the Tri Delta house Wednesday night.

Wedding bells rang Sunday for Mary Riley and Sheldon Hochuli. Mary, Alpha Xi Delta, and Sheldon, Kappa Sigma, are both from Holton and attended K-State last year. The wedding was in the Presbyterian Church at Holton.

The "Gay Nineties" will be revived Saturday night at the Farm House. The costume party will start at nine and last until midnight.

Robb Smith, national field secretary of Delta Tau Delta fraternity, has been visiting

Cats Stage Sensational Win; Clinches Conference Glory

A fighting band of K-State Wildcats that just wouldn't be denied, overcame a 16-point deficit to down Kansas U. for their first undisputed basketball title since 1917. Coming back on the floor trailing 16 to 32, Jack Gardner's men pulled one of the most terrific rallies of the season by downing the Jayhawkers 61 to 60.

Big Clarence Brannum dropped in the deciding tally with five seconds to go after being fouled by K.U. substitute Martin. Slim Howard Shannon was big gun in the K-State attack with 14 points. Otto Schnellbacher, K.U. guard was top man for the Allen men with an amazing 24 points.

Kansas state started the scoring parade by dropping in two quick field goals. Kansas U. came back to tie up the count 4 to 4 at the four minute mark. The five from down the Kaw began to connect with spectacular shots by Jerry Waugh and Schnellbacher to take their commanding halftime lead.

Whether Coach Jack Gardner fed his boys raw beefsteak at the half or not hasn't been told, but his charges came back in the second canto to stage the most terrific second half rally ever seen at Hoch Auditorium. Led by Rick Harman, Howard Shannon and Dave Weatherly, the Purple Cagers scored from all over the court.

Runners up in the Kansas State scoring column were Rick Harman and Clarence Brannum with 13 points each. Hal Howey connected with three from the field and two charity tosses for 8 points. Dave Weatherly potted 7. Al Langton hit for 4, Jack Dean had 2 and Ward Clark 1.

With three minutes remaining in the torrid contest, Shannon connected on a one-hander to tie the count 58 to 58. Jerry Waugh came right back to put the Jayhawkers ahead 60 to 58. With less than a minute to go, Rick Harman drove in for a layup that again tied the count. Schnellbacher had the opportunity to put his squad ahead with thirty seconds to go but failed to convert from the charity line.

With less than ten seconds to go, Brannum stepped to the free throw line and calmly dropped in the deciding tally. It must have been a bitter pill for Phog Allen to swallow when the player he had been trying to declare ineligible all season, tossed in the tally that broke up the titanic battle.

Get Wrong Ideas of Art

Artist Explains Trends in Modern Printing

By Janice Addington
Most of today's paintings appear out of this world to the layman. A geometric design representing a fish on a platter sets some art lovers on their ears. And some artists think people are stupid because they can't understand their work. Both have the wrong attitude, according to Louis G. Martsof, whose art exhibit is being shown on the third floor of the engineering building.

"New art techniques take understanding and most people are too lazy to think," said Martsof. "Don't judge a painting on the basis of whether it would look good over your mantel. See if you feel an emotional response and if you do, the artist hasn't wasted his time or his brush."

Mixed emotions are registered by visitors at the exhibition of the art paintings by Martsof, instructor in architecture. The observer's expression of like or dislike is welcomed by this tolerant and talented artist. "My purpose is to evoke feeling when one looks at my painting," explained Martsof. People viewing the exhibition are struck by the clever use of color and the ethical nature of the painter's subjects. The 16 pictures deal mostly with ethical ideas. Each person will interpret the paintings according to his philosophy towards life, commented the artist. Prof. John Helm, professor of free-hand drawing, then joined Martsof and said, "The scientists of today who advocate progress in their own lines are the ones who, strangely enough, object to new art techniques."

An artist's life evidently isn't an easy one. After seeing the portrait of herself, "The Girl of St. Francis," Mrs. Martsof was quite put out, her husband reported. "It seems women are quite sensitive when it comes to an unflattering picture, commented the artist smilingly. Mrs. Martsof, with an art degree from the University of New Hampshire, is the favorite critic of her husband. He spent eight years trying for the right effect in the painting "Environment." The picture was finished last year.

Painting methods used by this artist in his compositions include putting the paint on with knife and a rag.

Martsof was born in St. Louis, Mo., in 1922. Six years later the family moved to Milwaukee, Wis., and through visits to museums together with his father's association with an architectural firm, he became interested in fine arts. Entering Cornell University in 1940, Martsof began a painting and sculpturing course which was interrupted by the war. Martsof served in the Engineering Corps during the war. After discharge he re-entered Cornell and received his B.A. in 1946 and his M.A. in 1947. A scene near Ithaca, N. Y., served as his inspiration for his painting "Heritage."

Martsof's paintings have been shown throughout the United States. One painting, entitled "Torn Beauty" is now on display at the Arts and Crafts Club National Show in New Orleans.

SPC Meets Tonight

Student Planning Committee meets Tuesday night to make tentative arrangements for the 1948 SPC camp. The meeting will be in Recreation Center and is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. All members of SPC for 1947 are expected to be present of they wish to continue SPC work and go to camp next fall, chairman Hardy Berry said. Committees on pre-enrollment class grading survey, and social activities will be appointed. There is room on the committee for 30 volunteers.

Ag Students Draw Stock for Royal

Agricultural students drew for animals last Saturday in the judging pavilion, they will show in the Little American Royal April 10, according to Douglas George, chairman of the Royal committee. Each of the 144 students who entered will train and groom the animal he drew. These animals are the property of the Departments of Dairy and Animal Husbandry.

President Eisenhower will present trophies to the dairy and livestock champions, George stated. The boys will be judged 50 per cent on fitting the animals for the show and 50 per cent on showing the animals in the contest.

The judges will be Jerry Weir, Gueda Springs, and John Moxley, Council Grove. Mr. Weir is president of the Kansas Jersey Breed Herd Association and Moxley is owner of a beef cattle ranch near Council Grove. Both men are graduates of Kansas State College.

'Flour King's' Son in Course Here

The son of the first man to mill flour with machinery in China is attending the short course for operative millers now being given by the milling industry department at Kansas State College.

He is Leon Yung, son of China's "flour king." A graduate of Kwang Hwa University at Shanghai, Yung is a student at Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing company, Milwaukee.

Yung's father began milling flour with machinery in China 50 years ago. Today the elder Yung is owner of the Mow Sing Flour Mills, the largest milling firm in China. Before the war his "Battleship" brand flour went to markets throughout the world. Now all flour from the Mow Sing Mills goes to the Chinese government.

Leon is the youngest son in a family of 17. He has seven brothers and nine sisters. He will return to Shanghai in six months to resume work in his father's mills.

Faculty Service At Y Carnival

Faculty members will prove that they are efficient doormen, houseboys and coked eaters at the YWCA Carnival on March 13 in Nichols Gym.

Services to be auctioned during the evening are those of Dean Rodney W. Babcock as a houseboy with Prof. H. W. Davis and Prof. V. D. Foltz as the doormen. Dr. H. L. Baker will be a coked date and Dean Helen Moore will give a late leave.

Bidders can buy after-dinner music by Jean Hedlund and David Geppert. The purchaser can designate the time of the concert. One other faculty member, Mrs. Opal Hill, will become a bed maker, wherever the services are desired.

Co-chairmen for the carnival are Jerry Gatz and Georgi Gress. Donna Weixelman and Lillian Hansen are in charge of decorations.

Goes to Meeting

R. I. Throckmorton, dean of the School of Agriculture, will attend a meeting of state and district soil conservation men in Salina today to discuss soil erosion by wind.

Daily Record Hour

Beginning tomorrow the Daily Record Hour, regular presentation of the music department, will be from 3 to 4 p. m. in room 18 of the College Auditorium, according to Luther Leavengood, department head.

Cooperation, Work Is Judging Team's Secret

Ralph Burdick
The task of training a first class livestock judging team is not an easy one. Just ask Don Good, new coach of the Kansas State team. He started with 68 students in the advanced livestock judging class last September. A team was sent to Denver, Colo., and one to Fort Worth, Texas. Both teams have brought back first place winnings.

A record was kept throughout the semester. Placings of livestock and reasons for those placings were given by each student in the class. The faults of each student were itemized. Emphasis was given to oral reasons or the placings. More than 20 fellows were found who could place animals quite accurately. They were given the opportunity to meet at 5 o'clock each evening with their coach for additional instruction. Long, hard hours were spent in those evening sessions.

Oral Reasoning

receive much attention. Due to this fact, the K-State teams have excelled other contestants in their ability to give oral reasons, Good said. Competition has been very keen, the coach added.

In each contest entered, the teams were required to judge 12 classes of livestock, four animals in a class, during the morning hours. After lunch, they met before a committee of judges to give oral reasons for their placings on 8 of the 12 classes judged earlier. Notes of any kind were prohibited in the presentation of these seasons. This meant remembering the good and bad characteristics of 32 animals.

Teams Secret
As for the secret of the team's success, Good had this to say, "I attribute the success of these boys to their excellent cooperation, hard work and good background." The background started back on the arms where they were raised. There, they learned to acquaint themselves with animals, the coach continued.

The fact that the members of each team learned to judge as a unit added materially to their winning ability, Good pointed out. Little difference was seen between the high and low scores within these two teams as they made their placings in the contests.

Ohio State Grad
Good is a graduate from Ohio State College. He was a member of the judging team from Ohio State that took top honors at the International Livestock Exposition in Chicago in 1946. He was second high man on all classes of livestock entered in the Chicago Exposition. The new coach is also a former athlete. He wrestled and lettered in baseball at Ohio State.

1946-47 Expenses Up Two Million Over Year Before

Operating expenses for the College were up nearly two million dollars in the 1946-47 fiscal year from the previous year, according to President Milton S. Eisenhower's annual financial report to the Board of Regents.

Total summer, fall and spring net enrollments for 1946-47 were 7,814 compared to 5,052 for the previous year. Just released, the report is for the year July 1, 1946, to June 30, 1947. Total expenses for 1947 were $5,609,000 compared to $3,743,000 for 1946, the report showed.

Skyrocketing prices and increased enrollments accounted for the added expenses, President Eisenhower explained.

Labor and material shortages prevented construction of the Field House and Student Union, President Eisenhower said. Construction of the Field house and a women's dormitory will be started this year.

In March, 1944, $750,000 was appropriated for the Field House. Later the legislature added $300,000 for increased building costs.

Faculty and administrative salaries were major expense items both years. But the percentage of the College dollar going for these costs was down to 42.3 percent in 1947 compared to 47 percent the previous year.

State appropriations for 1947 were only 30.1 percent of the money spent. The remainder came from these sources: student fees, interest and revenue from sales and services, 4.1 percent; Federal funds, 14.7 percent; self-supporting activities, 14.2 percent.

The 57.7 percent of the dollar remaining, after 42.3 percent for faculty and administrative salaries was spent for: equipment, land, livestock, books and improvements, 6.3 percent; utilities, rent, repairs, transportation, printing and unclassified, 20.2 percent; departmental salaries and wages (mostly civil service and student employees), 18.4 percent.

Quill Club to Meet

Quill Club will meet in Calvin Lounge at 7:30 p.m. today for its next regular meeting, according to Dana C. Jennings, scribe. All members are to bring manuscripts to read before the group.

McKinney to Chicago

Miss Florence McKinney, associate professor in household economics, will be in Chicago, Ill., Thursday and Friday to attend a meeting of the American Home Economics Association.

AVMA Meets

The first regular meeting of the Jr. AVMA since the lifting of heat rules, will be in V 13 at 7:30 tonight.

Dr. Howard T. Hill, head of the speech department, will be the speaker.

Pat Swann will give impersonations of Betty Hutton and refreshments will be served.

Appliances Up Campus Courts Electricity Bill

Electric heaters, toasters and electric roasters are responsible for the $920 electricity bill handed Campus Courts for January, according to A. Thornton Edwards, housing director. The average monthly electricity bill at the housing area is $500, and the $920 bill represents a $400 loss to the college, Edwards told Campus Courts residents.

Upon moving into a trailer, the occupant signs a form stating that electricity will be used only for lighting. "Toasters, radios and irons are permissible," said Edwards, "but electric heaters are definitely not to be used."

"As far as we can discover, there is nothing wrong with the electric meter or the wiring at Campus Courts, and the $400 loss must be recovered somehow," stated the housing director.

Many of the trailer occupants expressed a belief that it would be impossible for an area the size of Campus Courts to use $920 worth of electricity in one month. Student residents have turned settlement of the matter over to the governing body at the housing area.

A suggestion from the housing office that the loss be recovered by adding four dollars to the rent of each trailer this month met with strong disapproval by many of the residents. It was decided that further investigation of the matter will be necessary before any steps are taken toward repaying the loss.

A recent experiment conducted by the housing office showed that two trailers in the west trailer court were drawing 28 amperes of current each at 8 a. m. The meters were installed without notifying the occupants in order to obtain an accurate check.

Editor Scouts KSC for Writing Talent

LeBaron R. Barker, Jr., executive editor of Doubleday and Company, will be in Manhattan this week on a scouting tour for new writing talent, according to Kenneth S. Davis of President Eisenhower's office.

Arriving in Manhattan on Wednesday, Mr. Barker will speak twice before leaving on Sunday for Dallas. He will address the journalism seminar at 4 p. m. Thursday. On Friday at 4 p. m. Barker and his wife, Eileen Lang, former fiction editor of the Women's Home Companion, will discuss magazine and book publishing before faculty members and graduate students of the College English department.

Miss Helen Elcock is chairman of the committee for the English department tea and conference. The tea will be in Calvin Hall 107.

Persons wishing an appointment with Mrs. Barker to discuss manuscripts should call Kenneth Davis at his home.

Concerts Heard by 3,000 Friday

An audience of approximately 3,000 persons attended both programs of the Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra Friday.

"The pair of concerts performed here by the Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra and its young conductor, Dr. Thor Johnson, afforded Manhattanites the privilege of hearing a group with a long tradition as a major American orchestra," said Luther L. Leavengood, head of the department of music.

The loud applause for each number showed the audience's appreciation for their brilliant performance. The evening performance with Vivaldi's "Concerto Grosso in D-minor" transcribed by Vittorio Giani and ended with the "Romeo and Juliette Overture" by Tschalkowsky.

Attendance at the matinee concert numbered more than 1,500 young people from Manhattan and surrounding towns.

Red Cross Drive for $13,000 Opens

Kansas State's membership drive for the American Red Cross will begin tomorrow, according to Ivan Wassberg, county chairman of the drive. Goal for Riley County is slightly under $13,000.

Turner Conducts SWEA Classes

Local grocery stores may expect unusual demands for empty boxes for SWEA is starting class in making temporary furniture. SWEA is the nickname for the Students Wives Educational Association according to Mrs. Wyman White, president of the organization.

A. F. Turner of the Kansas Extension Service is conducting classes for veterans and their wives in building cupboards, bookcases and chairs. The next class meets Wednesday evening at 7:30 in room 221, Anderson Hall. Any veteran and his wife may attend.

Turner is a graduate of Kansas State. He directed the organization of the first four-year course in high school agriculture in the United States. Secretary of Agriculture, James Willson, spent five days in Norton helping with this project.

Officers for the SWEA are Mrs. Wyman M. White, president; Mrs. William J. Langworthy, vice president; Mrs. Benjamin N. Ray, secretary; Mrs. James L. Burgess, treasurer, and Mrs. Wallace W. Moyle, Jr., reporter. Organizer of the group is Miss Ellen M. Batchelor of the home economics extension faculty.

Courtney to Play at R. O. T. C. Ball

Del Courtney's orchestra will play April 9 at the 19th annual Military Ball, according to Capt. F. G. Bohannon, public relations officer of the College military staff. Courtney's orchestra is currently playing at the Aragon Ballroom in Chicago.

Candidates, from which the honorary cadet colonel and her majors will be chosen, have been selected. They will be presented for the first time at the Pershing Rifle, ROTC drill team, dance March 19, Capt. Bohannon said.

Glee Club, Dance Recitals are Given

A combined Women's Glee Club and dance recital was presented in the College Auditorium Thursday night. The program was built on theme "Songs and Dances of The Nations" and featured dances of Italy, France, Spain, Russia and America.

Opening the program with group singing of "America the Beautiful," the Women's Glee Club presented two selections "Thanks Be to Thee" by Handel and "Ave Maria" by Brahms for music of Germany. "Clap Yo Hands" by Gershwin and Romberg's "Serenade" were sung next for music of America. The Collegiate 4-H Quartette sang two spirituals arranged by Noble Cain. Completing the program the dance ensembles gave England, Czech, Russia and American dance interpretations, closing with the Sibelius' "Song of Peace" sung by all.

The Women's Glee Club is under the direction of Hilda Grossman and the college dancing ensembles directed by Olga Carrasas.

Radio Students are

Radio Students Are

Kansas State students will participate in a 15-minute radio broadcast on station WD-AP Thursday at 10:30 p.m. to promote the All-Faith Memorial Chapel fund drive.

"The Chimes Will Ring," a script written and produced by William Mall, a student in radio, will be used on the show. All students participating in this broadcast are members of the radio section of the speech department and members of the radio guild.

The cast includes Jean Dourlas, Joline Nelson, Devere Nelson, Jo Ann Badley, Janey Hackney, William Anderson and Beverly Pribble. Howard Neighbor will be the announcer with Patricia Davis handling the sound effects.

Chairman of the Student Committee is Miss Vera Gatch of the counseling bureau. Professor Ralph Lashbrook, head of the journalism department, has been appointed chairman of the Faculty and Employees drive.

Today at 4 p.m. in W 115 a 15 minute sound film of the Woodward, Okla., disaster entitled "Tornado Town" will be shown. Paul W. Zieke of the local Red Cross office will present the film and campaign material for those who wish to participate in the drive.

Two student organizations, Prix and Blue Key, will assist in soliciting student aid. Tomorrow through Friday Red Cross booths will be set up in Anderson Hall, Calvin, Engineering, and Veterinary buildings to receive contributions for the drive.

Letters to all personnel employed at the College will be distributed tomorrow, according to Lashbrook.

Each faculty member or other employee is asked to make his or her contribution through his dean, department head, or other administrative head. Each department head or other administrative officer will receive subscription blanks, receipt books, stickers and buttons for distribution to donors.

The goal for the faculty and employees is $2,500. This goal was established by the county committee. It is larger than last year but considerably less than the Red Cross quota for the campus during the war years.

"Contributions up to $10 an individual will be necessary if the College is to reach its goal," Lashbrook pointed out.

Lashbrook's letter will request administrative officers to turn in campaign reports and receipts to his office this week if possible and not later than March 17, he said. Checks dated March 15 will not be banked until March 16 or thereafter, he indicated.

"Any administrator or employee who is missed in the distribution of letters and other materials for the drive is urged to get in touch with me or my secretary, Mrs. Margene Falen," Lashbrook urged.

During the past year the local Red Cross has handled 966 cases from Kansas State, and has loaned $10,299 to students in need of financial assistance. More than $9,000 of this total has been given to veteran students.

Among the duties of the local Red Cross is that of lending assistance in case of disaster. The Red Cross definition of a disaster is a catastrophe affecting five or more families, but aid has been given to less than five when the need is warranted, Wassberg stated.

The residential campaign began Saturday and the business district drive was started yesterday. To begin the drive, Sunday was designated as Red Cross Day at the Manhattan churches.

The campus campaign for faculty and employees will be carried on through the department heads as in the past, according to Professor Lashbrook. The entire drive will be completed March 17.

Lambda Chi Elects

Spring semester officers for the Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity were elected at a business meeting last week. New officers include Lewis Larson, president; James Wharton, secretary; Harold Burris, treasurer; Larry Crow, rush chairman; and Gerald Gutzman, interfraternity council representative.

Hens Lay Eggs With Red and Green Yolks

Eggs with red and green yolk have been sent to the College poultry husbandry department recently by the Ralston Purina Feed Company of St. Louis.

The colored yolks were produced by the addition of dyes to a hen's ration. These eggs were produced to show the effect different feeds may have upon yolk color.

The poultry department has mounted the yolks for instructional purposes.

On Traffic

Violators of traffic regulations at the University of Kansas are booked in city police court effective this week, the chief of police at Lawrence has announced. Six K.U. patrolmen formerly turned campus violators over to the university faculty committee and student court but this proved ineffective. Greatest number of violations occurred on one-way streets on and near the Jayhawk campus.

Here at Kansas State, students may still violate campus traffic rules without getting a court record or being fined.

While we are on the subject of traffic violations, we would like to see something done about the "speedway" on Anderson Avenue. Student traffic crossing the street to and from the campus at the entrances south of Thompson Hall and Nichols Gym is especially heavy at 8 a.m. and during the noon hour.

You either have to be a "ten-second" man and risk life and limb darting through the traffic or you have to waste most of your noon hour waiting to get across the street.

A patrolman to direct traffic, a stop sign or both are needed badly along Anderson south of the campus. Even a "slow" sign would help. We hope someone doesn't have to get run over before something is done to remedy the situation.

STATE STATUS QUO

by Ramsey Sherwood

Back at old Fortescue U., the school we attended before coming to Kansas State last semester, there was a program of instruction that was extremely popular among students. This special course was called "The Academy of Progression," or by a more popular name, "Easy Money, a Free Sex Life, and Free Philip Morris Under Liberalism."

This course, taught by Dr. A. Robert Trotter; Dr. Elmer Edward; and Asst. Prof. Thomas Pendant, was an excellent idea, except for one aspect—nobody learned anything. In fact nobody, not even those with a two point, could learn anything if they wanted to. Since Fortescue U. was a fun-loving school and nobody cared much about UNESCO or a study of the sex drive of the duckbill platypus, this course fell right in line with others.

Conducted on an informal discussion pattern, students could nourish their T-zones, chew Starhorse brand, or sniff snuff and nobody cared.

The discussions which were led, and kept under control by the profs, usually went something like this:

Prof: Our question for today is, "Are women of any real value besides their well-recognized necessity as an indispensable aid to man's welfare, comfort, and as a satisfier for his mental and physical desires?" Can you answer that one, Red? (Everybody called everybody else by nicknames. In this case, Red happened to be a guy with red hair.)

Red: Hey, watch you're callin' red; I ain't no Commie.

Prof: That's too bad, but can you answer the question?

Red: I'd say yes, but on the other hand, no.

Prof: Mr. Owen O. Verb, do you agree with the assertion as stated heretofore in a previous manner?

Mr. Verb: I don't know what your talkin' about, but I think free love is the answer to the declining birth rate; I hate Russia; I smoke Chesterfields because I got three free cartons for sayin' so, and I think women are here to stay. In my opinion, they satisfy, Chesterfields, of course.

Asst. Prof: I'd like to make a point here . . . Prof: Not now, we're still on the first point; take the roll.

Joe in the Third Row: It seems to me, it does, that Communism might be the answer to an evident and overwhelming, unfair, majority that exists here. Do you realize that women outnumber men, 8 1/2 to 1 at old Fortescue? This smacks of Wall Street capitalism, and it could easily mean the downfall of our loved and cherished, free, independent, and sovereign democracy.

Back-of-the-room Voice: I disagree; every man for himself, and the devil take the 1/4. I always say.

Asst. Prof.: A word I'd like to mention is . . . Prof: Drop dead, will ya? Also open the windows and bow three times toward the Kremlin.

Mr. Verb: I suggest a vote be taken to determine if we are in favor of women, generally speaking. Have we a quorum?

Back-of-the-room Voice: No, but I've got 14 cents, and an old cable car token, if that'll help.

Mr. Verb: I restate my question. Are we in favor of women generally speaking? Joe in the Third Row: I'm not in favor of women speaking any time; either generally, or just plain yatatayatatayatat.

Prof.: What's all this got to do with Communism? Let's see some figures on the topic.

Red: Hips, 34; bust, 33; waist, 34 . . . Asst. Prof.: We might consider the matter of . . .

Prof.: Shaddup; who do you think you are, General Eisenhower's brother or something? . . . Red, where did you get those figures?

Red: Over to the A D Pi house, they got plenty of 'em. Do you realize that the total bust average of the AD Pi's is 1020 inches, a figure that certainly indicates some development. They've got everybody beat.

Kappa Delta: Our house challenges that statement.

Pi Phi: Ours too, we can point out a few things that would be revealing in this discussion.

Prof.: Are any other sororities to be heard from? (On this point? The Alpha Chi's, and Chi Omegas had nothing to say.)

Asst. Prof.: I like to say that . . . Prof.: You make more noise than a bunch of Teke pledges; clam up. Does any one else have anything to say on this vital topic?

Schmaltz: Let's adjourn for lunch; special red herring today at Tim's bar and grill, where the elite meet to eat meat.

Asst. Prof: I just gotta say something . . . Prof: All right, Pendant, what's on your Asst. Prof: The bell rang thirty minutes ago, mind?

Plan to Consider Smoke Trouble

The Faculty Council on Student Affairs and the Student Council are considering what can be done to eliminate the persistent violation of smoking regulations on the campus. The practice of unauthorized smoking is rapidly becoming one of the problems of the two councils, consider of utmost importance.

Smoking on the campus has been permitted only since 1944. Then, because of a request by the Student Governing Association and the Council of Deans, President Eisenhower authorized smoking outdoors on the campus. He also authorized smoking in Thompson Hall, the Student Hospital, Van Zile Hall, Military Science Building and the President's house. Smoking was prohibited in all buildings, on all steps and immediate approaches to buildings.

Disposing of cigarette butts was also discussed by the Councils. Regulations stipulate that butts should be torn apart and the tobacco and paper discarded separately.

The original regulations permitting smoking state that violation of these orders will result in the elimination of the smoking privilege. Dean Howe, chairman of the Faculty Committee, stated, "The council hopes that there will be no need for such actions, but if repeated warnings fail, the only alternative left will be strong action."

Smoke to Vanish from Student Union

The smoke-filled atmosphere of the Student Union will soon vanish, according to R. F. Gingrich, superintendent of maintenance. A ventilating system is to be installed as soon as necessary materials arrive.

It will probably be 30 or 60 days before work can begin because of the difficulty in obtaining the supplies, Gingrich stated.

Besides ventilation, the Student Union will have a magazine table with the latest magazines for all students who wish to read them. Faculty members are contributing the magazines for this service which was begun last week.

Letters to the Editor

VOX STUDENS

Dear Editor:

To Whom It May Concern . . . It seems a dirty shame that one cannot attend school and trust everyone enough to leave one's belongings in a convenient spot without someone getting "sticky fingers."

Someone evidently was hard up for an activity book and a billfold Friday afternoon, February 27, between four and four-thirty, because I found mine missing from my coat pocket which was hanging in Nichols Gym while I was in Glee Club practice.

I didn't mind my activity book being taken, but I would have appreciated my billfold being left behind, minus the money contained therein, if necessary. There are personal things in it that I would like to keep! You would think that some people would appreciate that fact. Then, too, I would at least like to see the Kansas State Players production this week end.

One would think educated people were more honest, but some are too smart for their own good. Sincerely, Marie Amerine.

Chicken Contest

Again This Year

The Chicken-of-Tomorrow contest will be continued another year, according to M. E. Jackson, extension poultryman at Kansas State.

Purpose of this contest is to bring out the importance of poultry meat production in the poultry industry, said Mr. Jackson. Producers who wish to enter must start their chicks between March 14 and 20.

Mr. Jackson is state committee chairman and rules and regulations may be obtained from him.

The Kansas Poultry Industry Council will be in charge of the event.

Dear Editor:

We feel that the student body and alumni of Kansas State College will join in expressing our appreciation of the fine performance of our senior basketball player, Dave Weatherby.

The scorer's tabulation and the press have recorded the story of Dave's inspiring game last Friday night.

What we feel places emphasis on Dave is the outstanding team loyalty he has shown throughout this thrilling season. In taking a back-seat on the squad, Dave has done his share of work and seldom come in for glory. There are many on the squad like him; in no way slighting the abilities and services of the starting lineup, we would still like to put in a congratulatory word for these other boys who have sweated our team to its present victorious status!

Signed,

Tigers Take Meet; Record By Prather

The Missouri Tigers set the pace Saturday in Kansas City to take top honors in the twentieth annual Big Seven indoor track meet. Paced by Madill "Bud" Garter, the Tigers piled up 67 1/4 points to repeat on last year's meet victory.

Kansas State took fifth place with 13 1/4 points. Rival Kansas University amassed 32 points for their second place position. Nebraska was third with 29 1/4 points, Oklahoma fourth with 19. Trailing in the last two places were Iowa State with 9 and Colorado with 6 1/4 points.

An unofficial new world indoor record was set by the fast-traveling Missourian, Garter, as he cleared the 60-yd. low hurdles in .06.8. His time shaved one-tenth of a second off the world mark Harold Stickle set in New York in 1943. Garter set the new mark in his ninth race of the day.

Big Rollin Prather copped shot put honors for the Wildcats and established a new conference meet record with a toss of 52 feet 4 1/2 inches. The previous mark was set by Ed Quirk of Missouri in 1945 with a toss of 52 feet, 1 inch. Quirk, who was expected to win the event, was second with 52 feet 1/4 inch. Prather is defending conference outdoor champion and last year won the event at the Texas relays and at the Missouri Valley A. A. U. meet.

Other events in which Kansas placed were the 60-yd. high hurdles with Kansas State's Earl Elliott coming in fourth and Rod McClay fifth. In the 60-yd. low hurdles McClay took second place honors and in the two-mile run Dave Vanhaverbeke came in fifth.

Some 8,500 fans witnessed the day-long meet and Reeves Peters, assistant conference secretary, stated that more than a thousand more were turned away.

Wildcat truck mentor Ward Haylett stated he was well pleased with the showing the Wildcats made—especially in view of the little practice the men had prior to the meet.

Haylett will leave Thursday with Wildcat entries for the Central Collegiate Meet at East Lansing, Michigan. Coach Haylett plans to take Prather, McClay, Elliott, Vanhaverbeke and Stuart to the meet.

Intramurals

Intramural volleyball play got off to a fast start in Nichols Gymnasium last week with five games on Tuesday, and six Thursday. Twelve teams will go into action tonight and six games are slated for Thursday.

Winners in Tuesday's games were Phi Delta Theta over Sigma Alpha Epsilon; Sigma Phi Epsilon over Phi Kappa, Pi Kappa Alpha beat Delta Sigma Phi, Farm House beat Theta Xi, and Alpha Kappa Lambda over Kappa Alpha Psi.

A sixth game, between Delta Tau Delta and Alpha Tau Omega, was postponed until a later date.

Play last Thursday saw the Set-ups defeat the Poultry Club Beta Theta Pi beat Alpha Gamma Rho, Gamma Delta beat the Baptist Students, Tau Kappa Epsilon beat Sigma Nu, Wesley Foundation beat Y. M. C. A. and Kappa Sigma beat Acacia.

Games scheduled for tonight are Delta Sigma Phi vs Sigma Phi Epsilon, Theta Xi vs Phi Delta Theta, Phi Kappa vs Kappa Alpha Psi, Sigma Alpha Epsilon vs. Alpha Tau Omega, Pi Kappa Alpha vs Alpha Kappa Lambda and Farm House vs Delta Tau Delta.

Games next Thursday are: Baptist Students vs Set-Ups, Sigma Nu vs Beta Theta Pi, Poultry Club vs Wesley Foundation, Alpha Gamma Rho vs Acacia, Gamma Delta vs. Y. M. C. A. and Tau Kappa Epsilon vs. Kappa Sigma.

The intramural table tennis tournament will get under way March 16, according to L. P. Washburn, director of intramurals. Independent who want to enter the tournament should call at the intramural office in Nichols Gymnasium before March 6, to fill out an eligibility slip.

Cat Swimmers Drop Tank Dual to Huskers

Kansas State lost the final dual swimming meet of the season Saturday afternoon in the Nichols Gym pool as Nebraska University eked out a narrow 43 to 41 victory.

Leitt and Gillispie each copped a pair of events for the only firsts the Wildcats could muster. Leitt took the 60 and 100-yard free style sprints and Gillispie won the 220 and 440 yard free style races.

Kansas State was leading 37-35 up to the 400-yard relay. However, Nebraska came through in the deciding event to send State down to its ninth straight defeat in dual meets this year.

Chalk Talk

By NOEV GISH

Coach Jack Gardner and his Wildcat cagers are wearing broad smiles around the campus this week as they bask in the glory of the first K-State conference title in 30 years. Not since 1917 have the cats topped their league in the roundball sport. With the Big Seven crown safely tucked away, the Wildcats are now looking around for some post season honors to add to the list.

Golden silence in the lair of the Kansas Jayhawks now that the conference faculty representatives have tossed the Kansas proposal to ban Brannum back in their faces with a big "no" attached.

Clarence Brannum's eligibility seems now to have been definitely settled. One can't be sure on the matter, since it appeared that the case was cleared once before. Our good doctor down at Lawrence, however, kept the controversy stirring.

We suspect by now that the old boy has had enough headlines about the matter and has realized his intention of getting publicity — and very cheap publicity at that — for himself.

With the Jayhawks having about the worst cage team since Allen has been mentor, "Phog" had to rely on something else to get headlines.

Post season basketball tournament chatter is in the air everywhere, and many enthusiastic fans are naming Kansas State as a logical choice for either the NCAA or New York Invitational meets. The western NCAA will be held in Kansas City March 19-20, and the fifth district representative is yet to be named. While Kansas State has been given the favorable nod from many partisan fans, the official decision is up to a three man committee.

That group is composed of C. E. McBride of the Kansas City Star; Bruce Drake, Oklahoma coach, and Artie Eilers, Missouri Valley conference. No indication of their choice has been forthcoming, but it is understood Oklahoma A & M as well as the Wildcats, is being considered.

The New York invitational, beginning March 11, has already named four clubs, Western Kentucky, Brigham Young, North Carolina State, and Baylor. Four more teams are to be selected for the bracket and drug store forwards here are naming Kansas State as a possible choice.

K - State Nine Warms Up As Season Nears

By Pat Patterson

Baseball Coach Lud Fiser, marking time until warmer weather, has his varsity candidates working out daily in the gym. The aspirants are rounding into shape playing volleyball, basketball, skipping rope and running. At the organizational and sign-up meeting last week, Fiser emphasized the importance of conditioning as a precaution against sore arms. He indicated there will be no throwing until the squad moves outdoors.

Prospects are bright for a winning team this year. Last season, Fiser's first as diamond boss, the club was built around four lettermen. This season he has ten old heads back from the team that finished third in Big Six play last spring.

Normally at the beginning of the season, the pitching outlook is questionable. But this year Fiser has three top chuckers to head the mound staff. With Jack Dean, the league's top thrower last season; Jack Bell, who broke even in conference games; and Al Fillmore, who developed into a winner late last season, Fiser needs but two or three new faces in that department.

The infield, with the exception of catcher, is experienced. Don Chew, 1947 third baseman, may be moved behind the plate to fill the big gap left when Larry Gryskiewicz, a two year man, re-enlisted in the army.

Dale Carr, who plugged a leaky spot at shortstop last season, is on hand, and Dana Atkins, hard-knocking, fiery keystoner, also is back. Dave Bremmer, a combination out-infielder last year, will be given a try at the first base job vacated by Captain Charlie Kier, who was graduated.

In the outfield Fiser can look at three veterans. Gabe Bartley, hassock thieving, center-fielder; Bob Ives, fast moving leftfielder; and Al Sheriff, one of the hardest swingers on the club, will be bidding for pasture tending berths.

Fiser plans to have a freshman team this season. The rookies won't be called out, however, until the varsity has been outdoors and cut to a more workable size. Fiser needs weather cooperation if he is to have his club in top shape by opening day, April 9, when the Cats meet Oklahoma A & M at Stillwater.

Late Cat Rally Whips Huskers

Three substitutes led Kansas State's hard-driving Wildcats in a dizzy last-half scoring exhibition to whip the University of Nebraska 56 to 49 Friday night in Nichols Gym.

Coach Jack Gardner surprised fans by starting lanky Dave Weatherby and Al Langton the second half. These two, along with Ward Clark, took over the scoring duties of Dean, Howey and Brannum and sparked K-State's rally. It was the first time all season that the Big-5 had not started the second half.

The win over Nebraska, coupled with Iowa State's startling rout of Oklahoma U., assured K-State of at least a tie for the Big Seven championship.

A grimly determined Cornhusker quintet dominated play the first half. Nebraska jumped into an early 8 to 0 lead. The game was five minutes old before Al Langton sank a free throw for the Wildcats' first score.

The first stanza was half gone before Howard Shannon hit K-State's first field goal. The Wildcats were unable to solve Nebraska's tight zone defense the first half and could hit only 3 out of 37 shots from the field for a frigid 7 per cent. Two quick baskets by Rick Harman in the first minute of play started K-State on the road to victory the second half. Langton, Weatherby and Shannon brought the Wildcats into a 36-36 tie with seven minutes gone in the latter stanza. The count was tied again at 43-43 a minute later before the Purple and White cut loose a fast-breaking drive that ran the score to 53-45 in four minutes.

Dave Weatherby, playing his last home game for K-State, hit two fielders and dumped in six free throws for 10 points to finish his fourth year of basketball before Wildcat fans in a blaze of glory. Harman led the scoring with 14 points. Mosser led Nebraska with a total of 13.

Iowa State, defending conference champions, and Oklahoma, are the favorites to carry home the championship title. The fact that the Cyclones have a power-laden club was evidenced when the Wildcats played host to the Iowans last week and dropped a 17-13 verdict. Oklahoma also scored a close win over Coach "Red" Reynard's charges earlier this year at Norman, however, not all of Reynard's first string boys were able to make the trip.

Colorado, new to Big Seven wrestling, and Nebraska have met with indifferent success so far this year, as have the K-Staters. Each of these teams possess strong individual stars which could upset the pre-meet dope. Reynard is not going out on the limb for his boys but will admit they "have a good chance to pull some surprises."

Competition for individual crowns will be as close as the team scores according to previous results. Probably the two outstanding wrestlers of the meet are Glen Brand of Iowa State and Stan Fansher of K-State. Brand, 175 lb. star, is unbeaten this year and seems certain to retain his crown in this class. Fansher, although beaten this year, has not lost to an opponent within the conference. Verle McClellan, Big Six champ when he was a sophomore, and Charles Nighswonger are the other top contenders for the Purple and White.

Cats to Colorado for Mat Meet

Big Seven matmen will journey to Boulder, Colorado, March 5 and 6 for the conference wrestling meet. Fans are assured of hotly contested bouts if the results of dual matches are to be used as a measuring stick. Close, hard-fought matches have been the pattern in the Big Seven wrestling picture thus far this season.

SOCIETY

AT STATE

Windy Match they call it, but we aren't starting off very windy with the social news. The cause? Well—it could be one of three reasons or shall we say an equal mixture. Maybe things are being dampened by the weather. Maybe they're waiting for signs of spring to shoot forth or maybe they're waiting for the ivy to grow back. Anyway we still have a few chocolates and cigars to brighten the news.

Chocolates! Cossages! A

Beta pin! A diamond ring! Yes, it happened at the Tri-Delt house Sunday when Marilyn Larson passed "sweets" announcing her engagement to Lou Otto, Beta Theta Pi. Lyn has captured not only Lou's heart but his Beta pin and a diamond as well. The traditional smooch lines were formed for the couple. The lucky fellow is a freshman in vet medicine and the lucky gal is a senior in home economics and art. No definite date has been set for the wedding.

The 36th annual Beta Pig dinner was held at the Wareham Flame Room Saturday night. Beta loving cups were given as favors.

Following the dinner couples went to the Avalon for dancing. The ballroom took on a new look with murals of old banquet scenes around the walls and a false ceiling of blue streamers. In one corner was an enlarged replica of the Beta pin. The hall and coke room ceilings were hidden by pink streamers.

Guests were received by Nadine Smith, Charles D. Green, Mrs. J. W. Whipple, Dean Helen Moore and Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Gillman.

Chocolates at Pal-O-Mie announced the engagement of Vona Payne to Howard Adams. Vona is a senior in home economics and education. Howard is a sophomore in business administration. They are both from Kansas City.

Acacia members and dates enjoyed a buffet dinner at the chapter house Saturday night. Following the dinner a line party was formed to the show. It was then back to the house for dancing.

Sweets added to the diet at Waltham Sunday when two girls passed chocolates announcing their engagements.

Beretta Burkhead, a senior in home economics, announced her engagement to Bob Branan, a sophomore in business administration. Beretta is from Beloit and Bob is from Clafflin.

Chocolates from Pauline Nordstrom, a sophomore in home economics, announced her engagement to Dale Brees, a mechanical engineering sophomore. Pauline is from Randolph and Dale is from Manhattan.

Sigma Nus held formal pledging for Bill Porter, Lloyd Krone, and Frank Pyle Tuesday.

Girls of Chi Omega sorority and their dates enjoyed a buffet supper Sunday evening at the chapter house. Entertainment for the evening included a number by the Chi Omega trio, bridge and dancing.

Martha Westfall passed chocolates to members of Keim's Kaban announcing her engagement to Lynn Alford. Martha is a junior in psychology and is from Kingman. Lynn, Kansas City, is a senior in mechanical engineering.

Lillian Lacy was guest over the week-end at the Alpha Chi Omega house. Lillian attended K-State last semester and will soon enter nurse's training at the University of Kansas Hospitals in Kansas City.

In elections at the Kappa Kappa Gamma house Wednesday evening, Phyllis Lou Johnson was elected to the head of the chapter. Other new officers are: vice-president, Betty Peckham; treasurer, Ardeth Maupin; recording secretary, Jane Halbower; house president, Shirley Hill; scholarship chairman, Jo Harriett Hofess; social chairman, Mary Frances Cooney; rush captain, Maryellen Whitney; song leader, Jean Ragan; activities chairman, Gwynn Kimbell; senior Panhellenic representative, Marilyn Evans; junior Panhellenic representative, Virginia Bryan.

The Alpha Kappa Lambda's were surprised with cigars from Fred Tate, sophomore in mechanical engineering from Kansas City, Mo. The girl who won his heart is Ann Dennis of his home town.

Several members of Pi Kappa Alpha spent the weekend in Kansas City, Mo., for the annual Founder's Day party. The formal dinner-dance was held in the Muehlbach Hotel for members and alumni from K. U., Missouri U., and K-State.

There were many dinner guests at the various houses this weekend. Dean Helen Moore, Miss Dorothy Hamer and Billy Parkins visited at the Alpha Delta Pi sorority house Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Ed Washington and Mr. and Mrs. William Kirkemide were guests of Alpha Gamma Rho fraternity. Alpha Kappa Lambda was host to Prof. and Mrs. Harry Stewart and the Delta Tau Delta's hosts to Prof. C. M. Correll.

Get Birth Records Before More Money

Public Law 346 trainees with one or more children are urged to send their children's birth certificates to the Veterans Administration regional office in Wichita as soon as possible. Orval Ebberts, Veterans Service Officer, said today. The increase in subsistence payments, Ebberts added, makes it essential that the V. A. have documentary evidence of all dependents in order to verify all subsistence increases.

Veterans may secure birth certificates for their children without charge by applying personally to William Burkeholder, Veterans Administration contact representative at the V. A. Guidance Center.

"The Veterans Service Office, Ebberts said, 'will assist veterans in any way possible in obtaining increased benefits and transmitting records to Wichita.'"

Masonic Election

Officers for the current semester were elected by the K-State Masonic Club at a meeting held February 26. Officers elected were: president, Raymond R. Wilson; vice-president, Paul A. Behrent; treasurer, Ervin Syfert; recording secretary, Kent R. Irish; corresponding secretary, Woodrow W. Franklin; and sergeant at arms, Earl D. Gorrell.

All Masons at Kansas State College are invited to the regular meetings of the club which are held the second and fourth Thursdays of each month in Willard Hall, room 115 at 7:00 p. m.

Daily Record Hour

The program for the next four presentations of the noon day record hour in Rec Center is announced as follows:

Tuesday, March 2: Symphony No. 6 in B Minor (Pathétique), Tchaikowsky; Morning, Noon and Night in Vienna, Von Suppe.

Wednesday, March 3: Bolero, Ravel; Lohengrin Bridal Chamber Scene, Wagner; Sonata No. 4 in D Major, Handel. Thursday, March 4: Francesca da Rimini (Request), Tchaikowsky; Prelude à l'après midi d'un Faune, Debussy; Rhapsody in Blue (Request), Gershwin.

Friday, March 5: Symphony in D Minor (Request), Franck; Harmonius Blacksmith, Handel.

Discuss Milk Prices

Prof. George Montgomery and Prof. Paul Kelley of the economics and sociology department went to Columbia, Mo., yesterday to attend a meeting to discuss milk prices in the Missouri Valley area. Dr. R. W. Bartlett of the University of Illinois is chairman of the committee. Its members are representatives of agriculture experiment stations, milk market organizations and individuals representing the public.

It is not how well you can see that determines your visual efficiency.

It is how long you can use your eyes for a given task before you begin to fumble or your vision blurs. Concentration becomes difficult, your efficiency begins to drop. It Pays to Have An Eye Examination.

U. S. Farm Youth May Work Abroad

A program for international exchange of farm youth with other countries will be launched this year by the national 4-H club, according to Harold Johnson, state 4-H leader at Kansas State.

Kansas may be allowed to select a boy or girl who would be sent to a European country. There, he or she will live and work in a continental farm home, Johnson continued.

In turn, a farm youth from that section of the world may be assigned to a Kansas farm home for a similar length of time.

State quotas on the international exchange will be announced later.

Expansion Is Due for College Press

An addition to the basement of Kedzie Hall is being constructed by the building and repair department, R. F. Gingrich, superintendent of the department, said today.

The new room, under the east end of Kedzie, will be used for expansion of facilities of the College Press, housed in the building. According to Edgar T. Keith, superintendent of the College press, the room will be used for an addition to the printing plant and bindery for the present.

Concert March 14

The Concert Band will present its winter concert Sunday, March 14 in the auditorium. This will be the second concert of the season and the 24th appearance of a unit of the band this year.

The 65-piece band will play the unpublished manuscript of an American composer, Don Malin, and one other unpublished work. Out of seven numbers to be played, five are written originally for band while two are transcribed from orchestral literature.

KSC Trains Most High School Profs

More persons prepare for teaching at the college degree level at Kansas State than at any other Kansas college or university, Dr. H. Leigh Baker, head of the Department of Education and Psychology at the College said yesterday. In 1947 140 students qualified for teaching at K-State while the second highest qualifying university in Kansas had only 95, he said.

More graduates from K-State enter the teaching profession than any other occupation. This year 607 persons with degrees from the College are teaching in Kansas high schools, according to Dr. Baker. Graduates in education still number fewer than the pre-war 174 in 1941, but they have increased to 144 for this year. There were 58 graduates in 1945, 73 in 1946 and 119 last year.

Apply for Entrance to Vet School Now

Pre-veterinary students who desire admission in the professional curriculum in veterinary medicine for the sessions that begin in September, 1948, should obtain an application blank blank now from the Dean of Veterinary Medicine, Room 104, Veterinary Hall, Dean R. R. Dykstra has announced.

Students who have completed the requirements in the pre-veterinary curriculum or will complete them this semester should apply, Dykstra added. Those filing applications will later receive notice to appear for an interview before the subcommittee of the committee on the selection of veterinary students.

Final approval of students selected will not be announced until sometime this summer.

Jennings Sells Story

Dana C. Jennings, Olpe, has been notified that an article he wrote on short-cuts in sacking grain has been purchased by Successful Farming Magazine. An agricultural journalism student at Kansas State College, Jennings wrote the article for a news magazine writing course. He also is an amateur photographer and took the pictures sold with the story.

The Kansas State College debate team that participated in the tournament at Lincoln, Neb., Friday and Saturday rated excellent, Vernon McGuire, associate professor of radio and speech, reported this morning.

Those who participated included John Tasker, James Tucker, Marshall Shirer and Dick Dithloff.

Dr. Karl Menninger Housing Is Plentiful to Discuss Adjustments in Marriage

Dr. Karl A. Menninger, head of the Menninger Foundation, Chief of the mental departments at Winter General Hospital, and author of much-quoted books on the human mind, will be the fourth guest in the College series of lectures on Courtship and Marriage. Dr. Menninger will speak on "Psychological Adjustments in Marriage" in the College Auditorium, Monday from 7:30 to 9 p.m.

"Although his first appearance on the Marriage series was not planned," said committee members, "Dr. Karl Menninger has already made a hit with many students." The psychiatrist was instrumental in furnishing emergency transportation which brought Dr. Menninger to the campus when his plane was grounded on the afternoon of his appearance two weeks ago.

At President Eisenhower's request, Dr. Menninger sat with him on the stage during Dr. Menninger's lecture on the Physical Aspects of Marriage. "Doctor Karl," as he is known to many, appeared to be having a wonderful time helping the President as he played messenger boy, relaying audience questions from the ushers to Dr. Menninger.

Head Army Psychiatrist
Karl Menninger studied medicine and allied subjects, later specializing in his present field at Washburn College, the University of Indiana, the University of Wisconsin, and won highest honors in Harvard. He was head psychiatrist for the United States Army during World War II. Dr. Menninger is now president of the Menninger Psychiatric Foundation, where he practices with his brother William—also a renowned mental specialist.

"Any one of the Menninger family would have been a valuable addition to our series," said Ralph Salisbury, chairman of the lecture committee. Besides the two brothers, their father, Frederick Menninger, is a doctor of long standing. Mrs. Karl Menninger has collaborated with her husband in authoring and editing books, among them one called Love Against Hate. Mrs. William Menninger is known as a competent lecturer on marriage topics. She is currently lecturing in a family life course at Washburn College in Topeka.

Among the best known of Dr. Karl's books, according to Who's Who in America, are Why Men Fall with Others, The Human Mind, Man Against Himself, and the forementioned Love Against Hate. Dr. Karl is the editor of the Bulletin of the Menninger Foundation and assistant editor on the Psychoanalytic Quarterly, a professional publication.

Professor of Criminology
Dr. Menninger is a professor of Criminology, Abnormal Psychology, and of Mental Hygiene at the Topeka Clinic. He is a member of the American Committee for the Study of Suicide, the Citizens Committee for Planned Parenthood, the Planned Parenthood Federation of America, and the American League to Abolish Capital Punishment.

Prior to Dr. Menninger's address Monday, he will be a guest of the lecture committee in the Gold Room of the Wareham Hotel. Other guests will be Mrs. Menninger, President and Mrs. Milton S. Eisenhower, President Emeritus and Mrs. F. D. Farrell, Dean and Mrs. A. L. Fuglesy, and husbands and wives of committee members.

The lecture Monday, according to the committee chairman, will be followed by a 30 minute period for questions from the audience. President Farrell will make the introduction for Dr. Menninger.

Civil Rights Panel
A panel discussion, "To Secure These Rights," the Report of President Truman's Committee on Civil Rights will be held at the Congregational Church Sunday, March 6 at 3 p. m.

Mrs. Fred Kummerow, Dr. Abby Marietta, Mrs. J. C. McGinty, Arthur Peine and Ken Davis will participate in the panel. Students who are especially interested in study and action on civil rights are invited.

K-State Players Stage 'Pygmalion' Tonight at 8:15

A guttersnipe who learns the royal ways of polite England furnishes material for the plot of the Kansas State Players' winter production, "Pygmalion". The curtain will rise on George Bernard Shaw's story of a modern Cinderella at 8:15 tonight in the College auditorium. The play, originally scheduled for February 20 and 21, but postponed because of the fuel shortage, will be presented tonight and tomorrow.

"Pygmalion" is the story of Eliza Doolittle, a London flower vender who is taught to speak correct English by phonetician Henry Higgins. The effect on her life and on her friends is cleverly brought about by Shaw, in one of his most popular plays. The cast of 16 has been working on "Pygmalion" for weeks, perfecting their English accents and learning their lines. Rebecca Lamoreaux, senior from Waterville, portrays Eliza and Higgins is played by Garth Grissom, from Syracuse who played Duke Orsin in the Player's fall production, "Twelfth Night". Bill Anderson will play Col. Pickering, close friend of Higgins and author of "Spoken Sanskrit", a handbook of Indian dialects.

On the stage crew is Charles Walker, Frank McCreary, Bob Kasper, Gail Hamilton, Herb Langer, Ross Miller, Dona Cronk, Charlotte Clement, Fred Schrick, Ben Masters, Cynthia Morris, O. G. Masters and Cliff Hunt. John Hepler heads the light crew with Bob Hahn, Howard Sparks, Max Alderman, and Harold Slyvis as assistants. The prop crew is composed of Dorothy Godfrey, Lucille Lambert, Carolyn Merrill and Janet Ray. Mary E. Cooney and Margaret MacGregor are in charge of costumes. Makeup is in charge of Mary Hensen, Jay Reinhardt and Carolyn McNabney.

SYMPOSIUM WILL BE HERE SUNDAY

Kansas State College is to be represented in a play-symposium, "Saints Are People," to be presented at the Community House next Sunday at 2:30 p. m., by the Kansas State Sodality Union. Jim Dickinson will appear in the production which includes a selected group of students from eight Kansas and Missouri colleges and universities.

The play is under the direction of the Rev. E. J. Weisenberg, state adviser of KSSU, nationally known youth leader. "Saints Are People" deals with some of the great personages of history, bringing out the practical lessons they have to teach the world of today. "There is food for thought in 'Saints Are People' for any person, no matter what creed he professes, of our present-day world," Father Weisenberg said.

The cast includes: Robert Peak, sophomore at Wichita University; Naola Criswell, from Sacred Heart College, Wichita; Edgar Leffers, tenor from Rockhurst College, Kansas City, Mo.; Michaelene Stinson, from Mt. Saint Scholastic College, Atchison, John Marshall, Kansas State Teachers' College, Pittsburg; Fernand Cain, pianist from St. Marys College, Xavier; James Dikenson, K-State College; Joan Reischel, actress from Ursuline College, Paola.

Job Survey Results
Job opportunities resulting from questionnaires sent to 1,300 Kansas industries will be available for seniors in the School of Engineering, according to John D. Bender, secretary of the placement committee.

Results of the school's semi-annual survey are being tabulated now for the technical graduates of the school, Bender said. Surveys of job opportunities in Kansas and the Midwest were started here after the war, when questionnaires sent to students in the School of Engineering showed many who preferred to live in the Midwest were taking jobs in the East, Bender said.

DR. KARL MENNINGER, standing beside President Eisenhower, will give the fourth in the series of Courtship and Marriage lectures Monday night at 7:30 p.m. in the Auditorium. Dr. Menninger will lecture on the Psychological Adjustments of Marriage. The doctor heads the Menninger Psychiatric Foundation in Topeka and is the chief of staff at the Winter General Hospital, Topeka.

P L 16 Grades

Public Law 16 trainees are reminded by the Veterans Guidance Center that their grade cards will be available at the Guidance Center Monday and should be picked up then. The cards, with five-week grades filled in by each instructor, are to be returned next Friday, February 12.

Frosh to Contact Advisors Next Week

The Board of Counselors has designated the week of March 8-13 as a period for freshmen to contact their Faculty Advisors. This is the time, according to Dr. Woolf, chairman of the board, for a freshman to talk over with his advisor any problems concerning courses, scheduling time, study habits and educational or vocational objectives. Some may want to discuss future plans.

Freshmen will receive notices through the college post office, giving the name and office number of their faculty advisors, and also the office hours. This kind of faculty-student contact keeps more students in school for longer periods of time, Dr. Woolf said.

Cats Thrilled, Hawks Chilled After Fast, Climactic Tussle

By Janice Addington

Manhattan — A wild demonstration in the streets of Aggieville followed the news of Kansas State's win over the Kansas Jayhawks. Students honked their horns, slapped each other on the back hailing the victory. Clarence Brannum, Dave Weatherby and Rick Harman were the heroes of the boisterous students. Dean Helen Moore announced a 1:30 night for women and almost everyone took advantage of it.

The editorial staff of the Collegian stayed late into the night to get the news of the game into Tuesday's paper. One prankster, posing as the president of the student council, called the organized houses and declared that there would be a holiday Tuesday. President Eisenhower's home was swamped with calls from students and faculty asking about a holiday.

A crowd, demanding a school holiday, collected in front of Don Ford's house. Eager students hurried the president of the student council out to a makeshift barrel platform. But a holiday for the students couldn't be promised by the student president. At 2 a. m. 1,500 people were waiting for the champions in the City Park. As soon as the team and Jack Gardner stepped from the cars the crowd yelled for a speech. Jack Gardner complied with a "thank you" for the crowd's loyal support of the team. The crowd dispersed and the tired and victorious Cats left for their homes.

It was truly a red-letter day in Kansas State sports history. One that won't be forgotten.

KSC Catalogue to Be Published in April

Galley proofs for the new 1948-49 College catalogue recently passed over the desk of the Dean of Agriculture for the proper corrections before being sent back to the state printer. The catalogues are to be printed by sometime in April.

Among the new courses that are to be offered next semester, and which are announced in the new catalogue, are the following: A three-hour course in World Agriculture, which will be taught by L. E. Call, who has recently made a tour over parts of the world studying agriculture in the different countries.

A three-hour course in Animal Nutrition will be taught by Dr. Weber of the animal husbandry department.

The course in Farm Poultry Production has been changed from a course with one-hour laboratory, and one-hour recitation to two-hours of recitation work, and one-hour laboratory. The two courses can now be taken separately.

Lawrence, Kan. — But things were quieter in the Jayhawk nest. Except for the victory shouts of the few K-Staters who had traveled to Lawrence for the game, nobody had much to say. They had seen their Jayhawks lead the favored Wildcats for 39 and one-half minutes, then lose in the last few seconds—and on a free toss by Clarence Brannum.

After the gun sounded, the K. U. rosters sat stunned. The fans had cheered Otto Schnellbacher and his mates as they grabbed a 16-point half-time lead and seemed almost certain to hand the K-Staters a real shellacking. They were already making plans for a holiday the next day. Then the roof fell in under the power of the Wildcats.

The half-hundred K-State students at Lawrence were nearly as surprised at the game's outcome as their rivals. They knew their 'Cats would give the Jayhawks a rough second half, but hardly expected them to overcome the terrific 16-point deficit. But then Brannum loomed in his free throw, Schnellbacher missed his and another lay-up shot, and it was the Cat's title. The K-State rosters rushed out onto the court, screaming wildly. The Wildcat eagles hugged each other and Jack Gardner, the coach hardly able to speak. Otto Schnellbacher, who had come so close to whipping the Cats single-handed, led his dejected teammates off the court, and the K. U. students began to file slowly out of the Auditorium. Their team had been the victims of one of the greatest, second half rallies in conference history.

Pig Purloined

A pig's head was stolen Saturday evening at the Wareham Hotel just before the annual Beta Theta Pi winter dance, known as the Beta Pig.

The traditional kiss of the pig's snout by fraternity men and their dates had to be omitted at the party.

Some persons on the campus suspect dates of the fraternity men, not wanting to kiss the pig's nose, engineered the petty larceny.

JUDGE REMARKS COLLEGE GRADS STAY MARRIED

"The greatest tragedy that can happen to a person is an unhappy marriage," Judge Philip B. Gilliam, professor at Denver University, told Kansas State students in a lecture Monday night. His subject was, "Divorce—The Problems, Its Causes and Possible Cure."

Gilliam was third in a series of speakers to address K-State students on courtship and marriage this semester. Besides teaching classes in family relationships he is judge of the Denver juvenile and domestic court. He was recently appointed president of the YMCA for this area.

It is unfortunate, Gilliam said, that the most important decision of a person's life—the choice of a mate—must be made when he is young and inexperienced. He praised college graduates for "using their heads besides their hearts" in selecting marriage partners. "The most successful persons in marriage are college-trained," Gilliam assured his student audience.

Since the purpose of education is to prepare for future life, the most important course in any school is a course on marriage, Gilliam declared.

"Marriage is the greatest institution in the world," Gilliam stated. "Yet, as a divorce court judge I can get discouraged about it. One marriage in three continues, by 1965 over 50 percent of our marriages will end in unhappiness. If present trends in divorce continue."

Defends Divorce Court
Gilliam defended the divorce courts against the accusation that they are an important factor in breaking up marriages. "Most marriages are completely on the rocks before divorce applications are made," he stated.

"The evil lies in the fact that mis-mating makes people want divorce as an easy way out," Gilliam advocated uniform divorce laws and more careful investigation of divorce complaints.

"Senator Arthur Capper's proposal for a federal divorce law would take a constitutional amendment and would therefore be difficult to pass. It would be an advantage, however, because everyone would know what the law was," he pointed out.

Women Complain

Women who have asked for divorces in his court list numerous complaints against their husbands, Gilliam stated. Many complain that their husbands' excessive drinking, low moral standards, lack of social manners, or lack of sex education break up their homes. Some say their husbands were pampered too much by their parents before marriage and remain unbearably selfish.

Divorce-seeking wives often say that their husbands cannot save money but dictate to them how to spend it. Many women complain that their husbands do not help them in raising the children.

Emotional Immaturity Cause

"Emotional immaturity is the major cause for divorce," Gilliam told his listeners. On the average, the most successful age for a man to marry is 23; for a woman, 24.

Another major factor contributing to the high divorce rate is the over-emphasis placed on pre-marital romance by the movies, Gilliam held. He condemned the extensive publicity given to screen stars and wealthy playboys who "run in and out of marriage."

Most couples allow themselves to become bored with the routine of married life, Gilliam stated. "These people make the mistake of marrying and settling down, instead of marrying and finding new and interesting ways to spend their time together."

First UNESCO Week Will Open Tuesday at K-State

The first UNESCO week ever held on a college campus will be inaugurated at Kansas State at 9:30 a.m. Tuesday with an all-college assembly in the Auditorium. Solomon V. Arnaldo, director of the New York office of UNESCO, will fly from New York to speak.

Events for the week include a state UNESCO conference Friday and Saturday, an international Costume Ball on Friday, and an International Food Festival Saturday. Approximately 80 students representing 17 Kansas colleges are expected to attend the conference.

Arnaldo, who will discuss "The Working Relations of UNESCO with the United Nations", was an advisor to the Philippine Delegation at the London conference for establishment of

Professor Honored by Horticulture Club
Election to life membership in the Horticulture Club was the honor bestowed upon Prof. Emeritus R. J. Barnett of the department of horticulture at the regular bi-monthly meeting of the club last week.

In 1920 there was no organization of this kind on the campus so Professor Barnett got a committee appointed to organize a club. After its organization he was faculty advisor to the group until he retired in 1946. He retained active membership in the club and R. W. Campbell, assistant professor of horticulture, became faculty sponsor.

Officers for the spring semester were elected at the meeting. Those elected were Hobart N. Folen, president; Eugene M. Moffatt, vice-president; Kenneth E. Bell, secretary; Robert T. Chapin, treasurer; and Edward L. Chandler, program chairman. All are horticulture majors. The new officers were installed by Professor Campbell.

Red Cross Loans Students $10,299
A $25 collection from the booths in Anderson and Calvin began the College Red Cross Drive Wednesday, according to Miss Vera Gatch, chairman of the student drive.

Blue Key and Prix are in charge of the booths which will be in Anderson, Calvin, Veterinary and Engineering buildings, through today.

Several persons have called to find out how much they should contribute to the drive, according to Prof. Ralph Lashbrook, chairman of the faculty and employees drive. He stated that an average of $2 or $3 must be donated to reach the goal for faculty and employees. The range will be even higher for those with higher salaries. It is obvious that we cannot reach our goal of $2500 on $1 contributions, Lashbrook said.

Handled 966 College Cases
During the past year the Red Cross has handled 966 cases from Kansas State. It has loaned $10,299 to students in need of financial assistance, and more than $9,000 of this has been to veteran students.

There were less withdrawals from school in the fall semester of 1947 than in 1946, although the enrollment was larger. This was due in part to the financial help given veterans through the Red Cross, according to Orval Ebberts of the Veterans Service.

Last year there were more than 300 withdrawals, and the chief reason was financial difficulty. This year there have been only 109 withdrawals.

Greatest number of loans for veteran college students was last summer when the Veterans Administration held up payment of subsistence checks. Many students could not have stayed in school at that time had it not been for the Red Cross, Ebberts stated.

Sewing Group Organized
Facilities for Veterans Wives are also provided, according to Paul W. Zieke of the local Red Cross office. A sewing group has been organized two afternoons a week. For sewing machines are available and instructions given.

A nursery in the Community Building is for veterans children and supervised by the Red Cross. The downtown hospital has given many blood transfusions to Red Cross blood banks.

Among other duties, the local office lends assistance in case of disaster. The Red Cross definition of a disaster is a catastrophe affecting five or more families, but aid has been given to less than five when the need is warranted.

Campus campaign for faculty and employees will be carried on through the department head as in the past, according to Professor Lashbrook. The entire drive will be completed March 17.

Radio Clubs Meet

The ROTC Radio Club and Kansas State Radio Club will meet Monday at 7:30 p. m. in the Military Science building. Plans for the coming Engineer Open House will be discussed.

Solomon V. Arnaldo, UNESCO, and at the San Francisco conference. He was a senior counselor on the International Organization Preparatory Commission, London and Paris, in 1946.

During the war, Arnaldo served in the Department of Information and Public Relations of the Philippine Government-in-Exile in Washington, D. C. Arnaldo was graduated with honors from the University of the Philippines. While doing graduate work there he was president of the International Relations Club. He was an assistant professor at the University from 1939 to 1941. In 1941 Arnaldo studied towards a doctorate in English at the University of Chicago under a fellowship. Classes will be shortened for the assembly.

Class Schedule
7:00-7:50 will meet 7:00-7:40
8:00-8:50 will meet 7:50-8:30
9:00-9:50 will meet 8:40-9:20

ASSEMBLY
10:10-10:50 will meet 10:30-11:05
11:00-11:50 will meet 11:15-11:50

On Friday students attending the state conference will participate in round table discussions, and attend meetings of interest commissions, and the International Costume Ball.

Saturday's program includes presentation of available material for programs; drafting resolutions for state and national commissions; a concluding message by President Eisenhower, chairman of the United States National Commission for UNESCO; and the International Food Festival.

Foreign Costumes For Ball
Students may dress in foreign costumes if they so desire Friday night. The International Costume Ball will be held at the Avalon with Matt Betton's orchestra playing. Guss Rosania, from Colon, Panama, will be the master of ceremonies for the program at the intermission which is sponsored by the Cosmopolitan Club. Tickets for the dance will go on sale at a booth in Anderson Hall on Monday. Costumes may be worn if desired.

Foods representative of different countries will be on the menu at the International Food Festival from 5 to 7 p. m. on Saturday, March 13, at the Congregational Church. Members of the Cosmopolitan Club in native costumes will be hosts.

Wichita University, with 13 students, will have the largest visiting representation at the State UNESCO conference. Among other colleges that will send representatives are: Kansas State Teachers College, Pittsburg; Washburn University, Topeka; Kansas State Teachers College, Emporia; Bethel College, Newton.

The Friday-Niter Dance Club is tonight in Rec. Center from 9-11. The Night-Watchmen will play and hostesses will be present. Single admissions will be sold.

We're Proud of You!

At last after a long and strenuous season, a season that has been filled with chills and spills from the very beginning, Coach Jack Gardner and his Purple and White castegars have tucked away their first Big Seven (Six) championship in the College's history.

Given little consideration in pre-season championship predictions, the Wildcat squad rose from a tie for the league cellar with Nebraska last year to 1948 Big Seven champions.

But the path to the champion's throne hasn't been entirely a rosy one. After sweeping through 11 straight games without a setback, the Gardnermen were rudely knocked from their undefeated pedestal by Long Island U. Proving themselves to be true champions, the Wildcat crew picked themselves up and came back to tackle some of the nation's toughest competition, teams in the Big Seven conference.

At the time of this writing, only two defeats, blemish the Cats league record, both two-point setbacks that could have easily been victories if lady luck had smiled their way.

Nor has rugged opposition been the only obstacle in the path of the nation's "Cinderella team". They were forced to play part of the season with the threatened in this threat was removed, only to spring eligibility of one of their team members. up again and to be finally squelched last week. Even this did not destroy their team work and "fire-house" brand of ball that brought them back from the brink of sure defeat in several spectacular second half rallies.

Kansas State basketball and Kansas State College have gained national prominence through the efforts of Coach Gardner and his squad.

With still at least one game left on the docket, we the staff of the Collegian (and we know we are echoing the sentiments of the entire College) wish to say "We're proud of you gang." Whether you win or lose against the Aggies, we'll still be as proud of you 100 percent.

Letters to the Editor

VOX STUDENS

(Editor's note: The opinions presented in this column may or may not express the opinion of The Collegian. The letters are presented here for student information.)

Dear Editor,
K-State is coming up in the world! The Big Seven conference title is ours—the first student UNESCO organization was formed on our campus. A member of the track team, established a new conference record, and the approaching Homecoming and Engineering Open Houses are attracting students throughout the state.

But it seems too bad that a school with such accomplishments must have its reputation marred by a lack of ordinary, every-day church as a group Sunday morning.

Latter Day Saints

The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints will hold Sunday School at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Davis, 600 N. Manhattan at 10 a. m.

United Presbyterian Church
Sabbath School for the United Presbyterian Church will begin Sunday morning at 10 a. m. with the Rev. J. W. Currey acting as teacher for the college class. Sabbath School will be followed by the regular Sunday Morning Worship Service at 11 a. m. Sunday evening at 6:15 the college young people will meet for supper. After the meal a meeting will be held under the direction of Bertha Harris.

Wednesday evening at 7:30 a discussion of the Union of the United Presbyterian and the Reform Churches will be held at the Mid-Week Service. Choir practice will follow at 8:15 directed by Bob Johnson.

Christian Student Fellowship
CSF will meet at 5:45 Sunday evening in Keller Hall. Dorothy Linn will lead the vespers service and Roy Carter will present a film and lecture during the forum on the topic "Boy Meets Girl." The weekly "Friendly" at the Student Center, 1633 Anderson, Tuesday at 4 p. m.

OUTSIDE the Ivy WALLS

By Clyde A. Osburn

A totalitarian-type state and society will be carried out by radio instructions in Czechoslovakia, according to the Communists. Action committees will receive the instructions and carry them out. These committees are being built up into a tight hierarchy of intimate control covering every imaginable activity, from major ministries down to "table tennis associations."

World revolution is the goal of the Communists and the Russian Government, according to a report by a subcommittee of the House Foreign Affairs Committee. An examination of Soviet and Communist policy and tactics revealed they are incapable of accepting the idea that peace can endure from now on. They also believe the division of Europe and Asia between the victors of World War II is to be settled by power politics and not by negotiation.

King Ibn Saud of Saudi Arabia has quietly assured the Arabian American Oil Co. that it will not be ousted despite anti-U. S. sentiment throughout the Middle East. Oil company officials say that they plan to spend $500,000,000 in the next five years to build a trans-Arabian pipeline.

Jews in Palestine are carrying out their threat to kill all British in their areas. Twenty-eight British soldiers were killed aboard a Cairo express train. Electrically detonated mines shattered the coaches in which the soldiers were returning from leave. The Jews have admitted blowing up the train.

Secretary of State George C. Marshall has asked Congress to send another $275,000,000 of strictly military aid to Greece and Turkey to show the Kremlin the U. S. A. has no intention of abandoning its Mediterranean allies.

This nation needs 35,000 warplanes and must spend 10 billion dollars a year on air strength, according to the congressional aviation policy board. The proposed expansion program would mean at least doubling the number of planes now in the air force.

General of the Army Douglas MacArthur has hailed the Republican party as the "champion of personal freedom and individual responsibility". It has never departed from the theory that "all political power resides in the people," he wrote from Japan in a letter to party officials. The General is rumored to be interested in the Republican presidential nomination.

Dr. Edward U. Condon, government atomic scientist and head of the National Bureau of Standards, has been accused by a House Un-American Activities Committee as being associated with alleged Soviet spies. They label Dr. Condon as "one of the weakest links in our atomic security."

Forever Spring for Hens

No Winter or Summer for Biddy in KSC Test

By Harold Brown

Many an old biddy hasn't been able to see the sun at the College Poultry Farm in research which has been conducted there for the past four years.

Series of experiments have been conducted at the farm in which hens were subjected to different artificial conditions. Three lots of 50 hens each were used in the experiment. In one lot the hens were subjected to a constant temperature of 65 degrees Fahrenheit, a constant relative humidity of 65 percent, and a 12-hour regulated day only, while the third group lived under natural conditions.

White Leghorns were used in the first two years of the experiments. Rhode Island Reds and White Rocks were also used for one year each.

Three important facts were learned as a result of the research. In the first place, there is a definite suppression of egg size as a result of high summer temperatures. Pullets in the constant temperature room actually increased their egg size, while ordinarily egg size decreases noticeably during hot summer weather.

It was found that shell thickness is not entirely a factor of the weather, for shell thickness declined somewhat during the summer in the constant temperature room.

Another fact discovered was that the molt was delayed in the constant temperature room. In some cases the hens did not molt at all.

In this experiment the hens were placed under artificial conditions when they were ready to lay. Another experiment is being planned in which chickens will be placed under artificial conditions when they are baby chicks.

Dr. D. C. Warren, poultry geneticist at the College, is preparing an article concerning the experiment for the World Poultry Congress in Denmark next August.

Brazilian Voices Weather Dislikes

"Very bad, I no like, very bad, I no like," was Ivonne Henriques' only comment about the changeable Kansas weather. She has a right to dislike it. Her native country is Brazil where snow is virtually unknown.

Leaving her five brothers behind, Ivonne decided to study Foods and Nutrition here at Kansas State. The Wesley Service Guild chose her for their scholarship after hearing of her teaching in a missionary school in Guez Fros, which is just north of the equator in Brazil. The scholarship will last for one year. Beyond that her plans are not certain, although she thinks she may return home.

The 25-year old junior has nothing but praise for our championship basketball team and admits they can certainly warm things up when it gets cold.

On Other Campuses

A sorority prowler at the University of Indiana is now recovering in one of the local hospitals from bullet wounds in both legs. Police report that the prowler has not given a reason for him prowling. Ha! Ha!

Coach Phog Allen's absence when the Jayhawkers played at Iowa State proved to be a great disappointment to two pranksters. They had a super-sized bird with the caption "Croak Phog" suspended from a beam in the gym and had planned to lower it during the half-time intermission.

Although eligible bachelors testified that they couldn't appreciate the flower of womanhood if they couldn't see the stems, men were still predominate at the Nebraska University intently at the pictures of the Engineer's Lady candidates on display, then walked away scratching his head and muttering to himself, "It's either a case of where have I been, or where have they been or else it's pure propaganda." Things don't seem to be any different at Iowa State than they are here at Kansas State.

Barfoot to Speak at Educators Meet

Miss Dorothy Barfoot, head of the art department at the College will speak on her experiences in India at a meeting of the Kansas State Art Teachers' Association tomorrow at Kansas City, Kan.

"Free Expression for Educational Growth" is the theme of the meeting. Miss Barfoot will take part in the panel discussions, Art in Secondary Schools and Art in High Schools. The group will tour the Nelson Art Gallery and Art Institute in Kansas City, Missouri. They will view the western Missouri and eastern Kansas Scholastic Art Award Exhibit at Emery Bird Thayers.

Miss Barfoot is past president of the organization. Mrs. Orrie French of Manhattan Junior High is treasurer.

How many operators will we need NEXT YEAR?

This is but one of the many questions telephone men are called upon to answer.

Part of their work has always been to anticipate demands for personnel . . . to determine what additional equipment must be provided, what new construction will be necessary to handle the constantly increasing demands for service.

Careful planning in every phase of telephone work requires the services of many qualified men. For them, this growing business offers the opportunity for active, interesting careers.

There's a future in telephony.

Wildcats to Meet Aggies in Fifth District Play-Off

Kansas State's "Cinderella Kids" will tangle with the power laden Oklahoma Aggies in Kansas City's Municipal Auditorium, Monday, March 15. The Big Seven conference champions will meet the Missouri Valley titlists to determine which team is to represent the fifth district in the Western NCAA basketball play-offs March 19 and 20.

The decision to hold the play-off was unanimous by the district selection committee composed of Bruce Drake, Oklahoma University basketball coach, chairman; Artie Eilers, commissioner of the Missouri Valley conference and C. E. McBride, Kansas City Star sports editor.

The Aggies, Missouri Valley kings this year, are old hands at NCAA playing, having competed in several inter-conference play-offs. In 1945 and 1946 the Aggies went through the finals in New York to claim the NCAA championship.

For the Wildcats, it will be the first attempt at a post season contest. Big Seven conference rules do not permit league teams to compete in any of the post season cage tournaments, except the NCAA championships.

The winner of the K-State-Aggie tilt will have a clear field into the western NCAA tournament. The winners of the eastern and western divisions will meet in New York's Madison Square Garden for the national championship. The national NCAA champions will probably be given an opportunity to compete for the United States Olympic team later.

CATS, SOONERS IN LOOP FINALE MONDAY NIGHT

The 1947-48 Big Seven conference curtain drops Monday night for the Kansas State Wildcats as they travel to Norman to meet Coach Bruce Drake's Oklahoma Sooners. The Sooners meet Missouri at Norman tonight.

While Kansas State already wears the conference crown, the game is expected to be a much-watched preliminary to the tip-off with Oklahoma A&M in Kansas City the following Monday. The Sooners currently enjoy the distinction of being the only team to down Kansas State on the Wildcats' home floor, 49-47. The other Wildcat losses have been to Missouri and Long Island University.

Always a stubborn opponent, the Sooner quintet goes into tonight's Missouri tilt defending a record of 12 straight wins on their home court. One of that string was over Oklahoma A&M's powerhouse. The Sooners trimmed Hank Iba's Missouri Valley champs 37-28.

Moving out of conference meetings into the Big Nine, the Sooners annihilated Wisconsin's Badgers.

gators, conference defending champions, 75-49, at Norman. The other Big Nine encounter was with Ohio State at Columbus and the Sooners won handily, 62-53.

Oklahoma's ace forward, Paul Courty, currently leads the Big Seven individual scoring race and has a good chance to take that title. Courty's left-handed shots were the big guns when the Sooners established two new Big Seven conference scoring records, 81 points and 34 field goals against Nebraska at Lincoln.

Play-Off Tickets

Tickets for the game with Oklahoma A. and M. will go on sale Monday noon at the athletic office. Students may buy tickets either for the upper balcony, a-repa balcony, or loges, said Thurlo McCrady, athletic director. Although final ticket arrangements have not been completed, McCrady said he thought the tickets would sell for one, two, and three dollars. He said that Kansas State will be able to have all the tickets they need. Mail order tickets will be accepted immediately.

Wildcat Tracksters to Michigan Meet

The Kansas State track team left last night for Michigan State College, in East Lansing, to participate in the Central Collegiate indoor track meet today and tomorrow.

Equal members making the trip are Rollin Prather, shot put; Earl Elliot, hurdles; Dave Vanhaverbeke, two-mile; Bill Stuart, 440 and 880; and George Leasure, mile.

Rodney McClay, hurdles and pole vault, did not make the trip. Leading point maker on the indoor track team, McClay decided to remain at home to catch up with classwork, according to Ward Haylett, track coach.

Haylett was especially pleased with the performance of Rollin "Tiny" Prather, shot put star, who set a new conference meet indoor shot mark with a heave of 52 feet, 4 3/8 inches last week at Kansas City.

"Prather has already put the shot two feet farther than he did in indoor track last year," Haylett said. "If he can improve as much during the outdoor season as he did last year, he has a chance to go to the 1948 Olympics."

CHALK TALK

By NORV GISH

After witnessing a few of those whirlwind last half rallies produced by Gardner and Company, we are beginning to wonder what Smilin' Jack tells the boys in the dressing room during the rest period. Maybe he should have that pep talk recorded for posterity.

At any rate, that blazing finish put on by the Wildcats at Lawrence Monday night was tops in this reporter's book. The boys at the press bench called it one of the greatest rallies of the season. Jayhawk fans called it other things as they shuffled from the auditorium muttering to themselves.

That thrilling finish only sums up what Coach Gardner has been saying all season. The Wildcats are great competitors. A team that won't be beaten just can't be beaten. The Cats proved that at Lawrence.

We talked with the KU director of athletics, E. C. "Ernie" Quigley following the game Monday night. That venerable gentleman was lavish in his praise of the Wildcat performance. Ernie called the K-State players a grand group of boys and willingly admitted that the Cats were truly deserving of the conference title.

The KU athletic director was justly proud of the actions of the Jayhawk spectators that evening. The KU students returned in full measure the sportsmanlike treatment given the Kansas athletes in Nichols Gym a few weeks ago. Only a few scattered boos were heard during the first part of the evening. When the Purple and White team took the floor before the game and when the starters were announced, the Jayhawk student body responded with cheers. Late in the game, with the excitement mounting, the fans became more rabid, but in general the KU conduct equaled that of the K-State crowd at the last meeting of the teams.

We hope the examples set by both schools will be the beginning of a new plane of rivalry between the two Kansas institutions. Perhaps that infamous article, laughingly called the "KU-

New Record

Besides establishing a new precedence on the maples this season, the Big Seven conference champion K-State Wildcats also set a new record for the College by playing before nearly 140,000 fans.

Frank Myers, business manager of athletics, said the total "more than doubled any previous season record." Of the total, 33,000 represents the attendance at eleven home court games.

Estimates of two or three times that number would have been possible had it not been for the limited capacity of Nichols gymnasium. Plans for the new field house, to be started this spring, call for a seating capacity of 12,500.

Tankmen to Lincoln for League Finals

The Kansas State swimming team will go to Lincoln, Neb., for the Big Seven swimming meet today and tomorrow.

Iowa State, winner of the conference championship last year, should win the title again this year, according to C. S. "Coony" Moll, swimming coach.

Coach Moll said that of his 10-man squad, John Leitt, sprintman, appears to be the only sure point winner. "We lack the necessary squad strength to be a contender for the title," Moll said. K-State placed third in the conference meet last year.

Math Club Meets

Transfinite numbers will be discussed at the Mathematics Club meeting Tuesday in X101. "The meeting is open to anyone who is interested," said R. G. Sanger, head of the mathematics department.

Gardner's Sharpshooters Hit One Third of Shots

One of the major reasons for the Wildcat basketball success this season has been the consistent accuracy of the Purple and White Shooters. Unofficial statistics released yesterday show that more than one third of the K-State field goal attempts this season have dropped through the rings.

Blushing Rick Harman leads the whirlwind Wildcats in shooting accuracy with a mark of 42.6 percent. Rick has split the cords 72 times out of 169 attempts. Most of Rick's tallies have been scored on close-in shots.

Hilltoppers Elect

New officers of Hilltop Court will be elected Thursday at 7:30 p. m. in V13, Charles Lyons, current president announced.

Leading the field of shooters from far out is slim Howard Shannon. He has dumped in 38.2 percent of his attempts for second place. Shannon's mark takes on added significance when you consider that he usually fires from outside the free throw circle.

Clarence Brannum is third accurate of the regulars according to the statistics. Brannum's mark is 37.7 percent.

Team totals for the 23 games played so far find the Cats hitting well as a unit. The team average is 34.4 percent which is good shooting in any league.

Dairy Judging Will be Open to All K-Staters

Prizes amounting to $150 will be given winners of dairy cattle judging contest at the college March 20. The contest, sponsored by the KSC Dairy Club, is open to all Kansas State students.

The 25-cent entry fee will be returned to contestants in the form of refreshments and as part of the prize money, according to Glenn McCormick, president of the Dairy Club. A senior division will be limited to students now taking, or who have taken a course in advanced dairy judging. A junior division will be open to all students.

First prize for the senior contest will be a pair of livestock electric clippers. The junior contest first prize will be either electric clippers or a pen and pencil set.

Senior division contestants will judge four classes, one from each breed. They will give oral reasons for choices on two cow classes. The junior division, which will judge the same cows, will give oral reasons on one cow class only.

Official judge will be Prof.

Cause for American Pride

WASHINGTON'S
ADDRESS

Here, in our First President's own handwriting, is part of the far-sighted speech he delivered to the American people 152 years ago. The spirit of the doctrine still applies. It calls for a firm unity among our people... emphasizing, above all, the need for "every citizen to take pride in the name of an American." The original is now aboard the "Freedom Train"—a traveling exhibit of the most significant documents in our history.

Round one of test time is nearly over and the social calendar promises plenty of week-end entertainment. "Pygmalion" will be staged tonight and Saturday. A variety is also scheduled for tonight. Tomorrow brings the AGR Pink Rose formal. In the meantime here are the other social facts at State.

It was chocolates at Hill's Heights and cigars at the Theta Xi house Tuesday night announcing the engagement of Marion Lawyer to Arlyn Rowland. Marion is a freshman in home economics from Easton, and Arlyn is a sophomore in business administration from Marysville.

The Alpha Gamma Rho fraternity will hold their annual Pink Rose formal dinner-dance tomorrow. Dinner will start at 6 p. m. in the Crystal Room of the Wareham. Dancing will follow from 9 p. m. to midnight at the Community House.

Newest pledges of Kappa Alpha Phi fraternity include: Kermit Adams, Wichita; Thomas Butler, Dennison, Texas; Alvin Miller, Patterson, Ark.; Virgil Work, Arkansas City; James Wrenn, Davenport, Okla.; Rudolph Wyatt, Kansas City.

Chocolates at the Pi Phi house last Sunday announced the engagement of Mary Lou Zimmerman of McPherson to Bill Holloway of Kansas City. Mary Lou, who attended school here last year, is attending KU this year. Bill, a Sig Ep, also attends KU.

The members of Sigma Alpha Epsilon will hold their annual Founders' Day party Saturday night at the Wareham Flame Room.

Second semester officers have been installed at Farmhouse. New officers include: Stanley Fanser, president; Charles Glenn, business manager; George Krause, pledge trainer; Lloyd Wiseman, treasurer; Dean Reese, recording secretary; Harold Dal-bom, social chairman; Edward McGinness, inter-fraternity council and Merle Howes, alternate; Harold Ramsey, historian; Dale

GIRLS' TEAM CUTS FINE FIGURE—

Crowd of 300 Mobs Nichols Gym in 1911

By Nell Erdwin
The basketball games played so far this season have been a heavy losing proposition. Unless the game . . . tonight is patronized better than any of the preceding games, the management will be forced to discontinue this sport for the present season.

The Students' Herald, official school paper, printed this notice on February 15, 1911, when basketball was not synonymous with half-mile lines of students waiting to get into the gym.

In 1911, basketball at Kansas State was still in the neap stage—both literally and figuratively. The school paper got smug if 300 turned out for a game.

Girls First Players
The Students' Herald first campaigned for basketball to be played on the campus in 1899. Basketball at K-State was originally played by girls on an intramural basis.

The building now known as Mathematics Hall was then the girls' gym. It was equipped with a basketball court and games were played there. An outdoor court was also built at that time.

Girls in calisthenic classes played the first public basketball game at Kansas State on May 25, 1901. Men got around to playing their first game the following November, when the cabinets and the secretaries of the YMCA gave the game a try.

These early exhibition games were popular. By 1902, a basketball court for men had been set up in the drill hall of the old Armory building.

After these first few basketball games, only immediate friends and relatives were allowed to witness the games and Kansas State had no problem of more fans than could see the games.

Armory Inadequate
Even with no problems of seating, the gym in the Armory was still considered inadequate. A reporter for the Students' Herald on March 6, 1902, noted "Basketball practice is a regular event every afternoon. The boys keep at it with undiminished ardor, notwithstanding the fact that the armory is not the best of places for practice, and the veterinary department is just over their heads. We will be glad when the goals are moved out of doors, and so will the veterinary people."

Basketball at Kansas State continued on an intramural basis until 1903, when it became a major sport. K-State played its first intercollegiate basketball game with the Haskell Indians on January 22, 1903. Haskell won handily, 60 to 7.

The previous year girls had wanted to play intercollegiate games, but College officials denied the request. Girls still play basketball only on an intramural basis at Kansas State.

In the early days of basketball here, there were no coaches. Instead, a chaperon traveled with the team. The first chaperon to be referred to as a coach of basketball at K-State was one Mr. Melick.

Nichols Built in 1910
Basketball began to be popular with the fans. In 1909, Kansas State received a grant of $100,000 to build a new gymnasium. College officials accepted a bid for Nichols Gymnasium in February, 1910. Classes in Nichols met for the first time Oct. 7, 1911.

The gym had plenty of seats for fans at that time, but there were other problems. In 1913, shivering students bought five tons of coal during a fuel shortage to heat Nichols Gym for a game with Washburn.

Other than Nichols Gymnasium, K-State has played basketball in only three places. These are: the drill hall of the old Armory building, the old skating rink across the street from the Manhattan Laundry and the old YMCA, which is now Parkview Hospital.

Sometime this summer construction on K-State's new Field House will begin. With its seating capacity of 12,500, the Field House should solve the problem of where to play basketball games at Kansas State for some time.

Top Enrollment Is Expected for Summer Session

An increase of 200 Kansas State students in this year's nine-week summer session over last summer's nine-week session is expected by A. L. Pugsley, Dean of Administration and Director of Summer Session.

The recently increased subsistence rate for veterans and the fact that there will only be one summer session have probably influenced more students to take summer work," Dean Pugsley said.

The polls, taken by classes in Public Information Methods, show that total enrollment this year is expected to be around 2,600 as compared to 2,400 students who attended last year.

The ratio of four men to one woman experienced last year is expected to hold again this summer.

Rolls taken in 1947 and 1948 provided data for these estimates. Graduate students and students in veterinary medicine were not polled.

The School of Arts and Science showed the highest summer school enrollment in both surveys. Nine-hundred-thirty Arts and Science students attended last year and 1,088 are expected this year. This shows an increase of 185 students over last year in the school.

The School of Engineering and Architecture reveals a high summer school attendance. Eight-hundred-fifty-four engineering students attended last year and 962 are expected to attend this year. This is an increase of 112 students.

Ranking third is the School of Agriculture with 284 students attending summer school last year and 288 expected to attend this year.

The School of Home Economics had 134 students attending last year. This year's enrollment is expected to be about the same.

In addition, about 300 teachers and students not now on the campus will probably attend along with 250 or more graduate students.

Gold Cup for Best Display
The gold trophy in the entrance of the Engineering Building again will be in the limelight at Engineer's Open House March 19 and 20. The loving cup is presented each year by Steel Ring, honorary engineering fraternity, to the department having the best display in Open House.

Started by Steel Ring in 1937, the traveling trophy has made the rounds of nearly every department. In 1939 the provision was made that the department winning the cup three years consecutively gained permanent possession. Since that time the architecture department and the electrical engineering department have each won it twice in a row, but both failed in their third attempt.

The electrical engineers, who won last year, will be gunning for their second win.

The six requirements that Steel Ring set up for the judges on which to base their standards of excellence are: originality, arrangement, attraction, amount of time spent on exhibit, engineering value and practical value.

A photograph of the trophy is featured on the front page of the Open House program folder this year. Approximately 18 inches high, the cup is engraved with the name and year each department has won it. Last year the space for engraving ran out, so a plaque with the extra names on it is provided to travel with the cup.

The three judges for the contest are chosen by a Steel Ring committee composed of members from each engineering division.

Institute to Award Fifteen Scholarships

Fifteen high school seniors will be awarded $200 scholarships for use in the Institute of Citizenship at Kansas State College next year, Dr. Robert A. Walker, director of the institute has announced.

Applications will be sent to high school principals this week, Dr. Walker said. Winners will be chosen on the basis of scholarship, leadership, personality, and evaluation by their teachers and administrators. A special program has been developed to meet the needs of students planning to teach history, government, citizenship, economics, and sociology in high schools.

THE FIRST COLLEGE UNESCO WEEK in the world is this week at Kansas State College. Pictured are the "secretariat" of K-State's United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization. They, to a large degree, are responsible for the conference at the college. Students from colleges and universities throughout Kansas will attend the conference.

No Playoff Tickets Remain for Students

Approximately 4,500 K-State-Oklahoma A. & M. tickets for the basketball play-off in Kansas City March 15, were sold in a period of two and a half hours yesterday leaving nearly 175 students in line waiting in vain. The tickets were put on sale at 1 p.m. yesterday and were sold by 3:30 the same afternoon.

No more tickets will be allotted to Kansas State, according to Thurlow McCrady, athletic director. The Kansas State students will occupy the west half of the Kansas City auditorium. McCrady said no more seats were sold to students because it was thought $3 was a steep price for students to pay. Most of the group tickets, as fraternities, etc., were placed in the northwest corner of the auditorium, McCrady said. McCrady explained that many tickets on the east side of the auditorium were sold to K-State alumni.

Kramer Is Favorite as Students Cheer Pygmalion as Standout Performance

By Max Hollinger
(Collegian Drama Critic)
Director Earl G. Hoover and his Kansas State Players deserve more than curtain calls or their "Pygmalion" production in the College auditorium on last Friday and Saturday evenings. By the middle of the second act "Pygmalion" had been accepted by a conservative house with unbridled enthusiasm. Actors exits were given short ovations and entrances brought murmurs of delight from the audience.

As representative of something entirely different in scenery and atmosphere characteristics, the first act left little to be desired. It set an effective pace for the entire play. Ray Bowman, Floy Buckles, Janet Ray, Wolfram Wolz, Kay Wortman and Lucille Lambert made colorful rainstranded bystanders. Bystanders John Haines and Carl Kish were representative of what we like to call British skepticism.

"Pygmalion" is the story of one man, Henry Higgins, henpecked by his housekeeper (Lesley Dennison) and kept a social untouchable by his mother. His genius in phonetics forces him to deal with all of mankind as if it were an animal in one great scientific experiment. Garth Gris-

Y-Orpheum to Be Presented Apr. 10

Y-Orpheum will be presented April 10, according to Earl G. Hoover, director of dramatics. Groups who will participate have already begun work building scenery, Mr. Hoover said.

Four sororities and four fraternities were selected to perform at the YMCA-sponsored Y-Orpheum. Selection was made from scripts turned in by many of the organized groups on the campus.

Organizations represented will be Alpha Delta Pi, Chi Omega, Delta Delta Delta, and Pi Beta Phi sororities; Acacia, Alpha Kappa Lambda, Beta Theta Pi and Phi Delta Theta fraternities.

Judging of the submitted material was on the basis of originality, completeness and good theater working.

Group rehearsal in the auditorium will begin soon and dress rehearsals will be April 7 and 8, according to Jim Clinger, manager of Y-Orpheum.

Faculty Changes Are Announced

Eight changes in the Kansas State College faculty, including five appointments and three resignations, were announced today by President Milton S. Eisenhower.

The appointments were Mrs. Evelyn Potter, research assistant in the home economics department of the Agricultural Experiment Station; Mrs. Harriet F. Taylor, research assistant in chemistry; Franklin E. Eldridge, associate professor of dairy husbandry; Paul Walker and John Crawley, both assistant football coaches and physical education instructors.

Resignations were accepted from Donald B. Roark, graduate assistant in dairy husbandry; Harold K. Brooks, instructor in geology; and Mrs. Elizabeth G. Rogers, research assistant in chemistry.

Maurice Fager, Director of Kansas Industrial Development Commission, will speak at a meeting of the Agricultural Education Club tonight at 7:30 p.m. in Willard Hall, Room 101. Club members invite interested students and faculty members to attend.

Slavenska Ballet Features 'Salome'

The dance of "Salome" will be featured by Miss Slavenska, ballet dancer, and her dance troupe when they appear in Manhattan, April 9, in the College Auditorium. Miss Slavenska, who came to America as the leading ballerina of the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo, will end this season's Manhattan Artist Series.

Called "The Slavenska Ballet Variante," the eight members on the team will introduce several dancers as well as present Slavenska herself in some of the dance creations which made her famous a few years ago.

A group of American folk dances called "Settlers' Sunday," several Balkan peasant dances learned by Miss Slavenska in Serbia, Liszt's dance poem "Concerto Romanique," and Tchaikovsky's "Nutcracker Suite" will be on her program.

Miss Dilts will also talk to the house and equipment classes about home economics equipment.

Game Permits

Women students living in organized houses who are planning to go to Kansas City to the K-State-Oklahoma A. & M. game, Monday night, may take a semester special providing they have the proper out-of-town permit. Women students who do not live in organized houses should make their arrangements directly in the Office of the Dean of Women, Dean Helen Moore, announced.

YWCA Presents Annual Carnival

Nichols Gym will be completely transformed March 13 when the YWCA presents their annual carnival at 8 p.m., according to Miss Billie Parkins, YWCA secretary.

Decorated in a St. Patrick's Day theme, the gym will have fortune telling booths, penny pitching, a jail and a marriage booth. There will be cake walks, ball throwing and booths for food.

During the evening, services of faculty members will be auctioned. Those participating are Dean Rodney W. Babcock, Prof. H. W. Davis, Prof. V. D. Foltz, Dr. H. L. Baker, Dean Helen Moore, Jean Hedlund, David Geppert and Mrs. Opal Hill.

Jerry Gatz and Georgi Gress are co-chairmen for the carnival. Chairmen or the decorations are Lillian Hansen and Donna Weikelman.

Booth chairmen are Nanette Martin, dart throwing; Virginia Epp, marriage booth; Ruth Westvold, divorce booth; Janice Bayles, ball throwing; Lorraine Halliwell, fortune telling; Jane Lawson, jail.

Fire Whistle Off after Class Hours

To prevent bystanders from crowding around fires, the fire whistle will not be blown between 5 p.m. and 7 a.m., R. F. Gingrich, superintendent of building and repair, said today.

This ruling, suggested by the building and repair department, was approved by the Council of Deans. It was made to prevent students and townspeople from hindering firemen and equipment. At a recent fire in Elliot Courts, the roads leading to the housing area were jammed with cars. The firemen had to park their cars on the east edge of the campus and run the rest of the way to the fire.

Under the present plan, the firemen will be called at their stations if the fire occurs between 5 p.m. and 7 a.m. During school hours, they are not in any definite area and so will be summoned by the regular fire alarm.

Statistics Show

Twenty-five percent of the students enrolled in Kansas State College during the first semester of this college year were former or present members of Kansas 4-H Clubs. Of the 6,756 regularly enrolled students, not including graduate and special enrollees, 1,688 had club background, according to L. C. Williams, dean and director of the Kansas State College Extension Service.

"Moreover, the statistics show," Dean Williams commented, "that the two outstanding educational objectives of club work—improved skill and practical training in the fields of agriculture and home economics, carry right on through to college courses. Forty-one percent of the club girls enrolled in college now are taking home economics, and 40 percent of the boys are taking some phase of agriculture."

The largest membership in its 20-year history, 633 now belong to the Organized 4-H Club, an organization made up of students with 4-H club affiliation.

Rural Life Confab Is at KSC Friday

Nearly 300 delegates are expected to attend the eleventh annual Rural Life Conference at Kansas State College Friday and Saturday, Velma McLaugh, state club leader, disclosed yesterday.

Representatives from nearly every one of the 41 counties with rural life associations will send representatives to the conference, pre-registration figures indicate. More than 200 attended the conference last year, Miss McLaugh said.

News of the older youth programs over the state will be given by county leaders Friday morning. The rural youth, 18 to 30 years old, will divide into five interest groups Friday afternoon to study educational material and how to present it interestingly in county meetings, Miss McLaugh indicated.

Educational material to be studied includes parliamentary procedure, soil conservation demonstrations, material for debates on current public questions, panels on choosing a life partner and other aspects of marriage, county UNESCO programs and sports.

Sports Festival
It is hoped that a sports festival for the rural youth of Kansas will develop from this year's meeting, Miss McLaugh said.

Resident and extension faculty members leading the educational studies include Reuben Lind, extension soil conservationist; C. R. Jaccard, extension economist; Mrs. Vivian Briggs, extension family life specialist; Miss McLaugh, and Eric Tebow of the College Institute of Citizenship.

Practical demonstrations by the leaders will give delegates techniques to use in county programs, according to Miss McLaugh.

F. D. Farrell, president emeritus of the College, will address the youths at a dinner Friday evening. Following the dinner, delegates will attend a mixer in the College gymnasium.

Delegates will tour agriculture and home economics schools on the campus, the College television station and other places of interest Friday afternoon.

L. C. Williams, dean and director of extension services will speak at the annual banquet Saturday.

Firms to Interview

Representatives from four business firms will come to Kansas State this week to interview June graduates for jobs.

Business administration and arts and sciences students were interviewed yesterday by General Electric and today by Aetna Casualty and Insurance Co. Sears and Roebuck will hold interviews on Wednesday for business administration, arts and sciences and agriculture students. General Motors will conduct interviews for engineers Thursday and Friday.

Arrangements for interviews with Aetna and Sears representatives can be made in Prof. E. S. Bagley's office, 307 West Ag. The mechanical engineering office has charge of placement for engineers. Students wishing to make arrangements for an interview with General Motors can do so there.

Speaker to Discuss Home Ec Futures

Opportunities in home economics will be discussed by Miss Madge Dilts, director of the Hoover Home Institute, in C102 at 4 p.m. Thursday. Originally scheduled for seniors, the lecture has been opened to all interested students. Miss Dilts' lecture will cover fields in foods research, foods demonstration, clothing and textiles, and journalism, according to Miss Josephine Kremer, head of the household economics department.

Robert Richey and Professor O. D. Hunt maintained their individual reputations for fine scenery and expert lighting.

A Constant Worker

Results from the American Red Cross fund drive, now in the second leg of a four-week campaign, have been encouraging, drive chairmen have announced. But the drive still has three weeks to go and the quota has not nearly been reached.

During the war people gave, and gave generously every time the Red Cross put out its call. Now that the war is over, there has been a tendency to let the Red Cross go. The Red Cross doesn't need as much money now.

Red Cross doesn't need as much money now.

That is where we are wrong.

For the Red Cross the war is never over. Disasters here at home have kept the Red Cross constantly on the go. Last year alone 312 disasters, varying from destructive windstorms to life-shattering blasts, saw the Red Cross on the scene. Aid was given to 95,600 persons at a total cost of $5,332,100. Aid to families in the Texas City disaster last spring alone cost the Red Cross $1,300,000.

More than two million veteran cases, filing for claims, counseling and other assistance, were handled by the Red Cross last year; war veterans and their families received $46,442,000 in financial aid. Loans and grants through chapters to servicemen and their families totaled $5,502,382; through field directors $3,778,100.

For civilian medical use, the Red Cross distributed 1,468,215 packages of its war surplus plasma to combat measles, and 171,237 units of immune serum globulin were distributed without charge for the products. More than $1,200,000 was spent in research on blood derivatives.

The Red Cross definition of a disaster is a catastrophe affecting five or more families, but you don't have to be a victim of a disaster to be helped by the Red Cross. If there is a need, the Red Cross is ready to help anyone.

Coming closer to home, we find that during the past year the Red Cross has handled 966 cases right here at Kansas State. It has loaned $10,299 to KSC students in need of financial assistance and more than $9,000 of this has been to veteran students.

The Red Cross belongs to you and me. Let's keep it strong by participating in the 1948 Red Cross Fund campaign.

Estesburgers

The "estesburger business" is the latest project of the YMCA. The girls will sell estesburgers—short for Estes Park hamburgers—to students in organized houses during study hours every Tuesday night for the next nine weeks.

Proceeds will enable the YMCA to partly finance sending six delegates to the annual YW-YM at Estes Park in June. If enough money is raised, two freshmen, two sophomores, and two juniors will go. Billie Parkins, YMCA secretary, and Margaret Garrison, president, are directing the project. The "estesburgers" are made and delivered by YMCA members.

Student Wives Have

Special Instruction

wives of K-State students may "skin some cream" from College household management courses by attending a series of classes beginning Wednesday at 7:30 p. m. in Anderson 221, according to Miss Ellen Batchelor, organizer of the series.

This week's subject will be "Storage Problems." Miss Tessa Agran, associate professor of household economics, conducts the classes. She has requested that members of the class bring yardsticks to the meeting.

Members of the classes have abbreviated the name of their organization. Students Wives Educational Association, to SWEA.

Coaches and Cagers

Guests at Y-Smoker

Ralph Graham, football coach, Jack Gardner and the basketball team will be guests of honor at the YMCA Smoker this Saturday in Thompson Hall.

Players to Meet

Meeting of the Kansas State Players has been postponed from tonight to next Tuesday. Earl G. Hoover, dramatics instructor announced that the play "Pygmalion" will be discussed at 7:30 in G 206.

Jet Power Is Keynote in One Engineer Show

Jet power, the newest and one of the most efficient sources of energy known to the engineering world, will be the keynote of the mechanical engineering department, display at the Engineer's Open House March 19 and 20, according to on Vickers, chairman of the exhibit.

Highlighting the exhibit will be a series of eight panoramic views depicting the evolution of the jet engine. The panorama will show the first principle of power from heated air to the complex model of a modern jet engine.

Included among the various models in the display will be: Here's aerplane, a device that illustrates one of the first heat engines; a model of hot-air powered plane, a forerunner of today's jet plane; a helicopter model; a model of a V-2 rocket mounted on a launching platform; a cut-away model of a modern jet engine, and another cut-away model of a pulse jet engine used to power model planes.

In conjunction with the panorama will be a dozen transparencies that show the evolution of the jet engine from a slightly different angle than the panoramic views.

Other exhibits will include a model of a 30,000 watt turbine-generator and condensing unit to be installed at the Tecumseh, Kansas, power plant; a model of "Maxwell's Demon"; St. Pat riding on a small compressed air-powered railway train, and several model airplanes powered by carbon dioxide capsules.

STATE STATUS QUO

by Ramsey Sherwood

It was Saturday afternoon, and neither George Slushingwater, or Angus Heryford had a date for that night. Angus and George were a couple of nice guys, members of Rappa Tappa Keg fraternity, and nearly everybody had a good word for the Tappa Kegs. Since they didn't have a date for this particular Saturday, however, they asked Lady Beanie, a kid who got around more than one of attorney general Arn's agents, to fix them up.

George: We don't want anything too high class, Lady. Something on the order of the Tri Deltis, would be swell.

Lady: Don't worry mates, I'll get you a couple of gals that'll be a sight for sore eyes.

George: Heck no, not those Clavias.

Angus: Will they neck?

Lady: All girls neck if you use the right approach; if you go around the other way most of 'em will neck then too. I'll call a couple right now and get it set.

Pledge: Delta Delta Delta (monotonous, isn't it). Good evening.

Lady: Hi, beautiful, this is the answer to a damsel's dilemma, Lady Beanie.

Pledge: Just a minute, I'll call an active.

George: Heck no, not those Clavias.

Angus: Will they neck?

Lady: Don't blame you a bit. Can you fix me up with a couple of blind dates for tonight?

Cal: Well, it is kinda late, but hold the phone a minute. . . . Any you kids want a date to-night? (At this point, half the house answered with a "yeah," that was even more boisterous than a Young Republicans meeting.) I think it'll be o.k., Lady. I'll get Sal and Gert.

Lady: Good, pick you up at seven. The guys are Angus and George. You know Angus, don't you?

Cal: Sure, everybody gets together with him once in a while. See you all tonight.

Lady: You're fixed up mates, ole' Lady came through again. Couple of queens too, Gertrude Bilgewater; and Salome Sandewick.

Both staked like a brick shipyard, and a personality like Ginger Rogers.

Angus: Who cares about personality. Do they neck?

Lady: I just said all girls neck. I've just taken a survey of all the 1200 cuties on this campus, and all except one will smooch. That one belongs to UNESCO, which explains her foreign behavior.

Angus: And George, you'll have to get over your shyness tonight, just treat these gals like you would any fella you know. There's no difference.

George: What!

Lady: Ah skip it, we'll take your car George, and have a swell time. Let's go over to Junk City and camp at Tootsies. If you don't like your date, you can always pick up another one there.

(At seven that night).

Lady: O.K. smoes, we're here, now Angus, restrain yourself, and George, quit shakin'.

There's nothin' to be afraid of.

Cal: Hello George, I'd like you to meet Gertrude Bilgewater; and Angus, this is Salome Sandewick.

George: Hello.

Angus: Do you nec . . .

Lady: Let's go.

Gertrude: Where you from, what school you in, do you like K-State, what year are you, and you do have a nice car?

George: Norton, journalism, yes, junior, I sure do.

Angus: Gee, Salome I'd smack my lips at you any time.

Lady: Awfully glad you could get these guys fixed up Cal, sure we'll have fun.

Gertrude: You don't say much, do you George?

George: I'm driving.

Angus: You're the sweetest girl I've met up here yet. So different.

Salome: Oh, I'm not really.

Angus: O.K., have it your way, you're not, let's skip the preliminaries and get down to the real purpose of this outing.

Salome: O.K. let's neck.

Gertrude: George, talk to me.

George: Please, I do not like forward girls; I shoulda stayed home with the guys. Here we are at Tootsies. Angus I said here we are at Tootsies, break it up will ya? Lady, here we are at . . . What are you at it too? Is that all you guys think of, women, neckin', kissin' . . .

Hmm, doesn't sound bad, at that does it, Gertrude?

Winner Loses

Arlie Valley, sophomore in industrial journalism at Kansas State, has just figured that winning a five dollar bet when Kansas State beat Kansas University by one point cost him $48 and his temper.

Excited over the game, Bailey dropped his glasses and accidentally stepped on them. Stooping to pick up the pieces, he conked his head on a glass lamp. To top it off, he cut his hand while picking up the remains of the lamp.

State President at Hort Club Meeting

H. L. Drake of Bethel, former president of the Kansas State Horticultural Society, will speak to members of the College Horticulture Club at its meeting at 4 p. m. Thursday in D108. The meeting will be open to the public.

A former teacher of speech in a Kansas City, Mo., high school, he owns apple, peach and cherry orchards in Wyandotte County. He was state director of the Federal Agricultural census taken in 1945 and is past president of the Wyandotte County Farm Bureau.

Mr. Drake has lectured to women's clubs, men's service clubs and various business organizations regarding public relations and the field of horticulture.

CAMPUS COURTS

By Jack Waddell

Frank S. Hamlin was elected mayor of Campus Courts for the spring semester at a general meeting held in the Military Science Building last week. The retiring mayor is Wallace A. Moyle.

Hamlin of Trailer 89, was instrumental in the passing of the "Dog Act" at Campus Courts last semester. The "Dog Act" stated that all dogs found running loose in the area between 8 a. m. and 5 p. m. were to be reported to their owners, who must either tie the dog up or get rid of it. This ordinance was made necessary by the large number of dogs roaming the area endangering the safety of playing children.

Charles W. Nighswonger, College wrestling star, was unable to accompany the team on its present road trip due to confinement in the College Hospital with a cold.

Mrs. E. L. Fulton returned home from Parkview Hospital yesterday with her baby, Ellen Louise. The Fultons live in Trailer 71.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Nighswonger of trailer 67 this week were Dale and Lyle Shriver. Dale and Lyle are Mrs. Nighswonger's brothers from Colby.

Mrs. McCormick of trailer 80, returned home last week with her baby, Christine Marie. The baby is five weeks old.

Love of Horses

Leads to KSC

Love of horses led Elena Monsanto from Puerto Rico to Kansas State College. She loves horses and thought Kansas would have plenty.

"I haven't seen a horse yet!" she said yesterday. She added that her disappointment vanished as soon as she got acquainted with Kansas State College, the people and the way they live.

Elena attended the University of Puerto Rico and was graduated to the Polytechnic Institute with a bachelor's degree in chemistry. She plans to enroll next fall in architecture. At present she is teaching Spanish at the College.

Pan American Day Set for April 13

Date of the third annual observance of Pan American Day at Kansas State College is April 13. Ramuel Ramirez, chairman of the planning committee, has announced.

The event is sponsored by the College in cooperation with Club Cervantes, honorary Spanish society; the Institute of Citizenship and the Cosmopolitan club. It commemorates Western Hemisphere solidarity.

A dinner and program including an out-of-town speaker and Latin-American entertainment will be in the College Cafeteria.

Shortage of Faculty

At least 25 faculty positions at Kansas State College are unfilled, largely from lack of satisfactory housing, said A. E. Jones, College controller.

Although 163 housing units were started in Manhattan last year, 28 faculty members are in College-operated housing units this semester. A. Thornton Edwards, KSC housing director said Building permits for 29 additional units were issued in January and February this year.

New Vet School Award for Creative Activities

The Women's Auxiliary of the American Veterinary Medicine Association has established an award which the class "brain" won't be able to run away with.

Beginning next year, the Auxiliary will award $25 to a senior in each college accredited by the A. V. M. A. Council on Education. Winners will be chosen on their creative activities in their junior and senior years.

"The award should not be based on scholastic records or achievement," the qualifications state.

Vets Examined

Candidates for licenses to practice veterinary medicine were examined at the College yesterday by the State Board of Veterinary Examiners.

Board members are Dr. Bowser, Topeka; Dr. Richardson, Ft. Scott; and Dr. Hart, Hiawatha.

Eisenhower, Weber to Address Meet

President Milton S. Eisenhower and Dr. A. D. Weber, head of the animal husbandry department, will speak at the annual convention of the Kansas Livestock Association in Topeka this week.

The three-day conference, Tuesday through Thursday, will feature "Production and Conservation of Livestock" the first day; "Transportation and Marketing" the second; and "Political and Economic Trends as They Affect the Livestock Industry" the final day.

President Eisenhower will talk on "The European Situation and Livestock" the final day Dr. Weber will discuss the economics of production and livestock feeding.

Music Club Installs

Mu Phi Epsilon, national honorary music sorority, held installation services for the newly elected officers of the coming year, March 2, at the home of Mrs. Geraldine Beam.

Officers installed were: President, Jerry Gatz; Vice President, Geraldine Beam; Recording and Corresponding Secretary, Elizabeth Mustard; Treasurer, Juanita Silva; Historian, Mary Henson; Choirster, Patricia Moll; Warden, Inez Strutt; Chaplain and Alumnae Secretary, Elizabeth Ann Wilcox.

KSC Press Expands

The Kansas State College press will expand to another room in the basement of Kedzie Hall, according to E. T. Keith, superintendent.

The additional room, now being constructed by the building and repair department of the College, will house the bindery and additional printing equipment.

Camp Jobs Still Oper for Home Ec Women

Women with a home economics background may still apply at the Dean of Women's Office for summer jobs at Camp Nagawicka, a resort sponsored by St. John's Military Academy near Delafield, Wisconsin.

Positions are still open for home economics majors and women with two years of dietetics or foods. As waitresses, cooks or counselors, they will get practical experience, Dean Moore said. They will have use of all recreational facilities at the camp. Girls receive pay for their services, room, board and transportation to and from camp.

Contracts will be mailed soon to successful applicants among the 45 women who were recently interviewed for jobs. No contracts have been received yet.

Hort Club Elects

Hobart Falen was recently elected president of the Kansas State College Horticulture Club. Other officers elected are Eugene Moffatt, vice president; Kenneth Bell, secretary; Bob Chapin, treasurer; Edward Chandler, program chairman.

R. J. Barnett, professor emeritus in the horticulture department, was voted an honorary life-time membership in the club.

Council Conducts Entertainment Poll

The type of place students would like to have for dining and dancing will be determined by a survey which the student council is taking. The Civic Affairs Committee has requested the council to question as many students as possible on the subject.

The proposed questions are: (1) Would you like a clean place in town to eat and dance? (2) Would you spend the whole evening there or just go after a show? (3) What would you like served? (4) How much do you usually spend on a week-end date? (5) If you had a place to go, how often would you go? (6) Where would you like it located, near the college or down town?

Irvine Gandee was appointed to replace Leonard Wood on the Student Council at its last regular meeting. Wood has resigned because he is now in graduate school.

The Council also proposed that the general election for the 1948-49 Student Council be held April 15.

Koupal to Be Tenor Soloist for Messiah

Richard Koupal will be tenor soloist in the Manhattan Civic Chorus presentation of the "Messiah" March 21. Luther Leavengood, director of the choir, has announced.

Koupal, who is teaching voice at the University of Nebraska, has appeared in Nebraska presentations of the "Messiah" several times in the past.

During his service with the Navy, Koupal played with navy bands. He has appeared as tenor soloist in "Pagliacci", "Cavalleria Rusticana", "Carmen", "Elijah", "Creation", and "Seven Last Words of Christ".

CAMPUS
CAPERS

Hi everybody! Another big week-end, and now back to another hard week of school. Now that five-weeks' classes are over, we can all take a deep breath and start looking forward to the Easter holidays. You know, the Campus Book Store has a wonderful assortment of Easter cards, and you'd better come in and get yours before they're all gone. We have real cute ones for every member of the family—and then some! . . . . . Gee, with K-State having such a wonderful basketball team, it seems even some of our pretty coeds have the bug to play! We understand Shirley King and Bev Hayes have the art of handling the ball almost perfected. Is this true, Marshall? . . . I don't know why it is, but everytime I mention tennis, it starts snowing. Maybe this time I can confuse old man winter by talking about tennis when snow is still on the ground! We have in lots of new tennis rackets, and with men who know tennis rackets best, it's Spalding, 2 to 1! We also have a brand new tennis racket stringing machine. Since I'm a girl, and am not mechanically inclined, I don't know exactly how the thing works, but believe me, it really gets the job done with precision! So if you have any rackets that need restringing, bring them in and we'll get the job done in no time! . . . he SAE's held their Founders Day party in the Flame Room Saturday night, and it was quite the affair. Vocal talent was displayed by Bob Larberg, and Kenny Hunt tells us he is very active! What did he mean? . . . . . You know, Easter is a wonderful time to do a special something for that "special someone" you kinda like. How about giving him or her a pen and pencil set? Here at the Campus Book Store we have some Sheaffer pen and pencil sets that are

Fansher, McClellan are Loop Champs

Coach "Red" Reynard's grapplers wound up their wrestling season by bringing home fourth place in the Big Seven wrestling meet last week in Boulder, Colorado. The Oklahoma Sooners, who defeated the Wildcats by two points earlier in the year came out on top to win the meet. Nebraska, coached by "Pat" Patterson, former K-State mat mentor, took second place honors and Iowa State, defending champs, finished third.

Verle McClellan, 136-pounder, and Stan Fansher, 145-pound K-State captain, were the two title winners for Kansas State. This is the second consecutive year that Fansher has won the 145-pound crown. McClellan was Big Six champ in 1940, when he was a sophomore on the same team with Coach "Red" Reynard.

Coach's Praise

Coach Reynard had nothing but praise for his boys. "They all did a good job," he said, "and with a couple of breaks we could have finished nearer the top." Joe Blanchard, heavyweight, suffered a broken leg in his semi-final match and Charley Nighswonger, 128-lb. class, was left at home in the hospital with a severe cold. "The high altitude at Boulder took its toll on the wrestlers' endurance," Reynard said, "and after a round or two all of the boys were puffing a little."

K-Staters Outstanding

The general consensus of opinion among the coaches present was that McClellan and Fansher were easily the outstanding wrestlers of the meet, according to Reynard. McClellan won his final match 5-1 for his closest bout, and had more trouble catching his opponents than putting them on the mat. The other outstanding wrestler was Glen Brand, Iowa State, 175-pounder, who also retained his title.

The 1948 conference champions are:

- 121 lb.—Yammar, Nebraska.
- 128 lb.—Wise, Oklahoma.
- 136 lb.—McClellan, Kansas State.
- 145 lb.—Fansher, Kansas State.
- 155 lb.—Marquette, Oklahoma.
- 165 lb.—Eagleton, Oklahoma.
- 175 lb.—Brand, Iowa State.
- Kivvy—Di Blase, Nebraska.

Rick's Folks-dot "Ungles" a Lucky Charm—

Harman Provides Punch for Champion Wildcats

By JOE HENDERSON

A big reason for K-State's phenomenal climb from the bottom to the top of the conference basketball ladder is Rick Harman, Wildcat forward. Always an aggressive rebounder and floor man, Rick has come into his own this year as a point maker. He is currently leading the Purple and White offense with an average of 11.1 points a game in conference competition. He has hit 43% of his shots to lead in the accuracy department.

Rick fits into Coach Gardner's fast break system like a hand into a glove. A 220-yard dash man in track, he makes the length of the basketball court in nothing flat. His favorite shot is a drive-in under the basket, and as any Big Seven guard will testify, nothing stops him when he starts for the hoop.

Averaged 21 Points
When Rick was a senior in Holston high school, he poured an average of 21 points a game through the net to lead his team to the state class A basketball championship. "College ball is a lot different from high school ball," Rick says. "You have to be on your toes and really move fast." He was awarded nine letters in high school. Besides basketball, he starred in football and track. On the football team he played tailback and in track he carried home 36 medals.

Rick has a friendship with his Clarence Brannum, Wildcat pivot man, that is just as strong off the court as when they are playing. Last summer Rick and Clarence spent the vacation working together at an oil field in Rick's home town. Rick recalls one particularly hot day when he remarked, "I hope our basketball team is as hot this year as this shovel handle is now." From all indications that handle was plenty hot.

Has a Superstition
Like most athletes Harman has his superstitions. Rick is a fan of blue, polka-dot shorts which he maintains, never fail him. "We've never lost a game that I've worn these shorts to," he says. "I thought the job was up at KU last week, but our

Cat Shotputter Sets New Mark

Setting new meet records seems to be the habit with Rollin Prather, big Wildcat shotput artist. In Saturday's Intercollegiate Indoor Track Meet at East Lansing, Mich., Prather set a new meet record with a shotput heave of 52 feet 2 1/2 inches. The old record was of long standing, having been set by James Delaney with a toss of 50 feet 5 7/8 inches in 1923. Previously, Prather set a meet record in the Municipal Auditorium in Kansas City, chucking the iron ball 52 feet, 4 3/8 inches.

Notre Dame, winner of the meet 14 times in the 21 year history of the event, came in second in the two-way battle for top honors. Michigan State grabbed wins in six events to top the list.

Winners and scores:
Michigan 61 11-14; Notre Dame 51 1-5; Michigan Normal 21 9-10; Miami of Ohio 12 1-5; Marquette 10 1-7; Kansas State 8; Wayne 6 12-35; Bradley 5; Drake 5; Loyola 5; Bowling Green 4; Western Michigan 2; Chicago 2; Central Michigan 1-7; Albion 1-7; Heidelberg (Ohio) 1-7.

Cyclones Repeat to Take Swim Crown

The Iowa State Cyclones collected a total of 80 points Saturday at Lincoln to successfully defend their Big Seven Conference swimming crown. In winning, Iowa took all the events except the 50 and 100 yard free styles, which were won by Marvin Grimm of Nebraska.

Nebraska was second with 39 points; third, Oklahoma, 27 points; fourth, Colorado, 15 points; fifth, Kansas 9 points; last, Kansas State, 2 points.

Blanchard Hurt

Joe Blanchard, Wildcat wrestler and football star, was the victim of a track accident at the Big Seven conference wrestling meet last week. Joe broke his leg in the first 30 seconds of his semi-final heavyweight match with Dab of Iowa State.

The injury was a clean break and definitely an accident, according to Coach "Red" Reynard. Joe is in the Community Hospital at Boulder, Colo.

"It was tough luck for Joe and a bad break for the team," commented Reynard. "Joe was a cinch for second place in the heavyweight division and had a good chance to win."

The injury occurred when Blanchard attempted a take down on Iowa State's Dab.

Spring Practice Starts Tuesday for Cat Gridmen

Kansas State's new football regime will begin building for the 1948 grid season next week with the opening of spring practices. Ralph Graham, new head coach of the Wildcats, announced Friday that workouts will begin on March 16, weather permitting. "Every position on the 1948 squad is wide open and those players who show the most ability will be in there next year," Graham declared. "We want every able-bodied man in school to try for the team. No position is finished and as far as I am concerned, it's dog eat dog."

Spring practice will continue for six calendar weeks, Graham said. A conference ruling limits the length of the off-season workouts, he explained. "We'll start working at 3:30 and finish at 5:30 every afternoon. I am a believer in short well organized practice sessions," commented the new coach. "We'll have none of those long drawn out practices. Every man will be kept busy while he is on the field."

Twenty-five lettermen from last year's non-victorious team will form the nucleus of the spring squad, with 47 outstanding freshmen bottling to gain a position on the team. The first few days of the spring workouts will be spent in explaining the single wing system and the variations to be used next year, according to the new head mentor.

All of the new coaches have reported for work and the staff has been holding meetings and laying plans for the spring sessions since March 1. Much of the time in recent weeks has been spent getting acquainted with prospective gridmen.

"We know we have a tough job facing us, but there is no question in my mind but that we'll get it done," Graham asserted. "My goal for next year is to win one game, but we'll be in there playing every game to win. We are going to need the full support of the students, faculty, alumni, townspeople, and every other person who is interested in Kansas State football," the Wildcat gridiron boss declared.

The 19-year-old Harman is a sophomore with two years of cage play remaining before he graduates. He wants to be an industrial chemist and takes his school work as seriously as his basketball. Right now he possesses a two-point average in the classroom which is almost as good as his average under the basket.

Rick's popularity on the campus was evidenced when he was runner-up to the King of Hearts at the recent Heart Throb Dance. Yet, modesty is one of Rick's outstanding traits. During the Heart Throb campaign, he was in a continual state of embarrassment and after absorbing a terrific kidding, he warned his fraternity brothers "If anyone says hearts to me again, I'm leaving town."

Second Team
Dan Pippin, Missouri F Ray Wehde, Iowa State
Hal Hovey, K-State F Bob Rolander, Colorado
Bill Waters, Oklahoma C Jerry Waugh, Kansas
Thornton Jenkins, Missouri G Ken Pryor, Oklahoma
Jack Dean, K-State G Paul Merchant, Okla.

HONORABLE MENTION

Forwards: Retherford, Cox, Nebraska; Roy Wehde, I-State; Eskridge, Kansas; Krone, K-State; Hills, Colorado.
Centers: Besemann, Colorado; Fowler, Haynes, Missouri; Whitehead, Nebraska.
Guards: Mosser, Nebraska; Walseth, Beattie, Colorado; Peterson, Norman, Iowa State; Pierpoint, McMillen, Missouri; Houchin, Kansas; Langton, K-State.

Selecting an all-Star team from the bevy of talented players in the Big Seven conference this year is like picking the five brightest stars in a midsummer night's sky. But since it is a tradition with sports staffs everywhere to stick their necks out, the Collegian will be no exception.

Here is our version of the 1948 all-Big-Seven team.

Manning the forwards on our mythical squad are Oklahoma's Paul "Lefty" Courty and K-State's own Rick Harman, County, the league's current scoring leader, certainly deserves a spot on any all-star team. His shooting and rebounding have been a major factor in keeping Oklahoma in the race. Fans here will remember him in the role of the accurate shooting villain who looped in a last second basket to hand the Wildcats their only defeat on the home boards this season.

Harman wins our vote for the other forward position on his terrific aggressiveness and hustle. Rick is a great rebounder and a fine point maker. Although he may lack the spectacular style of such men as Hal Hovey and Dan Pippin, Rick gets the nod for his drive and his consistently brilliant play when the chips are down.

The choice at center was a difficult one. Clarence Brannum and Oklahoma's Bill Waters are both great. While Waters appears to be the better shot from the post, Brannum steals the limelight with his rebounding, defensive work, and his ability to come through under pressure. Brannum has played the greater part of the season under pressure that no other man in the loop has to bear. Therefore "Big Clancy" of the Wildcats gets the pivot job.

At the guards, it was one man head and shoulders above everyone in the conference. The Wildcats' Howard Shannon demonstrated, by his consistently brilliant play, that he is easily the best guard in the loop. Shannon's graceful court style has captured the eye of nearly every fan around the circuit. His deadly shooting and astute defensive play gave the Wildcats a tremendous boost toward the title.

Rounding out the top five is Kansas' Otto Schnellbacher. Otto, a three time all-conference selection, just can't be left out. He's the mainspring of the KU offense and one of the loop's top scorers. His appearance in the Kansas lineup made all the difference in the world to the Jayhawk team. Schnellbacher is without doubt one of the greatest court stars of the season.

Not listed on the first team, but definitely equal in ability, are the five second team choices. The team of Pippin, Hovey, Waters, Jenkins, and Dean could stand up against any squad in the nation.

Like we said before, it's a tough job to pick five men and say, "they're the best," when the conference is full of great ball players. These are merely our selections—you are welcome to make your own.

Four K-Staters Receive Honors

At least four members of the Big Seven champion Wildcats have already received all-star mention from various sources despite the fact that K-State still hasn't completed the cage season.

Hal Hovey, Rick Harman, Clarence Brannum, and Howard Shannon have been selected by the United Press for all-conference honors. Shannon and Brannum were named to the UP first team while Hovey and Harman man the second team forwards.

Collegiate Magazine has selected Hovey and Shannon as members of their all-Midwest cage team.

The same four men have been mentioned as all-star material by several newspapers and radio stations.

Coach Henry Iba of the Oklahoma Aggies seems to be taking next Monday's play-off battle with the Wildcats seriously.

When the Cats met the Oklahoma Sooners at Norman last night, Iba and his entire basketball squad were among the interested spectators.

Intramurals

Men's intramural volleyball play is progressing rapidly and the third round of play is beginning. L. P. Washburn, director of intramurals, said today.

Tuesday's results were Sigma Phi Epsilon over Delta Sigma Phi, Phi Delta Theta beat Theta Xi, Kappa beat appa Alpha Psi, Alpha Tau Omega beat Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Alpha appa Lambda beat Phi appa Alpha and Delta Tau Delta over Farm House.

On Thursday the Set-Ups defeated the Baptist Students, Sigma Nu won from Beta Theta Pi, Wesley Foundation downed Poultry Club, Alpha Gamma Rho beat Acacia, Gamma Delta won from Y. M. C. A., and Tau Kappa Epsilon beat Kappa Sigma.

Friday's results were Boozdoes over Black Cats, Sigma Phi Nothing over Ag. Ed. Club, P. E. M. over A. V. M. A., Gutterbums over L. S. A., Gung-Ho Kids over Amistad and Delta Tau Delta over Alpha Tau Omega.

Women's Basketball

Girls played the first basketball game held at Kansas State in 1901 and now they are at it again. Tomorrow night 15 women's intramural teams will begin play in the girls basketball tournament, according to Kathryn McKinney, asst. prof. of physical education for women.

Games tomorrow night are Alpha Delta Pi vs. Van Zile Hall and Alpha Xi Delta vs. Bliz Babes. Games scheduled for Thursday are Kappa Kappa Gamma vs. Keim's Kabana and Clovia vs. East Stadium.

The 15 teams have been divided into groups. Each group will play a round robin schedule and the winners will meet for the championship.

The brackets are group I—Alpha Delta Pi, Chi Omega, Pi Beta Phi and Van Zile Hall Group II—Alpha Xi Delta, Alpha Chi Omega, Bliz Babes and The Barb's. Group III—Kappa Kappa Gamma, Kappa Delta, Waltham Hall and Keim's Kabana. Group IV—Delta Delta Delta, Clovia and East Stadium.

What a Record! . . . It's ART MOONEY's hot arrangement of "I'm Looking Over a Four Leaf Clover"

(An MGM release)

"Four-leaf clover" has turned into a real four leaf clover for ark-pilot, Art Mooney. His record is keeping jukes in clover.

An experienced hand in the music biz—Art follows that famous experience rule in the choice of a cigarette, too. "I've smoked many different brands and compared," says Art, "and Camels suit me best."

Try Camels! Discover for yourself why, with smokers who have tried and compared, Camels are the "choice of experience!"

SOCIETY

AT STATE

Whether icy and cold or sunny and warm there is always something going on in the social whirl of a college campus. Dan Cupid doesn't seem to be bothered by this variable Kansas weather either. For our evidence we give you the social happenings on the K-State campus over the week-end.

Esther Page passed chocolates last night to girls of Skywood Hall announcing her engagement to Dick Knowlton.

The Delta Tau Delta fraternity celebrated Founders Day this Sunday. Twenty-eight alumni from in and around Manhattan were present for dinner. Following dinner, scholarship awards in recognition for outstanding grades, were given to Sidney Reeb and Dean Kays.

The Beta's have done it again! Don Tarver, Ag journalist, from Memphis, Texas, passed cigars to his brothers Friday night, announcing his engagement to Marty Allen, also from Texas. Marty is attending Baylor University at Waco, Texas.

Pe Sin Su, Chinese graduate student studying home economics, was a dinner guest at Waltham Hall Sunday. Pe Sin is from Nanking.

Girls of Chatterbox and their dates enjoyed a St. Patrick's party Saturday night. A line party at the show was followed by cards and a chili supper at the house.

Decorations included green crepe paper ceilings and chandeliers and shamrock place cards. A large three leaf clover of crepe paper which was filled with pop corn made up the table center piece.

Chocolates! shouted the Kappa Delta and they discovered that Marceline Kline's pin was chained to that of Ed Hauber, Pi Kappa Alpha, from Kansas City. Marceline is from Hutchinson. The traditional lines were held for the couple.

The Wareham Crystal room was the scene of the AGR Pink Rose dinner. Loving cups bearing the AGR inscription were given as favors.

Following the dinner couples danced to the music of Matt Betton's band at the Community House. In the center of the ballroom was a pink rose garden surrounded by a white picket fence. Along the walls were white trellises covered with pink roses. Miniature couples sat in swings beneath a false sky of blue streamers. Behind the bandstand on a gold background were the Greek fraternity letters.

In the receiving line were: Dennis Goetsch, Donna Ashlock, Mrs. Kipker, Hal Ramsbottom, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Ashlock, Mrs. Kipker, Hal Ramsbottom, Mr. and Mrs. J.

D. Smerchek and Mr. and Mrs. J. Willett Taylor.

Officers and pledges of Chi Omega sorority attended an annual alumnae tea Sunday at the home of Mrs. Ruth Dufina. Alumnae of the sorority were hostesses.

Norma Heikes, a freshman in home economics and nutrition, has been elected vice president of Moore th' Merrier.

Dr. and Mrs. Hodges were dinner guests of Alpha Kappa Lambda fraternity house Sunday. Dr. Hodges is an honorary member of the fraternity.

Alpha Tau Omega fraternity members entertained their dates Sunday night with a buffet dinner dance at the chapter house.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Linn and Dr. and Mrs. A. D. Weber were guests of Farmhouse Sunday.

Sunday dinner guests at the Sigma Phi Epsilon house were the Rev. and Mrs. Herbert Cockerill, Mr. and Mrs. Verne Boyd, R. M. Sears of Topeka, and Dr. Kirk Hoernman, an alum from Baker University.

Naola Criswell from Sacred Heart College, Wichita, and Fernand Can, St. Mary's College, Xavier, were guests at the Kappa Delta house over the week-end. The two girls appeared in the production given by the Kansas State Sodality Union.

Week-end guests at the Sig Ep house were Bob Jennings, Gary Stearns and Delbert Schuster all from Topeka.

Collegiate 4-H will have a skating party tonight at the skating rink on Highway 13 across from the viaduct. Skating will start at 7 p. m. According to president John Sjo, several cars will leave from Anderson Hall at 6:45 p. m. for those without transportation. Chaperons will be Mrs. Gladys Gough and Glenn Bussett.

Downtown VA Closes

An additional load will be thrown on the VA Guidance Center when the downtown Veterans Administration Office closes March 31. L. W. Henning, Chief of the Guidance Center, said that the center, which is located in Anderson Hall, will continue to function as usual for College veterans and others who need assistance. Some shift in personnel is expected, according to Henning.

Veterans' Wives Plan Picnic on April 14

Plans have been made for a picnic on April 14 for all members of the College Veterans Wives' Association, according to Mrs. D. L. Leslie, president. The picnic will take the place of the regular monthly meeting and will be held in the city park. Chairman for the occasion is Mrs. Philip R. Rude.

A party may be held in April for members and their husbands. The time and place will be decided at the March 10 meeting in Calvin lounge. Mrs. Howard Babb is chairman for the party committee. Suggested theme is an April Fools party.

Mrs. Leslie urged that all those interested come to the meeting Wednesday for complete details.

Bible Courses Given

Four new courses will be offered to K-State students next fall by the Manhattan Bible College, Dr. T. H. Johnson, president of the Bible College, has announced. These courses can be used as credit against graduation.

Subjects and titles of the courses will be released at a later date.

2,000 in Home Study

Enrollment in home study courses through Kansas State College is at its highest in history, Dr. George Gemmell, head of the department, announced.

More than 2,000 persons are enrolled in home study courses, he said. Ninety percent of them are from outside the college. The students are largely rural teachers working for 60-hour certificates, high school and college students supplementing their regular study loads and a few students waiting for housing conditions to ease, Gemmell said.

KSC Profs Attend Meeting in Wichita

Speakers at a meeting of truck gardeners and seed dealers in Wichita Thursday were Dr. O. H. Elmer, associate professor of botany and plant pathology and W. G. Amstein, professor of horticulture.

Dr. Elmer discussed production of sweet potatoes and control of sweet potato diseases. Professor Amstein discussed varieties of sweet corn and weed control by means of chemical sprays. In his talk he told of several new sprays to control weeds in truck gardens without injuring the vegetables.

KSC Band to Play

The Kansas State Concert Band will present in its second concert appearance of the year Sunday, a varied program of band music, including ballet music, marches, and symphonies. Five of the seven numbers are by American composers. The entire second half of the program consists of music written originally for bands by contemporary Americans.

It is unusual to have a large proportion of a concert consist of music written originally for band. Director Jean Hedlund stated. This type of music is not plentiful, he added. Most band music is transcribed from orchestral or piano literature.

Instructor Attends Washington Meeting

Miss Nina Edelblute, instructor in the Department of Institutional Management, left today for Washington, D. C. where she will attend a three day workshop set up for the purpose of planning co-operative research on school lunch management. This is part of a regional project to study the nutritional status of children. Those present will include representatives from the University of Ohio and Iowa State College, who will meet with the members of the Bureau of Human Nutrition and Home Economics.

Miss Edelblute supervises the school lunch program in the Manhattan public schools.

Otto of Austria to Speak at All-School Assembly

Otto of Austria will speak at an all-College assembly Monday, A. L. Pugsley, dean of administration, has announced. Topic of his lecture is "Christian Democracy or Communism."

Otto and his brother, Archduke Felix, were among the first to go underground to fight Hitler. During the early days of Hitler's conquest, Otto, in France, issued a proclamation to the Austrian people to fight Hitler by underground methods. He was tried in absentia by a German court and condemned to death.

Otto was born November 20, 1912, in Reichenau, Province of Lower Austria. He is the son of Charles, Emperor of Austria and King of Hungary, and Empress Zita, born Princess of Bourbon.

At 21 he was graduated from the University of Louvain, Belgium, with a doctor of political science. He also studied in Switzerland, Spain and France. He Otto of Austria is author of a book on farming legislation in the Austrian Alps and another dealing with political doctrine.

He moved to Washington, D. C. in 1940 and worked with other central European leaders for a United Nations. Returning to Europe in the fall of 1944, Otto made study and research trips through North Africa and the Near East, including Greece, Turkey and Egypt.

He has visited every state in the United States, has spoken at Town Hall meetings in New York, Detroit, Cleveland, Toledo and Indianapolis. He has lectured at many colleges and universities in the United States.

Otto's childhood was spent in imperial castles in Vienna and Budapest. Following the revolution of 1919, his father went to Switzerland and later the island of Madeira, Portuguese Africa.

Otto will be the guest of President Milton S. Eisenhower at a stag dinner Sunday evening at the President's home and at an informal luncheon in the College cafeteria Monday noon.

Class Schedule
7:00-7:50 will meet 7:00-7:40
8:00-8:50 will meet 7:50-8:30
9:00-9:50 will meet 8:40-9:20

Assembly
10:00-10:50 will meet 10:30-11:05
11:00-11:50 will meet 11:15-11:50

do and Indianapolis. He has lectured at many colleges and universities in the United States.

Sunday Concert by College Band

Members of the College band will be in for a busy time these next few days beginning Sunday. Students and townspeople will hear the concert band present their winter concert in the auditorium at 4 p.m.

On Monday, the 100-piece band will gather in the auditorium for a last minute rehearsal at 1 p.m. and at 2, they will leave in three chartered busses from in front of the Canteen for Kansas City. There they will play for the game between Kansas State and Oklahoma A & M Monday evening. The band will arrive back in Manhattan around 1 a.m. Tuesday morning.

On Wednesday, the band will broadcast over KSAC between 4:30 and 5 p.m.

The complete program for Sunday's concert is as follows: Russian Sailors' Dance, Gliere; March from "Two American Sketches," Grisele; Symphony in B-flat Major (Two Movements), Chausson; Symphony in C Minor (Second Movement), Williams; Legend, Creston; Hymn and Fuguing Tune No. 1, Cowell; Variations on a Theme of Purcell, Malin.

Costume Ball Is at Avalon Tonight

Students' costumes may vary from tuxedos to Tarzan outfits at the International Costume Ball at 9 p. m. tonight in the Avalon ballroom. Costumes may represent any nation or station of life—including that of the American college student.

Matt Betton's first band will play. The Avalon has been decorated to carry out the international theme. The best costume will receive a prize.

Tamara Chajass from Palestine, will give a modern ballet demonstration at intermission. Her accompanist will be Reine Mehl, Mexico. Other numbers will include Hawaiian songs; a piano solo by Louis Ibarquen, Bolivia; and numbers from American musicals sung by Ivan Rundus. Gus Rosania, Panama, will be master of ceremonies.

CARDWELL SAYS RUSSIAN SCIENCE IS EXCELLENT

"Anyone attempting to belittle Russia's place in the world of science makes himself utterly ridiculous," Dr. A. B. Cardwell, head of the physics department, said Tuesday. "Even those of us who are in no way sympathetic with the Communist system must be honest and admit that Russia has capable and productive scientists."

Dr. Cardwell spoke at the tenth in the series of 11 lectures on Russia and the United States presented by the Institute of Citizenship.

"In spite of the lack of thoroughly reliable information, it must be acknowledged that Russia today has some of the best trained scientists in the world. Contributions of Russian scientists in all fields are impressive," Dr. Cardwell said.

Will Russian Science Flourish?
An important question about Russian science to the United States and the rest of the world, according to Doctor Cardwell is:

Under the Russian system will science continue to flourish and become more productive and vigorous, or will the scientific efforts of its potential scientists be stifled?

To answer this question, Doctor Cardwell pointed out, non-Russians should know about the present educational system which will produce the Russian scientist of tomorrow. They should also understand the system and conditions under which scientists work in Russia, he added.

Russian Scientific Skill Great
Emphasizing Russia's scientific skill and accomplishments, Dr. Cardwell pointed out three things:

1. She designed and produced 70 percent of all the war implements and weapons which she effectively used during the last war.

2. She has expanded and strengthened her industrial empire and built up an entire new and vast one in the region north of Mongolia and Manchuria.

3. Her methods of producing steel are far more economical than others in the world.

Cleaning, Haircut, Shampoo are Prizes

Prizes to be given at the YWCA carnival Saturday will be practical, according to Miss Billie Parkins, YWCA secretary. They will be awarded at the contest booths.

Haircuts will be given from the Aggieville barbershops and a shampoo and haircut from an Aggieville beauty shop. Free dry cleaning and shoe repair will be won. The local department stores will donate gifts and cakes will be given from Manhattan bakeries.

Art Garaneson, a professional auctioneer, will be in charge of the faculty auction. After the auction there will be a dance presented by Fran Schneider.

Tickets for the booths may not be purchased before the carnival but will be sold at the door from 8 p.m. until 12 p.m. George Gress and Jerry Gatz, are co-chairmen for the carnival.

KC Pep Rally

K-State cheerleaders and pep clubs will hold a special pre-game pep rally in the union station in Kansas City, at 7 p. m., one hour and fifteen minutes before the tip-off of the Kansas State-Oklahoma A & M basketball game.

Students are urged by the pep clubs, to bring all the noisemakers and lung power they possess to help the Wildcats five defeat A & M.

The cheerleaders also hope to introduce the wildcat, new team mascot, if circumstances permit.

Vicious Circle Causes Grief

Psychological adjustments in marriage, must be made when a man and woman decide to live together as a result of psychological attraction, Dr. Karl Menninger declared in a lecture to Kansas State students Monday night. Doctor Menninger, head of the Menninger Psychiatric Foundation and Winter General Hospital, Topeka, was four in the College courtship and marriage lecture series.

"Divorces," Dr. Menninger told his audience, "are the result of an unendurable amount of frustration in family relations." Wives of men in our society are considerably frustrated, he said. "Boys are frustrated by their mothers. In turn they frustrate their wives. Mothers frustrate their children. This goes on in a vicious circle. The result is, he summarized, that marriages are too often unhappy."

Offers Solution
The solution Menninger offered to the vicious circle is the greater use of work and play for diversion of aggressive impulses.

Too many men are dependent on their mothers, Menninger said. "Mothers should make their offspring learn to figure out their problems for themselves," he advised.

"An executive woman often makes an excellent wife for a passive man. A domineering husband who was dominated by his mother needs a wife with elastic personality," the psychiatrist admonished.

Advice Resisted
Education for marriage is often conducted against resistance, Doctor Menninger brought out. "It is hard to accept the truth if it differs from our prejudices. Students avoid studying books that by authors who disagree with their line of thinking."

Doctor Menninger answered questions from members of his audience after his lecture. To one question he answered that children of unhappily married parents can often find happiness in marriage themselves. "Unhappiness in marriage is not hereditary," he pointed out.

He replied to another question that reading popular fiction in magazines has no effect on a married union. Asked a definition of love, he answered that "love is more than respect—it is a positive mutual attraction."

Grad to Talk

Arlene Shields, graduate of Kansas State in 1943, will talk to seniors and girls interested in home economics and business at 4 p. m. Thursday in Calvin 9. The talk will be substituted for regular home economics lectures.

Miss Shields recently resigned as home economist for Libby, McNeil and Libby.

Stores Close

Because of the acute shortage of gas for heating, many business establishments in Manhattan and Aggieville will be closed until noon today in compliance with Chamber of Commerce's request. The Retail Policy committee of the civic group asked all business places, if possible, to close their doors and shut off all heat from 6 p. m. yesterday until noon today in an effort to conserve fuel.

R. F. Gingrich, superintendent of building and repair, said that the main college buildings will not be affected by the shortage of gas, since the College is now being heated by fuel oil. There are over 130,000 gallons of fuel oil in reserve. However, Gingrich said that the College is trying to conserve gas in college housing units that are heated individually by gas.

THE 1948 BIG SEVEN CHAMPS take time out from practice for the NCAA play-off with Oklahoma A & M Monday night in Kansas City, to pose for the photographer.

Summer Jobs Open for College Students

Applications for summer employment in federal government service should be submitted to the YMCA office today, according to W. E. West, YMCA secretary.

The National Bureau of Standards, Naval Ordnance Laboratory and Naval Research Laboratory have announced openings for college students of junior standing who are majoring in chemistry, engineering, mathematics, metallurgy, physics and meteorology.

The jobs are on a probationary federal civil service status. Leave time is extended to attend college so that the positions will be open for the next summer.

The Department of Agriculture and several other government bureaus are offering student assistantships with salaries from $30 to $40 a week. Washington D. C. Public Library also has job openings.

Assistant directors on District Playgrounds are needed this summer. Deadline for applying is Monday. Students may obtain full time jobs in government agencies through the Washington Student Citizenship Seminar. Full details about this program and other summer positions may be obtained in the YMCA office.

Basketball Movie Presented Tonight

A movie of the Kansas State-Canisius basketball game will be shown tonight in the College Auditorium from 7:30 to 8:30. Tickets are on sale in Anderson today and at the Auditorium tonight.

LEARN TO GET ALONG WITH MOTHER-IN-LAW

Counseling Bureau Group Studies Human Relations

By Jim Orton

Do you really understand and know how to get along with your wife . . . your brother . . . your boss . . . your parents . . . perhaps it's one of your teachers? The Counseling Bureau is introducing a new service in teaching KSC students how to handle such relationships more successfully.

"We feel that all college students can profit by training in human relations," explained Dr. M. D. Woolf, Director of the Counseling Bureau, discussing the purposes of the Human Relations Forum or Seminar, the new service sponsored by the Counseling Bureau.

Any student or faculty member or members of their immediate families may join this informal group which will meet every Thursday night. Doctor Woolf pointed out. It is not a course or a lecture series. It is simply another approach toward assisting people to become more skilled in human relations. The emphasis, however, will be upon training in how to get along with others and each session will be devoted to whatever subject the group desires.

Individual, group and community problems of interpersonal relations including parental marriage relations, employer-employee relations, leadership problems, housing problems and

Student Triangle

A student triangle which probably can't be matched anywhere else on the campus is found in Dr. Fred Partridge's history of religious class.

Glenna Wilson was surprised to see Bob Deam and Martha Caldwell as fellow students in the course. Bob was her student when she taught in a Riley County rural school. Martha was her teacher last year in a college clothing course.

S. A. Nock Resigns K-State Position

In a surprise move Monday, Dr. S. A. Nock announced his resignation as director of admissions at the College. Dr. Nock is taking a position with an Eastern college.

President Milton S. Eisenhower has accepted the resignation, but it has not been approved by the Board of Regents. A successor to Dr. Nock is expected to be announced within the next four weeks. The resignation will not become effective until the end of the present semester.

Dr. Nock has been at Kansas State for 12 years. He came to the College in 1936 as vice-president and was later made director of admissions and put in charge of the registrar's office.

A graduate of Haverford College, Dr. Nock later received his Ph. D. from the University of Tartu in Estonia, Europe. He is the author of several textbooks used in German schools, and has written reviews for the Saturday Review of Literature and other publications.

Organize Peace

The purpose of the United Nations and UNESCO is to organize peace, economically and socially, so as to outlaw war, he declared. The questions of a United Nations police force, court of justice and others are complex problems. But he believes that if our efforts are put in the right direction, war will wither and peace will flourish.

UNESCO has a six point program for 1948, he pointed out. This program as worked out at the Mexico City conference last fall is:

1. Reconstruction—to aid devastated peoples to rebuild and get back on their feet.
2. Communication—the exchange of knowledge and libraries.
3. Education—to aid fundamental education, conduct an international seminar on UNESCO and develop the educational program of devastated countries.
4. Cultural Exchange—exchange the best products of the world's cultures.
5. Human and social relations—promote better relations between people of the world.
6. Natural science—stimulate scientific development.

"The United Nations may govern," Arnold said. Some day grow into a world "Time is all that is needed. The race now is between education and extinction." The complicated machinery of the United Nations will become simpler as experience and efficiency increase, he said.

Judging Team Places Fourth in Oklahoma Many Complaints About Allotment of Game Tickets

The livestock judging team placed fourth in the Oklahoma City Junior Livestock Show Monday. Teams representing colleges and universities throughout the Midwest competed.

James Kirkemunde took individual honors in judging cattle. Louis Emme was second high judging horses. Bob Steele was fourth high individual in all classes. Don L. Good, instructor in animal husbandry, is the team's coach.

Kansas State teams had previously won first in judging at the Denver National Western show and the Ft. Worth Livestock Exposition. College rules say a new team must be used in each contest.

Mortar Board Holds Scholarship Dinner

"The College Woman in the World Today" will be discussed at the annual Mortar Board scholarship dinner next Thursday by Mrs. John Alken, member of the College history staff. Mrs. Alken holds a bachelor's degree from Nebraska University and a master's degree from Columbia University.

Ninety-six junior women scholastically eligible for Mortar Board membership will be honored at the dinner at 6:15 p. m. in Thompson Hall. Tickets will be on sale in Anderson Hall today, tomorrow and Monday. All college women may attend the dinner.

Three sophomore women whose freshman grades led their class will also be recognized by Mortar Board. According to custom, the name of the highest of the three will be added to the Mortar Board plaque which hangs in Ree Center.

Toastmistress for the evening will be the organization's president, Betty Ann Drake. Other Mortar Board members will explain the ideals and activities of the group. Mrs. Dorothy Wilson Briscoe, Mortar Board alumnae of 1947, will sing two of the group's traditional songs.

Traffic System Has No 3 Time Offender

The traffic violation system put into effect last fall at K-State seems to be paying off, reports Dean Rodney M. Babcock. So far the largest school, Arts and Sciences, has had no three-time offenders.

Dean Babcock says his office has received many first-time violators and a few second timers. But there the students really draw the line," he chuckled.

With the first summons the student gets a warning from the Dean. The second summons places him on probation until August 31. With the third violation goes a recommendation to President Eisenhower for the offender's dismissal from college.

"The owner of the car is responsible for the summons regardless of who is driving the car at the time," Dean Babcock warned.

Some students who loan their cars think they are not responsible for the campus tickets picked up while another person is driving the car, he added.

On September 1 all students are given a clean record in the Dean's office and probations lifted.

Ramirez to Emporia for Language Meet

The Kansas Modern Language Association will meet on March 20 in Emporia. Manuel Ramirez, assistant professor of modern languages at K-State, and chairman of the Spanish section of the association, will attend.

Professor Ramirez invited Santiago Macario, instructor of economics and sociology at the University of Cordoba in Argentina, to appear as speaker on the program. Macario has accepted the invitation and will be the principal speaker for Spanish section at the meeting. The subject of his discussion will be "Introduction To Argentina."

G. I. Deadline Near

Veterans under the G. I. Bill must get all their books and supplies from the book stores before April 3, according to Jean Hudiburg, chief of the Veterans Account Section. On that date veterans accounts at both book stores will be closed for this semester. However, caps and gowns for seniors may be purchased after April 3.

Ed. Note This story was written after reading letters sent to this office and hearing considerable campus discussion.

Since the tickets were released for sale Monday for the K-State-Oklahoma A & M game, campus sentiment has been high concerning the handling, or mishandling, of tickets for the game. There has been so much criticism directed at the athletic department, so we are presenting what facts we could uncover.

Kansas State College was allotted 4,420 tickets by Municipal Auditorium authorities for the contest. More than 2,500 of the "best" tickets (as athletics director Thurlo McCrady described them) were reserved for students. The remaining 1,900, as near as we could find out were sold to alumni here in Manhattan and other parts of the state.

We were informed late yesterday afternoon by Athletics Director Thurlo McCrady that Kansas State has been allotted 100 more tickets for the game. According to McCrady these tickets will sell for $3. Seats themselves will not be reserved but the section will.

McCrady said that 75 students had put their names on the list and the tickets will be sold at 11 a.m. Saturday to them in the order their names were placed on the list. Only two ducats will be sold to each person.

"Before being too quick in criticizing us for allotting that many tickets to the alumni, students should realize that many of the alumni haven't even seen the team in action this year," said McCrady. Their support has been invaluable this year."

Students Have Stood in Line
"Yeah," an irate student comes right back when we told him this, "I'm going to be an alumni some day too and I'll be darned if I will even contribute my three cents to support K-State athletics if I get gyped out of my chance to see our team in the biggest game of the year. Especially after I stood in line for hours each home game to yell for the team."

The athletics department contacted fraternity and sorority houses to see if they were interested in reserving tickets as a group for the game. Naturally all fraternities and a few sororities were eager to do so. "The reason for doing this," McCrady explained, "was to determine how the sales were going to go and to speed up ticket sales."

The department made a mistake here and admits it. "We didn't have any idea there would be such a tremendous demand for the tickets," McCrady stated. "If we had, we would have placed the tickets on a first-come, first-serve basis."

No tickets were reserved for individuals on the campus with the exception of the basketball team. The athletics director explained that the team would be in Oklahoma when the tickets went on sale and therefore wouldn't have a chance to purchase their tickets any other time.

McCrady and business manager Frank Myers both denied rumors that students were allowed to purchase large blocks of 100 seats or more. "Anyone who wanted more than four or five tickets, we took their names and the names of the persons for whom they were buying them," Myers stated. "There is no truth to the rumor that we allowed students to buy all the tickets they wished," Myers said.

McCrady explained that the department originally planned to "hold back" 500 tickets for downtown businessmen and alumni. When the student demand was larger than expected, the 500 tickets were sold to students. The department contacted auditorium authorities and managed to get 500 more tickets for the downtown group. These tickets were in the center sections of the east side of the auditorium, said McCrady.

Fraternities Complain
Fraternities have been complaining about the location of the seats they reserved. "When we reserved those seats early, we had the idea they would be good seats," one fraternity man complained to the Collegian last night. "Instead they were all on (Cont. on Page 2)

A Hope For Peace

Hopes for lasting world peace seem the dimmest since the fall of 1941. Civil war rages in China, the undeclared war in India between Hindus and Moslems keeps that country in a constant state of turmoil. In Palestine pitched battles between Arab and Jewish forces rage with greater intensity each day. In Greece, nationalist forces are seeking increased aid from this country to drive the Communists out. Any one of these explosions could upset the world's balance of power.

Many noted commentators are predicting war within the next year, some even sooner. All this finds the United States in the middle of the boiling pot.

The end of the war found peace loving nations looking toward the United Nations Organization as the answer to lasting peace, an organization to make the world safe to live in. But the UNO hasn't been the solution. It lacks the power to enforce its decisions. Constant bickerings between nations make it about as effective as the K-State-KU peace pact. Before permanent peace can be achieved, distrust and hatred must be removed from the minds of men. World understanding must become an actuality and not just a goal.

Kansas State College, as host to the first college UNESCO week, has further proved itself to be one of the leading springboards toward achieving this goal. Here and in other small groups will be sown the seeds of understanding that may eventually spring up as the final barrier before war and aggression.

The preamble to UNESCO's constitution states in part "... it is in the minds of men that the defenses of peace must be constructed ... the great and terrible war was made possible by the denial of the democratic principles of the dignity, equality and mutual respect of men, and by the propagation, in their place, through ignorance and prejudice, of the doctrine of the inequality of men and races. ...

A peace based exclusively upon the political and economic arrangements of governments would not be a peace which could secure the unanimous, lasting and sincere support of the peoples of the world, and that the peace must therefore be founded, if it is not to fail, upon the intellectual and moral solidarity of mankind."

If these aims and ideals can be as effectively presented to the peoples of the world as it has been here at Kansas State, the picture can't be as black as it is being painted.

OUTSIDE the Ivy WALLS

By CLYDE A. OSBURN

Palestine partition's fate is now up to the United States and Russia, according to the best informed observers. Five nations are to begin a ten day series of conferences this week. Britain is expected to remain aloof. China and France's votes are not expected to be decisive.

President Truman has announced he will not seek a full term in the White House. He made known that his policy on civil rights will not change despite the pressure from Southern Governors.

A conference on Western Germany made progress this week toward an agreement to internationalize the economy of the Ruhr. An attempt was made to merge the French zone with the United States. A board and effective regional defense and economic pact uniting Britain, France, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg was discussed also.

General of the Army Douglas MacArthur has made known he will be available for the Presidency if it is the "will of the people." The general is a Republican.

While UN conferences are being held, the Arabs and Jews are making full-scale war preparations in Palestine. The Arab military commander in Palestine, after an inspection of his troops, declared he is ready for war.

CIO economists have asked for a "substantial wage increase" to offset a loss of 25 percent to wage earners, in a report to CIO President Philip Murray. The report offered figures to prove the advance in prices since January, 1945 justifies the request.

Finland is caught between an east-west power squeeze, according to diplomats from both sides of the "Iron Curtain." A Finnish government spokesman said they will try to hold out from a military alliance with Russia. Robert A. Lovett, Under Secretary, said the U. S. A. is watching Finland carefully.

The Turkish government has decided to ask the United States to send an all civilian group of experts to assist in making effective economic use of American aid.

Gen. Charles de Gaulle, in a political campaign rally, asked the United States to guarantee the military security of Western Europe. He says Western Europe needs a security guarantee as well as economic help.

Southern Democrats say they are as "unchanged" as President Truman on the civil rights issue. Southern political leaders displayed little surprise that Mr. Truman would seek the presidential nomination.

Letters to the Editor

VOX STUDENS

(Editor's note: The opinions presented in this column may or may not express the opinion of The Collegian. The letters are presented here for student information.)

Dear Sir,

We feel that a recent injustice has been done to the students of Kansas State which warrants your attention.

The manner in which the Athletic Department carried out the sales of the Fifth District N. C. A. A. playoff tickets was not only incompetent but premeditated favoritism toward groups and individuals.

According to Frank Myers, 2300 tickets were distributed to the student body. The ticket office closed two hours and twenty minutes after sales began. It is a mathematical impossibility for over 1500 people to have purchased tickets in this amount of time. The fact that blocks of tickets amounting to sixty and seventy tickets were sold is common knowledge. Is this the way the Athletic Department carries out its promise that each student wanting a ticket to the game would be taken care of?

Another thing worthy of your attention is the fact that reservations for blocks of tickets were taken as early as Saturday morning. Most of the students labored under the false impression that it would be first come first served at one o'clock Monday.

We realize that many students will be denied an opportunity to witness the game next Monday night and that it is too late to rectify this wrong. However, we feel that the Athletic Department should be made to publicly account for its actions and that steps should be taken to see that a similar situation will not occur in the future.

Very sincerely yours,
Charles F. Hall
Tom Walker

Dear Editor,

The recent ticket sales to the NCAA playoff between K-State and Oklahoma A & M has many of us confused, disgusted, and angry. My own personal observation has shown this attitude widespread among students and other K-State supporters.

Many of us tried to get information from college departments (chiefly the athletic office) several days before the sales date with varying results, most of them unsatisfactory.

Here are some questions I would like answered: 1. How many tickets were allotted to the college and how many of these were allowed to the students? 2. Did the sales personnel (within reasonable limits) see that only students were allowed to purchase the seats allotted to the students? 3. At what period was the number of tickets limited to each buyer, and what was this number? 4. Were reservations taken for seats prior to Monday noon? Already scalping has been evident. It isn't particularly gratifying to have some fellow approach you and ask if you are interested in a ducat, at a slightly increase over the original cost, of course.

This is more than just an outlet for some slightly ruffled feelings. This isn't the first occasion for much discontent about administration of athletic functions. These functions are much too complicated for me to suggest any improvements. I do know that if the school is to gain new support and eminence in sports (and other fields), the best place to begin is with the present students — the future alumni. That can be accomplished in part by keeping them well-informed on such events as mentioned above. After bumping our noggin against such obstacles for a period of four or five years, we shall not be quite so interested, or quick in lending our available support to our alma mater upon leaving.

No doubt, I'm off on a tangent, but I'd still like some of these questions answered, and a different plan of action initiated to prevent a recurrence of such events.

Respectfully,
William R. Bisbee

the end and in the corners of the balcony."

And it looks like he was right. Approximately 600 tickets were reserved for Greek organizations. A poll of fraternities showed that only 25 were located in the middle of the auditorium. "We tried to divide the tickets as equitably as possible," the athletics director said. "Perhaps some of the organizations would have received better tickets if they had stood in line. We tried to save the best tickets for the students who were standing in line."

The athletics director believes the students, in a way, have brought this whole situation on themselves. "I still don't believe 2,500 students are going to Kansas City for the game. There are too many guys trying to 'scalp' those tickets," McCrady said. "I received word yesterday from Reeves Peters, assistant Big Seven secretary, that several K-State students have contacted persons in Kansas City in an attempt to sell the tickets for a profit."

McCrady revealed the Federal authorities have been notified of the ticket situation and have indicated they would have men stationed at the game to apprehend would-be scalpers.

Sells Hereford Bull for Memorial Fund

Herb Barr, representative in the state legislature and vice-president of the Kansas Livestock Association, will contribute the proceeds of a Hereford bull to the College memorial chapel fund. The bull, Junior Domino Boy Second, will be sold at Barr's Hereford Sale in Leoti, March 31.

Barr attended Kansas State and received a certificate in agriculture in 1918. He is president of the Wildcat Club and a member of the Alumni Association. Two of his sons were students, Jack in 1946 and '47 and Bill in 1946. A daughter, Margaret Rosemary, is a junior in arts and sciences.

Miss Bonnie Woods, assistant alumni secretary, will attend the sale. She will lead the bull into the sale ring and help in auctioning him.

To acquaint Kansans with the different types and purposes of dams, models of dams will be exhibited by the Civil Engineering Department at Engineer's Open House at the College March 19th and 20th. "Kansans should be interested in the different kinds and purposes of dams because of the recently completed Kanopolis dam and other similar projects throughout the state such as the proposed Tuttle Creek dam project," said George Mahoney, chairman of the civil engineering exhibit. The display includes models of ten dams of both dirt-filled and concrete construction.

"There are three purposes of dams; flood control, storage and irrigation, and power. The multi-purpose type of dam is the most popular now because it incorporates all three uses," pointed out Mahoney. "Most people do not realize the differences between them and this display should clear up many questions they have had."

Among the models on display will be a beaver dam, a detention reservoir and other types leading up to the huge multi-purpose dam.

There will be a model of the Kanopolis dam, an exploded view model of a modern dirt-filled dam, a power plant at a dam showing how power is developed from stored water, and photographs explaining the phases in constructing dams.

"THE BEST IS YET TO BE"

The telephone will be seventy-two years old this year. Its development within a single lifetime has been a modern miracle. Yet it is only the beginning.

There are any number of men in the telephone business today—some just starting out—who will see greater progress than the past has ever known.

Year by year the next half century will be increasingly theirs. New leaders will appear from among them: Step by step, rung by rung, they will mount the ladder to the top. For telephone management is employee management and comes up from the ranks.

There will be more good jobs for qualified men in the telephone business in 1958 and 1998 than now. It just can't help being that way. For of all the businesses and professions, there are few more interesting and necessary.

So the future is bright for those who make telephony their life work. For them, "The best is yet to be."

Wildcats Meet Cowboys in Kansas City Monday

Kansas State's Big Seven conference champions will match their claws against the spurs of the high riding Cowboys from Stillwater, Okla., Monday night in Kansas City's Municipal Auditorium. To the winner of the battle will go the honor of representing the fifth district in the NCAA basketball tournament in Kansas City, March 19-20.

Both teams bring fine season's records into the clash. Kansas State, winner of the Big Seven, has a record of 20 wins and 4 defeats, while Oklahoma A & M, the Missouri Valley Conference champ, boasts a 24-3 record. The Wildcats have played in what Coach Jack Gardner claims is the toughest conference in the country. While the Cowboys have been playing in an admittedly weaker conference, they have defeated strong non-conference foes in Baylor, Texas, Long Island U., and Temple.

In the Big Seven pre-season tournament at Kansas City, when the Wildcats defeated the Cowboys 50-43 to win the championship, it was the first time in 10 years that fifty points had been scored against a team coached by Hank Iba. Against Big Seven competition, Oklahoma A & M has beaten Nebraska and Colorado by one point, Kansas U. twice, split two games with Oklahoma U. and lost to the Wildcats. K-State defeated Nebraska and Colorado decisively two games each, but had different luck against the Sooners, losing two out of three games. Comparative scores indicate a close, hard-fought battle.

Kansas State may be handicapped by the loss of Clarence Brannum, all-Big Seven player, who received a knee injury in the Oklahoma game. Although Brannum is up and able to walk, Coach Gardner says it is doubtful if he will be able to play. Brannum was being counted on to offset the height advantage the Cowpokes hold. "If Clarence isn't under that backboard it's going to slow us down plenty," Gardner said.

The genial cage mentor refused to be optimistic even Brannum is able to play. "Oklahoma A & M has a great team, they're good, and they're big, they know what to do with the ball when they get it, and we're going to have to be on our toes to win," he said.

Gardner is expecting a low scoring game. "The Cowboys play a ball-handling style and they don't shoot until they're under the hoop." The Aggie offensive average does not rank high, but their defensive tops the nation with an average of points a game. "If you can hold your opponents to 33 points a game, you don't have to score too much yourself," Gardner said.

Against this array of talent, genial Jack will lead with Hal

Trackmen Journey to Illinois Tech

Wildcat track coach, Ward Haylett, left last night with five of the most promising of the Cat squad for the Illinois Tech Relays being held in Chicago tomorrow.

Coach Haylett stated that his squad will be competing in "probably the toughest tournament in the country." Making the trip are Rollin Prather, shot put artist; Rodney McClay, low hurdles and 60 yd. dash; Earl Elliott, hurdles; Bill Stuart, 440 yd. and 880 yd. dash; Art Hildenbrand, 880 yd. and mile run.

Coach Haylett indicated he did not expect to bring home any trophies. Prather will be competing with Big Nine shotputters who have outdistanced the big Wildcat ace by from one to four feet.

Howey and Rick Harman in the forward slots. Clarence Brannum or Ward Clark will take the center position. At the guards will be Jack Dean and Howey Shannon. Brannum and Shannon were named on the all-conference first team and Harman and Howey were awarded second team berths.

This is the third time in the last four years that Oklahoma A & M has been in the play-off game to determine the fifth district representative. Twice they have won the play-off and gone on to win the NCAA championship. However, the Cowboys are far from cocky, Coach Iba says. "This may be our hardest game this year. We know we must play good ball to beat the Wildcats."

Cats Close Season With Sooner Loss

Coach Jack Gardner's "Cinderella Kids" closed their Big Seven conference schedule at Norman, Oklahoma, Monday night, a hard fought 56-52 battle to Bruce Drake's Sooners. It was the third conference loss for the Wildcats, and the second to the Sooners.

In the final moments of the game, Jerry Patrick and Clarence Brannum, Wildcat centers, were carried off the floor. Patrick was knocked unconscious when Oklahoma's 230 pound center, Bill Waters, fell on him. Brannum suffered a knee injury but Coach Jack Gardner stated that Brannum definitely would make the trip to Kansas City Monday.

Oklahoma led all through the final eleven minutes with their widest margin of the game standing at 48-40 with seven minutes to play. In a desperate attempt to overhaul the Sooners, Lang-

ROTC Rifle Team Wins Four Matches

Kansas State College's ROTC rifle team won four of five matches fired this week. All matches were by mail.

Wins were scored over Citadel, Charleston, S. C.; Western Kentucky Teachers College, Bowling Green; Wilberforce University, Wilberforce, Ohio; and Xavier University in Cincinnati.

Alabama Polytechnic Institute, Auburn, Ala., downed the K-State crack shots 1877 to 1874 with a score of 2,000 possible.

The K-State team has won 52 matches and lost 9 this year. Each team fires on its range and mails results to competitors.

ton and Brannum hit from the floor and free throw by Harman looked like the start of another of the Wildcat's famous last-half rallies. But the Oklahoma fast break increased the lead and three quick free throws by Courtney put the game on ice.

Prior was the showman on the floor as he delighted the noisy 6,000 fans with brilliant set-shooting. Forward Rick Harman turned in a sensational performance, sweeping the boards incessantly. Prior was game high scorer, hitting for ten buckets from the floor. Courtney and Wildcat guard Howard Shannon each had fifteen points.

CHALK TALK

By NORV GISH

Things are going to be might dull on the K-State campus Monday with more than 4,000 of our eager inhabitants in Kansas City cheering the Wildcats into the NCAA play-offs. After long years of defeats and disappointments, the student body at KSC really has something to cheer about. Let's make ourselves heard in the Auditorium Monday night. Show them we are proud of our Wildcats.

Even the K-State band will make the trip—and without a campaign by the governor nor to raise the funds.

Noticeably absent from the ranks of recently announced Associated Press all-American basketball team were the names of Big Seven cage stars. Many coaches, officials, fans, and sportswriters around the mid-west consider the Big Seven one of the nation's toughest circuits.

The AP selected four teams and added a long list of honorable mentions. Howard Shannon, Hal Howey, Clarence Brannum, Otto Schnellbacher, Dan Pippin and Paul Courtney were named to the honorable mention list from the Big Seven conference. Folks around here are of the opinion that K-State's Howard "Shadow" Shannon is more than honorable mention material. They think, and we agree that the "Shadow" is just about the smoothest thing since strappless formal came into style.

K-State followers aren't the only ones who were surprised. Down at Norman they'll be wondering why "Lefty" Paul Courtney, the Sooners' great forward, didn't receive more attention, and the cellar-bound Jayhawks can point to Otto Schnellbacher's record and ask why he wasn't higher on the listings.

From this angle, it looks like the Big Seven was pushed behind the door when the honors were handed out. Spotted among the first four teams were men from the Big Nine conference. The Big Nine has always been strong but it can't compare with the Big Seven this year. In eight meetings between the teams of the two loops, Big Seven squads have come out on top six times.

Iowa State, considered a rather mediocre team in the Big Seven, walloped Michigan, the Big Nine Champions, in a pair of close games. The Cyclones have already lost five battles in their own loop. We wonder if past greatness isn't overshadowing present ability in the case of the two leagues.

Despite the disappointment of missing out on the top selections,

Big Seven fans can be proud of Shannon, Brannum, Pippin, Courtney, Schnellbacher and Howey. They have been listed among the 50 or 60 top cage performers in the nation. That's no small accomplishment when you consider that basketball is the most widely played sport in the land. Besides, everybody picks all-American teams. Our boys still have a chance.

Newest rumor making the rounds of campus and downtown hangouts is that Wildcat cage mentor Jack Gardner has received feelers from other schools. Minnesota University is reportedly interested in Smilin' Jack. Gardner himself says he has "no comment" on the matter.

THE SHADOW KNOWS

Transplanted Texan Proud of School Spirit Shown by Wildcat Followers

By PAT PATTERSON

If it isn't news when a Texan doesn't want to stay in Texas then neither is a hockey game in Borneo. Texas' contribution to K-State basketball, Howard "The Shadow" Shannon, says he wants to coach in Kansas after he is graduated. Shannon likes Kansas and is amazed at the basketball craze which sweeps the state each winter.

It was a long trail from the Munday, Texas high school team to the 1947-48 Big Seven basketball championship outfit. After playing four years at Munday, Shannon attended North Texas Agriculture College and North Texas State Teachers College. He led the Teachers to third place in the 1943 National Intercollegiate Basketball Tournament at Kansas City. Coach Jack Gardner got his first glimpse of "the Shadow" when the Continental Airlines Amateur Athletic Union team played in Manhattan last season. Gardner attended the national AAU tournament in Denver later that season and convinced Continental's Shannon that K-State was the place to continue a war-interrupted education.

Shannon is glad he made the decision. "College basketball is a lot faster, is more fun, and gives me a bigger thrill in winning than the AAU game. I've never seen such support given a team as these Kansas State students dish out," he says.

"The Shadow" is undoubtedly the idol of a lot of Kansas kids. He laughs modestly at the idea, but he remembers the "big boys" he used to imitate. When Gordon "Shorty" Carpenter was playing for Arkansas in about 1936-37, he was Shannon's idea of what a basketball player should be. "Carpenter has always been the best basketball player in the world in my estimation. It was quite a day for me when I played against him in the AAU tournament. We guarded each other too," Howard recalls.

Howard has only one court supposition and it has become a habit. As a high school player he made it a point to put on his right basketball shoe first. Unconsciously he still does it today. "I might have slipped up though when we played Long Island, Missouri and Oklahoma," he laughs.

Howard thinks his wife worries more about basketball than he does. "From what I've heard, Pat really gets excited at the games," he says. Mrs. Shannon must possess all the family nervousness, because the closest game don't ruffle Howard's amazing coolness.

"The Shadow" is conscientious about his school work. He had a rough time getting into the swing of things his first semester here, but now he is matching his court performance with classroom success.

When the Wildcats are on the road, Shannon rooms with Jack Dean. He has quite a reputation as a poker player. "Shannon is as cagey with a deck of cards as he is on the court," Dean says.

It takes Jack Gardner a long time to say all he wants to about Shannon's ability. "I wouldn't trade him for any player in the conference. He is the best offensive player I've coached."

"He works hard to improve his game. I can't think of enough to say in his behalf. Shannon is cool, coordinated and a deadly clutch player. I've seldom seen him make a mistake in offensive play. He is definitely all-American material and he has one more year of eligibility."

Shannon's average against the tough Big Seven opposition is 10.5 points a game. In 24 games this season he notched 224 points. He has a 38 percent accuracy from the field.

Like any successful player Shannon has dreamed of being an all-American. If he doesn't make it this season, coaches, fans and his teammates will be pulling for him next season. It would be a fitting culmination to a brilliant basketball career.

AT STATE

Ah spring! Wherefore art thou spring? Could we have looked at the calendar wrong but it shows only nine more days until thy official arrival. Oh, well, it's nice to dream anyway. With spring we have hopes, of long, long strings of copy—parties, formal, banquet, teas and those "sweet" and "smokey" announcements. Yes, maybe someday the typewriters in Kedzie will be going at top speed, again to bring you all the latest. Right now we're doing our best to give you the dope we have as our numb fingers slowly type out the facts at State for the past cold days.

Diamond notice! Barbara Drayer is now wearing the diamond of Ray Booth. Barbara is from Manhattan and Ray from Jettmore. They are both industrial journalism majors.

The PiKA pledges will entertain their dates Friday night at an Erin party. The party is in honor of St. Patrick's Day, and will be celebrated with dancing.

Weekend guests at the Phi Kappa House included Robert Peak, Wichita University; Edgar Lefevre, Rockhurst College, Kansas City; and John Marshall, from K-State Teachers' College at Pittsburg.

The Phi Deltas will entertain at a tea Sunday for their new housemother, Mrs. H. C. Miller of Manhattan.

Excitement stirred the Kappa house when it was revealed that Olive Brainerd's key was chained to Don Meehring's Kappa Sigma pin. After the sweets and smokes had been passed, the traditional smooch lines were held for the couple. Olive is from Iola and Don from Wichita.

Tamara Chajass, student from Palestine, was dinner guest at the Alpha Xi Delta house Wednesday night. Following dinner Tamara told about life in her home country.

Members of the cast of the play, "Symposium," given at the Community House Sunday, were dinner guests of the Phi Kappas. Those included were: Naomi Griswell, Sacred Heart, Wichita; Fernand Cain, St. Mary's College, Xavier; Michaleine Stinson, Mount Saints Scholastic College, Atchison; Joan Reichell, Ursuline College, Paola. Also a dinner guest was the Reverend Weigand, National Phi Kappa Chaplain.

Cigars! Cigars! shouted the Sig Eps at the houseboy revealed a familiar box. Everyone had their glasses as to who was making this drastic step. But—instead of cigars, the president, after fumbling nervously with the wrapping paper, showed them a blue, baby drinking cup with the Schlitz label on the side. Who was it for? The president, John Clark, it seems that a couple of his secret admirers had sent him the cup for his birthday.

Thabit Abdul Arhman-al-safar spoke to girls of Waltheim Hall Wednesday night on his native country, Iraq. Thabit is a freshman in agriculture.

Phi Kappa pledges took off for Kansas City Saturday night without notifying the actives. When they returned Sunday evening an appropriate reception was planned for them, according to the authorities.

Jeanne Patterson announced her marriage to Buck Adt by sending chocolates to girls of Kappa Kappa.

The couple was married last Saturday at Folkstone, Ga. They will live at Ft. Lauderdale, Fla. where Buck is attending school. Jeanne was a freshman in home economics last semester. Both are from Kansas City.

Girls of Clark's Gables and Pal-O-Mie enjoyed a St. Patrick's party Tuesday night at Clark's Gables.

Formal installation was recently held at the Delta Delta Delta house for new officers.

Mary Alice Wolf is president; Jerry Gatz, vice-president; Joan Argabright, recording secretary; Margaret Reinhardt, treasurer; Betty Wentworth, house manager; Liz Mustard, rush chairman; Modita McNeill, social chairman; Betty Krehbiel, sports chairman.

Other officers are Arvilla Johnson, chaplain; Betty Rich, marshal; Edwina Frick, corresponding secretary; Nanette Martin, historian; Judy Peck, librarian; Margaret Rickieles, scholarship chairman; Georgi Gress, recommendations chairman; Mary Alice Wolf, panhellenic senior representative; Marge Duppe, panhellenic junior representative; and Carolyn Hilde, activities chairman.

Girls of Arcadia enjoyed refreshments Wednesday night following a speech given by Pe Sin Su on China, her native country. Pe Sin is a graduate student in home economics.

Roses at the Chi Omega house announced the coming wedding of Phyllis Evans, senior in industrial chemistry, to Jim Welch, versity of Minnesota. The wedding will be June 12 in Kansas City. Phyllis is from Stanley and Jim is from Minneapolis, Minn.

The Kappa Sigma annual held tomorrow night. A dinner Black and White formal will be held at 6:30 in the Wareham Green Room with the dance following at the Community House.

Team, Coaches to Be Honored at Smoker

K-State's championship basketball team and the new K-State coaches will be honored at a Smoker given by the YMCA in Thompson Hall Saturday at 8 p. m.

Ralph Graham, new head football coach, will speak about the team prospects for the coming season. Thurlo McCrady, athletic director, and President Milton S. Eisenhower also will be guests.

Entertainment will include several numbers by the Y boys, the YMCA quartet, basketball pictures of a K-State game, and a violin solo by Prof. Max Martin, of the music department. Candidates for the coming YMCA election will be presented. Card games and free cigarettes, coffee and ice cream will be added features, according to Bill West, YMCA secretary.

Dr. Howard T. Hill, president of the YMCA board, will be master of ceremonies. All students are invited by the YMCA to attend but the free tickets must be picked up in the Y office in the Student Union to gain admittance.

Mercury Low

The minimum temperature recorded Wednesday night, 12 degrees below zero, was the lowest recorded for March at K-State since 1856. Dr. A. B. Cardwell, head of the physics department, discloses. The nearest approach to this low was made in 1867, when a temperature of -9 degrees was recorded.

Hottest weather for March at the College was recorded in 1895 and 1907, when the mercury reached 95 degrees.

Dragons Trim Robe Now in Art Section

A Chinese official's robe and two collar and cuffs sets for other robes have been given to the art department at the College by two former Chinese students. They are Miss Hoi Pai and Miss Jui-Fang Kuang. They received their master of arts degrees last year in home economics from the College.

The dark blue gauze robe is embroidered with yellow thread in a dragon and cloud design. A diagonal sash embroidered on the bottom represents water. The robe is fastened with handmade gold buttons. The collar is woven of pure gold. It is split up the back so that the wearer could ride horseback. The sleeves are long, extending over the hands, since it was dishonorable to show the hands before the emperor.

The robe is one of eight or ten types worn by officials for centuries before China was declared a republic in 1911. The different types were worn according to official degree.

One of the collar and cuff sets is black gauze with an embroidered dragon design. The other is yellow K'Osui tapestry, the most priceless Chinese weave.

WILDCATS ALL THE WAY!

Otto Says Europe in Same Crisis As Before War

"Conditions are such in Europe today that we are as bad off as we were before World War II," said Otto of Austria, as he spoke before an all-college assembly Monday morning on "Christian Democracy or Communism."

Otto complimented President Eisenhower and his brother Dwight D. Eisenhower, as he mentioned what the Eisenhower name meant to the people of Europe. "General Eisenhower brought hope and freedom to the oppressed countries of Europe," the speaker said, even though he deplored the present crisis conditions in Europe today.

"The evolution between 1945 and the winter of 1948 has been characterized by the expansion of Russia," said Otto. In explanation, he pointed out that Stalin had conquered 680 thousand square miles of non-Russian territory, while before World War II, Hitler had swallowed up only 100 thousand square miles.

"Russia is effecting an ever-increasing speed-up in its expansion while we lose ground," Otto pointed out. "In Burma, the communists are in control while we have also lost most of northern China. In Italy the situation is close to hopeless."

Russia Not Bluffing

Though some would believe that the speed up policy is a bluff, Otto contended that Russia is not bluffing. "Russia is more powerful than anyone realizes," he predicted. He reported the budget for the Russian army is 70 per cent, while that for the United States is only 29 per cent.

In addition, he pointed out that in Russia atomic research does not go under the military heading, but under education. "For her 1948 education budget, Russia will not improve or build one school, but all of her appropriations under education will go to atomic research. In Russia, a tremendous armament has been carried out, and this armament is not for peace," he warned.

"We are making the same mistake today as we did before World War II when we ignored Hitler's Mein Kampf, for Stalin has never hesitated to announce and carry out his plans," Otto declared.

World Has Awakened

However, Otto pointed out that against the threat in the past years the world has awakened. The Marshall Plan has eliminated the communists in eastern Europe. To offset the dangers, Otto suggested that by starting a fifth column in Russia, by realizing what tremendous power is behind the Russian policy, and by building a program like that of the communists, that extends our ideology all over the world, we can defend ourselves.

"We are in a war of ideologies," he said. "One of them must be destroyed. But this country and the other western countries have something which they can throw into the battle—Christianity—for it holds the answer to the economic and political problems," he pointed out.

'Colonel' Candidates at 'Pershing' Dance

Harold Hunt's band will supply music for the Pershing Rifle dance March 19 from 9 to 12 p. m. at the Military Science Building. Pershing Rifles is an ROTC drill team.

The dance, under the sponsorship of Scabbard and Blade, is open to the public! The proceeds go for buying distinctive drill uniforms for the Pershing Rifle Club.

Eleven candidates for honorary cadet colonel for the 19th annual Military Ball will be introduced at the dance. The candidates are: Joanne Gamowski, Jeanine Hill, Madeline Asher, Barbara Berger, Jo Morgan, Doris Collins, Carol Bates, Louise Billington, Georgine Bischoff, Donna Cronk, Phyllis Greenough.

Tickets for the dance may be purchased from any Pershing Rifle Club member.

Slavenska Ballet Is Last of Series

A Sugar-plum Fairy of Tchaikovsky's "Nutcracker Suite," Salome (who demanded the head of John the Baptist); and "two refined ladies" at an Old Settlers' picnic will be among the characters presented in the Ballet Variante program here Friday night. It will be the last number of this season's Artist Series.

Tickets are now on sale at the College box office.

Slavenska, the best known of the ballet, is bringing with her four men and three other women dancers.

The program includes "Settlers' Sunday," by Byrns—The Lovers, The Cowboy, The Sheriff, Two Refined Ladies, and Rich Rancher with Wife and Child; "Coppelia" by Delibes; "Dance Poem on Salome," by Glazounov; "Pictures in Porcelain," by Debussy; "Nutcracker Suite," by Tchaikovsky—Sugar-Plum Fairy and Prince Kooklush; and "Concerto Romantico," by Liszt.

Home Ecs to K. U.

Laberta Kugler and Marilyn Jones will represent K-State at the Kansas Home Economics association convention at Lawrence this weekend. The meeting is open to all members of the Margaret Justin Home Ec Club. The local club is affiliated with the state organization.

Marilyn Jones has also been named chairman for local arrangements for a four-state workshop to be held at K-State next October.

HE DROVE SNAKES FROM IRELAND

Sure'n Begorrah, St. Pat Was a Foine Irish Lad

By MARY GRIFFIN

Sure and begorrah comes March 17, Irish songs, the color green and shamrocks will be in the air. For one day in the year the Irish come into their own and celebrate in honor of the patron saint of the Emerald Isle. At Kansas State the prominently displayed shamrocks signify the St. Pat's Prom, which is a part of the Engineers Open House. St. Patrick is the patron saint of engineers and they annually take this opportunity to honor him.

But Patrick was not Irish himself, as many suppose. Wales, Scotland and even France claim him, but the most authentic records give his birthplace as Dumbarton, Scotland, in the year 387.

When he landed in Ireland, the people, according to legend, were preparing to stone him for attempting to change their religion. The Irish were so impressed when he began to preach however, that they at once took him into their hearts. The Saint preached and taught in Ireland for many years, building churches and organizing parishes.

Many traditions have grown out of the life of St. Patrick. One which is regarded as authentic is that in an effort to explain to the Irish people the mystery of the Trinity he plucked a shamrock and said the three leaves represented the three persons of the Trinity. Because of this, the Irish wear the shamrock and green on St. Patrick's Day.

The most famous of the legends relates to the expulsion of snakes from Ireland. St. Patrick had banished them all except one old serpent, which refused to leave. The Saint, according to the story, made a box and invited the serpent to enter it. The serpent objected and said it was not big

Avalon to Close After 33 years

The floor of the Avalon Ballroom, worn down by the dancing feet of K-State students for 33 years, will feel them no more. On July 1, the dance hall will become office space for the Production and Marketing Association.

Lack of patronage was given as the prime reason for the Avalon's loss for student dances. Varsity dances have been steady money-losers for some time orchestra leader, Matt Bettin told the Student Council.

A. F. Roberts, owner of the building, warned the students three months ago that he would offer the building for other uses if the attendance did not increase.

Lack of "night club" atmosphere was suggested by Bettin for the decline in the Avalon's popularity. Students like to sit around tables when they are not dancing, he said.

Another reason is that virtually all dances were held there, and the same old familiar surroundings took away a good deal of the glamour that accompanies one of the major dances.

The large proportion of married students also has helped the decline in patronage, Bettin believes. Many married students would rather spend a quiet evening at home than on the dance floor.

The Avalon, originally called Harrison Hall, was built in 1915. Before the second story was added, the building housed a grocery store and restaurant.

Approximately 1300 railroad car springs were put under the floor when the second story was added, to give additional strength to the new floor, according to Dr. W. H. Clarkson. Dr. Clarkson owned the building when the name was changed to the Avalon Ballroom in the early thirties. He said students have danced there ever since its construction.

The P. M. A., an agency of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, formerly occupied offices in the Warehouse building.

The most famous of the legends relates to the expulsion of snakes from Ireland. St. Patrick had banished them all except one old serpent, which refused to leave. The Saint, according to the story, made a box and invited the serpent to enter it. The serpent objected and said it was not big enough to hold him, but St. Patrick insisted it was large enough to be comfortable. The snake agreed to enter the box to prove his point. As soon as the serpent was safely inside, the Saint shut the lid, fastened it and threw the box into the sea.

St. Patrick's Day has been celebrated in America since very early times. During the celebration in 1910, President Taft was to be guest speaker at a dinner of the Irish Fellowship Club of Chicago. A large piece of the "old sod" had been imported from Ireland for the President to stand on while he made his address. When the time for the dinner came it was discovered that there was not enough sod left to go under the President's feet. The Irish men and women who had visited to view the sod had carried it away piece by piece.

The dinner of the Friendly Sons of St. Patrick in Philadelphia in 1920 is notable for the manner in which toasts were proposed. It was the year in which the prohibition amendment went into effect. On proposing the toast to St. Patrick the president of the organization said, "In commemorating the birth of the patron saint of the Emerald Isle it is well for us to remember that he gained immortal fame by introducing to our ancestors the eternal principles of Christianity."

For 149 years it has been the custom of this society to pay a reverent tribute to his memory. On this occasion, said to relate, we are forbidden by a legislative enactment from toasting his memory in a beverage instituted by the Creator of heaven and earth. Craving the good Saint's forgiveness, I ask you to rise and drink, in uncharitable ice water, to the immortal memory of St. Patrick."

KANSAS STATE'S NEW MASCOT may look tame enough here but the six months old Wildcat has plenty of fight. The Collegian photographer experienced considerable difficulty in getting the snarling, spitting addition to the Kansas State family into position for the picture. ### Sjo Chairman of Kansas UNESCO Coordinators

The first Kansas student UNESCO Conference which met here Friday and Saturday elected John Sjo, Kansas State College, chairman of the state coordinating committee. The committee will publish a quarterly news letter which will be sent to all Kansas colleges. Other purposes of the co-ordinating committee are to facilitate exchange of ideas, and to advise the youth representative on the state commission.

The creation of the committee was one of the three major suggestions voted upon and passed by the conference. Others were participation in a summer camp project and co-operation with county UNESCO councils.

World peace structure is like a three-legged stool, President Eisenhower explained in the concluding message Saturday afternoon. One leg is the force the United Nations must have. Another is understanding which UNESCO helps develop. The third is economic and political conditions which will make co-operation possible. The Marshall Plan will help to bring about these conditions, he pointed out.

The president explained that the success of the Marshall Plan will lay the foundation for better understanding between the East and the West. Russia's theories are based on the Marshall Plan, Russia will see that our economic system is sound and re-examine her premises.

UNESCO is a people's movement, Eisenhower said. When asked what would happen to UNESCO if the UN should fail, Eisenhower declared he could not visualize the UN's falling. If it should, he said, UNESCO would have started a trend toward understanding which will go on.

The sixty-three students from ten Kansas colleges who attended the conference and members of the Kansas State council elected Bob Eschenburg from Washburn University, Topeka, as chairman.

The students met in discussion groups which drew up suggestions for the conference to consider. The chairman of these groups, Martin Rice of Wichita University, Pat McVey and Joe Wels of Kansas State and Bob Eschenburg and Karlene Haring of Pittsburg, formed a committee to formulate and present suggestions of the groups.

The suggestions, classified as organization, state and county cooperation, finances, projects and club competition were all accepted in Saturday morning's session.

Win Costume Prizes

Prizes for the best costumes at the International Costume Ball went to Angelina Lepori from Panama in her native costume; George Krause as an Argentine cowboy and his date, Charlotte Dorf, in a Swedish gown; and to Bill Johnston in a Scotch kilt and his date, Catharine Merrill, in a Swiss dress.

Runner-ups were Tamara Tamara Chajass and Khaled Abed, and Phyllis Foster and Stanley Meinen.

Parking Violator Gets Third Ticket

Proof that the College's new parking regulations do have "teeth" was presented by the administration last week. A three-time traffic offender was suspended indefinitely, the office of President Milton S. Eisenhower announced Friday.

The student had been warned last November after his first offense and was called before his dean after the second violation. There was nothing to do but suspend him after the third offense, C. O. Price, assistant to the President, said.

Price indicated that although the student was "suspended indefinitely," it was entirely possible for him to appeal his case to his dean and be reinstated for the summer term.

Civic Chorus to Present 'Messiah'

The Manhattan College-Civic Chorus will present Handel's "Messiah" in the College Auditorium Sunday afternoon at 3:30 p. m., according to Luther Leavengood, director of the group.

Miss Josephine Mader, soprano, Mrs. Lavinia Graham Holden, contralto, Richard Koupal, tenor, and J. Forrest West, bass, will hold featured spots in the oratorio. The Chorus consists of 160 voices.

This is the first "Messiah" under the direction of Leavengood. Another chorus, the Manhattan Choral Union, presented the "Messiah" at the College in 1942 and 1943.

The Manhattan Civic Chorus was organized in the fall of 1947 under Leavengood's direction, and is composed of both College students and townsmen.

The "Messiah" is considered the most successful of George Frederick Handel's oratorios. It was composed during a 24-day period. When Handel had completed the "Hallelujah" chorus, which concludes Part II, a servant entering the room, found him at his desk, tears streaming from his eyes. "I did think I did see all Heaven before me, and the great God Himself!" Handel exclaimed.

The first performance of the "Messiah" was in Dublin, Ireland, on April 13, 1742. The first performance in London was at Covent Garden on March 23, 1743. It was at this performance that the whole audience, including King George II, was so affected by the tremendous "Hallelujah" that they rose as one and remained standing until the end of the chorus. This custom has continued to the present day wherever the "Messiah" is performed in England and America.

Veterans' Counsel

Hollis D. Kemper, veterans' personal counselor from the Wichita regional office, will be at the V. A. Guidance Center, Room 5A, Anderson Hall, next Monday between 8 a. m. and 4:30 p. m.

Kemper said T. W. Henning of the Guidance Center, will be glad to talk with any veterans who have contacted him previously or any others wishing to discuss with him their personal affairs. All such talks are strictly confidential and are not included in the veterans' files.

Upperclassmen

Juniors and Seniors assigned to English Proficiency for the second semester of 1947-48 should report to the offices of their respective deans from March 16 to March 25 in order to sign a record card. Signing is to be completed before the beginning of Easter vacation, according to Nellie Aberle, chairman of the exam committee. A student will not be permitted to take the examination on April 6 who has not signed a record card.

Each student will also be assigned a number to use in taking the examination and will be given an instruction sheet concerning the examination.

Mortar Board

Fetes Juniors

Ninety-six junior women will be honored at the annual Mortar Board scholarship dinner Thursday at 6:15 p. m. in Thompson Hall. All College women may attend the dinner.

The honorees are Joline Nelson, Judith Peck, Betty Peckham, Shirley Peterson Pence, Mildred Reinsner, Margaret Rieckels, Marjorie Roepke, Elvora Seaton, Rose Marie Shumaker, Juanita Silva, Mary Simpson, Bernita Skelton, Judith Somers, Mary Frances Weaver, Alma Webster, Elizabeth Ann Wilcox, Helen Wilkie, Rebecca Wilkinson, Mary Alice Wolf, Joyce Allen, Carolyn Anderson, Anna Applebaugh, Donna Ashlock, Sue Baerth, Barbara Shirley Baker, Carol Blecha, Olive Brainerd, Frances Davitt, Virginia Eddy, Kathryn Miller Gates, Lois Houghton Gillan, Joyce Hansen, Rilla Harris, Averil Howes, Carolyn Hinds, Mary Elx, Alice Kerbs, Martha King, Betty Krebbel, Laberta Kugler, Dorothy Long, Alpha McCurry, Mary E. ### Lambda Chi Alpha Reorganized Here

Lambda Chi Alpha, national social fraternity, has recently been reorganized on the campus. Twenty-four boys have been pledged to the fraternity.

Barney Belch, traveling secretary for Lambda Chi, was at Kansas State early this year to reorganize the fraternity. Active alumni of Lambda Chi on the campus are: Rodney W. Babcock, Dean of Arts and Sciences; Prof. Ralph R. Lashbrook, head of Industrial Journalism and Printing; and Dr. B. W. Lafene, student health. President Truman is an honorary member.

Lambda Chi was active on the campus from 1924 to 1937.

Debaters Finish

Second at Winfield

K-State debaters placed second among 17 schools entered at the 16th annual Forensic Tournament at St. John's College in Winfield Friday and Saturday.

After four winning rounds K-State debaters were defeated by KU in the fifth and final round of a discussion on the topic, "Resolved: That a Federal World Government Should Be Established."

Members of the team were, Marshall Shire, Dick Delhoff, Shirley Smith and Garth Grison. Vernon McGuire, associate professor of radio and speech, coached the team.

Aggies Never Ahead as Cats Win 43-34

Kansas State's clawing Wildcats earned themselves a spot in the regional NCAA tournament by tromping on the Cowboys from Oklahoma A & M 43 to 34 last night in Kansas City's Municipal Auditorium. Taking a page from A & M's Coach Hank Iba's stalling book, the Gardner crew outstalled the Cowpokes in the second half after leaving the floor with an impressive 10-point lead.

Burnett's Talk Is Open House Starter Friday

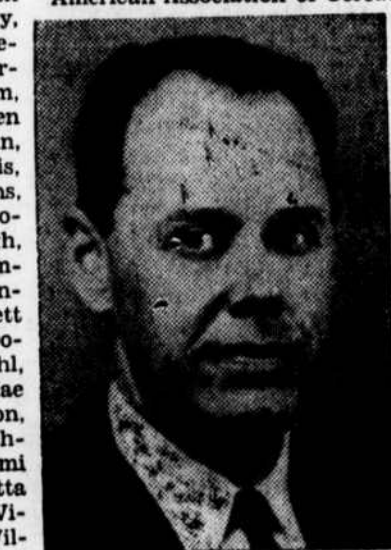

Engineers' Open House activities at Kansas State College will begin Friday at 9:30 a. m. when Dr. Waldo Briggs Burnett addresses a student assembly in the College Auditorium. Burnett is director of the University of Wichita Foundation for Industrial Research.

In his address, "The Engineer of the Future," Burnett will stress the importance of human relations among engineering executives, according to Richard Medlin, secretary for Open House activities.

He was with the Mellon Institute of Industrial Research, Pittsburgh, 16 years. As a senior industrial fellow there, he did research on rubber accelerators, antioxidants, naval stores, stearic acid, glucanics acid, plastics and in rayon technology.

Burnett has an AB degree in chemistry from Southern Methodist University, masters and doctors degrees from the University of Illinois. He has been in his present position since November, 1945.

The assembly speaker is a member of the American Chemical Society, American Institute of Chemical Engineers, American Association of Textile Chemists and Colorists, American Association of Cereal

Dr. Waldo B. Burnett
Chemists, American Marketing Association, Sigma Xi, Phi Lambda Upsilon, Gamma Alpha and Alpha Chi Sigma. Classes will be shortened for the assembly.

Chimney to Go, Says Board of Regents

The 92½ foot brick chimney west of Mathematics Hall, is to be torn down, R. F. Gingrich, superintendent of building and repair, said yesterday.

The bricks have been falling from the chimney through the roofs of surrounding buildings and the chimney itself has been gradually leaning during the last 10 years.

Approved by the Board of Regents at the suggestion of President Eisenhower, the project will be done either by the building and repair department or by a commercial wrecking firm. Gingrich says that the chimney will not be toppled but will be taken down from the top.

The chimney, built of soft bricks and with a limestone base, was constructed in 1893-4. It was used by the old power plant until 1928 when the new building, housing the power plant and the building and repair department, was constructed. Since 1928, the small chimney has not been used.

Howard Shannon, the thin man from Mundy, Texas, walked off with scoring honors by sinking six from the field and three straight from the charity line for 15 points. Close on his heels was center Ward Clark who tallied six fielders and five out of six free tosses for a neat 11 points.

A jam-packed Municipal Auditorium crowd of more than 9,000 screaming fans saw an injury-handicapped Wildcat squad gain their first national tournament spot. Tabbed as the underdogs in pre-game predictions, the Gardnemen turned in a stellar game that found them leading the parade from the opening whistle. The score was tied at 5 to 5 and 6 to 6 in the first four minutes.

The starting lineup for the Cats was the same as in other games, with the exception of Clark, starting for Brannum who injured his knee in the K-State-Oklahoma U. game last week.

Performs Courageously

Harold Howey, whose injured chest was supposed to keep him on the sidelines, turned in a courageous game. The heavier Cowpokes continually slammed him to the floor in attempt to get him out of the game for good. Howey meshed two from the field and a charity toss for five points.

Lanky Howard Shannon started the scoring parade with a neat hook shot from the side to put the Cats ahead 2 to 0. A. L. Bennett broke the ice for the Aggies with a charity toss after being fouled by Shannon. A jump shot from the free throw circle by Shannon put the Purple and White ahead 4 to 1 at the 3-minute mark.

Baskets by Bennett and Joe Bradley for A & M and a free throw by Shannon and six tied the count at 5 to 5. Free throws by Shannon and, six-foot nine inch Joe Harris again tied the count up at 6 to 6.

From there on it was all Kansas State in the first canto. Baskets by Clark, Howey, Shannon and free throws by Langston and Harman gave the Gardner crew their commanding 27 to 17 halftime lead. With the score resting at 21 to 15, lanky Howard Shannon potted four straight spectacular tosses from the field to give his mates a 10-point lead as they went to the dressing room at halftime.

Howey started the second half scoring with a field goal to put the Cats ahead 29 to 17. Bradley, A & M guard, came right back with a long two-hander from behind the free throw circle.

Play Aggies Game

Kansas State then began to give the Aggies a dose of their own medicine. Displaying magnificent ball handling tactics, the Cats controlled the ball and forced the Oklahomaans into repeated fouls. Free throws by Brannum (3) and Shannon (2) gave the Purple and White a 35 to 26 lead at the 15-minute mark.

With the score standing at 39 to 31 with less than three minutes to go, the Cowpokes got out their spurs and saddles in an attempt to gain possession of the ball. Vernon Yates and A. L. Bennett continually doubled up on Cat ball handlers with roughhouse tactics that brought the partisan fans to their feet. After a particularly rough block of Howey, as he was going in for a shot, a jump ball was called that brought the Kansas State team to the edge of the court.

Three free throws by Ward Clark and one by Rick Harman, who played an inspired defensive game, put the game on ice with K-State leading 43 to 34. The gun ended with the Aggies frantically trying to get one last tally.

It Can Happen Here

It has finally happened. A three-time traffic violator has been "suspended indefinitely" from the College. Speculation has been prevalent on the campus as to whether the administration would "stick to their guns" and really expel someone after a third offense. They proved to the many "doubting Thomases" (we were among them) that the new regulations weren't just an empty threat.

Being able to make a rule like that and then to make it stick when an actual case comes up is commendable—but expulsion from school seems a pretty tough rap for parking in the wrong place.

The stringent parking regulations were put into effect this fall after the influx of car-driving students had all but made the campus drives a solid mass of parked vehicles. The narrow streets and solidly parked cars made it almost impossible for city busses to get through at times. In case of a fire there was a possibility that fire apparatus would be unable to get to a fire on time.

The new rules weren't just somebody's brainstorm. Several plans were tried but proved ineffective. The possibility of fining violators by city police was considered. At Lawrence, city police assess fines for campus traffic violations but this wouldn't work here because we aren't in the city limits.

The plan finally adopted, provided that students would be given a written warning after the first offense, would be personally reprimanded by their dean and placed on probation after the second offense and a third violation would mean expulsion.

Faculty members are to be reprimanded after the first offense, placed on probation after the second, given a six-day vacation without pay after the third and a fourth violation is to mean permanent suspension.

These rules were in effect five months before someone (a student) felt their full force. It is still a matter of speculation whether the rules will be as rigidly enforced if and when a faculty member turns up with four traffic tickets.

COLD WEATHER IS GOOD FOR SOMETHING

Students Are Healthier This Year Says Snook

By PETE ENGELKEN

In the midst of this snow and extremes of weather, Dr. Robert R. Snook, Director of Student Health, reports that the health of students on the campus has never been better than it is this winter. So far only one case of what the Doctor termed "the real influenza" has turned up, and respiratory ailments of any kind have been the fewest for many years.

Doctor Snook attributes the good health of the students to the fact that this winter's continued severity has forced students to dress warmly when going to classes, instead of wearing a sweater on intermittent balmy days and then finding the temperature dropping in late afternoon. Consequently, there are fewer colds.

"Statistics have been ruined this year," the Doctor explained, "because the 4,000 veterans on the campus know how to take care of themselves better than the average student; and many of the married students don't show up at Student Health when they get sick. They stay at home where the Missus can take care of them and that is all right with us—just so the Missus takes care not to latch on to any flu germs herself."

It may come as a jolt to students who drive cars to classes, but Doctor Snook feels there are too many automobiles on the campus. Not only do they create a traffic problem but they are also directly affecting the health of their owners.

The Doctor wasn't referring to nerve strain caused by women drivers either. He explained that in the past the students driving cars, especially veterans, were used to greater physical activity while working or in service—with a minimum of mental activity. Then they come to college and experience just the opposite condition—greater mental activity and a minimum of physical activity.

"The result," Dr. Snook stated, "is that they come to student health asking what is causing that tired, listless feeling."

Doctor Snook advises, as the best kind of medicine available, a daily workout in the gym to help balance the physical and mental efforts—or else stow the car and walk to and from classes. He said several students have taken his advice and have come back to tell him that his prescription had turned the trick for them.

Incidentally, a doctor may seem like an impersonal character, but whether he performs an amputation or checks a hangnail, he's always happy when someone remembers to say "thank you."

STATE STATUS QUO

By Ramsey Sherwood

KANSAS CITY, March 15—The confetti flew like snow flakes in a winter snow storm outside the Kansas City Municipal Auditorium here tonight as wildly cheering Wildcat fans poured onto the street following the 43-34 victory over the Oklahoma Aggies.

Fans from Manhattan and over the Sunflower state cheered the first Big Seven Wildcat champions in thirty-one years. The Staters were never really threatened in the contest, taking a lead in the first five minutes that they never relinquished.

Contrary to advanced publicity notices, Harold Howey went into the contest at the start, and although not a high scorer, he displayed a good floor game.

At a pre-game pep rally in the main lobby of the Kansas City Union station, about 10,000 K-State fans yelled and demonstrated wild joy over the club that has brought basketball fame to Kansas State.

In the cafes and taverns of downtown Kansas City after the contest, Staters took over. They swarmed from the auditorium like students from classrooms at the close of an exam, and poured into cars, trams, and busses. Staters who had brought their own cars to Kansas City shot up and down Kansas City's brightly lit streets honking horns continually and yelling Wildcat cheers.

Shortly before the game had ended, the announcer on the public address system warned "guests" of the twenty-five mile an hour night speed limit. The way cars swarmed about the streets after the contest, it appeared as if no one had heard the warning.

The game was witnessed by the largest crowd—nearly 9500 persons—ever to see a single basketball game in Kansas City. Staters were in the huge majority, but a few Oklahoma A & M partisans kept hopes high until the final minutes.

Twelve radio stations—a new record for the auditorium—broadcast the game. Fans swarmed around the Cat cagers after the contest, hugging them and showering the victors with bravos.

Harold Howey who played only about half the game, literally "stewed" on the bench while he was "sweating out" his mate's actions. He paced up and down like a restless panther in front of the bench, and was repeatedly calmed by his mates.

Gardner was up and down throughout the contest, calling plays before the officials the officiating was exceptionally good, especially on the part of Cliff Ogden, the little blackhead from Wichita.

On Kansas City's famed "twelfth street," horns sounded and the celebration was still continuing forty-five minutes after game time. It was reminiscent of a New Year's Eve celebration in the Heart of America.

Streetcars were blocked at times by the demonstrators who paid no heed to traffic as they actually took over the main thoroughfare. The Hotel Phillips and Muehlebach, lining "twelfth street" were reserved for Kansas State tonight. Gardner and his mates at the Muehlebach were receiving congratulations far into the night. "All in all it was a great night for Kansas State, a night that will be long remembered by Kansas City and by Kansas Staters.

VOX STUDENS

(Editor's note: The opinions presented in this column may or may not express the opinion of The Collegian. The letters are presented here for the student information. In order to conserve space, will writers please limit their letters to no more than 300 words.)

Dear Sir:

While the country is discussing President Truman's Civil Rights Message, perhaps we should be discussing equality rights at Kansas State College. By this we mean the right of all students and organizations to share in equal privileges without favoritism to Greeks or Independents.

An example of this favoritism is the sale of tickets to the basketball game between Oklahoma A. and M. and Kansas State. On Friday, March 5, the athletics business manager said that no reservations would be taken from any college student, and they would have to wait until the sale of tickets on March 8. So far this was fair enough.

When Monday came and the tickets were for sale, what happened? In several neat piles off to one side were tickets reserved by the Greek organizations. There were seven of us going to the game together, and when our turn came to buy tickets we were allowed only six. This means that one of us had to sit away from the group. But in the business manager's own words, he reserved sixty tickets for one Greek Organization alone.

Fair to all students? We don't believe so. What about those students that stood in line to purchase tickets only to find that none were left?

However, a little credit should be given to Frank Myers as he didn't try to offer a flimsy excuse or justify the action of the Athletic Department. The Director of Athletics entered the discussion at this point. His excuse for the reservations was that they needed a sample of ticket sales, and the Greek Organizations were about the only way to secure this. We were always told a poor excuse was better than none, and this excuse is about the poorest of all. The business manager stated it was impossible to secure any additional tickets so why the sample ticket sale? Where did the Director of Athletics think he would get more if the sale was high, or did he think the student's interest was so low that some of the tickets would have to be returned?

Other things could be stated about unequal privileges to Greek and Independent Organizations. We aren't saying that one faction is worse than the other. However, we are saying that there are unequal privileges granted one faction and not the other! Perhaps President Eisenhower will take steps to correct these situations, otherwise any correction will depend upon the thoughts and actions of the students.

Dear Sir:

Having a deep respect for the Christ I readily concur with his admonition that we should "Render unto God that which is God's and unto Caesar . . . Caesar's."

It will be remembered that a year ago (spring 1947) I sought to champion the first amendment (to the U. S. Constitution) in letters to the Collegian. It therefore gives me pleasure to bring to your attention this majority decision of the highest court in our land.

Respectfully,

PHIL RUDE

Ed Note: The amendment Mr. Rude is referring to states that both religion and government can best work to achieve their aims if each is left free from the other. The Supreme Court ruled last week that religious sects may not use America's public schools to teach their beliefs after a suit was brought against the Champaign, Ill. schools for violating the constitutional requirements for separation of church and state.

Trainees Can Buy Birth Record Photos

Public law 346 trainees who wish to submit photostatic copies of their children's birth certificates instead of the originals to the Wichita Regional Office may do so, Orval Eberts, Veterans Service Officer, said today. Photostatic copies of these documents will be made at the Registrar's office for 25 cents.

"If the veteran submits these documents on his own," Eberts said, "he should remember to include his C-number and address to avoid conflicts. The safer policy would be to submit them through the Veterans Service Office, where carbon copies of each letter are made as a precautionary measure."

Faculty to Debate

"The Admissibility of the Adoption of the Marshall Plan" will be debated by four faculty members at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday in F 206.

Prof. A. B. Sageser, Dept. of History and Government, and Prof. C. J. K. Erickson, Dept. of Economics and Sociology, will defend the affirmative side of the question. Prof. C. M. Correll, Dept. of History and Government, and Prof. A. A. Holtz, Dept. of Economics and Sociology, will take the negative stand.

The debate, open to the public, is being sponsored by Dr. Howard Hill, head of the Speech Department, and the College debate team. Economics, history and speech majors are particularly urged to attend by their respective departments.

Heifer Balks at Royal Coaching

How to get a 500-pound Hereford heifer out a twelve-foot window well was the big problem at the College cattle barn last week.

One of the contestants for the Little American Royal was trying to teach the animal to lead. Other students were working with their animals at the time. The hustle and bustle around the lot must not have been pleasing for the young heifer. She started to back away from it all but found herself in a worse predicament yet—she backed into the pit that opens to the windows in the basement of the stone barn.

It was a relieved student when the animal responded to his coaxing and got up on all four unbroken legs.

It was finally decided that the window casing should be taken out, the heifer led into the basement, and persuaded up the narrow stairs. By the time she was out, she was as docile as a Cocker Spaniel.

The Little American Royal will be April 10. Visitors at the annual Farm and Home Week at the College before the war will remember the Royal as part of the program. The Royal is being renewed this year after a wartime absence and is held separate from Farm and Home Week.

Council Will Chose K. U. Relays Queen

The Student Council will invite all of this year's beauty queens and their attendants to the next meeting to choose a candidate for the K. U. Relays Queen. The candidates for St. Patricia also will be invited.

It was decided at the Student Council meeting Monday that the financial committee of the Council will send cards to each organization for information to aid in devising a means of standardizing the handling of the finances of all organizations.

Questionnaires will ask where the club banks or keeps its money, who may sign checks, if the treasurer is bonded and if the annual income is budgeted.

Wildcat Thinclads Cop Sixth at Tech

Coach Ward Haylett's improving crew of Wildcat thinclads showed great promise for the approaching outdoor track season when they captured sixth place in the university class at the highly rated Illinois Tech Relays in Chicago, Saturday. Illinois University captured the university crown as they edged out Michigan 53 1/2 to 52.

Kansas State placed midway in a field of twelve of the Midwest's finest indoor masters. Red McClay, speedy K-State athlete, romped home to cut the tape in second place in the 70-yd. dash and skinned over the 70-yd. low hurdles to take third place honors. Rollin Prather, shot-put ace, placed third in that division with a heave of slightly better than 52 feet.

In the 70-yd. dash, Harry Guth, Missouri's Big Seven champion, won the first place position in :07.1, with McClay taking second. The Big Nine champion, Peters, of Indiana University, came in third. Peters was the favorite to take the event.

A new American record was set in the 70-yd. low hurdles as Bill Porter, Northwestern University, topped the field in :07.7 to establish a new American record in the university division. Gartsier of Missouri was second and McClay in third place, finishing ahead of Smith of Notre Dame and Bartos of Indiana.

New Record

Last night's Kansas State-Oklahoma A and M basketball game was broadcast over a record number of stations from the Kansas City Municipal Auditorium. According to Reeves Peters, play-off manager, twelve stations carried the broadcast.

Grid Drills

The late arrival of spring weather has caused head football coach Ralph Graham to postpone the opening drill of spring football practice until next week. Graham announced yesterday that spring workouts will begin Monday, March 22. The new mentor said wet weather forced the postponement. The spring gridiron seasons were scheduled to get under way today.

Intramurals

The intramural table tennis tournament for men will get under way tonight at 7 in Nichols Gym. L. P. Washburn, director of intramurals, said today.

Seventy fraternity men and 55 independents are entered in the tournament. First round singles matches will be played tonight. Richard Lindbloom, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, won the fraternity singles last year and will be favored to repeat as champion. In the doubles, Lindbloom and Cappell defeated Davis and Schmitz, Delta Tau Delta, for the championship.

Bill Ketterman, Wesley Foundation, took first place in the independent singles last year. Roy Blood and Ketterman won the doubles.

Lindbloom defeated Ketterman to win the all-school singles championship. All-school doubles champs were Lindbloom and Cappell.

clinch a group championship in the men's intramural volleyball tournament.

The Sig Eps are champs of Group I in the fraternity section. Delta Tau Delta breezed past Phi Delta Theta to remain the only undefeated team in Group II. Tau Kappa Epsilon is leading Group III with four wins and no losses.

In the independent section, Wesley Foundation beat Gamma Delta Friday night and is in first place in Group I with four straight wins. Independent teams of Groups II and III have not played as many games as the other teams. Their games were postponed on account of last night's play-off between Kansas State and Oklahoma A & M.

Tomorrow night 16 teams will go into action. Games scheduled are Bozedeos vs. P. E. M., Ag. Ed. Club vs. Gutterbush, Almad vs. Black Cats, House of Williams vs. Sigma Phi Nothing, Gung-Ho Kids vs. A. V. M. A., Set-Ups vs. Gamma Delta, Wesley Foundation vs.

Friday Poultry Club beat Baptist Students, Sigma Nu defeated Alpha Gamma Hho, Wesley Foundation beat Gamma Delta, Tau Kappa Epsilon beat Acacia, Set-Ups defeated YMCA, and Beta Theta Pi defeated Kappa Sigma.

The girls intramural basketball tournament got under way last Wednesday with Van Zile Hall trouncing Alpha Delta Pi 21 to 6 and the Bliz Babes beating Alpha Xi Delta 19 to 8. Thursday Kappa Kappa Gamma squeezed past Keim's Kaban 16-14 and East Stadium blasted Clovia, last year's champions, 22 to 10.

Games originally scheduled yesterday were played Friday in order that the girls could go to Kansas City Monday night for the basketball game. Friday Chi Omega defeated Pi Beta Phi 13 to 4 and the Barbs forfeited to Alpha Chi Omega. Tonight the Bliz Babes meet The Barbs and Kappa Delta will play Waltham Hall.

Tomorrow's schedule is Van Zile Hall vs. Chi Omega and Kappa Kappa Gamma vs. Kappa Delta. Games Thursday are Alpha Delta Pi vs. Pi Beta Phi and Alpha Gt Delta vs. Alpha Chi Omega.

The University of Iowa, in a town of 18,000 and with 10,000 students, has a gymnasium that will seat 15,000. School officials there consider the gym too small. They would like to build one with a capacity of 35,000. They believe a Field House of this size is not too large, as last year the athletic department received 40,000 applications for tickets to each conference game—aside from students.

Coach Jack Gardner says he is eagerly awaiting the time when he and his fighting Wildcats can move into their new home. The students are waiting too.

Marriage Course Would Draw 1,429

A two semester-hour credit course on courtship and marriage at K-State would have a potential enrollment of 1,429 students, according to a questionnaire sent recently to a representative group of the student body.

The questionnaire was prepared by a faculty committee. Dr. H. Leigh Baker, head of the education and psychology department, was chairman. The survey tried to determine the extent and nature of student interest in the proposed course. The committee is formulating a report to be submitted to Rodney W. Babcock, dean of the School of Arts and Sciences, as to the advisability of offering such a course.

The potential enrollment number is based upon the first semester enrollment of 7,179. Sophomores with 483 would have the largest enrollment in the new class. Juniors, however, in comparison to the total college enrollment, have the greatest interest in such a course with 361, according to returns. Freshman would number 205, graduates 10.

Of 723 questionnaires sent to students, 294 were returned to the committee. A majority of the students are not married. The committee will meet Friday afternoon to discuss the report, which will be completed soon.

More Work for V. A.

The work load at the Veterans Service Office at Kansas State College has more than doubled recently as veterans with children prepare for the increase in subsistence payments April 1 from the government, according to Orval Ebberts of the College Veterans office.

To get the increased payments, vets with children must file birth certificates. Names, addresses and claim numbers of the veterans also must be registered, Ebberts said. The increase will be automatic for single students and those without children, according to Ebberts.

SOCIETY

AT STATE

Begorrah if St. Patrick's Day isn't a comin' tomorrow. Sure an' all the loyal lads and pretty colleens will be wearin' the green. 'Twas different colors Saturday night for one of the highlights of the social week-end was the Kappa Sigma annual Black and White formal. A dinner was served in the Wareham Green Room. During the meal silver necklaces with the Kappa Sig crest were presented to their dates.

A dance followed at the Community House where black and white streamers carried out the theme and white balloons were dropped from the ceiling during the evening. Special guests were Kappa Sigs from K.U. and Washburn. Music was furnished by Del Weidner and his band from Topeka. Those in the receiving line were: Jack Dean, Betty Payne, Mrs. Gladys Sibley, Professor and Mrs. Glenn Long and John Crump.

June Duphorne, Sharon Springs is now wearing the diamond of Wayne Cowell, Manhattan. June is a senior in industrial journalism and Wayne is a senior in physical science.

51 A. I.C. . . . .

A St. Patrick's semi-formal prom was enjoyed Friday night by girls of Pal-O-Mie and their dates.

A large green horse shoe bordered the doorway of the house. Other decorations included green balloons, a canopy of green shamrocks and green drapes in the living room.

'Tis Clifford Batten's Beta pin that Kathy Bralnard now has chained to her key! Kathy passed sweets to her Kappa sisters Sunday noon to reveal the secret. Afterward a smooch line was formed at the Kappa house for the couple. Kathy is from Carle and Clifford is from Manhattan.

Green was predominate at the Erin party in honor of St. Patrick's Day given by the Pi Kappa Alpha pledges and their dates at the chapter house Friday evening.

Alpha Xi Delta will hold an exchange dinner with Tau Kappa Epsilon Tuesday evening.

The unwrapping of a supposedly injured flirer and the passing of chocolates revealed the engagement of Irene Gehrke to Leslie S. Parrish Sunday evening at the Lutheran Student Association.

Irene is a senior in home economics from Herington. Leslie, a sophomore in mechanical engineering is from Wichita.

A Farmer's Frolie was enjoyed at House of William Saturday night. The house was decorated as a barn and furnished with hay, a bar and gambling booth. Magicians and the House of Williams trio entertained, followed by refreshments and dancing.

Taking the actives' shoes, the Delta Sigma Phi pledges sneaked Saturday afternoon.

A buffet supper at La Piel Sunday night provided entertainment for the girls and their dates. Supper was followed by cards and dancing. The theme was St. Patrick's Day.

Marjorie Schreiber announced her engagement to Tony Bartkooski by passing chocolates to girls of Arcadia.

Marjorie is from Ransom and Tony is from Pierce City, Mo. Both are freshmen in business administration.

Men were women and women were men at the Theta Xi "Turnabout Party" Saturday night. Theta Xi's were dressed as bar maids, farmer's daughters, gypsies and sweater girls while their dates came dressed as men with cigars, bow ties, mustaches and all.

Jo Karrison won the door prize (a bathroom door) and Don Hoff won for being the "best dressed lady" of the evening.

A hamburger fry was enjoyed by the Pi K. A.'s and their dates Saturday night at the chapter house.

Chocolates at Moore 'n' Merrier announced the engagement of Mary Jean Wood to Bill Willard. Mary was on the campus last semester. She is now living at her home in Clinton. Bill is a junior in mechanical engineering.

Sunday dinner guests of the Delta Tau Delta's were Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Ferguson. Mr. Ferguson is president of the western division of the Delta Tau Delta fraternity.

Professor and Mrs. L. E. Conrad, Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Price and Mrs. Blanche Twiss were Sunday dinner guests of the AKL's.

Ray Doyen was elected treasurer and house manager at the AGR house following the resignation of Douglas George.

Theta Xi actives donned their "walking shoes" Friday afternoon when the pledges decided to sneak. Actives were scattered to the four winds, from Keats to Wamego and other points, to find their way back while the pledges enjoyed a night in Topeka.

Dinner guests at the Phi Kappa house Sunday were Dorothy Meyers, and Larry and Susan Nolan.

The ATO's had their local Founder's Day banquet Saturday night at the chapter house. Walt Rogers, an alumni from Manhattan was the main speaker.

Yen-Shyong Liao was dinner guest at the Sigma Phi Epsilon house Thursday evening and during the meal he gave a demonstration on how to eat with chop sticks.

Phi Deltas entertained at a tea Sunday afternoon for their new housemother, Mrs. H. C. Miller of Manhattan.

Omicron Nu Tea

Members of Theta chapter of Omicron Nu, home economics honor society will be hostess to transfer home economics students at a tea today at 4 p.m. in Calvin Lounge.

Will Dedicate Pew

A pew in the all-faith Memorial Chapel now being built will be dedicated to the late Prof. A. J. Mack by alumni of Beta Kappa, social fraternity.

Professor Mack, who died of a heart attack at the Kansas State-Nebraska football game last fall, was adviser to the fraternity.

The ex-fraternity members also contributed $75 to a Beta Kappa scholarship fund, Dr. D. C. Warren, another faculty adviser to the men, announced.

The Beta Kappa fraternity disbanded during the war, has not reorganized since.

Students Prepare for Europe Trip

Birth certificates, photographs, and needed information are being busily collected by 39 Kansas State College students who plan to go to Europe next summer. They need this material to apply for their passports. Applications for passports must be sent soon, said Eric Tebow of the Institute of Citizenship.

The students hope to go to Europe on a student ship. Congress passed the Maritime Act which will make possible the authorization of student ships by the State Department, according to Pat McVey, campus UNESCO chairman. A traveling bureau will help plan their route in Europe. A tentative plan is to land on the continent, work in reconstruction camps in Germany and France and return from England.

Using State Department estimates and other information as a basis, students expect the trip to cost about $800 each. One student is raising money by making and selling toy animals with luminous eyes. Other students hope to be helped financially by civic organizations or county UNESCO groups at home. Benefits from a movie which the group will sponsor later in the semester will also be used for the trip.

Dean Schowengerdt is president of the group. Other officers are Connie Armistage, secretary; Joanne Kastrop, preparatory committee chairman; and Helen Hennon, chairman of the publicity committee. Other committees are finance, itinerary and transportation. "Problems in Citizenship," a course designed to prepare the students for the trip, is sponsored jointly by the Institute of Citizenship and the Department of History and Government. The class meets two hours once a week.

The basic idea behind the course, instructors say, is that American tourists can build up good will for the United States or create an unfavorable impression. They point out that if students have the needed information and desire, their European trip may work for understanding and world peace.

Club Hears Brainard

The Geology Club has asked Prof. B. B. Brainard of the School of Engineering to speak at the Thursday meeting of the club. Professor Brainard's topic will be "Canyons in the Western United States". The Geology Club is an organization for all majors in geology.

CAMPUS CAPERS

with LIZ.

Hi, everyone! This is going to be a busy week—especially for the engineers. They are certainly busy themselves with last minute preparation for the Engineers' Open House. Why don't you plan to leave an open date on your calendar for next week-end, and go visit them? It's even supposed to be better than last year's. If that is possible!

To give you a sneak preview of what to expect, the Campus Book Store has on display now in their window a sample of the exhibits to be shown. Why don't you drop by. You'll find it very interesting. . . . I understand Mrs. Brainard is in quite a dither. Both of her daughters—Olive and Kathy—passed chocolates. And all within one week, too! Gee, with so much "spring fever" in the air, spring just has to make an appearance soon!

There's another reason yours truly wishes spring would hurry. I have advertised sporting goods so often, in hopes the weather would be right when the paper came out. So far, there has been little change of weather, and it's becoming embarrassing! If the old adage, "the third time's the charm," means anything—this it is! Just don't forget what I told you last week about all our new Spalding tennis rackets. We carry all kinds of sporting goods, and in some cases, shoes to match! . . . The Kappa Sigs certainly out did themselves Saturday night

This was the night of their annual Black and White formal. There were certainly a lot of thrilled girls showing off the pretty favors their dates gave them. Paul Lyman and Carol Campbell seemed time. As also were George Cooper and Jane McDonald. What goes there? Looks a bit steady! Also, I see Bonnie Woods with a certain F.I.A. Kinda looked natural, Bonnie. . . . You know, Easter isn't far away, and the Campus Book Store has some very nice stationery that is just the thing for that Easter gift. We carry the best—Eaton's and Whiting's. We offer a wide selection—from the plain style to the ones with a little feminine touch! Come in today and have a look. . . . Is it true that "Artie" Hoover's grandfather came from Scotland? How much did you say those seat covers cost, Artie? . . . Jerry Collins is certainly becoming the social gad-a-bout these days. And to think—I thought he had sworn off women!

You know, the Campus Book Store isn't just a store for school books. We have lots of popular bestsellers, and we're getting in more all the time. I'll have to admit, we're all supposedly here for an education, but—all work and no play makes Jack a dull boy! An educated man is a well-read man, so come in and look our selection over. . . . Be seeing you next week.

Last of Marriage Series to Discuss Religious Beliefs

The College sponsored lecture series on Courtship and Marriage will come to a close Monday, when prominent leaders of three religious faiths will present an informational program on the beliefs of their church on marriage. The event will be in the College auditorium from 7:30 to 9 p. m.

Guest speakers on the symposium type program will be the Rev. Dr. Thomas S. Bowdren, S. J. Catholic, St. Louis, Mo.; the Rev. Dr. Arthur Miller, Protestant, Denver, Colo.; and Rabbi Dr. Samuel S. Mayerberg, Jewish, Kansas City, Mo.

"This makes number five in a series of five," said Ralph Salisbury, chairman of the lecture committee. "Attendance at the first four lectures has exceeded any expectations. As the entire program was student requested, the committee is most pleased that it has been so well supported."

New Type Program
"We are attempting a new type of program for the religious phase of the series," the chairman said. "We have requested well known church leaders of the Catholic, Jewish and Protestant faiths to come and tell us—not sell us—the beliefs of their faith on marriage within and without the church, divorce, the wedding ceremony itself and other subjects as related to marriage."

Catholic Views
Coming from St. Louis, Mo., to explain the Catholic views will be Father Thomas Bowdren formerly president of Creighton University in Nebraska. Father Bowdren is now director of the department of social education for the central office of the Society of Our Lady, in St. Louis. As an educator, he has taught at St. Ignace High School of Chicago, has been dean of the school of education at St. Louis University, and is now director of the Summer School of Catholic Action and other educational activities of the Society. Father Bowdren is an active speaker in interfaith activities.

Jewish Beliefs
Presenting the Jewish beliefs will be Rabbi Dr. Samuel Mayerberg, popular Hebrew leader of Kansas City. Rabbi Mayerberg was one of the leaders in the fight against the Pendergast machine in Kansas City. He is author of a book entitled "Chronicle of an American Crusader," the last chapter of which deals with his much published activities in Kansas City.

Rabbi Mayerberg holds two degrees from the University of Cincinnati and one from the Hebrew Union College. He is on the board of directors of the National Social Hygiene Society, the Council of Social Agencies, and is vice-president of the Kansas City Philharmonic Orchestra Association. He is an experienced lecturer on the marriage field and has been a guest speaker at Kansas State for various purposes in the past.

Protestant Ideas
The Rev. Dr. Arthur L. Miller, pastor of the Montview Boulevard Presbyterian Church of Denver, will make the trip to the present Protestant views on marriage. Dr. Miller has been on the staff of several big schools, and has spoken at colleges and universities throughout the nation. A graduate of Indiana University, Reverend Miller has also studied at Princeton University and Princeton Seminary. His first charge was University Pastor at Indiana University. Then, the University Church at Madison, Wisconsin. He was pastor at the University of Wyoming for seven years and has since been dean of Young People's Conferences and Trustee of Emporia College. He was granted a doctor's degree at Princeton in 1940. In 1942 he assumed leadership of the church at Lincoln, Neb., where he was chairman of the synod and the Council of Presbytery along with his college work. He has long been a favorite among college students.

Will Be Entertained
Each of the three speakers to appear on the symposium will be entertained before the meeting Monday by the young people's group representing their faiths on the campus. The Miller Foundation will entertain Rabbi Mayerberg, the Newman Club will entertain Father Bowdren, and the Westminster Foundation has extended an invitation to the Reverend Miller.

Don Ford, student council president, requests that all presidents of student organizations and representatives on the campus meet in Fairchild 102 at 4:30 p. m. this afternoon.

Study Moths at KSC

A commercial fellowship of $1,500 to study new moth-proofing chemicals has been received by the entomology department at Kansas State College, Dr. Paul A. Tohm of the department has disclosed.

Donor of the fund is the Michigan Chemical Corporation of St. Louis, Michigan.

Dohn and Katherine J. Hess, professor of clothing and textiles, will direct work to find new methods of protecting fabrics.

Prom Highlights Gala Weekend

"Saint Pat's Prom, held in Nichols' Gym this Saturday night is going to be one of the most elaborate balls ever staged at Kansas State College," said Loyd Peterson, chairman of St. Pat's Prom and president of Sigma Tau.

The Prom, an annual event climaxed Open House, dates back to the first engineering exhibit. In those days it was the "Slide Rule Slide" but somewhere in the passing of the years, St. Pat, the patron saint of engineering was chosen as a name for the prom.

At one time St. Pat was chosen as the patron saint of Ireland, because of driving out all the snakes. He was also chosen the saint of the engineers because he made the largest "worm drive" in the history of the world. This bit of information was unearthed by Ray Schneider, publicity chairman for Open House from an old copy of Kansas State Engineer.

The decorations this year will follow the general Irish theme, shamrocks literally adorning the gym along with plenty of green and white crepe paper. A new centerpiece is being used for the first time at the ball, as well as a new bandshell.

The dance is sponsored by Sigma Tau, honorary engineering fraternity.

The Steel Ring trophy for the best exhibit in Open House will be presented by Dean Durland to the winning department immediately before St. Pat and St. Patricia are crowned. St. Pat is chosen from candidates who are students in each department and St. Patricia is chosen from a list of girls selected by engineering students on the campus.

In addition to the honor of reigning over the Prom, St. Pat and St. Patricia will be presented with rings inscribed "St. Pat," or "St. Patricia" 1948. St. Pat will be presented with an Irish pipe from the pipe collection of Prof. C. E. Pearce, of the Department of Machine Design.

"The decorations this year under the supervision of Ward Haylett, Jr., are tops," states Peterson. "The atmosphere of the whole place would make a native of the 'old sod' feel at home."

Music for dancing will be furnished by "Skipper" Hawkins and His Varsity Crew, band from the Blue Moon Ballroom in Wichita. Dancing will be from 9 to 12.

Engineering Display at Open House to Feature Television Demonstration

By Lyle Williams and Mark Endsley

Public unveiling of the first fully electronic television system in the state of Kansas will be one of the features in the electrical engineering display at Engineers' Open House this weekend. The call letters of the College television station are WOXBV, operating on television channel number one.

The transmitter and eight receiving sets will be in operation throughout the two nights of Open House. Two of the sets are the projection type where the pictures are projected on a screen as in moving pictures.

These receivers will be set up at different spots along the Open House tour and people in the line will be able to observe some of the special programs and interviews made in the television studio in the basement of Illustrations Building.

Sets ranging from the less expensive home made sets to popular named sets priced up to a thousand dollars will receive the broadcasts. Other receiving sets will be operating in some of the radio shops in Aggieville and downtown Manhattan.

Will Interview Visitors
Broadcasts will consist of interviews with persons visiting on the campus who come into the studio. Due to the limited Candidates for St. Pat and St. Patricia to be elected at the St. Pat's Prom are pictured here. Candidates and the department they represent are: Jane Fenton, Frank Kinsey, Ag. Eng.; Martha Miller, Dick Sizemore, Arch. Eng.; Joan Dykeman, Durl O'Neill, Civil Eng.; Mona Peterson, Dewey Huston, Chem. Eng.; Jo Ann Stroup, Art Cotts, Elec. Eng.; Ruby Dickey, Kersey Read, Ind. Arts; Jean Howell, Dick Fedell, Mech. Eng.

Martha Miller Is KSC's Candidate

Martha Miller was selected from a group of 26 aspirants, by the Student Council, to be K-State's candidate for the K. U. Relay queen. She is a sophomore in architectural engineering. Runners-up were Mona Peterson and Marilyn Bryan.

Each girl, interviewed individually by the council, was judged on beauty, intelligence, personality and poise, and her participation in school activities.

Candidates were all of the queens and their two attendants elected this year and the candidates for St. Patricia.

Every Kansas college has been invited to send a candidate to K. U. The final selection of the queen will be made April 15.

The theme of this year's relay is to be the Olympics.

Cold Hands Cause Cows to Moan

"Never a minute's rest," R. E. Gingrich, superintendent of building and repair, is thinking today. Gingrich has just finished making arrangements for the laying of a new cable to West Waters Hall to replace one that shorted out earlier in the semester. "The cable ditch is dug and the cable ready to lay," Gingrich says, "and what happens? The dairy barn cable shorted out Wednesday night."

Gingrich, quietly tearing his hair, is going ahead with plans to string a temporary line to the dairy barn. Without electrical power supplied to the barn, the cows must be milked by hand and facilities for sterilization or refrigeration are hampered.

The old cable to West Waters was run through tunnels connecting the buildings, Gingrich remarked. The new cable will be laid in a shallow ditch. When first ordered, the cable was intended to be used for the Military Science building, but is more urgently needed for West Ag.

Boy Scouts Invited

Kansas Boy Scouts and scoutmasters will be guests of Alpha Phi Omega, service fraternity, at the Engineers Open House at the College tomorrow, John Tweed, president, from Powhattan, has announced. The College fraternity is composed of former Eagle Scouts.

Visiting scouts will be guests at a dinner in the College cafeteria and will be shown films of the National Boy Scout Jamboree in addition to attending the Open House, Tweed said.

BALLET IS HERE AT 8:15 TONIGHT

The curtain will rise tonight at 8:15 on Mia Slavenska and her ballet troupe in the College Auditorium. Tickets will be on sale in the College box office today for this evening's program which ends the Manhattan Artist Series.

Eight dancers accompanied by a duo piano team, will be featured in "Settlers Sunday" with its range of Western atmosphere during the good old days including The Sheriff, The Cowboy, The Sheriff, The Refined Ladies, and the Rich Rancher with Wife and Child. This number is one of the few ballets in which American folklore and American characters are interpreted by toe dancing.

Slavenska herself will present a dance poem "Salome," which is a psychological study portraying the violent passion for her lover and the forces of evil and destruction leading to her doom.

Other program numbers include the Cake Walk, Ballet, and Minuet taken from Debussy's "Pietra in Percelesine"; Liszt's "Concerto Romantica"; and "Coppelia" by Debiles.

UNESCO on Radio

Radio programs to be used on KSAC are being prepared by members of the UNESCO Mass Media interest group. The members of the radio workshops write the scripts at the Mass Media meetings and later present them on the air.

John Huenefeld has been appointed chairman of the group by the UNESCO Secretariat.

R.O.T.C. to Award 141 Commissions to Cadets Today

Cadet commissions will be awarded 141 advanced students in ROTC at Kansas State College today, Col. Arthur G. Hutchinson, head of the military science department at the College, announced.

Among those named were five Lt. Colonels, four majors, 16 captains, 87 first lieutenants and 29 second lieutenants. A colonel will be selected from the five Lt. Colonels, Hutchinson said.

Students and their rank include:

Lt. Colonels—Jerry Brooks, Harold Mitchell, Nobel Peterson, William Ramsey and Maurice Thorne.

Majors—John Card, Russell Gard, Harold Shields and Philip Stallard.

Captains—Richard Jepsen, John Bushnell, Jr., William H. Houghton, Robert P. Kuhn, Robert Lehnen, Richard Linholm, Duane Nelson, Lester Shriver, Max Sutton, Robert Swan, Glenn Ut, Jr., Morris Warner, Carmen Wilcox, Richard Winger and Robert Woodson.

Howard M. Frost, John O. Fuller, Jack O. Greenwalt, Loys W. Guest, Albert L. Hancock, Harold D. Heise, Gordon M. Herr, James O. Hibbard, Kenneth W. Junt, William G. Johnston, Dayton K. Kern, Eugene R. Kern, Peter Kohlbus.

Stanley R. Lindgren, Thomas E. Levick, Richard A. Long, Martin A. Massoth, Jessie C. Mayfield, Wayne H. McElwee, Robert P. McFadden, Frank J. McBride, Dayton E. Molzen, Harold W. Miller, Robert R. Mook, Jack A. Moll, James A. Morgan, James R. Mussett.

Joe N. Newberry, William G. Nickelson, Carl F. Pache, Robert M. Palmer, Leslie C. Parrish, Donald L. Paulston, Ronald T. Peterson, Robert L. Pettit, Jr., Dale W. Quakenbush, Elmer G. Quint, Donald F. Rader, Kersey H. Reed, LeRoy W. Reynolds, James D. Ryan.

Stephen S. Sage, Glenn W. Scanlon, William I. Schafer, Julius J. Schrader, Warren J. Seiff, Benton M. Starks, Charles J. Thornton, LeRoy L. Vineyard, Charles E. Walker, Chester L. Walker, Marvin K. Welsh and Robert L. Yates.

Found Out

The woman behind the counter said, "You should be on the basketball team" as she leaned over to collect his change. "How tall are you anyhow?"

"Oh, I'm about six-four," the young man replied, "and occasionally I do get around to playing a little basketball."

"Well, K-State could use a few boys like you," the woman continued. "What did you say your name was?"

"Ward Clark," he smilingly replied as he stepped out the door.

Military Display Has Butterfly Bomb

A "butterfly bomb" will be among the Kansas State College military science displays at Engineers Open House here today and Saturday, Capt. Frederick C. Bohannon, public information officer, has disclosed.

An anti-personnel bomb, the butterfly splits into many smaller bombs and spreads over a wide area after being dropped, Bohannon said.

Other recent military equipment to be displayed includes several types of new flying suits for temperatures from 160 degrees Fahrenheit to 60 below, other anti-personnel, general and practice bombs, rockets and samples of the new C and G ratios.

Much of the military display was flown to Manhattan from Eglin Field, Fla., for the Open House, Bohannon said.

'Angel Street' to Be Last Big Production

"It's a mystery fan's delight," stated Prof. Earl G. Hoover as he announced that "Angel Street" would be presented by the Kansas State Players on April 23 and 24. "Angel Street" will be the last major production for the players this semester.

Patrick Hamilton's Victorian thriller enjoyed a three year run in the Golden Theater in New York. The story was on the screen under the title of "Gas Light" with Ingrid Bergman.

The five characters of the play are in the process of being selected. Final try-outs, held at 7:30 in G 206, will be Monday evening.

Future Homes Alarm Grandpa

A display contrasting the houses of yesterday with the houses of today and tomorrow makes up the main feature of the Architectural Department's exhibit at Engineers' Open House Friday and Saturday of this week.

The theme of the display is "The Home of Today and Tomorrow" and three shadow boxes illustrate the main exhibit. In the first, a model of an old type house, complete with gingerbread, an ornamental trim used frequently in former days of construction, is shown. A modern home of the type built about 1941 is also displayed. The third shadow box contains a model of a proposed house of the future, one that will probably be built about 1955. In connection with this will be a panel exhibit with cartoons illustrating the problems of the modern house builder.

Tied in closely with the shadow box display will be a model constructed by the sophomore class students in which they will show how a lot may be fully utilized to include indoor and outdoor living. A house is shown on the lot as well as the areas for outdoor living and recreation.

A near life-size cartoon with the caption, "Was it good enough for Grandpa, and is it good enough for you?" is the first thing the public will see as an introduction to the exhibit.

Other exhibits shown will include a scale model of the field house to be begun this spring and a humorous exhibit prepared by the senior students in architecture.

In the gallery on the second floor, Professor John Helm is preparing a display of students' art work. These will include etchings, oil paintings, water colors, and frehand sketches. Another exhibit of student art will be in the third floor gallery.

Engineers Expect 28,000 at Open House this Year

Today is the day for Engineering at Kansas State College. The day that ushers in the 24th annual Open House, sponsored by the School of Engineering and Architecture.

Little Girl Queen at Ag's Little Royal

Instead of a K-State coed for queen of the Little American Royal Stock Show April 10, students who exhibit animals in the show will choose their reigning beauty from the ranks of the younger misses. Candidates cannot be younger than two years old and older than six, and will be daughters of Block and Bridle and Dairy Club members.

Pictures will be taken of all the little girl candidates and voted on by men participating in the show.

Cat Succumbs; Another Sought

K-State's newly acquired mascot succumbed to gangrene last Monday night, but another cat will be acquired soon, according to Wyatt Silker, Alpha Phi Omega, national service fraternity, which is sponsoring the idea of a mascot to promote school spirit.

The cat's right front paw was partially severed by the trap in which it was caught and despite the penicillin and sulfa-drugs administered to it by the Veterinary Hospital, gangrene set in and caused its death.

The fraternity plans to go ahead with its campaign to build a cage under the north radio tower and to raise funds for the care of a new cat. When the new cat arrives, they will conduct a naming contest for it.

Dave Hockman, Kansas State student from Cheboygan, Mich., whose trap line was used to capture the first cat, says that he is sure another one will be captured soon. If one is not caught by the end of the semester, he plans to spend the summer trying to capture one himself.

Poll Finds KSC Men Favor UM

By Jack Habig
"Universal military training is a good thing if it will prevent another Pearl Harbor," said Harry Jennings, junior veteran in mechanical engineering, when asked for his opinion after President Truman's speech to Congress Wednesday.

Such was the opinion of almost all students, veterans and non-veterans alike.

All veterans were in favor of military training. They all thought that it would be a good thing for boys just out of high school to spend a year or so in the army. It would also keep our country in a position to show other nations we were not weak.

Teaches How To Live
"I think there is no better way to teach a boy how to live than to be in the army. It helps him to learn to get along with other people and helps him become a man," was the opinion of Royce Larson, junior veteran in civil engineering.

Glen Jacobson, senior veteran in industrial chemistry, added, "It is necessary for the military well-being of our country and to back up our diplomatic policy."

Non-veterans thought that the training was a good thing, but that they would not like to leave school. They were in favor of having their ROTC training substituted for time in service.

Kept In School
Morris Hostetter, freshman non-veteran in industrial journalism, said that in time of a crisis like this it was the best thing to do, but he thought "they shouldn't take us out of school. They should give us credit for our time in ROTC."

Some non-veterans said that even though they would have to go into service if the draft law were passed, they realized it was necessary for the defense of the country.

"Even though I'll have to go, I realize that it will help keep the peace if they have the draft," was the comment of Alan Pittaway, junior non-veteran in chemical engineering.

An overflow crowd is expected for this event. Twenty-two thousand spectators were here last year, and according to Dick Sizemore, chairman of Open House, a record-breaking crowd of 28,000 is expected to pass through the doors of Engineering Hall today and tomorrow.

Theme of this year's exposition is "Engineering for the Future." Visitors will get a glimpse of the proposed advances in phases of engineering that will occur in the next 10 or 15 years, according to Sizemore.

Activities will start at 9:30 this morning when Dr. W. E. Burnett, Director of Research at Wichita University will speak at an Open House assembly in the auditorium.

Formal opening of Open House will be tonight at 6:30 p. m. with tours conducted through Engineering Hall, Chemical Engineering Building, Industrial Art Shop, Agricultural Engineering Shops, Agricultural Engineering Barracks, Drawing Barracks and the basement of Illustrations Building where the television studio is located.

Whistle Blast Opens Affair
To officially start Open House the whistle at the Power Plant will blast for 30 seconds.

Student radio station KSRS (Kansas State radio station) will be opened from 7 to 11 p. m. Friday and 2 to 5:30 p. m. Saturday. They will present mock broadcasts for entertainment of visitors. These shows will consist of music shows, dramatic productions, and disc jockey comedies. Another feature will be the announcements to the audience of incoming scores of games being played in the NCAA tournament.

The schedule tomorrow is open house in all engineering buildings from 1 p. m. till 6 p. m. which is formal closing time. The climax of the Open House is St. Pat's Prom held in Nichols' gym, at which the Open House trophy will be awarded to the department with the winning exhibit, and St. Pat and St. Patricia will be crowned.

To handle the crowd, the building and repair department has added extra deputies to help with parking and traffic problems. R. O. T. C. students will act as ushers and help conduct tours. The street running north from the corner of highway 24 to the Military Science building has been blocked off to facilitate tours. A sign to divide the tours and give visitors an alternative as to which division they want to see first will be erected in front of the main entrance.

Biggest Event of Year
Now the biggest event on the College Campus, Open House was originally started as a competition to the Farm and Home week connected with the Agricultural School. The exhibits in the engineering display grew until now it attracts visitors from all parts of this state and surrounding ones.

Each engineering division has an exhibit and the competition for the Open House trophy will be keen. Last year the electrical engineers won it and will be gunning for a repeat this year. The department winning three times consecutively gains permanent possession. The beer bottle organ will be back this year as a feature of the mechanical engineering display with Rodney Keif as organist. Another feature will be a series of panoramic views depicting the evolution of jet power. Television and high fidelity recording machines will be shown by the electrical engineers.

Other exhibits include the model of houses contrasting the old with the new in the Architecture department; the glass model oil refinery that will be working refining crude oil and the model atomic pile of the chemical engineers; the model dams exhibited by the civil engineers; the model planes and the flying saucer in the aeronautical division as well as a jet-powered model plane.

Airplanes Through Town
The airplane south of Engineering Hall were taxied through town at 7:30 this morning with a (Continued on Page 2)

Just One Big Weekend

To the non-college graduate visiting the campus this weekend, it would seem that campus life was just one big round of entertainments, parties, programs and the only topic a college man or woman could discuss intelligently is basketball. He would be inclined to scoff here. He reports that the college student of today is more studious, that colleges teaching loads were so heavy that there was no time or room in the modern curriculum for open houses or entertainments. And he would be positively, irrevocably convinced that athletic events are paramount in student interest.

From one viewpoint he would be right. Just take a look at the College calendar for this weekend.

Top billing this weekend goes to the annual Engineers Open House to be held Friday night and Saturday. Thousands of persons from all over the state are expected to attend.

For an interesting as well as educational evening, it would well be worth anyone's time to take off an hour or two and go to the Open House. You can leave your money at home, for the night will be the St. Pauli Room with the traditional crowning of the Queen of the Open House.

One hundred and fifty miles away from the University of Wyoming, Wildcat play-offs in Kansas City with our own Wildcats tangling with the University of Wyoming Friday night. Besides keeping most of the students, who couldn't get tickets to the contest, entertained by radio, it will be a night of rabid fans throughout the state.

Next on the list is the presentation of this year's Fine Arts Series program. The program Friday night will feature the Ballet Variante group consisting of four men and four women dancers.

Going on down the list we find two sororities holding their spring formal this weekend. Two fraternities are holding parties or formal also.

Last, but certainly not least, will be the first presentation of Handel's Messiah in Manhattan since 1943. The Manhattan College-Civic Chorus will present the oratorio in the auditorium Sunday afternoon.

Our disillusioned visitor may be right. But where else, besides on an American college campus, could one find an inexpensive, educational, varied type of entertainment in conjunction with the educational opportunities offered during the week?

President Truman asked Congress Wednesday for the power to draft men again. He said we need a temporary draft to build our strength until universal military training could give us the trained men we need. Mr. Truman said he asks for strengthened armed forces only to keep peace.

Former Secretary of State James F. Byrnes wants American action, not a "letter of protest," should Russia threaten the independence of Greece, Turkey, France or Italy. He said by "action" he meant the use of American troops to enforce United States policy.

A 50-year treaty pledging mutual military aid was signed this week by Great Britain, France, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg. The treaty left the door open for additions to the alliance.

The Senate approved the economic cooperation act of 1948 authorizing $5,300,000,000 for loans and grants. The money is for the first 12 months of the four-year European Recovery Program. The vote was 69 to 17. The measure now goes to the House of Representatives.

Almost 190,000 coal miners are idle. This is their answer to John L. Lewis's request last week to show their "reaction" to his charge that operators had "dishonored" the 1947 wage agreement on a pension plan.

Italy has been warned by the State Department that if she goes Communist she will receive no further economic aid from the United States. The Italians hold their national election April 18.

The steel industry has been criticized by the government for failing to consider the public interest when they recently raised steel prices five to six dollars a ton. President Truman's Council of Economic Advisors have been investigating the steel industry.

Major General Bennett E. Meyers was sentenced to twenty months to five years in prison. Meyers was deputy purchasing chief for the Air Force during the war. He was convicted last Friday for inducing a former business associate to lie under oath to a senate committee.

A Trans World Airline passenger plane was fired on in Palestine this week, according to the pilot of the plane. The pilot said tracer bullets were fired at the plane as he was taking off from a Palestine airport. The airplane is now refusing reservations to Palestine.

The War Crimes Division of the Army announced that 1300 Nazi and Fascist war criminals have been convicted. To date 2500 defendants have been tried on war crimes. Of these, 1300 have been convicted.

Letters to the Editor

VOX STUDENS

(Editor's note: The opinions presented in this column may or may not express the opinion of The Collegian. The letters are presented here for student information.)

Dear Editor,
I really don't know why I should be writing you a letter, after all I undoubtedly have the distinction of being the only man to ever be honored by Mortar Board, the national honorary society for senior women. However, under the circumstances, I think somebody should be a little more careful—after all, I might become a member in good standing and I don't know who would be more embarrassed, Mortar Board or myself.

The letter which I received in the college mail stated that I was eligible for Mortar Board and that I would be honored at a dinner as an outstanding Junior woman at Kansas State. This is indeed a great honor but I'm afraid I can't accept.

A similar thing happened when I started at Kansas State as a freshman, a girl came to the house and wanted to pledge me for a sorority. I have always wondered why I didn't do so.

The whole trouble seems to be the way I spell my name, J-O-N-N-I-E. I always thought it was a good common name even though not commonly spelled that way. Now I'm beginning to wonder if it is such a good name after all.

Is somebody afraid to look any further than a first name or should I change my name to something like Archibald???

Sincerely,
Mr. Jonnie Burroughs

Dear Editor,
This letter is not to express my disappointment at not being able to secure tickets to the Oklahoma A. & M.-Kansas State game Monday night, even though I do not consider the ticket sales

Campus Courts

By JACK WADDELL

Campus Courts was placed in the dark Wednesday night from 8 until 10 p. m. The residents first thought the housing office had turned the power off to force payment of the electricity bill, but later found that it was due to a broken cable. Campus Courts was billed for a electricity last month that was $400 more than had ever been charged them. Most of the residents feel it is impossible for Campus Courts to use that much electricity.

Mr. and Mrs. R. K. Harmon became the parents of a third girl last Sunday evening. Their new baby girl is Betty Jo, born at the Parkview Hospital. The Harmons live in large trailer.

I really believe that this poem expresses the sentiments of the people of Kansas City and they certainly are behind Kansas State 100 percent.

Yours truly,
Leland E. Turner, Jr.

On Other Campuses

By Ralph C. Smith

Many of the "big wheels" on campuses throughout the country are in the dark as to what is expected of them, so writes the Drake University paper. Perhaps we can apply the physicist's definition to the campus "wheel." "A wheel is a simple tool."

The disappearance of a 35 foot flag pole from in front of the Delta Tau Fraternity building is a mystery at Oregon State. It is thought that possibly it was blown out of town merrily by the wind. Any good ideas as to where it is in front of Aggieville might be fastened down after all people from out of town make regular visits to it, too, you know.

Want a ride home this weekend? The YMCA at Indiana University has formed a Travel Bureau. It is a new and painless way of getting rides and riding together. It isn't a bad idea "huh." You could add it to the 1357 other services performed by the Y office in the Student Union.

The Deans of the various schools at Kansas State held a meeting recently. It was clear to all that the Dean of Agriculture should be handicapped so that he have him a "dry" cow to milk.

Comes word from down Texas way that the rate of alcoholism in Texas is less than elsewhere. Also of startling proportions is the fact that most alcoholics are in the upper educational and economic levels. All of which calls to our mind the picture of the editor of the Collegian taking the WCTU "Clippers" on the wall of the Collegian office each week. We can't help but wonder why.

The campus humor magazine at Louisiana State has been banned from the campus for printing an article about a New Orleans strip tease artist. Heck, we can't even find one to watch, much less to write about.

A Oklahoma University writer thinks, "It's an ill wind that refuses to blow when a flapper passes a corner."

The typical analytical mind of a Iowa State male was demonstrated perfectly a few days ago. One of the girls was wandering around the Union selling chicks for the Green Gander (picture humor magazine) advanced sales campaign. She made the mistake of slithering up to a table of frat boys and asking, "Anyone like a Gander for a quarter?" Three men were trampled in the rush that followed.

The Oklahoma Daily moans and groans in verse: The more you write the more you're wrong! The student moaned as the day grew long. And he gathered up his graded quiz with 'D' on the front. "That makes two like this!" The first little test he was brief as could be and the grade he got sure 'nuff was a 'D'. With admonition most prolific the professor had written, "Be specific." This quiz now, he wrote a 'lot' and look at this, a 'D' he got. And the advice that was given gave no relief for in two bold words it said, "Be brief!"

MAIL BALLOTS FOR YM OFFICES

Eighteen candidates seek office at the YMCA election Tuesday and Wednesday. The election will be conducted in a different manner this year, according to Bill West, YMCA executive secretary.

Ballots will be mailed to all YMCA members to be marked and returned to the election board in Anderson Hall before 5 p.m. Wednesday.

Roger Wilk and Bob Weatherble are candidates for president of the Y. Three of the five running for vice president will be elected. The nominees are Kenneth Bell, Philip De Puy, James Dixon, Jed Ramsey and Howard C. Wood.

Ray Doyen and Don Jackson will compete for recording secretary. Six students are candidates for the board of directors, which has five members. They are: John Aiken, Don Alexander, Ralph Arnold, Harold Dalbom, Charles Hall and Thomas Means.

Among the faculty members who seek election to the board of directors are Dr. Howard T. Hill, head of the speech department and present chairman of the board, Paul Torrance of the Counseling Bureau and Eugene D. Warner, of extension publicity.

Nominating committee for the election are John Aiken, Prof. E. S. Bagley of the economics and sociology department, Dan Clark, Larry McManis, and Howard C. Wood. Chairman of the election board is Paul Gwin. Gene Bruner and Leroy Atwell are members of the board.

Instructors Are Source of Grade

Difficulty in obtaining grade cards may be avoided by following the procedure prescribed by the college, according to Eleanor Tibbetts, registrar. Grade cards are sold in Kedzie Hall and should be filled out and turned in to instructors before the end of the semester. When the instructors have completed grading they will fill out the cards and mail them directly to students.

Complaints registered at the registrar's office and at offices of the various deans indicate student dissatisfaction with the present system of issuing grade cards. Several students have inquired at the registrar's office about their grades. College regulations prevent grades being given out by the office until they have been recorded on the student's dean's card. The cards will be completed by mid-semester, according to the registrar.

Photostats Used

Kansas State College is one of the many colleges throughout the United States that makes use of the Inter-library Loan Service, according to William Baehr, college librarian. He explained that when a volume itself cannot be lent, a photostatic copy is sent to the requesting college.

Magazine and social publications are listed to show the library that possesses the desired material. Reference books are used to locate other types of publications.

Dr. Weber Honored by Scholarship Fund

Dr. A. D. "Dad" Weber of the College has been honored by the establishment of a scholarship fund in his name by the Century Club of the Kansas Livestock Association, R. I. Throckmorton, dean of the School of Agriculture, has disclosed.

Dr. Weber is a nationally-known beef cattle authority, Dean Throckmorton said. He has judged at nearly all the major cattle shows in the country.

In establishing the scholarship fund, the Century Club members said it was for Weber's "outstanding contributions to the livestock industry of Kansas."

Dr. George A. Filing, professor of horticulture and secretary of Kansas Locker Association, will leave Saturday to attend a meeting of the state locker secretaries of the north central states to be held in Chicago Sunday and Monday.

Chem Engineers Show Atomic Pile

Guests at the Engineering Open House this weekend will be able to see how atomic energy might be utilized for industrial purposes, according to Lawrence Adee, senior in chemical engineering. Adee is directing exhibits of the Department of Chemical Engineering. The atomic pile will be erected in front of the Chemical Engineering building if weather permits. Otherwise it will be in the basement of the building. Chemical engineers in charge of the project will be Jim Foltz, John Honstead, and Clyde Hinnman.

In the basement there will be a cardboard model of the 20 million dollar Stanolind Synthol plant which will be built near Garden City soon. The model will show gasoline and other products being made from natural gas. Bob McHarg is in charge of this project.

Bill Elbl, will be in charge of a model cement plant in the process of making Portland cement. Another exhibit will be a starch refinery in production so that visitors will be able to see starch being extracted from the grain. Bob Arnold will be in charge of this exhibition.

Wildcats Continue Drive for National Cage Crown

Kansas State's Wildcats will continue their search for national honors tonight at 7:45 in Kansas City's Municipal Auditorium when they tangle with Wyoming University in the first game of a feature bill. On Saturday night, the winner of this game will play the winner of the Washington-Baylor game for the Western NCAA championship. The losers of the Friday night game will meet in the preliminary game Saturday night to decide third place.

The two finalists will go to Madison Square Garden to play against the finalists of the eastern NCAA tournament. If the Wildcats can win the tournament in Kansas City, they will be assured a spot in the Olympic tournament which will be held to determine the U. S. representative for the 1948 Olympic games in London.

After defeating Oklahoma A & M, K-State is considered one of the favorites to cop first place in the tourney. Washington University's Huskies have also been picked as a team to be watched. Washington defeated California U., two games out of three, to become the Coast representative in the tourney.

Baylor, winner of the Southwest conference, defeated Arizona U. two consecutive games in the southwest play-off. Baylor in the season, Baylor lost a one-point decision to the Oklahoma Aggies in the Oklahoma City tournament.

Although the Wildcats are given the nod over Wyoming by the odds-makers, Coach Jack Gardner is not taking the contest lightly. "The Cats have a good outfit, they're experienced, and they've come along fast at the end of the season," Gardner said. "Once these boys get ahead, they're probably the toughest team in the country to beat. They play a half-court game that is next to impossible to break up." This season, the Funchers won the conference crown, and have beaten both Holy Cross and Utah, NCAA and Garden Invitational champions, last year.

Wyoming's coach, Everett F. Shelton, has compiled one of the nation's outstanding coaching records. In 24 years of coaching, his teams have won 19 championships. Since coming to Wyoming in 1924, Shelton's teams have won the Big Seven (now the Skyline Six) conference four times. His most outstanding team was probably the 1943 aggregation which won the conference championship, the western NCAA play-offs, the NCAA championship in Madison Square Garden, and then defeated St. John's for the mythical world's championship. The round out the clean sweep the Cowboys defeated Phillips 66, perennial AAU champions, two games in Denver. Playing on that team were such all-Americans as Kenny Sailors, Milo Komenich, and Jim Weir.

This year, Shelton has again come up with a team that is slated to make it rough-going for the opposition at Kansas City. At forwards for the Cowboys will be Doty and Payton. Reed, 6 ft. 9 inch, giant, will play the center position. At guards will be Collins and Pilech. Gardner points out that Pilech, 6 ft. 5 inch guard and Reed will make it tough under the backboards. "They're big boys," Gardner says, "and we're going to have to hustle to control the rebounds."

The Wildcat starting line-up is doubtful, according to Gardner. "Brannum's knee is some better and he may start, but Howey's ribs are still in bad shape," he said. "Hal received several hard knocks in the game with Oklahoma A & M, and if anything, is in worse shape than he was Monday." Rick Harman is a sure starter at the other forward. "Red-eye" Howard Shannon will be at one guard and steady Jack Dean at the other.

The game with the Aggies was the first time this year that the same five men have not started for the Wildcats. Everyone is ready to go, Gardner has indicated that he will lead with the usual five-star attack.

Good Luck Wire Received by Cats

Coach Jack Gardner and the Wildcats received the following telegram yesterday from Henry G. Bennett, president of Oklahoma A and M College.

You and your fine team have our best wishes for success as you enter the Western Division, NCAA Tournament. It is our hope that you go through to the championship and the right to represent our Western states for the national title in New York. Gardner also has received many other congratulatory messages, among them:

A letter from Governor Frank Carlson wishing the team luck; a message from Mayor Frank J. Warren, Topeka; and a message from Ray D. Hodrell, secretary of the city of Topeka.

Optimistic Fan

Earl G. Hoover, director of dramatics, claims to be Kansas State's most optimistic basketball fan.

This not an idle boast. He has proof. Mr. Hoover ordered a ticket for the NCAA tournament last Monday, before the Wildcats met the Oklahoma Aggies.

Baseball Hopefuls Drill at City Park

Coach Lud Fiser moved his baseball candidates to City Park for hitting and throwing drills this week. With only three weeks remaining before the opener against Oklahoma A&M, April 9, Fiser is welcoming the first "baseball" weather of the spring. Hitting is dominating the workouts at the park. Outfielders are getting in some fly-chasing time. Because there is no diamond at City Park, the infield candidates are not holding drills.

Griffith field, home of the Wildcats, has not been put into playing condition yet. Workmen will begin smoothing the infield dirt as soon as the soil is completely thawed. Fiser will start trimming the roster when the Cats begin extended practice at Griffith Field. If the present good weather holds, the coach expects to take his squad onto the diamond next week.

Two letterman pitchers have not reported for work. Jack Dean and Jack Bell are still working out with the basketball team. Fiser feels that their physical condition will be so that it won't take long for them to swing into the baseball routine.

Mermaids to Topeka for Swim Play-Day

Nine members of the Frog Club, girls swimming club, will go to Washburn Municipal University tomorrow for a swimming play-day.

Those making the trip are Virginia Bryan, Peggy McClay, Patricia Varnick, Darlene Meisner, Marilyn Boice, Pat Wilkinson, Joan Frank, Connie Frizzell and Marguerite Nebergall.

The play-day will begin at noon with a luncheon. Registration will be from 1:30 to 2 p. m. and the swimming events will be from 2 to 5 p. m., according to Miss Dorothy Lawhead, instructor of physical education for women and Frog Club sponsor.

Nine races are on the day's program. Included are 20-yard crawl, 20-yard breast stroke, 20-yard back crawl, one-meter diving, 40-yard crawl, 40-yard back crawl, 40-yard breast stroke, 60-yard medley relay and 80-yard free style relay.

Synchronized swimming will also be on the program. In it the girls swim in formation in time to music. Three different sized groups, duet, quartet and octet, will participate in the synchronized event.

Aspiring Girl Basketeers Rival Big Seven Champs

By Janice Addington

Look out for your basketball crown, Gardnermen! These days the K-State women are dragging basketball to new depths on the floor in the girls' gym.

Girls' intramural basketball is new in the second week of play-offs. Fifteen teams are competing; nine Greek teams and six independent teams. The Greek girls are listed by their sorority. The independents use a psychological name. Striking terror into the hearts of the opposition by mention of their name, the Blitz Babes, an independent team, have a definite pre-game advantage—so the parlay cards say.

A fast break is a thing of the past with the girls. It just isn't possible, the girls wail, with the rule book allowing you only one bounce and a step.

Idolizing our winning team, the girls aspire to be a second Rick Harman. Missing most of their shots, though, so no one has the desired 11.3 average. The girls resemble the converting "beastus" under a microscope. Each bump brings forth a shove and each shove brings forth the whistle. A protest usually follows, the free shot is taken and most of the time, is missed.

WARD CLARK and AL LANGTON, who came through Monday night in substitute roles for injured Hal Howey and Clarence Brannum. Their play was largely responsible for the Wildcat victory over Oklahoma A and M.

Wildcat Stars Rank High in League Scoring Race

Two members of Kansas State's fast breaking five-star starters rank among the top ten scorers in the Big Seven, according to official statistics.

Rick Harman, the "Little Hayseed" from Holsington, Kas., and Howard "The Swan" Shannon stack up fourth and sixth respectively in the loop tallying. Harman has bucketed 136 points for an average of 11 points a game, while Shannon has swished the nets for 127 and a 10 point average.

The tail team leads all loop competition in field goals, sinking 53 this campaign. He also is far ahead in free throw accuracy, having made 91.3 percent of his charity fires.

Fansher to Wrestle in NCAA Tourney

Jack Gardner's hustling Wildcats are not Kansas State's only representative for N. C. A. A. honors. Stanley Fansher will compete in the N. C. A. A. wrestling tournament today and tomorrow at Lehigh University, according to Coach "Red" Reynard, wrestling coach.

Stan is not new to the national wrestling tournament. He placed fifth in last year's meet. Fansher, Big Seven 145 lb. champion the past two years, left Tuesday for Bethlehem, Pa.

Verle McClellan, who walked off with the Big Seven 136 lb. crown at Boulder, Colo., two weeks ago, decided not to go to the national tournament although he was eligible, Reynard said. McClellan has wrestled all year in the 155 lb. class even though it is some 15 over his weight, according to the tug-and-tussle tutor.

"The top four men in each

Freshman Grapplers in Mat Tournament

Although the varsity wrestling season is over, the wrestling team in Nichols Gymnasium has been a busy place during the past week. Leon "Red" Reynard, mat maestro, said today:

Some 39 freshmen grappling hopefuls have been engaged in a wrestling tournament. Coach Reynard considers this year's crop of frosh wrestlers exceptionally talented. Two former high school state champions are on the roster.

Frank Solomon won the state 175 lb. championship last year while competing for Wichita North. Gerald Hackney won the heavyweight crown for Oberlin in 1942 and 43. Reynard, mastermind of methodical mauling, thinks young Hackney is a better prospect than brother Elmer "One-Man-Gang" Hackney, who won the Big Six title in 1938.

The tournament winners:

Jim Wharton, Manhattan, 121

Bill Crawford, Pittsburgh, 128

George O'Neal, Colby, 136

Frank Aschenbrenner, Colby, 145

Frank Mosier, Hoxie, 155

Don Lockstrom, Salina, 161

Frank Solomon, Wichita, 175

Gerald Hackney, Oberlin, heavyweight.

Victors in each weight division will be awarded frosh uniforms and sweaters.

Three Little Bands Add Up to One

"Don't put all your eggs in one basket," might have been the motto of Jean Hedlund, band director, when the Kansas State College 100-piece band was preparing to go by bus to Kansas City to the play-offs early this week.

He divided up the band so there was almost equal instrumentation in each of the three buses, thus assuring himself of at least a small band if something happened to one of the buses on the way.

Backstage space for a 100-piece band proved to be a problem. Space for the smaller instruments was found inside the buses, while room for seven tubas and four snare drums was finally provided for in the baggage compartment. The bus drum had to be put in the aisle in one of the buses, however, when room for the big instruments ran out.

AT STATE

In your Easter bonnet with all the frills upon it—come Sunday, the debut of spring, that's what you'll be seeing. In the meantime, there is plenty going on tonight and Saturday on the Kansas State campus, with the Engineers' Open House heading the list. Date books also tell of the Alpha Chi Omega spring formal which will be tonight at the County Club from 9 to 12.

Tomorrow night brings the Alpha Xi Delta "Rose Bowl" at the Community House. The gym, according to reports, will be highly decorated for the annual engineers' St. Pat's Prom. Members of Farm House and their dates will dance at the Avalon Ballroom at their annual "Sunburst Rose" formal. "Chocolates at the Pi Beta Phi house," Nancy Diggle, editor of the Collegian during the '30s, passed "awards" to her Pi Phi sisters announcing her engagement to Vearl Root. Root is from Mission and was married in industrial journalism in January. Vearl Root is a junior in psychology. A smooch line was formed for Vearl following the announcement.

The annual 1856 Club party will be tonight at the Sigma Alpha Epsilon chapter house. Lambda Chi Alpha's held an informal party at the Country Club last Friday. The evening was spent dancing and playing cards along with skits given by frat members. The climax of the party came when a smooch line was formed for Clayton Wilcox and his fiancée, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Lashbrook acted as chaperons.

Cigars at the PiKA house told of the engagement of Wendell Lind, Manhattan, to Madeline Drew of Cronston R. I. Madeline was graduated from Boston University and is now teaching in New London, Conn. The wedding date is set for August.

The annual Farm House Sweetheart Dinner will be held at the chapter house from 1 to 3 Sunday.

Weekend guests of La Fiel were Betty Mertz from Marysville and Jerry McCurdy from McPherson. Both formerly lived at La Fiel.

The Alpha Tau Omega's had cigars last night from Ray Yelley announcing his engagement to Sueann Patrick of Wichita.

Kappa Alpha Psi fraternity is having a party tonight at Douglas Center from 9 to 12 p. m.

Helen Warner, graduate student in home economics, passed chocolates at La Fiel announcing her engagement to Max Tooley, Kappa Sig. Max is a sophomore in business administration. A smooch line was formed at La Fiel Wednesday night following dinner. Helen is from Colby, and Max from Hutchinson.

Jim Loyd and Bob Feldner represented Kansas State's chapter of Delta Tau Delta at a conference of the Western Division at Lawrence last Friday and Saturday. They attended an alumni banquet at the President Hotel in Kansas City, Friday.

Theta Xi's received cigars from Mr. and Mrs. Ben Patterson announcing the birth of Patricia Jean. Ben was on the campus last year. He is now working for a chemical company in Terre Haute, Ind.

Alpha Phi Omega, national service fraternity, held formal pledging Tuesday night for the following men: Robert Adams, John Baker Jr., Ted Bayer, Earl Burdick, Glenn Byrd, Shirley Cheatum, Donn Demaree, David Dixon, Harold Dunham, Robert Edger, Leighton Fairbairn, James Fasset, Donald Gray, Haze Hess, James Holman, John Hill, Robert Jansen, Allan Keith, Bernard Lehman, William Lewis Jr., Robert McCausland, John McKeen, Jessie Mayfield, Everett Mufkey, Edward Nease, Donald Nyberg, Fred Peterson, Leo Ream, Henri Rondeau, Hal Ross, Philip Rude, James Scriven, Libourn Steinert, George Strunk, Dean Townner, Phil True, Robert Turner, Francis Van Warner, Keith Venburg, James Walkins, Clarence Watson, Trevor Watson, Mark Field and Robert Bruce. Any men interested in Alpha Phi are asked to attend the club meeting Tuesday in Anderson 211.

There are 240 pounds difference between a long and a short ton.

Faculty, Students Attend H.E. Confab

Twenty faculty members and two student representatives are attending the annual convention of the Kansas Home Economics Association in Lawrence, today and tomorrow.

Dr. Lois Schulz, head of the department of child welfare, is chairman of a discussion group. This afternoon, Dr. Abby Marlatt, Miss Tessie Agan and Miss Esther Cornary will discuss what is new in home economics research; and "How new trends affect our program" will be discussed by Miss Hazel Thompson, assisted by Dr. Martha Kramer and Miss Georgiana Smurthwaite.

Attending the convention are: Dean Margaret Justin, Dr. Martha Kramer, Miss Margaret Raffington, Dr. Lois Schulz.

Mrs. Bessie West, Miss Dorothy Barfoot, Dr. Josephine Kremer, Mrs. Laura Baxter, Miss Tessie Agan, Mrs. Katherine Hess, Mrs. Coral Aldous, Mrs. Leone Kell, Miss Catherine Marsh, Miss Esther Christensen, Dr. Abby Marlatt, Dr. Dorothy Harrison and Miss Grace Goertz. Marilyn Jones and Laberta Kugler are the student representatives.

Music Profs Judge High School Festival

Two members of the Kansas State College music staff will act as judges at a high school music festival at Green Friday, according to Luther Leavengood, music department head.

J. Forrest West, associate professor of voice, will judge vocal contest entries and conduct a combined chorus of entrants. Jean Hedlund, instrumental instructor and band director, will judge instrumental entries and conduct combined bands at the festival.

Schools at the festival, all from Clay County, will include Milford, Wakefield, Morganville, Longford and Green.

Hedlund will also act as judge of woodwind instrument entries at the Iroquois League of high school musicians at Bucklin next Tuesday.

The Kansas State Collegian

VOLUME LIV

Kansas State College, Manhattan, Kansas, March 23, 1948

NUMBER 45

Student Drowns in College Pool Friday Afternoon

John Leroy Kreider, 19, freshman in chemical engineering, drowned Friday at approximately 4:50 p.m. in the College swimming pool. His body was found on the bottom of the pool at the deep end by Elisha Phil Sanders and brought to the surface by Carl Grieshaber. Both were at the pool at the time of the drowning, according to the athletic department.

College physicians, along with the help of Sanders, Grieshaber, Coach Leon Reynard, Don Lockstrom and Robert E. Hemphill, gave artificial respiration to Kreider for one hour and forty-five minutes before pronouncing him dead at 6:30 p.m.

First At Pool

The drowning was the first ever to occur in the College pool, according to J. T. Willard, College Historian.

Grieshaber, who has a Red Cross life guard certificate and is a member of the College swimming team, and Sanders were at the pool while Kreider was swimming. Grieshaber had stayed late for a longer workout. While swimming, Sanders and Grieshaber missed Kreider but thought he had gotten out to take a shower.

Grieshaber got out of the pool, while Sanders decided to take another lap across the pool before getting out. It was on Sanders' last lap that he found Kreider's body at the deep end of the pool. Grieshaber entered the pool and brought Kreider to the surface and applied artificial respiration.

No Outcry

When questioned by a member of the Athletic Department, Sanders and Grieshaber said they had remembered Kreider was swimming. When asked how well Kreider could swim that stated they had not noticed, but had noticed that he was swimming.

No Autopsy

Grieshaber and Sanders said that they had heard no splashing or outcry to warn them of Kreider's drowning.

Permission was granted for an autopsy of Kreider's body to determine the exact cause of his death, according to College physicians. Shortly before the autopsy was to be performed, Kreider's two roommates declared that Kreider was not a swimmer. The roommates said that Kreider had enrolled in a swimming course at the College but dropped the course in the preliminary stage because of a class conflict.

With the testimony of Kreider's roommates, Dr. W. H. Clarkson, county coroner, declared the cause of death to be drowning and the autopsy was called off.

National Players Honor KSC Actors

Seven members of the Kansas State Players were recommended for membership into Pi Epsilon Delta, National Collegiate Players, at the K-State Players' meeting Tuesday evening. They are Rebecca Lamereaux, Bonnie Dee Taylor, Marvin Altman, Max Holling, Lucille Lambert, Bob Kelly, and Kenneth Jennison.

Ben Stuart, president of N. C. P., presented pins to the honorary fraternity to Louise Blum, Helen Hammond, Karl Kish, Charles Walker and Bill Scott, who became members of the national organization last fall.

No Collegian

The next issue of the Collegian will be April 2. The extended five days Easter vacation will include the next two publishing dates.

English Proficiency Deadline Nears

All Juniors and Seniors assigned to English Proficiency the second semester should report to the offices of their respective deans before March 25 in order to sign a record card, according to Nellie Aberle, chairman of the administrative committee for English Proficiency.

Signing is to be completed before Easter vacation and a student will not be permitted to take the examination on April 6 unless he has signed a record card, Miss Aberle said. Each student will be assigned a number to use in taking the examination and will be given an instruction sheet concerning the examination.

Melton to Sing at 1949 Artist Series

Entertainers for next year's Manhattan Artist Series were announced by Earl G. Hoover, chairman, at the Mia Slavenska Ballet Friday evening.

James Melton, Metropolitan opera tenor and star of the radio program, "Harvest of Stars" will be one of the best-known performers. Hoover said. Violinist Tossy Spivakovsky will appear here on a tour of more than 50 cities. During the coming season he will be featured soloist with orchestras in Chicago, Cleveland, Detroit, Minneapolis, Washington, D. C., Baltimore and Toronto.

The Vienna Boys Choir on its first tour since the war also will be on the Artist Series for next year, according to Hoover. The choir will present religious and secular numbers and an operetta in costume. The choir will feature about 35 boys' voices.

Filling out the Artist Series will be a dance group called Mata and Hari. They are former headliners of the Trudie Schoop comedy ballet. Along with their dance company, Mata and Hari do dance satires on modern life. All their dances are for light entertainment, according to Hoover.

Artist Series subscribers of this year unable to attend the Friday night program may get tickets for the same seats at next year's series by writing Box 103, at the College post-office or by calling Hoover at College extension 379, he said.

This year's subscribers will have until April 10 to purchase the seats, Hoover said.

Graduate Club Meet

Graduate Club meeting will be at 5:30 p.m. March 24 at Thompson Hall, according to Mrs. Alma Giles.

Town Sends Donation

A gift of $100 to the Memorial Chapel fund at Kansas State College has been received from the Whitewater, Kan., Chamber of Commerce, Kenney L. Ford, alumni secretary, announced today.

The check was in appreciation of President Milton S. Eisenhower's speech at the Whitewater Feeders Day program recently, the Chamber of Commerce indicated.

Dean's Mother Dies

Mrs. E. S. Moore, mother of Miss Helen Moore, dean of women, died at her home here in Manhattan Sunday. Funeral services will be held in Hutchinson today.

Amendment Vote to Begin April 6

A special election to amend the SGA constitution will open the polls for three days beginning April 6, Don Ford, Student Council president, announced yesterday. The amendment under consideration will, if passed, make it easier for the constitution to be amended in the future.

The Student Council acted on an SPC recommendation in a meeting Wednesday night. The proposal was presented by Dick Pinegan, chairman of a special SPC committee set up to push the amendment.

Under the present constitution, Pinegan pointed out, 50 percent of the total student enrollment must vote on each proposed amendment. To pass the amendment, 60 percent of that half voting must say "yes." If the new ruling goes through, a vote of one-third of the student body with two-thirds voting in the affirmative will be necessary to pass the amendment.

Jobs for Aps

Seniors in Agriculture may secure positions teaching agriculture to World War II veterans, according to C. A. Bell, field supervisor of the institutional on-the-farm training program.

Institutional on-the-farm training is given to veterans just starting in farming. The program is administered through high schools. A full time class consists of 24 veterans. Most of the training is done in the field.

Any Ag senior interested in the work may contact Bell or C. C. Eustace in Education 103 any Saturday morning.

SGA Amendment

The amendment to the SGA constitution that will be voted upon by the student body starting April 6, is as follows:

"It is proposed that the constitution be amended, Article IX, Section 2, to read, 'Ratification The Student Council shall call an election to be held after the proposed amendment has been printed in two consecutive issues of the Collegian. Provided one-third (1/3) of the members of the Association cast their vote, two-thirds of the number voting shall constitute ratification of the amendment.'

Active and intelligent action in national, state, and local politics is our duty as citizens of this country. Training for this participation should be a part of college life. We endorse all political organizations on the campus as one means of providing this training. We feel that these organizations can benefit the whole student body by sponsoring joint political programs such as discussions of current political issues led by informed people. However, the committee feels that in order to protect the reputation of Kansas State College certain definite regulations governing their activities should be:

Therefore we make the following recommendations:

- (1) The facilities should be made equally available to all organization and the number of programs sponsored by each organization should be balanced as far as possible.
- (2) These programs must not be embarrassing to Kansas State College. They should be educational in nature.
- (3) We recommend that the political programs sponsored by these organizations be approved by the Student Council and Faculty Council on Student affairs.

YM-YW Present Easter Service

Easter Chapel services will be observed Wednesday at 9:30 a.m. in an All-College Assembly. This will be the 76th annual Easter program presented by the YMCA and YWCA. Chapel will begin with the Girls' Glee Club singing the processional hymn. Following this will be the candle lighting ceremony. A tableau of Easter scenes will be portrayed with scripture and background music for each.

During the first scene, "Christ in Gethsemane," Lyman Hancock will sing "The Lord's Prayer" and Mrs. Gladys Gough of the speech department will read scripture.

The Rev. B. A. Rogers, head of the Wesley Foundation, will give meditation during the second tableau, "Crucifixion." The third living picture, "Open Tomb" will have as background music the YMCA quartet singing "He Is Risen." Members of the quartet are Dan Clark, John Bascom, Lyle Morris and Don Van de Griffe.

The Girls' Glee Club, under the direction of Miss Hilda Grossman, will sing several selections and the program will be concluded with an organ meditation by Robert Hays, college organist. Barbara King and J. J. Ramsey are in charge of the program. Classes will be shortened for the assembly.

Class Schedule
7:00-7:50 will meet 7:00-7:40
8:00-8:50 will meet 7:50-8:30
9:00-9:50 will meet 8:40-9:20

ASSEMBLY
10:10-10:50 will meet 10:30-11:05
11:00-11:50 will meet 11:15-11:50

Big Brass Invited to Military Ball

Three generals have been invited to the Military Ball on April 9, according to Arch Briggs, publicity chairman for the event. Invitations have been extended to Lt. Gen. Walton H. Walker, commanding general of the 8th Army; Maj. Gen. Paul G. Williams, 2nd Air Force chief, and Maj. Gen. John T. Lewis, commandant of Fort Riley.

General Lewis has also been invited to take part in the presentation of the honorary cadet colonel. Twelve women candidates for the "commission" were introduced at the Pershing Rifles dance last Friday. From the 12, one colonel and three majors will be chosen by advanced ROTC students.

Faculty Members Are in Who's Who

Thirty-two Kansas State College faculty members are listed in the 1948 Who's Who in America, recently published. Those listed and their college positions include:

Willard, college historian.

'Russia and UN' Is Last of Lectures

Kenneth S. Davis, assistant to President Milton S. Eisenhower, will conclude the series of lectures on Russia and the United States today at 4 p.m. He will speak this afternoon in Recreation Center on "Russia and the United Nations."

Davis will discuss Russia's relations with the United Nations in terms of the historic process by which those relations have been determined. Davis is working with President Eisenhower, chairman of the United States National Commission for UNESCO. He has written three books, including "Soldier of Democracy," the best-selling biography of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

This will be the eleventh of the lectures on Russia and the United States in world politics sponsored by the Institute of Citizenship.

Chem Engineers Top This Year's Open House Show

The Department of Chemical Engineering has won the trophy for the best displays for this year's Engineer's Open House.

At the presentation ceremony at St. Pat's Prom Dean Durland gave the trophy to Lawrence Adey, who represented the winning chemical engineering. This was the first year since the contest was begun that the electrical, civils, or architectural engineering departments did not win the trophy.

A glass model oil refinery and a model atomic pile highlighted chemical engineering displays. The department will possess for the coming year the traveling trophy presented each year by Steel Ring, engineering honorary.

A diorama depicting the evolution of the machine from cave-man to modern times won individual display honors for the Department of Machine Design.

St. Pat's Prom climaxed Open House activities this year. Nichols Gym was decorated for the prom by members of Sigma Tau. The gym was transformed into a green and white ballroom. A new band shell was erected. Hundreds of green balloons hung from the ceiling and green and white streamers blanketed the wall spaces. Green paper covered the track rail. Each department in the School of Engineering was represented by lettering and small cut-out designs fastened to the paneled railing. The centerpiece, rotating colored lights in an octagonal prism, reflected soft light for dancing.

St. Pat and St. Patricia were crowned by Dean Durland to reign over the ball. Martha Miller, representing the Architectural department was elected St. Patricia and Dick Fedell of the mechanical engineering department was chosen St. Pat. Gold rings inscribed with "St. Pat (or Patricia) 1948" were also presented to Miss Miller and Fedell. St. Pat was also given an Irish pipe from the collection of C. E.

Martha Miller and Dick Fedell Pearce. His first words after the presentation were, "Where's the P. A.?"

Attendance figures were nearly as high as expected. The electric eye counter burned out early Friday evening so no accurate figures could be obtained. "We had to estimate," said Dick Sizemore, Open House chairman, "but we are sure we had two or three thousand more visitors than last year. All in all it was a big success."

The beer bottle organ built by the mechanical engineers, drew a large crowd. Rodney Kelf was official organist. At one time Saturday afternoon a small fifth grade boy whooped it up with popular songs.

Again this year the electrical engineers fried hamburgers on ice. Three television display drew many visitors' attention. It was the first system to operate in Kansas.

In the architecture exhibit, the crowd was apparently amused by the cartoon series, "Mr. Blandings Builds his Dream House." Everyone who visited the exhibit received a stenciled souvenir done with an air brush.

Easter Housing Drive on for Gifts for Gardner, Team

All men's dormitories will be closed during Easter vacation, A. Thornton Edwards, director of housing, has announced.

Students who live in dormitories and are remaining in Manhattan during the holiday will be housed in the hospital annex, Edwards said. The dormitories will be closed Friday morning until Tuesday noon. The small number of students remaining would make it impractical to keep the dormitories open, said Edwards.

YWCA to Elect Five Officers

Five candidates will be elected for YWCA officers in the election today and tomorrow. Booths will be in Calvin and Anderson Hall for voters.

Betty Rich and Laberta Kugler are nominees for president. Miss Rich was vice president of the YWCA last year and is vice-president of the junior class. Miss Kugler is secretary of the Westminster Foundation. Both have attended the Estes Summer Conference which is a requirement for the office.

Competing for vice-president are Norma Lou Myers and Doris Granger. Both are members of the YWCA junior cabinet. Candidates for secretary are Mary Alice Wolf and Guyia Love.

Jo Ellen McNicholas and Betty Harris have been nominated for treasurer and district representative will be Martha Miller or Sarah Crouch.

Ag Association to Elect New Officers

Nominations have been made for officers in the Agricultural Association, according to Dean Schowengerdt, president of the group.

Election will be held at Ag Seminar April 1. In addition to those nominated before the seminar for the offices, nominations will be accepted from the floor at the time of the seminar, Schowengerdt said.

The present list of nominees include: President, Sid Jagger and Harold Ramsey; Vice-president, Eugene Moffet and Norville Gish; Secretary, Verne Bathurst and Louis Emme; Treasurer, Merle Howes and Kenneth Bell; Barn Warner manager, Thomas Flahive and Wallace Moyle; assistant barn warmer manager, Charles Glenn and Ed Chandler; Agricultural Student editor, Melvin Cotner and Jim Crippen.

Ag Student Ready

The March edition of the Ag Student will be ready for distribution Wednesday, March 24, 1948 in E Ag 105 according to Melvin Cotner, business manager of the Ag Student.

HISTORY OF SEASON REVEALED

Christ Is Risen! Easter Brings Joy to Everyone

By MARY GRIFFIN

Many significant and beautiful customs connected with the celebration of Easter have come down to us through the ages. Easter Sunday is observed in all the Christian nations as a day of joyousness over the Resurrection of Christ.

The name Easter comes from Eastre, a Teutonic goddess whose festival was celebrated in the spring. Her name was given to the Christian festival in celebration of the Resurrection. War brought about the observance of Easter in America in the nonreligious churches. During the Civil War, so many homes were made desolate that the churches strove to bring religious consolation to the bereaved.

The custom of decorating the churches with flowers for the Easter service has become general. The Easter lily is in reality the Bermuda lily which blossoms in the Spring.

In ecclesiastical art, the lion is the symbol of the Resurrection. The lioness was believed to bring forth her young dead and howl over them to bring them back to life. Another symbol is the phoenix, a mythical Egyptian bird, which dies and resurrects itself from ashes.

A traditional belief is that on Easter morning the sun dances and those who rise in time can see the event. Probably our present custom of holding sunrise Easter services comes from this belief.

A "Gift for Gardner and the Boys" will start tomorrow on the campus, in Aggieville and downtown Manhattan. Purpose of the drive, which will last until Thursday, will be to present the team and Coach Jack Gardner with a token of the school's appreciation for their splendid season, Student Council President Don Ford said yesterday.

Red Cross Drive Nearer to Goal

The Red Cross drive will continue throughout this month, according to Paul W. Zieke, head of the local Red Cross office. Nearly $9,000 of the $12,955 goal has been reached.

Contributions of $2,032.40 have been received from faculty and employees, according to Prof. Ralph Lashbrook, head of the faculty and employees drive. Individual contributions up to $25 have been sent in. Eleven College departments have not turned in receipts but from 73 departments donations have been received.

The chemistry department, with a total of $115.50, has turned in the highest total receipts. The department of economics and sociology is second highest with $113.00. These are two of the largest departments on the campus.

Student contribution to the drive was $642.15 when receipts were turned in yesterday. Prix and Blue Key are helping with student soliciting.

Still 200 Short

Two-hundred seniors have failed to reserve their caps and gowns for spring graduation at the book stores, Dave Schirmer, senior class vice-president announced yesterday. Deadline for caps and gowns and announcements has been extended to Thursday night. It will be impossible to get them after that, he said.

Another Cheater Bounced by C. A. D.

A new case of cheating has been acted upon by the Committee on Academic Dishonesty wherein a student was found guilty of cheating in an examination.

The recommendations of the Committee, upheld by the Dean of Administration were: (1) that the student receive a zero in the examination, (2) that the student be placed on probation for 18 College weeks, and (3) that the case be publicized to emphasize that if clipboards are used during an examination that they contain no papers or other material other than the examination, and that the clipboards have no material inscribed on any part of them.

The spontaneous movement started Friday evening when presidents of all campus organizations met with Ford. The organization heads voted unanimously to support the "Gifts for Gardner and the Boys" campaign.

Members of Purple Peppers, Wampus Cats and K-Fraternity will conduct a tag drive starting today on the campus. Tags will be purple and white basketballs. "Students contributing to the drive are requested to wear their tags during the drive so solicitors won't contact them more than once," Ford said. Members of the three organizations will wear their purple and white sweaters during the drive. Anyone wishing to contribute should give their gifts to any member of the organizations.

Present plans, according to Ford, call for the purchase of luggage for team members and a government bond for Gardner. According to athletic council member H. H. Haymaker, the amateur standing of the players won't suffer in any way if they are given a gift of this sort.

A booth for student contributions will also be set up in Anderson Hall. Tag day in Aggieville and downtown Manhattan will start tomorrow, Ford said. Purple Peppers, members of Wampus Cats and K-Fraternity will circulate in stores gathering contributions. Booths will also be erected.

Checks have already been sent to members of the team by alumni and friends of the College in appreciation of their fine performance this season. However, the players must return money gifts in order to keep their standing on a completely amateur basis. Contributions should be mailed to "Gifts for Gardner and the Boys," Kansas State College, and not to the players themselves," said athletic director Thurlio McCready.

The bond for Gardner idea was the result of widespread speculation that the personable Wildcat mentor might be induced by other schools to leave K-State unless he is given additional financial security. It was also felt that such a gift coming from the students would prove that the students are behind their team and its coach. With such support, it would take an attractive offer to get Gardner to leave K-State.

The Manhattan Chamber of Commerce has indicated that it will cooperate in the drive. They are providing the booths for the downtown and Aggieville districts.

Plan Senior Day Here for May 5

Senior Day will be Wednesday, May 5, according to the Senior Day committee's tentative plans which the Student Council approved Wednesday night.

Activities will begin at 1 p.m. with a free movie, except for tax, at the Wareham and Sosna theaters. The movies will be contributed by Dave Dallas.

A picnic at Sunset Park will be held after the movie till 9 p.m., complete with games and food.

Matt Betton and his band will play for dancing at the Community Building from 9 p.m. till midnight.

The charge for each senior will be approximately one dollar.

All seniors, wives of seniors, summer school graduates and next year's first semester graduates are eligible to attend.

On the senior committee are: Dave Shirmmer, chairman; Margaret Pixley, Mary Smith, Huck Heath, Dick Brooks and Barbara Brown.

Petitions Due Soon

Candidates who wish to run for offices in the coming Student Council elections on the Commonwealth ticket should get their petitions signed and turned in to Merle Siegle, Commonwealth president, before April 5, he announced yesterday.

Petitions must be signed by 25 persons in the candidate's school, Siegle reminded.

Let's Show Appreciation

Evidence as to the way a winning team will elevate school spirit from a feeling of bored indifference to one of keen and exuberant interest is plainly evident on the campus these days. Latest and most spontaneous is the student drive for funds to present to Coach Jack Gardner and his fighting Wildcats a concrete token of their appreciation for this season's brilliant record.

Taking as their slogan "Gifts for Gardner and the Boys" the Purple Pepsters, Wampus Cats and K Fraternity are spearheading a drive for funds to show Coach Gardner and the team that the students really appreciate their splendid efforts this year.

If the drive is a success, and we sincerely believe it will be, the presentation of a bond to Coach Gardner will show him that the student body is behind him all the way. Such a show of appreciation should go a long way to help cement the loose ties between a college or university and its coach.

When we go home now, we don't have to duck around the corner every time we see a home town buddy who is attending K.U. and who undoubtedly wants to sing the praises of the Jayhawk football team. New we have one of the nation's leading cage quintets to brag about.

But let us do something besides brag. Let us all chip in this week to the "Gifts for Gardner and the Boys" drive.

We Doff Our Hats

One of the best musical presentations we have ever heard in the College auditorium was Handel's Messiah presented Sunday by the combined efforts of the Civic Chorus and the College-Civic Orchestra.

Both groups, under the direction of Luther Leavengood, are new organizations on the campus and in Manhattan. But their performance Sunday was not one of a struggling young group, but instead they presented the difficult Messiah with beauty and poise that was not unlike a presentation of a professional or veteran group.

Director Luther Leavengood has done a magnificent job in the short time he has been directing the two groups. If the Chorus and Orchestra continue to increase in size and ability, we predict they will soon rival the famed Lindsborg group with their Easter presentation.

The small number of students who attended the program were unanimous in their praise. It's too bad more Kansas State College students don't take advantage of opportunities to enjoy a program of this caliber "right in their own back yard" instead of casting covetous glances toward other colleges and towns for their entertainment.

Four $200 scholarships will be awarded to four outstanding Kansas high school graduates by the Kroger company to enter Kansas State College next fall. It was announced today by C. W. Mullen, assistant dean of the school of agriculture.

Two will go to students of agriculture and two are for home economics. Students will be selected by the college scholarship board on the basis of scholarship achievements in high school, leadership, church work, 4-H clubs, Future Farmers of America and similar organizations, Mullen said.

Winning students will receive $200 in cash during the college year. Applications for the the Fortescue Sludgepot, Scoop Clodfeiter, his assistant, and Ace Meddling chief reporter handled the event. The incident which proves that all journalists are either madmen, or trying to make a living doing nothing proceeded thusly.

Flerd: Gad, no news today; and a deadline to make in two hours. Where's Scoop?, Meddling, where's Scoop?

Meddling: Heard from him about an hour ago. He was at the Student Union drinking coffee. Maybe he dropped dead.

Flerd: I wish somebody would drop dead. We've got a six page paper this time, and no news yet.

Meddling: Well you know what they say in Siberia, ed, "No Gnus" is good Gnus.

Flerd: Let's have no cracking wise. Leave here and find Scoop. And if he's at the Tri Delt house again, tell him he'll be put back on the vet medicine. That guy spends more time in the vestibule of the Tri Delt house than I do in the basement of the Alpha Chi house. What am I saying? Go find Scoop.

Alsab Runningthird (another rather inexperienced reporter rushes in waving copy paper and with traditional pencil behind traditional ear): Hold the presses and don't drop 'em. I've got a story that will grow hair on our president's head.

Flerd: It'll have to be plenty good to make that desert bloom again. What is it?

Alsab: A madman who made his getaway in a convertible coop has just shot a Tri Delt coed in the vestibule and last was seen heading toward Waltheim Hall.

Flerd: Gad, what a story. Wait a minute, did you say a Tri Delta in the vestibule? Where are you? We weren't that hard up for news. Go find Scoop, Meddling, and pick up anything else you can.

Meddling: What an assignment! I'll drive along North Delaware, it's easy to pick 'em up there. Don't throw that paste jar Flerd, I'm on my way.

Alsab: There's just one thing that's bothering me, what part of a girl's anatomy is a vestibule?

Flerd: Quit acting like a pre-med student and write some headlines. Make it read something like, COED SHOT IN VESTIBULE, BULLET IN HER YET.

Alsab: O.K. Flerd, if you don't know what part the vestibule is, what part is the yet.

Flerd: Shaddup, and start writing the headlines. This is the juiciest story we've had since somebody stole the Kappa Delta's nightgowns and they had to borrow pajamas from the Phi Deltas.

Meddling: I'm back ed, couldn't find Scoop, but did pick up a few things. That's why it took me so long.

Flerd: O.K., what have you got, our deadline's near, out with it.

Meddling: I've got a theory. The criminal always returns to the scene of his crime. So I'll just camp in that vestibule and wait for him.

Flerd: O.K., and I'll check the basement of the Alpha Chi place. Alsab, as soon as you get the head written go see how the Chi Os are doing. Also, in the story call this guy, "A madman described by witnesses as the convertible killer, today shot a coed in a fit of jealous rage when he saw her out with a Teku. Evidence indicates the killer is suspected of being a Sigma Nu, and didn't think his girl would possibly have anything to do with anybody but a white star boy."

Scoop: (Arriving on the scene calm and un-nerved) What's all the excitement?

Flerd: Why did you do it, Scoop. We don't need news so bad; we can always write editorials or something to fill space, you shouldn't have shot that coed.

Scoop: What, in the name of UNESCO, are you raving about. Shot what coed? I've been drinking coffee in the Student Union, and speaking of editorials, we ought to write one against using salt and rubber hoses to make coffee like they do down there.

Flerd: Then it wasn't you! What a relief! Someone shot a coed in the vestibule and made his getaway in a convertible coupe.

Scoop: Not in the vestibule. If it's like the other sorority vestibules, there ought to be plenty of witnesses. Not much of a lead, this convertible business. All the killer has to do is jam about eight people in, put the top down and turn the radio to full power, and he wouldn't even be noticed.

Alsab: (Looking meek) Hey, Flerd, there's been a slight error.

Flerd: What do you mean a slight error? What's happened? Wasn't a coed shot?

Alsab: Yeah, she was shot, but not in the vestibule, it was in the arm.

Flerd: In the arm? Well what about it, that's still pretty bad isn't it?

Alsab: Not in this case. Ya see, it was just Dr. Punchy A. Holman giving flu shots again. I made a big mistake; I'm sorry.

Flerd: You're sorry? You're through with the Sludgepot. From now on, your journalistic endeavor will be done on the Regal Beagle, our yearbook. Meddling, take an editorial. ....

Letters to the Editor

VOX STUDENS

Dear Sir:

It is in the interest of Veterinary Medicine that I write this letter exposing the facts surrounding the death of our mascot. As I was on duty at his untimely departure and had the chance of participating in the loving care bestowed on this imposter, I feel more than qualified to reveal this macabre incident to the student body.

From the time of his arrival this inquisitive feline was housed in one of our "king-sized dog kennels, fed the best cuts of meat, given clean water on the hour and was the free recipient of our $25 head to toe razzle dazzle physical examination. At no time did he show any clinical evidence of diseases common to cats or gamblers.

What's this "gamblers" I'm talking about, you ask? You've heard of the gambling concerning the basketball games in Madison Square Garden. Well the story I'm about to unfold will make the Garden incident look like peanuts.

This treacherous traitor of a mascot had no more love for the Kansas Aggies than a certain tuba-playing basketball coach up the Kaw. Now for the details.

At game time we tuned in and opened the doors to the wards so the animals might also enjoy our unhorsing of the Cowboys. When Shannon dunked his first goal the dogs let go with a roar of approval and a 22-year-old horse who hadn't swished a fly off his back in a week attempted to kick his stall down. As we piled up point after point the clinic became a yelping, whinnying, mooing madhouse except for one occupant, namely the Wildcat. He just stalked up and down spitting and screaming with each Aggie point until the final gun sounded at which he leaped into the air and emitted a shriek which I will never forget, for had it not been a wildcat, I would have sworn he said, "McBride lied."

I rushed into the small animal ward and started questioning the dogs. I would like to point out to the student body that a Veterinarian is required to learn the 107 different languages of the 107 different breeds of dogs and this is accomplished in the second semester of Man and the Social World.

After talking with 20 odd dogs, I found out that this feline "bookie" had waged with every dog in the ward and had the downright audacity to offer one dog with a

Out of balance? Sure it is. The SGA constitution says that 50 per cent of the student body must vote on a proposed constitutional amendment before the ballots are even counted.

And where can you find a student body where half of the students are actively interested in every important issue?

On page 1 of this issue of the Collegian is printed a proposed amendment to the SGA constitution which will lower this barrier to efficient student government.

The proposed legislation would make it possible for one third of the student body to legalize the vote, thereby getting the issue decided, one way or the other. The amendment will come up for ratification on April 6, 7, and 8 in an all-school election.

Face Holy Cross In Garden Tonight

Kansas State faces Holy Cross in Madison Square Garden tonight with third place in the NCAA basketball tournament going to the winner. The contest is a preliminary to the Kentucky-Baylor game for the national NCAA championship.

Holy Cross has virtually the same team that won the NCAA title last year by beating Oklahoma. Until they were beaten 60-52 by Kentucky, they had a 21 game winning streak, and have 26 wins against 4 setbacks for a season's record. The Wildcats have a 22-5 record to show for their season's work and will go into the game as slight underdogs.

On a comparative score basis, the Wildcats might have an edge. The Crusaders of Holy Cross fell before Wyoming 58-57, while the Cats had no trouble in beating Wyoming 58-48. St. Louis U. defeated Holy Cross by 19 points and then lost two games to Oklahoma A & M, which in turn dropped two games to K-State. The Crusaders came along fast toward the end of the season, as shown by their 21 game winning streak.

Holy Cross will have the advantage of playing on more familiar ground, since they play Garden. In the Wildcats only many of their games in the appearance in the big arena they saw a ten-game winning streak snapped by Long Island U. The Cats will know what to expect this time and will not be awed by the spectacle as they were in their initial trip to the Garden.

The Crusaders specialize in a fast break. It was their blinding speed that won many games for them this year. Their defensive average is not high, but their offense ranks among the nation's leaders. Kaftan and Cousy are both all-American material and must be closely watched. Kaftan was awarded a second-team all-American berth last year. Against Oklahoma last year, he proved his ability when he played against Tucker and matched the great O. U. star basket for basket. Cousy has been a Holy Cross mainstay all season.

Jack Gardner is expected to lead with his usual starting five. Howey and Harman at forwards, Brannum at center, and Dean and Shannon at the guards. Howey's ribs are not completely healed but he seems a sure starter after his performance in Kansas City. The other injured Wildcat, Clarence Brannum, will be ready for full-time action.

The trophies and watches from the western NCAA play-off will be awarded to the players at half-time of the second game. Each player receives a gold wrist-watch and the team receives the second-place trophy. The team returns to Manhattan either Thursday or Friday. The game with Holy Cross will ring down the curtain on the most successful court season in the history of the school.

Prospects Bright As Haylett Moves Squad Outside

Wildcat track mentor Ward Haylett plans a fresh start as the Cat trackmen move outside and into the beginning of another outdoor track season. The first big target on Coach Haylett's schedule this year is the ominous competition to be met in the Texas Relays at Austin on April 3. King-size Rollin Prather took the meet by storm last year and walked off with top honors with the shotput, unlimbering a toss of 50 feet 8 3-4 inches. To date, Prather, in indoor competition this season, has consistently beaten that mark. His best heave so far has been chalked at the 52 feet 4 3-8 inch mark in the Big Seven Conference indoor track meet in Kansas City February.

Prospects are bright for the

Bears Down Cats in Western NCAA Basketball Final

Capacity crowds in the Kansas City Municipal Auditorium watched the Kansas State Wildcats win and lose last week-end in the Western N.C.A.A. basketball tournament.

Jack Gardner's charges dropped Wyoming 58 to 48 Friday night, only to lose to the Bears from Baylor in the finals 60 to 52. Oddly enough, the score of the championship games were identical in both the Eastern and Western play-offs. In Madison Square Garden, Kentucky bested Holy Cross, last year's NCAA title winners, 60 to 52.

Eight minutes of Kansas State's fast break and fancy ball handling demolished Wyoming's hopes for Western N. C.A.A. honors Friday night.

At the end of the first half, K-State was leading 23 to 15, mainly because Wyoming out-missed the cold Wildcats.

Although the Wildcats were hitting only occasionally, an adept K-State attack made holes in the Wyoming defense. Jack Dean hit to open the scoring and the Purple-and-White cagers had a comfortable 10-2 lead halfway through the initial half.

Jack Dean again opened the scoring as the second period began. Eight minutes later the 'Cats had piled up 20 points, to lead by 43-24. The fast break and dazzling ball-handling of Kansas State had the Wyoming team dizzy.

Coach Jack Gardner inserted his reserves after the big lead was obtained. Wyoming utilized the time to close the gap to 47-38. Gardner put his regulars back in the game and they held control of the ball during the final minutes.

In the championship game Saturday night, the battling Bears from Baylor came from behind to become Western N.C.A.A. basketball champs. Baylor meets Kentucky for the N.C.A.A. crown and Kansas State plays Holy Cross for the number three spot tonight in Madison Square Garden.

The Bears combined a swift-working and smooth attack with a tight defense to come from ten points behind to defeat the Wildcats 60-52.

K-State jumped into an early 6-1 lead, but Baylor came right back to tie the count at 11-all at the 7-minute mark. Kansas State relied mostly on free throws the remainder of the first half and left the floor at half-time with a 32-28 advantage. The Cats hit 14 straight charity tosses in the first canto.

The score was tied nine times in the last period before Baylor went ahead to stay. The Texans controlled the ball the last few minutes and built up their lead, as the over-anxious Wildcats fouled in an effort to obtain possession of the ball.

By virtue of their win over Kansas State, Baylor qualified for a berth in the Olympic trials which begin March 27 in New York.

coming season as shown by some of the outstanding performances given by the indoor squads, hampered as they were by wholly inadequate training facilities.

Texas University took the meet title last year as Kansas State finished sixth among a field of 17 entries.

Football

Spring football practice at Kansas State got underway at Memorial Stadium yesterday with a large group of candidates reporting to Wildcat mentor Ralph Graham.

According to Graham, the spring drills are slated to continue for six calendar weeks. A Big Seven ruling limits the length of the off-season workouts.

KS Baseballers Intensify Drills

Impressed by last week's outdoor baseball sessions, Coach Luf Fiser is getting an optimistic outlook on the approaching season. "I am encouraged by the physical condition of the squad, and the amount of work accomplished last week," Fiser said.

Fiser is looking for at least two pitchers to round out the staff which will be headed by veterans Jack Dean, Al Fillmore and Jack Bell. Bidding for pitching jobs are Duane Holder, Keith Chadd, Wes Johnson, and Bob McClure from last year's squad, and newcomers Ralph Stiffler and Perry Wayman. Top catching candidates are Don Chew, who lettered at third base in 1947, Ray Holder and Clinton Davis from last year's roster, and Cliff Schummacher and Bill Cochran.

Hitting is being emphasized during the City Park drills. "I think the boys have nearly three times as much batting practice as they did at this time last year," Fiser said. "We are using two batting cages where we had but one last season. And I don't have as many candidates to screen."

Tracksters Open Outdoor Season

K-State's outdoor trackmen will inaugurate the 1948 cinder season on April 3, when they trod the paths with a strong field of entries in the annual Texas Relays at Austin, Texas. At the same time, another group of Wildcat cindermen will be pounding the boards at Boulder, Colo., in the Colorado Indoor Invitational meet.

Coach Ward Haylett has indicated that he will divide his squad for the two meets according to their specialties. Rodney McClay, the K-State sprint and hurdles star, is slated for action at Colorado, while Rollin Prather, the towering Wildcat weight king, will defend his shotput and discus titles in Texas. Other entrants for the two meets have not been named.

Track fans will have their first opportunity to see the Cat runners in action the following week on April 10. The scheduled outdoor dual meet with Wichita University has been called off and a Freshman-Varsity meet substituted. Haylett expects to uncover several new prospects in the meet.

Leather Lunged Texans Wild Over Baylor Win

BY ROGER SWANSON

There were only about 65 Texans in that record-smashing crowd of 9750 that watched the K-State 'Cats bow to the Baylor Bears, 62-60 in Kansas City's municipal auditorium last Saturday night, but they raised more racket than a group of fraternity pledges during hell week.

The Texas boys were calm through most of the first half as the K-Staters piled up a ten-point lead at half-time.

But when the sons of Waco started on their victory surge in the final few minutes, the tempo of Lone Star enthusiasm increased. When the final gun sounded, and the Baylorites had an eight-point advantage, the cowboy booted Texas fans, swarmed on the court like wild Indians at a scalp party.

They carried the victors from the hardwoods on their shoulders, slapping them with physical plaudits of their ability.

There was not such joy for State partisans. They cheered through the entire contest, anticipating a victory from the start and nearly certain of one when the Manhattan squad had that ten-point lead. As the advantage of Gardner's Purple clad basketballers diminished, Cat fans cheered more in desperation than in anticipation of triumph.

The Baylor Club was doing something to the K-Staters that hadn't been done before this season. They were slowly, but as sure as income tax, beating the 'Cats after the Manhattanites had been ahead by ten points. Baylor was simply out-playing the Kansas Staters in a Kansas State type action. They were out-rallying a club that has become famous for their last stanza surges.

Some disappointed 'Cat partisans, seeking a reason for the Stater's surprising loss said Howard Shannon's freeze on shot pokes was responsible for the bow. Certainly, the loss cannot be laid to one man, however, while Shannon was frigid.

other Staters were hitting with usual precision.

Other post-game comment held that Clarence Brannum's departure from the contest as a result of his five foul collection had a bearing on the Purple's loss. "That theory might hold up if 'Controversial Clarence' had gone out earlier in the tiff. It was late in the affair when his absence was noted, however. Ward Clark, playing when Brannum didn't showed good form in the contest.

There appears to be just one explanation for the Manhattan failure. They were beaten by a better ball club, and a hotter one. Baylor wasn't going to be stopped that night; they meant to win that game, and they did it.

If it had been another night; a less important contest; the Texans may not have been so inspired, and perhaps State would have come through. But the Saturday night Texans were inspired with an inspiration that may carry them to the national championship.

Intramural

Intramural volleyball games scheduled last Friday were postponed until tonight because of the large number of students who attended the Western N.C.A.A. basketball tournament in Kansas City Friday night. L. P. Washburn, director of intramurals, said today.

The last scheduled volleyball games are on Wednesday. In the event of a tie for any group championship, play-offs will get under way as soon as possible, Washburn said.

Sixteen teams will go into action tonight and five games will be played tomorrow night. Games tonight are A.V.M.A. vs Black Cats, Kappa Sigma vs Alpha Gamma Rho, Boozdoes vs Amistad, Beta Theta Pi vs Tau Kappa Epsilon, L. S. A. vs Sigma Phi Theta, and Sigma Nu, Ag. Ed. Club vs House of Williams and P.E.M. vs Gung-Ho Kids.

Scheduled tomorrow are Alpha Kappa Lambda vs. Phi Kappa, Delta Tau Delta vs. Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Phi Delta Theta vs. Farm House, Kappa Alpha Psi vs. Delta Sigma Phi and Alpha Tau Omega vs. Theta Xi.

Last Thursday, in the women's intramural basketball tournament, Janice Adington hit five field goals for ten points as she led her Alpha Chi Omega team-mates to a 16 to 13 victory over Alpha Xi Delta.

In the other game Pi Beta Phi bested Alpha Delta Pi 11 to 7. Do O'Donnel collected eight points to take high-scoring honors.

The girls play tonight and tomorrow before leaving for Easter vacation. Tonight Alpha Xi Delta tangles with The Barts and Alpha Delta Pi plays Chi Omega.

Tomorrow night Kappa Kappa Gamma plays Waltheim Hall and the Blitz Babes meet Alpha Chi Omega.

In the intramural table tennis tournament Thursday night in Nichols Gym, Powers and Newman, Phi Delta Theta, defeated Brotherson and Hillenbrand, Tau Kappa Epsilon, to win the fraternity doubles crown.

Altman and Varakian won the independent doubles championship by defeating Wilcox and Johnson, P. E. M. Ty Powers, Phi Delta Theta, beat Jack Dunlap, Tau Kappa Epsilon, in a holdover singles match.

Championship matches were held last night, but results

AT STATE

After the St. Pat's Prom we conclude the engineers are not to be outdone on decorations. Nichols gym just didn't look like its old self Saturday night. From a false ceiling of white cheesecloth hung two large nets filled with green and white balloons. More balloons hanging from green and white streamers dotted the ceiling and were released during the evening. The various departments of engineering were depicted with miniature symbolic designs placed round the balcony ledge. Beams from a revolving light in the center of the ceiling gradually cast different colors on the dancing couples.

The highlight of the evening came when Marty Miller and Dick Fedell came through their crown-entrances on either side of the bandstand to be introduced as St. Pat and St. Patricia. Now for the other happenings at State over the weekend.

Chocolates at Clivia and cigars at Acadia. The engaged girl is Marion Terrill. The surprise announcement came at dinner Sunday at both houses. Marion is a senior in music education from Hutchinson. Newt, a junior in electrical engineering, is from Riley.

The annual "Paradise Prom" of Alpha Chi Omega was Friday night at the Country Club. Couples danced beneath white clouds, colored stars and lights in a rainbow paradise of angel wings and golden lyres. Matt Betton's orchestra supplied the music for the colorful Paradise.

Inside the "Pearly Gates" to receive the guests were Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Lineau, Mrs. C. Hardy, Miss Dorothy Hamer and Mr. and Mrs. Lindsey.

Farm House has cigars Sunday from Edward McGinness of Aulne. He is engaged to Ruth Klein from Marion. Edward is a sophomore in agriculture. Ruth is now working in Marion.

Formal initiation at the Chi Omega sorority was held Sunday for 14 pledges, including Milruth Unruh, June Ales, Joyce Darling, Orpha Gies, Masters, Sue Ann Long, Leigh Straight, Cynthia Moorin, Mickey Jenkins, Marilyn Bryan, Barbara Berger, Loyal Laughinghouse, Jeannette Doran, Terrill Orr and Shirley Bynum.

Crippen Inn girls enjoyed an Easter breakfast given by the house mother, Mrs. V. S. Crippen last Sunday. The girls attended church following the breakfast.

Thelma Stadel passed chocolates to girls of Clark's Gables last night announcing her engagement to Clarence Harr. Thelma, a sophomore in home economics, is from Riley. Clarence is from Emporia and was on the campus last semester.

Easter was the theme of the Farm House formal Saturday night at the Avalon. Those in the receiving line were: Charles Glenn, Barbara Wright, Mrs. E. L. Taylor, Richard Thuma, Professor and Mrs. F. W. Atkinson, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Kusler and Pears Wilson.

Formal initiation was held for eight Clivia pledges Wednesday night at the chapter house. New actives are Lois Billington, Betty Butler, Kathleen Carey, Elizabeth Mayall, Mary Margaret Noble, Helen Lee Stricklin, Betty Warren and Jeanne Warren.

The Sig Alpha's celebrated this weekend with an 1856 party at the chapter house Friday night and a buffet dinner at the house Saturday night.

The Phi Kappa pledges held election this weekend. Those elected are: Bernice Grossdrier, president; Jim Shear, vice president; Leo Whitehair, secretary and treasurer; Bud Neiburger, sergeant at arms; Paul Shinozaki, social chairman; Bill G. A. G. h. n. Interfraternity pledge representative; and Francis Fraichet, alternate.

The Kappa Sigma went to Lawrence Friday and Saturday for a meeting of the 18th district.

Kappa Sigma held their annual Pig Dinner for alumni in the Warren Flame Room Sunday. Bob Evans, district grand master, was a special guest.

Sunday was Sweetheart's Day at Farm House. Each sweetheart was given a heart shaped jewelry box during the dinner.

Twenty pledges were formally initiated at the Alpha Delta Pi sorority Saturday. Initiates are Lorraine Halbower, Jean Pratt, Marjorie Imler, Marjorie Mitchell, Helen Howell, Phyllis Burns, Ilavere Oldfield, Sharon Eyestone, Nancy Berry, Betty Malone, Joan Yearwood, Donna Chance, Shirley Smith, Ann Barlow, Lauranell Hawkinson, Mary Jo Guerrant, Sigrid Schjervén, Joyce Pratt, Helen Brotherson, Alice Hanneke, Marilyn Bush, Alice Becker, Lois Morgan.

The scholarship ring for highest grade average was awarded Lorraine Halbower. A formal dinner followed initiation.

Valerie Ladd from Wichita who attended Kansas State last year was a weekend guest of Chatterbox.

Several boys from Wyoming University stopped at the ATO house on their way to Kansas City to see the game Friday.

Delta Tau Delta held formal initiation Sunday morning. The boys initiated were: David Ward, Funston Barrett, Dick Johnson, Don Matlock, Raymond Wood, Dean Keyas, John Sherer, Jack Woodard, Sidney Rief, Don Cossman, John Browne, Jim McCausland and Peter Hampton.

La Fiel weekend guests were Barbara Wright from Holton; Florence Berg from Hutchinson and Carol Mudge from Topeka. Both Carol and Florence attended Kansas State last semester.

The Sig Eps' held formal initiation Sunday for 10 boys. Those initiated were: Norman Mortimer, Don Butten, Kenneth Bretz, Ted Paul, Rodney Boyles, Bill Boldenow, Jim Taylor, Bruce White, Norman Held and Jim Grandfield.

More chocolates at Clivia. This time from Margaret Richardson and Delphos Mehling-er of Marion. Margaret was graduated from K-State last spring. She is now a home demonstration agent in Marion.

CAMPUS CAPERS

with LIZ.

Hi everybody. I'm back again with my usual amount of chatter! This was certainly a full week-end, what with Engineer's Open House, St. Pat's Prom, an hour basketball team going to Kansas City for the tournament. The Engineer's Open House was not only interesting—but fascinating. Who ever heard of cooking hamburgers on ice? If you were at the open house, you probably learned that seeing is believing. . . I've been advertising Easter gifts and cards for two weeks now and this is the last time I'll be able to say anything, since Easter is less than a week away. The Campus Book Store has lots of cute Easter cards that are put out by Hallmark. Why don't you come in today and pick out a few. And as for that gift—our stationery is the best—Eaton's and Whiting. We have almost every kind and design you can think of. We also do printing in different colors and styles, with quick service. . . St. Pat's Prom was certainly one of the brightest events of the season. The decorations were simply out of this world—especially, with the beautiful new false ceiling. Those boys must have really worked, because that gym is a pretty big place to decorate in just a few meager hours. Also—congratulations to St. Pat and St. Patricia! . . . You know, down here at the book store, we have T-shirts in six different designs. Some of them have "KSC" on them, while others have a wildcat, and some have both "KSC" and a cat. They're all in very neat designs, and come in sizes for small to large. Come in today and see them. They'll be just the thing for your Spring sports. . . The Kappa Sigs had their pig dinner this Sunday night, and guess who I saw in Aggieville. Don Cartier—and driving a new convertible, too! From the looks of things, Chicago must certainly be agreeing with him! At any rate, that car is certainly nice looking! . . . Say, girls, have you seen our cute terry-cloth shirts that were made just for you? We have shirts and jackets, with K-State emblems on them. You're just sure to like them when you see them, so come in and have a look. . . I want to take this time to tell the boys on our basketball team how proud of them we are—and their coach! They have certainly done their share in putting Kansas State on the map. After all—Madison Square Garden is a pretty famous place! . . . I just thought of something else that would make an ideal Easter gift. Down at the Campus Book Store, they have tiny gold pencils. They are mechanical and are put out by LaCrosse. Some are made so they can be strung on a ribbon, and worn around your neck, while others have little clips. They're priced at $1.00 and $1.50. . . What's this—Olivia Tieman sleeping in Ed. Soc. class. Better watch that! . . . Time to go, so see you next week.

Plans for KS Field House Abandoned

Milton Stover Eisenhower in Town 14 Straight Days

Although not officially confirmed, it is rumored that President Milton S. Eisenhower has been in Manhattan, conducting regular office hours on the campus, for more than two straight weeks. During this period, he has made no out-of-town speeches and has attended no conventions.

Also unconfirmed, is the report that the reason for this strange interlude is his anxiety over the outcome of his recent application for the position of United States Secretary of Agriculture.

—April Fool—

—Well, he really was in town.

DEAN MOORE TO WED WILLIAMS; BERRY NAMED

"Yes, I resigned," Miss Helen Moore, dean of women announced at a press conference yesterday.

"I'm going to marry my dream man, Dwight Williams."

Although they have only gone steady for the past 22 years, Dean Moore felt that she could wait no longer to take the fatal leap. "Believe me," Dean Moore stated, "this is no fly by night affair; this is it!" Professor Williams had no comment.

Past History
A member of the faculty for the past year, Miss Moore skyrocketed to a position as dean of women. She was employed in the milling department before accepting the deanship.

Plans and date for the wedding have been set, but the Dean coyly kept this secret. "Some might be just carry me away," she sighed.

Through unofficial sources, it was revealed that a dean of men will take over her official duties. Later, President Eisenhower announced that Hardy Berry has been appointed.

Man's Dean
Although it is highly irregular for a man to have the job, the President felt that Berry was a gift to women which should not pass unnoticed. Berry blushed and nodded assentation.

Hours for women will be changed today, according to Berry. Weekend evenings, including Sunday, will last indefinitely. Week nights will be 2:30 a. m. and party nights. "These rules will be rigidly enforced," Berry stated.

Journalism Prof to U. of Illinois

Ted Peterson, assistant professor of journalism at Kansas State College, will join the faculty of the School of Journalism at the University of Illinois at Urbana on Sept. 1.

A World War II veteran with 30 months overseas service, Peterson has been on the Kansas State faculty since October 1946. He was assistant in the College News Bureau until last September when he began full-time teaching duties.

Peterson was graduated from the University of Minnesota with a bachelor of arts degree in journalism. He will be a candidate for a master of science degree in English from Kansas State at the end of summer term. His research has been in early British pamphlets and broadsides as news media.

Former editor of two Minnesota weekly newspapers, he has been a regular contributor to Journalism Quarterly, Scholastic Editor, Swing, Tide, Northwestern, Miller, Milling Production, Feedstuffs and other trade papers.

Ford to Timbuctoo

Kennedy Ford, alumni secretary, spent last week in Timbuctoo obtaining donations for the Memorial Chapel Fund. While there he sold one hereford 187 times and raised a total of $3.87 for the fund. He was accompanied by Bonnie Woods, who made friends with the natives.

Smasher

A machine called a Super-Pulper, ordinarily used in manufacturing jams and catsup, has been installed in the chemical engineering department at Kansas State.

It will be used at the College to make potato granules to be dehydrated, Prof. W. H. Houston of the department said. The new dehydration process is said to make potatoes tastier than the process used during World War II.

Church Leaders Present Beliefs on Marriage

"Creation of joy in the lives of husband and wife is the purpose of the Protestant marriage, the Rev. Arthur L. Miller, Presbyterian pastor from Denver, Colo., told Kansas State students at the recent all-faiths marriage symposium. The three-speaker lecture concluded the College-sponsored courtship and marriage series.

"Procreation and education of children is the purpose of marriage," declared the Rev. Father Thomas Bowdren, Roman Catholic marriage relations specialist from St. Louis, Mo. Rabbi Samuel S. Mavergeld, leader of Congregation B'nai Jehudah in Kansas City, Mo., stated that the goal of the Jewish marriage is mutual help and companionship.

All three religious leaders agreed that divorce is a poor solution to unhappy marriage. Each speaker stated that married couples should have children. Protestant, Catholic, and Jewish speakers agreed that married life is better than celibacy.

Each speaker stressed the value of pre-marital counseling by the minister of one's own faith. All three explained how marriage between members of widely varying faiths often proved unwelcome.

Protestant couples are not compelled by their church to remain married if they cannot get along. Doctor Miller told his audience: "A married person's freedom to break up his marriage should be controlled by the church," Father Bowdren contended.

Civil divorce is recognized by the Jewish faith, but prevented if possible, Rabbi Mayerberg said. Birth control is sanctioned by the Protestant church, Doctor Miller asserted. "Having children is not the only objective in the sex relationship of married persons," he told the audience.

Procreation of children was listed as the chief aim of the Catholic marriage, Rabbi Mayerberg said that the Jewish church recognized the right of its people to practice birth control.

Romantic love as a necessity in marriage was relegated to third place by Father Bowdren. "Companionship is what holds marriages together," he declared. Both the Protestant and Jewish faiths recognize the value of romantic love in marriage, Miller and Mayerberg agreed.

K-State Chosen As Atomic Center for Western U. S.

Three billion dollars of atom-busting equipment will be moved to Kansas State sometime next month from Oak Ridge, Tenn. according to the recent announcement of the War Department. Doctor A. B. Cardwell, head of the physics department, has been appointed by President Truman to lead the western division of atomic research. Kansas State has been chosen as divisional and experimental headquarters for the Western half of the United States.

Closed Sessions

Cardwell, who has been to several closed sessions with Secretary of Defense James Forrestal and President Truman, was not surprised by the appointment. "I've known for several weeks of the appointment but was not sure Kansas State would be the new divisional headquarters until last week," Cardwell said. He explained that the Atomic Commission decided the move was necessary to centralize atomic safety measures. The movement is a preliminary step in transplanting the Oak Ridge plant and the New Mexico White Sands experimental station to the center of the United States.

K-State Power

"Kansas State soon will be the main power behind the United States' future," he told the reporter. "I will direct that power for Kansas State's benefit," he said.

Cardwell also announced the appointment of two chief assistants from the Kansas State faculty; Dr. Robert Walker for his strict censorship of mass communication and Thurlio McCrady as chief of the defective agency.

The new project has the backing of the campus political parties and also the Sigma Chi Phi, honorary non-party-poopers, according to the Student Council.

Barn Turns into Cow's Beauty Shop

Every night is Saturday night at the Kansas State College agriculture school's barns.

The barns are virtual "cow beauty parlors" as students groom animals for the ag school's Little American Royal Livestock Show April 10.

The bovine "new look" is replacing old winter coats on college livestock. But it takes clippers, curry combs, brushes, soap and "elbow grease" as students prepare their animals for the contest. They have been working every night after school. Some even stayed in Manhattan over Easter vacation to care for the animals assigned them.

Time was when man was ashamed to get a manicure. Even bulls get their tails combed and their feet manicured here.

GOLFING ENTHUSIASTS
will take on the "new look" this spring. C. J. Medlin, graduate manager of student publications models the new costume for The Collegian photographer. The conventional golf bag has given way to collapsible golf clubs which can be packed in an ordinary Gladstone bag. Knickerbockers and high-button shoes protect the golfer from snake bite. "But who wants to be protected from snake bite?" Medlin said as an afterthought.—April Fool.

Students Demand Dancing Change

Friday-Nite Dance Club has become so popular that the name has been changed. The new title is "Mandy." Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday, Saturday-Nite and Sunday We Rest Club.

Originally scheduled for one dance a week, the tremendous turnout made it necessary to revise the original plan. Bill West, manager of the club, stated that people are fools, that is to say "dancing fools." "We have rented the Community House, Avalon and Wareham Hotel, but there still isn't enough room to dance."

Adding the Tap Room to the list, Mr. West felt that all club members will be amply taken care of.

This week's band schedule is as follows:

Friday—Vaughn Monroe
Saturday—Harry James
Sunday—We Rest
Monday—Spice Jones
Tuesday—Gene Krupa
Wednesday—Sammy Kaye
Thursday—Red Engle
Tickets for the dances are on sale at the Student Hospital. Admission is 50¢ per couple for this week's series and only 8,000 tickets have been printed.

"This is something Kansas State has always needed, and I'm sure the dances will be terrific," Bill West stated.

Dean Writes Article

R. L. Throckmorton, dean of the school of agriculture at Kansas State College, is author of an article on dry farming in the New Britannica Junior, a reference work for boys and girls published by Encyclopedia Britannica.

Throckmorton is consulting editor for Country Gentleman magazine. He has written for many farm publications.

X-Ray Reports

Students who have not yet received the reports of their chest X-rays taken last January by the Photo-Fluorographic unit of the State Board of Health may get them at the College Post Office, Dr. Robert R. Snook announced yesterday.

All reports for students whose names begin with the letters A-T inclusive have been mailed. Letters T-Z inclusive will be in the College Post Office by the end of next week, Dr. Snook said. If the reports are called for at the Post Office within a week, they will be returned to the student health department. Students may obtain them from the Student Health department by calling for them personally.

K-State Students Are Jailed at KU

The worst outbreak in the history of the K-State-KU rivalry occurred Tuesday night when 13 Kansas State students were arrested by Lawrence policemen who charged the State students with attempting to smash the statue of Jimmy Green.

The students were seized by the officers while sitting in cars opposite the K. U. Law Building and the statue of Green. They offered no resistance to the policemen and contended they were "only looking around the campus."

Evidence Found
Sledge hammers, paint cans and brushes were found in the cars and the Lawrence police chief considered the evidence enough to hold the 13 K-Staters in jail.

Don Ford, president of the Student Council, was in Lawrence yesterday attempting to bail out the students and they were expected to be released on bail this morning. A date for the trial has not been set.

Ford declared the arrest "an attack on the rights of free citizens," and said the Peace Pact which has been in force effectively since 1931, no longer exists as far as he is concerned.

Notified Parents
President Milton S. Eisenhower had no comment on the matter. His office has notified the parents of the 13 arrested students. All their names were not available, but it was understood that the group included: John Montgomery, freshman in agriculture; Albert Swenson, sophomore in business; Norville Argabright, junior in engineering; Roy Roberts, sophomore in journalism; Norman Rockwell, freshman in art; Rick Hanks, junior in physical education; and Floyd Wolgast, senior in child welfare and athletics.

Comprehensive Courses will be Ousted by Next Semester

The desire of many students that comprehensive courses at K-State be abolished has come true, President Eisenhower has announced the discontinuance of the courses at the end of this semester.

The SPC and SGA recommended their termination some time ago but met heavy opposition from the administration. However, several students managed to get the problem to the Statehouse. Early this week the legislature passed, and Gov. Frank Carlson signed into law, the "abolishment forever of all comprehensive courses at Kansas State College."

Students Approve
Student approval of the legislature's action was overwhelming while faculty members showed a mixed reaction. Dr. M. J. Harbaugh, chairman of the course biology in relation to man, said he didn't have very good lectures anyway and now his instructors can spend more time studying the reactions of chickens and raising pansies."

Dr. G. D. Wilcox, chairman of man's cultural world, is all for ending the courses. In a statement to the Collegian, he said "it is hardly possible to cover 50 million years during

Legislature Transfers Appropriation to Chapel

The plans for construction of a new field house at Kansas State have been abandoned, it was announced Thursday. Prof. Paul Weigel, head of the department of architecture, said shortages of labor and materials have caused the state architects to drop the project.

President Milton S. Eisenhower announced that $1,050,000 appropriation has been transferred to the Memorial Chapel and dormitory funds. Eisenhower explained this transfer could be made since the state legislature did not pass a bill specifying a Field House. "Instead it passed a mill tax bill designed to provide funds for all state supported schools. The Field House was simply tacked on our priority list," the President added.

Shortage of Materials
Professor Weigel and state architects studied the plans and decided the project could not be carried out under present labor and material conditions. Since supplies are available for other types of construction the appropriations was transferred to these projects. They include the Memorial Chapel, a girls' dormitory and a practice house for the home economics department.

The Field House was to have been built north of Memorial Stadium on the grounds now occupied by the temporary engineering drawing buildings.

"Of course it is a disappointment to have the plans cancelled," Thurlio McCrady, director of athletics, said, "but we have tentative plans to rearrange the bleachers in the gymnasium and seat another three or four hundred."

Nichols Gym now will hold approximately 3,000 spectators at basketball games.

The decision of the state architects ends a nine-year campaign for a new basketball home for K-State. Coach Jack Gardner and many faculty members as well as students have been working for a Field House since 1939. Petitions, stunts, parades and many other means of emphasizing the need for such a building have been a part of a concerted drive since that date.

Blow to Basketball Team
"It is a great blow to the athletic hopes of K-State," Gardner said. "We can hardly hope to draw top high school stars if they are to play in Nichols. We were just getting on our basketball feet this season. With most of the boys back next year and a new Field House, we could stand up with the best of them. Now—?" Gardner observed.

It was understood earlier this year that bids for the building would be taken this spring and the construction would begin this summer.

And so, Nichols gymnasium, home of the Wildcat cagers, will built in 1911, and for 37 years the still be the site of the K-State court battles in Manhattan next year.

4-H TO HOLD TO-LIP BALL

Outstanding Seniors in 4-H work will be presented to the Collegiate 4-H Club members at their spring semi-formal dance, the "To-Lip Ball," to be held at the Community House, Saturday April 3 at 9 p. m. Dick Winger, former president of the club will present the Outstanding Seniors for 1948. Music will be furnished by Matt Betton's Varsity Club Orchestra.

Decorations will be in keeping with the name given the dance, according to Margaret Nebergall, chairman of the decoration committee. Corages will not be worn.

All Collegiate 4-H Club members are invited by Miss Nebergall to attend. Howard Lindholm, chairman of the dance committee, urged the members to pick up their tickets in Anderson Hall. Members may bring non-member dates by purchasing tickets for them at the stand in Anderson, Lindholm said.

SHOWN IN THE ABOVE PICTURE are the new uniforms for Kansas State's ROTC unit. Officials report that the uniforms will definitely arrive in time for the Military Ball May 19. When asked about the return of sabers to military dress, Col. A. G. Hutchinson, commandant of the unit, replied, "In the next war, small arms will be useless. The main attack will come through the air, therefore necessitating the skillful training of men for push-button warfare. A man's fingers soon tire when thousands of buttons are pushed 24 hours a day. Thus, the saber has been returned as standard equipment to do the work."

Cooperation Pays

A fine example of intellectual cooperation is evident between the History Department and the Institute of Citizenship. Scarcely a day goes by without an example of friendly and professional relationship between two departments at the College.

The "doubting Thomases" who predicted the two departments would be "at each other's throats" were wrong.

The Institute of Citizenship has grown from a small curriculum with few courses and few students to one of the most "in-demand" courses of study on the campus. Students from all over the world have come to the K-State campus to exercise their talents and contemplate the works of controversial writers such as Plato and Aristotle.

And here the history department minded the Institute "stealing some of their thunder?" Not in the least. In fact, members of the department have provided the Institute staff with many valuable suggestions and opinions. "They are just getting started and I'll help them get on solid ground," one member of the history department was heard to remark.

If other departments on this and other campuses would see the light and follow the example set by these two departments, education in American colleges would be greatly rejuvenated. Petty bickerings and jealousies would be laid aside for the good of the institution and especially the students.

State Status Quo

By Ramsey Woodward

"Accuracy," said the big editor, chewing on his pipe, "Accuracy, above all, is important in the news story. Why accuracy in journalism what virtue is to a woman?"

"Yes," said the cute little coed, thinking deeply, "but a newspaper can always print a retraction."

SCOOP. Latest dope on Y-Orpheum, investigation of sorority and fraternity skits to be presented at Y-Orpheum this year show quite a bit to be coming off. One skit, plans a parade of French bathing suits, and another plans a skit titled, "It was love at first sight, when he saw her taking a sun bath on the roof from his helicopter," or "A Bird's Eye View of You."

Incidentally, to our knowledge, no one thus far has stolen the Y-Orpheum cups. Whatta matter? No college spirit?

A D Pi: The best in years. The chaperones couldn't come, and the orchestra missed the train.

K-State has slipped back into normal, sometimes dull rut. It has been nearly a month since that status of William Alexander Harris, famed Hereford breeder, has been painted. Whatta matter, no college spirit?

Only the Collegian staff would put out an April Fools' edition on April 2.

Kansas State, maintaining its steady pace, so far has purged no Communists, and has taken no action on the draft, which, of course affects many young men here.

Letters to the Editor

VOX STUDENS

(Editor's note: The opinions presented in this column may or may not express the opinion of The Collegian. The letters are presented here for student information.)

Dear Editor,

Your postcard asking what I've been doing since I left school last year has arrived and been read by half the folks in Bemis. I have been engaged in newspaper work. I have been working against the Kansas City Times.

Since many of your readers probably have been put in peril by the Times, perhaps they would be interested in my experiences. One morning last year as I headed sleepy-eyed for a seven o'clock, my battle with the Times started.

A whizzing missile bounced my hat off my head. Suspecting a boomerang attack, I crouched behind an azalea bush. All I saw was a high-powered automobile roaring around the corner. Gingerly I approached the boomerang, which turned out to be a copy of that morning's Times. Then I realized carriers had hurled it at someone's doorstep from the speeding car. I had got in the way.

For three successive mornings, the marauders knocked my hat off at approximately the same spot on Vattier. Then I began ducking, swooping up the Times and pegging it back at the car. Usually by the time I got the Times off, though, the motorists were peppering an ag sophomore in the next block.

Since leaving school, I have devoted my full time to my feud with the Times. A pupil at Eugene Field school has been selling me bundles of old newspapers for fifty cents a hundred-weight. Each afternoon after school he and his classmates come over to my basement. For ten cents an hour, they fold copies of the Kansas City Times into compact, lethal bundles.

Each morning I take my armload of folded papers to a strategic bush on Thurston. When I see the Times carriers approaching, I warm up with a few quick practice throws. Then as the car draws abreast of me, I let fly with the papers. This morning I scored two hits on the fender and one on the windshield before the car was out of range. By next week I hope to be ready to start on the driver.

Sincerely,
Harold Roth

4-H Club Yearbook Includes 90 Counties

More than 90 Kansas counties will be represented in the 1948 WHO'S WHOOT, Kansas 4-H yearbook published annually by the Kansas State College 4-H Club, editor Virginia Grandfield announces. "In fact," Miss Grandfield reports, "90 county pages have already been sent to the engraver."

A larger county page section, more space devoted to state wide 4-H activities and to the Collegiate 4-H Club, and a larger advertising section is expected to swell the size of the book to more than 200 pages. There were 128 pages in last year's book.

Progress on the book now indicates that it should be ready for distribution at the State 4-H Roundup held here in June. "However," Miss Grandfield emphasizes, "sales of the book are not limited to those attending State Roundup. Any 4-H Club member who wishes one may order it through any county agent."

Church Calendar

After returning from Easter vacation the students on the campus will find a full program scheduled for them by the churches. Pot luck suppers, parties, and a special speaker will be the highlights of the week.

First Methodist Church

Put on your little Abner shoes and your Daisie Mae skirts and come to the Saturday Night in Wesley Hall at 8 p. m. A big Dog Patch Party is the main attraction of the weekend for the Methodist Church members. Morning worship at the Social Theater will begin at 10 a. m. Sunday morning, followed by the regular Sunday morning worship in the church at 10:55. The program of the forum program Sunday evening. Kappa Phi will meet Tuesday, April 6.

College Baptist Church

Sunday, the Reverend Grady Wilson of Charlotte, North Carolina will be the speaker at the College Baptist Church. He is a graduate of Wheaton College and has recently spent two months in speaking engagements throughout the Pacific Northwest and British Columbia and Alberta, Canada. Reverend Wilson is the Founder and Former Director of Youth for Christ in Charleston, South Carolina and also served as a pastor in South Carolina for several years.

Hillel Foundation

Hillel Foundation will meet Friday evening at 7:30 in Wesley Hall. It will be a special meeting. Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints Sunday School service will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Davis at 10 a. m. L. D. S. Students and anyone else interested may attend.

Christian Student Fellowship

CSF will meet at 5:45 Sunday evening in Wesley Hall. The evening will be the vespers. Bob Cartee will present the third in the series "Boy Meets Girl."

Friends will be Tuesday afternoon. A picnic, stage or drag, is being planned for April 10.

Vets' Wives Party

An informal spring party for members of the College Veterans Wives organization will be from 8 to 11 p. m. on April 3 at Recreation Center, announced Mrs. Howard Bobb, chairman of the party committee.

Dancing and card-playing will be on the program. Fran Schneider will conduct a floor show during the evening.

Parker Will Speak

Prof. S. T. Parker will speak on "Summability of Series and Integrals" at the Pi Mu Epsilon meeting Wednesday at 4 p. m.

or Managers

Here April 9-10

Outstanding speakers and authorities in labor and management will speak at the second annual Labor-Management conference held at the Kansas State, April 9-10. P. S. Bagley, conference chairman and associate professor of economics, has announced.

Among them are Dr. Theodore W. Schultz, chairman of the economics department at Chicago University; Dr. Joseph Mire, economist and education director of the A. F. of L. Chicago; Dr. Hilden Gibson, director of Human Relations at the University of Kansas; Perrin D. McElroy, secretary and business manager of the Building and Construction Trades Council, Kansas City, Mo.

Kermit Eby, director of Education and Research for the CIO; J. H. Hatch, production manager of the Union Wire Rope Corp., Kansas City, Mo.; Oscar Monrad, vice-president of the First National Bank and Trust Company, Oklahoma City and Clarence Coleman, who has charge of Coleman Company in Wichita.

The conference, only one of its kind in the Midwest, brings labor and industry executives together for friendly discussions of their problems. Prof. Bagley said. The conference also aims to promote better understanding of labor and management's problems by college students and the general public.

New Waste Cans Erected on Campus

The recent unsightliness of the campus has been the major factor in placing of waste cans at strategic places on the campus. R. F. Gingrich, superintendent of building and repair, said yesterday. Thirty-one of the green cans have been ordered and are being erected at intersections and entrances of buildings.

Gingrich urged that the warnings on the sides of the cans be obeyed. The cans carry the message: "Do not put matches or cigarettes in container." Not only will the trash burn, but the cans are lined with a burlap bag, Gingrich said.

College Housing Units Acquire Extinguishers for Fire Fighting

One hundred green carbon tetrachloride gallon-sized fire extinguishers are in the process of being transferred to the local Public Housing Authority from Army surplus at Salt Lake City, Utah, Francis Rickard, Assistant Housing Director, revealed recently.

"These fire extinguishers will be of much help in lessening danger of future fires in the P. H. housing areas of Elliot and Hilltop Courts, Goodnow Park and the trailers in Campus Courts," Mr. Rickard said. It is planned that one extinguisher will be made available to each barracks and one to each circle of trailers in Campus Courts.

Mr. Rickard pointed out that better fire protection has been needed for the housing areas since they were occupied, but that prices of new extinguishers were too high for the budget. Through this means of transferring government property from one agency to another, only the cost of transporting the extinguishers from Salt Lake City to Manhattan will need be provided by the local housing authority. — A. K.

Rehearsals for 'Angel Street' Have Begun

Rehearsals for "Angel Street," a psychological study in suspense to be presented by the K-State Players on April 23 and 24, started Wednesday.

For the production, the Players have selected a small but experienced cast headed by Bill Anderson and Shirley Smith as Mr. and Mrs. Manningham, the young married couple around which the one Muchenthaler will play the maids, Nancy and Elizabeth. Routh, the detective, is portrayed by Marvin Altman. Carl Gish and George Nelson will appear as policemen. Student directors of the show are Cliff Hunt and Mary Frances Weaver.

"Angel Street" is the name of the London street on which the Manninghams live. The play opened in London nearly a decade ago under the title of "Gas Light." Victorian in nature, they story takes place in the 1880's.

Costumes have been ordered from the Eaves Costume Co., New York City. The same firm furnished costumes for last semester's "Twelfth Night."

Sanger in Hospital

Professor R. G. Sanger spent the Easter holidays in the Saint Mary Hospital. He entered the hospital Thursday for a minor operation, and was released Tuesday morning. Professor Sanger, mathematics head, will return to the College Monday, according to word from the mathematics office.

Six K-State Cagers Banned

Allen Declares Players Ineligible in First Act As Big Seven Commissioner

In a surprise move late yesterday, Dr. Forrest C. Allen, was appointed athletic commissioner of the Big Seven conference, and in his first official move blasted future Kansas State cage hopes when he declared six members of the 1948 conference champion Wildcats ineligible for further college competition.

The announcement followed closely on the heels of Allen's resignation yesterday as basketball coach at Kansas University. He had been Kansas University basketball coach for more than 30 years.

Starting Lineup
The Wildcats declared ineligible included all of the 1948 starting lineup and one of Gardner's most reliable replacements.

Clarence Brannum, Rick Harman, Jack Dean, Howard Shannon, Hal Howey, and Lloyd Krone were the Cats who felt the blow of Allen's ax.

Allen sounded another ominous note for the Wildcat cage future when he hinted that a movement is under way to ban several K-State freshmen from the maples next year.

No reason was given for the sweeping move against the K-State cage squad. When questioned by a Collegian reporter, Allen declined further comment on the matter. "Everybody knows my position on the subject of K-State basketball players' eligibility," he snarled. "There's no explanation necessary. They are ineligible and that's that."

Forfeit Season
A reliable source in Lawrence was quoted as saying there is a possibility that the decision may be made retroactive to include the cage season just completed. If the move is successful, the Cats will lose possession of the Big Seven title. All of the Wildcat conference games would be forfeited and Oklahoma University would become the 1948 conference champion. The playing of such a large number of ineligible men is considered reason enough for stripping the Wildcats of their championship, the informant declared.

Detailed information concerning the banning of the Kansas State stars was not available at press time, but it was unofficially stated that the majority of the group were declared ineligible on minor technicalities. An overall reason for the move was suggested when someone mentioned that the rest of the conference would be much better off if the Wildcats were broken up, like the powerful Philadelphia Athletics baseball team several years ago. Many observers have been quoted as saying that the Wildcats were too far superior to the remainder of the loop teams to make the conference race interesting.

Gardner Mad
K-State coach Jack Gardner was reached by telephone and was obviously hopping mad. "They can't do this to me," he screamed into the reporter's ear. "I'll fight 'em to the Supreme Court. We're not taking this lying down. I'll not stand for it either."

Clarence Brannum, one of the players declared ineligible, was purple with rage. "This means war," he bellowed at the Collegian newsmen. "I feel like clubbing somebody with my knee braces," he grated as he glared evilly around the suddenly deserted room.

Another of the banned Wildcats, Jack Dean, took the news with his customary calmness. "Silence," he whispered as an excited news bearer burst into his room. "Hmmm, imagine that. My but that was a dirty trick, wasn't it," he drawled.

The other men who were declared ineligible were not available for comment, but rumor has it that the banned players are planning a mass migration to another school. A reliable source claims that Howard Shannon will lead his mates to a Texas college.

Short Story Entries Now Being Accepted

Entries for the Mademoiselle magazine short story contest are now being accepted by the journalism department.

The stories are to be 3,000 to 5,000 words long. The contest is open to undergraduate women only. All stories must be in by April 15.

Winners of the two stories judged best will receive $500, and will have their stories published in the August issue of the magazine.

Golfers

All prospective varsity golfers are to meet with Benny York this afternoon at 4:30 at the country club. It will be an organizational meeting to get things started, according to Benny.

KSC TRACKMEN IN TWO MEETS

Wildcat cinder artists will travel to two widely separated points for meets this weekend. Track Coach Ward Haylett left for Austin, Tex., with entries for the 21st running of the Texas Relays today and Saturday. Assistant coach, Frank Owens, has another group of the Cat squad at Boulder, Colorado, for the Colorado Indoor Invitational meet tomorrow. Haylett left for Austin, Texas.

The Texas Relay is the curtain raiser for the Wildcat outdoor schedule and records are expected to fall in several events. Rollin Prather, K-State shotput and discus king, will be defending his title of last year.

1000 Entrants

Approximately 1,000 entrants, many of them with Olympic hope, begin qualifying events today and enter the finals tomorrow in what promises to be the major outdoor track display of the season. An added incentive for the hopefuls with an eye on the 1948 Olympics will be the presence of President Avery Brundage of the United States Olympic Committee, who will referee the 1948 relays.

A topnotch list of field event competitors threatens to take the spotlight away from the breezier spring and relay dashes. Fortune Gordien of Minnesota tops the group of Olympic possibilities to whom Texas Relays' records in jumping, vaulting and weight events will mean nothing. Gordien's specialty is the discus throw, in which he has come close to 180 feet, and the shot put, in which his best mark is nearly 54 feet.

Records will be under sharp attack also in the pole vault, broad jump and high jump competition. Among entrants in those fields include: Tom Scofield, Kansas University, National Junior A. U. high jump champion, who has soared over 6 feet 6 inches. Jack Heintzman, Bradley, is another high jumper who has neared the 6 foot 6 inch mark.

John Robertson, ex-N. C. A. A. broad jump title holder, and Loyd Lamois of Minnesota and Bob Crowley of Kansas University. Minnesota's ace pole vaulter, Harry Cooper, is expected to approach 14 feet in the event.

proach 14 feet in the event.

Texas Favorite

North Texas and East Texas rank as favorites in the college class relays, with Abilene Christian College a dark horse.

Among Collegiate teams due to see action in the relays are South Dakota, Kansas, Minnesota, Drake, Kansas State, Oklahoma, Oklahoma A & M, Louisiana State and Nebraska.

Included on the Kansas State Roster making the trip to Texas are the 2 mile relay team, Payne, discus: Prather, discus and shotput; Elliott, high hurdles; Vanhaverbeke, 3,000 meter run.

Competing in the Colorado Invitational, Frank Owens has sephalon entries Rodney McClay and Carmen Wilcox; Harold Kiser, broad jump and low hurdles; Jim Danielson, high hurdles, high jump and broad jump; and Don Thomas in the 440.

Wildcat Outdoor Track Schedule:

April 3 Texas Relays, Austin, Texas.

April 10 Freshman-Varsity meet here.

April 16-17 Kansas Relays at Lawrence.

April 24 Colorado Relays at Boulder.

May 1 Kansas University in Manhattan.

May 8 Missouri at Columbia.

May 15 Iowa State at Ames.

Intramurals

The men's intramural volleyball tournament moves into the finals tonight at 7:15 in Nichols Gymnasium. With but two exceptions, group championships have already been decided.

Fraternity division winners are Group I—Sigma Phi Epsilon, Group II—Delta Tau Delta, Group III—Beta Theta Pi and Tau Kappa Epsilon tied.

Winners of the independent brackets are Group I—Wesley Foundation, Group II—P. E. M. and A. V. M. A. tied, Group III—Gutterbums.

Play-offs between the teams which were tied were held last night, but the games had not been completed at the time The Collegian went to press.

Results of play March 23 were A. V. M. A. over Black Cats, Alpha Gamma Rho over Kappa Sigma, Boozdoes over Amistad, Beta Theta Pi over Tau Kappa Epsilon, Sigma Phi Nothing over L. S. A., Sigma Nu over Acacia, House of Williams over Ag. Ed. Club and P. E. M. over Gung-Ho Kids.

March 24, Phi Kappa beat Alpha Kappa Lambda, Delta Tau Delta beat Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Farm House defeated Phi Delta Theta, Kappa Alpha Psi beat Delta Sigma Phi and Theta Xi defeated Alpha Tau Omega.

In the all-school table tennis play-offs Froog, independent champ, defeated Lindbloom, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, to capture the singles crown.

Powers and Neuman, Phi Delta Theta, outlasted Altman and Varakian, YMCA, to win the doubles title.

Men's intramural tennis will get under way next Monday, according to L. P. Washburn, director of intramurals. First round pairings will be posted on the bulletin board in Nichols Gymnasium Monday morning. "Definite times for the individual matches will be left up to the players," Washburn said. "But there will be a time limit set."

Girls Basketball

The girls' intramural basketball tournament has but one more night to run. Group winners will play a double elimination tournament next Monday and Tuesday to determine the school champion, according to Miss Kathryn McKinney, assistant professor of physical education for women.

March 22, East Stadium humbled Delta Delta Delta 22 to 9. Dee Currie and Mildred Reisner each bucketed five goals to head the scoring column for the winners.

March 23, The Barbs, led by Edith Payne's 12 points, dropped Alpha Xi Delta 19 to 10. Cynthia Morrish hit for eight points to lead her Chi Omega teammates to a 17 to 8 win over Alpha Delta Pi.

March 24, Waltheim Hall squeezed past Kappa Kappa Gamma 13 to 12. Patty Sue Warnick, Kappa, was high scorer with nine points. The Blitz Babes blasted Alpha Chi Omega title hopes by dropping them 17 to 11. Lavonne Theobald and Jane Rogers each contributed three buckets for the winners.

March 31, Kappa Delta kept up their winning ways by beating Keim's Kabana 23 to 11. Betty Kelly was simply too much to handle. She connected for seven fielders and a free toss to lead her team—and Keim's Kabana—in scoring with 15 points. Marguerite Nebergall collected 12 counters as she led night, according to Hobart Falen, president of the club. The contest is limited to members of the different departmental clubs in the School of Agriculture.

Last year the Block and Bridle club won the rotating paddle which presently is displayed in the trophy case in East Ag. Awards will be given for doubles and single contests. Anyone may watch the tournament, Falen said.

Gardner Resigns As Basketball Coach; Conover Named to Fill Cage Position

Coming closely on the heels of the "Gifts for Gardner" Fund, Head Basketball Coach Jack Gardner, last night tendered his resignation, effective immediately, to Athletics Director, Thurlio McCrady.

The resignation bombshell came after several weeks of speculation as to whether the personable mentor would be content to stay on the K-State campus the tempting offers tendered to him by several large schools.

Goes to Kansas Wesleyan

But it wasn't a large school or enormous salary that lured the coach away from the school and the team he coached to its first basketball championship since 1917. In a statement to the press last night Gardner revealed that he would leave immediately to take over the coaching reins of Kansas Wesleyan at Salina.

"I would like to express my appreciation to all my friends in Manhattan and to the students at the College. I would also like to thank all my colleagues in the Kansas State College athletic department, and especially director Thurlio McCrady for their splendid support during the years I have been here."

McCrady was at a loss to explain Gardner's sudden action. "I was very confident Jack was happy here," he said. "I talked to him Tuesday. We agreed on a $3,000 salary raise and Jack assured me he was happy here and would stay as long as we wanted him." McCrady remarked that Gardner's resignation "hurt him deeply."

"My wife and I have decided that big-time coaching just isn't worth the effort. The Salina school has made me a good offer. Besides trying to turn out a team that will be a credit to the school, I think I will relax and raise chickens."

Conover Is New Coach

The athletic council wasted no time in appointing a successor for Gardner. Prof. Robert W. (Uncle Bob) Conover, with the College English department, will take over the helm of the Purple and White cage crew. Conover's appointment was approved by the Board of Regents in a telephone poll conducted by director McCrady.

"We are very lucky to get a man of Mr. Conover's ability and experience," McCrady said.

Although he has never held a coaching position, Conover feels quite confident that he will be able to turn out another winning team for Kansas State next year. "Coaching a team of young gentlemen in the fine art of basketball endeavor is a new undertaking for me," Conover stated. "But I feel quite confident that instructing a basketball team and conducting a class in Written Communications should be quite similar."

Spring Practice In May

Spring basketball practice will be the first two weeks in May the new mentor announced. "We have a goodly number of young men with athletic ability back from last year's team. In addition there will be several outstanding gentlemen from this year's freshman group competing for berths on next year's bunch."

"I would like to see anyone who thinks he has basketball ability to report for spring practice. No berths are filled for next year and each position will go to the boy who plays the sport with considerable hustle and vitality," said Conover.

The dinner will serve to honor women leaders in civic and campus affairs. Women editors and columnists from Kansas will be invited, as well as prominent

Gardner, Boys Fund Reaches Total of $800

"Gifts for Gardner and boys" reached a total of $800, according to Don Ford, president of Student Council.

"Everyone contributed good," Ford said. "The end of the month and the inability to reach students who started early on Easter vacation were a determining factor in not reaching the amount expected," Ford added.

GIRLS TO PLAY ON KSC TEAMS UNDER NEW RULE

Coeds at Big Seven schools today were declared eligible to play on intercollegiate athletic teams according to a ruling handed down by the new conference czar, Dr. F. E. (Phog) Allen.

Allen said in a statement at Lawrence that this new rule would mean girls could play right along side the men on college football, basketball and other varsity squads. Allen said he made this ruling, which is the first of its kind in the nation, so "certain schools which have consistently poor teams can rely upon other factors to draw attendance."

Directed At KSC

Observers over the conference said the remark was directed at Kansas State's football team. Thurlio McCrady, commenting on the matter said, "That's just cheap publicity. The old codger had a great basketball team this year didn't he? Finished in the cellar!"

The announcement by Allen followed the one in which he declared six of K-State's male cage stars ineligible for play next season. New Wildcat coach Uncle Bob Conover, searching for new talent to replace his ineligible, cast furtive glances at coeds today as they walked on the campus. Conover's comment on the situation was, "it's plenty unusual, but it will have its points."

Report At 4 P. M.

The coach said all girls interested in playing varsity basketball should report to him in the locker room this afternoon at 4 p. m. "I'll give 'em the once over," the handsome mentor said, "and see what can be developed."

Coeds on the campus seemed thrilled at the idea of playing on the varsity squad. Janice "Dump-on-thru" Addington, star center for the Alpha Chi squad said she was eager to play under Conover. She is known for having racked up twenty points in a recent game with the Barbs. Wildcat grid mentor, Ralph Graham, saw hope in the new ruling. "We'll come through in good shape," Graham said, "with the girls playing with us."

MAJOR LEAGUES SIGN K-STATERS

Kansas State's chances for the 1948 conference baseball championship were dealt a crippling blow during Easter vacation with the announcement that Coach Lud Fiser and three star players were plucked off the campus by professional teams.

The Boston Red Sox made the biggest dent in the Cat roster when their agents signed pitcher Jack Bell and second baseman Dana Atkins. Reports are that the Sox have been in contact with the two players since early last season. In fact, Bell disclosed he had been receiving checks from the club since last summer. He denied having signed a contract until last Saturday.

A touch of irony came with the announcement by Coach Fiser that he had signed to manage the St. Joseph Western Association club for the notoriously low paying St. Louis Cardinals. "The Cards made an offer I couldn't turn down. With the recent addition to my family, I felt the $225 a month job was more than I could pass up. Even if it's only a six month job the 40 percent increase in pay makes up the difference," Fiser said.

The other member of the squad to take a fling at play for pay is 34-year-old outfielder Sinus Truble. "I have been going here for 16 years," Si said, "and it don't look like I'm gittin nowhere." The Tank Town Trotters, a class DDT outfit from Mollusk picked up Truble with a contract calling for $120 a month for playing ball and mowing the outfield grass.

Fiser Names Possible Lineup vs Oklahoma

Thirty four K-State baseball candidates will square off in intra-squad games tomorrow and Monday. Coach Lud Fiser said yesterday. Performances in the sham battles will determine the traveling squad and starting lineups for the first two games of the 1948 campaign against Oklahoma A&M at Stillwater next weekend the mentor said.

Good weather has given Fiser a chance to hold infield workouts at Griffith Field regularly. The closest competition so far has been between Jack Nielson, former Oklahoma A&M letterman, and Al Sheriff for the third base job vacated by Don Chew, 1947 third sacker who has moved to catcher. If Nielson gets the nod against the Cowboys next week Sheriff may be moved to the outfield where he lettered last season.

Currently Fiser lists the rest of his infield with Dale Carr at shortstop, Dana Atkins, second base; Dave Bremner, first base and Chew at catcher. Chew is getting a battle from Cliff Schumacher and Clinton Davies.

The outfield is stacked with talent, according to Fiser. A first-rate trio could be picked from any combination of six outstanding prospects. Besides Sheriff, there are lettermen Gabe Bartley and Bob Ives. Don Nelson, Bill Grimes and Ted Grimes are giving the veterans a fight for the positions.

Ten freshmen pitchers are

FACULTY OKAYS NEW BALLROOM

The American Legion's offer to make its ballroom available for student organizational dances has been approved by the Faculty Council on Student affairs.

A Faculty Council committee that investigated the ballroom reported the room has been redecorated, has adequate fire-escape facilities and is air conditioned.

The upstairs ballroom at Third and Poyntz will accommodate approximately 100 couples. Guests at student parties will not have access to the Legion club rooms.

working out with the varsity. Fiser is using the flingers for batting practice duty. He expects to issue a call for all frosh candidates on April 12.

A revision in the schedule calls for the first home game on April 12 against Kansas Wesleyan. The tentative schedule had listed Kansas as the first opponent here on April 26.

CAUSE FOR AMERICAN PRIDE...

JEFFERSON'S ROUGH DRAFT OF THE DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE

A Declaration by the Representatives of the UNITED STATES OF AMERICA, in General Congress assembled

When in the course of human events it becomes necessary for one people to dissolve the political bands which have connected them with another, and to assume among the powers of the earth the separate and equal station to which the laws of nature and of nature's God entitle them, a decent respect to the opinions of mankind requires that they should declare the causes which impel them to the separation.

We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty, and the pursuit of Happiness. That to secure these rights, Governments are instituted among Men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed; that whenever any form of Government becomes destructive of these ends, it is the right of the people to alter or to abolish it, & to institute new Government, laying its foundation on such principles & organizing it; powers in such form, as to them shall seem best.

Part of the original manuscript of the Declaration of Independence, written by Thomas Jefferson. It is now on display aboard the "Freedom Train." The revisions shown were included in the document finally presented to the Continental Congress.

AT STATE

With more swirl than a cream separator this week's society news is the juiciest ever to be revealed at our dear old ivy walled campus. Students returning from an extended Easter vacation have come back with rings, new loves, and a few broken hearts. Spring is definitely in the air, and you know what they say about spring; that's when a young man's fancy starts doing all the things he's been thinking of all winter.

Attention Lucas, papers, playboys, Darrell Cowell forsaking all others, has disclosed he is going to the Salvation Army and depart for South America. Lucas' belle are reported threatening suicide over the matter.

Several fraternity men around the campus have formed a new organization, the "we-hate-girls-who-break-dates" club. Headed by Floyd Sageser, the new organization will add any members whose girls have broken dates with them. The new association will hold its first meeting at 8:30 to 10:00 p.m. at the Sigma Phi house. Sageser reports that already 98 men and 2 coeds have indicated they would join the organization.

Two new social fraternities, Sigma Chi and Phi Gamma Delta, well known nationally, have said they will organize on the K-State campus. Members of the local Beta, Sigma Nu, and Phi Delta chapters are understood to be trying to stop the move, since they would be shattered by the invasion of these new popular organizations.

Girls dressed in black gowns, and boys wore black at the Eta Beta's spring formal, the famous "Black and Black". The party could be called a huge success, except for one incident. That was when one of the Eta Betas came in with a red bow tie. His pin was picked up, and it is understood he has been barred forever from the Eta Beta house. The Institute of Citizenship on the other hand, welcomed him with open arms.

A "We-hate-women" club, composed of guys who dislike girls, has been organized on the campus. Qualifications for membership include: those fellows who have trouble getting a date or whom girls do not like. That is, the ones with not much dough. The motto of the new organization is "We can't get along with 'em; so we'll get along without 'em."

Overheard in the Canteen: Joe: Ah, come on, give in won't you? Hey, look, just because my name's Shirley, doesn't mean I'm a girl. A writer talks to his pal Dave and asks for a remedy. "I asked my girl for a date Thursday afternoon and she said no. Later she was out with another guy."

"April 6 is Army Day. It is a day which will have a special meaning for college men. More than half of you are veterans of the last war. Many of you are members of the Organized Reserve. Many others belong to the R.O.T.C. or National Guard.

"All of you are making a vital contribution toward World Peace and the security of this nation.

"The U. S. Army is the finest army in the world and the only one of its kind among the major powers. It is 100% volunteer. It is composed entirely of civilian soldiers... men like yourselves who realize that a strong America is a peaceful America, and that the responsibility of making America strong rests in the hands of every American citizen.

"The U. S. Army is not a large army, as armies go. It is shouldering tasks far greater than any other army of like size has ever attempted.

You can get full details about the opportunities open to you in the Army's complete military training program at any U. S. Army and U. S. Air Force Recruiting Station.

Our occupation force in Japan is the smallest per capita of any modern occupation army. Our force in Europe is the smallest of the three major powers.

"But behind this Army stand you men of the Organized Reserve and the R.O.T.C. I have known many of you personally. I have been with many of you in action. I know the fine type of men you are and the realism that leads you to equip yourselves with military training.

"Further, I know the valuable service you can render the nation in time of emergency. A great deal of the success of fast mobilization and the actual winning of the war was due to the 106,000 trained Reserve Officers and the top-notch National Guard units which were available for quick action.

"To you, on Army Day, I believe I speak for millions of Americans in offering commendation for the fine job you are doing."

Ags Elect Ramsey to Head Association

Agricultural students elected Harold Ramsey, junior in dairy husbandry, president of the Ag Student Association last week in a seminar in the Auditorium. Norville Gish, junior in agricultural journalism was elected vice president.

Other officers are: Louis Emme, secretary; Kenneth Bell, treasurer; James Kirkamide, barnwarmer manager; Charles Glenn, assistant barnwarmer manager; and Melvin Cotner, editor of the Agricultural Student.

Plan Events for Hospitality Days

Hospitality Day activities will begin Thursday, April 15, with a reception at Thompson Hall as a grand opening. Officers of the Margaret Justin Home Economics Club will be initiated at the reception. Freshman counselors for next year, two senior women with the highest grade averages, and the freshman with the highest grade average will be recognized. Also to be honored are the home economics women elected to Phi Kappa Phi and new members of the honorary home economics society, Omicron Nu.

An all-college assembly is scheduled for 9:30 a. m., Friday, April 16. Dr. Hazel Stiebeling, head of the Bureau of Human Nutrition and Home Economics, Washington, D. C., will address students and faculty members.

Exhibits will be open from 10:30 a. m. to 9 p. m. Friday for townspeople and college students. The exhibits, which will be displayed in Calvin, Anderson, and Thompson Halls, will represent work done by the women in home economics at Kansas State. Several commercial exhibits will be shown this year.

A program for Manhattan women is scheduled for 2:30 p. m., Friday in Rec Center. Following the program tea will be served in Calvin Lounge from 3:30 to 5 p. m.

Registration for high school visitors will be Saturday morning from 8 a. m. to 10 a. m. After registration the students from Kansas high schools will be served a box lunch at 11 a. m. in Nichols Gym. A variety show will be presented for entertainment.

A program for high school students is scheduled for 1:30 p. m. and tours of the campus will begin at 2:30 p. m. During the tours the visitors will stop at Van Zile for tea.

Exhibits will close at 2:30 p. m. Saturday, April 17.

Goes to AAUW Meet

Dr. Margaret Justin, dean of the School of Home Economics, will attend a board meeting of the American Association of University Women in Washington, D. C., this week. Dean Justin is first vice-president of the organization.

Dean Justin later will attend a regional meeting of Home Economics Administrators of the Land Grant College Association, of which she is chairman. This group will meet in Peoria, Ill., April 12, 13 and 14.

Nationally-Known Band Leader Plays Here Friday

By Bob Rudbeck

Del Courtney, who brings his band to Kansas State for the Military Ball Friday, transformed his college band at the University of California into a nationally famous musical aggregation.

Born in Oakland, Del's musical career began as soon as he playing in his public school and high school bands and orchestras, then majoring in music at St. Mary's.

He also organized a dance band, which attained popularity not only at St. Mary's but also at the larger University of California at nearby Berkeley.

Del eventually transferred to the University of California and received his B. A. degree.

The depression stalled his desires of becoming a successful music teacher. None of the boys in his campus dance band could find jobs so they started out to buck the hard times of the thirties as a professional dance orchestra.

It wasn't a cinch but with most of his fellow undergraduates as a nucleus Courtney went on to bigger and better things in music including to pranking at the finest hotels, theatres and ballrooms plus a fine recording contract with the Mercury label. Courtney's arrangements, vocalists and all around organization has favorably impressed his audiences from New York to Honolulu.

Invitations are now available from cadet officers. A booth in Anderson Hall is being set up for students.

Pan America Day Features Dinner, Exhibits, Forum

Plans for the third annual Pan American Day celebration have been completed. Manuel Ramirez, assistant professor of modern languages, announced yesterday. The annual event is sponsored by Kansas State College with the cooperation of the Club Cervantes, honorary Spanish society, the Institute of Citizenship and the Cosmopolitan Club. It commemorates Western hemisphere solidarity.

A dinner in the College Cafeteria at 6:15 p. m. April 13 will open the ceremonies. Dr. Asher N. Christensen, professor of political science at the University of Minnesota, will address diners guests. He will discuss, "New Factors in Inter-American Relations." Dr. Christensen was formerly Cultural Attache to the American Embassy in Buenos Aires and is now president of the national association of Cosmopolitan Clubs.

He appeared here in 1946 when he spoke before the Summer School assembly.

Entertainment featuring Latin American dances and music will follow Dr. Christensen's speech. Miss Angelina Lepori and Gustavo Rosania, both of Panama, will supervise the program. An exhibit of Latin American contributions to world culture will be shown.

Articles from Mexico, Cuba, Argentina, Guatemala, Ecuador, Paraguay, Brazil, Peru and Bolivia will appear in the display.

An afternoon faculty-student forum, sponsored by the Institute of Citizenship, will be held in connection with the affair and will feature Dr. Christensen in an address, "Forces Shaping Government in Latin America," at 4 p. m. on the same day. On April 14 a radio program will be broadcast, featuring a round table discussion of inter-American affairs.

Members of the committee in charge of the celebration are: Manuel Ramirez, chairman, and assistant professor of modern languages; J. A. Shellenberger, head of milling industry; Carl Thierandson, Institute of Citizenship; Karl Stacey, department of geology and geography; Vida Harris, department of art; Fritz Moore, head of language department; Angelina Lepori, president of Cosmopolitan Club; Emilio Viale, president of Club Cervantes; Mrs. J. A. Shellenberger and Mrs. Fred A. Kummerow.

Approximately 150 tickets are now available. Tickets may be purchased by contacting any of the committee members after that date.

Kramer Will Speak in Topeka Saturday

Dr. Martha Kramer, assistant dean of home economics, will speak at the second meeting of the Kansas Association of the Future Homemakers of America in Topeka Saturday.

Twelve hundred high school girls from all parts of Kansas are expected to attend the meeting.

Dr. Kramer, who taught six years at the University of Yenching in China, will discuss "The Home Life of a Chinese High School Girl."

Vital importance of the ROTC program in the nation's schools and colleges is one of the keynotes of Army Day celebrations being held throughout the country today.

"It is anticipated that ROTC graduates also will constitute the greater portion of the 30,000 non-career officers, who, as members of the Organized Reserve Corps, will serve on extended active duty with the expanded Army for years to come," Colonel Hutchinson added.

Besides the 600 direct commissions to be granted "distinguished" ROTC graduates annually, the Regular Army expects to draw 350 officers each year from West Point and 250 from "distinguished" graduates of Officer Candidate Schools, and via commissioning of exceptional enlisted men and specialists for such Services as the Medical Department and the Corps of Chaplains.

The meraining 600 needed annually will be procured through competitive tours of officers of the Organized Reserve Corps, including the majority of ROTC and OCS graduates, those appointed in the Reserve from the wartime Army of the United States and those appointed from enlisted ranks.

To Elect New Officers

The Margaret Justin Home Economics Club will elect new officers this week. Votes can be cast all day Thursday and Friday in Calvin Hall. Names of candidates and club positions to be filled will be posted near the polls.

Political Meeting

A mass meeting of the All-College Party will be Thursday, in Willard 115 at 7:30 p. m. Candidates to be voted upon will be presented.

Grant for Research on Fertility of Chicks

A grant of $1,500 for research work on fertility in turkeys was announced recently by Loyal F. Payne, poultry husbandry department head at Kansas State College.

The grant is from the International Baby Chick Association.

The Broad Breasted Bronze turkey has a maximum amount of white meat but it was developed at the expense of low fertility in the breed, Payne said. The grant will be used to study why this condition exists and to correct it if possible.

Rich Takes over Reins of YWCA

Betty Rich is the newly-elected president of the YWCA. She will attend YWCA president's school this summer at Columbia University, Chicago University of the Pacific School of Religion at Berkeley.

Other officers elected were: Doris Granger, vice president; Mary Alice Wolf, secretary; Jo Ellen McNicholas, treasurer; and Sarah Crouch, district representative.

Sarah Crouch will work at the Estes conference this summer and Doris Granger and Jo Ellen McNicholas plan to attend the Estes student conference June 10-19.

The new YWCA cabinet will be appointed by the new and old executive committee. Any student interested in obtaining a cabin or junior cabinet position should contact Miss Parkins at the YW office.

R. I. THROCKMORTON

BEGINNING WITH THE CURRENT issue, Country Gentleman magazine is carrying name "R. I. Throckmorton, consulting editor," in its masthead. Known to his colleagues in Kansas agriculture as "Throck," he has for the past two years been dean of the School of Agriculture at Kansas State College and director of the Kansas Agricultural Experiment Station. Throckmorton has been doing consulting work for the Country Gentleman since 1940.

"I first wrote for the Country Gentleman in 1925," the dean discloses. "Bob Reed was associate editor of the magazine then."

With no formal training in journalism, Throckmorton advanced as a writer until he was doing agricultural feature stories. His latest article, "Fertilizers Go West," appeared in February. He has done perhaps 20 others, and hundreds of shorter articles.

Army Needs R. O. T. C. Grads

Principal source of the 1,800 commissioned officers expected to be appointed in the Regular Army annually during the next ten years will be graduates of the Reserve Officers Training Corps, it was pointed out in an Army Day release, by Colonel Arthur G. Hutchinson, professor of military science and tactics at Kansas State College.

"Present plans provide vacancies for more than 600 distinguished graduates of senior division ROTC to be commissioned directly in the Regular Army every year," Col. Hutchinson declared. "Several hundred ROTC graduates, all of whom receive commissions in the Organized Reserve Corps, are expected to be assimilated by the Regular Army on a basis of competitive tours of active duty."

The term "distinguished" graduate, which is the basis for a direct commission as a Second Lieutenant in the Regular Army, is applied to those ROTC graduates who rank in the upper third of their class in ROTC subjects, possess outstanding leadership, aptitude and moral qualities and are selected by the professor of military science and tactics and receives the approval of the college authorities.

Vital importance of the ROTC program in the nation's schools and colleges is one of the keynotes of Army Day celebrations being held throughout the country today.

"It is anticipated that ROTC graduates also will constitute the greater portion of the 30,000 non-career officers, who, as members of the Organized Reserve Corps, will serve on extended active duty with the expanded Army for years to come," Colonel Hutchinson added.

Myers Selected as Soil Scientist

H. E. Myers, head of the agronomy department at Kansas State, has been designated one of the four soil scientists of the North Central Region of the United States.

The scientists are to integrate soils and fertilizer research with national needs, according to a United States Department of Agriculture release.

Students to Vote Tomorrow on SGA Amendment

Polls opened on the campus today to students voting on a proposed amendment to the SGA constitution. In a necessary departure from custom at Kansas State College, the Student Council has authorized the polls to remain open for three days to insure passage of the amendment.

Students in arts and sciences will vote in Anderson Hall, home economics students in Calvin, and vet medicine students in Veterinary Hall. Polls are open in East Ag for agricultural students and Engineering Hall for sophomore, junior, and senior engineers. Freshmen engineers will vote in Willard Hall and chemical engineers in the Chemical Engineering building.

Half of the student body must vote and 60 per cent of them must vote "yes" if the amendment is to become a part of the constitution.

The amendment to be voted on is as follows: "It is proposed that the constitution be amended, Article IX, Section 2, to read, 'Ratification: The Student Council shall call an election to be held after the proposed amendment has been printed in two consecutive issues of the Collegian. Provided one-third (1-3) of the members of the Association cast votes, two-thirds (2-3) of the number voting shall constitute ratification of the amendment.'"

The way the constitution now reads any amendment COMING BEFORE THE STUDENT BODY FOR RATIFICATION must pull a 50 per cent vote before the vote can be considered.

Sixty per cent of those voting must vote in the affirmative for the amendment to become part of the constitution.

If the proposed amendment is ratified by the student body in this election, a vote of only one-third of the students will class the vote as legal. If two-thirds of those voting vote "yes" the amendment will be ratified.

During the three days of balloting ribbons will be given to each voter as he leaves the polls. On the ribbons are printed, "I voted."

On all publicity issued on the proposed amendment the symbol of an unbalanced scale has been used to typify the unbalanced SGA constitution. Student Council President Don Ford said.

Grad Marries Movie Starlet on Radio Show

Would you marry a millionaire if you had a chance? Vicki Lang, movie starlet whose real name is Vicki Perrault, didn't. Instead she married Major Martin Kadets, army medical officer and Kansas State veterinary medicine graduate of 1941, during the Bride and Groom radio show. Their romance is featured in this month's issue of Radio Mirror magazine.

A whirlwind courtship against a millionaire opponent ended with Vicki and Martin being close to the six hundredth couple to be selected for the broadcast.

Gifts from the Bride and Groom sponsors included a honeymoon at Carmel Valley Inn, a radio phonograph, electric appliances and furniture.

Martin, whose hometown is Medford, Mass., is a Tau Kappa Epsilon alumnus at Kansas State. The couple will live in San Bernardino, Calif., where Martin is stationed.

Grant for Research on Fertility of Chicks

A grant of $1,500 for research work on fertility in turkeys was announced recently by Loyal F. Payne, poultry husbandry department head at Kansas State College.

The grant is from the International Baby Chick Association.

The Broad Breasted Bronze turkey has a maximum amount of white meat but it was developed at the expense of low fertility in the breed, Payne said. The grant will be used to study why this condition exists and to correct it if possible.

Rich Takes over Reins of YWCA

Betty Rich is the newly-elected president of the YWCA. She will attend YWCA president's school this summer at Columbia University, Chicago University of the Pacific School of Religion at Berkeley.

Other officers elected were: Doris Granger, vice president; Mary Alice Wolf, secretary; Jo Ellen McNicholas, treasurer; and Sarah Crouch, district representative.

Sarah Crouch will work at the Estes conference this summer and Doris Granger and Jo Ellen McNicholas plan to attend the Estes student conference June 10-19.

The new YWCA cabinet will be appointed by the new and old executive committee. Any student interested in obtaining a cabin or junior cabinet position should contact Miss Parkins at the YW office.

Myers Selected as Soil Scientist

H. E. Myers, head of the agronomy department at Kansas State, has been designated one of the four soil scientists of the North Central Region of the United States.

The scientists are to integrate soils and fertilizer research with national needs, according to a United States Department of Agriculture release.

Under the plan 16 soil scientists, four from each region, will collaborate with the USDA Soil and Fertilizer Laboratory on present research work and future investigations.

Billau Will Head College Stamp Club

The College Stamp Club recently organized has elected officers. They are: Donald Billau, president; Curtis D. Summers, vice-president; Judson T. Hurlbut, secretary and Kenneth E. Fulkerson, treasurer.

The club meets every Tuesday afternoon at 4 in room 4, Anderson. Anyone interested in stamp collecting can attend the meetings and become a member, the new president said.

Job Interview

An interview of Mary Rood, senior in mechanical engineering by Cleota Dack, personnel director of Jones store in Kansas City was carried over the College television station Thursday afternoon.

The interview in Illustrations building was picked up by three receiving sets in Engineering Hall where other seniors interested in possible employment with the Jones company formed a small audience.

Sports Publicity

Why isn't there any school spirit at Kansas State?

Why doesn't Kansas State get sports publicity?

These two questions have been asked again and again during the past few victory-starved years. Alumni, students and friends of the College everywhere have searched for the answers.

During the past few weeks, these questions were answered emphatically. The Wildcats cage crew made it possible to obtain an answer to each question. And both answers were emphatic.

The answer to the first, "Why isn't there any school spirit at Kansas State?" was answered so emphatically that officials of the Big Seven tournament and Director of Athletics Thurlio McCrady wrestled with the greatest ticket problem in the history of Mid-West basketball.

When Kansas State defeated the Oklahoma Aggies in Kansas City's municipal auditorium, nearly 10,000 persons saw that game. Reeves Peters, assistant secretary of the Big Seven conference said he could have sold 35,000 tickets. Nearly 5,000 students saw that game. Many of them stood in line many-hours to obtain tickets. Following the Monday evening game many students and townspeople remained overnight. They got in line early the next morning in front of the ticket window at the municipal auditorium and stood for hours in order to obtain tickets for the Friday and Saturday night NCAA Western playoffs. In Manhattan, many students stood hours in order to obtain a chance at the few hundred tournament seats sold at the athletic office in Nichols gymnasium.

The unbelievable Wildcats also provided a perfect answer to Question No. 2. "Why doesn't Kansas State get sports publicity?" Kansas State College gathered the greatest amount of publicity ever received by a basketball team from the state of Kansas during the last few weeks. The Kansas City Star alone devoted hundreds of column inches to the tournament. Major emphasis of course, was on Kansas State. Every major wire service and a dozen daily newspapers were represented at the press table.

Twelve radio stations broadcast part or all of the proceedings on each of the three nights. Kansas State College appeared in the headlines on the sports pages of practically every daily newspaper in America. Praise for the Cinderella Kids from Kansas State College was heard on practically every sports broadcast in the United States. There had never been as large a corps of press and radio men on hand in the Kansas City auditorium for any athletic event.

Sports broadcasters of three Kansas stations had their ticket reservations and planned to follow the fabulous Cinderella Kids to the finals in New York on Tuesday night had the Wildcats defeated Baylor.

Publicity? The basketball Wildcats earned publicity. They came from nowhere to prominence in a few short weeks. They earned publicity the hard way. And they got publicity in prodigious quantities. Thousands of Kansas State College students, alumni and friends of the College throughout the world are basking in the glories of a team that has brought more athletic fame to Kansas State than any squad in the history of the school.

In addition to being a truly great basketball team, the 1947-48 Wildcats proved again (if proof were needed) that school spirit, enthusiasm, and publicity go hand in hand with a winner. They always have ridden with a winner and it is a fairly safe assumption that they always will.—From the Industrialist.

STATE STATUS QUO

By Ramsey Sherwood
FOR PROHIBITIONISTS AND POOLERS
 "Look," said Sam Smaltz, a member of the Rappa Tappa Keg fraternity at the Fortescue U. one day last semester while thumbing through a copy of Mother's Home Friend, "I know how we can make some easy money."

"Easy money?" chirped the other half of the we, Rodney Rattlesattle. "Tell me more. I'm all ears."
 "Yeah, I know, just like Prof. Goodrich," says Sam. "But here's the deal. This state is dry, right? Yet, there's a good market for drinks. People will drink anything. That's evident by the number of coffee sippers at the student union. Citizens can't get other intoxicating beverages as easily though, because the law says we don't have any intoxicating beverages here."

"Go on," says Rattlesattle as he puts the three ball in the side pocket, and brushes the chalk off his coat sleeve with his free hand, "with your story."

"Well," chatters Sam, "my idea is to make an intoxicating beverage that would not be intoxicating, and thus stay within the limits of the law."

"Whoa, brother. Hold on," says Rattlesattle as he gives a half whammy to his opponent's cushion shot. "An intoxicating beverage that isn't intoxicating? That's impossible. Sounds like something they talk about in an Institute class."

"No it's not impossible. All we have to do is concoct a drink without alcohol, yet one that has the zip and zowey of alcohol. You've heard of near beer haven't you?"

"You mean you're gonna brew something like near beer only nearer?" doubts Rattlesattle.
 "Exactly." Same enthralls, "only ours will be near bourbon or close Scotch. Do you follow me?"

"Well, not usually," says the other, "but what you're totting in this case interests me, rack!"
 "O.K., here's what we'll do. Check all the guys who know anything about chemicals and concocting things here and get 'em to tell us how to brew this unintoxicating intoxicating beverage."

"I'm with you. But don't talk to anybody in the chemistry department," comments Rattlesattle as he dumps the fifteen, fourteen, and thirteen on the break. "they'll blow the idea apart. I suggest we talk to Slim Vest, the stewed union man. If he can make the kinda coffee they serve there, he can brew anything. Incidentally, did you know they couldn't make any coffee down there yesterday morning? Ran out of salt."

"You're getting the idea now," says Sam thumbing through the magazine and tearing out a coupon for asparagus seeds, "and after we get this beverage brewed, we'll give some of it to the Eta Betas for a trial. If they'll drink it, anybody will."

"Don't forget," retorts Rattlesattle lighting a Fatima while racking the balls with his other hand, "the Sigma Chi Phis. They'll give us a good trial run."

"Yeah," chirps the other, "those honorary non-party-poopers would drink anything to keep from pooping a party. . . . I'm sure our drink will be a success immediately. Gad, how can I be so intelligent?"

"Me too," says Rattlesattle picking up a copy of last night's newspaper. "Why, we'll be men of distinction."

"If it wasn't such an old gag," Sam smirks while putting a nickel in the coke machine, "I'd say we'd know our drink was the real McCoy when it grew hair on our president's head."

"That is an old gag," says Rattlesattle, "Don't say it." Hey! Lookit, we're reined Sam. This newspaper it says . . .

"It says," harks the other, "that repeal in this state went through last week and now we're all wet. Not a dry spot anywhere. The repeal of prohibition was assured, it says here, when UNESCO joined forces with the Collegiate Young Republicans and polled 67 per cent of the votes for their side." "Well, says Sam, "even if it does ruin our idea, it's still good news. Always knew UNESCO was good for something besides making a joke with."

Wilk to Preside over Campus YM

Roger Wilk has been elected president of the YMCA for the coming year, according to Bill West, YMCA executive secretary. Three vice presidents elected are Kenneth Bell, Jimmie Dixon, and Howard C. Wood. Donald Jackson will be recording secretary.

Students elected to the Board of Directors include Don Alexander, John Aiken, Ralph C. Arnold, Harold Dalbom, and Charles Hall.

Faculty members elected to the Board are Dr. Howard T. Hill, head of the speech department; Paul Torrance, Counseling Bureau; and Gene Warner of the extension division. West is ex-officio member of the board.

Dr. A. A. Holtz, secretary emeritus of the Y, will be principal speaker at installation services for the new officers in the Gillette Hotel Tuesday at 7 p. m. Wilbur Engelland, retiring president, will present his charge to Wilk, the new president. Other new officers and board members will receive their charges in a formal candlelight service.

Soil Essays May Pay

Two hundred dollars in cash prizes and a trip to Colorado A and M College are being offered Kansas State College students for winning essays on soil factors affecting the nutritive value of forage crops, Harold E. Jones of the agronomy department announced Sunday.

Any undergraduate student is eligible to enter the contest, Jones said. Ten cash prizes are given and three top winners will get awards at the annual meeting of the American Society of Agronomy in Ft. Collins, Colo., he indicated.

Out of balance? Sure it is. The SGA constitution says that 50 per cent of the student body must vote on a proposed constitutional amendment before the ballots are even counted.

And where can you find a student body where half of the students are actively interested in every important issue?

On page 1 of this issue of the Collegian is printed a proposed amendment to the SGA constitution which will lower this barrier to efficient student government.

The proposed legislation would make it possible for one third of the student body to legalize the vote, thereby getting the issue decided, one way or the other. The amendment will come up for ratification starting today, and continuing through Wednesday and Thursday in an all-school election.

K-STATE UNESCO 'ADOPTS' LINGNAN

Interested in China? Apply for Study There

By MARK CARTER

Would any K-Stater like to spend one college year in China? Such a student has a good chance of being one of the six girls and 12 boys who will leave the United States next August for Lingnan University in Canton, China.

That is, if he or she has the qualifications: a lively interest in China and international relations, no race prejudices or superstitious complex, and average grades. Sophomores or Juniors will be given preference.

This year there are nine American students at this University, two of them K-Staters. They are Jack James, editor of the Collegian last spring, and Donald Bowman, student in mechanical engineering. Expenses of both students are being paid in part through the G. I. education law. Lingnan University provides rooms and pays the college fees for the foreign students.

Application for study at Lingnan next year must be made by April 15. Anyone interested can consult Miss Helen Hostetter of the Journalism department or the two Lingnan graduates now on the campus, C. F. Fun and Y. T. Kwong.

Lingnan this year has an enrollment of 1,058 students in five colleges: Arts, Sciences, Agriculture, Medicine, and Theology. The best departments are physics, chemistry, biology, and botany, according to Miss Hostetter. Since Lingnan is incorporated under education laws of the state of New York and must meet standards of that state, credits obtained at Lingnan are accepted by accredited colleges and universities in the United States.

All courses are taught in English, except those in Chinese language and literature, and texts used are those used in the U. S. A. Foreign students are required to take a special course on the Chinese language.

Lingnan was selected by the Kansas State UNESCO as the foreign university to be "adopted" by students here.

Chicago U. Prof. Seminar Speaker

Dr. T. W. Schultz, chairman of the department of economics at the University of Chicago, will speak at the social science seminar Thursday at 4 p. m. in West Waters, Room 205, R. J. Doll, seminar chairman, announced today.

He will also speak at the dinner meeting of the second annual Labor - Management Roundtable at the College Friday.

Dr. Schultz is a research adviser to the committee for economic development in Washington. He is also consultant to the Foreign Administration and chairman of the Agriculture Committee of the National Planning Association.

Increase in Donations

A total of 815 individuals of 1,029 potential contributors in 80 departments of the College, gave $2,382 in the faculty and employees section of the 1948 Red Cross drive for funds, according to Mrs. Margene Falen of the journalism department who handled the receipts.

Cats Cop Fourth in Colorado Meet

K-State cindermen ran into stormy weather at the Texas Relays in Austin Saturday but fared better at Boulder, Colorado, in the Colorado Invitational Indoor meet. The Wildcats competing in the Texas meet coped only one place, a second in the shotput by Rollin Prather. The indoor men scored a total of 9½ points to finish fourth in the team standings for the mountain state carnival. Rodney McClay was high point man for the Wildcats.

At the Texas Relays, defending champion Rollin Prather was beaten in the shot put event by two inches as Minnesota's Fortune Gordien nosed out Prather with a heave of 51 feet 9½ inches. The capering Gordien furnished what little color there was in the entire meet as he broke the discus throw record and won the shot put to be acclaimed the outstanding athlete of the big track and field carnival.

The Minnesotan whirled the discus 172 feet 5½ inches, the farthest it ever had been tossed in Texas.

At the Boulder indoor meet Rodney McClay placed in three events for K-State as he topped third in the 50-yard dash, tied for fourth in the pole-vault and won fourth in the 50-yard high hurdles.

Jim Danielson added to the Kansas State point total as he tied for first place in the broad jump with Menary of Colorado at 22 feet 7½ inches. Harold Kiser took fourth in the broad jump at 22 feet 4½ inches.

The defending champion Colorado Buffaloes retained the title in the seventh annual indoor track and field meet as they moved ahead of Arizona in the last event of the meet. The Buffs were trailing Arizona by six points with only the pole vault results to be announced. Warren Bateman, Colorado, broke the eight-year-old mark of 13 feet, vaulting 13 feet 5½ inches with teammates Gregg and McKee taking second and third place in the vault and giving Colorado the meet.

Kansas State finished with 9½ points behind Arizona State 35 and Colorado 39. South Dakota took fourth place with 9 points, followed by New Mexico 3 and Wyoming 2½. Montana State, Colorado A & M, Yankton College of South Dakota and Black Hills of South Dakota did not score.

KS Tennis Team Has Eight Meets

K-State's tennis team will not be lacking in experienced competitors this year, because every letterman from last year's squad has returned.

"The chances that we will improve our last year's standing are very good," Coach C. S. Moll stated. We now have concrete courts to play on. "Two weeks before our first match, the boys are more polished than in mid-season last year." Last year, K-State finished fifth, beating only Nebraska.

The returning lettermen are: Louis Thompson, Ray Robbins, Richard Powers, Jim Neumann, Marvin Dungan and Roy Sherrell.

The tentative schedule includes seven matches and the Big Seven Conference Tournament. It may be changed, however, to acquire non-conference matches.

The schedule:

- April 23—Oklahoma at Norman.
- May 1—Kansas, here.
- May 3—Missouri at Columbus.
- May 8—Nebraska, here.
- May 10—Kansas at Lawrence.
- May 15—Iowa State, here.
- May 21—22—Conference Tournament at Lincoln.
- May 24—Colorado at Boulder.

Chalk Talk

By NOBY GISH

The between season sports lull at Kansas State is slated to come to an end Friday and Saturday when the Wildcat basketball crew opens the 1948 diamond season in a two-game series with the Oklahoma Aggies at Stillwater. On that same Saturday afternoon, track fans will have their first chance to look over the Wildcat outdoor prospects during the varsity-fresh meet in Memorial stadium.

Track Mentor Ward Haylett will unveil some new cinder talent when the frosh and varsity runners tangle. Howard Shannon, Wilfroy star of the conference basketball champions, will be attempting to regain the track form that enabled him to set some outstanding marks a few years ago. The beanpole athlete has a record leap of 6' 6" in the high jump an excellent mark in the broad jump, and has turned in performances on the hurdles that have Ward Haylett perspiring in anticipation. Several of the freshmen runners and weight men are slated to give varsity competitors some close competition in the meet.

Nichols Gym sometime this month. Both freshmen and varsity candidates will be asked to take part in the court sessions.

Jack Neilson, former Oklahoma A and M letterman, is a leading infield candidate on Lug Flier's Wildcat crew this year. Jack played for the Cowpokes two years ago.

The former A and M star says the Cats will be facing a tough aggregation when they move into Stillwater this weekend. "The Cowboys will be fielding virtually the same lineup that last year piled up an impressive season mark."

When asked about the quality of K-State pitching as compared with the hurling talent at A and M, Jack became lavish in his praise of teammate Jack Bel. "He'll go a long way this year," predicts the former Cowpoke. "He's got more stuff than any of the A and M pitchers I have faced."

Wild Horses to Cavort at K-State Rodeo

Wild horses, cows, and Brahmas bulls will perform at Kansas State College's intercollegiate rodeo here April 30 and May 1 and 2, John Hart, Arkansas City, of the College Chaparajos club has announced.

Ken Roberts, Strong City, has contracted to furnish the stock for the show. Hart said. Roberts is a former world champion bull rider and cowboy. He raises and trains bucking and fighting livestock on his ranch near Strong City for rodeos.

Betas Battle PEM for Volleyball Title

The climax of the men's intramural volleyball tournament is slated for tonight in Nichols Gymnasium with Beta Theta Pi and PEM squaring off at 7:30 for the all-College title.

The Betas moved into the Fraternity finals with a lopsided win over the Sig Eps. The smooth-working Beta aggregation then rolled over Delta Tau Delta to win the fraternity championship and the right to meet the PEM's for the all-school crown.

The PEM squad earned a place in the championship game by virtue of their triumphs over Wesley Foundation and the Gutter Bums in the semi-finals and finals of the independent bracket.

Gridders Display Unusual Hustle

With about a hundred men working hard on fundamentals and showing a lot of drive and spirit, the 1948 Wildcat grid machine is beginning to take shape, according to Coach Ralph Graham.

Although spring football is but seven practices old, the 21 returning lettermen plus several fine prospects from last fall's freshman team are showing "unusual hustle" reports Graham.

Backfield candidates from the Frosh team are Gene Ackerman, Bob Shepler, Jack Savage, Louie De Bord, Herb Hoskins and Bernard Thesin.

Standouts in the line are freshmen Dick Johnson, Glen Channell, Cliff Zumalt and Terry McMinn.

Among returning varsity men is George Smith, who last year played a fine game at end. Coach Graham has moved him to the blocking back position in the single wing.

Harold Bryan, star halfback last year and captain of the 1948 team is making a good showing at his new right half slot under the "Graham system."

Other backfield candidates, who are showing plenty of ability, include Jim "Dutch" Stehley, Dana Atkins, Gale Lehmann, and Gerald Hackney. Hackney is the younger brother of the former K-State line smasher, Elmer "One-man-gang" Hackney.

The first full scrimmage under game conditions will be held Saturday afternoon, April 17, at the Stadium. "Although this scrimmage is two weeks off there will be shorter ones every day from here on out," Graham reported.

Radio Clubs Meet

The Kansas State Amateur Radio Club and the ROTC Radio Club will hold a joint meeting Thursday at 7:30 p. m. in the Military Science building. Business will include election of officers and a discussion of QSL's.

Athletic Council Awards Letters in Three Sports

At a recent meeting the Kansas State Athletic Council approved 28 varsity letters for Wildcat athletes in three sports. Twelve monograms were voted for basketball, nine for wrestling, and seven for swimming.

Nine freshmen were approved for wrestling monograms and three for swimming awards. Winners of freshmen basketball awards were not announced.

Dave Weatherby, lanky senior, became the first basketball player in modern K-State athletic history to win four letters in the cage sport.

Cagers awarded their second "K" included Clarence Brannum, Jack Dean, Rick Harman, Harold Howe, Lloyd Krone, and Allan Langton. First awards went to Ward Clark, Ken Mahoney, Howard Shannon, Joe Thornton, and Bill Thuston.

Two-time conference 136-pound wrestling champion Verle McClellan topped the list of grapplers winning emblems. McClellan was given his third wrestling monogram. Second time lettermen were Joe Blanchard, Wayne Coltrane, Stan Fansher, Charles Lyons, and Charles Nighswonger. First awards went to W. G. Brown, Walter Dalton, and Dean Hess. Swimming letters went to Carl Grieshaber, John Leitt, Dave Nichols, James Gillespie, Rodney McClay, Dick Sigman, and Stuart Wilder. Grieshaber, Leitt and Nichols were two-time lettermen.

Freshmen wrestlers awarded monograms included Frank Aschenbrenner, William Crawford, Gerald Hackney, Don Lockstrom, Frank Mosier, Harold Oelke, George O'Neal, Frank Solomon, and James Wharton.

The Kansas State Collegian

VOLUME LIV

Kansas State College, Manhattan, Kansas, Friday, April 9, 1948.

Number 48.

ONE OF THESE CAMPUS BEAUTIES will be selected by cadet ROTC officers as honorary cadet colonel to "command" the annual Military Ball this evening. Colonel candidates seated on the M-5 A-1 tank are, back row: Jo Morgan, Helen Howell, Madeline Asher, Joanne Gamlowski, Phyllis Greenough and Donna Cronk.

Front row: Georgine Bischoff, Barbara Berger, Jane Kepley, Doris Collins, Lois Billington and Carol Bates.

Military Ball Tonight Features Del Courtney

Five hundred couples are expected to attend the nineteenth annual Military Ball tonight to see the presentation of honorary cadet officers and dance to the music of Del Courtney and his orchestra.

The Cadet Officers' Club is sponsoring the dance, to be held in Nichols Gymnasium.

Following tradition, an honorary cadet colonel and two honorary cadet lieutenant colonels, aides to the colonel, will be selected to represent the ROTC regiment.

Commissioned Coeds

The honorary cadet officers will be chosen from 13 Kansas State coeds by the Cadet Officers' Club. The candidates are: Eleanor J. Morgan, Helen Howell, Madeline Asher, Joanne Gamlowski, Phyllis Greenough, Donna Cronk, Georgine Bischoff, Barbara Berger, Jane Kepley, Doris Collins, Lois Billington, Edna Bates, and Carol Bates.

In addition to the three honorary officers, each of the seven companies of basic ROTC will have an honorary company commander representing them.

Pershing Rifles Will Drill
The honorary cadet colonel and her aides will march from the north door of the gymnasium through a Pershing rifle guard to the center of the gymnasium. Following the presentation, the honorary officers will lead a grand march. The Pershing rifle squad will give a drill exhibition at 10 o'clock. The honorary cadet commissions will be presented following the drill.

The first Military Ball was in 1926 in the old community building. Approximately 175 persons witnessed Kathryn King, daughter of Dr. H. H. King of Manhattan, become the first honorary Cadet Colonel.

Students in Hospital

Eight students are in the student hospital this week, Helen Howell, Martha Ann Barlow, Barbara West, John Amstutz, Melvin Burkhead, Dale Apel, John H. Lamb and Donald Downing.

Poultry Picnic

What else could they eat? Barbecued chicken and deviled eggs are on the menu for the annual spring picnic of the Poultry Club, April 24. Last year 55 members ate 55 pounds of chicken. This year more persons are expected and more chickens are being fattened at the poultry farm for the event.

Little American Royal to Boast Varied Events

A five-year-old queen, a trick rope artist and 140 head of livestock will highlight the Little American Royal at 7:30 p. m. Saturday in the livestock judging pavilion.

The 20th annual event of its kind, this contest is sponsored by the dairy club and block and bridge club.

The program lists 140 entries to compete in this first show since 1942. Contestants will show all classes and breeds of livestock owned by the College.

Basis of award will be half on improvement of animal appearance and half on animal showmanship. Students have been fitting their animals for six weeks, but not without trouble.

Judges will be Jerry Moxley, K-State alumnus of Council Grove, for the block and bridge division, and John Weir Jr., Gauda Springs, for the dairy division. Moxley is president of Kansas Hereford Cattle Breeders Association. Weir was graduated from Kansas State in 1943. He is the youngest director of the American Jersey Cattle Club.

The American Royal Livestock Show of Kansas City will donate a trophy to the grand champion showman of the block and bridge division. The interbreed Dairy Association of Kansas will give a trophy to the dairy division winner. President Milton S. Eisenhower will present trophies to the winners.

A different kind of queen was selected for this year's Royal. She is Evelyn Ann, 5, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Sullivan from Waverly. Evelyn was selected by contestants who will participate in livestock showmanship.

To be eligible as a queen candidate a girl had to be six years of age or younger. She also had to be a daughter of a block and bridge or dairy club member.

One foreign student, George B. Damiani, Jerusalem, Palestine, will compete. A junior in dairy manufacturing Damiani drew a Jersey cow. "In Palestine we have a small black cow that compares to Jerseys. That is the reason I picked a jersey to show," he said.

Entertainment will be provided for this in attendance, according to Douglas George, chairman of the Little American Royal. Star performers will be Emmett Breen and the Chaparral Rodeo artists. Breen, football backfield coach, is a trick rope specialist and once did an act with Ringling Brothers.

Justin to Attend AAUW Meeting

Dr. Margaret Justin, dean of the home economics school at Kansas State College, attended a board of directors meeting of the American Association of University Women Wednesday in Washington, D. C.

She also will attend a regional meeting of the home economics administrators of the Land Grant College Association in Peoria, Ill., Monday to Wednesday.

Dr. Justin is vice president of the National Association of University Women and chairman of the home economics administrators group.

Utah Doctor Speaks

Dr. Henry Eyring of the University of Utah will speak before the Kansas State section of the American Chemical Society in W115 Monday at 7:30 p. m. A. T. Perkins, secretary of the local section, said today.

Doctor Eyring's subject will be "Application of Modern Reaction Rate Theory to Living Systems."

Council Reforms Engineer Mag

Several recommendations for the improvement of the Intake and Exhaust, annual engineering publication, were set forth at the last Student Council meeting. These recommendations were suggested by a joint committee of the Faculty Council and Student Council.

1. A permanent Student Council-Faculty Council Intake and Exhaust Policy Committee will be formed with membership appointed by the Student Council and the Faculty Council. Student members will serve one year; faculty members will serve two to four years. There will be two students and two faculty members on the committee. In order to maintain continuity in the committee only one faculty member will be appointed in any one year. This committee will meet each year with the editorial board of the Intake and Exhaust before the sheet is published to discuss its policies.

2. The committee recommends to the editorial board that women faculty and women staff members should not be referred to in this sheet, since the remarks are often misinterpreted.

3. The 1948 Intake and Exhaust definitely will be of higher quality than was the 1947 edition.

These recommendations were adopted by the council in view of the criticism of last year's Intake and Exhaust by several instructors who contended that some of the comments contained were too severe. The purpose of the sheet is defined as one of "providing constructive criticism for faculty and administrative systems and providing humor on a high plane."

In establishing a faculty and student committee to make suggestions on the policies of the sheet, the council hopes to insure a more consistent type of publication.

Labor Discussion Round Table will Start 9 a.m. Today

With several nationally-known speakers, the Labor-Management Round Table will begin the program of activities at Kansas State this morning at 9 a. m. Open to the general public, the two-day session of discussion and addresses on Labor and Management will be conducted with the theme of balancing labor and capital.

The round table is being sponsored by the department of Economics and Sociology and the Institute of Citizenship, and is the second annual program of this type to be presented at Kansas State. It is endorsed by the Kansas State and National A. F. of L., Kansas State and National C. I. O., Local unions of Manhattan, the Kansas Chamber of Commerce, the Manhattan Chamber of Commerce, and the Associated Industries of Kansas. An attendance of nearly 2,000 is expected.

Discussion Allowed

The program will be conducted to give a representative of both labor and capital the floor during each morning and afternoon session, followed by a group discussion.

The morning session beginning today will be conducted by P. G. Baird, Kansas State Commissioner of Labor. Main speakers will be Max Foreman, in charge of personnel training courses, Spencer Chemical Company, Kansas City, and Joseph Mire, economist, American Federation of State, County, and Municipal Employees. These two men will speak on "Objectives of Management" and "Objectives of Labor" respectively.

Presiding over the afternoon session will be H. J. Yount, secretary-treasurer, Kansas State Industrial Union Council, C. I. O. "The Taft-Hartley Law" will be the subject of the two speakers. J. H. Hatch, vice-president of Union Wire Rope Corporation and Perrin D. McElroy, secretary-business manager, Building and Construction Trades Council, A. F. of L.

Dinner Meeting

The Friday night dinner meeting will be in Thompson Hall with Hal Harlan, president, Kansas Chamber of Commerce presiding. President Milton S. Eisenhower will introduce the speaker.

The address will be given by Dr. T. W. Schultz, chairman of the Department of Economics, University of Chicago. Dr. Schultz will speak on "Current Economic Trends and Their Relationship to Problems of Labor and Management." Dr. Schultz is a nationally known figure in economics and is serving on several national committees, one of which is the National Planning Program. At 8:30 p. m., an address on "Economic Conditions in Europe" will be given by Gerald Gordon, secretary, manager, Associated Industries of Kansas. Gordon is a former Kansas State student and just recently returned from Europe. His talk will be illustrated with motion pictures.

Saturday Session

The Saturday morning session will be conducted by F. E. Black, secretary, Kansas Federation of Labor. "Human Relations in Industry" will be the topic of the morning and the speakers will be Hilden Gibson, University of Kansas, Kermit Eby, national director of education and research, C. I. O., George Trombold, personnel director, Boeing Airplane Company, and Clarence Coleman, vice-president, Coleman Lamp Company.

The Saturday afternoon session will be presided over by Henry Allai, president, District 14, U. M. W. Oscar Monrad, vice-president, The First National Bank and Trust Company Oklahoma City, and Mr. Eby will be the principal speakers. The Round Table will be adjourned afterwards.

Several departments at the College will be dismissed so that students may attend this important meeting.

Eight prizes of cash and merchandise will go to winners of the second Ag photo contest. The contest is sponsored by Ag Student Magazine and closes April 16.

Competition is limited to Agricultural students. Pictures must be submitted to the Ag Student office, E. Ag 105.

Contestants must have taken the pictures they submit. However, they may have their pictures professionally processed. A faculty committee familiar with photography will judge the contest. All prints become the property of Ag Student Magazine.

Pictures must be of agriculture scenes, farm animals, crops or activities, campus shots of agricultural interest, or agricultural research.

Girls' Phys Eds Hold Play Day
High school girls from 13 Kansas towns will be on the campus tomorrow taking part in an annual Play Day sponsored by the women's physical education department.

Play Day is to acquaint the guests with the physical education department and one another and to permit them to make use of the college's recreational facilities.

The activities will start at 9 a. m. with registration and social mixers. Basketball, individual challenge and softball will be the main events of the morning followed by a lunch at noon for the girls.

A tour of the campus will start the afternoon events. It will be followed by individual sports such as badminton, shuffleboard, table tennis and tennis. The Frog Club will put on an exhibit of synchronized swimming.

A program and a social hour will climax the day with one of the physical education classes giving a tumbling demonstration.

Let's Vote!

Nearly 1,000 more students must vote at campus polls today to add the new amendment to the SGA constitution. Of a total of 6,396 undergraduates now on the campus, 2,225 had voted by noon Monday. According to the present rule on ratification, 60 percent of those voting must vote "yes" to amend the constitution.

Angel Street Ducats Go on Sale Monday
Tickets will go on sale Monday at the College Auditorium and Brown's Music Store for the Kansas State Players' production of Angel Street to be presented on April 23 and 24 in the Auditorium. The Auditorium Ticket Office will be open from 1 to 6 p. m., according to Director Earl G. Hoover.

Because of the small cast this play demands a great deal from each actor, Mr. Hoover stated. All members of the cast, he continued, are working very hard to fulfill these demands.

Patrick Hamilton enjoys a reputation of writing a suspense play without resorting to any of the cheap trickery that is sometimes employed, and this play is no exception, Hoover stated.

The cast includes Bill Anderson, Shirley Smith, Marvin Altman, Inez Strut, Leona Mucken-thaler, George Nelson and Carl Kish. Student directors of the show are Mary Frances Weaver and Cliff Hunt.

COLLEGES FAIL, BELL CHARGES

American colleges are failing to provide adequate leadership training for the future citizen, said Dr. Bernard Iddings Bell, at an All-College assembly Thursday morning. "Today, college graduates have only a smattering of this, that and the other."

The American education system is lowered to suit the common man while the brilliant student and potential leader are being neglected, explained Dr. Bell. The speaker warned that American educators must realize that everyone isn't born with the same I. Q.

Priest in the Episcopal Church, Dr. Bell advised educators to discover the few potentially intelligent students in their last year of high school in order to encourage and train them in terms of their superior ability. The common man should be encouraged and trained in relation to his capacity.

The few intelligent students should be trained in a curriculum equivalent to the liberal arts program colleges have today. These students should study everything that throws a light on man and his behavior including poetry, history and philosophy, contended the cleric-garbed speaker. To offset the pride, insolence and affront that is associated with knowledge lacking religious background, Dr. Bell suggested religious training.

The speaker praised the Institute of Citizenship and similar attempts to get students to think. "Without leaders in discriminating self criticism, the ability to get a job will be useless, for society may have collapsed by that time," predicted Dr. Bell.

The lower schools of the nation were sharply criticized by the lecturer for not adequately teaching "the three R's, decent manners and the ability to listen to, and speak clearly, the English language with clarity and charm."

Dr. Willard to Celebrate 86th Birthday Today

By Tom Leathers
Today marks the 86th birthday anniversary of the man who has grown up with Kansas State. Dr. Julius T. Willard was born in 1862, almost 10 months before the founding of the College. His birthplace was at a spot about 18 miles from the campus.

Throughout the history of the College no other person has known Kansas State so well or probably the oldest alumnus to attend the reunion.

In 1938, Willard was honored by the local Kiwanis Clubs and named "Distinguished Citizen of Manhattan." He still remains active in the local Rotary Club and attends meetings regularly each Thursday.

It was also in 1938 that the new physical science building on the campus was named Willard Hall in recognition of Dr. Willard's service to his College.

Probably no other man has been so close to the heart of an institution as Dr. Willard in his work at Kansas State. He has been with the College continuously since 1879, with the exception of 10 months spent in study at Johns Hopkins University. He has been student, instructor, professor, chemist, head of the chemistry department, director of the Agricultural Experiment Station, dean, acting president, vice-president and now historian. "I've even had a turn as janitor," smiled Dr. Willard.

In the role of historian, Dr. Willard has written a complete book on the history of Kansas State up to 1939, and since his earliest days in school has kept material on campus happenings. He is one of the founders of Acacia Fraternity, and was honored by the fraternity in 1936 when they presented to the College an oil painting of the Doctor. Dr. and Mrs. Willard have contributed $750 to the all-faith chapel fund at Kansas State to establish a memorial to their parents, pioneer Kansas residents.

Dr. Willard plans no special birthday celebration today, but will be as usual at his college desk in Anderson Hall from which he has seldom been absent.

Dr. Willard first came to the College in 1879 as a student. He is one of the two living members of the class of 1883 which will be honored on the campus Alumni Day, May 29, and is so long.

In 61 years on the staff of the College he has given distinguished service as scientist, scholar, teacher and administrator.

Many Freak Fowls Collected for Study
Probably the largest collection of freak chickens in the world is maintained at the College, according to Dr. D. C. Warren, professor of poultry husbandry.

The freaks are kept for genetic studies, Warren said. Primarily from mutations, they have been developed through several generations of breeding. Among the freak chickens are four-legged ones, albinos, six-toed birds, those with naked necks and other unusual feather types known as frizzles, silkies and flightless birds.

Naked neck birds at one time were considered a turkey-chicken hybrid. Dr. Warren says experiments show this an impossible cross.

Forty-Eight Candidates Vie in College Election

Forty-eight candidates are vying in the primary election today for positions on the Student Council and Board of Student Publications. From 17's total, 24 will be listed on the final ballot next Thursday for the nine council seats and three publications positions.

The All-College Party has a total of 30 candidates, while the Commonwealth Party has nominated 18 for the student posts. Of the nine members to be elected to the Student Council Thursday in the general election, three will be from the School of Engineering, three from arts and sciences, one from home economics, one from agriculture, and one from veterinary medicine. The three students elected to the publications board may be from any school on the campus.

Scholastic requirements are the same for both offices. Candidates must have an average of "C" in all hours and be at least a sophomore.

Initiate 17 Members into Omicron Nu

Seventeen new members of Omicron Nu, honorary home economics society, were initiated at a dinner Thursday night in Thompson Hall. Prof. Alphonse Latzke, national president of Omicron Nu and head of the clothing and textiles department here, will extend greetings.

The new members are Carolyn Anderson, Martha Caldwell, Frances Davitt, Barbara Baker Engelhardt, Melba Foreman, Kathryn Gates, Mary Lee Hix, Jean Irwin, Alice Lucille Kerbs, Norma Magnus, Mary Elizabeth Melvin, Margaret Arlene Payne, Alberta Rietz, Ruth Steiner, Ruth Anna Thomas, Mae Weaver and Glenna Wilson.

Miss Nina Browning, associate professor in food economics and nutrition, is faculty sponsor. Omicron Nu members consist of junior, senior and graduate women with high scholastic standing.

Has Operation

E. T. Keith, professor of industrial journalism, is recovering from an operation Thursday at Christ's Hospital in Topeka.

Now is Our Chance

The topic of innumerable bull sessions and discussions on and off the campus for many years has been the way the College is governed and run. Some say things are "fine and dandy" the way they are. But most of us are inclined to gripe about the way things are run. We privately, or publicly, advance suggestions as to "the way we would do it if we were running things."

The Student Council has tried for the last two years to make it possible for some changes in College policy to be made more easily. We are referring to the proposal now being voted on to permit the SGA constitution to be amended more easily.

The way the constitution now reads, any amendment coming before the student body for ratification must be voted on, either negative or affirmative, by 50 percent of the students to even be considered. Sixty percent of those voting must vote in the affirmative for the amendment to become part of the constitution.

What the Council is now trying to get a vote on is simply this: If one-third of the present student body gets up enough energy to put their "X" on a ballot and if two-thirds of those voting are in favor of lowering the number of students required to amend the constitution, the amendment will be placed in the SGA constitution.

It is that simple. Now is our chance to display concrete evidence as to our desire to make some needed and necessary changes in campus government.

The proposed amendment is not an attempt of a minority group to change the constitution. It is an effort to make a piece of legislation more easily amendable that was originally written for an enrollment of less than 4,000. With the present enrollment of nearly 7,000, it is impossible to get 3,500 students to vote even for repeal let alone a constitutional amendment.

By yesterday noon, only 2,225 had voted on the amendment. This was not enough so the Council authorized the polls to remain open until 5 p. m. today.

If the small number of students remaining that is required to make the proposed amendment an actuality, don't have the initiative and school spirit to mark their "X's" on a ballot, the way the old school is run must not be so bad after all. Or could it be that most of our "gripe sessions" are mostly "hot air?"

Sigma Tau Honors Top-Ranking Frosh

Sigma Tau, honorary engineering fraternity, made awards of Sigma Tau honor medals to the three top-ranking freshman engineers of last year at its annual spring banquet April 1. Those receiving the awards were Vernon A. Blum and James G. Holman who tied for first place and Calvin E. Moeller who received third honors. Dean R. A. Seaton of the School of Engineering and Architecture made the presentations.

Principal speaker of the evening was Murray A. Wilson, K-State alumnus, of the Wilson engineering firm of Salina. Mr. C. A. Sjogren, national secretary-treasurer of Sigma Tau, was a guest at the banquet.

Keys of membership to Sigma Tau were presented by Prof. L. V. White, faculty advisor, to Prof. Wilson Tripp of the mechanical engineering department and to 25 newly initiated members.

Gen. Gives $100 Gift to Chapel Fund

A gift of $100 for the the College Memorial Chapel fund has been received from Maj. Gen. Emory S. Adams, Monterey, Calif., the alumni secretary's office disclosed.

General Adams, a Kansas State graduate in the 1898 class, has accepted an invitation to speak at the class' fiftieth reunion May 29 in Manhattan.

The General retired in 1942 from the army after 43 years active service.

Federal Judge Matthew F. McGuire has ordered John L. Lewis to end the coal strike. President Truman acted, through the Department of Justice, to obtain a temporary restraining order against the United Mine Workers, and the soft coal operators. The President demanded action after a fact-finding board blamed Lewis directly for the work stoppage.

Attorney General Tom Clark will seek an injunction restraining the miners from striking for 80 days.

A contempt charge faces the miners, and their president, if they do not comply with the order.

A U. S. court acquitted 12 directors of the Krupp Munitions combine of war crime charges. They were charged with crimes against peace and participating in a conspiracy against peace.

Congress enacted a $4,800,000 income tax reduction bill, despite the President's veto message warning that it was a "reckless measure." The bill became law without the President's signature when both Houses overrode the veto, with votes to spare.

Campus veterans and draft-age students are anxiously waiting impending legislation for military training. The Senate Armed Services committee completed three weeks of public hearings on universal military training, and hopes to send legislation to the Senate today. Ten of the 13 committee members favor the administration's request for both UMT and the draft as preparedness measures. Chairman Gurney (R., S. D.) has said that he is for UMT "as strong as horse-radish."

Russia's attempt to force the western powers out of Berlin by imposing travel and transport restrictions was countered by U. S. Gen. Lucius D. Clay's use of air power. There are no restrictions on the number of flights that may be made into Berlin, and the planes carried supplies there following the closing of normal supply channels.

Later, a successful test of the Soviet land block was made by an American military train, which arrived in Berlin without interference. The British also sent trains through the Soviet zone. The U. S. then withdrew its air freight shuttle, and the Russians have agreed to remove some of the difficulties of moving military freight and passengers into the area.

K-State students who will be graduating soon, or those planning to work this summer, will welcome the news that a state-wide shortage of competent workmen in nearly every occupation exists in Kansas. The Kansas Employment Security Division is unable to fill demands for engineers, electrical workers, mechanics, machinists, farm couples, accountants, and laborers and craftsmen for construction work, according to John Morrison, director. The shortage is more acute in the skilled and technical classifications.

Congress approved by an overwhelming margin the global aid bill, and President Truman signed it into law less than 24 hours later. The bill will make $6,098,000,000 available to European countries and is intended to stem the tide of world communism.

"This measure is America's answer to the challenge facing the free world today," the President said.

Silk Screenings are Now Being Exhibited

Two dozen silk screened prints from New York City are being displayed in the Art Department. "Silk screenings are as beautiful as they are expensive," Mrs. Jesse Alexander of the department said. The work is done by hand and it may take 15 successive screenings of various colors to complete the job.

Silk screening was formerly a purely commercial process for printing materials, but in the last ten years it has come to be a fine art. Abstract as well as realistic prints are being produced on paper.

The prints were loaned to Kansas State by the Fine and Industrial Art Department of the Teachers College at Columbia University. The prints were made by the advanced students of Professor Arthur Young in a class in graphic techniques of fine arts.

Planter Fertilizes

A dual purpose planter and fertilizer has been received at the College for experimental research in applying fertilizer to corn, according to R. I. Throckmorton, dean of the agriculture school. The machine, called an Iron Age corn and vegetable planter, applies fertilizer and seed with one operation. It will place fertilizer above, below or on either or both sides of the seed, Throckmorton said.

Club to Have Ball

Students from K. U. and St. Mary's College have been invited to the Cosmopolitan Club's spring ball in Thompson Hall on April 17. Matt Betton's orchestra will play.

Entertainment will include a floor show by Kansas State foreign students. Master of ceremonies for the evening will be Sergio Cuculiza.

SPC Will Meet

The next regular meeting of the STUDENT PLANNING COMMITTEE will be Tuesday, April 13 in Fairchild 1. The meeting will start at 7:30 p. m. "All presidents of organizations who received notices of membership on SPC should have their representatives at this meeting," Hardy Berry SPC chairman said.

Trash Collection to Be Simplified

Seven centralization areas for trash collecting will simplify the spring campaign of cleaning up of the campus, Prof. W. F. Pickett, head of the Department of Horticulture, said yesterday.

The areas are designed to replace the present unsightly barrels, Pickett said, and will be constructed by the building and repair department in cooperation with the horticulture department. Each area will have a concrete platform and will be surrounded by a six foot lattice to hide the barrels. Shrubs will be planted to further beautify the areas, Pickett said.

K-Staters Plan City

A zoning layout for development of the city of Ellsworth by J. Cranston Heintzelman and Earl D. Layman of the College architecture department has been accepted by Ellsworth's Chamber of Commerce. The layout is a 20-year plan including a proposed park, recreation areas and several public buildings. The two professors presented the plan to the city last week.

Religious Lectures Scheduled Next Week

"Consider Christianity" is the theme of four lectures to be conducted by Robert Finley, University of Chicago Divinity School graduate, at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday through Friday in Willard 101, according to Bob Milburn, president of the Kansas State Christian Fellowship.

The subjects of Finley's lectures are "What is Christianity," "Christianity and Philosophy," "Christianity and Other Religions" and "Christianity is Practical."

Finley also is a graduate of the University of Virginia. He was president of the student body and a member of the track and boxing teams at the university. He was undefeated middle weight boxer during two years of competition and captain of the team during his last year. In 1944, he became the Eastern Inter-collegiate middle-weight boxing champion.

Wildcat Diamond Crew Meets Aggies in Opener

Kansas State opens its 1948 baseball season tonight against Oklahoma A and M at Stillwater. The last of the two-game series will be played tomorrow. Cowboy performances against Arkansas Monday and Tuesday indicate that Coach Lud Fiser's pitchers will be facing a hard hitting outfit. The Oklahomans pounded out a 29 hit 25 to 8 win over the Porkers Monday, then came back to win the series wind-up 5 to 3 with an 11 hit attack.

Fifteen or sixteen Wildcats left Manhattan for Stillwater at 7:30 a. m. today. At Collegian bedtime last night, Coach Fiser was still undecided as to the exact number of players to make the trip.

Fiser gave a tentative lineup of Don Chew, catcher; Dave Bremner, first base; Dana Atkins, second base; Dale Carr, shortstop; Jack Nielson or Al Sheriff, third base; Ted Grimes, left field; Gabe Bartley, center field and Bob Ives, right field. Carr has been crippled with a wrenched back all week but Fiser indicated that the curly headed hustler will be ready to go tonight.

Nielson and Sheriff have been fighting for the third base assignment. The choice will not be known until game time.

Big Jack Bell, 1947 strike out artist, is slated to top the hill for the first contest. "Icewater" Jack Dean will probably be Fiser's choice for Saturday's game. A look at the Wildcat lineup will see a letterman in every position with the exception of left field. Ted Grimes, at that position, has experience gained from last year's college season and a full summer's playing with the Manhattan ABLA team. Nielson, a transfer from Oklahoma A and M, earned a letter at the southern school in 1946.

Second baseman Briggs, shortstop Watson, and center fielder Free have led the hitting in the Cowboys' first two games. In the Monday rout Free batted 5 for 7. Briggs 4 for 7 and Watson 4 for 6. Tuesday Watson gathered 4 for 4, Briggs 2 for 5 and Free 2 for 5. The Cowboys committed but one error Tuesday.

The Aggies pitching appears to be steady. Bill Hutchinson held the Porkers to four blows Tuesday. Turk Tomlinson turned in a commendable job the first six innings Monday.

WEAK RESERVES PLAGUE GRAHAM

Lack of reserve strength is the main problem worrying head grid coach Ralph Graham as the Wildcat spring football prospects go into their third week of practice sessions.

The K-State mentor says he expects to uncover enough material to field two fair teams but that his reserves will not be strong enough for Big Seven competition.

"Most of the practice workouts thus far have been form work on fundamentals," declared Graham. "After we have had some good rough scrimmages, I'll be able to tell who the real football players are."

Several candidates have caught Graham's eye in the early days of practice. The Wildcat mentor has a fairly supply of linemen and a wealth of fullback talent, but sees a lack of material at the other backfield posts. John Conley, Grover Nutt, Tom Smith, and Bill Weaver are battling for the center position.

At the guards, Ray Romero, Terry McMinn, Paul Marshall, and Talton Pace head the list on the basis of current performances.

Tackle candidates Ed McNeil, Ray Zumalt, Leroy Dawson, and Verne Converse are engaging in a four-way fight for the number one slots.

Howard Shannon Named as Helms All American

K-State's Howard Shannon has added more jewels to his already glittering crown. He has been chosen second team guard on the Helms Foundation All-American team. The Foundation, which originated All-American choices for athletic competition, also ranked K-State's Big Seven champion quintet eighth among the nation's basketball teams.

More national recognition came to the terrific Texan a few days ago when he learned he had finished third among the nation's top free-throwers. Shannon set an official national collegiate record by dropping 33 consecutive tosses. His final score was 58 conversions out of 66 attempts, for 87.9 percent.

Coach Jack Gardner termed Shannon "the best basketball player in our league." He added that he believes the Big Seven is the toughest conference in the country, thus ranking Howard near the top of the heap.

At the close of the Big Seven basketball race, the Associated Press placed Shannon on its All-Big Seven team, along with center Clarence Brannum and forward Hal Hovey.

Shannon still has another year in the Big Seven, and even a pessimist should have a hard time predicting anything but happy days for the elastic-legged Texan and K-State basketball.

Graham expects improvement at the ends over last season. With four outstanding wingmen coming up from last year's freshman team, prospects for increased strength at the flanks are good. Dick Johnson, Glenn Channell, Kenny Hartung, Jim Robb, Larry King, and Bill Hull are the top candidates.

Five men are working at the fullback post. Harold Bryan, Gerald Hackney, Jim Stehley, Ken Johnson, and Bernard Thissen are all looking good, says Graham.

George Smith, Jack Savage, Earl Williams and Clair Douthitt are running at the blocking back position. Smith and Savage are converted ends.

At tailback, Graham has to look hard for material after he gets past Dana Atkins and Gale Lehman.

Gene Ackerman and Louie DeBord are the leading wingback prospects. Ackerman has shown plenty of speed while DeBord is an all around performer and may see duty at more than one position.

The Wildcats will engage in their first game condition scrimmage on April 17.

Night Games

Seven night games are slated for the 1948 Wildcat baseball team. The first game under the arcs will be played tonight with the Oklahoma A & M Cowboys at Stillwater. Two other night games will be played while the Cats are on the road. They are both with K. U. at Lawrence on May 24 and 25.

Four of the Wildcat home games will be played at night at Griffith Field. They include Kansas Wesleyan April 13, two games with K. U. April 26 and 27, and Oklahoma A & M May 7.

WILDCAT CAGERS TURN TO TRACK

Cinders will replace the smooth basketball court for three of the Wildcat cage champions tomorrow when Howard Shannon, Bob Lewis, and Joe Thornton enter the Frosh-Varsity track and field meet at 2 o'clock. The lanky Shannon will get a workout in five events in his first appearance in K-State track competition. He will enter the 70 yd. high hurdles, 120 yd. low hurdles, 100 yd. run, high jump and broad jump.

Bob Lewis is entered in the javelin throw and Joe Thornton will pound the cinders in the 70 yd. high hurdles and 120 yd. low hurdles.

Although Frosh entries are not filled, it was indicated that by meet time, the Varsity would have competition in all brackets.

Varsity entries include: 70-yd high hurdles—Elliott, Shannon and Thornton. 120-yd low hurdles—McClay, Shannon, Thornton, Kiser. 100-yd run—McClay, Shannon, Wilcox, Bond. 300-yd run—Thomas, Wilcox, Bond, Hanson, Lewis. 600-yd run—Stewart, Hildenbrand, Miller. 3-4 mile run—Leasure, Chase, Borthwick, Hatcher.

Freshmen entries: 70-yd high hurdles and 120-yd low hurdles—Dodge. 100-yd run—Sheets, Rose. 600-yd run—Severns. 3-4 mile run—Douglas, Brewster, Owen, Thurlow. Shotput—Solomon. Discus—Cossman, D. ## Intramurals

Intramural softball went into the first round Monday with the defending champion Tau Kappa Epsilon team defeating Acacia 8 to 1. The most decisive victory of the day came when Chi Sigma Nu fell before a slugging Sigma Nu nine to the tune of 23 to 1.

The closest game was the Beta Theta Pi 11 to 10 victory over the Kappa Sigs.

Scores of other games played Monday were: Farm House 20, Lambda Chi Alpha 5.

Theta Xi 5, Kappa Alpha Psi 1. Sigma Alpha Epsilon 11, Delta Tau Delta 5.

Sigma Phi Epsilon 11, Delta Sigma Phi 2.

Phi Delta Theta 6, Alpha Gamma Rho 4.

Tuesdays results: Moro Courts Number 4: 3, Baptist Students 3 (tie).

Dark Horses 1, West Stadium 0 (forfeit).

Y. M. C. A. 14, Gung Ho Kids 9.

Wesley Foundation 7, Collegiate 4-H 3.

Brown County All-Stars 11, Black Cats 9.

The scheduled all-College volleyball championship game between Beta Theta Pi and the PEM's resulted in a forfeit by the PEM's Tuesday night. Due to the fact that proficiency tests for juniors was scheduled the same night, many of the PEM team members were required to take the tests.

Softball Groups

Listed below are the groupings for intramural softball. Each team will play all teams in its group. Group winners will then play in an elimination tournament. The winner of the fraternity tournament will then play the independent winner for the school championship.

Fraternity groupings are: Group I: Acacia, Delta Tau Delta, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Tau Kappa Epsilon and Phi Kappa Alpha.

Group II: Chi Sigma, Sigma Phi Epsilon, Delta Sigma Phi, Sigma Nu, and Alpha Tau Omega.

Group III: Lambda Chi Alpha, Beta Theta Pi, Kappa Sigma, Farm House, and Phi Kappa Lambda.

Group IV: Kappa Alpha Psi, Phi Delta Theta, Alpha Gamma Rho, Theta Xi, and Alpha Kappa Lambda.

Independent groupings: Group I: Jr. A. V. M. A., Y. M. C. A. Moro Courts No. 4, Baptist Students, Gung Ho Kids, and Vattier Vampires.

Group II: Wesley Foundation.

AT STATE

Have you noted? There are just seven weekends left in this semester. Many groups seem to be taking advantage of the remaining few with numerous parties, picnics, formals and teas listed on date books. The highlight at K-State tonight is the annual Military Ball. Saturday night brings to an end hours and hours of rehearsal and costume making with the presentation of Y-Orpheum skits.

Announcement has been made of the engagement of Doris Kite to Dick Warren. Doris is from St. Francis and was graduated from Stephens College. Dick is a senior in animal husbandry from Arkansas City. They are planning a summer wedding.

Now wearing the cardinal and straw pledge ribbons of Chi Omega sorority is Teresa Mees, home economics and art freshman from Manhattan.

Waltheim Hall, Sunday—Roses announced the marriage of Betty Jo Dick of Wichita to Gus Bartlett of Dodge City. They were married in Betty's home town, March 27 at the Presbyterian Chapel. Betty is a senior in home economics and Gus is a sophomore in business administration.

A tea will be given for faculty members at Van Zile Hall Sunday from 3 to 5 p. m.

Kappa Sigma held initiation for 13 pledges Sunday. Those initiated were: Bill Watson, Ralph Moll, Pratt Barndollar, Nick Walters, Bill Schenk, John Hall, Kay Steinkirchner, Loren Riley, Talton Pace, Max Feaster, Paul Lyman, Jim Lewis and Max Stone.

Initiation on Sunday for the new wearers of the Pi Phi arrow was held for the following: Ann McMullen, Frances Ann Russell, Dorothy O'Donnell, Connie Armitage, Joan Newcomer, Joanne Orr, Mona Peterson, Leta Jean Christie, June Graff, Cecile Cary, Jeannette Hargis, Catherine Merrill, Joanne Brewer, Lilian Hansen, Mary Lou Neeley, Patricia Adams, Betsy Stienstra, Joan Frank and Carol Bates.

VOTE X VOTE

POLLS CLOSE TODAY

The Student Planning Committee of Kansas State College recommends the following amendment for ratification by the student body:

It is proposed that the constitution be amended, Article IX, Section 2, to read: "Ratification: The Student Council shall call an election to be held after the proposed amendment has been printed in two consecutive issues of the Collegian. Provided one-third (1/3) of the members of the Association cast votes, two thirds (2/3) of the number voting shall constitute ratification of the amendment."

There must be 3,500 votes by tonight to make the election legal. You, as members of the Student Governing Association are entitled to a vote in this election. It is your duty, to your college and to yourself, to cast this vote.

Nock to Position at N. Y. School

Dr. S. A. Nock, director of admissions at Kansas State, has accepted a position as academic dean at Briarcliff Junior College, Briarcliff, N. Y., he announced yesterday.

Briarcliff, a 200-student girls' school, is 35 miles up the Hudson River from New York. "The college is right in the middle of the Rip Van Winkle country," Nock commented.

Courses in liberal and fine arts and some vocational work, especially speech, drama, radio and secretarial training are offered at Briarcliff College, Dr. Nock said. Fine arts curriculum emphasize painting, drawing and music. Students at the school are given a general education in the two years they are enrolled at Briarcliff and are prepared for transfer to four-year colleges.

Hospitality Days Begin on Friday

Hazel K. Stiebeling, head of the Bureau of Human Nutrition and Home Economics in Washington, D. C., will officially open Hospitality Days Friday at 9:30 a. m. by addressing a student assembly in the College auditorium.

Because of her international reputation as a nutritionist and food economist, Miss Stiebeling has represented the United States at many food conferences within the last decade in Denmark, Canada, Venezuela, Mexico, Argentina, Switzerland and Scotland.

One of her earliest contributions was working out diet plans for families of low, medium and high incomes to keep them in good health.

Miss Stiebeling will speak on "Home Economics Today and Tomorrow," according to Mae Weaver, chairman of the assembly committee.

Miss Stiebeling is a member of Standing Advisory Committee on Nutrition of the Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations and of the Food and Nutrition Board of National Research Council.

Classes will be shortened for the assembly.

Class Schedule
7:00-7:50 will meet 7:00-7:40
8:00-8:50 will meet 7:50-8:30
9:00-9:50 will meet 8:40-9:20

ASSEMBLY
10:15-10:50 will meet 10:30-11:05
11:00-11:50 will meet 11:15-11:50

Many Students On Choir Roster

When the College A Cappella Choir went on tour this week, its audiences heard a truly all-College choir. Not only music students sing with the group, but also students of engineering, home economics and agriculture.

Students in the School of Arts and Sciences, including music students, number 49, a majority of the choir members. There are also 14 home economics students, ten engineers and seven agricultural students.

Most of the choir members, 29, are sophomores, while juniors run a close second with 23. Sixteen freshmen and 12 seniors sing with the choir.

Home Ec Meeting
An important meeting for all home economics students will be held in W115 today at 4 p. m. Donna Ashlock, publicity chairman announced yesterday. A door prize will be offered.

IT'S A OLD SPANISH CUSTOM to dance after dinner and Ferdinand Perez, Puerto Rico, and Angeline Lepori, Panama, will not be an exception as they practice their dance for the Pan American Dinner Tuesday evening in the College cafeteria.

President Scores War Hysteria in K. C. Speech

Scoring repeated assertions by public figures that "war between Russia and the United States may be inevitable," Milton S. Eisenhower, President of Kansas State and chairman of the U. S. National Commission for UNESCO, in an address in Kansas City, Mo., called for the creation of a United Nations "with power to police the peace."

Eisenhower spoke before a class of Eagle Scouts which he was sponsoring.

"Peace is completely possible," Eisenhower told a class of Eagle Boy Scouts in Music Hall of the Municipal Auditorium. Those who favor fighting Russia "in order to defend the values of a free society" forget that those values would not survive atomic war, he said.

"Another war would create such misery, poverty, and desolation that democracy most likely would disappear and the very totalitarianism we now abhor and fear would sweep around the earth," Eisenhower said.

"Surely it must be clear to those who think at all that war is not the way to preserve or extend the blessings of a social system which recognizes human dignity, justice, and tolerance as supreme values. Such a system must be nurtured in abundance, not poverty; it must be developed in the minds and hearts of men through education and experience not through fear and compulsion."

Though favoring the establishment of true world government through the UN, with power to police peace, Eisenhower said such a government may not be possible immediately.

Genuine peace, was likened by Eisenhower to a three-legged stool of which one leg is human understanding "among peoples of diverse cultures and religions;" a second leg consists of those "economic, social and political arrangements which are essential if peoples everywhere" are to have freedom and security; and the third leg is "power, the power with which the majority of the people who want peace may enforce it even against those who, out of ignorance or ruthless ambition, seek to foment war."

Only the United States can take the lead in helping peoples of the world toward economic recovery, the speaker said, adding that "this is the imperative point of beginning."

Hungry and ill people cannot work effectively for the basic understanding which would otherwise be the starting point.

The United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization (UNESCO) is already at work trying to create the "first leg," Eisenhower said—the leg consisting of "understanding."

Eyring Will Speak
Dean Henry Eyring of the University of Utah will be guest speaker at the American Chemical Society meeting on April 12, 1948 in Willard 115 at 7:30 p. m., according to Dr. A. T. Perkins, secretary of the local section of the A.C.S. His topic will be "The Application of Modern Reaction Rate Theory to Living Systems."

Chi O's, Phi Delt First in Orpheum

Chi Omega carried off top honors in the women's division at Y-Orpheum last Saturday night with their presentation of "The Soul of a Shoe," directed by Jean Howell. "Heavenly Sent," produced by Alpha Delta Pi was second. Maxine Childers was manager.

Top place in the men's division was "Take It, Don't Leave It Under The Seat," presented by Phi Delta Theta. It was directed by John O. Fuller. Alpha Kappa Lambda's review of "The Old Songs," directed by Jim Hendricks, won second place.

The judging committee was headed by F. D. Keilman, drama critic for the Topeka Daily Capital. Other judges were Gladys Gough of the speech department and Albert Fly of the music department. Mr. Keilman presented trophies to the winners after the program.

Other presentations in the women's division were "Musical Scents" of Phi Beta Phi, directed by Barbara Kellogg and "Weather Or No" of Delta Delta Delta, directed by Mary Alice Wolf.

Included in the men's division "Gotta Be This Or That" by Beta Theta Pi, directed by Charles Halbower, and "Maze Rides Again" of Acacia, directed by Frank McCreary.

Roping Team Loses

K-State's roping team competing against Oklahoma A and M Thursday and Friday came out second. The roping duel was held in conjunction with the annual Block and Bridle rodeo at Stillwater.

A five-man team consisting of Dick Warren, Clint Rankin, Phil Hull, Darold Marlowe, Johnny Hart, and Sam Koury made the trip, but only Warren, Rankin and Hull competed in the contest.

Thursday night, the K-State's total time on three calves was 117 seconds to Oklahoma's 50. Friday night the Cowboys tied up three vealers in 64.7 seconds while K-State took 169.5 seconds.

K-State Parties Present Their Platforms

Commonwealth Party

Declaring existing supervision of social activities on the campus to be entirely unsound, the Commonwealth party calls for a complete revision of the present system in a political platform announced yesterday.

The Commonwealth group believe while Greek students have multiple social opportunities, Independent students have few.

Commonwealthers, while desiring to maintain the social opportunities of fraternity and sorority members at the present level, will act for an improvement of Independents' opportunities.

Such improvement will take the form of more dances, parties, and other social gatherings, with admission opportunities easily available, Greek and Independent.

The Commonwealth party will work for a Daily Collegian to be established as soon as possible.

"A recommendation for extreme leniency in the disciplining of any person who has violated existing rules or pacts, if his actions contribute to a higher degree of school spirit," The Commonwealth group

Livestock Show Winners Listed

Nursery Openings

A few openings in the Veterans Wives' Co-op Nursery for children between two and five years old are announced by Mrs. R. J. Scanland, president of the nursery group. "A larger number can be placed in the nursery for this summer," Mrs. Scanland stated.

The nursery is kept open afternoons five days a week. "Anyone wanting to place a child in the nursery should call 27P11," Mrs. Scanland said.

Talks on Home Ec

Dr. Martha Kramer, assistant dean of the School of Home Economics, will discuss opportunities in home economics at the Iowa Career Day Wednesday. She will speak to high school and junior college students.

SPC Meet

There will be a Student Planning Committee meeting Tuesday in Fairchild 1, at 7:30 p. m., according to Hardy Berry, chairman of the committee.

Students Approve SGA Amendment

Polling the highest number of votes in any single election at Kansas State College, an amendment to reduce the required number of votes in an amendment election passed by an overwhelming majority.

Ninety-two and one half percent of 3,412 students voting, marked their ballots in the affirmative to make the amendment part of the SGA constitution. Four and one-half days were required to secure the 50 percent vote necessary.

Voting by schools was as follows: School of Home Economics, 390; School of Engineering and Architecture, 1,193; School of Agriculture, 607; School of Veterinary Medicine, 168; and School of Arts and Sciences, 1,049.

Relihan President of Phys Ed Group

Dale Relihan was installed as president of Phi Epsilon Kappa, professional physical education fraternity, at the annual PE banquet last night.

Ward Haylett, track coach, was the speaker.

Other officers are: Jim Blasing, vice-president; Harold Mosher, secretary; Dana Atkins, treasurer; Tom Thorne, historian and guide; and John Conley, sergeant of arms.

'Time to Think, Act' Cardwell's Editorial Says

"Are the peoples of the world so stupid that the newly discovered laws of nuclear physics shall be used to destroy man rather than to benefit him?"

That was the question asked by Dr. A. B. Cardwell, head of the physics department and associate editor of the quarterly Transactions of the Kansas Academy of Science, in an editorial in that magazine.

Dr. Cardwell advised that since the question makes sense, it indicates that it is time for men to think and act. Unless they do, civilization, as we know it, will cease to exist and man's progress in mastering his physical environment will have been retarded untold centuries.

Twelve Candidates Will Be Elected

Voting will start at 8 a. m. Thursday for the election to decide who serves as members of the Student Governing Association and Board of Student Publications. Nine members to the Student Council and three to the publications board will be elected.

A total of 48 candidates entered the primaries last Friday. This list has been pared down to 25.

Locker Owners Hold Convention Here This Week

Approximately 150 Kansas frozen food locker owners are expected to attend the convention of the Kansas Frozen Food Locker Association held on the campus this week. Prof. G. A. Flinger, of the horticulture department, said yesterday.

Flinger, who is secretary of the state organization, said the meeting on Wednesday and Thursday is being held to discuss the problems, plans and future of the frozen food industry. Election of officers for the coming year will be held Thursday.

Many Kansas State faculty members are scheduled to address the meetings. Dean L. E. Call and Miss Mary Fletcher, of the Extension Bureau, will describe the bureau's work in frozen foods. Sanitation methods will be discussed by Prof. V. D. Foltz of the bacteriology department and two representatives of the State Board of Health. Doctor R. A. Walker, director of the Institute of Citizenship, will be the main speaker at the banquet Wednesday evening at the Country Club.

Professors C. L. Gish and T. B. Avery of the poultry department and Prof. D. L. Mackintosh, animal husbandry, will discuss processing meat for freezing. Pre-cooked foods will be the topic by Doctor Gladys Vail of the home economics department.

Mr. W. H. Haselbrook, director of the National Frozen Foods Locker Association, will address the meeting on customers relations Thursday morning.

All meetings on the campus will be held in WAG 212, Flinger said. Luncheon and the Thursday afternoon session will be held in an Aggieville cafe.

All-College Party Dance at Union

The Nightwatchmen will play for a dance in the Student Union Thursday at 4 p. m. Admission is free and everyone is invited, according to Bill West, YMCA secretary.

Ag Club Meets

The Klot and Kernel Klub will meet Wednesday at 7:30 p. m. in EAG 211. The meeting will include the election of officers and regular business.

The Commonwealth party

holds a slight edge over its opponent in number of Student Council candidates. The Commonwealthers have nine candidates listed while the All-College party has eight. The Commonwealth candidate from the School of Veterinary Medicine is unopposed.

Of the nine members to be elected to the council, three will be from the School of Engineering and Architecture, three from the School of Arts and Sciences, one from the School of Home Economics, one from the School of Agriculture and one from the School of Veterinary Medicine. The three students to be elected to the publications board may be from any school on the campus.

Commonwealth candidates are: agriculture, Ralph Arnold; arts and sciences, Hardy Berry, Barbara King and Donald Bickie; veterinary medicine, Glen Harbert; engineering, Royce Larsen, Vernon Blumh and Dale Thompson; home economics, Pat McVey. Roger Swanson and Edwina Frick are listed as Board of Student Publications candidates.

All-College candidates on the ballots are: arts and sciences, Bill Christian, Virginia Glingrich and Dick Lindblom; engineering, Fred Cosman, Donald C. Gray and Rodney G. Keif; agriculture, Hal Rees; and home economics, Mary Schlager.

All-College publications board candidates are Shirley J. Hill, Ted Jones and Deloris Montague.

Falls will be open from 8 a. m. until 5 p. m. Thursday. The engineering pool is located in Engineering Hall. Agriculture students will vote in East Ag, arts and science students in Anderson Hall, home economics in Calvin Hall and students enrolled in veterinary medicine will vote in Vet Hall. Votes for publication members may be cast at any one of the polls.

Cronk Is Colonel Of Military Ball

Honorary cadet colonel of the 1948 Military Ball is Donna Cronk, freshman in arts and sciences. She was awarded her honorary commission by Maj. Gen. John T. Lewis, commandant of Fort Riley.

Nearly 500 couples witnessed the half-hour ceremony during which Miss Cronk and aides Carol Bates and Joanne Gamlowski were honored. The three were chosen by advanced ROTC cadets from a group of 12 candidates.

Donna Cronk

General Lewis presented Miss Cronk with a white overseas cap and purple and white cape. Col. Arthur G. Hutchinson, commandant of the Kansas State ROTC unit, presented the two aides with blue caps and purple and white capes.

Phil Gard was in charge of the decorations committee, which carried out the red, white and blue color scheme in the false ceiling and along the sides of the symposium.

The Missing 5,417

An unbelievable small number of Kansas State College students voted in last Friday's student council primary election. Only 979 students indicated their interest in student government by casting their votes at the polls.

Students in the School of Arts and Sciences came through the best. Four hundred and thirteen votes were cast by A and S students. Second was the School of Engineering and Architecture with 278.

Students in the School of Agriculture and School of Home Economics must have had a hard time finding the polls or else they don't "give a darn" about how their campus is run. Only 149 students voted in each of those two schools. The veterinary medicine candidate was unopposed so no votes were cast in that school.

With 6,396 undergraduate students enrolled in the college this spring, the 979 votes cast indicates the preference of less than one-sixth of the student body. Where are the other 5,417 students? Are they asleep, indifferent, or just too lazy to stop at the voting booth and affix their x's on a ballot?

They surely aren't uninformed. The Collegian has carried names of candidates, locations of polls, voting dates and other important voting information in several issues before the primaries.

We can hear the cries of "dirty politics and railroad job" if the administration allowed only 1,000 interested students to gather some place on the campus each year and decide who was going to be at the helm of the Student Governing Association. But from all indications that is the way it really is whether you want to admit it or not, because those students who voted at the primaries would be the ones who would attend such a meeting.

The right to vote is one of our most

Professor Proposes Color Tests Given for Grading Cream

A simple color test as an aid in grading farm separated cream has been advanced by T. J. Claydon of the dairy husbandry department of the College.

The cream station operators, Claydon says, do not grade cream as well, or as often, as they should, partly through the lack of ability, and to some extent, the lack of desire. Professor Claydon, as a remedy, has proposed the color test as a possible solution to the problem. It would provide visual information concerning the quality of cream, as opposed to the taste method where the cream may taste grade 1 to the farmer, and grade 2 to the cream station operator.

Home Ec Exhibits to be Shown

By CLARICE COOPER

How to gain weight or lose weight by using the same menu, with a difference—will be the subject of one of the Hospitality Days' exhibits.

Hospitality Day exhibits can be visited beginning Friday afternoon April 16. The tours will start in Anderson Hall.

The Art exhibit on the second and third floors will include oil painting, finger painting, weaving, new glassware and ceramics, along with a display of classwork done during the year. Several room arrangements will be included in the exhibit.

Foods I girls will be serving their breakfast in the dining room in Calvin. A tea table complete with service will be another feature of their display.

The clothing laboratory will find the girls busy with their regular class room procedure. The process of dressmaking from silhouette to the finished product will be shown along with different seam finishes

Sigma Chi Transfer From Other Colleges to Start KS Chapter

Seven active Sigma Chi students who transferred to Kansas State College from other colleges and universities have pledged thirteen men under Chi Sigma and are petitioning national headquarters of that fraternity for a local chapter. Jim Gough, Manhattan, chairman of the executive committee has announced.

The fraternity hopes to have a charter and a chapter house next year, Gough said.

Actives of the fraternity include Gough, Ernest Weill, president; Jim McCahon, Ralph Small, Warren Seiffe, John Cain, Jr., and Robert Bigler.

cherished American heritages. We would fight at the drop of a hat if someone, or some group, tried to take that privilege away from us. The same feeling should be true of campus voting privileges. It is an opportunity for each and every one of us to make ourselves heard. If we don't like the way things are run, that is the best way to make some changes.

We don't care who you vote for or how you vote, but we would like to see more interest in our campus elections. A prime indication of a good citizen is his willingness to show his interest in good government by voting. The same holds true for campus citizens.

STATE STATUS QUO

by Ramsey Sherwood

When election day rolled around at Fortescue U. last year, the two leading candidates for student council assistant-in-charge-of-house-in-the-girls-dorms sweated like ag students at a livestock judging contest, trying to get votes. Lardy Beanie, running on the Wealth-for-all party and Sauld Salamander, running on the Little-Knowledge slate both wanted the position. Why they wanted it was not clear, except perhaps they wanted to get their minds off UNESCO for a while. Don (Argie) Bicklebeur worked with Beanie, and Forest Sherwood (a brother) helped Sauld.

A before-election-day incident went like this: Lardy: Things are shaping up pretty well, Argie. Just scanned the Kapsas and there's been quite a bit of development there. Speaking of our campaign naturally.

Argie: Great, but I hear the Little-Knowledge guys are offering to get any girl, regardless of looks, a date. Even the Tri-Delts, they're offering.

Lardy: Well, we'll go one better, for any vote we get, I, personally, will take the girl out.

Argie: Great. Shhhh, here comes our opponents.

Sauld: How's your campaign coming? I know it's tough for you.

Forrest: We've got plenty of votes. Importing a couple of mugs from K.C. to engineer for us.

Lardy: We're not fretting. Our platform of nickel beer with pretzels and free smorgasbord will clinch the vote for us.

Argie: Already, we have twelve houses cinched. Lardy is taking out personally any girl who votes for him.

Forrest: Gad, what a campaign budget you must have. . . . Hey, here comes a citizen, Sam Smaltz, now we'll see who can get the votes.

Sauld: Hi, Sam. Good to see you again, how's your wife, and kids, and are your grades pretty good this semester?

Sam: Vel, I don't know. . . .

Sauld: Fine, fine! Be sure to drop in and see me anytime, and of course I'm expecting you to vote for me tomorrow. Remember our slogan, "Vote fr Salamander, and things will be grander."

Sam: Salamander? Sorry, I am not liking fish.

Lardy: Look Sam, vote for me, and you'll get nickel beer and smorgasbord.

Sam: Look, yourselves, I am just saying I am not liking fish.

Lardy: O.K., you like beer don't you?

Argie: And women everybody likes women.

Sam: Well, mebbe yes, mebbe no.

Lardy: Vote for the Wealth-for-all and you'll get all the dates you need and smorgasbord, too.

Sauld: Don't listen to those smoes, Sam; vote for Little-Knowledge.

Forrest: Yeah, vote for us; and we'll guarantee it.

Sam: You'll guarantee wot?

Forrest: Anything, Sam, anything. We need votes.

Lardy: Free liquid, smorgasbord, dates, and pretzels. Anything; free anything.

Sam: But. . . .

Argie: No buts about it, anything you want if you vote for Little-Knowledge.

Sam: Yes, but I. . . .

Sauld: Vote for me.

Sam: Dot's just wot I did. Voted.

Argie: Already, for whom, Sam.

Sam: For Mr. A. Robert Trotter, who of course is a Henrink Wallace man. Youse guys should mebbe drop dead?

(They did.)

Crop Judging Contest Soon

This is the time potential judges are preparing for the annual Crops Judging Contest, May 8, sponsored by the Kiod and Kernel Klub. Plans are under way for "a bigger and better contest," according to Milton Thomas, publicity chairman.

The contest is open to all the regularly enrolled students at K-State. All interested students are urged to participate, said Thomas.

The contestants will be grouped in three divisions in accordance with their training in crops. The freshman division includes those having had no college course in crops. The junior division includes those having taken, or those now taking, the course in Farm Crops or its equivalent. The senior division includes those who have had, or now taking, the course in Grain Grading and Judging or its equivalent.

Several prizes will be presented to the winner.

Make Counseling Appointments Now

Students with problems which may be solved by the Counseling Bureau should make appointments now instead of waiting until the end of the semester, according to Dr. Maurice Woolf, head of the Counseling Bureau.

"With the end of the school year in sight, many students become increasingly aware of the fact that their goals in college need rethinking," Dr. Woolf said. It is the work of the Bureau to help these students.

Veterans who are thinking of changing their curriculum are especially encouraged to arrange appointments at this time, Dr. Woolf stated.

Asher N. Christensen, assistant professor of political science at the University of Minnesota, will be the featured speaker at Kansas State's celebration of Pan American Day today. He will speak at a student-faculty forum in Recreation Center at 4 p. m. and at an evening dinner at 6 p. m.

Class Reunions Here May 29

Thirteen graduating classes, covering 65 years time, have been invited to reunions at the College May 29, according to President Milton S. Eisenhower.

Invitations have been extended to classes of five-year intervals from 1883 to 1943 inclusive.

Dr. J. T. Willard, 86, College historian, is one of two living members of the class of 1883. He probably will be the oldest alumnus to attend the reunions.

An alumni banquet, honoring this year's seniors, will be in Nichols gymnasium. Members of classes of five-year intervals from 1883 to 1908 will wear caps and gowns at Commencement exercises May 30.

Al Aldridge, president of the Alumni Association, will preside at a business session of the group and be toastmaster at the alumni banquet.

More than 650, largest number in the College's history, are candidates for degrees at Kansas State's spring commencement, 85th in the school's history.

Six ROTC Cadets Get Boost in Rank

Six advanced students in ROTC at Kansas State College were promoted to advanced cadet commissions, according to Colonel Arthur G. Hutchinson, head of the military science department at the College.

Students and their new rank include:

Cadet Colonel—William R. Ramsey.

Cadet Major—Robert J. Lehnen, Joseph R. Holmes, Robert B. Swan, Jr., and Richard W. Winger.

Mrs. Bessie B. West, head of the institutional management department left yesterday to attend the Mid-West Hospital Association meeting in Kansas City. The meeting began yesterday and ends today.

Miss West will preside at a luncheon today in the Continental Hotel when she will speak on "Layouts and Equipment."

She will also attend the spring meeting of the Kansas Dietetics Association in Kansas City Wednesday.

To Give Exams

Announcement is made by the Department of State of a competitive examination to be held for all students interested in appointments as foreign service officers.

The examinations are September 27-30, 1948, and will cover such fields as economic reporting of labor, finance, aviation, petroleum, agriculture and communication. Other duties would include issuance of passports and protection of American citizens.

Any students interested in more information should contact the Counseling Bureau in Anderson Hall.

The return of the Greek machine into campus politics, marking a return of disinterest in activities of college independents, is a definite possibility in the coming all-school elections.

We make this statement because of several factors. One obvious reason is the fact that three members of Phi Delta Theta fraternity are among the twelve candidates of the All-College party. Think! That is one-fourth of the entire slate coming from one Greek house.

This one-sided and prejudiced placing of candidates is evidence that the Greeks again are trying to gain control of campus affairs.

Other members of the All-College slate are almost entirely from Greek houses on the campus. Not one represents Van Zile hall, Moro Courts, Waltheim, West Stadium, or men's and women's independent houses.

All independents in the All-College party were eliminated in the primaries, being run over rough-shod by the well-organized Greek machine.

Do you as an independent student realize what this means to you and your interests in campus affairs? It means, simply, that you will have no voice whatsoever in campus politics if the All-College slate wins.

As independents, we call for fellow non-affiliates to cast their ballots for the COMMONWEALTH slate. It is truly representative of both Greek and independent students.

We have no connection with any party organization, but are only interested in betterment of school affairs. We do not want to see a return of a Greek machine, whose power is reminiscent of the Kansas City Pendergast machine of the 30's. We say simply, VOTE FOR THE COMMONWEALTH PARTY SLATE, in its entirety if you want a truly representative student government.

Millers to Confer Here This Week

Districts One and Two of the Association of Operative Millers will meet Friday and Saturday on the Kansas State College campus. J. A. Shellenberger, head of the milling department at the College, has announced. Approximately 150 persons are expected to attend, Shellenberger said.

C. G. Harrel of Pillsbury Mills, Minneapolis, will discuss "German Milling After the War." Dr. H. H. Laude, professor of farm crops at Kansas State, will talk on "Kansas Wheat Prospects for 1948."

A member of the College Board of Regents, Willis N. Kelly will give "The State's Responsibilities in Providing Education in Milling." Kelly is vice-president of the Kelly Milling company at Hutchinson.

Remainder of the two-day program will include speakers on technical aspects of milling, reports of the Milling Associations and business sessions.

Pep Clubs Choose Cheer Leaders Soon

Cheerleaders for next year will be chosen Thursday, May 6, at 7:30 p. m., in the K-Room in Nichols gymnasium. Tryouts and election will be before a joint meeting of the Wampus Cats and Purple Peppers.

Four men and four women cheerleaders will be chosen. One other man and woman will be chosen as alternates.

Other than meeting the scholastic requirements set by the Big Seven for participating in sports, cheerleaders are required to be at least a second semester freshman and present at all home games, pep rallies, and other activities that call for their presence. Cheerleaders will have the following seniority: head cheerleader, senior assistant, and junior assistant.

Names of all applicants should be submitted to Naomi Fralick or Gordon Herr no later than one week before tryouts. Applications may be made by phone or through the College Post Office.

Y Members to Hutch

Twenty College Y. M. C. A. members, including President Roger Wilk, will attend a State wide all-student convention April 23, 24 and 25 in Hutchinson.

Show Slides of KSC

Life at Kansas State College from 1900 will be shown with slides at the agronomy dinner at 6:30 p. m. in the Wareham Hotel Wednesday, according to Prof. L. L. Compton of the program committee.

More than 100 are expected to attend, including staff members, graduate assistants, extension specialists, soil conservation personnel stationed here and secretaries in the department.

Pan American Day To Be Discussed

A round table discussion in connection with Pan American Day will be held Wednesday at 5 p. m. over KBAC. Purpose of the discussion is to acquaint radio listeners with current problems of the other American republics.

Participating in the discussion will be Prof. Manuel D. Ramirez, of the modern languages department who will act as moderator; Dr. George D. Wilcox, history department; Prof. Robert E. Pyle, modern languages department; and Prof. Santiago P. Macario, formerly of the University of Cordoba, Argentina and now economics instructor at the College.

Show Helm's Art

A collection of 15 recent paintings of Prof. John F. Helm, Jr., of the architecture department are on exhibition in the engineering building. The paintings, done in water color and gouache will remain on exhibition until April 24.

Local motifs predominate in the pictures which represent different seasons of the year.

Elliot Dog Owners Meet Tomorrow

Dog owners in Elliot Courts will meet at 7 p. m. tomorrow in Apartment 9D to discuss proper care of dogs in the housing section. Voluntary cooperation with residents who do not own dogs will be emphasized.

Several complaints about dogs in the Courts have been made to the Mayor of the section, John Wadsworth, spokesman for the dog fanciers, said.

"Considering the fact that there are 168 families in Elliot Courts and dog census figures reach only 28, we feel that many of the dogs running loose in the neighborhood are strays from neighboring districts," he pointed out. "Dog owners who attend the meeting may accept free identification discs for their pets," he added.

Age-Hear Walker

Dr. Robert W. Walker, head of the Institute of Citizenship, will speak to the Agricultural Economics Club Tuesday, April 13 at 7:30 p. m. in Wag 313.

Officers for the fall semester will be elected at this meeting.

Math Teachers Speak

Two members of the College mathematics staff spoke at the meeting of the Kansas section of the American Mathematical Society in Atchison Saturday.

Prof. Paul Young discussed the merit and limitations of the mathematical method and Prof. Albert Furman spoke on "recognition and construction of conic sections without the use of the discriminant."

Open Home Slate Against Wesleyan

K-Staters will have their first glimpse of this year's baseball team, when the Wildcats tangle with the Kansas Wesleyan Coyotes at 8 p.m. tonight. Last year the teams met twice, with Coach Lud Fiser's crew coming out on the long end of the score both times, 7 to 1 and 1 to 0.

The Coyotes have one win to date, having defeated the College of Emporia 5 to 4. Several of their players have left, but the positions have been fairly well filled. In their second game this year, Wesleyan was defeated 10 to 6 by Washburn College. This is only the second year of post-war competition for the Coyotes. Fiser does not expect a pushover, however. "Wesleyan had a nice ball club last year," he recalled, "and they probably have a good one this year."

The Coyotes are expected to throw Frank Peckham, a right hander, against the Wildcats. He was the winning hurler against C of E. Other Wesleyan chukkers are Nell Kitterman and Dean Kindesparger. Jack Horner, last year's receiver, will do the catching.

Coach Fiser will select his pitching choice from the following hurlers: Al Fillmore, Bill Grimes, Duane Holder, Bernard Holder, Bernard Chad or Wes Johnson. Gabby Chew will be behind the plate.

The game will be broadcast, with KSAC's Bob Hilgendorf doing the announcing. Station WIBW will carry the account at 10:15 p.m.

Probable starting lineup for the Coyotes will be Bertles, 3b, Andrews, cf, Horner, c, Namely, rf, Van Winkle, lf, Houser, 2b, Jikka, 1b, Burkhead, ss.

Probable openers for K-State will be Bartley, cf, T. Grimes, lf, Atkins, 2b, Chew, c, Bremner, 1b, Sheriff, 3b, Carr, ss, Ives, rf.

Intramural

Intramural horseshoe pitching, which started last fall but halted because of cold weather was finished last week with Dale Martin, Jr. A.V.M.A. entrant, copping the all-College singles title. P.E.M.'s Leonard Jennison and Roy Sherrell won the doubles title.

Dates for the intramural track meet have been set for May 12 and 17 at Memorial Stadium. Anyone may enter the events except varsity and freshmen trackmen.

Scores for last Wednesday's softball games were: Poultry Club 7, George's Hall 4; Van Zile Hopefuls 3, Sigma Phi Nothing 1; Deacons 9, Ag. Ed. Club 8 (The Ag Ed Club protested this game because the umpires were late, allowing only time for three innings to be played); House of Williams 9, P.E.M. 3; Gutterbums 11, Gamma Delta 2; and Boosedoes 6, Set-Ups 3.

Thursday results were: Sigma Alpha Epsilon 13, Pi Kappa Alpha 2; Delta Sigma Phi 13, Alpha Tau Omega 1; Delta Tau Delta 8, Acacia 3; and Sigma Phi Epsilon 8, Chi Sigma 7.

K-Fraternity

Varsity lettermen, who are not members of the K-Fraternity, will be initiated by the organization Thursday at 7:15 p. m., according to President Dave Weatherby. The ceremony will be in the K-Room at Nichols Gymnasium. All lettermen, who have not been initiated, are expected to attend.

Aggies Slam Cat Hurlers for 9-4 Baseball Victory

Baseball got under way at K-State on the wrong side of the score sheet Saturday, when the Wildcats were defeated 9 to 4, by Oklahoma A & M. Friday's game was rained out in the second, with K-State leading 3 to 0.

The initial contest was called with K-State at bat. Coach Lud Fiser's boys were leading 3 to 0 by virtue of a walk to center fielder Gabe Bartley, a triple by left fielder Ted Grimes, a long fly by second baseman Dana Atkins and a terrific homer by Dave "Mumbles" Bremner, on the first ball pitched to him.

The second game had thrills galore. A and M scored in their half of the first when big Frank Kellert, the Cowboy first sacker, hit a letter-high pitch over the left-center field fence, with one man on base.

Play by Atkins. Aggie catcher Coleman was robbed of a sure hit in the second when Atkins made a diving, sliding stop of his liner. Atkins recovered the ball in time to nab the runner by a step.

K-State fought back in the third, when pitcher Jack Dean doubled, and was knocked home by Atkins' single.

The fourth inning provided the most sparkling bit of fielding of the entire game. With the Aggies at bat, Kellert led off with a single. Left fielder Gwynn then lined a ball to deep left, which looked like a sure home run, but Ted Grimes reached up his bare right hand and gathered in the liner. He received a fine ovation from the crowd for that almost-impossible catch.

COACH LUD FISER will present his 1944 diamond crew to Wildcat baseball fans at Griffith Field tonight. The Cats will meet the Kansas Wesleyan Coyotes in their initial home appearance. Last season, Fiser led the Wildcats to third place in the conference standings.

The big inning for the K-Staters was the fifth. Dean again doubled to center and was promptly scored by Bartley with a single past third base. Chew followed with a single to left and Bremner scored Bartley with another single. While the Aggie catcher was trying to find the ball, Chew stole home.

In the sixth, pitcher Tom Jaquet relieved starter Red Hutchinson for the Aggies and he completely quieted the Wildcat bats.

Cats Lead in Eighth

The Wildcats were still leading 4 to 3 when the eighth inning started. In that inning the Aggies scored six runs, knocking out Dean and Jack Bell in the outburst. Bill Grimes finally quelled the Cowpoke bats.

Bishop is Medalist in Cat Golf Trials

Don Bishop will be Number One man on the 1948 Wildcat golf team according to Benny York, new K-State golf mentor. Bishop, who shot a 72-65 for a 137 total in the 36-hole tryouts Friday and Saturday will lead the Cats in their first match this season against Kansas Wesleyan Wednesday.

Other results of the tryouts found Junior Lovell in the Number Two slot as a result of his 69-72 for a 141. The remaining members of the five-man team to go against Kansas Wesleyan will be picked from Roland Case (73-72 for 145), Mike Myers (70-75 for 145), Don Dickerson (75-74 for 149), Ray Conrad (73-76 for 149), and Bob Batt (80-70 for 150).

Although there will be five men going against the K-Wesleyan team Wednesday, only four men will compete in scheduled Big Seven conference matches.

Broadcast

Tonight, for the first time in the history of the school, an entire baseball game will be broadcast. Although two years ago a few innings of afternoon games were broadcast, never before has a play by play description of an entire game been given.

Bob Hilgendorf, KSAC announcer will do the play by play with Fred Parris, sports publicity director, adding the between inning color. The games will be put on tape recording and re-broadcast over station WIBW at 10:15 p.m.

All of the Wildcats' night home games will be re-broadcast.

Varsity Swamps Frosh Trackmen

The Kansas State varsity tracksters outsped their freshmen competitors on the cinder oval Saturday to win the varsity-freshman practice track meets hands down, 83 to 21. The up-and-coming frosh squad broke even in the field events, but failed to take a single first in the speed contests.

Ward Haylett, thinclad tutor, shortened the distance races because he felt the freshmen were not ready for the longer runs.

Rodney McClay, Bill Stuart and Rollin Prather each copped a pair of firsts to pace the varsity squad. Outstanding for the frosh were Ken Sherley, who captured the javelin throw with a toss of 166 feet, 2 inches and George Uyeda, winner of the broad jump. Uyeda leaped 22 feet, 7 inches.

The heralded high jump duel between Howard Shannon, varsity and Harold Wiley, freshmen jumper from Sedgwick, was cut short when Wiley was called home and could not compete. Shannon took the high jump event without removing his warm-ups.

Summary of the results: 100-yard dash—McClay, varsity; Shannon, varsity; Thornton, varsity. Time, 9:75. 660-yard dash—Stuart, varsity; Leasure, varsity; Hildenbrand, varsity. Time, 1:24.8. High Jump—Shannon, varsity; Severn, frosh; and Robb frosh, tied for second. Height, 6' 1".

Shot put—Prather, varsity; Payne, varsity; Fairbairn, frosh. Distance, 47' 11 1/2". 70-yard high hurdles—Elliot, varsity; Thornton, varsity; Dodge, frosh. Time, 8:7. 3/4-mile run—Leasure, varsity; Owens, frosh. Time, 3:25.7.

300-yard dash—Stuart, varsity; Thomas, varsity; Hanson, varsity. Time, 32.0. 120-yard low hurdles—McClay, varsity; Thornton, varsity; Shannon, varsity. Time, 1:24.8.

880-yard relay—varsity. Time, 1:34.1. Discus—Prather, varsity; Coosman, frosh. Distance 143'. Broad Jump—Uyeda, frosh; Hoskins, frosh; Shannon, varsity. 22' 7".

Javelin—Sherley, frosh; Williams, varsity; Lewis, varsity. 166' 2".

There has been a superabundance of gripes this year, concerning the newspaper and radio publicity received by K-State teams. Most of the criticism has come from those who know little or nothing about the operation of a newspaper.

As a matter of fact, K-State sports publicity has increased in proportion to the number of athletes. It's not a good idea to get into the rut of taking cracks at everybody, so we'll reverse our trend to hand Fred Parris, K-State's sports publicity director, a pat on the back.

Behind the scenes in "operation publicity" is the sports publicity director. He compiles and sends information to newspapers, radio stations, and magazines several times a week.

Already this year, Fred Parris' office has hung up a new publicity mark. It is interesting to note that the Wildcats have received notices in papers from California to New York and from Florida to Washington. It's time now for the gripers to change their tune to one of appreciation.

An advance peek at the tentative K-State basketball schedule for 1949 reveals some interesting items. Negotiations are underway for games with foes on both coasts. The Cats

Chalk Talk

By NORV GISH

One of the hardest things to understand about Kansas State athletics is the policy of the athletic department, which forces certain athletes to take part in spring sports. Some of the athletes who double up in their spring activities may be willing to do so, but most of them are privately protesting the situation. We've heard comments from students and other K-State supporters who feel exactly as we do.

In compelling an athlete to divide his time between two totally unrelated sports, the athletic department prevents that man from giving his best performance in either sport.

There is a shining example to be found in the case of trackman and footballer Rollin Prather. Here is a man who is probably the greatest shot and discus prospect to enroll at K-State in many years. He ranks second only to the famed Elmer Hackney in the shotput. He has broken the varsity discus record in his freshman year and bids fair to become a member of the United States Olympic team. At least he did before he was compelled to split his efforts.

The big weight star began the outdoor track season with good performances, far better than his opening tries last season. He was going places this year, predicted Ward Haylett, K-State's veteran track mentor. Then came the ultimatum. The towering Prather, a better than average football prospect, checked out his grid toes for spring practice. Haylett protested. He was brushed off. Prather protested. He was set back on the straight and narrow. After a week of football and track combined, the big athlete stopped to look at his performances. He had lost four feet from his early season mark in the shot. He was ten feet behind his top discus effort. You just can't mix the two sports, means coach Haylett. We agree.

It's not a good idea to get into the rut of taking cracks at everybody, so we'll reverse our trend to hand Fred Parris, K-State's sports publicity director, a pat on the back.

SOCIETY DAILY REMINDER

AT STATE

"Time On My Hands" isn't the theme at K-State these days. Rather "Where Do I Go From Here?" seems to be more in tune. But even in the midst of the rush some K-Staters are still finding time to become initiated, to tell of wedding bells or to make those sweet announcements. As evidence we give you—

A double treat was enjoyed at Van Zile Hall Sunday. The excitement at dinner meant chocolates from Janice Miller of Oxford announcing her engagement to Lewis Hite from Pittsburg.

Arlene Peirce's "sweet" announcement followed telling of her engagement to Max Smith. Arlene is from Marion and a junior in business administration. Max is a sophomore in mechanical engineering from Westmoreland.

Proud new wearers of the Theta Xi pin were initiated at formal ceremonies the last two Saturday nights. Initiates and present Theta Xi members attended church in a body Sunday. Initiates include: Ralph Arnold, Lloyd Sidwell, Dick Sidwell, Dean Stratton, Herbert Schoonover, Bill Gilbert, Frank Wylie, Phil Baker, Bill Mierau, Royce Larsen, Bob Blair, Dallas Hamilton, Loren Weins, Harold Nelson, Sammy Manos, Merle Hicks, Ernest Pledge, Dale Wiseman, Kenneth Nelson, Merle Schwab, Harold Van Amburg, Joe Chronister, Bill Heifner, Wayne Johnson, Dave Jennings and Phil Garrison.

Roses at the A D Pi house Sunday announced the coming marriage of Cyrilka Rosebush, senior in languages, to Stanley Mellor, Beta, who is a special student in architecture.

The couple will be married May 29, at the First Presbyterian Church in Manhattan.

Latest initiates into Alpha Chi Omega include: Donna Ashlock, Janice Addington, Janis Barstow, Janice Bales, Leslie Dennison, Marjorie Landeau, Joan Wolgast, Yvonne Swenson, Pat Hale, Frances Callahan and Juanita Cooper. Initiation services were held Sunday at the chapter house, followed by a dinner at Keck's.

Sig Eps received cigars from Bob Adams Sunday announcing his engagement to Ruth Mills. Bob is a freshman in electrical engineering. Both are from Holington.

Nineteen new wearers of the stars and crescent were initiated Sunday into Delta Delta Delta sorority. They are: Rolia Lou Blood, Marilyn Eise, Marjorie Dunne, Marjorie Ellett, Barbara Garver, Jean Hagans, Carolyn Hinds, Betty Krehbiel, Patsy Laughlin, Jayne Lawson, Shirley to Lee, Patricia Moll, Monica McNeill, Dorothy Parramore, Sallie Peterson, Marian Skaggs, Jocelyn Swartz, Ann Ulrickson and Molly Weathers.

Cigars at Aescia Sunday announced the engagement of Dave Pickett, Alta Vista, to Mary Peddicord of Wamego. Mary was graduated from K-State in '47. She is a member of Clovia and is now teaching home economics in Gridley. Dave is a sophomore in Agriculture.

Roses at Chi Omega house Sunday announced the approaching marriage of Marilyn Bryan to Stan Burchfiel on June 27 in Anthony.

Eighteen men were initiated into Beta Kappa Chapter of Sigma Nu Sunday morning. New wearers of the White Star are Eugene Smith, Richard A. Ramsey, Ernest Schultz, Carl Reinking, Robert Knight, Keith Reh, Charles Eugene Werhan, Raymond E. Hanna, Howard Shannon, James Vestring, Alvin Becker, Frank Ratts, Harry Funke, Robert R. Rogers, Arlan Potwin, Paul LaCroix, Herschel Tognacelli, David Lee Smith.

After initiation the active chapter escorted the new initiates to a breakfast at the K. D. R. Guests for initiation dinner in the afternoon were Miss Deloris Murphy, El Dorado; Miss Norma Lumpkin, Miss Lois Folk, Mrs. Howard Shannon, Mrs. Paul LaCroix, Mrs. Bob Soelter, Mrs. Keith Reh, Assistant Coach and Mrs. Tex Winters, all of Kansas State; and Mr. and Mrs. Harry A. Funke of Wichita.

Wedding bells will ring for Marjorie Schreiber and Tony Bartkoek Thursday in Kansas City. Marjorie, a freshman in business administration, is from Ransom, and lives at Arcadia. Tony is a freshman at administration student from Pierce City, Mo.

Dinner guests at Alpha Delta Pi house Sunday were Prof. and Mrs. D. C. Warren. Mrs. Warren is a patroness of the sorority.

The Delta Sigma Phi Spring Formal was held Saturday night with a dinner in the Wareham Hotel followed by a dance in the Community House.

Decorations at the dance followed a spring garden theme and the green and white colors of Delta Sigma Phi were used. Persons in the receiving line were Joe Pohlman, Miss Jackie Vaughn, Mr. Helen Welch, Miss Dorothy Hamer, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ballard and Mr. and Mrs. Jim Hoath.

Mrs. Ruth Hess Larson, Wichita, and Margaret Trout, Minneapolis, were visitors at Keim's Kabana last weekend.

New actives at the Phi Kappa house following weekend initiation ceremonies are Lee Desilet, Aurora; Bill Markey, Kanber, City, Mo.; Bill Gaughan, Centuria.

Several members of Epsilon Chapter at Kansas University were guests at the Phi Kappa house here to assist with initiation.

New initiates at the Sig Alpha house are: William Allen, Milton Eisenhower, Jr., William Aye, William Chandler, William Hull, William Morgan, Jack Poland, Charles Gibson, Gene Geist, Jack Glover, Harry Hixson, George Duwey Huston, Bruce Hughes, Gene Kubicki, Jack Logan and Gail Kleoffler. A house party was held after initiation Sunday in honor of the new actives.

Sheffield New VA Guidance Head

John P. Sheffield of Wichita has replaced I. W. Henning as head of the Veterans Administration Guidance Center at the College. Two other changes in personnel have taken place.

Verne L. Kelley of Topeka will replace William Burkholder who has been transferred to Dodge City. Burkholder advised veterans with problems on insurance, finance, marriage, birth certificates, and other similar matters. Veterans with such problems in the future can talk to Kelley on Tuesday and Thursday of each week in Anderson Hall, room 5D, Sheffield stated.

Mrs. Jacqueline Darland, secretary to Henning, has also left the office. Her duties have been transferred to Mrs. Frances Moritz, Sheffield said.

At Cafe Convention

Miss Merna B. Miller, associate professor of institutional management, will leave today for the National Restaurant Convention and Exposition meeting in Cleveland Wednesday through Saturday. While in Cleveland, Miss Miller plans to visit several companies which manufacture institutional equipment.

Human Relation is Discussion Subject

Anyone may profit from a study of human relations, according to Paul Torrance of the Counseling Bureau. This service is being offered every Thursday at 7:30 p. m. in human relations seminar.

Any student or faculty member or members of their immediate families may join the group which is not a course or lecture series. The meeting is in Anderson Hall, room 226.

Seven in Hospital

Three students were released from the hospital Monday morning. They were Charles Whittenbarn, John Funk and Ross Estes. Students remaining in the hospital are Martha Ann Barlow, Patricia Dishner, Huey Pledger, Phil Freeman, Dale Apel, Rodney Leonard and Allen Nelson.

Initiation ceremonies of the active chapter escorted the new initiates to a breakfast at the K. D. R. Guests for initiation dinner in the afternoon were Miss Deloris Murphy, El Dorado; Miss Norma Lumpkin, Miss Lois Folk, Mrs. Howard Shannon, Mrs. Paul LaCroix, Mrs. Bob Soelter, Mrs. Keith Reh, Assistant Coach and Mrs. Tex Winters, all of Kansas State; and Mr. and Mrs. Harry A. No. 50.

HOME ECS OPEN HOSPITALITY DAY WITH ASSEMBLY

Outstanding home economics students of the year were honored at the "Grand Opening" of the School of Home Economics' 18th annual Hospitality Days in Thompson Hall last night.

New officers of the Margaret Justin Home Economics Club were installed at the meeting and senior students were inducted into the American Home Economics Association.

Dr. Hazel K. Steibeling, head of the Bureau of Human Nutrition and Home Economics in Washington, D. C., will address a student assembly in the College auditorium at 9:30 a. m. this morning. Miss Steibeling is an international figure in the field of nutrition and has contributed to research on diets for families of low, medium and high incomes.

Program for Town Women
As a part of Hospitality Days program for Manhattan women, Miss Dorothy Barfoot, head of the art department will speak on "Living in India" today at 2:30 p. m. in Recreation Center. Miss Barfoot will show slides of pictures taken in India. Following the program a tea will be served in Calvin Lounge for the women from 3:30 to 5 p. m.

A large Hospitality Days sign directs visitors to Calvin and Anderson Halls where classrooms have been transformed into showrooms for displays and demonstrations. The exhibits this year are following the theme "Our Future Begins Today." They are open today from 10:30 a. m. to 9 p. m. and tomorrow from 8 a. m. to 2:30 p. m.

Classroom Procedure in Exhibits
Regular classroom procedure will be featured in some of the displays this year. Foods I classes will be serving their breakfast in the dining room and the clothing girls will be working on their class projects.

A movie on refrigerators and a classroom discussion on a family budget will be part of the household economics display.

"Cues for a Campus Coed" will be the title of the Fashion Show tonight in Calvin Lounge for townpeople and students. The clothes displayed are those made by the girls in clothing classes.

Approximately 1,500 high school students from all parts of Kansas are expected to visit the campus tomorrow as a part of the high school program.

H. E. Award Winners Revealed at Reception
Names of two home economics scholarship winners were announced last night at a reception opening the annual Hospitality Days, which lasts through Saturday.

Helen Louis Rotty of Kirkwood, Missouri, was announced the winner of a $300 award made by the Borden company to the highest ranking woman in home economics. A $100 scholarship awarded annually by the Margaret Justin Home Economics Club to the outstanding junior went to Frances Davitt of Jennings.

New officers of the Margaret Justin Home Economics Club for the coming year were installed at the reception. They are Clarence Cooper, president; Marilyn Jones, vice president; Ruby Dieck, secretary and treasurer; and Helen Cazier, lecture board chairman.

The home economics student with the highest award for seven semesters was Loretta Stricklin. Her 2.86 average was also highest among home ec girls for the last two years. Dean Margaret Justin announced.

Wyoming Cowpokers Accept Rodeo Bid
Bronc riders and calf ropers from the University of Wyoming will compete in Kansas State College's intercollegiate rodeo in Manhattan April 30, May 1 and 2. Sam Koury, president of the K-State Chaparajos club, announced this week.

Kansas State cowboys have been invited to participate in Wyoming's spring rodeo May 15 and 16. Champion cowboy at Laramie will win a two-horse trailer.

Jim Allred, Wichita clown with his trained Brahma bull, Pancha Villa, will entertain at the Manhattan event, Koury said.

Sensational Coin Mystery Baffles College Officials

Editor's note: This article was written by an anonymous person who signs his name Hans Downe. The Collegian, not to be scooped by Kansas' great metropolitan newspaper, has decided to print this article without the identity of the author.

By Hans Downe
An air of mystery has begun to cloud the excavation project now being carried forward under Kedzie Hall. Workmen recently unearthed a 1900 nickel while removing earth for the new basement.

The building was erected in 1898 and college officials said they believed it was unusual to find 1900 nickels under buildings constructed that year.

Explanation
Speculators as to how the coin got there have come up with several explanations. The most popular seems to be that an enterprising young reporter who was a campus favorite at the turn of the century dug a cave under the building which he used for clandestine rendezvous with a young bank cashier.

During a lover's scuffle which followed a quarrel over some of the bank's money several coins were spilled and one was never recovered. A few weeks later the young man tired of the continual scuffling and refilled the cave in disgust. The nickel has lain there all these years with only its memories for company.

Denies Rumor
The announcement that Eric Tebow, associate professor of education in the Institute of Citizenship, will be the new director of admissions at Kansas State College, that appeared in yesterday's Tribune-News was not substantiated yesterday by President Milton S. Eisenhower.

The story appearing in the local weekly quoted an unofficial source at the College as saying Tebow would succeed Dr. S. A. Nock as director of admissions. President Eisenhower told The Collegian yesterday that "The appointment of a successor to fill the post vacated by Dr. Nock has not, as yet, been placed before the Board of Regents. My recommendation will be part of the 1948-49 budget submission to the Regents. Final action will not be taken until June 1."

President Eisenhower told The Collegian yesterday that "The appointment of a successor to fill the post vacated by Dr. Nock has not, as yet, been placed before the Board of Regents. My recommendation will be part of the 1948-49 budget submission to the Regents. Final action will not be taken until June 1."

COED COMPETES FOR KU QUEEN
Martha Miller, K-State candidate and sophomore in architecture, left yesterday for Lawrence to compete for the title of K. U. Relay's queen. Thirty schools have entered the relays including 10 universities, 17 colleges and 3 junior colleges. Many of these schools have entered queen candidates.

The contestant was selected from this year's campus queens and attendants by the Student Council. Selection was made on the basis of poise, intelligence, personality and beauty.

Martha is a member of the Alpha Chi Omega sorority. Queens and judges were honored at a dinner at the K. U. Student Union last night. Candidates were judged after the dinner. A queen and six attendants were chosen.

Today's schedule includes a luncheon sponsored by the K. U. Women's Organizations for the queens, a radio interview, and later candidates will be presented at a dance given by the Men's Pep Organizations.

Before the relays Saturday, the contestants will ride in the relays parade through the town. Martha's escort will be Tom Fryer, a K-State, formerly a K. U. student, from Wichita.

The queens and their escorts will drive around the track in open cars and be presented to the crowd.

Saturday night a dance given by the All-Student Council will close the activities of the relay weekend.

Ag School Graduates 160 Students in 1948
The School of Agriculture at Kansas State will graduate more than 160 students in 1948. Dean C. W. Mullen, assistant dean of agriculture, said this week.

The school has 88 candidates for degrees in June. It graduated 87 in January and expects to graduate 38 at the end of summer school, Dean Mullen said.

until recently unearthed.

An explanation which is failing favor with the veterans is that the nickel is part of the loot hidden there by college officials after the 1900 enrollment. A band of the treacherous profits taken from Spanish-American War veterans who were going to school on the "GI Bill of Rights," the officials decided to conceal the money under Kedzie.

On the night of the Sabre Dance Fall, annual ROTC dance, several young men, attired in their Rough Rider uniforms, rushed the building place and made off with the money. As they disappeared over Sunset Hill one of them was heard to shout, "To hell with a degree! I got what I want!"

Maybe Counterfeit
Some observers have gone so far as to say that the coin is counterfeit and was minted by an underpaid professor who rebelled against his salary. According to the observers he had cleverly rigged a linotype machine to stamp out nickels and was hiding them in a hole under the building until he was ready to retire.

A few years later he relented and turned the money over to the college. College officials said that they still have the coins but that they are thinking of using them to hire some football players next fall.

Sports Publicity at Local Store
Concrete proof that Kansas State College's champion basketball team received an enormous amount of publicity can now be seen in Bobart's window in Aggieville.

Immediately after Kansas State downed the Oklahoma Aggies in the NCAA western playoffs, Prof. Ralph Lashbrook, head of the journalism department here at the College, employed an eastern clipping bureau to clip Kansas State basketball publicity from papers all over the country.

The clipping bureau subscribes to every paper in the country and evidence of their thoroughness is shown in the amount of clippings displayed. More than a bushel basket of clippings taken from papers from California to Maine, with several banner headlines present, were sent to Lashbrook.

The display in the Aggieville store was prepared by sports publicity director, Fred Parris and Bob Cornish, owner of the store.

Student Teachers
All students who plan to do practice teaching this summer or next fall semester will meet in Room 204, Education Hall at 4 p. m. Tuesday, April 20. It was announced by Dr. H. Leigh Baker, head of the education department.

Compton Judges Show
One of three judges at the National wheat show now being held in Minneapolis, Minn., is Prof. L. L. Compton of the agronomy department here at the College.

Levitas has traveled in Palestine, Egypt, Greece, Italy, China and Japan. He studied in the Oriental Institute at Chicago University and has been national education director of Eilat, British Jewish youth organization.

Ex 'Lone Ranger' Script Writer Prefers Riding Herd on K-State Radio Hopefuls

By David Meier

Dreaming up wild and breath-taking adventures for the Lone Ranger is a far cry from riding herd on K-State's young radio hopefuls, but Virginia Howe, acting head of the College radio section, has done both. Loyal K-Staters will probably be gratified to learn that she vastly prefers the latter task.

A ringing cry of "Hi yo, Silver!" from the nearest loud-speaker produces mingled reactions from any group of listeners, depending on their ages, tastes and mental conditions. But it brings a gleam of nostalgia, more than slightly mingled with disgust, to Miss Howe's eyes. She used to write the stuff.

This was in Detroit, back in 1946. Miss Howe wrote "Lone Ranger" scripts for station WXYZ, where the program originated. But the job held little appeal.

Same As News Stories

Dr. Rayford Logan, above, will be one of the speakers at the YW-YM conference in Hutchinson starting April 23. Doctor Logan is a professor of history at Howard University. He is a member of the national UNESCO committee and has served three terms as secretary of the Pan-American Conference.

Prizes Are Offered to Dairy Judgers

Prizes amounting to $150 will be given winners of dairy products judging contest to be in W Ag dairy laboratory, Saturday, at 1 p. m.

Sponsored by the Dairy Club, the contest is open to all Kansas State students, according to Arthur Best, chairman of the contest. Student will judge butter, cream, cheese, ice cream and milk.

The 25-cent entry fee will be returned to contestants in the form of refreshments Tuesday when prizes are awarded.

A senior division is limited to students who have taken a course in advanced dairy products judging. They will give oral reasons for their placings. Junior division contestants are not required to give reasons.

Official judges will be Professor W. H. Martin and W. H. Chisom, of the College dairy department.

Jewish Leader Talks on Palestine Problem

"Blood and Oil" is topic of a speech on the Palestine question to be given today by Irving Levitas, director of education at the Jewish community center of Kansas City, Mo.

Levitas will speak in recreation center at 4 p. m. and 8 p. m. The meetings, sponsored by Hillel Foundation and the YMCA, at the College, are open to the public. Bill West, executive secretary of the Y, said.

Levitas has traveled in Palestine, Egypt, Greece, Italy, China and Japan. He studied in the Oriental Institute at Chicago University and has been national education director of Eilat, British Jewish youth organization.

Moscow Exploits Colombian Strife in South America

In analyzing current disturbances in turbulent Colombia, South America, Dr. A. N. Christensen of the Minnesota University Political Science Department, said in last Tuesday's student-faculty forum and Pan American Day dinner that "the Communists are taking advantage of strife in that country."

"I do not personally believe that Moscow pulled the strings which set off the present disturbance, but the Communists there are making the most of it," he said. He went on to enumerate three conditions which might explain the present situation.

They are: 1. Colombia was one of the most unstable countries in the 19th century. It has had 65 or 70 civil wars, based on dissatisfaction with the land ownership.

2. There has been a constant struggle over the type of government for Colombia. The controversy is whether or not the government shall be federalistic or unitarian. The wealthy are in favor of unitarian government.

3. The conflict between the Church and the State over matters of education, civil marriage and divorce.

Liberals Include Thinkers
Dr. Christensen said the Liberal party in Colombia is made up chiefly of intellectuals and small businessmen, landowners and industrialists belong to the Conservative party.

To explain the historical background of unsettled conditions in Latin America, Dr. Christensen contrasted the political heritage of the United States and Latin America. The two mother countries were very different.

"One of the most precious bits of cargo on the Mayflower was the English inheritance of common law and representative government on which the United States Constitution was based. The revolutionists in Latin America had no opportunity at all to get the know-how of government, because they had had no experience in representative government."

Another factor is the dependence of each Latin American country on one product. When product and that product becomes unsalable, the whole economy crumbles, Dr. Christensen said. Despite these differences in economic and political factors in the United States and Latin America, many Latin American countries patterned their Constitutions after the United States Constitution. This made them, to a certain extent, unworkable if followed strictly.

The question of the Indian population is an important one in Latin America. Although there is a large Indian population in many Latin American countries, it is almost completely ignored in government, Dr. Christensen said. The ruling class has not been Indian. The Indian population is simply left out of government. "Is there any wonder we find violence from these people?" he asked.

Nebraska to Speak

We're Not Passing the Buck But- (An Editorial)

An unsigned, mimeographed letter circulating the campus yesterday charged that names of candidates running independently in the student council elections were "deliberately" left out of The Collegian.

It is true that they were left out and it is regrettable. But they were not left out intentionally. Both the Commonwealth and the All-College Parties brought in their list of candidates and their platforms to The Collegian office Monday morning. Not one name of a candidate running independently was ever turned into the Collegian office.

The Collegian staff made no check to see if there were any other candidates entered. But aside from this fact, no one made any effort to inform us about candidates running independently. Furthermore, one of the candidates running independently, was in the Collegian office when the platforms of the two parties were being edited. He made no effort in any way to inform us that he, or anyone else, was entered in the election independently.

Another interesting note in this little matter is that the person who distributed this bit of malicious propaganda lacked the intestinal fortitude to sign his sheet, while platforms, letters to the editor and advertisements concerning the elections were all signed.—The Editor.

Operative Millers Meet at KSC This Weekend

Districts one and two of the Association of Operative Millers will hold a joint meeting on the campus today and Saturday. District one is composed of the operative millers of Kansas City, Kansas, North Central Missouri, and the St. Joseph area. District two is made up of the millers in western Kansas and Northern Oklahoma.

The Friday night dinner speech will be given in Thompson Hall at 8 p. m. by C. G. Harrell, Associate Director, Research and Products Development, Pillsbury Mills, Incorporated, Minneapolis, Minnesota, on "The German Milling Industry After the War."

The Saturday morning session will be held in Willard Hall, Room 101, at 9:30 an address on "A Planned Mill Sanitation Program" will be given by J. J. Schumaker, Production Department, Nebraska Consolidated Mills Company, Omaha, Neb.

All College Noses Out Rivals in Student Vote

The All-College party garnered four seats on the Student Council in yesterday's election. The Commonwealth Party placed three candidates and two candidates running independently gained places.

Ted Jones, with 869 votes, Roger Swanson, with 760 and Deloris Montague with 644 are new student Board of Publications members.

Other board candidates and their votes are: Edwina Frick, 579; Shirley Hill, 610; JoAnn Blackwelder, 364; and Shirley L. Nichols, 504.

Barbara King, with 180 votes, Dick Lindbloom, who tabulated 233, and Don Bickle with 216, will represent the School of Arts and Sciences on the Council for the coming year.

Other candidates for arts and sciences and their votes are: Hardy Berry, 185; Virginia Gingrich, 162; Bill Christian, 202; Donna Kahl, 85; and John A. Hepler, 93.

Two candidates had more votes than Barbara King but the SGA Constitution requires that one woman must represent the School of Arts and Sciences.

Engineering representatives will be Rodney G. Keif, who tallied 221 votes; Fred Cosman, 208; and Donald C. Gray with 200 tallies.

Other engineering candidates and the votes each received are: Royce Larsen, 175; E. Dale Thompson, 163; and Vernon Blumh, 119.

Glenn McCormick carried the School of Agriculture votes to win the Ag School's place on the Council. He tabulated 141 votes.

Other Ag candidates and their votes are: Sam A. Koury, 80; Hal Ross, 62; Richard R. Sheets, 20; Ralph C. Arnold, 35; Tom M. James, 14; John Schnitker, 54.

Home Economics representative is Patricia McVey. She won over her opponents with 44 votes. Laura Belle Overley was second with 33 and Mary Schlegel was third with 20.

Harold P. Peffy topped his School of Veterinary Medicine candidates with 49 votes. Other vet candidates and their votes are: Leonard Winn, 34; Glen A. Harbert, 24; Charles M. Wempe, 27; and Douglas N. Merritt, 21.

Alpha Zeta Elects 42 New Members

Forty-two men have been selected for Alpha Zeta, honorary fraternity for students in the School of Agriculture.

Those picked must be in the upper two-fifths of their class in scholarship. Other factors considered are character and leadership.

Those elected are: Harold Black, James M. Collier, James Conn, Charles Foreman, Douglas George, Norville Gish, Charles Horrick, Clinton Jacobs, Wayne Keast, Earl Nichols, Wayne Pearce, James Rockers, Harold Scheldt, Joseph Schrader, John Sjo, Bobbie Steele, William Steele and Thomas Sulivant.

Frank White, Harry Ainslie, Harvey Arand, Kenneth Bell, Joseph Brady, William Cannon, Tom Carleton, Melvin Cotner, Thomas James, Arthur Lewis, Robert Mason, Norman Minks, Harold Ramsey, John Robins, Savios Shadi, Richard Thuma, Lloyd Wiseman, Donald Alexander, Kenneth Carson, Richard Chase, Norman Collins, Blair Hackney, Karl Ostlund, and John Schnitker.

Ex-Student Injured in Train Disaster
A former Kansas State student, Miss Martha L. Wilson, was injured critically in the crash of the Rock Island streamliner Wednesday near Krenlin, Okla. Forty one others were injured and at least two persons were killed in the crash.

Miss Wilson has been employed at Blaker's Studio Royal in Aggieville since 1942 as a photographer. During the war she attended Kansas State, taking several courses in the art department. Her home originally was in Blackwell, Okla., and she now lives in Manhattan with the family of a K-State student, Betty Sue Wilson. The two Wilsons are not related.

At the time of the disaster, Martha Wilson was on her way to Oklahoma City to be present at a operation on her sister, Norma, that was to take place Thursday. Martha is now in the hospital at Enid, and officials there said she was expected to recover.

Explosion Eggs Bring Fireman
Apparently Kenneth J. Morrison likes his eggs well done. Smoke from eggs Mrs. Morrison left boiling on the stove when she returned to work here Thursday called the Kansas State College fire department to Morrison's apartment in Elkhart courts, campus housing project. Boiled dry, the eggs had exploded and begun to smoke when the fire department was called.

Big Hospital List
Eighteen students are in the student hospital today. They are Mary Frances Jennings, Vonda Price, Martha Ann Barlow, Patricia Dishner, Herberta Darby, Arlene Bell, Sally Martin, John Crump, Huey Pledger, Theodore Walton, Rodney Leonard, Paul Williamson, Robert Scanland, Allan Nelson, Lyle Robinson, Allen Holsman, Don Evans and Armin Samuelson.

Overflow Crowd

Little American Royal manager, Doug George, reports that the Little Royal attracted an overflow crowd of 1,000 spectators. More than 40 persons had to be turned away for lack of room. Kansas State College is desperately in need of a larger pavilion or arena to present a fine show of this caliber.

The Superior Male?

Anytime you get the idea that women are the weaker sex, brother, just consider what Prof. S. J. Holmes, a zoologist at the University of Southern California says:

"The greater physical toughness of the female is characteristic of the human species throughout life."

To go a little farther into the situation, a prolonged study of 89,195 mentally ill patients admitted to Massachusetts mental hospitals show that psychotic men outnumbered the women six to five.

Statistics show that nearly five times more males than females die of ulcers; more males, by a wide margin, are killed by heart disease, tuberculosis, appendicitis, pneumonia and beri-beri.

There are four categories, though, that statistics show the male superiority. Cancer, diabetes, and related diseases, senility and of course childbirth all cause more deaths in the female species than in the male.

Of more than 200,000 persons tracked down by Skip Tracers Company, only 2,000 were women, according to Daniel M. Eisenberg, head of the company, who feels that these figures show men are far less able to face problems and responsibilities than women. "Yeah," a married veteran retorted when we showed him these statistics, "there might not be so many male cases for this company if the women could only realize how they look at the breakfast table. It's enough to make any man emotionally unstable."

Back to the records. Statistics show that male drug addicts outnumber women addicts four to one; male alcoholics outnumber female alcoholics seven to one; and men lead women in suicides by three to one.

This may be a little hard to swallow, but in one state where tests were made, women had a record one-third better than men drivers.

Back up, men! We've still got a chance. The scientists belatedly come through with statistics that prove that in the field of arts and sciences, men have shown up considerably better than women. Things are getting rough all over, aren't they?

A FEDERAL AID PROGRAM has been approved by the House and sent to the Senate. The measure authorizes $1,500,000,000 for a three-year program, and would be apportioned to the states on the basis of area and population. The states would have to match the federal appropriation, dollar for dollar.

RUSSIA LACKS only the industrial capacity for producing the atom bomb, Defense Secretary Forrestal admitted to Congress. The scientific knowledge and technical procedures are known to him, he told the Senate Armed Committee.

NEW HOMES for basement-apartment dwellers and occupants of immobile trailers may be made available through Congress. A bill designed to encourage construction of 15,000,000 new homes during the next 10 years will soon be called up for debate in the Senate. The original Taft-Ellender-Wagner bill was approved by the Senate Banking committee last April. Efforts to get it up for debate have been cautious, however, because of doubts as to the bill's fate in the House. A similar bill was opposed in 1946 because of a section providing for public housing. The present bill contains the same provision, which will probably be strongly opposed in the Senate.

MORE THAN 300 persons killed, the capital city gutted by fire and looters, martial law declared, and the formation of a compromise government were the results of a political revolution in Colombia. The Colombian government, breaking diplomatic relations with Russia, is firmly convinced that the revolution was a premeditated plot by the Communists, partly to disrupt the Pan-American conference which was being held in Bogota. Fresh outbursts of gunfire were heard outside the U. S. embassy following the announcements that the conference would be resumed.

THE UN PALESTINE partition commission declared that military forces must be sent to Palestine after May 15, regardless of what the assembly decides to do about the partition project. Military forces will be urgently needed to avoid chaos, the commission warned.

A KANSAS TO GERMANY flight of B-29 bombers, described officially as a "routine training mission," may be used for a show of strength. The April 18 Italian elections have led to speculations that this flight will continue from Germany to Italy, to show the western powers' strength and thereby to influence the elections. The flight originated at Smoky Hill air base, Salina.

COLLEGE STUDENTS may not be an exception in receiving "hard to get" deferments if a strict draft law is passed. Such a law is wanted by one House group, and would affect non-veterans between 19 and 25. Lawmakers in the House would encourage enlistments by paying an enlisted buck private $50 a month, a draftee $30. Sen. Edward V. Robertson, (R., Wyo.), member of the Armed Services committee, forecast expanded air power as a certainty, a probable draft law, and universal military training as unlikely at the present.

CONSTRUCTION OF A RADAR "fence" to warn the U. S. of an enemy attack would cost several billion dollars and it would require several thousand men to operate. Such a "fence" would make an adequate air raid warning system, and military leaders say an early warning is necessary to repel an attack.

VOX STUDENS

(Editor's note: The opinions presented in this column may or may not express the opinion of The Collegian. The letters are presented here for student information.)

Open letter to W. D. Wilson:

Nice cheap advertising for the Commonwealth Party was the best I could say for your letter in Tuesday's Collegian! The All-College Party paid $3.00 for an ad half the size. But you made a few mistakes so I thought I'd clear them up as best I could.

Give me proof of a Greek machine before you refer to it. For having taken 6 out of 9 places on your ticket for Student Council it must be in your party not ours! Yes, we did have a majority (tho not all)—Mary Schlagel is from Waltham of Greek members, but why not? All Independent houses and Splinterville No. 8 were called twice (I did it) and were otherwise notified that they were welcomed and encouraged to run on our ticket. Our only requirement was support of the platform. They did not respond with the exception of Waltham and Sigma Phi Nothing. So when the votes were counted it was Greek because Greeks went to the polls for our party. There were no qualifications for voting. And you can't blame an organization for backing its candidate. Our Primary polled more than 700 of the 960 votes cast.

The question is: do you vote Greek-Independent or for the candidate and his platform? In closing I might ask who is the "we" you referred to in your letter? It was signed by only you!

As one of three Independent officers in the All-College Political Party I'm glad to sign my name to this reply to your most confused and inaccurate letter.

Cats Begin Four Game Road Slate at Nebraska

Kansas State gets into the thick of the conference baseball campaign with four games in five days starting this afternoon with Nebraska at Lincoln. The Cats will follow up against the Huskers again tomorrow then move on to Ames for a two-game stand against the Iowa State Cyclones on Monday and Tuesday. In a pre-season forecast, coach Lud Fiser predicted that Nebraska would make a strong bid for the Big Seven title.

Today's game will be seventh of the season for the Huskers. It is K-State's third outing. Lincoln team holds two victories over Southern Methodist, one over Oklahoma, and has lost to Oklahoma once and Minnesota twice. This gives the Huskers a conference record of one win and one loss.

Huskers Down Sooners
Nebraska whacked out 16 hits backed up by Jim Sandstedt's three hit pitching job to wallop the Sooners 16 to 4 at Norman. Fritz Hegwood, a two-letter veteran, led the hitting with 4 for 6. He is the leading Nebraska hitter to date with a .391 average. The Sooners won the return tilt 9 to 1. Nebraska bats were silenced to a four hit tune. Minnesota came from behind to punch over five runs in the sixth inning off Sandstedt to beat the Huskers 6 to 2 in their first game. Four of the Gophers' six hits went for extra bases. Nebraska's Bob Grogan collected half of his team's six hits including a triple. Minnesota also won the return game 8 to 5 on a three run homer in the eighth inning. Six of the eight Nebraska hits were by the bottom half of the batting order.

Iowa Coach Uneasy
Iowa State Coach L. C. Timm has not been satisfied with the performances of his Cyclone team to date. Timm is experimenting in both the outfield and infield in an attempt to gain more plate power. One of the pitchers who will probably work against K-State will be Jim Hogue. K-State fans will remember Hogue as the outfielder who made the sparkling last inning catch on the fence here last year to knock the Wildcats out of the Big Six Championship.

Coach Fiser has indicated he will field a starting lineup nearly the same as that which started against Kansas Wesleyan Tuesday. This will find Gabe Bartley in center field; Ted Grimes, left field; Dana Atkins, second base; Don Chew, catcher; Dave Bremner, first base; Al Sheriff, third base; and Dale Carr shortstop and Bob Ives, right field. The starting mound assignments will probably find Jack Bell on the hill today; Jack Dean, tomorrow; Bill Grimes, Monday and Bell again Tuesday. Others making the trip are Clint Davis, Duane Holder, Jack Nielsen and Charles Springer.

The next home game will be with Kansas April 26. The Jayhawkers will be here again the following night. Both contests are billed as night battles.

CAT GRIDDEERS IN INTRASQUAD TILT

An intra-squad scrimmage under game conditions Saturday afternoon will give K-State fans their first chance to look over the spring football crop being harvested by Coach Ralph Graham and his gridiron assistants. The 60 minute battle will be the first of three or four practice contests slated for the Wildcats before the end of spring workouts.

The squad will be divided into Yellow and Blue teams. There will be officials to handle the game and programs for spectators are being printed. The coaches, according to Graham, will be on the field in order to observe. Kickoff is scheduled for 2:30 p. m.

Other scrimmage contests are on tap for April 24, May 1, and tentatively for May 8.

Sixteen Wildcats in Star Studded KU Relays Field

Kansas Relays records may be toppled in several departments during Saturday's running of the event in Lawrence. Coach Ward Haylett is looking to Wildcat shot and discus ace, Rollin Prather, as the most likely of his proteges to break into the win column in the star-studded list of entries.

Haylett has indicated that he will take 16 entrants to compete in the Relays. Basketballer Howard Shannon, who is a high jumper, is entered in that event, even though he has been out for track practice sessions for only two weeks. Shannon will also compete in the 100 yard dash and broad jump. Another 'Cat cage champ, Joe Thornton, is entered in the high hurdles.

Shannon is expected to finish well up in the high jump field after displaying a leap of 6 feet 1 inch last Saturday in the Frosh-Varsity meet, without shedding his sweat suit. Unofficial reports list the lanky Texan's best flight at 6 feet 5 inches.

Shot Field Crowded
The most terrific shotgun and discus fields in the history of the Relays will threaten records in both events. Minnesota's great Fortune Gordien will appear in both events. He won the national discus crown last summer with a toss of 173 feet 3 inches and placed third in the shot at 54 feet 2 1/2 inches. The present records for the meet in the shot and discus are 52 feet 1 1/2 inches, set by Elmer Hackney, Kansas State's famous One-Man Gang, in 1939 in the shotgun, and a platter mark of 171 feet 6 1/2 inches, set by Archie Harris of Indiana in 1941.

Charles Fonville, Michigan's explosive shot-putter, who is currently breaking every record in sight, and Norm Wasser of Illinois, the second place NCAA winner, complete the shot lineup. Big Seven standouts, Rollin Prather and Missouri's great football end, Mel Sheehan, round out the discus troupe. Prather got 150 feet 2 inches at Salt Lake City.

Champs Are Entered
Included in this year's impressive list of entrants are no less than seven NCAA kings, four AAU champs and three monarchs from the Junior AAU division. Harrison Dillard, the sizzling hurdles flash from Baldwin-Wallace is a better than even bet to topple Wolcott's 1938 mark. Dillard came out of the indoor track season with 51 consecutive triumphs in the high and low timbers and now has 54 straight. He has yet to be beaten since the 1947 Los Angeles Invitational, when Northwestern's Bill Porter turned in a .22.7 flight to nose him out of the 220 yard low hurdles title. He holds a world's

Aching Toe

Larry King, one of coach Ralph Graham's football end candidates, was a sad man this week. The big wingman survived all of the rough scrimmages on the gridiron only to fall and break a toe in the showers. He will be out for the remainder of spring practice.

Intramurals

Behind the one-hit twirling of Bill Markey the Phi Kappa softball team rolled over the Kappa Sigs 3 to 0 last Monday. Jim Lewis, Kappa Sig second sacker, spoiled a no-hitter for Markey with a single. The Phi Kappa team committed only one error behind Markey as they hung up the first shut out of the season.

Results of other games played Monday were: Alpha Gamma Rho 10, Alpha Tau Omega 5; Vattier Vampires 4, Baptist Students 2; Y. M. C. A. 15, Moro Courts No. 4-5; Beta Theta Pi 21, Lambda Chi Alpha 5; Phi Delta Theta 12, Kappa Alpha Psi 5; Gung Ho Kids 12, Jr. A. V. M. A. 11; and Dark Horses 7, Wesley Foundation 6.

Games today are: Sigma Nu vs. Sigma Phi Epsilon, Farm House vs. Beta Theta Pi, Theta Xi vs. Phi Delta Theta, Gung Ho Kids vs. Moro Courts No. 4, Alpha Tau Omega vs. Chi Sigma, Phi Kappa vs. Lambda Chi Alpha, Alpha Kappa Lambda vs. Kappa Alpha Psi, and Jr. A. V. M. A. vs. Baptist Students.

Games scheduled for Monday include: Vattier Vampires vs. Y. M. C. A., Dark Horses vs. Brown County All Stars, Poultry Club vs. P. E. M., Wesley Foundation vs. Black Cats, Collegiate 4-H vs. West Stadium, and Barracks No. 6 vs. George Hall.

CHALK TALK

By NORV GISH

After the recent discussion of the case of trackster-ridder Rollin Prather in this column, we received a call from grid mentor Ralph Graham. It seems this story, like all stories, has more than one side to it. We presented one view earlier. Today we add a few items from a different angle.

We journeyed over to Nichols Gymnasium a few days ago and perched on a chair in coach Graham's office. We explained our position on the matter. Then the grid boss presented his views while we listened. After an interesting and enlightening talk, the conference broke up with two things definitely established.

First, Rollin Prather, leading man in the plot of the minor squabble, has checked in his grid uniform and will be excused from spring practice so that he may concentrate on track.

Second, coach Graham, who is as nice a fellow as we have ever interviewed, has some good points in defense of his action in asking the big weight star to report for grid drills.

Football, says Graham, is the financial backbone of college athletics. Upon the success of the grid squad at the turnstiles, rests the financial success of the entire athletic program. The pigskin game supports all of our sports with the exception of basketball and possibly baseball.

"I've been hired to do a job. That job is to build a football team that Kansas State students and alumni can be proud of," explained the grid chief. "I intend to do everything I possibly can to reach that goal."

We have no quarrel with Ralph on that point. He has our support in the undertaking (if that means anything) and we hope he'll be able to count on the support of every K-State student.

"Next year we'll be using a new system," Graham continued. "It's one that is completely different from anything ever played by many of the boys. They'll need a great deal of practice before we can make it work."

"My asking Rollin Prather to come out for spring football may have seemed selfish," said Graham, "but if Rollin had one season of play behind him under my system, I would never have asked him to report. I wouldn't have wanted him to take a chance on injuring a potentially great track career. Rollin has decided to concentrate on track this spring. It may put him far behind the rest of the men playing his position in football, but we left it up to Rollin; he chose track, and that is that."

Thus the incident draws to a close with all concerned at least partially satisfied. Prather will have his chance to concentrate on the Olympics. Ward Haylett can once more count on Prather's strong arm for points. Ralph Graham has shown that he is a good sport and has gained support by doing so. We are satisfied that Graham is a grand guy to work with and we're betting he turns out a football team next fall that makes every K-State proud.

Portsidors

AT STATE

Birds are singing. The grass is green. Jonquils, and flowering bushes dot the campus. Yes, once more spring has come to K-State. Visiting our colorful campus this weekend are more than 1,800 high school girls. They are here for the annual home economics Hospitality Days.

Spring formals are also on the calendar. Pi Beta Phi will have dinner and dancing tonight at the Country Club from 6 to 12. Saturday night, Acacias will have dinner at the Wareham and their formal at the Community House. The Theta Xi Star Dust dinner will be at the Wareham followed by dancing at the Avalon.

Smoke rings at Farm House! Clair Parcel passed cigars to his frat brothers last night to tell of his engagement to Freda Peck. Freda is now in nurses training at the University of Kansas Hospital in Kansas City. Before going into training she attended K-State and lived at Van Zile Hall. Clair is a senior in animal husbandry from Coldwater. Freda is from Greensburg.

In elections at the A. K. L. house Wednesday night George Smith was named president; John H. Kohn, vice president; Page G. Twiss, corresponding secretary; Ralph McCurdy, recording secretary; and Robert Wising, treasurer.

The Pi Phi had roses Wednesday from Jean Holmgren announcing her approaching marriage to Ward Keller, Delta Tau Delta.

They will be married in the Wornall Road Baptist Church in Kansas City, Mo., on June 29.

Spring time is picnic and party time. The girls at Skywood Hall started it Saturday by going on a picnic and hike. Clark's Gables had a picnic Monday evening.

Maison-elle coeds were the guests of Keim's Kabana at a party Wednesday evening. Games were played and refreshments were served. Amistad members plan a picnic and hike Sunday afternoon and evening.

Don Bircher passed cigars to friends at 1209 Bertrand telling of his engagement to Wadonna Heitschmidt of Bushton. Don is a freshman in agriculture from Ellsworth.

Newly elected officers for the Alpha Chi Omegas are Donna Ashlock, president; Janice Addington, first vice-president; Jo Anne Wolgast, second vice-president; Juanita Cooper, recording secretary; Janice Bayles, corresponding secretary; Janis Barstow, treasurer; Martha Miller, rush chairman; Yvonne Swenson, activities chairman; Marjorie Landeau, scholarship chairman; and Frances Callahan, Panhellenic representative.

The A. K. L.'s received cigars Sunday from Jack Moody announcing his engagement to Shirley Collyer of Kansas City, Mo.

Jack is a sophomore in engineering and is also from Kansas City.

The Alpha Delta Pi Mother's Club of Manhattan gave a spread for the local chapter Wednesday night.

Clinic Corrects Speech Pattern

Small wooden blocks, rubber balls and marbles are used in the Speech Clinic to help the college students correct their vocal defects.

The Clinic in Education Hall is directed by Mrs. Rosemary Wade and Mrs. Frances Rogers. Seventy-five students have been helped to improve faulty speech patterns. Cases range from international students having difficulty with learning English, to students that stammer and stutter.

A phonograph, tape recorder and wire recorder are used in the clinic. By next year the clinic hopes to have a pneumograph. This machine tests breathing and corrects its faults. The clinic also is a model of the throat and mouth to show students how to form words to obtain correct sounds.

Mrs. Wade and Mrs. Rogers urge college students to attend the Speech Clinic if they have

Campus Courts

By Jack Waddell

Mr. and Mrs. David Spencer of trailer number 73 are moving from Campus Courts over the weekend. The Spencers bought a new trailer in Wichita recently. The new trailer has been parked one block north of the Veterans' Co-op, across the road from the college dairy barn.

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Moyle of trailer number 72 have moved into an apartment located at 511 Osage street. Mr. Moyle was mayor of Campus Courts last semester.

Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Ballinger of trailer number 15 report that they plan to move from Campus Courts this weekend.

The College housing office reports that there are 11 families on the waiting list for trailers during the summer session. The waiting list for the fall semester has 19 families listed at the present.

New residents moving into the fifty circle recently are Mr. and Mrs. Alvin E. Maley formerly of 1637 Osage. The Maleys live in trailer 53.

Psychology Meeting

Psychology Club will meet Monday afternoon at 4 p. m. Any interested student or faculty member as well as club members are urged to attend, according to Chuck Halbow, president.

Student Health Will Have Open House Sunday

First annual student health open house will be Sunday, Dr. R. R. Snook, director of the health service, announced yesterday.

The open house is to let the public see what the health service does for health problems at the College. Snook said.

"Many people have wanted to inspect our new set-up on the campus," Dr. Snook remarked. We wanted to give everyone an opportunity to see the hospital for themselves. With the arrival of the new equipment we will be ready to open the doors at 2 p.m. Sunday.

The entire staff will be on hand to conduct visitors through the hospital and student clinic.

The new hospital, which is near the College library, can now easily care for 60 to 70 patients at one time. In case of emergency, room could be made available for many more patients.

"The hospital is completely equipped with its own pharmacy, emergency room, X-Ray machines, kitchens and other medical equipment necessary to insure the health of Kansas State students," said Dr. Snook.

The new hospital and clinical facilities were made available by moving army surplus barracks onto the campus. The old student hospital now serves as an annex to the new one.

The Student Health Service has been functioning in its new quarters since last October. Formal opening, however, was delayed while awaiting the arrival of new equipment.

Surprise Dinner for Dr. Warren

A surprise testimonial dinner in the Kansas State College cafeteria Friday night honored Dr. and Mrs. D. C. Warren of the department of poultry husbandry.

Dr. Warren has been at Kansas State for almost 25 years. He is leaving Manhattan to take a government position as director of the Regional Poultry Breeding Laboratory at Purdue University, Lafayette, Indiana.

Dr. H. T. Hill, head of the College speech department, was toastmaster for the evening. The program was opened with a grace by Miss Patricia Hale, who sang "The Lord's Prayer," by Malotte. She later sang two solos. Brief talks describing Dr. Warren's activities were given by Arthur Peine, Prof. L. F. Payne, Prof. A. B. Sperry, Dr. F. D. Farrell, Prof. T. B. Avery and James Ryan. Dr. Warren responded.

On behalf of the guests, Prof. C. L. Gish presented Dr. Warren with a traveling bag. A unique feature of the program was a hidden microphone in a bouquet of flowers in front of the toastmaster which recorded the entire proceedings of the evening. This recording with a bouquet of roses was presented Mrs. Warren.

Ag Frat Will Have Initiation Friday

Gamma Sigma Delta, honorary agriculture fraternity, will hold its 30th annual initiation and banquet in Thompson Hall Friday. The initiation of 48 new members will take place at 5:30 p.m. and the banquet will start at 6:15.

Dr. H. N. Barham, professor of chemistry and president of Gamma Sigma Delta, will direct the initiation ceremonies and preside at the banquet. At the banquet he will introduce the newly elected officers of the fraternity which include, Rufus F. Cox, professor of animal husbandry, president; Dr. E. E. Leasure, professor of veterinary medicine, vice-president; D. A. Wilbur, associate professor of entomology, secretary; and John C. Frazier, professor of botany and plant pathology, treasurer.

President Emeritus F. D. Farrell will be the speaker of the evening. His address is titled, "Strength From the Soil."

Dates for Rush Week Announced

Rush week for sororities next fall will be September 1 to 5, Mary Alice Wolf, president of the campus Panhellenic organization, has announced.

Rushing this summer will be from July 1 to August 25. During this time each sorority will be allowed one formal rush party in each city, Manhattan included. No informal rushing in Manhattan will be allowed between these dates.

Members of Panhellenic are revising the rush booklet. The booklet includes rush rules, proper attire for rush week and information about each sorority. It is sent to girls invited to rush week and will be read to all sorority members at a Panhellenic meeting April 28 in Willard 115.

Math Puzzle Is Solved by Grad

Al Ewing, K-State electrical engineering graduate in 1940 has finally found some use for the mathematical formulas and theorems pounded into his head by College math instructors.

According to his father, L. A. Ewing, College power plant engineer Al was one of two mathematical brains who correctly solved a brain teaser printed in the Thomson Talker, published by the Thomson Club, Inc., Mahant, Mass.

The question was as follows: "A piece of rope weighs 4 ozs to the foot. It is passed over a pulley and on one end is suspended a weight and on the other end a monkey, the whole system being in equilibrium. The weight of the monkey in pounds is equal to the age of the monkey's mother in years. The age of the monkey's mother added to the age of the monkey is four years."

The monkey's mother is twice as old as the monkey was when the monkey's mother was three times as old as the monkey. The weight of the rope or the weight at the end of the rope is half as much again as the difference in weight between the weight and the weight plus the weight of the monkey."

Don't ask us how he got the answer, because it takes up about six inches to explain all the steps, but the correct answer was that Ewing and a friend arrived at to defeat 38 other contestants is: "The length of the rope is 15 feet."

Ewing is now with the aircraft generator division of General Electric.

More Parking Space

Students desiring to park at the north end of the campus may park their cars north of Waters' Hall across the township road. Since this parking lot has been graded down and sanded it is better shape and less used than any other parking lot on or near the campus, said R. F. Gingrich, superintendent of building and repair.

Colombian Student Says Recent Riots Caused by Politics, Not Class Struggle

Editor's note: Yesid Dela Cuesta, a KSC student in chemical engineering from Medellin, Colombia, is naturally deeply interested in the strife that recently rocked his country. In this article, he presents his opinion on the recent Colombian riots, a situation that has been clouded by a strict censorship of dispatches being sent from that country.

By Yesid Dela Cuesta. I didn't have the opportunity to listen to Mr. Christensen's speech during Pan-American day, but I read the article published in the Collegian Friday, April 16, about the Colombian strife in South America. I am a Colombian citizen and a student in engineering at KSC. I left my country two years ago, one and one-half months after the election of Mariano Ospino for the presidency, so my impression about the social and political situation there now does not differ much from the one when I left. That impression, with some historical facts, is what I shall try to expose.

I have lived my first 20 years among people like myself, of the same race, and under the same general conditions of living. I believe that I have the background to judge the facts and to comment on the three conditions which Mr. Christensen enumerated in his speech as

Stage Crews Move Outdoors

Warm spring days have brought the Kansas State Players out of their winter den. Instructor Robert Richey and his stage crews have moved part of the scenery work shop from the auditorium basement to the campus lawn. Students are now working on "Angel Street" scenery in the warm spring air. "Angel Street" will be presented in the college auditorium next week-end.

One Set Required "Angel Street" will require one set which will be Victorian in appearance, Richey stated. The setting will be unusual because of the properties and lighting effects required. Several trips out of town will be made to find fixtures for the set, he said. The pictures for the set are being borrowed from Professor Dorothy Barfoot, head of the art department.

Stage crew members are Charles Whitmore, manager, Bob Kelley, Margaret MacGregor, Mary Frances Cooney, Mary Henson, Ben Stewart, Ross Miller, John Hepler, Cynthia Morrish, Tony Cernich, Fred Schrick, Joe Staley, Charlotte Clements, Donna Cronk, Bob Kaspar and Gail Hamilton.

Costumes: Dee Taylor and Charlene McMahon; make-up: Donna Cronk; lights: Prof. O. D. Hunt; director, John Hepler, Max Alterman and Howard Sparks; properties: Kenneth Jennison, Fred Schrick and Fred MacCreary.

Filinger Elected

Prof. G. A. Filinger of the horticulture department was re-elected secretary of the Kansas Frozen Food Locker Association at its convention on the campus last week.

The locker association is formed of Kansas locker owners and operators. About 110 members attended the two-day convention.

Four KSC Debaters Compete at Austin

Four Kansas State College debaters will take part in the spring forensic tournament sponsored by the oratorical association of the University of Texas in Austin next Friday and Saturday, according to Vernon McGuire, debate coach.

Topic for debate is "Resolved, That A Federal World Government Should Be Established." Representing the college in the debate are Dick Dettloff and Jim Tucker, negative in the senior men's affirmative team. Collins and Tucker also will be entered in extemporaneous speaking events.

Trophies and medals will be awarded winning schools and speakers.

Martha Miller Is a Relays Princess

Martha Miller, K-State's hope for K. U. Relays queen, as well as the Wildcat thin-clad, made a good showing Saturday against tough competition.

Martha was one of the top three girls to be picked from eight contestants, Nancy Lindemuth, Washburn University, was chosen to reign as queen. Martha and Ann Cowger, K. U., were picked as runners-up. "I was proud of our K-State team," said the dark haired princess. "They tried very hard."

Sunburned from the parade ride in a convertible and watching the Relays, Martha recalled how she first heard the news. "We were to be notified of the judges' decision early Friday morning but I didn't find out until 6 p. m. Friday night," said Martha. "I read about the selections in the 'Daily Kansan,' the K. U. newspaper."

A highlight of the weekend for Martha was a radio interview on WREN Saturday at 2 p. m. She saw the K. U. Rose Bowl film which was shown to the candidates Thursday night after a dinner at the Student Union.

Hospitality Days Attract 3,000 Visitors to Shows

More than 3,000 visitors saw exhibits and attended programs at the home economics Hospitality Days last weekend, according to Margaret Raffington, general faculty advisor for the 18th annual open house. "This was the biggest crowd ever to attend the yearly event," Miss Raffington remarked.

A total of 1,650 high school girls and teachers from 94 Kansas towns registered Saturday.

Manhattan women were guests at a program in Rec Center Friday afternoon. Miss Dorothy Barfoot, head of the art department, spoke on "Living in India." Home economics women modeled spring fashions at a tea for the local women in Calvin Lounge afterward.

High school girls filled the auditorium to capacity to see a program Saturday afternoon. A talk by Miss Margaret Justin, dean of the School of Home Economics, was followed by a South American dance by Angelina Lepori and Gustavo Rosania, vocal selections by the Beta quartette and a style review by College home economics women. After the program a tea was served in Van Zile Hall and the visiting students were conducted on tours of the K-State campus.

Foods I students served meals in the Calvin Hall dining room Friday and Saturday to demonstrate proper table setting, food preparation and service and table etiquette. Experimental cookery displays featured a new General Electric kitchen and food testing apparatus.

Clothing, tailoring and draping exhibits showed complete steps in dressmaking. An exhibit from the Scalanderie Museum of Textiles in New York City highlighted textile exhibits.

"The New Look" was featured in costume design exhibits while demonstrations of stenciling, block printing and illustrations drew large crowds to the design section. Water color, charcoal, ink and oil paintings and drawings were shown in other displays.

Crafts exhibits in Anderson demonstrated pottery making, weaving and leather tooling. Dietetic displays in Calvin featured an exhibit, "Today's Food Builds Tomorrow's Health." Material from the University of Kansas Hospital in Kansas City was included in the display.

Hundreds of visitors saw exhibits arranged by students and faculty members in the fields of meats, food research, home economics journalism, child welfare, nursing, interior decoration, institutional management and household economics.

Book Drive Started For China University

Ling Nan University in Canton, China has been chosen by UNESCO Council as its World Reconstruction project. "A text book drive is starting on the campus," announced Bob T. Chapin, reconstruction chairman. "Text books needed in the aid to China drive are language, literature, law, commerce, politics, natural sciences, engineering and dictionaries." Chapin said. "Library facilities at the university were seriously damaged during war occupation of the Japanese. Up-to-date science books and other text books are greatly needed," said Miss Helen Hostetter, professor in industrial journalism.

Student Editors FFA, Ag Contest to Draw Crowd

Applications are now being accepted for student publication offices. Students may apply for the positions of editor and business manager of the Royal Purple for 1948-49, and editor and business manager of the summer school Collegian. Applications are also to be taken for those seeking the two positions on the Collegian for the fall term. Any student in school is eligible for these positions. Application blanks are available in K 105.

Omicron Nu Lists 16 New Members

Sixteen new members of the Kansas State College chapter of Omicron Nu, honorary organization for women in home economics, were announced at an informal reception Saturday night as a part of Hospitality Days activities.

New members are Alberta Reitze, Martha Caldwell, Kathryn Gates, Mae Weaver, Barbara Engelhardt, Gienna Wilson, Carolyn Anderson, Margaret Payne, Ruth Ann Thomas, Mary Lee Hix, Ruth Steiner, Alice Kerbs, Mary McIlvain, Norma Magnus, Melba Foreman and Francis Davitt.

Margaret Cotton and Patricia Ann Moffett, received awards for outstanding freshman home economics. Loreta Stricklin was honored for having the highest grades for all four years of home economics work. Virginia Marie Howard received the award for the highest grade average in her first two years.

Melton on '48-49 Artist's Series

Season tickets are now on sale in Education 301A for the 1948-49 Artist's Series, according to Earl C. Hoover, manager of the series. Those who get their tickets now can get their choice of seats, Hoover pointed out.

"Students who subscribe to the Series will be getting some of the liberal education which Dr. Bernard Bell recently discussed in an assembly speech as needed by students of technological subjects," said Luther Leavengood, chairman of the Artist Series.

James Melton, Metropolitan Opera tenor, will high-light the season's program.

Next season will be the first time in a decade that the famous Vienna Boys' Choir will make a tour of the United States.

Brilliant violinist, Tossy Spivakovsky, who was concertmaster of the Cleveland Symphony Orchestra for three seasons, will make his first recital tour of the United States and Canada next season. Spivakovsky has also appeared as soloist with the New York Philharmonic-Symphony.

Comedy dancers, Ruth Mata and Eugene Harl and their troupe, give "hilarious programs," according to the critics.

Magazine Wants Friendly Policy

Constructive criticism of the faculty and students will be the aim of the forthcoming issue of "Intake and Exhaust," engineering publication, according to the policy committee.

The magazine shall provide the means for students to criticize the teaching methods and policies of individual instructors and administrators, and the conduct of fellow students, with the view to improve teaching, student-faculty relations, and student-student relations. "The Intake and Exhaust" will be published April 28. Raymond Schneider, senior in architecture will be editor.

Committee members are Jack Woolsey, Student Council representative; Wilbur Tripp, professor of mechanical engineering and Faculty Council member; and staff members of Intake and Exhaust.

Cheerleaders

Those who wish to try out for next year's cheerleaders should submit their names to Gordon Herr or Naomi Fralick in care of the College post-office. Applications should be in soon, as tryouts will be the first week in May.

FFA, Ag Contest to Draw Crowd

More than 1,000 high school students and teachers will attend the 25th annual Vocational Agriculture judging contest at the College next Monday and Tuesday, according to A. P. Davidson, professor of vocational education.

KKG, Farm House Lead in Grades

Kappa Kappa Gamma and Farm House ranked tops in scholastic honors among social sororities and fraternities on the campus for the first semester of this school year, Miss Eleanor Tibbets, registrar has announced.

In the sorority division Pi Beta Phi and Alpha Xi Delta are second and third respectively. Alpha Gamma Rho and Beta Theta Pi hold down second and third place rankings among the fraternities.

Sororities and their grade averages are: Kappa Kappa Gamma, 2.002; Pi Beta Phi, 1.959; Alpha Xi Delta, 1.813; Alpha Delta Pi, 1.772; Chi Omega, 1.714; Delta Delta Delta, 1.621; Clovia, 1.489; Kappa Delta, 1.477; and Alpha Chi Omega, 1.431.

Leavengood Says Choir Tour Was Big Success

Eighty-two tired but satisfied a cappella choir members returned Friday from their first concert tour.

"It's the most successful tour I have ever taken," said Luther Leavengood, the choir's enthusiastic director. The choir not only sang superbly, but contacts with people of the eleven towns visited were most satisfactory according to reports received by Mr. Leavengood.

Concerts were given in 11 Kansas towns: Abilene, Salina, McPherson, Great Bend, Wichita, Augusta, Neodesha, Parsons, Iola, Topeka and Wamego. The towns furnished food and lodging for all choir members. Three chartered buses provided transportation.

"The singing of massed voices, unaccompanied by instruments, has a fluidity of tone and rhythm which was skillfully emphasized by Director Leavengood," wrote the Iola Register in its report of the choir's performance at Iola last Thursday night. The choir members were dinner guests of the Iola Rotary Club.

The program consisted of religious classics, Negro spirituals, folk songs and a few lighter numbers. One number hailed tops on the list by Iola listeners, as well as audiences everywhere, was an arrangement of Gertrude's "Summer-time" from "Porgy and Bess."

In addition to the vocal numbers, there were two instrumental solos. Patricia Moll, pianist, played the "Revolutionary Etude" by Chopin. Robert Woodson, violinist, played "Meditation" from "Thais" by Massenet. He was accompanied by Patricia Moll.

History Staff to Go to Illinois Meeting

Eleven members of the history and government department plan to attend the Mississippi Valley Historical Association meeting at Rock Island, Ill., Thursday to Saturday.

Staff members who will attend the meeting are Fred Parrish, Verne Sweedun, R. Easterling, A. B. Sageser, Geo. Wilcoxon, Lois Turner, Olga Bayes, Mrs. John Aiken, Ada Billings, Betty Drayer, and Homer Socolofsky.

Dr. Sageser is chairman of the program of the teachers section which meets on Saturday in conjunction with the Iowa and Illinois council for social study and the history teachers.

This contest will be held concurrently with the 20th annual program of the Kansas Association of the Future Farmers of America.

A plaque will be awarded by the KSC Agricultural Education Club to the chapter making the highest total score in all contests open to FFA members. Other contest prizes will include medals, certificates and ribbons.

They will be awarded by President Milton S. Eisenhower, the deans of agriculture and poultry, agronomy, dairy and animal husbandry departments, the KSC Poultry, Klot and Kernel, Dairy, and Block and Bridle clubs.

Pictures will be taken of the winning teams and individuals, as well as the winner of the public speaking contest.

Different Contests

The contests will be in agriculture and farm mechanics. The agricultural contests consist of judging poultry, crops, dairy husbandry and animal husbandry. The farm mechanics contests, sponsored by the Department of Agricultural Engineering, consist of sharpening tools, farm power, soil conservation, concrete, welding, farm machinery and farm carpentry.

Agriculture teams will be composed of three members with one alternate. Teams in farm mechanics will have two members and one alternate. Schools unable to send a team may enter an individual in the contests.

Each FFA chapter may send two delegates to the meeting. During the first day, officers will interview prospective officer material for 1948-49. Evan Martin, FFA national president from Salem, Ind., will address the House of Delegates assembly Monday evening.

New officers for the year will be elected at this meeting, and State Farmer degree candidates will be elected and initiated. Only two percent of the FFA membership is eligible for this degree, and the candidates must have satisfactory scholarship, leadership, and an outstanding supervised farm program. There are 115 applications for this degree, which will be reviewed prior to the annual meeting.

The FFA public speaking contest will be held Tuesday morning at eight.

Dinner Dues Meeting The two day meeting will end with a dinner Tuesday evening in Nichols Gymnasium. 1,100 persons are expected to attend the dinner, given by the Manhattan Chamber of Commerce.

For the first time, Professor Davidson said, box lunches will be served the contestants on the campus at noon so the afternoon contests can begin at 1 p.m. The lunches will be provided by the Manhattan Restaurant Association. They will be served by the KSC Agricultural Education Club. Sleeping quarters will be provided in Nichols Gym for four nights, April 24-27.

Two Million Spent For Henry V Show

The two million dollar Theatre Guild film production "Henry V" will open today at the SoMa Theatre, with special prices prevailing.

John Markle, special representative for the show, has traveled all over the United States with this production. A quiet and unassuming man, Markle tells about the time an old lady in New York who had seen the show eleven times, and still said she saw some things that she hadn't seen before.

This production has been tested before taken on the road, explained Markle. It was shown to the students of Wesley College, and other eastern colleges. It stars Laurence Olivier, recently knighted for his work in the production. He appears as nine different characters in the show.

Henry V has a two-hour and 20 minute running length. It will show today and tomorrow at the SoMa.

Unsightly "Cowpaths"

Once again spring rolls around and once again unsightly "cowpaths" are appearing on campus lawns. Whether the old desire to cut across a lawn and save three steps is a part of the spring fever affliction we don't know, but we do know that every spring an epidemic of paths across campus lawns springs up.

Last spring signs were put up saying "The Kansas State Campus is known as one of the most beautiful in the world. Help keep it that way by staying off the grass." The slogans helped. Students stayed off the grass and gave it a chance to grow back up.

But these signs seem to have no effect on the majority of us this spring. In many cases the "cowpaths" go right up to a sign, carefully skirt it and then go on again.

Especially unsightly are the paths across the lawn directly in front of Kedzie Hall and to the south of the building leading to the Student Union. Another bad spot is the one north of Thompson Hall going to Nichols Gym from Moro Courts.

How many steps do you really save when you cut across the grass? They are very few because we counted them yesterday. Four steps are saved by the cut-across in front of Kedzie Hall and an eyecore has been made south of Kedzie just to save 13 measly steps.

Lack of rain has been a big factor in making the paths appear so wide. Growth of grass around Manhattan has been held almost to a standstill because of the lack of moisture. Imagine what chance water-starved grass has to grow if it is stepped on by several hundred feet each day.

L. R. Quinlan, College horticulturist reports that if students don't stay off the grass and give it a chance to grow, his department will plow up the path area, seed them down again and erect barbed wire to keep the "cut acrossers" off.

For a campus that is known as one of the most beautiful in the world, this is a sad state of affairs.

Few, if any, of our Hospitality Days visitors cut across the lawns. Let's follow their example and do our part in keeping our campus beautiful.

There's Still Hope

To a casual visitor on the campus Saturday, it would appear that all this "moaning and groaning" being done by the men concerning the woman shortage at the College was all an organized bit of propaganda to cover up the male paradise that really exists. It didn't look like the men outnumbered the women 4 to 1 Saturday because several thousand high school girls from all over the state were on the campus for the home ec Hospitality Days. Our fictitious visitor would be thoroughly confused though, if he were to come back on the campus Monday and see how the men really do outnumber the women.

Oh well, maybe there is some hope for the old institution yet if all those future coeds are favorably impressed by Kansas State and decide to come here instead of K. U.

STATE STATUS QUO

by Ramsey Sherwood
 We are in receipt of a note from A. Nonie Mouse, telling us that beards are a mark of distinction and intellect in a man, and requesting our support in a campaign to get every K-State male to grow one.

Not wanting to go out on a limb, we investigated the history of beards and discovered among other things: (1) There have always been beards. (2) College men used to grow many types of beards. (3) Beards aren't becoming to girls, and (4) They can interfere with soup eating, do not dunking, tooth brushing and kissing (not girls, beards); we have always been of the opinion that girls are pretty necessary when it comes to kissing.

Let us elaborate. According to Slushingswell's History of Early Roman Band Instruments and Instrumentalists, chapter III, line 14, "beards were extremely popular. Every man had one. The fact that there were no razor blades during these days may account for this." Even Cro-Magnon man and Neanderthal man had beards. The beard of Neanderthal man was so long (according to Smaltzberger's, A Pre-historic History) that wives used to tie their husbands' beards to the nearest tree trunks so that they wouldn't go out and play poker with their Neanderthal buddies. Even so they could wander within a radius of 37 feet (according to Smaltzberger).

A peek into the Industrialist files of 1850 reveals that college men of that era grew beards. Two brothers grew such long beards that they decided they would capitalize upon their whiskers, and thus, the cough drop.

Beards do not look good on girls. Also, they are rarely seen on girls.

Without beards there would be no use for present-day razors and blades. Except, perhaps, by wives who need to cut up linoleum or sharpen pencils. We are in favor of beards, only because we want to stop shaving.

We would stop shaving this very day, if it were not for one thing—whiskers.

There seems to be a popular notion that whiskers are unbecoming. Perhaps the little scrubby whiskers just two or three days old are, but if one were to work at cultivating a beard of distinction, we believe it would be just as becoming as a bear (oops, bare) skin. After all, Kedzie Hall looked a lot better with its whisker-like ivy than without it.

Wally Warren has already signed a I'm-growing-a-beard petition. If twelve others sign it, this column also will grow a beard. We queried Prexy Milt on the topic, but all he could say was "Beards? Gad, who cares about the chin? It's the roof I'm concerned with!"

Dear R. S.: Since the Collegian has no love-lorn column I've decided to write to you. My problem is: For 22 years I have been going with Herman Fringham, a plumber's helper. Recently, Hermie has got a job at the Chi Omega house where he washes windows. Since getting the job, Hermie's attitude has changed. The other night he tried to kiss me, but I told him I didn't know him well enough. A girl can't be too sure. My problem is, do you think Hermie is getting young ideas again?

Affectionately yours,
 Viola Sidesaddle.

Dear V.S.: No, we do not think Herman is getting young ideas. The mere fact that he tried to kiss you does not indicate this. Herman is probably just frustrated. Our advice: Get him away from the Chi O windows and into another job.

Yours for repeal,
 R.S.

NOTE: This column will answer letters from any lovesick persons desiring advice. No fee.

Student Plans Portable Throne

A wheel chair fit for a king has been one of the accomplishments of Harry Jennings, a junior in mechanical engineering. Jennings has designed a special custom wheel chair for King Ibn Saud of Arabia. Jennings' father is a wheel chair manufacturer in Los Angeles. A few years ago, the firm was asked to build a special chair for the late President Roosevelt. You remember that Mr. Roosevelt was a victim of infantile paralysis. Upon completion Mr. Roosevelt took the chair to the White House. Soon the Jennings company received a second order. Little did they realize this chair was to travel half way around the world. President Roosevelt had ordered it as a gift for King Ibn Saud.

It made a big hit with the King. In fact, it was so well liked he ordered one made to fit his particular specifications. It seemed the old boy knew what he wanted for there were several changes. This is where Harry came in. Among the differences: Mr. Henry to work in wet silk damask seat coverings, larger balloon wheels, a canopy and the design of the chair. The canopy caused

VOX STUDENS

(Editor's note: The opinions presented in this column may or may not express the opinion of The Collegian. The letters are presented here for the student information. In order to conserve space, will writers please limit their letters to no more than 300 words.)

Dear Editor:

Well, I've had it. The local campus cop got me again this morning for the third, and from what I hear, maybe the last time. At least so they say, it really gets tough after your third red ticket for parking in the wrong place.

I'll admit the parking situation is a rough deal but it seems the college has handled it very successfully, and I don't know of any reason why it can't continue to be the same, that is, providing the one or two remaining student parking areas are turned into faculty areas and all students are issued strict mandates to sell their cars.

I don't suppose I am the first to be greeted with a red ticket when returning from class to the (park here and you've had it) place where you've left your car for the last week without finding a (one more and out you go) red ticket plastered on the windshield.

I realize it would be impossible to do away with traffic regulations but why make the penalty so stiff?

Overtime parking in town costs a buck and you start over with a clean slate. Defying regulations knowingly or unknowingly on the campus involves an unpleasant conversation with the Dean, a threat to be kicked out of school, and after the second ticket, a lot of angelic behavior to keep your future from being ruined by being kicked out.

If a student is kicked out of school, the college loses financially. If a fine of one dollar were imposed for breaking campus parking regulations, this would surely amount to from five to ten thousand dollars in a school year. This money could be used for a lot of things—including such things as buying more red tickets.

April 15, 1948

Dear Editor:

In regard to the meeting of the Student Council-Faculty Policy Committee last Tuesday, I would like to submit the following comment that occurred at that meeting. The points are taken up numerically to correspond with the proposals listed last week.

1. Just where the committee arrived at the decision that this publication has any primary function seemed somewhat obscure and a bit surprising to our staff. We have no desire to influence in any manner the improvement of educational methods and instruction. Good or bad, that problem rests with the administrators which we feel are quite competent to observe and act accordingly. The whole purpose is to publish a good humor paper for the mutual enjoyment of all.

2. Mr. Tripp, in regard to this paragraph, said that the "administration" (a rather broad statement in itself) had received "literally thousands of phone calls," then reduced to "an alarming number" in regard to last year's publication.

When, after about an hour of "discussion," we called for enlightenment as to just which article or articles were objected to, we were told that it was the one about Prof. Colver of the chemistry department. That, we agreed, was an unfortunate piece of writing, published somewhat injudiciously by last year's staff.

When played with the following question, "Had that article been deleted would the rest of the 'Intake and Exhaust' have gone unnoticed by an otherwise aroused public?" The answer was "Yes, except for one or two jokes considered smutty!" But he was unable to state specifically as to the jokes that were meant.

3. It seems to us that this whole matter could have been settled without reaching such alarming proportions. Mr. Tripp admitted as much at the close of the meeting by stating: "If you can find any faculty member who is willing to be responsible for this publication, there would be no need for the committee. I personally would not take the job." And yet, the editor of the "Intake and Exhaust" takes that responsibility each time it is published and understands that in extreme cases, his college career could be interrupted by expulsion if the administration so saw fit to take such action.

As the meeting adjourned, we were issued the following ultimatum (at finger point). "If

J. Paul Sheedy* Switched to Wildroot Cream-Oil Because He Flunked The Finger Nail Test

IF YOUR friends have been slipping you hunks of cheese, maybe your hair looks mousey. So better take the bait, brother rat, and scurry out for some Wildroot Cream-Oil. It's the popular non-alcoholic hair tonic containing soothing Lanolin. Wildroot Cream-Oil greases your hair neatly and naturally without that plastered-down look. Relieves annoying dryness and removes loose, ugly dandruff. Helps you pass the Finger Nail Test! Get a tube or bottle of Wildroot Cream-Oil today at any drug or toilet goods counter. And always ask your barber for a professional application. Warning: Your roommate will probably ferret away your Wildroot Cream-Oil. Buy the rodent some of his own!

4. No particular comment.
 5. They want us to encourage students to write signed articles. That is a statement one would not make to a mere "babe in the woods." Should one sign his name as responsible for writing an article when the faculty sponsor of the committee admits he wouldn't sign his name to the publication? Then the statement was made that a student should have the courage of his convictions to stand by them. Who's convicting whom?

6. We agree on this and have been doing same. We think that a cleverly written article could only be cleverly written if it were the opinion of many. The editorial staff is mature enough to recognize a "private peeve" from mass opinion, mainly by the manner in which it is presented.

7. Now if you will refer to paragraph 1 and read in part "... for students to criticize the teaching methods and policies of INDIVIDUAL INSTRUCTORS ...". Since when was an instructor above criticism merely because of a difference in sex.

As the meeting adjourned, we were issued the following ultimatum (at finger point). "If this issue is anything like the 1947 issue it will be banned from this school permanently!" So this is Democracy at work!

Raymond C. Schneider, Editor, 1948 Intake and Exhaust.

Scholarship Winners

Sears scholarship winners for a period of ten years will attend a banquet in their honor at the Manhattan Country Club Wednesday evening, according to R. I. Throckmorton, dean of the School of Agriculture.

CAMPUS HAS FACE LIFTED

Spring Housecleaning on Campus Nears Completion After Hard Work

By BLAINE B. PHILLIPS
An extensive "spring housecleaning" on the campus is nearing completion. New walks, several hundred new trees and bushes for landscaping, completely re-surfaced roads and even new trash cans have been included in the program.

All departments have cooperated in the beautification program, according to A. Thornton Edwards, veteran's housing officer. The housing office has completed the roads program, two new drainage culverts and a new baseball diamond for veterans. The Department of Building and Repair has put the smooth finishing touches on a new sidewalk running westward from West Stadium. The horticulture department is nearing completion on a beautification project involving hundreds of new shrubs and more than a thousand pounds of grass seed.

Face Lifting at Elliot Tract
The chief area benefited in the "face-lifting" program, according to the housing officer, is the Elliot tract, Hillside and Moro Courts. Also receiving new grass and trees are the extension offices, the new class-room barracks, the Student Hospital, and the temporary Student Union.

Trees bought last week by the horticulture department are being transplanted in all parts of the campus, said Prof. W. F. Pickett, head of the department. Included in the program are Honeysuckles, Beauty bushes, Flowering Crabs, Spirea and Lilac bushes, Lombardi Poplar trees, Chinese Elms, Redbuds and various cedars and pines.

More than 1,000 pounds of bluegrass and clover seed have been purchased and planted this spring by members of the department. The half-ton of seed, according to Professor Pickett, is nearly twice the usual amount required by the College. "Part of the seed this year is being used on the new military science drill field at the north end of the Campus. Housing areas have been heavily seeded, and the remainder is being used in an effort to turn the already green areas a little greener."

Truckloads of Rock
More than 140 truckloads of crushed rock and creek gravel have already been purchased for re-surfacing dirt roads in the Elliot and Hilltop housing areas. Road work is being done by contractors for the housing office.

"This should solve the problem of the disappearing road-beds," commented Francis Rickard, assistant housing officer. "In the past, spring rains have nearly washed away entire drives, forcing center-of-the-road parking and a nearly impassible drive. The two new culverts completed this week are intended to help with the road drainage problem too."

Also newly completed by the housing office, is a new baseball diamond for use of students living in the housing areas. The project includes a new backstop, which was installed across from the Veteran's grocery store, and removable bases, which may be checked out from the mayors of the various housing areas. Several sets of bases and bats, balls and gloves have been made available.

New Trash Collection Cans
The building and repair department has installed the new trash-collection cans around all College buildings. The cans supplement the cigarette butt-cans recently placed about the campus. R. F. Gingrich, head of the B and R department, said that in addition to the new cans, the department has had two men working full time just picking up paper and refuse around building entrances.

The new walk completed near the West Stadium Dormitory, makes easy access to the Stadium from any direction. In the past, anyone coming in to the stadium from Dennison Avenue had to walk on the road—which was usually muddy despite the truckloads of sand applied since the Stadium's conversion to a living quarters.

"All departments have spent a lot of money on the super spring cleanup this year," Gingrich said. "It looks good. With a little cooperation from students and faculty, we can keep it that way."

"THIS IS WHAT I LIKE—GOOD FOOD, GOOD WINE, GOOD COMPANY, AND BAD THOUGHTS."

Sullivant Named Duroc Field Man

Tom Sullivant, a senior in agriculture, will be the new field man in this area for the United Duroc Association beginning June 1.
The Sullivants' little daughter, Evelyn Ann, was queen of the Little American Royal. Tom is a member of the meats judging team which went to the Chicago International in December. He is also a member of the Block and Bridge club and was recently elected to Alpha Zeta, honorary organization for students in agriculture.
In addition to Tom's college activities, he has auctioneered a number of sales this winter, and he fed some hogs for market sale.
Tom's new work will include calls on Duroc breeders, assisting them with sales, and publicity for the Duroc Association. His area will include Kansas, Nebraska, Colorado, Oklahoma and Texas.

Basic ROTC Cadets Tour Fort Riley

An inspection tour of army installations at Fort Riley will be conducted for all basic ROTC cadets Wednesday and Thursday, Col. A. G. Hutchinson, head of the military science department, has announced.
The tour will give students an opportunity to visit the various schools, see the maintenance shops and watch a firing demonstration of many of the army's weapons. These weapons include the new recoilless artillery, said Col. Hutchinson. The tour will be during the afternoon hours. In the evening the cadets will attend the Fifth Army Boxing Tournament. The trip will be made in buses.

Sjo to Work Three Weeks on Foreign Farm

During the time he is in Europe this summer, John Sjo plans to visit England, France and Germany, and will spend about three weeks working on a farm in one of the Scandinavian countries. Sjo will go to Europe on a trip sponsored by the Kansas State UNESCO and financed by the Kansas Farm Bureau. The trip is to promote understanding between the United States and European countries and to show the people of Europe that Americans are not what movies and tourists may lead them to believe.

Sjo, a senior in agricultural administration, and president of the Collegiate 4-H Club, plans to leave as soon as possible after school is out.
So far Sjo has been unable to secure passage to Europe, although several attempts have been made.

Several other Kansas State students plan to make the trip with Sjo if they are able to obtain the financial backing and the passage to Europe. These students, however, probably will tour other countries than those Sjo will visit.

Leathers Is Elected

James W. Leathers has been elected president of the Ag Economics Club.
Other officers elected include John Schnittker, vice-president; Oscar Albrecht, secretary; Dick DeFord, corresponding secretary; and Harvey Arand, treasurer.

Knorr Will Preside at Athletic Meeting

Fritz Knorr, member of the College athletic department will preside at the state meeting of the Health, Physical Education and Recreation Association in Kansas City, Kan. next weekend. The annual meeting will be at Wyandotte high school. Knorr is retiring president of the organization.
While in Kansas City, Knorr will also attend the national meeting of the Association there from April 19 through April 24. He will represent the Central District which includes a nine-state area.

Presents Memorial in Husband's Memory

Mrs. Maxine Miller, Marienthal, is establishing a memorial in the Kansas State College World War II Memorial Chapel in honor of her former husband, Lt. Joseph Zitnik, who was killed in action in 1944 in Holland. The memorial will be a pew costing $200 in the Main All-Faith Chapel.

Following his graduation from the college in 1936, Lt. Zitnik was assistant county agent in Sharon Springs and Leoti.

He is survived by his wife, a son Joseph Max, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Zitnik, Scammon.

Job Interviews Are Discussed by Seaton

A discussion of job interviews and application letters was made by Fay N. Seaton, publisher of the Manhattan Mercury-Chronicle at an industrial journalism lecture last week.

Mr. Seaton interviewed Duane Patterson, June DuPorne, Helen Hennon, and Tom Leathers to give the students tips on how to apply for jobs. The lecture was sponsored by Theta Sigma Phi, Journalism sorority, for Matrx Milestone which is commemorating the founding of that organization.

Christian Fellowship Will Meet Tonight

Kansas State Christian Fellowship will meet tonight in Willard 115 from 7 to 8 p. m. Bob Milburn, president of the organization announces. This change is for tonight only. The next meeting, April 27, will be in Calvin 101 at 7:30 p. m. Milburn said.

Robert Finley, lecturer from the University of Chicago, will be tonight's speaker. His subject will be "The Secret of Victorious Living."

Warren Studies Chicken's Skulls

More than 250 chicken skulls are in the collection of Dr. D. C. Warren, poultry geneticist at the College. Dr. Warren has collected them for 15 years for studies to determine if Asiatic, English and Mediterranean breeds of chickens have common ancestry.
Studies made are not conclusive, Dr. Warren said, but he thinks the Asiatic and Mediterranean (largest and smallest breeds) may have had separate wild ancestors during their early evolution.

General Mills Gives $3,000 Grant to KSC

A $3,000 grant to study post-harvest conditions of wheat has been made to the milling industry department, J. A. Shellenberger, head, announced today.
The grant was made by General Mills, Inc., Minneapolis. The research is the first in this field by the College milling department. The study will try to determine why baking qualities of wheat vary from year to year. Researchers also will see if the baking irregularities disappear after wheat has been stored in an ethylene atmosphere.

Dr. Shellenberger, Prof. Max Milner and a graduate student to be appointed, will direct the research.

Will Assist Dean

L. E. Henning, former chief of the Veterans Administration Guidance Center at Kansas State College, will become assistant to the dean of the School of Arts and Sciences effective May 1.

Henning came here from Hays two years ago last November to join the VA office at the college. He had been chief of civilian personnel at the Walker Army Airfield at Hays. Henning has completed most of his work for a master's degree at Minnesota U.

Establishes Memorial

William J. Yeoman, LaCrosse, is establishing a memorial in the Kansas State World War II Memorial Chapel in honor of his son, Chauncey D. Yeoman, who was killed in an airplane crash during the first World War. The memorial will be a nave pew with cushions in the Main All-Faith Chapel.

Chauncey Yeoman was a student at Kansas State College from 1915 to 1917. His father graduated from the college in 1893, and was in charge of collecting funds for the pew that his class established in the chapel.

Navy Commissions Opened to Reserves

Officers on inactive duty who hold Reserve Commissions in any branch of the service are eligible to apply for direct commissions in the U. S. Navy, according to a bulletin received by the counseling bureau. Official officer procurement programs are now open.

Describing officer's duties in the various corps, the bulletin also lists qualification on which must be met for appointment. Senior college students may apply and be processed for a commission, requiring a college degree, during their final semester before graduation.

Anyone interested in this navy program should contact the counseling bureau, according to Paul Torrance of the Bureau.

Chalk Talk

By NORV GISH

Things are rather subdued on the K-State sports front this week. Although there is activity in three major and two minor sports on the campus, spring fever seems to have hit the boys who manufacture the headlines. We've looked high and low but we haven't been able to uncover a single controversy to discuss. There are no scandals, no arguments, no new or startling developments. In fact, Phog Allen didn't even sound off with a blast on eligibility matters this week. Things are really traveling at a snail's pace.

All of the Wildcat athletes seem to be competing in the right sports, everyone is apparently eligible, the coaches are all reasonably happy, and harmony reigns in the athletic department. We haven't heard a single gripe or complaint. In fact, there are actually prospects of our winning a real live honest-to-goodness football game next fall.

Observers agreed it was a perfect day for track at Lawrence Saturday. The record book took quite a beating. The performances turned in by Harrison Dillard in the hurdles and Charles Fonville in the shotput look like long time marks unless their present owners lower them.

The two Negro aces, along with Dave Bolen, who set a Relays record in the 400 meter hurdles, added more proof to the already established fact that theirs is a race capable of producing fine athletes. In our opinion this is one more addition to a long list of reasons why Negro athletes should be allowed to compete in the Big Seven conference.

Because of the narrow-minded prejudice displayed by certain conference schools, colored athletes are currently banned from the loop sports activities. Last semester, a group of student representatives met at Lincoln, Neb., to discuss the situation. A majority of the circuit schools sounded off in favor of lifting the unwritten ban. The disagreeing minority promised to take the matter up with their respective student bodies. To our knowledge that was the last public action taken on the matter.

Track mentor Ward Haylett was pleased with the performance of his Wildcat cindersmen at the Kansas Relays Saturday. The Cats, Haylett figures, outscored all of their Big Seven brothers except Missouri. The Tigers had a slight edge in unofficial team totals. Team standings are not tabulated for the relays.

Haylett believes his boys may have a good chance to top the field at the Colorado Relays Saturday. However, he points out the fact that the home team is always strong in numbers and can be counted on to put up a stiff battle. Only the points scored in the relay events are counted in the team scores.

Jack Dean, ace Wildcat hurler, was left behind when the baseball Wildcats left on their current road engagement. Dean was in the hospital with the flu when coach Fiser began counting noses. The slim moundsman was slated for duty in one and probably two of the four games at Nebraska and Iowa.

Intra-Squad Tilt Shows Prospects Bright Next Fall

Judging from the look of satisfaction on Coach Ralph Graham's face following Saturday's intra-squad football game, the gridiron prospects at State are looking up for next fall. "If we continue to improve as much in the next three weeks as in the first three, we're very definitely going to give somebody a bad time next season," Graham commented.

With the squad divided into the Yellows and the Blues, coaches and fans alike were delighted with the showing, both individually and as a team, as the Yellows downed the Blues 32 to 0. However, while citing the overall improvements, Graham still is far from satisfied with the downfield blocking displayed and the frequent failure to open holes in the line. The first spring intra-squad scrimmage underlined Coach Graham's need for more speed and reserves in the right and left half-back slots.

Stehley, Hackney Shine Fullbacks Jim Stehley and Gerald Hackney provided most of the scoring of the day. Stehley crossed the payline twice after runs of 5 and 30 yards. The hard-driving Hackney scored by dragging several hundred pounds of Blue tacklers with him for the last 10 yards. Hackney also turned in the longest run of the game—a 60-yard jaunt which ended just short of the goal line.

Coach Graham summed up the entire picture of the game with his naming the players turning in the best performance of the afternoon. Tailback Gale Lehman, 6-1, 190 pounder looked good on a couple of elusive 35 yard runs. Blocking backs Jack Savage,

"I SAY IT'S A NEW RECORD. DAUGHTERY, A NEW RECORD!"

George Smith and Leo Rons all showed up well.

In the fullback position Graham will be watching Harold Bryan, Gerald Hackney, Jim (Dutch) Stehley and Ken Johnson.

Some shifting may be done in the halfback spots with versatile Lou DeBord, former Centennial high school star, Gene Ackerman and Ross Estes among the likely prospects.

Strong End Material Moving into the line positions, Coach Graham can breathe easier with at least five or six strong ends in Glen Channell, Dick Johnston, Gale Christiansen, Jim Roob and Jerry Harr plus Kenny Hartung and Bill Hull.

Tackles include big Ed McNeil, back after being forced out of action before the end of last year's season, Bob Mauer, Ray Zumait, Leroy Dawson, Dave Bohnenblust and Walter Gehlbach.

John Goff, Terry McMinn, John Marshall, Talton Pace, Sam Muscalino and Bill McEachern are all fighting for the squad positions.

Rounding out the scene are centers John Conley, Grover Nutt and Tom Smith.

Coach Graham indicated that there would be another game again next Saturday afternoon.

Copies of New Novel at Dinner

Autographed copies of Virginia Sorensen's new novel, "The Neighbors," will be available for college and town women invited to the Matrix Table dinner next Friday evening. Mrs. Sorensen will speak at the formal banquet, which is sponsored by Theta Sigma Phi, honorary and professional women's journalism organization.

"The Neighbors," a 1947 publication, is the story of the struggle of two families in the Colorado sheep raising country. Mrs. Sorensen, a Denver woman, is also the author of "A Little Lower Than the Angels."

The dinner will be at 8:15 p.m. in the Wareham Hotel.

It's a lovely box of stationery with twenty-six original etchings by Richardson Rome. The etchings are at different within a box, and one box sells for two dollars. We also wrap and mail them for you for an additional quarter. If you haven't seen these lovely boxes, come in today. You'll like them! ... Naomi Fralick is really walking in the clouds these days. When you see a girl flit around as she does—there can be only one reason—a man! But, which one? ... Well, tennis season finally arrived. I knew if I held out long enough for it, it would get here. If you have a god tennis racket, but it needs a re-stringing job, bring it in. We have a new re-stringing machine that works on a hydraulic principle, whereby every string has the same tension. We can string rackets with anywhere from a forty-pound to eighty-pound tension on each string. Bring your racket in, and let the Campus Book Store do the job as it should be done. ... You know, I've just about decided... there are some awfully swell people on this campus who make it a point to see that you don't hear of them. One of these so-called is a fellow named Simmons—Herb Simmons. You're out in the light now, Herb, so why don't you say something for the people? ... I realize this is a very cheerful thought, but fourteen week's quizzes are going to be here before you know it. Best you start brushing up on that hard course with a book from the College Outline Series. This Series covers all major college courses, and is really a great help. ... Time to go now, but see you again next week.

P. S.—One individual around Aggieville thinks he is the new pin ball champ at Barber's Sandwich Shop, but it seems he is the only one that thinks so—

Hi kids! I'm back again. (Don't faint!) The last two weeks have really been busy weeks for me, but at the same time they were packed full of fun! It is really a shame everyone on the campus couldn't have gone on the A Cappella tour last week. We really covered territory—went all over Kansas, and on the whole, the tour was very successful. You know—any time you take eighty-five students on a long trip in three buses, funny things are bound to happen! One thing some of the choir members are still wondering is—what happened to Nan Martin's biscuit? Did she eat it? John Kohn found himself in quite an involved discussion of art. As a result, he was invited up to see one of the same sketches—or was it etchings? Well anyway, when is your next free hour, John? I could run on and on with funny little things that happened on the tour, but the Collegian insists I leave room for Ramsey Sherwood, so best I leave him a few inches! ... Down at the Campus Book Store, we have Kansas State T-shirts, with almost any K-State design you could ask for. We also have terry-cloth shirts with the K-State emblems on them. Come in today and get a couple. They're good shirts and also a good way to promote our school spirit! ... You know, I think my house down at the store missed me a little (mighty little) bit while I was gone. Probably when I left, they found their books balanced at the end of each day, and there was nothing to stew about. I'd think that would be rather monotonous, too! You remember that boat I told you they were building? Well, the job is almost complete, and the big test will come before long. I keep telling them to try it out in the bath tub first, 'cause then—when it sinks, they will at least be fairly close to shore! They won't listen to me, though. Oh well, what better teaching is there than experience? (If anyone says H. W. Davis, I quit!) You know, Mothers' Day is just around the corner, and I'll bet some of you are just letting it slip up on you. Down at the book store, we have just the thing for an ideal gift.

THE ROYAL PURPLE

K-Nine Completes Road Tour Today

The Wildcat baseball team winds up a four-game road junket today against Iowa State at Ames. The two teams played yesterday, but the score was not available by Collegian press time.

Kansas State moved into Ames after dropping a pair to the strong Nebraska nine, 3 to 1 and 5 to 2. The Wildcats need a clean sweep against the Cyclones to return to Manhattan with a .500 conference average.

The Cyclones will be tough this year. L. C. Timm, Iowa State coach, can field an all-veteran nine. He has two lettermen pitchers, John Hogue and Ben Anderson, the pitching veterans, will probably be on the hill against the Cats.

Cyclones Hit Well
Heading the Cyclone batters is catcher Don Froehle. The Bancroft, Iowa, slugger hits an unusually long ball. Against Oklahoma last season, Froehle hit one of the longest home runs in Cyclone baseball history.

Other potent Cyclone stickmen are Jack Buehner, third baseman, and Lee Knox and Dave Jones, outfielders.

Coach Lud Fiser's short-handed mound staff apparently will have to carry the brunt of Wildcat hopes. Wildcat batsmen could solve Husker pitching for a combined two game total of only six hits. Jack Bell, who pitched the first Nebraska game, yielded eight hits. Bill Grimes and Bob McClure worked the second game and allowed ten hits. So far, the Cats have had the pitching, but the hitters have not been able to support the hurlers.

Jack Dean, one of Fiser's starting pitchers, was unable to make the trip because of illness. Al Fillmore, 1947 letterman, was left home with an ailing arm. This left only Jack Bell as a definite known quality for the foreign games.

Bell May Pitch
Fiser figured to send Duane Holder, a member of last year's squad, against the yesterday. If Holder failed to go the route, the skipper could have called on versatile Al Sheriff. Fiser kept Sheriff, who is normally a third baseman, out of the Saturday Nebraska game to be rested for needed pitching duty.

Fractured Leg
No Trouble for Joe Blanchard
Most athletes could take a lesson from Joe Blanchard, big K-State football tackle and heavyweight wrestler. The burly sophomore just doesn't know when he is down.

Joe broke his leg in a semi-final heavyweight wrestling bout at the conference tournament last month. The big boy was confined to bed and a heavy cast was placed on his leg.

He was home from Colorado in a few days, and immediately began looking for something to do.

Mat Mentor Red Reynard first chased him off the wrestling pads in Nichols Gymnasium. Joe was trying to pin a buddy even though he was still wearing a cast.

Not satisfied, Joe declared he was going to check out his football togs. Doctors said no emphatically. Blanchard rebelled, but got little satisfaction.

Bored with his enforced inactivity, the star athlete finally got around his "jitters". He checked out his track suit, declaring he wanted to get in shape for football next fall. Wildcat coaches shake their heads and say they wish they had more like him.

Six Records Fall at KU Relays; Cats Place High

Six assorted records fell Saturday at the annual K.U. Relays. Charles Fonville and Harrison Dillard made the most noise as they went about their record-shattering ways.

Dillard, dusky speedster from Baldwin-Wallace, shaved one tenth second from the established world record in the 120-yard high hurdles. Official timers caught Dillard in 13.6 seconds as he finished some ten yards ahead of Clyde Scott, second place man.

Forrest "Spec" Towns set the old mark of 13.7 in 1936 and Fred Wolcott equaled it in 1941. The Baldwin-Wallace flash served notice that he was out for a new record time when he won the qualifying trials in 14 seconds flat. The previous K. U. Relays time for the 120-yard high hurdles was 14.2; set by Wolcott in 1938.

Fonville a Surprise
Relay officials expected Charlie Fonville, University of Michigan Olympic hopeful, to crack the intercollegiate shot put mark of 56 feet, 1/2 inch set by Al Blozis in 1940. Fonville had heaved the shot 56 feet 10 3/4 inches during the indoor track season. But no one expected him to break the world record of 57 feet, 1 inch, set by Jack Torrance at Oslo, Norway in 1934, by almost a foot.

Only a few spectators were on hand to see Fonville shove the 16 pound weight a record distance. Charlie wound up for his second trial in the morning preliminaries and the result was 58 feet, 1/4 inch, some six feet ahead of his nearest competitor. Elmer Hackney, Kansas State, owned the former Relays mark of 52 feet, 1 1/2 inch.

Fonville, who is not big by shot put standards—six feet tall and 195 pounds—didn't try again in the afternoon finals. But each of his four qualifying puts topped Hackney's old mark.

Cats Drop Pair To Cornhuskers

Weakness at the plate proved to be the downfall of Coach Lud Fiser's Wildcat baseball team as they dropped two games to the University of Nebraska Friday and Saturday, 3-1 and 5-2.

In the two games, the Fiser-men garnered only 6 hits. The Nebraska pounced on Jack Bell for 8 hits in their season opener while Cornhusker twirler, Sandstedt, allowed the Cats only four. Catcher Tom Novak's double in the eighth started the winning rally for Nebraska. Hedgewood sent Novak home with another double and came in on a single by Hay.

In Saturday's game the Wildcats started off the game with a run in the first inning when Dana Atkins chased home from second on Chew's single. K-State again took the lead in the third inning when Nebraska suffered a complete fielding collapse by committing three straight errors allowing State to take a 2-1 lead.

Bill Grimes, starting pitcher for the Wildcats was chased to the showers in the fifth and was charged with the loss. Box Score: 2

ROLLIN PRATHER, towering shotput and discus star, is Ward Haylett's leading pointmaker in the field events this year. Only a sophomore, Prather holds the K-State varsity discus record and is rated as a top candidate for the US Olympic team. He placed third in the shot and second in the discus at KU Saturday.

Cats Open Tennis Slate at Wichita

The K-State tennis team opens the 1948 season Thursday when they go against the Wichita University netmen, coach C. S. "Conney" Moll, announced today. "Although final positions are not yet determined, we'll probably open the early matches with Louis Thompson as the number one man. Roy Sherrell will be number two, Richard Powers, number three, Roy Robbins, number four, Jim Neumann, number five and Marvin Dungan, number six," Moll said.

Moll said that he had no idea how the Wildcat team would stand up against the Wichita team. However, he said he believes the K-State team is in far better shape now than they were at the middle of last season. "The new cement courts are largely responsible for this," he explained.

Coach Moll's netmen move on from Wichita to Norman where they will meet the strong Oklahoma Sooners on Friday.

The revised tennis schedule: Wichita—There—April 22. O.U.—There—April 23. M. U.—There—May 3. K. U.—There—May 4. N. U.—Here—May 8. C. U.—There—May 10. Iowa State—Here—May 15. K. U.—Here—May 17.

Badgers Set Mark
The University of Wisconsin broke another Relay record held by Kansas State. Wisconsin's anchor man on the two mile relay team hit the tape in 7:44.7 to eclipse the time of 7:45-7 set by State in 1935.

In the one mile relay, Texas A & M lowered the University of Texas Relay record time from 3:16.2 to 3:15.6. The old mark was set in 1935.

East Texas State lowered the college sprint medley record over 16 seconds. They were clocked in 3:31. The old record of 3:47.2 was set by Abilene Christian last year. Dave Bolen, University of Colorado graduate who entered the meet unattached, cut more than two seconds from the K.U. Relays record time for the 400 meter hurdles. Bolen negotiated the sticks in 53 seconds flat. Herman Nelson established the old time of 55.4 twelve years ago. This was Bolen's first competitive hurdles race.

Prather Places
Rollin "Tiny" Prather captured third in the shot and second in the discus. Prather put the shot 51 feet, 11 inches to place third back of Fonville and Stan Lampert of NYU.

He spun the discus 148 feet, 10 1/2 inches to finish second to Gordien, University of Minnesota weight star.

Howard Shannon was the only other Wildcat to place in the individual events. Howard leaped 23 feet 4 1/2 inches to take fourth in the broad jump.

Two Wildcat relay teams turned in good performances. The sprint medley troupe composed of Don Thomas, Harold Kiser, Rodney McClay, and Art Hildenbrand finished second to the Oklahoma A and M Cowboys. Thomas led off with a 440, Kiser and McClay ran 220's and Hildenbrand finished up with an 880. The Wildcat anchor man came within a few feet of passing the Aggie runner at the tape.

Cats Fourth in Relay
In the distance medley relay, the K-State team finished fourth. Thomas ran the quarter mile, Rufus Miller paced the half, George Leasure ran three-quarters of a mile, and Dave Van Haverbeke anchored the Cats in the mile.

Several Wildcats turned in ify, according to Haylett. Earl Elliot clipped off a 14.6 second heat in the high hurdles but finished third in his group. Two men qualified from each heat.

Howard Shannon leaped 6 feet, 2 3/4 inches in the high jump but failed to place.

Double Duty

Jack Nielson, one of Lud Fiser's leading infield candidates, does double duty at the Wildcat baseball games. The diminutive redhead does his part on the diamond then rushes to his typewriter to do the story of the game. Jack, an industrial journalism major, is a sports writer for The Collegian.

Intramurals

Allowing only four men to reach base, all on walks, Chuck Smith, Ag. Ed. Club hurler, hung up the first no-hit shut-out of the season as the Set-Ups were down 4 to 0 Wednesday. The Ag. Ed. Club played errorless ball behind Smith as he struck out 14 men in five innings. The only man who failed to go down swinging fouled out to the catcher.

Results of other games played Wednesday were: Black Cats 9, Collegiate 4-H 6; Barracks No. 6-5, House of Williams 4; Root's Rangers 15, Gamma Delta 2; P.E.M. 5, George's Hall 4; and Gutterbuns 28, Sigma Phi Nothing 6.

The Tau Kappa Epsilon team continued its winning ways, rolling over the Delta Tau Delta squad 10 to 5 last Thursday. Other Thursday results were: Acacia 14, Pi Kappa Alpha 12; Boozdoes 18, Yanks 10.

Results of games played Friday included: Sigma Phi Epsilon 15, Sigma Nu 2; Farm House 4, Beta Theta Pi 3; Phi Delta Theta 16, Theta Xi 3; Phi Kappa 7, Lambda Chi Alpha 3; Jr. A.V.M.A. 11, Baptist Students 6.

Games today are: Sigma Alpha Epsilon vs. Acacia, Delta Sigma Phi vs. Chi Sigma, Van Zile Hopefuls vs. Gutterbuns, Deacons vs. Set-Ups, Tau Kappa Epsilon vs. Phi Kappa Alpha, Sigma Nu vs. Alpha Tau Omega, Root's Rangers vs. Sigma Phi Nothing, and Yanks vs. Ag. Ed. Club.

Tomorrow's games include: Kappa Sigma vs. Lambda Chi Alpha, Alpha Gamma Rho vs. Kappa Alpha Psi, Moro Courts No. 4 vs. Jr.

SOCIETY AT STATE

Another week-end at K-State has passed. Another round of formal dinners and dances, initiations and wind-blown picnics. But not to be overlooked is the number of chocolates, roses and cigars that were brought forth.

Cigars Sunday at the Pi K A house announced the engagement of Dale Berger to Deloris Johnson. Deloris is from Topeka and a Delta Gamma at Washburn. Dale, Abilene, was graduated from K-State last January. He is now director of the Topeka Civic Theater. They will be married this summer.

The Acacia spring formal dinner-dance was held Saturday night. The dinner was held in the Crystal Room of the Wareham Hotel. Dean A. L. Pugsley gave an address. Following the dinner Acacia and their dates adjourned to the Community House to dance to the music of Del Weidner and his band. A "Dutch Garden" was the theme of the dance with a windmill and tulips helping to carry out the idea. In the receiving line were: Bill Sturdevant, Dolores Knapp, Mrs. Ella Lyle, Miss Dorothy Hamer, Dr. and Mrs. A. C. Andrews and Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Honstead.

Chocolates at the Pi Phi house Sunday noon announced the engagement of Sue Law, a senior in medical technology, to Jack Bieger, a former Sig Alpha at the University of Oklahoma. Sue and Jack are both from Lyons.

Alpha Kappa chapter of Alpha Xi Delta, held its 26th annual Founder's Day dinner Sunday at the chapter house.

Smooch lines ran right and left when Cupid called twice at the Theta Xi house Sunday. Jack Habig of Marysville announced his engagement to Dorothy Taylor of Kansas City, Mo. The next announcement was made by Phil Garrison of Topeka and Delphine Cuzee of Ottawa.

Wearing a crested gold bracelet for being Ideal Pledge of Delta Delta Delta is Marjorie Dunne of Manhattan. Jocelyn Swartz, Salina, is wearing the sorority scholarship ring for having the highest average in her pledge class.

Smoke rings at the AGR house Sunday, announced the engagement of Jim Wood of Clifton to Mary Chapman of Berkeley, Calif. Jim is a junior in agriculture. Glen Ray also passed cigars announcing the birth of a baby girl.

Low Percentage

Less than two-tenths of one percent of the students at Kansas State College have a tendency to develop tuberculosis, and none of the cases is serious, Dr. R. R. Snook, director of student health at the College, has reported.

Final reports of X-rays required of every student have been received from the Kansas State Board of Health, Dr. Snook said.

For those who have a tendency to develop the disease, Dr. Snook recommended a substantial diet and more than the five or six hours sleep a night many college students average.

Commencement

Commencement ceremonies will be held outside this year May 30 at 8 p. m. weather permitting. Dean of Administration A. L. Pugsley announced yesterday.

Faculty and administrative personnel holding the rank of full professor or above are required to participate in the procession dressed in cap and gown. In the event of rain the outdoor ceremony will be cancelled, commencement will be held in the auditorium and only those faculty members sitting on the stage will be expected to attend, Dean Pugsley said.

Novelist Speaks on Campus Today

Writing problems will be discussed by Mrs. Virginia Sorensen, novelist, at 9 a. m. in K 211. She will also speak at Theta Sigma Phi's annual Matrix Table dinner this evening. The sponsoring group is an honorary and professional society for women journalists.

Classes in Advanced Composition and History and Ethics of Journalism will hear her talk this morning. The discussion is open to any others interested.

Mrs. Sorensen will be the house guest of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Davis this evening. Davis is assistant to President Eisenhower.

Davis says of Mrs. Sorensen, "Her work is characterized by a warmth and compassion which are rare indeed in the literature of these troubled times. Her sense of character and landscape seems to me remarkably vivid."

In addition to her latest novel, "The Neighbors," of which autographed copies will be available at the dinner, Mrs. Sorensen has written "On This Star" and "A Little Lower Than the Angels." The latter, a story of Mormon life, is based on the experiences of the author's early life in Utah, although she herself is not a Mormon.

Among other authors to be at the dinner this evening will be Velma Carson, a Theta Sigma alumna who is a free lance writer and author of short stories and novels.

The Atlantic Monthly carried one of this author's short stories. At present she is working on a novel concerning a Jewish family. The banquet will be held at the Wareham Hotel, 6:15 p. m.

Kansas State Is Host of Rifle Tournament

Teams from Kansas, Nebraska and Missouri will compete in smallbore rifle and pistol championship matches in the Military Science building Saturday and Sunday.

Sharpshooters from at least 10 states are expected to participate. The tournament will include master, expert and sharpshooter classes. Fourteen matches are scheduled.

Included will be a 10-man team match and a five-man team match. Firing will be from all positions. Winners of each match will receive silver plate medals. Official National Rifle Association rules will govern all matches.

Registration and firing will begin at 1 p. m. Saturday and continue until 11 p. m. Sunday firing will begin at 7:30 a. m. and close at 6 p. m.

The tournament is sponsored by the Manhattan Rifle and Pistol Club. Matches are open to all shooters. Only Kansas residents are eligible to receive trophies. Visitors are welcome, said Col. A. G. Hutchinson, head of the military science department.

K-State Rifle Team Noses Out Locals

Kansas State's ROTC rifle team defeated the Manhattan Rifle and Pistol Club Tuesday evening in a rifle match at the College range.

K-State students had a score of 1820 against the Manhattan team score of 1813. Five men on each team fired at the military science indoor firing range. Firing was done with only iron sights.

Students on the team were Walter C. Willis, Donald E. Lockwood, Vernon L. Fitch, Verlin A. Deutcher and Duane Stutz. Willis fired a high score of 378.

Alumni Newspaper Is 73 Tomorrow

Tomorrow the Kansas Industrialist, publication for K-State graduates, celebrates its 73rd birthday. The first issue was dated April 24, 1875 and it has been published continuously. It was changed in form from a magazine page to newspaper style October 22, 1910.

The Industrialist, a fall and spring semester weekly, is sent to everyone paying the $3 annual alumni dues. The $50 life membership may be paid by installments. Two issues of the paper are sent to all College alumni each year.

Reader service polls have been conducted and show that personal information about alumni are the most popular section of a graduate publication. The alumni office keeps the staff of the Industrialist informed on changes in occupation and addresses, marriages, births and deaths of alumni. The Industrialist prints news of the graduates even if the person isn't a member of the Alumni Association.

The 650 Kansas States receiving degrees from the College this spring are urged to become members of the Alumni Association by Kenney L. Ford, executive secretary. The best way to keep informed about the College after graduation is through reading the alumni paper, Mr. Ford says.

Winners Are Announced in Judging Contest

Winners of Kansas State's dairy products judging contest were announced this week. The contest was Saturday.

Junior and senior divisions competed for prizes in judging milk, butter, ice cream and cheese. The contests are planned and sponsored annually by the College Dairy Club.

In the senior division Robert D. Bailey was first in both milk and cheese judging. Clarence Stahlman won the senior division butter-judging contest; Harry Mudge, ice cream.

Junior division winners include Bernard Kastene, butter; Bill Furtick, cheese; Herbert Matey, milk; and Robert Watson, ice cream.

Mudge of the senior division and Matey, junior division, were first in judging all products.

Vet's Coop Exchange May Sell Out Soon

Graduation of veterans who are stockholders in the Veterans' Co-op Exchange grocery at Kansas State College may force sale of the business this summer, Earl Coder, member of the board of directors, announced today.

Few married students are enrolling now to replace those being graduated, so the board feels now is the best time to sell the business, Coder said.

Stockholders will vote early in May on a proposal to sell, he said. The commissary was built in 1946 sponsored by the Associated Veterans of World War II at the College. It received nationwide publicity at that time and was copied by veterans on campuses throughout the nation.

YW Cabinet Members Chosen for Next Year

New cabinet members of the YWCA for the coming year have been announced by the executive committee chairman, Betty Kieh, president of the YWCA.

They are: Coordinating Chairmen for: Christian Emphasis, Norma Lou Meyers; Social Responsibility, Martha Miller; Leadership Training program, Georgi Gress; World Relatedness, Edwina Frick.

Committee Chairmen for: Public Relations (Tiny-t Editor), Joan Argabright; Membership, Betty Harris; Social, Clarice Cooper; Work Projects, Jane Engle; Office Manager, Fran Davitt; College Sister, Pat Nelson; Radio, Pat Wentworth; Religious Federation Representative, Labetra Kugler; Speaker and Forums, Bea Blaha.

The new cabinet members were chosen on the basis of activities in the Y, for leadership ability and training, activities on the campus, and a grade average of C.

Service Fraternity Inducts Forty-Four

Alpha Phi Omega, national service fraternity, initiated 44 pledges in Anderson Hall Tuesday.

Newly elected officers were formally given office the same evening.

Initiates were: Robert Adams, John C. Baker Jr., Ted R. Bayer, Robert E. Bruce, Earl E. Burdick, Glen W. Byrd, Shirley Cheatum, Donn M. Demaree, David B. Dixon, Harold G. Dunham, Robert W. Edgar, Leighann E. Fairbairn, James O. Fassett, Mark Field, Donald C. Gray, Hazen D. Hess, John H. Hill, James G. Holman, Don A. Iiams, Robert L. Jansen, Allan A. Keeth.

Bernard E. Lehman, Jessie C. Mayfield, Robert E. McCaustland, John L. McKee, Everett E. Mulkey, Ed B. Nease, Donald D. Nyberg, Frederick H. Peterson, Leo W. Ream, Henri E. Rondeau, Hal Ross, Philip R. Rude, James A. Scriven, Lelbourn N. Steinhart, George E. Strunk, Charles Townner, Phil O'Neal True, Robert L. Turner, Francis W. Van Wormer, James R. Watkins, Clarence F. Watson, and Trevor Watson.

Seniors to Eat, Will See Movies, Dance May 5th

Plans have been completed for the Senior Day activities to be May 5, according to Dave Schirmer, chairman of the Senior Day committee. This year's Senior Day will replace the usual Senior Sneaks. Anyone graduating in May, August or next February is eligible to attend, Schirmer said.

Schirmer has outlined the following plans for the day. Wednesday morning will be used for "sleeping in" to get away from the grind of seven or eight o'clock classes. Then, any time between one and three-thirty, seniors may go to a free show at any of the four theatres through the courtesy of Dave Dallas, local theatre manager. The Senior Committee has asked that times of attendance be limited in order that the group activities could be better coordinated throughout the day. Following the movie a picnic with games and stunts for everybody will be held at Sunset Park. Hot food will be served with two helpings for everyone.

As a climax to the day, a Senior Dance will be held at the Community Building with Matt Betton and his orchestra furnishing the music.

Members of the Senior Day committee in addition to Schirmer include Dick Brooks, Barbara Bros, Mary Smith, Margaret Piley, Huck Heath and Bill Richards.

Tickets to cover the expenses of the event will be on sale to seniors in West Ag. Engineering, and Calvin Hall's next Monday, April 26, and in Anderson Hall Monday through Wednesday.

Journalism Groups Pledge; Elect Officers

The two journalism organizations on the campus have announced new pledges, and the women's group also has selected officers for next year.

Sigma Delta Chi, professional fraternity for men in journalism, pledged eight men in a ceremony Tuesday night. New pledges are: Pete Engelken, Neil Erdwein, Bill Krause, Paul Gwin, Max McRae, Earl Nieberger, Jim Orton, and Wayne Turner.

The national honorary and professional organization for women in journalism, Theta Sigma Phi, announces the pledging of Janice Addington and Joanne Blackwell. Formal pledging ceremonies will be held next week.

Barbara Holmes has been named to head the Theta Sigma for next year. Vice-president is Mary McIlvain, with Mae Weaver serving as secretary-treasurer, and Jeanette Harper as historian.

KEEP OFF THE GRASS

Campus Loses Beauty as Students Wear Paths

By Joe Henderson
"THE KANSAS STATE CAMPUS IS KNOWN AS ONE OF THE MOST BEAUTIFUL IN THE COUNTRY; HELP KEEP IT THAT WAY." There are still some of those signs on the campus, but at much more apparent are the paths and bare stretches of ground which grow bigger with each passing day. Students see the signs and say "Well, great, we have a beautiful campus," and then walk past the sign down the same paths, muttering to themselves, "So what, who cares?"

Every student should take pride in the appearance of the campus and be willing to take a few extra steps to keep it looking decent. In most cases if the actual distance saved could be measured it would be found that only three or four steps were saved by the shortcut which had cut across the grass. The best example of this is the path back of the math building, which is four to five feet wide and saves four steps.

Probably the worst eyesore on the campus is "pneumonia gulch," the area between the Student Union and the Engineering Building. Not only is there a path ten feet wide but there is also a gulch down the middle

Positions

Monday, April 20, at noon is the deadline for applications for student publication positions for this summer and next year.

Applications are being accepted for both editor and business manager of the summer school Collegian and for editor and business manager of the fall semester Collegian. Applications are also being accepted for editor and business manager for next year's Royal Purple.

Application blanks may be obtained in K105. Any student with a "C" average is eligible for these positions.

Dr. Page Urges Cut in U. S. Armament

"America must destroy the atomic bomb and cut down armament immediately if a war with Russia is to be averted," stated Dr. Kirby Page Monday afternoon before a small group in Rec Center. Dr. Page, author, social leader and evangelist of national fame, was brought to Manhattan by the YMCA, YWCA and the Institute of International Relations of Friends University in Wichita.

The speaker emphasized that the 15 billion annual budget set for armament in the U. S. must be sent to Russia in the form of machinery, in order to show the Russian people that we want to help them out of their "economic chaos."

Dr. Page went on to explain that the Russian foreign policy is so bad today that to allow it to become any worse would bring about "immediate and total war." In order that the Russians will "moderate" their foreign policy, said the speaker, "the U. S. must alter its foreign policy first."

Dr. Page also talked at the Congregational church Monday night. He was accompanied here by Guy T. Gebhardt of the Wichita Institute of International Relations.

Page is a nationally-known author, having written 18 books, several of which have been translated into as many as 10 different languages. His latest book is "Living Prayerfully."

Collegiate 4-H's Plan Picnic May 1

Hikes, musical games, a picnic dinner and vesper services around an evening campfire will be part of the schedule for Collegiate 4-H Club members on their annual picnic, May 1, according to Mary Schlager, picnic chairman. The club plans to go to Rock Springs Ranch, state 4-H Club camp south of Junction City.

"We plan to leave from the Student Union about 2:30 p. m.," Mary said. She emphasized that everything is free to Collegiate 4-H Club members and that all costs of the picnic will be paid from the club treasury. Transportation will be provided for all those wishing it. However, reservations should be turned into the 4-H Club office by April 28.

K-State Players Present 'Angel Street' Tonight 8:15

"Angel Street," a victorian thriller, will be presented by the Kansas State Players at 8:15 p. m. tonight and Saturday in the College auditorium. This will be the third and final major production for the 1947-48 season. Stage crews and seven cast members have been working on the play for the past five weeks.

"Man did come from ape," boast the Kansas State Players as they point to the "Missing Link," which is a bust used in a living room scene of "Angel Street."

"The 'Missing Link' has the front shoulders of Bob Kelly, the back shoulders of Mary Jo Staley, the head of Stage Craft Instructor Robert Richey—and it looks like a cross between ape and man," stuttered an anonymous stage crewman.

In reality "The Missing Link" was created by placing gauze over these parts of the players' body and molding them with masking tape. The parts were pasted together, painted, and the ape-man bust was the result.

The stage action takes place in a living room of a British mansion in the 1880's.

Authenticity has been the theme in preparing the stage scenery. The Players have given the set realistic touches by providing gas lights that really flicker. Bob Kelly, stage manager, said that everything used in the set is a genuine antique including a Bible that is used in the play. The Bible has the date 1874 written across the back of the front cover in faded ink. Janey Hackney, president of the players, commented that members of the audience are invited to inspect the stage after each performance.

Cast of Seven
The cast will be composed of seven students. Leading lady, Shirley Smith, was "Miss Butler County of 1947." Detective Marvin Altman, doing his fifth play here, has had dramatic experience with the Washington Square Dramatic Society of New York University before coming to K-State. Leading man Bill Anderson is a senior in radio dramas. Other members of the cast include Inez Strutt, Leona Muckenthaler, Carl Kish and George Nelson.

"Angel Street," called "Gas Light" in the movies, was written by Patrick Hamilton who also wrote "Rope's End" several decades ago. Past critics claim the story is filled with enough tense scenes to keep the audience on the edge of their seats throughout the play. The play shows in gruesome details how husbands can drive their wives insane.

Successful On Broadway
"Angel Street" has had a long and successful life in the U. S. beginning in 1941, it ran for nearly three years on Broadway. Since then it has appeared in nearly every large city throughout the country. Amateur rights for the play were released only last year and the Players will present it for the first time in this section of the Mid-West.

In seeing the play, Director Earl G. Hoover advises his audience not to forget what happens next if they are familiar with the story. But those who do not know the plot may rest assured that the author, Hamilton, does not resort to sliding panels or any of the other tricks usually employed in this type of show. The story doesn't need them, claims Hoover. It is living, real and very human, he added.

The book will be sent to Kansas City and bound after the printing is completed. It will be ready for distribution about May 20.

Two semi-trailer trucks transported the Royal Purple to Manhattan last year. Trucks will probably be used again this year, because the combined weight of the books will be 16 tons.

The Royal Purple has grown with the College. The first annual rolled off the press in 1891. Known then as the College Symposium, it contained 240 pages. Since then, such names as the Class Book, the Sledge, The Bell Clapper, The Banner, The College Annual, were used before the name Royal Purple was inaugurated. No matter what the name, it has been a book well worth having for college memories.

Gage Is Elected

Walter P. Gage Jr., senior in arts and sciences, was elected Young Republican vice-chairman for the first district at a meeting in Holton Saturday. Gage is also chairman of the Riley County Young Republicans.

Vet Deadline Near

The deadline for Public Law 346 trainees to cancel their 15 days' leave pay is April 30. Veterans who need all their eligibility to finish their training program must notify the Veterans Service office on or before that date that they wish to cancel their leave pay.

Baker to Emporia

Dr. H. L. Baker, head of the Department of Education and Psychology, will leave for Emporia Friday to attend the annual meeting of the Kansas Guidance Association.

En route, Dr. Baker will stop in Topeka to address a group of Topeka High School seniors Friday afternoon.

YM Conference Is at KU on April 30

A special conference for those interested in professional YMCA work will be held at Kansas University, April 30 and May 1. The conference is being held to acquaint students with the phases of professional work that are available in the YMCA.

Mr. Guy Schuytema, of George Williams College, will be one of the speakers. George Williams College is a YMCA school which offers degrees in Physical Education and general YMCA work.

Lodging will be furnished, and the only expenses will be transportation and meals. Anyone interested contact the YMCA of fice in the Student Union.

Students Give $100

A hundred dollar choir railing for the student chapel was pledged by Gamma Delta, St. Luke Lutheran Church student association, according to the alumni office.

The Right to Walk

These next few weeks are being used by the National Highway Safety Association for a campaign in the press and radio to reduce traffic fatalities on our highways.

Most campaigns of this sort seem to emphasize the dangers of careless driving, speeding, poor condition of cars and various other causes of accidents. But it seems that somewhere along the line the guilty parties or victims of many of our highway and city traffic accidents are being ignored. We refer to pedestrians.

Have pedestrians any rights? The annual toll of some 12,000 pedestrians killed in traffic accidents throughout the country seems to raise the question of whether an individual's right to stand and walk on his or her feet still exists in an increasingly motorized age.

The answer to that question can be found in current reports by safety specialists on the causes of fatal pedestrian accidents. Three out of every 4 pedestrians killed, we learn, were themselves violating a traffic law or committing an unsafe act, by jaywalking, crossing against signals, coming out from behind parked cars or doing something equally foolish. In other words, three out of four were presuming upon a right to walk when and where they wished, in utter defiance of safety considerations. Losing one's life is a very high price to pay for the right to walk carelessly.

In addition to the thousands of pedestrians killed, many thousands were injured, of whom a third were crippled for life, while unknown thousands escaped accident by "the skin of their teeth" and continued to take chances.

Society does not concede the right to be killed or maimed by one's own safety acts. There is a moral obligation upon us all to personally use every known safety means. For those who simply will not, here must be enforcement by law.

It has been clearly proved that the only way pedestrians and automobiles can exist together is by having strict regulations for the protection and control of both. By crossing traffic where directed, when directed and as directed, pedestrians will have given up the questionable privilege of matching wits with speeding autos. But let us hope they have gained the right to live.

Publicity Pays

Who says publicity doesn't pay off? Before Hospitality Days, Mae Weaver, assistant editor of The Collegian and also in the steering committee for the home exposition asked us what it would take to get a lot of publicity in The Collegian about Hospitality Days. We jestingly told Nearly completed returns give the anti-Communist factions a two-to-one lead over the Communist-led Popular Front in the Italian elections. "The Communists will not be admitted to Italy's new government," said Vice-Premier Giuseppe Saragat. Combined anti-Communist parties polled 64.1 per cent of the vote, the Popular front 30.5, and minor parties the rest. The Christian Democrats, with the aid of similar parties, will have undisputed control of both the Senate and the Chamber of Deputies. The election represents a victory for the Western powers.

President Truman demanded immediate action of his anti-inflation program "before it is too late." Our economy is in serious danger as a result of high prices and inflation, he said in an address before the American Society of Newspaper Editors. The success of our foreign policy depends to a large extent upon the stability of our domestic economy. The President last November recommended a ten-point program which included price, wage and rationing controls and curbs on credit.

"Back to the mines," was the word John L. Lewis passed on to soft coal workers following their fine for criminal contempt of court. Federal Judge Goldsborough fined Lewis $20,000, the United Mine Workers $1,400,000. "We can pay," said the U. M. W., one of the richest unions in the U. S. Judge Goldsborough will act today on the civil contempt charge still facing Lewis and his union. They have been found guilty of this charge because of their failure to comply with a court order to stop the strike. The government may recommend a jail sentence for Lewis if the miners have not returned to work by today. Many of the miners are awaiting the outcome of the case before returning to work.

The U. S. will provide troops for Palestine if other countries will join the project. The countries would be selected by the United Nations. Talk with certain governments over furnishing troops have been futile, according to Warren R. Austin, U. S. chief delegate to the U. N. Russia was not among the countries appealed to to furnish troops.

Men 19 through 25 would be drafted within 90 days after the President signed a new draft bill introduced by Representative Andrews of New York. The bill would require all men from 18 to 30 to register. It would make men from 19 to 25 eligible for actual service. No. G. I. benefits would be granted draftees.

Norman Thomas, socialist, said passage of a draft law would make war inevitable within ten years or more.

The Interstate Commerce Commission has granted railroads a temporary freight rate increase, the third since October. The increase will cost the public an estimated $300,000,000 a year. A 10 percent raise was granted in October, another 10 percent in January. The latest raise will be about 4 percent above the present rate. It will go into effect 10 days after notice to the public has been given.

Letters to the Editor

VOX STUDENS

(Editor's note: The opinions presented in this column may or may not express the opinion of The Collegian. The letters are presented here for student information.)

Dear Editor:

Here we are, the fiendish students of K-State who have been committing the unforgivable sin of "cutting across." Again the ancient cowpath situation is in the limelight. This letter is purposed to suggest a similar ancient solution to the problem, which has never been completely fulfilled. Thanks to a good campaign last year most of the longest and most vivid of these paths have been laid in cement.

The campus of Kansas State College is my hobby. I spend most of my spare time from studies in architecture to plan layouts for everything on the campus, from buildings to gateways, from landscape to entourage to sidewalks.

There are several ways to rid the campus of these eyesores. One is to carefully plan and plant enough bushes to cut them off. Another is to solidify the surface with a little cement in laying down carefully planned sidewalks.

It's old Yankee ingenuity to make things handier, so why not make things handier permanently, by installing a few well chosen sidewalks. After all, the campus is not only kept up as a garden spot of the nation but is there for the use of the people who work and study at KSC.

Now I don't propose that every cowpath and rabbit-track on the campus be paved with a four-lane highway, but there are a few places where concrete sidewalks are needed. Here are a few of the most important ones:

1. Anderson to Student Union, diagonally south of Kedzie.
2. Engineering to Math., at the southeast corner of Engineering.
3. Around the west side of Dickens.
4. Elliot Courts to Veterinary Hall.
5. Across the south end of Calvin.

There are many more paths, but looking to the future, after the barracks are gone most of the rest are quite clearly unnecessary, according to the current campus plan.

However, some of the above-mentioned walks serve future buildings. Such is the walk south of Kedzie which serves not only the student union of the present, but will serve a huge auditorium in the future when this building is at last a reality, the cowpath the Collegian discredits will be a "6-lane highway" filled with traffic all times of the day. So why not start getting the use of a walk which is necessary now, and which will some day surely be laid, now.

Surely some of these paths are vivid evidence of the need for more sidewalks, carefully planned, not barbed wire fences. Mowry C. Gilbert

West Presents Voice

Recital Monday, 8:15

Prof. J. Forrest West, baritone, chairman of the voice faculty of music, assisted by Prof. Charles Stratton, chairman of the piano faculty, will present a spring recital Monday night. The recital, open to the public, will be in the College auditorium at 8:15.

The "Toreador Song" from "Carmen" by Georges Bizet is one of Professor West's numbers. The three opening numbers include "Gai il sole dal Gange" by Alessandro Scarlatti, Cristoforo Gluck's "O del mio dolce ardor (Paride ed Elena)" and "Che fiero costume."

Other numbers include five songs from Schumann's cycle "Dichterliebe" (Poets Love), Opus 48; "Im wunder schoenen Monat Mai," "Aus meinen Thränen sprissen," "Die Rose, die Lilie," "Wenn ich in deine Augen seh'," and "Ich grolle nicht." The last group are English numbers, "On the Steppe" by Alexander Gretchaninoff, Hoyle Carpenter's "The Battle of Perryville" and "Hills" by Frank L. Forge.

Professor Stratton, accompanist for West, will play a group of three solos. Those will include Debussy's "Minstrels," "Gymnopedie No. 1" by Erik Satie, and "Imromptu in F minor, Op. 31" by Gabriel Faure.

U. S. Air Force Team to Test Aspirants

A traveling U. S. Air Force team will be on the Kansas State campus May 10 and 11 to interview anyone interested in pilot training and non-rated officer candidate positions in the Army Air Force, said Capt. A. F. Sollup, instructor in the air division of the College ROTC.

The interviewing team will be in Rec Center from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. both days. Any desiring to sign up for Aviation Cadet Training or for Officer Candidate Training will be able to determine at that time if they are qualified. The traveling teams give all the qualifying tests required for courses except the final physical examination.

Last in H. S. Series

Students of St. George High School will plan and present a program to be broadcast on KSAC from 4:30 to 5 p. m. Tuesday. It is the last in a series of 26 high school programs started in November.

The high school students plan their own programs, which usually includes music and drama.

tics, and a brief review of their school activities.

KSC plans to continue these programs next October.

Sixteen Cat Tracksters to Compete at Colorado

Injuries to four key men are casting a shadow over the Wildcat chances to cop the team title at the annual Colorado Relays Saturday in Boulder. Veteran track mentor Ward Haylett was none too optimistic over the Wildcat possibilities when he left yesterday for the mountain state.

Haylett took sixteen of his Cat tracksters to the Colorado meet. Among the group were Howard Shannon and Joe Thornton, both of whom are nursing slight injuries.

The Wildcats will be weakened by the absence of star distance man Bill Stuart and speedster Bill Bond. Both are sidelined with pulled muscles.

Although making the trip, Joe Thornton and Howard Shannon will be hampered by injuries. Thornton is nursing a pulled muscle and Howard Shannon has a strained back to favor. Both may compete in relay events but Shannon will not attempt the broad or high jumps.

King-size weight man, Rollin Prather, is to compete in the shotput and discus, and will be defending his title as Relays discus champion of last year.

The meet will find another of the Wildcat cage champs, Rick Harman, taking to the cinder paths for the first time in competition this season.

Coach Haylett stated before leaving that he planned to sacrifice strength in the individual events in order to gain power in the relays events. The relays are the only events which count points toward the team scores.

Kansas State will be among the favorites to take the meet after having finished in second place last year. According to Coach Haylett, Colorado is rated over Kansas State.

K-State Relay entrants: 440 yd. relay—Elliott, Kiser, McClay, Shannon or Wilcox. 880 yd. relay—Thomas, Kiser, Harman, McClay.

1 mile relay—Hansen, Lewis, Thomas, Harman.

Two mile relay—Vanhaerke, Miller, Leasure, Hildenbrand.

Medley relay—Wilcox (400), Miller (800), Hildenbrand (3-4 mile), Leasure (mile).

Shotput and discus—Prather. 120 yd. high hurdles—Elliott and Thornton.

Broadjump—Kiser. Javelin—Williams and Lewis.

A Good Trick

Track mentor Ward Haylett has a plan which he believes would net him a great decathlon man. The genial track pilot, who will coach the United States Decathlon entries for the Olympic Games wishes he could put his two thinned-aced, Rollin Prather and Howard Shannon, in a bag and shake them into one man. Prather is a top notch performer in the shotput, discus, and javelin, while Shannon is a fine dash man, hurdler, broad jumper, and high jumper. Neither of the two have ever attempted the mile run or the pole vault, which are also a part of the decathlon program.

Combining the talents of the two, Haylett could field a record breaking performer. However, he says he's willing to take them as they are and leave the combination trick to the magicians.

Dairy Bar Serves 1000 Each Day

By Mark Endsley

Let's go over to the Dairy Bar in the basement of West Ag and have a snack between classes. The Dairy Counter or Dairy Bar, as it is called, has a supply of ice cream, malts, milk, orangeade and brownies for that snack between classes. It handles all kinds of dairy products from the college herd. Because of heavy demand supplies occasionally have to be supplemented by outside sources.

Ardith Raybaurn, manager of the counter, says that over one thousand students frequent the counter each day. Raybaurn says that brownies are the most popular snack, with malts and ice cream following a close second.

The Dairy Counter customers are served by the full time efforts of the manager and the part time help of Jane Neff and Roberta Keas, both students.

The counter is open five days a week from 8:30 a. m. to 5 p. m. and on Saturdays from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m.

Injuries Cripple Cat Baseballers

The injury plague has practically smothered the Wildcat baseball team in recent outings.

First to feel the bite was pitching ace Jack Dean. The slim right hander missed the four game road trip to Nebraska and Iowa State because of illness.

At Nebraska, the injury jinx hit outfielder Gabe Bartley. The diminutive base stealing center-fielder has been sidelined since the opening tilt with the Cornhuskers.

Jack Bell, the Wildcats' top moundman was next to go down. Only Jack refused to go down. The big hurler sprained an ankle going into first base early in the second game with the Cyclones but refused to step off the hill. After having his ankle securely taped, the K-State fireballer hobbled back to the mound and proceeded to pitch the Cats to a 6 hit, 8 to 5 triumph.

Monday night, the jinx struck again when second baseman Dana Atkins twisted an ankle during spring football drills. The hard hitting keystone man doubles in football and baseball during the spring grid weeks.

Bob Hiltendorf will give the play by play description of the games and Fred Parris will speak between innings.

Air Games

The Kansas State-Kansas University baseball games next Monday and Tuesday will be broadcast by delayed transcription at 10:15 on the evenings of the games over KSAC in cooperation with WIBW.

Bob Hiltendorf will give the play by play description of the games and Fred Parris will speak between innings.

KS COPS FIRST LEAGUE WINS OVER CYCLONES

K-State's Wildcats chalked up their first Big Seven victories during the last two games of their road trip by defeating the Iowa State Cyclones 13 to 0 and 8 to 5.

The first game was all Duane Holder. The former Ban Johnson pitcher stalled the Cyclones to a very weak breeze. He struck out seven of the opponents and held them to a mere six hits.

Only once was he in trouble and a fast double play started by shortstop Dale Carr pulled him out of danger.

While Holder was handcuffing the Cyclones, the Wildcats were regaining their Nebraska-weakened batting eyes. Out of 12 hits made by Coach Lud Fiser's boys, five of them went for extra bases. Second baseman Dana Atkins was credited with two triples, while catcher Gabby Chew and Dale Carr banged out one each. Centerfielder Ted Grimes added a double to the total.

The second game was considerably different. It was a struggle from start to finish. The Iowa team was smoother and more determined than the day before.

In the fourth, the Wildcats made four runs on a double by first baseman Dave "Mumbles" Bremner, an error by the Cyclone shortstop, a walk to Al Sheriff and another error by the shortstop, which allowed pitcher Jack Bell to get safely on base.

In the fourth inning Bell sprained his ankle. He was rounding first base under full steam and tripped on the bag. He displayed real courage by going ahead and finishing the game with his ankle taped. When the tape was removed, the ankle began to swell immediately. During the trip back to Manhattan, the big pitcher could hardly get from the car to stretch.

The big inning for the Wildcats came in the eighth. In that inning, with Carr on base, left fielder Al Sheriff picked the ball he wanted and drove it past a 316 foot fence, and over the top of the football stadium behind the fence. It was a terrifically hard hit ball. Sheriff was rounding third by the time the Iowa outfielders recovered the ball. Clint Davis followed this blow with a single, was sacrificed to second, and he scored on an error which allowed Atkins to fly to third, later scoring on a fly to center.

The Wildcats still had their batting eyes, outthitting the Cyclones ten to six. Two of the Cyclones hits were homers, however, one by catcher Miller and the other by center fielder Knox. Bell walked one man and

Honor Cagers

The 1948 Big Seven basketball champions will be honored at halftime of an intrasquad football game in Memorial Stadium April 30, according to word from the athletic office.

Halftime ceremonies will include the presentation of gifts to players and coaches of K-State's greatest basketball team. The occasion will be the climaxing event of the "Gifts for Gardner and the Boys" drive conducted on the campus and in Manhattan following the cage season.

The football game has been arranged by grid boss Ralph Graham. A small admission fee will be charged.

struck out five, while Hogue and McLuen for the Cyclones walked six and struck out four.

K. U. HAWKERS INVADE K. STATE LAIR MONDAY

A rejuvenated team of Wildcats will tangle with the Kansas Jayhawks here Monday and Tuesday nights in the first home Big Seven baseball contests of the season.

Coach Lud Fiser's boys will be trying to maintain the winning stride which netted them two victories over the Iowa State Cyclones on the recent road trip.

The first conference tilt promises to provide plenty of excitement for Wildcat backers since the Jayhawks can field a team boasting a letterman in every position except second base. In that spot they have an ex-Ban Johnson player.

The season's record for the visitors is not too impressive. In conference play they have dropped two game to Missouri and in non-conference contests have split a two game series with Arkansas University. They have also beaten College of Emporia two times.

Several members of the co-champion Jayhawk football team will be along to try to make things miserable for the Wildcats. They include such stars as Dick Bertuzzi, halfback, in the outfield; Red Hogan, quarterback, also in the outfield and Bud French, halfback, at shortstop.

Basketball has contributed Bill Sapp, Guy Mabry, and Johnny Dewell to the Jayhawk hurling staff.

The power in the KU line-up is grouped in the three, four and five hitting positions. They are first baseman Lou Deluna, Red Hogan, and Bud French. Deluna was the team's leading hitter last season with a .304 average.

The men from M. Oread are coached this year by Russ Sehon, who is owned by the Pittsburgh Pirates. He faces the task of trying to improve the .228 average gathered by the team last season.

The starting infield for the Jayhawkers will probably see Deluna at first, Scott Kelley at second, French at short and Harold May at third. The outfield will be made up of Neil Shaw, a switch hitter. George Gorman and Hogan. Bertuzzi will be available for utility duty.

Ready for pitching duty are Dick Gilman, Guy Mabry, Johnny Dewell, Karl Ebel, Dick Fletcher, Lee Ethridge and Ralph Freed.

The Wildcats will field practically the same team used against the Cornhuskers and the Cyclones. Jack Dean will probably hurl the first game for K-State and Jack Bell the second, if his injured ankle will permit such duty.

Intramurals

Intramural softball rolled into the final week of play Monday with group championships hanging on the outcome of several games played this week.

Defending champion Tau Kappa Epsilon was virtually dropped from the running in their group as they fell before the last place Pi Kappa Alpha squad 7 to 5. The TKE loss left Sigma Alpha Epsilon securely lodged in first place in fraternity group I.

The undefeated Sigma Phi Epsilon team is currently leading Group II of the fraternity bracket.

Group III is all tied up with Farm House and Phi Kappa holding two victories each. Phi Delta Theta has the group IV hunting practically sewed up. They are unbeaten in three games.

Independent Races
Races in the independent sections are hot and fast. Group I leaders are the Vattier Vampires, undefeated in two starts.

Wesley Foundation heads group II with a two and one record, while P.E.M. is currently topping group III on the strength of two wins against a single loss.

Group IV leaders are the Gutterbuns with two victories against no defeats.

The Boozdoes and the Deacons head the list of competitors in group V of the independent bracket. Each has a two won and none lost record.

Results of games played Monday: Vattier Vampires 7, Y. M. C. A. 5; Dark Horses 7, Brown County All Stars 3; P. E. M. 5, Poultry Club 1; Wesley Foundation 6, Black Cats 3; Collegiate 4-H 1; West Stadium 0 forfeit; George's Hall 5, Barracks No. 6, 4.

Tuesday's results: Sigma Alpha Epsilon 13, Acacia 3; Delta Sigma Phi 18, Chi Omega 7; Deacons 3, Set-Ups 1; Tau Kappa Epsilon 5, Pi Kappa Alpha 7; Sigma Phi Nothing 10, Root's Rangers 3; Ag. Ed. Club 14, Yanks 1.

SOCIETY

AT STATE

April showers! For once they are welcome. Spring rains may dampen picnics, but not the numerous other social activities scheduled at K-State this week-end. Both tonight and Saturday "Angel Street" is being presented by K-State Players at 8:15 in the auditorium. Also tonight is the Matrix Table at 6:15 at the Wareham. The Block and Bridle club is having its annual spring dance in Recreation Center.

Saturday night brings Van Zile's Pink and Silver Ball at the Hall. Phi Delta Theta is having its spring formal at the Avalon. The Community House will be the scene of the Alpha Tau Omega formal, preceded by a dinner at the Wareham.

Announcement has been made of the engagement of Idamae Hilton of Keats to Robert Gilmore of Burns. Idamae is employed in the shop practice department. Robert is a sophomore in industrial arts.

In the "house of Ring Ching" Pi Beta Phi members and their dates held their annual spring dinner and dance Saturday at the Country Club. Couples danced to the music of Matt Betton's band 'neath a ceiling of colorful Chinese lanterns. The Chinese theme was carried out in yellow, orange and black with a giant Buddha and a mural of a dragon. In the receiving line were: Nadine Smith, Charles Green, Dean Helen Moore, Mrs. R. W. Tury, Mr. and Mrs. David Luper and Mr. and Mrs. D. G. Moss.

Latest initiates into Farm House include: Robert Stoltenberg, Clifford Houghton, Max Deets, William Parker, Donald Hopkins and John Wilk.

Cigars at the Sig Ep house told of a new arrival at the Fritz Knorr home.

Members of Tramlai and their dates will have a picnic Sunday evening in Sunset.

Waltheim Hall had an exchange dinner with Van Zile Hall Wednesday evening.

Dean Rodney W. Babcock was a dinner guest of Delta Delta Delta sorority Wednesday evening.

Pe Sin Su had her first birthday party in America Wednesday evening at the Margaret Ahlborn Lodge.

She is a graduate student from Nanking. Guests included foreign students in home economics and Miss Josephine Kremer.

Members of Alpha Xi Delta entertained the Mothers' Club at the chapter house last night.

Harriette Otwell is wearing the Alpha Xi scholarship ring for making the highest grades in her pledge class. Louise Palmer was chosen as the ideal pledge.

Coads from Clark's Gables had a picnic Monday evening at Sunset Park.

Latest initiates into Alpha Delta Theta, national medical technician's sorority include: Dorothy Berry, Eileen Broberg, Velma Brumm, Donna Coon, Mary Martha Downey, Lois Folek, Frances Lynn Mahar, Norma Lou Meyers, Betty Sue Payne, Rose Shumaker, Harriett Taylor and Betty Sue Wilson.

Newly elected officers are: President, Mickey Prather; vice president, Donna Kahl; Secretary, Mary Fran Zink; Treasurer, Arlene Ableson; Program Chairman, Norma Lou Meyers; Social Chairman, Arvilla Johnson and Historian, Donna Coon.

In an election held Wednesday night the following officers were chosen to serve for Delta Sigma Phi. Forrester Musson, president; Russ Youmans, vice-president; Carl Morgan, secretary; John Thatcher, sergeant-at-arms; Kenneth Walker, pledge master; Dick Caffrey, social chairman; Lefe Williams, rush chairman; Don Sheats, house manager; Rex Kruse, commissary manager; Paul Mohr, scholastic chairman; Joe Pohlman, inter-fraternity council representative; Bill Bisbee, athletic manager.

Pep Group Initiates Twenty-Two Members

Wampus Cats, men's pep organization, recently initiated 22 men. "The new members," according to Gordon Herr, president, "really have the lung power; furthermore its the best group initiated in years."

First KSC Male Gets Dietetics Internship

The first man in the history of Kansas State College to receive an appointment to a dietetics internship is among seven students who will begin interning after spring semester graduation.

He is James Denia, who will train at Colorado State Hospital, Pueblo, Colo. A World War II veteran, Denia is from Independence, Mo. He and his family live in a trailer camp.

All students who applied received appointments. After one year internship they will be eligible for membership in the American Dietetic Association.

Summer Training for ROTC Cadets

As part of their advance ROTC training, 60 students will attend training camps this summer, the military science department has disclosed.

Summer camp training is one of the requirements for successful completion of the advance course in ROTC before students are commissioned in the Officers' Reserve Corps.

Artillery and infantry students will go to Fort Riley and signal corps students to Fort Monmouth, N. J., from June 19 to July 31. Air force students will go to Lowry Field, Colo., from June 21 to August 2.

Tau Delta Phi Seek Chapter at K-State

Tau Delta Phi, national Jewish fraternity, has been petitioned by 19 K-State men who are seeking to start a chapter here. The group has already formed a Pyramid Club, a unit which is a pledge group to the national fraternity.

Representatives of the club will appear before the Inter-Fraternity Council and Faculty Council next week to ask for campus approval of the chapter. Tau Delta Phi was founded in 1903 at City College of New York, and now has 19 chapters in the United States and Canada.

Officers of the Pyramid Club at KSC are Herb Langer, consul; Bernard Lehman, vice consul; and Lew Abrams, secretary-treasurer.

Basketball Squad Honored at Topeka

The Big Seven basketball winners were honored at the annual K-State Alumni dinner in Topeka given by the Shawnee County Chapter last Monday.

A shaving kit with the player's name and Big Seven champion inscribed in gold letters was presented to each team member.

Speeches were given during the dinner. "K-State in '48" was the topic of President M. S. Eisenhower's talk and Governor Frank Carlson spoke on "State House Salutations."

Other talks were "The Prowling Cats," Thurlio McCrady; "Gridiron Goals," Ralph Graham and "The Cinderella Kids," Jack Gardner.

Coach Gardner introduced the team members to the alumni in his talk.

Students Can Apply for Advanced ROTC

Applications for the advanced course in ROTC are now being accepted in room 107, Military Science building, Colonel A. G. Hutchinson, head of the military science department, has announced.

Students who have previously completed the basic course at Kansas State or any other college, or with a minimum of a year in any branch of the armed services are eligible for the advanced course, Colonel Hutchinson said.

Students applying before

May 15 will learn of their acceptance before the end of the semester.

Aeronautics Students Use Planes for First Time

By Bill Cochran

Kansas State College students studying Aeronautics, an option of mechanic engineering, are now using real airplanes in their classwork.

Airplanes, a glider and a link-trainer are among the equipment in the new aeronautics laboratory being used for the first time this semester.

The lab is in the southwest corner of the field north of West Ag. Approximately 60 by 150 feet, the former barracks was brought from Camp Crowder near Joplin, Missouri.

Half of the barracks has a concrete floor for a hangar. In the other half are two recitation rooms, an aeronautical laboratory, a storage room, two offices and a shop for wood and metal work.

A P-51 "Mustang" (photographic version) and a P-59 (double jet) are parked outside the hangar. Inside the hangar are a TG3A (two-place training glider) with its trailer, nine airplane engines, twelve different types of propellers and wings and controls for wooden and metal planes.

Other equipment includes a link-trainer, navy "mark" navigation trainer wheel mounted and propelled by four storage batteries. It will be used to supplement the link-trainer. A 24-cylinder experimental Japanese engine which is a pair of V-12 engines fastened together with a 2,000 horsepower motor.

The College installed the barracks, fluorescent lights, water, heating plant, and sewer system at a cost of $15,000. The aeronautics laboratory was built better than most of the temporary barracks on the campus and probably will remain in active use for a longer period of time, said R. F. Gingrich, superintendent of building and repair.

The barracks officially opened February 1 and was originally built for aeronautical use. Lately the ROTC has been using the hangar during bad weather for drill purposes.

Carleton New Head of Block and Bridle

Tom Carleton was elected president of Block and Bridle Club, organization for students in animal husbandry this week.

Other officers elected for the coming year are: Norman Minks, vice president; Clinton Jacobs, secretary; Bill Edwards, corresponding secretary; Robert Kuhn, treasurer, and Miles McKee, marshal.

Jim Collier is retiring president.

Kansas FFA's Convention Ends Today on Campus

Blue-jacketed Future Farmers of Kansas, 1,200 strong, are on the campus today for the second and final day of vocational agriculture judging and farm mechanics contests and also the 20th annual convention of the Kansas FFA Association.

With the boys are their vocational agriculture instructors and coaches, most of whom are Kansas State graduates.

Judging contests were held yesterday and are continuing today. The state FFA public speaking contest will begin this morning at 8 a. m. with 25 Future Farmers entered.

Ninety-five candidates were elected and presented State Farmer degrees yesterday. This year's class is the largest to be awarded the degree in any one year since the Kansas Association was organized in 1928. Many of the recipients of the degree have brothers or sisters attending Kansas State College.

Successful candidates honored with the award, the highest that can be given by a state association, included Jack Robbins, Altamont; Thaine L. Hunt, Arkansas City; Elmer Planalto, Atwood; Edward L. Pachta, Bob L. Rieck and Don K. Bellville, Carleton; Dale C. Gignard, John E. Gignard and D. Max Margrove, Ellingham; Bill Baker, Robert Maddux and Duane Taylor, El Dorado; Kenneth Doughton, Frank Davis, Jr., Donald DeLong and Lloyd Farr, Emporia; Harlan Johnson, Bob Jones, Frankfort; Kenneth Lohr, Pete Walker, Goodland; Bill Blanchard, Harper; Harold Grandon, Merle D. Oldenstedt, Haven; Charles Worcester, Joe Worcester, Bill City, Kenneth R. King, Herbert Schultz, Holton; Ivan D. Molt, Horton; J. D. Rector, Bill Simmons, Independence.

Don D. Crosson, Glovee E. Kindall, Goering, Moundridge; Mervin W. Deschner, Bill Gals, Robert Knott, Newton; Bert Falley, Seaman High; North Topeka; Raymond Walker, Horton; Ray D. Wilcox, Oberlin; Dale K. Allen, Bob Plank, Leon Stromire, James E. Remer, LeMayne Zimmerman, Olathe.

Evans D. Lewelling, Soldier; Richard H. Newell, Stafford; Keith McComb, Lawrence; Doyle Hargadine, Jimmie Yowell, McPherson; Lucky Lillqvist, Maurice McEndree, Medford; Francis Campbell, Carl A. Richard, Jr., Miltonvale.

Retiring state FFA officers are Harland Fritchler, Haven, president; Robert Greve, Harper, vice-president; James Boucek, Ottawa, secretary; LeRoy Spieker, Simpson, reporter; Eugene Brinkman, Coffeyville, treasurer.

E Ag Gets New Roof

Reroofing of East Waters Hall will start soon, R. F. Gilling, superintendent of building and repair said yesterday. The contractor who will do the work arrived on the campus Monday. All of the building except the meats laboratory will get a new roof.

Inter Frat Sing

Date of the annual inter-fraternity sing will be May 11, according to Bob Reed and Barbara Hamilton, co-chairmen of the sing committee. The sing will be in the quadrangle between Nichols Gymnasium and Auditorium.

Greek organizations must enter the contest on or before May 5. Entries will not be accepted after this date.

Judges for the song fest have not been chosen.

To Have Television Show at Meeting

A television demonstration will be given by the Kansas State College Student Branch of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers at a dinner and meeting in the college cafeteria on Friday evening. Approximately 25 members of the Kansas City branch of A. I. E. E. will be guests of the local group at the meeting.

Shirley Smith and Bill Anderson, members of the Kansas State Players, will present several dramatic skits for the television demonstration under the direction of Prof. Earl G. Hoover.

Guest speaker of the evening will be Mr. J. W. B. Forrester, vice-president of the Kansas City Power and Light company. His subject will be "Labor Management Relations."

No Angelic Characters In Play, 'Angel Street'

By Max Hollinger
(Collegian Drama Critic)

There were no angels in "Angel Street," presented by the Kansas State Players in the Auditorium last Friday and Saturday evenings. All of the characters, except the housekeeper, a withered, middle-aged woman, contemplated murder, indiscreet kissing or drinking Scotch.

During act one, the audience seemed unwilling to allow the Players to create the atmosphere that author Patrick Hamilton intended. The act did expose the story to all but Mrs. Manningham, who found it impossible to believe that her husband was really a black-hearted scoundrel.

Murderer Anderson
Bill Anderson, as Mr. Manningham, was as evil in appearance as he was in mind. He had killed one woman before the play started. Then he spent a good bit of time on stage in an attempt to drive his present wife crazy in order to obtain some valuable jewels.

The murderer, Mr. Manningham, was almost reminiscent of the old fashioned melodrama at which the audience would "boo" the villain.

Poor Mrs. Manningham, played by Shirley Smith, was so delicate and frail that it seemed entirely possible that she might be weak in mind. Miss Smith performed a difficult role neatly. Incidentally, she held the razor so close to the neck of her husband in act

Humor Mag Is on Sale Thursday

The annual Engineers' Alloy and the long-awaited distribution of "Intake and Exhaust," engineer humor magazine, will be Thursday. Raymond Schneider, Intake and Exhaust editor, announced yesterday.

Engineers' activities for the day will start Thursday at 4 p. m. in the Auditorium. Officers for engineering council for the coming year will be nominated and the constitution will be revised at the meeting.

Pledges of Steel Ring, honorary engineering fraternity, will begin selling copies of Intake and Exhaust to engineering students after the meeting.

At 7:30 p. m. the Alloy will get under way with Jack "Bud" Jones serving as master of ceremonies. "Women are welcome," Schneider said, "but if they do, we are going to insist they sit on the stage." Door prizes will be given. Attempts are being made to get the new members of the coaching staff to drop in for instructions," Schneider disclosed.

Sale of Intake Exhaust will go on sale to the general public after the Alloy. "The content is as good as ever," Schneider remarked. "It has been cleaned up to appease proposals of the policy committee but it is still essentially the same snappy Intake and Exhaust." Only 3,000 copies will be sold.

No Angelic Characters In Play, 'Angel Street'

III that it made one's blood run cold.

Detective Altman
Playing a Scotch-drinking detective, Marvin Altman acted his part with confidence that comes only with experience. He also added some of the much-needed comic touches. Although doing an expert job of holding the stage, he was given competition by Inez Strutt, as the naughty maid, Nancy. To see her on stage one would think that she had spent her entire life either preparing for just that type of part or to steal someone else's man (or any man for that matter).

Leona Muckenthaler made the most of her brief appearances as the housekeeper. She was properly not scared for herself but for her mistress. The speechless policeman appeared realistic enough to have been sent to the Players directly from Scotland Yard.

Only One Set
The Players used only one set for the entire play. The stage setting had nicely broken lines and shadowing that was pleasing to the eye, yet added emphasis to the dramatic situation.

The play, as a whole, was based on the little things such as missing bills or a nearly forgotten hat. It is the little things that are hard to do and yet they count the most. Working with these properties and human emotions, the Players and director Earl G. Hoover, did a pleasing bit of work in presenting "Angel Street."

K-State Players to Get 'Oscar'

Seven miniature statuettes, similar to Hollywood's Oscars, will be awarded to members of the Kansas State Players for outstanding contributions to the organization during this year, according to Bob Kelly, chairman of a committee which drew up plans for the award system.

The Oscars will be awarded both for acting and backstage work, Kelly said. Two men and two women will receive the awards for acting, and one each for backstage work. The other Oscar will be "at large," to be awarded to whomever three-fourths of the Players decide. All active members of the Kansas State Players will vote on the Oscars at a meeting May 11 in G206.

Presentation of the Oscars will be May 14 in the theater in Education Hall. Dale Berger, former member of the Players and now director of the Topeka Civic Theater, will present the awards. Other plans for the program include a one-act play and movies of the Players' first two productions this year, Twelfth Night and Pygmalion. These movies were taken by Gene Moeller.

The Oscars are being made this week by Winston Schmidt and Ralph Rickles. These students made the Indians used in last year's play, Ten Little Indians.

The committee set up to administer the award system is Bob Kelly, chairman; Paul Kuckelman, Louise Helm, Lucille Lambert and Bill Scott.

Davis to Address UNESCO Meeting

Kenneth S. Davis, author and assistant to President Milton S. Eisenhower, will talk on "Communism, Americanism and Civil Liberty" at the UNESCO meeting Thursday in W101.

A comparison of methods and philosophy between communism and democracy will be presented by the author of "The Years of the Pilgrimage." He will explain the controls that people of the United States are subjected to in their press.

Fall semester officers will be elected at the meeting. Candidates for deputy chairman are Stephen Sage and Edwina Frick; for recording secretary, Arvilla Johnson and Joanne Katrup; for corresponding secretary, Mildred Lubroth and Pat Nelson; for public relations, Rose Mary Owens and Jim McCausland; for treasurer, Dick Chase, Sergio Cuculiza and Don Jackson; for survey of information, Bob Chapin and Howard Wood.

Man O'War's Relative Bought by K-State

Two thoroughbred mares, one a great granddaughter of Man O' War, have been obtained through Army Surplus by Kansas State, A. D. Weber, animal husbandry department head at the College, has announced.

The mares, Reno Revere and Agnolia, will be used in class instruction and for breeding purposes, Weber said. Agnolia is the great granddaughter of Man O' War and To Broom Stick. Reno Revere's great grandmother was Ullinus. They were raised at Army Remount Stations in Fort Royal Va., and Fort Reno, Okla.

H.E. Business Coeds to Chicago Field Day

Kansas State's student representatives at the "Home Economics in Business Field Day" in Chicago, Friday and Saturday, will be Patricia Redman, Maurine Johnson, and June Stensen. Faculty representatives will be Miss Elsie Miller of the foods department and Miss Esther Cornany of the clothing department. June is the representative form the foods department. Maurine from household management, and Patricia from clothing and textiles.

Miss Miller will speak Friday night at a faculty panel discussion. She was Kansas State's only representative last year.

Wants Parking Space

Dr. A. D. Weber, head of the department of animal husbandry, requests that students and staff members do not use the parking lots at the north end of the campus Saturday.

"We hope to have parking lots on the north end of the campus available for the large number of visitors expected for Feeders' Day Saturday, Doctor Weber explained.

K-Staters to Head Kansas 'Y' Groups

The Kansas Conference of the YM and W last week-end elected Bob Weatherbie of Kansas State as co-chairman of the conference for next year. Weatherbie and Betty Vandermissen from KU will be responsible for the annual conference next year which embraces thirty-eight colleges in Kansas.

Bill West, YM executive secretary, was elected faculty sponsor for the state YM, and Ruth Moo of Pittsburg State Teachers College was elected faculty sponsor for the YWCA.

Traveler to Show Movies Wednesday

R. A. Kirkpatrick, traveler and lecturer, will present an illustrated travelogue with colored movies in the College auditorium Wednesday at 7 p. m., according to Eric Tebow of the Institute of Citizenship.

Pictures of the Utah-Arizona National Park, including scenes of Bryon Park Bruce Canyon, Grand Canyon and the Cedar Breaks National monument, will be shown.

Kirkpatrick has been conducting tours of scenic and recreational areas in the United States for 25 years and is a well-known authority on travel and wildlife. He will speak before several classes Wednesday before the lecture is given. The public is invited to attend. Tebow said.

Transferring Vets Need Certificates

Veterans attending Kansas State College must have a supplemental certificate in their possession before enrolling in another training institution, according to a new Veterans Administration regulation, announced Orval Ebberts, veterans service officer.

This regulation applies to veterans graduating from K-State who wish to take additional training under the GI Bill. It also applies to veterans who interrupt their training before graduation and wish to continue training under the GI Bill at another institution. Application for supplemental certificates should be completed by the institution in which the veteran is training. Veterans at the College may make application for these certificates at the Veterans Service Office, room 3 in Anderson Hall.

Novelist Speaks at Matrix Table

"The purpose of fiction is to give form to the chaos of experience," said Virginia Sorensen Friday evening at Theta Sigma Phi's Matrix Table. The novelist was addressing writers, town and college women at the annual formal banquet held in the Wareham Hotel's Green Room.

Nearly one hundred-fifty persons listened to the speaker's anecdotes about her search for background material for her novels. Mrs. Sorensen, mother of two children, is the author of "A Little Lower Than the Angels," "On This Star," and "The Neighbors."

Mrs. Sorensen related her experiences in writing "the five novels in my life." One of her great lessons, she said, was that good writing comes best from one's own cultural background.

Earlier in the evening, Helen Hostetter, faculty sponsor of Theta Sigma Phi, honorary and professional organization for women journalists, introduced the Kansas editors and writers who were special guests for the evening.

Barbara Holmes, president of Kansas State's chapter of Theta Sigma Phi, was mistress of ceremonies. The speaker was introduced by Mae Weaver. Prominent townswomen invited to the dinner were introduced by Jeannette Harper. Students honored at the dinner were introduced by Mary McIlvain. Members of the Radio Club, the Kansas State Players, Omicron Nu, honorary home economics organization, and Mortar Board, honorary organization for senior women, were introduced.

Two Kansas University Theta Sigs were special guests. They were Lois Lauer and Ann Murphy.

The history of the organization was related by Doris Brewer, former president of the chapter. Dorothy McGeorge revealed the significance of the Theta Sig pin, and Marilyn Davis told the purpose of the Matrix Table. June Duphorne related the ups and downs of the local chapter since its founding in 1919.

Latest Club

The 124th student organization on the campus has been recognized officially by A. Thornton Edwards, board head of the College Organization Control Board.

It is the History and Government Club, Neil B. Thompson, Manhattan, is the club's president. Profs. C. M. Correll and A. B. Sageser will sponsor the new group.

Sigma Xi Takes

19 New Members

A hundred and thirty-five members and guests attended the 21st annual initiation and banquet on April 19 for the College chapter of Sigma Xi, honorary society for persons who have distinguished themselves in the field of science.

Nineteen members and two associates were initiated in a brief ceremony conducted by Dr. J. A. Shellenberger, president.

Dr. Perry W. Wilson, University of Wisconsin, spoke following the banquet. His talk was accompanied by colored slides showing apparatus and graphic statistical analyses employed in his investigations in biological nitrogen fixation at Wisconsin.

The initiates are:

William W. O'Donnell, cereal chemistry, products control and research manager of Converted Rice, Inc., in Texas; Suka D. Nujhawan, soils, Punjab government, India; Fred L. Patterson, agronomy pathology, research assistant at Wisconsin University; Paul L. Brown, soil scientist, KSC; Lowell H. Penny, plant breeding, Fort Hays Agricultural Experiment Station.

Harold E. Jones, agronomy, KSC; Ralph A. Young, agronomy, KSC; Paul M. Young, mathematics, KSC; Floyd W. Smith, soil science, KSC; Lester L. Newkirk, physics, KSC; Clarence S. Clay, physics, KSC; Brinton M. Dirks, cereal chemistry, KSC; Sidney T. Parker, mathematics, KSC; Gabe A. Sellers, engineering metallurgy and industrial engineering, KSC; John D. McNeal, engineering geology, Kansas regional geologist.

Seward E. Horner, applied geology, Kansas State Highway Commission, chief geologist; Leland S. Hobson, industrial engineering, KSC; Helen I. Peterson, physics, KSC; Joseph Lundholm, Jr., physics-electronics, KSC.

The two associates are: Alven W. Neff, biochemistry, KSC; Harold E. Scheid, biochemistry, KSC.

College Flag Is Finished

More than a year's work is represented in the College flag which was completed last week by Mrs. Milton S. Eisenhower.

The flag, which is six by three and one-half feet, has white lettering applied on a purple background. The College seal, which was woven by Mrs. Eisenhower, is in the right hand corner of the flag. It was designed by Margaret Lewis McMahon and Dorothy Wilson Wertz, former art students at Kansas State. John F. Helm, of the architecture department supervised the plans.

Inspiration for the flag came out of a hobby of Mrs. Eisenhower's. She has woven and framed the state flower of each state in which she and President Eisenhower have lived. The Kansas sunflower which hangs in the living room of the Eisenhower home was the inspiration for the College flag.

The letters for the flag were cut from white nylon and it took nearly two hours to put each of them on. The greatest difficulty was getting the letters even, according to Mrs. Eisenhower.

After a glass case has been made for the flag it will hang in Recreation Center. Upon completion of the new Student Union Building it will be moved there.

Schulz to Speak

Dr. Lois Schultz, head of child welfare and eugenics department, will speak at the Mariners' 81 Club at the Presbyterian Church Wednesday at eight o'clock. Dr. Schultz' subject will be, "How Old Is Your Child?"

Diplomat to Speak Tomorrow at 9:30

Ruth Bryan Owen Rohde, American diplomat and world citizen, will discuss current world problems at an all-College Assembly at 9:30 a. m. Wednesday.

Mrs. Rohde is the daughter of the late William Jennings Bryan, former congressman and well-known political leader from Nebraska. She spent several years in Washington as a child with her father. Her mother studied law so she could work with her husband.

Mrs. Rohde served as the American minister to Denmark for three years. She began her political career as congresswoman from Florida. While in Congress she had as her guests in the capital, a boy and girl from each county she represented. She explained to them the functions of our government.

Previously Mrs. Rohde was married to Major Owen of the English army and lived in the West Indies, England and Egypt.

She was remarried several years after her husband's death to Capt. Borge Rohde, a mem-

General 'Ike' Here

Last Weekend

General Dwight D. Eisenhower left Manhattan yesterday morning after a visit last weekend with President Milton S. Eisenhower. The general spent Saturday night here and was joined Sunday morning by Governor Frank Carlson. The three flew to Wichita Sunday morning to attend a state convention of the Kansas Junior Chamber of Commerce. General Eisenhower was guest speaker.

The Eisenhowers returned to Manhattan Sunday evening and the general left yesterday on a non-stop flight to Washington, D. C. He was accompanied by his aide, Major Craig Cannon.

The gift presented to the College by the class of 1948 will be a glass-enclosed all-weather bulletin board to be located along the walk inside the Thompson Hall entrance to the campus. The gift announcement was made by Irvine Gandee, senior class president. The location has been approved by the campus planning committee.

The cost of the project, estimated at $300, will be paid from assessments levied on each senior graduated in 1948, and the names of all who contributed will be placed in a sealed tube behind the cornerstone.

Gandee said that assessments may be paid to the senior class treasurer through the College post office or today and tomorrow at the Senior Day ticket booth in Anderson Hall. "Tickets for Senior Day are going fast," Gandee said.

Railroad Lecturer to Speak April 28

R. A. Kirkpatrick, traveling lecturer for a large railroad concern, will give three lectures at the College on April 28. Kirkpatrick will speak first at 10 a. m. before the Labor Economics class on "Labor and Management Cooperation." At 4 p. m. he will address a business administration class on "Problems of the Railroad Industry." The final lecture will be at 7:30 p. m. in the auditorium where he will lecture on "The Utah-Arizona National Parks." His talk will be accompanied by colored slides.

Kirkpatrick's appearance will be made in the course of his 1947-48 lecture tour. He also is the president of the National Americanism Congress.

Wasted Talents

Tomorrow, another distinguished, nationally-known speaker will appear on the campus to address a small group of students in the College Auditorium. Not more than a third of the student body will be able to hear the address even if they wanted to, and if previous assemblies are any indication, considerably less will actually attend.

The Assembly Committee has sponsored many outstanding and capable speakers who have discussed a wide variety of timely, interesting and educational subjects. But their efforts have been minimized by a small auditorium and lack of student interest.

The speakers make their address, possibly meet with a small interested group or two and depart from the campus, some never come back again.

It seems to us that the thoughts and opinions of these speakers are being wasted. A great service has been rendered the College by acquiring these speakers but it shouldn't stop just there. A permanent record should be made of these speeches. These records would be valuable for several reasons.

First, which we of the press are naturally interested in, is that it would protect the speaker and the press from misquotes.

Second, the talks are usually made with a life's work as the background for the topic. It is impossible for subject matter of this kind to be grasped in an hour's assembly.

Third, the material would be available for reference or classroom work.

Fourth, speakers on controversial issues appearing on the campus at different times could be checked against each other to get the full benefit of their discussions.

These records could be made either by tape recording (as some are now), taken in shorthand by some competent secretary and immediately typed up and mimeographed, or both.

These records could be filed in the College Library or with the Assembly Committee and would be available to any interested person or group.

It is truly a waste of talent when these speakers, who represent a comprehensive cross-section of opinion, are allowed to leave the campus, without leaving more of a permanent record other than talking to a partly-filled auditorium—an auditorium that is partly filled by some groups who come only because they have to and who sleep or study throughout the talk.

Correction

There were several mistakes in the recent list of curriculum changes for the summer term, Dean A. L. Pugsley has informed us.

Twenty-eight courses have been dropped from the summer school schedule that were originally listed in the catalogue, instead of two.

A course that will be given this summer that was not listed is Unit Operations I, Recitation, line number 221 in the chemical engineering department.

In the shop practice department, Woodwork III, line number 131 instead of Woodwork II will be given.

Flight Instruction I, number 125 has been dropped instead of number 124.

MY TIME RAN OUT
 I am the clock on the dashboard of Rodney Priddy's car and this is a true story as I have ever told to anyone. It is about Rodney, his girlfriends, and one girlfriend in particular. Rodney will not like for me to tell this story, but the friendship between Rod and me is forever over. I got so weary and rundown (he seldom wound me) of his talk and actions, and one night on Bluemont Hill, I sounded off. The next day, Rodney sold me, along with the cylinders, tires, and the rest of his car.

Here's my story told in exact dialogue:
 Rod: (on a date with Cherie; the two just saw a show) Wonderful night, isn't it Cherie?
 Let's drive up on Bluemont Hill, and watch the stars. They're so big and bright tonight.

Cherie: Well, —o.k.
 Rod: Here we are. What a beautiful view.

Cherie: It's lovely, Rod.
 Rod: Not as lovely as you, Cherie. The twinkle of the stars can't match the brilliant sparkle of your eyes, and the moonlight is only beautiful because it is shining on your lovely hair.

Cherie: You're so sweet, Rod. The things you say are so beautiful.
 Rod: You're beautiful, Cherie. The most beautiful girl I've ever known. I'm the luckiest guy in the world to be with someone like you. Every other girl I've known seems so unimportant when I look at you and see your lovely brown hair, your clear blue eyes, and full red lips. Cherie, —

Clock: Oh, yeah; How about that blond you had up here last night?
 Rod: Who said that?
 Clock: And before the blond it was Janice, and before that Cynthia, Jeanne, and Jody. Shall I go on?

Cherie: What's happening Rod? Who's that talking?
 Rod: I don't know, but whoever it is better shut-up quick.

Clock: What'samatter, Casanova? Afraid of your past? Don't you want me to tell about Barbara, Joan and Jane?
 Cherie: This is getting interesting. But who's talking?

Rod: Don't believe a word of it, whoever it is. Who is it?
 Clock: Just me, the clock on your dashboard.

Rod: What? Clocks can't talk, and you won't even be able to tell time in about a minute if you don't clam-up.

Clock: It was exactly 10:28 last night, and you were givin' out the same business. Don't believe a word this guy says, Cherie. He hands the same stuff to a different babe every night. I've been wanting to say something for months.

Cherie: Is this clock right?
 Rod: Of course not, you know as well as I do clocks can't talk.

Clock: Well, I ain't no record player. All clocks can talk, only most prefer to keep their secrets.

Cherie: Well, clock or no clock, what's been said about these other girls interests me. Rod, tell me the truth. Did you mean those things you said to me? Do you really love me?
 Rod: Of course, darling, more than anyone or anything.

Clock: He's lying, Cherie. I've been with him six months, now, and if he's said that to ten girls, he's said it to hundred. This guy's a bluebeard.

Rod: &%%#! How can I do any good if you don't shut up? Shut up, Bulova. Darling, —

Clock: That does it! Call me a Bulova! I'm a phoney, Cherie. Take a tip from a guy who's spent a lot of time going around. He's no good.
 Rod: Cherie, don't believe this clock. I really do love you, darling —

Cherie: Don't darling me, you—you Errol Flynn, you.
 Rod: You mean you'd believe this clock before you'd believe me?

Cherie: That's exactly what I mean, take me home.
 Rod: But clocks can't talk, it's all in our imagination.

Cherie: Well, Janice, Jeanne, Joan, and Cynthia are pretty real and live if you ask me. Take me home, or do I have to walk?
 Clock: That's the spirit, Cherie. I been waiting months to hear some gal tell this guy off. Goodbye.

And to take a shortcut in the story, Rod took Cherie home, and she never saw him again, but later became engaged to a real nice guy who didn't give out the old business. I know, cuz, he bought me and Rod's car that next day, and I've been with the happy pair ever since.

the association also will be discussed at the meeting Wednesday.

VOX STUDENS

(Editor's note: The opinions presented in this column may or may not express the opinion of The Collegian. The letters are presented here for the student information. In order to conserve space, will writers please limit their letters to no more than 300 words.)

Dear Editor:

According to stories in previous issues of The Collegian, I am of the opinion that cash fines are illegal on the campus —hence, I am now to believe that the fine I paid for keeping a book over time from the library was merely an intangible illusion.

I give my deepest regards and apologies for being in the wrong and hope that in the future we may all fare better—even our few remaining "apple polishing" rugged individualists.

DICK CAFFEY

Editor's note: We wish it were legal for the College to assess fines for parking violations instead of the system that is in effect now, but wishing doesn't change the law. Library authorities explain that library fines are legal because they are a service fee, like fees paid at registration, and not a penalty.

The College has complete authority to levy a charge for services rendered if it can be shown that a service is performed. Library personnel report that it would make extra bookkeeping and filing work when a book is kept overtime.

Twin Girls to Rope, Ride at Rodeo

Doris and DeJores England, 17-year-old twins of Ottawa, Kan., will present an act of trick riding, roping and performing with their "educated" horse at the Kansas State College rodeo here April 30 and May 1 and 2, John Finley, publicity chairman, announced.

The England twins started their act with Shetland ponies ten years ago, Finley said. They have performed at state fairs in Iowa and Minnesota and in Memphis, Chicago and other cities, according to Finley.

Friends of Art Prints Distributed

Distribution of prints for Friends of Art members began Saturday, Prof. John F. Helm, director of the committee announced. "Matting for about 150 prints has been completed," Professor Helm stated.

This year's print is "Lake of the Rockies" by Birger Sandzen. Dr. Sandzen was director of the art school of Bethany College at Lindsborg until his resignation in 1946. "He is one of the best known painters and printmakers in America," according to Professor Helm.

Mortar Board, honorary senior women's society, is helping with student distribution of the prints. Membership dues for students are $2 and for non-students, $3.

Friends of Art was founded in 1934 to stimulate interest in art. Funds for membership are used to buy works of art for the permanent collection of the College. Some of the pictures purchased by the committee may be seen in Recreation Center and Anderson Hall.

Anyone may become a member of Friends of Art, according to Professor Helm.

Wife's Insurance

A new idea in gifts for the Memorial Chapel was received this week from Clarence A. Chandler, Kansas City, Mo. It is a $2,000 insurance policy on the life of his late wife. The gift will be used for a stained glass window as a memorial to her, Kenney L. Ford, alumni secretary, announced.

Chandler is president of the Landscape and Floral company in Kansas City. His wife was Winnie Romick Chandler, a Kansas State graduate in 1894. Chandler is also an alumnus of the College. He and Mrs. Chandler observed their golden wedding anniversary in October, 1944.

Mrs. Chandler died in February.

K-State Tangles With KU Tonight

The intense intra-state sports rivalry between the Kansas Jayhawks and the K-State Wildcats continues this week with a two game series between the baseball teams of the two schools slated for yesterday and today. Th games, both night affairs, are conference battles. At Collegian press time yesterday, the first game of the series had not begun but was slated to get underway unless rain forced a postponement.

Tonight's tilt will be played at Griffith Field. The contest is slated to start at 8.

The invading Jayhaws have failed to amass an impressive record in games to date. Under their new manager, Russ Sehon, the Jays have won two games while dropping four. One of the Kansas wins was at the expense of the defending champion Oklahoma Sooners last week. The Missouri Tigers, currently occupying second place in the loop, downed the Hawks twice in league play. Another loss to Oklahoma makes the Kansas record stand at one win and three losses in Big Seven competition.

Cats Need Bath

The Wildcats, who boast a two won and two lost mark in conference games, need both games if they are to improve on their third place standing of last year. The Jayhawks, who finished last in 1947, are gunning for a repeat of the happenings last season. Two defeats by the Hawks in early season contests last year cost the Wildcats the championship. Later however, K-State came back to even the score for the season with two apiece.

Coach Dud Fiser has indicated he will start a slightly revised lineup against the Kansans. Jack Nielsen is slated to take over the third base duties, moving Al Sheriff to the outfield in place of Bobby Ives. The remainder of the Wildcat roster will be the same.

Jack Bell, powerful Wildcat fastballer, will probably handle the mound chores for the Cats. Bell owns one win against one loss this season. He silenced the Iowa State batsmen last week even though hobbling on a sprained ankle.

Grid Stars in Action

Several football and basketball stars dot the KU roster. Backfield aces Dick Bertuzzi, Bud French, and Red Hogan are all-regulars for the Hawks. French and Hogan are two of the club's top-ranking hitters.

Most of the pitching staff for the visitors has been drawn from the ranks of Phog Allen's basketball team. Johnny Dewell, Guy Mabry, and Bill Sapp are all members of the Jayhawk flinging corps.

Coach Sehon was undecided as to which hurler he would send to the hill in the second game, but indications were that Dick Gillman, his pitching ace, would get the nod. Gillman tossed the win over Oklahoma a few days ago.

Tonight's game is the first home Big Seven game of the season for Kansas State. The game will be broadcast over station WIBW. Bob Hilgen-dorf, announcer for KSAC, will do the play by play account with Fred Farris filling in with between inning color.

Cats Finish High at Boulder Meet; Prather is Star

Blinding rain and snow were the only things that kept the heads-up Kansas State track team from taking the Colorado Relays championship at Boulder Saturday. Although several events were cancelled and no team championship was awarded, the Wildcats were generally conceded and excellent chance to have taken the team title away from the defending champion Colorado Buffaloes.

Coach Ward Haylett stated that Rollin Prather's discus throw was "the most remarkable thing he ever saw, considering the fact that the ring was a mass of sloppy slush and mud." Prather broke his own meet record of last year by throwing the discus 150 feet 1 1/2 inches to set the new record. The discus was the only outside event before the driving rain and snow pushed the remainder of the meet inside. Prather continued to set the pace in doors by winning the shot event with a heave of 51 feet, 1 inch, just 2 1/2 inches less than his winning mark last year.

Had the meet championship been awarded, Kansas State would have won it as the Wildcats piled up the top number of points in the events that were run. It was the Wildcats' day as the two-mile relay team of Stuart, Miller, Leasure and Hildenbrand romped home in 8:17.5 to win the event. The mile relay was won by Colorado with Kansas State taking second. Coach Haylett was impressed with the showing made in the mile relay by Rick Harman in his first track competition of the season.

The 60-yard high hurdles were dominated by Kansas State with Earl Elliott breasting the tape in 7.8. Jim Danielson turned in his best performance of the season finishing second behind Elliott. In the high jump Danielson tied for first place with Churches, Colorado A&M and Biffie of Denver at 6 feet, 4 inches.

In the mile run Kansas State's Chase finished third behind Vaughn of Colorado Mines and Fitzmorris of Colorado.

Rodney McClay copped a second place berth in the 60-yard dash as Narcissian of Colorado won the event in 6.3.

Coach Haylett praised Colorado hosts for staging a good meet under the most trying weather conditions.

Fire Squad Practices

Students who heard and saw the K-State fire truck making a run shortly after 5 p. m. yesterday may have wondered where the fire was.

There wasn't any fire. The fire team was merely engaging in some drill practice. Drill practice will continue each Monday and Friday between 5 and 6:30 p. m. until further notice, according to R. F. Gingrich, superintendent of building and repair.

Chalk Talk

By Pete Engelken

Something we have been wanting to do for quite some time now is to settle the past track accomplishments of a tall drink of water from Mundy, Texas—or whatever they officially drink down there. We refer to All-American cage star Howard Shannon, who likewise has picked up quite a reputation as a cinder artist, particularly in the high and broad jump.

Until how the exact statistics on Shannon have been elusive as the proverbial asbestos dog chasing the cellophane cat through you-know-where. Howard's prowess in the high jump has been listed at anywhere from six feet on up. One fellow even got Shannon's broad jump distance and Rollin Prather's shotput heaves mixed up and came out with Shannon flying through the air some 54 feet, and found himself in a mael-of-a-hess conversational-ly.

Officially Shannon's best high jump mark to date was made in his native Lone Star State with North Texas State back in 1943 when he launched a flight of 6 feet, 4 inches.

Although it may come as a surprise, appropriations for Kansas State athletics will suffer a 10 per cent slash in next year's budget, which is now in the process of compilation. The present budget for athletics is the first in the history of the college. Expenditures in the athletic department during the past year have also been higher than at any time in the history of the college. After viewing the accomplishments of the basketball team, it looks to us like a good investment.

Working under a budget system involves a great deal of feeling in the dark in regard to aligning appropriations to schedules. With the exception of football, the budget is made up before any of the various schedules are made up. Then it becomes the coach's job to fit his schedule according to his limit of expenses. Wrestling Coach Reynard had to skip some distance matches in order to have funds to take him to matches closer by. Football receipts, which showed a sharp drop after the first two games, were far below expectations last fall.

Athletics in general, both in the field and administratively, have shown great improvement over a few years ago. Naturally such improvement costs money. The needs of the department will be less than last year because of what has been accomplished.

An example of this is the installation of a laundry service in Nichols Gym at a cost of approximately $2,000, which will, when it goes into operation this spring, save the college the regular three to four hundred dollar a month laundry bill which it now pays.

Next fall an intra-mural manager will be employed on a full-time basis. Big Seven Conference dues will cost the college from $2,500 to $2,700. That figure shows an increase of more than a thousand dollars since the conference acquired a full-time secretary.

The concrete tennis courts took quite a bite out of the athletic department funds. Sixty-five hundred dollars was spent by the department to supplement some eight hundred dollars donated by students in the "Be a Sport—Cement Courts" campaign. The lights for the football field lowered the bank account to the tune of $5,000. Construction of the practice football field south of the stadium, plus the fence around it, amounted to $1,600. A war surplus truck for departmental use cost $300.

Other considerations included construction of additional radio broadcasting booths in the stadium; hiring of Kansas State's first end coach, 1946 All-Missouri Valley conference end, Paul Walker.

Track fans are in for a treat this weekend as the Kansas Jayhawks invade Manhattan in our only home meet. Field events are scheduled to start at 1:30 and the track burners begin performing at 2 o'clock. Coach Ward Haylett has been conserving Wildcat strength for the meet and opponents may find the always formidable Wildcat a veritable ball of fury.

To make Rollin Prather's Colorado Relay discus mark look even better, solid-citizen Prather performed the feat while wearing warmups and a light jacket. Some enlightened engineer even tried to figure how much farther it would have traveled had the soaring discus not had to contend with the friction encountered by flying precipitation.

Intramurals

Leon Beck, ace hurler of the Vattier Vampires, set the Gung Ho Kids down with no hits and no runs last Wednesday as he became the second pitcher in a week to toss a no hit shut-out. Chuck Smith, Ag. Ed. Club pitcher, turned the same trick against the Set-Ups a week ago.

The Vattier team committed but two errors behind Beck. Simkins, Gung Ho Kids second sacker, was the only man on the losing nine to get as far as second.

Results of games played Wednesday: Alpha Gamma Rho 10, Kappa Alpha Psi 10 (tie); Jr. A. V. M. A. 15, Moro Courts No. 4, 13; Vattier Vampires 5, Gung Ho Kids 0; Phi Kappa 7, Farm House 5; Theta Xi 1, Alpha Kappa Lambda 1; Y. M. C. A. 12, Baptist Student 1; Wesley Foundation 8, Brown County All Stars 5.

Games that were postponed due to rain will be rescheduled and posted on the intramural bulletin board in Nichols gymnasium.

Tomorrow's games: Sigma Phi Epsilon vs. Alpha Tau Omega, Beta Psi vs. Phi Kappa, Phi Delta Theta vs. Alpha Kappa Lambda, Jr. V. M. A. vs. Y. M. C. A., Delta Sigma Phi vs. Sigma Nu, Kappa Sigma vs. Farm House, Alpha Gamma Rho vs. Theta Xi, Moro Courts No. 4 vs. Vattier Vampires.

Thursday's games: Baptist Students vs. Gung Ho Kids, Wesley Foundation vs. West Stadium, Brown County All Stars vs. Collegiate 4-H, and Black Cats vs. Dark Horses.

In the Independent groupings the defending all-college champion Dark Horses remain undefeated as do the Gutterbums, Root's Ranglers, Boozdoes and Deacons; 11 defeated teams in the Fraternity groups are Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Sigma Phi Epsilon, Beta Theta Pi and Phi Delta Theta.

Wildcats to Hold Night Scrimmage

Coach Ralph Graham will present the 1948 Kansas State College football squad in the first night talent display of the year, Friday night, prior to the intra-squad game scheduled to start at 8 o'clock. The Big Seven Conference champion Wildcat basketball team will also share the spotlight of the evening.

At the half-time the Manhattan Chamber of Commerce will present blankets to Coach Jack Gardner, his assistant, Tex Winters and to the 12 men who received basketball letters. The student council will then present engraved luggage to the conference champions.

The players who did not receive letters this year, the student manager and trainer will each receive pen and pencil sets.

Also during half-time, Coach Jack Gardner will present the Big Seven Conference and the NCAA fourth place trophies to the school.

For the game Friday night the Yellowa and Blues will be divided into four teams as in the previous intra-squad tilts.

In last Saturday's scrimmage the Yellowa led the Blues 25-7 as rain stopped the game. Tailback Gale Lehman drove over into pay dirt three times the game. Tailback Lehman on short plunges and Fullback Gerald Hackney bulled across the line for the other touchdown.

The Blues scored in the third quarter when speed mechanist Carl Lemon tossed a 40-yard touchdown pass to Clair Dou-thitt. Blue efforts were spark-

SOCIETY DAILY REMINDER

Final exam schedules are on sale. It isn't long now. From now on it means busy week-ends at K-State with the many annual parties, dinners and formals.

Van Zile Hall took the lead in excitement Sunday with chocolates announcing the engagement of Sally Imel to Gerald Houk. Gerald passed cigars to his TKE brothers. The traditional smooch line was formed. Sally is a sophomore in home economics from Spearville. Gerald is from Parsons and a junior in mechanical engineering.

More chocolates came from Pat Redmond announcing her engagement to Don Lawrence. Alpha Gamma Rho received cigars from Don. Pat is a senior in home economics from Erie. Don is a junior in education from Lenexa.

Roses announced the approaching marriage of Betty Dickinson to Lucas to Lee Baird of Logan, Sigma Nu. The wedding date is set for June 2 in Manhattan.

The Alpha Tau Omega spring formal was held Saturday night at the Community House, preceded by a dinner in the Wareham Hotel.

Couples danced under a sky of stars with dancing silhouettes bordering the dance floor. The music was furnished by Jimmy James and his orchestra.

In the receiving line were: Keith Kehmeier, Alice Ann Dawson, Mrs. Fred Coulson, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Lewis and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Beck.

Chi Sigma petitioning Sigma Chi held initiation services Sunday morning. New initiates include: Frank Bradley, Bruce Craig, William Yemm, Walter Bell, Wayne McElwee, David Nichols, Jack Semon and Ray Throckmorton.

Cigars at the ATO house Saturday announced the engagement of Huck Heath to Betty Gwin. Huck is a senior in physical education and Betty attended Kansas State last year. Both are from Leoti.

Acacia pledges found themselves without a home upon returning from their sneak Saturday afternoon. The chapter house doors were finally opened at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon with plenty of pledge duty to follow.

Sixteen Farm House men went to Lincoln Sunday for an exchange dinner with the Nebraska Farm House chapter.

Cigar smoke at the Phi Kappa Alpha house announced the engagement of Roy Harvey to Elmore Stricklen. Elmore is from Fredonia and Roy is from Junction City. They were graduated from K-State last year.

A formal pledging party was held Saturday at the Sigma Alpha Epsilon chapter house and new pledge officers were installed. New officers include: president, Jim Gretsinger; secretary-treasurer, Jack Matson.

Van Zile Hall girls and their dates danced to the music of the Nightwatchmen at their annual Pink and Silver Ball Saturday night. A pink and silver umbrella formed the bandstand, and white picket fences covered with pink and silver flowers, encircled the dance floor.

In the receiving line were Mary Jane Meili, Wilborn Day, Miss Dorothy Hamer, Dean Helen Moore, Miss Shirley Thompson, Miss Catherine Marsh, and Edwin Ruthschmann.

Mrs. W. E. Grimes and Mrs. Merton Otto were guests at the Phi Kappa Alpha hamburger fry Saturday night.

Jerry Scribner and Don Turby, Phi Kappa Alphas at Oklahoma A. & M., spent the weekend at the local PIKA house.

Theme of Clovia's spring formal last Saturday night was "Springtime Melody." Flower gardens, birds and a moon shining from the ceiling decorated the chapter ballroom. In the receiving line were Louise Mosier, Flavel Simcox, Mrs. George Farmer and Mary Louise Markley.

Clovia coeds held a picnic for their dates Sunday evening in the City Park. Games and group singing wound up the occasion.

Theme of the Amicossembly Spring Formal Friday evening at the Wareham Hotel will be "Memories of Melody." Music will be provided from 9 to 12 p. m. by Jim Clark and his orchestra. Planning the dance are Dorothy Tolson, chairman of decorations; and Helena Currier, chairman of refreshments.

Polly Noone, Denver, Colo., Leslie Dennison, Marne Karlin and Mary Beth Needham were dinner guests at the Phi Kappa house Sunday.

Safety Course for K-State Swimmers

A course in water safety instruction for students who have passed senior life saving tests will be offered at K-State May 3 to 7, according to Miss Katherine Geyer, head of the women's physical education department. The training course will be open to both men and women.

Donald J. Odert, field representative for the Red Cross, will conduct the classes every evening from 7 to 9 o'clock.

"In order to be eligible for employment as life guards and camp swimming instructors, persons must pass the course," Miss Geyer said. "Usually K-State swimmers have to take the required course in an aquatic camp," she said.

Landscape Students Take Four-Day Trip

A four-day inspection trip will be taken by about 30 landscape students May 13 to 16, according to Prof. L. R. Quinlan of the horticulture department. The annual tour will include Lincoln and Omaha in Nebraska, Des Moines and Ames in Iowa and St. Joseph, Mo.

The students will visit gardens, private estates, parks, playgrounds, golf courses, nurseries and greenhouses. Plans are being made to include the planning commissions of some of the cities in order to give the students an inside view on the development of the cities, Quinlan said. The students will be accompanied on the trip by Professor Quinlan and Prof. Ray Keen of the horticulture department.

All landscape design, floriculture and ornamental horticulture students who have not signed up for the trip should do so before Wednesday noon, Quinlan said. They can do so in the landscape drafting room in D9. The group will travel in a chartered bus if enough students sign up for the trip.

KSC Women Teach at Local School

Four Kansas State College women are practicing teaching in music at Eugene Field School in Manhattan, the College music department announced today.

The practice teachers are Barbara Strow, Inez Strutt, Joan Harrison and Madge Crabb.

The student teachers are assisting with an operetta, "The Magic Piper," and a cantata, "Mother Goose Arabesque."

Two College students, Ivan Rundus and Paul Brown, will play the piper and the mayor, respectively, in the operetta.

Naval Reserve Unit to Meet Wednesday

A meeting of Naval Reserve members of the local Electronics Warfare Unit will be Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. in the lounge of the Community Building, Bryon I. Cousins, commanding officer of the Manhattan unit, has announced. Plans for installing equipment, recruiting more members, and setting up the training program will be discussed and a movie will be shown.

More Navy veterans, especially those with experience in radio and electricity, are needed to fill the complement of the unit, Cousins said. He urged everyone interested to attend the Wednesday night meeting.

Formal Garden Lilacs in Bloom

Forty-two varieties of lilacs have been collected by the department of horticulture and 35 of these will be in bloom this week, Prof. L. R. Quinlan of the horticulture department, said yesterday.

The 35 varieties in their prime this week will have blossoms of seven different colors, Quinlan said. The flowers were selected from a possible group of some 500 varieties of lilacs.

The double row of lilac bushes is on the third terrace east of the formal gardens near Dickens Hall. The bushes have been planted on both sides of an eight-foot grass path. Each plant bears a tag with its name, Quinlan said.

Three Concerts at KSC Music Week

Three concerts will be given by chamber music ensembles, the College-Civic Orchestra and A Cappella Choir at the College next week to observe National Music Week.

The first concert, a chamber music recital, will be May 2, in Recreation Center. Both students and faculty members will participate. The faculty piano quartet will perform. It is composed of Luther Leavenworth, violin; Charles Stratton, piano; Max Martin, viola; and Stephanie Sulinski, violincello. Student ensemble members are Richard Coy, clarinet; William Harper, horn; Paul Swan, bassoon; and Eugene Kenny, flute. Also members of the ensemble are Jean Hedlund, oboe, faculty member; and Mary Young, piano, graduate assistant.

Other concerts will be by the College-Civic Orchestra, May 4 and A Cappella Choir, May 7. Four young artists will appear in joint concert with the orchestra. They are Mary Young, pianist; Robert Woodson, violinist; Patricia Moll, pianist; and Mary Jo Staley, Miss Staley will sing with J. Forrest West, baritone. The A Cappella Choir will appear in next week's College assembly.

CAMPUS CAPERS

with LIZ.

Hello everybody! Did you ever see such a busy week as this last one? Seems as if almost everyone decided to have a party, so that left the remaining few with a wide choice of places to go. The Deltas and the Sigma Nus, who both had picnics planned, certainly had to make a quick change of plans when old Man Weather suddenly decided we needed rain. There were several spring formals, too—Van Zile, Phil Delt, and ATO. I know one little AGE who was getting ready for the Van Zile formal as early as last Thursday! The Phi Delt party couldn't be anything but a success, with Joe Benson buying all the decorations (a fine Scotchman, that lad!) and Marvin Kramer seeing to it that all the girls at the party were having a good time! Paul Kelly was unable to attend the ATO party, but he made up for it. How? Why is she? You'll have to ask Paul! ... I wonder if you know that May 5th will soon be here? And—that means Mother's Day. I think every day should be mother's, but since it isn't let's be sure to make May 9 one she'll never forget. The best is none too good and that means Hallmark's Mother's Day cards from the Campus Book Store. We have the prettiest cards and a nice selection to choose from—don't put it off—drop in soon!

... You know, Bill Porter is certainly the gad-a-bout these days. One moment you see him with one girl, the next moment he's with some body else. Ah, springtime and convertibles and girls. Like that combination, Bill?

... Have you seen Pat Nelson and Ward lately? Something tells me that there's more than meets the eye. Call it premonition, if you like. Why don't you cut us in on the scoop, Pat? Are you Kappa sisters in for a surprise? ... You know, for you kids that won't get home for Mother's Day, we at the book store have just the present to send her. It's a beautiful box of stationery we will mail for you. All you have to do is get it and give us her address and we'll do the rest. It will be gift wrapped and mailed so she'll receive it at just the right time. I think for students that are away from their family, stationery for Mom is just the perfect gift.

Do you know who the hardest working boys on the hill are? (Doing manual labor, that it!) Well, they are fixing a new drive at 1856 College Heights, and some of the boys were up until four o'clock one night working. They certainly seem anxious to get the job done. Bud Gillan seems quite adept at driving a tractor. By the way, boys, let me congratulate you on following the trend of the New Look. That is, short hair—and in some cases—No hair! ... For you who get this far, I have one more commercial. Remember the Campus Book Store for all your sporting goods. We have built up this department to where we can fill all your needs with the very best. Tennis, golf, baseball, tee shirts, shoes and many other items that make our stock complete.

... Guess that's about all for now, but be sure to read next week's column. Not only do you have a great surprise in store, you have a great shock! It's new, it's different—you'll like it! Or will you? It's mysterious. Be sure to look for me next week, and see what it's all about. By for now.

Livestock Men Here Saturday for Feeder's Day

Some 1,200 livestock men are expected to attend the 35th annual Kansas Livestock Feeders Day program here Sunday.

They will see results of feeding and management experiments conducted at Kansas State during the year, meet winners of the 19th annual Kansas beef cattle feeders' contest and hear outstanding speakers, according to Dr. A. D. Weber, animal husbandry department head at the College.

Program at 9:30 a. m. The day's program begins at 9:30 a. m. in the animal husbandry barns and feedlots at the College where results of feeding trials and management tests will be shown.

Luncheon, prepared in the meat laboratory of the agricultural wing of the ag building, will be served from the livestock pavilion or on campus lawns, depending on the weather, Dr. Weber said. The luncheon is sponsored by the Kansas Livestock Association. It will be served by members of the College Block and Bridle Club.

Wives' Program 1:30 Program for wives of livestock men attending the event will begin at 1:30 p. m. in the west wing of the ag building. Miss Dorothy Holland, a staff member of the Home Service Department of the National Livestock and Meat Board, Chicago, will demonstrate modern cookery methods on prime roast beef. In her talk Miss Holland stresses that meat should be cooked at low temperatures.

Glady Vail, food economics and nutrition department head at the College, and Pat Siwan, Manhattan, also will be on the women's program. Dr. Vail will speak; Miss Siwan will do demonstrations.

Paul Gerlaugh, president of the American Society of Animal Production, will speak on "Buckeye Beef Cattle" at the afternoon session. Herb Barr, Leoti, president of the Kansas Livestock Association, will preside at the afternoon session.

Other speakers include President Milton S. Eisenhower, Dean R. I. Throckmorton, Dr. A. D. Weber and Prof. C. W. McCampbell, of the College. McCampbell will pay tribute to the late J. W. Robison, first president of the Kansas Livestock Association.

Walter Atzenweiler, agricultural commissioner of the Kansas City Chamber of Commerce, and Lot Taylor, College extension animal husbandry, will present winners in the beef cattle producers contest.

23 Senior Women Complete Y Course

Twenty-three senior women completed the Teen-age Advisers Seminar offered by the YWCA in cooperation with the Department of Education. The seminar devoted 10 hours to methods of group work and program planning for teenagers.

Official Releases Faculty Changes

Four changes in the Kansas State faculty, including two appointments and two resignations, were announced Thursday by President Milton S. Eisenhower. The appointments include: Lawrence E. Dennis, associate professor of industrial journalism, and printing effective June 1, and Wodorow Franklin, instructor in entomology of the agricultural experiment station, effective May 15.

Dennis holds a B. A. degree from Iowa State Teachers College, Cedar Falls, a master's degree in journalism from the University of Minnesota and is a candidate this spring for a Ph.D. degree in political science from Iowa University, Iowa City.

His newspaper experience includes reporting for the Waterloo Daily Courier and the Des Moines Register-Tribune and writing a political column for the Daily Iowan, Iowa City.

Franklin is a graduate of McPherson College and is working toward a Ph.D. degree from Kansas State. His summer work will be full-time research at the Hays branch of the experiment station where he will study insects that affect feed production of alfalfa. Franklin has spent three summers studying wild bees and honey bees in their cross-pollination of alfalfa.

Resignations were accepted from Everett E. James, graduate assistant in horticulture, and Jane Lambert, instructor in agronomy.

Ags Hold Banquet

The annual spring banquet of the Block and Bridle Club will be held Saturday at 6:15 in the First Congregational Church, 700 Poyntz. The banquet will climax the Feeders' Day being held at the College May 1.

JIM ALLRED and friend, Pancho Villa (left), will clown the KSC Intercollegiate Rodeo to be held here this weekend. Jim, a pre-vet student from Wichita, bought Pancho Villa at the Wichita stockyards and has trained the bull himself. They have performed at rodeos in Wichita, Oklahoma A and M at Stillwater and others.

Salisbury Named Summer School Collegian Editor

Ralph Salisbury was selected by the Board of Student Publications Tuesday to be editor of the summer school Collegian. Business manager for the summer term will be Clyde Osborn.

Salisbury, a junior in journalism, was assistant editor of this year's Royal Purple. He will also be editor of the yearbook next year. He has worked on the Collegian as advertising salesman and has assisted the editorial staff the last two semesters. The new editor is a member of Sigma Delta Chi, honorary and professional fraternity for men in journalism.

Osborn has worked as advertising salesman on the Collegian this semester and has also worked on the advertising staff of the Manhattan Tribune-News. He is a sophomore in industrial journalism.

Assistant editors for the summer term Collegian will be Bill Krause and Darrell Cowell, Salisbury said. Don Alexander will be copy desk editor and Duane Patterson will fill the sports editor post. The society editor has not been selected as yet.

Editor of The Collegian for the fall semester will be Norville Gish. He is now sports editor for both The Collegian and the Tribune-News and was campus correspondent for the Mercury-Chronicle for a short time. He is a member of Sigma Delta Chi and a junior in ag journalism. Gish has indicated that Don Alexander and Bill Krause will be assistant editors next fall, and Janice Addington will serve as society editor.

Bill Mall has been selected as business manager of The Collegian next fall. Mall has been assistant business manager the last two semesters and has also worked as advertising salesman. He is a member of Sigma Delta Chi and a senior in journalism.

Business manager for Royal Purple next year will be Milton Eisenhower, Jr. He was advertising manager for the year book this year.

Board of Student Publication members who made the selections are Prof. H. W. Davis, Prof. R. R. Lashbrook, Mae Weaver, Hardy Berry and John Shupe. Prof. E. T. Keith, a member of the board, is recovering from an operation and was unable to attend the meeting. New student members of the board were not eligible to vote.

Inter-Frat Sing

The Inter-Fraternity Sing will be Wednesday, May 12 instead of May 11 as was previously announced in The Collegian, according to Barbara Hamilton, chairman in charge of the sing.

LINDBLOM HEADS NEW COUNCIL

By an unanimous vote of the members of the new Student Council, Dick Lindblom was named president of the student governing group for the next school year. The new president is a junior in business administration from Salina, and was elected to the council from the School of Arts and Sciences. Lindblom succeeds Don Ford, the retiring president.

The election of officers was held at a special dinner meeting Monday at the Warehouse Hotel. Present were the new Council, the nine retiring officers, and several guests.

Harold Peffly was selected to serve as vice-president of the council, with Barbara King reigning as recording secretary, Pat McVey as corresponding secretary, and Rodney Keif, the new treasurer. Don Bickle was chosen as the council's representative to the Nation Student Association.

Following the dinner given by the 1947-48 council for the incoming members, a report on a recent campus survey on cheating was presented by Jane Engle. Other matters concerned recommendations on the selection of persons to "Who's Who," a discussion of the rules governing student elections, and a report of the committee on finances given by Ann Huddleston.

Those in attendance at the dinner meeting, in addition to the five new council officers and NSA representative, included: Fred Cossman, Jane Engle, Phyllis Evans, Dick Fedell, Don Ford, Irvin Gandee, Don Gray, Ann Huddleston, Ward Keller, Tom Leathers, Glenn McCormick, Dick Warren, Dick Winger, Leonard Wood and Jack Woolsey.

Credit to Be Given for New Bible Courses

Four new Bible study courses will be offered to Kansas State students next fall, Dr. T. H. Johnson, president of the Manhattan Bible College, has disclosed. They will be given one credit hour each.

Dr. Johnson will teach a course dealing with the teachings of the Hebrew prophets of the Old Testament. Virgil V. Hinds, dean of the Bible College, will teach a course in the life and precepts of Christ. Hebrew history as seen in the Old Testament will be taught by Prof. Lloyd A. Taylor. A course in the Acts of the Apostles and Letters of the New Testament will be taught by Prof. James B. Carr.

These courses will run parallel with the K-State schedule. They will be distributed over the week to fit the schedules of interested students, said Dr. Johnson.

Phi Kappa Phi Names 59 Honor Students at KSC

Fifty-nine students were elected to the K-State chapter of Phi Kappa Phi, honorary scholastic organization, this week, according to Mrs. Katherine Hess of the clothing department, acting secretary.

Twenty-two of the students elected are in the school of arts and sciences, 12 in the school of agriculture, 12 in the school of engineering, 10 in the school of home economics and three in the school of graduate study. All except the graduate students are seniors.

New members are: School of Arts and Sciences, George Bascom, Robert Myers, Carl Gugler, Betty Payne, Donald Hammerli, William Eiden, Beverly Hayes, Robert Carlos, June Duforne, Stanley Crawshaw, Virginia Epp, Elizabeth Drake, Phyllis Evans, Raymond Francis, Earl Coder, Thelma Stedham, Martha King, Paul Peterson, Maurice Arnold, Earl Cook, and Charles Watkins, Jr. School of Agriculture, Alfred Casady, Robert Frizzel, Charles Herrick, Roscoe Ellis, Jr., Donald George, Harold Hack, George Smith, Richard Eaton, Ralph Rieckels, Fletcher Riggs, Michael Newborg, and William Richards.

School of Home Economics, Loreta Stricklin, Anna Applebaugh, Virginia Howard, Edna Mae Gilmore, Carrol Ramsay, Mildred Hall, Georgia Johnson, Barbara Ann Carter, Jean Irvin, and Margaret Pixley. School of Graduate Study, Robert Allen, Merle Gugler and Betty Drayer.

K-State Debaters to Be Initiated at Emporia State

The success of the debate team this year has brought recognition from three different sources, Vernon McGuire, debate coach said yesterday.

Five K-State debaters, outstanding in the field of forensics, will be initiated during a banquet meeting into Phi Kappa Delta, national forensics fraternity next Monday at Emporia State Teachers College.

Initiates include Dick Dethloff, Jim Tucker, Marshall Schirer, Norman Collins and John Tasker. Others on the team this year are Shirley Smith and Garth Grissom.

The team has received an invitation from Frank B. Davis, head of the Department of Speech at Colorado A & M to meet in a dual audience debate on our campus sometime this May.

Texas University debaters have asked that K-State be placed on their itinerary for next fall. K-State debaters have taken part in five major contests this year. They were rated excellent in six rounds at the Debate and Discussion conference at Nebraska University. At the Annual Forensic Tournament at St. John's College, Winfield, they won four rounds to place second in the tournament. In the Missouri Valley Forensic Tournament at Kansas University, the college won four out of six rounds. They took second at Fort Collins, Colorado, at the Phi Kappa Delta Regional Conference, which includes schools from Kansas, Nebraska and Colorado. At the Forensic Tournament at Texas University, the debaters won eight out of twelve rounds.

Parrish to Lead Phi Kappa Phi

The new president of Phi Kappa Phi honorary scholastic organization at Kansas State College is Dr. Fred Parrish, head of the history and government department. Other newly-elected officers are W. F. Pickett, head of the horticulture department, as vice-president, and Grace E. Derby, associate librarian, as journal correspondent.

Continuing in office in the honor society are Dr. Leah Ascham, professor of food economics and nutrition, as secretary and Dr. A. L. Goodrich, professor of zoology, as treasurer.

Last Call

Those wanting to try out for next year's cheer-leaders must file applications no later than noon tomorrow. Write or phone applications to Naomi Fralik or Gordon Herr, presidents of the Purple Peppers and Wampus Cats respectively.

Tryouts will be before a joint meeting of both pep clubs next Thursday at 7:30 p. m. in the K-Room of Nichols Gymnasium.

Rohde Outlines U. N.'s Progress

"The attitude of the world and the United States has elements of irresponsible criticism," Ruth Bryan Owen Rohde, discussing the work of the United Nations, told the students at an all-College assembly Wednesday morning.

Mrs. Rohde, noted diplomat, political leader and author, outlined the progress of the U. N. from the drafting of the charter in San Francisco eight years ago up to the present time. The most publicized phases of U. N.'s work has dealt with disagreements within the organization, while many of the commissions and councils have worked in complete accord. The amiable relations have been ignored, she said.

Lake Success has become the news center of the world, with more news originating from there than in any world capital. The most discussed and most misunderstood part of U. N. is the veto, Mrs. Rohde remarked. It provides for a unanimous vote of any motion that must pass the Security Council. "When we vote against a motion it is called a negative vote, but when another country votes against it, it is called a veto," she said.

Despite the differences over the veto, the Security Council has made satisfactory progress during the past two years, the speaker believed.

"The U. N. will work if we adopt the same attitudes toward it as we do toward our Constitution. The primary objective is that we reaffirm our faith in the fundamental rights of men and women in all nations, large and small," Mrs. Rohde declared.

Describing the emotion shown at San Francisco when the charter was accepted, Mrs. Rohde said all of the delegates arose and applauded, and wept when the unanimous vote was cast. The charter is not just a document, but a page of history.

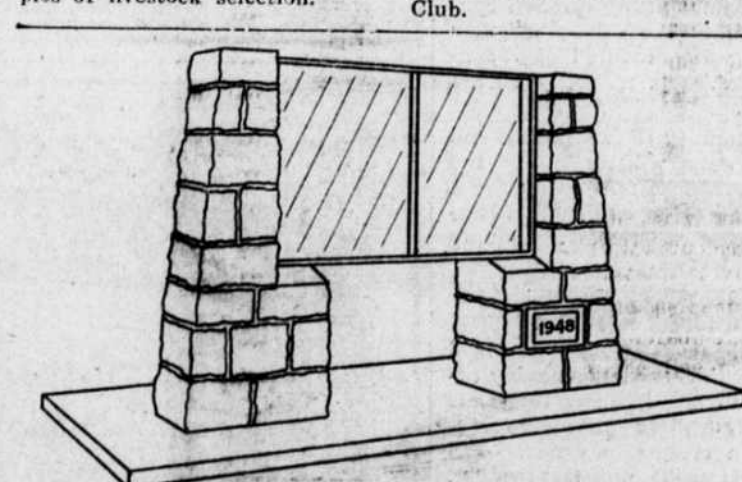

Thinking citizens will recognize the alternative, Mrs. Rohde warned. "We must either strengthen the U. N. or suffer atomic warfare."

To Give Market Tips to Judging Winners

Five market trips to St. Joseph, Mo., will be awarded the five top winners in the annual Block and Bridle Livestock Judging contest at K-State May 15, Tom Carlton, Block and Bridle Club president, announced this week.

Additional prizes are being donated by livestock supply houses and others.

Any student at Kansas State is eligible to enter the junior division of the contest said Carlton. A senior division is open to students in agriculture who have had the course in principles of livestock selection.

THIS IS A DRAWING OF THE GLASS-ENCLOSED ALL-WEATHER BULLETIN BOARD that will be presented to the College by the Class of 1948. The bulletin board, which is estimated by senior class president Irvin Gandee, to cost $300, will be located along the walk inside the Thompson Hall entrance to the campus. Names of seniors who contribute will be placed in a sealed tube behind the cornerstone.

Rodeo Starts Today; Offer $1,100 in Contest Prizes

A parade at 5:30 this evening will begin Kansas State's Second Annual Intercollegiate Rodeo. Sponsored by the Chaparajos, the final session of the three-day contest will be held at 7:45 at Griffith Stadium.

The parade this evening will start at Second and Poyntz streets and go up Poyntz to Eleventh. It will turn north to Moro and west on Moro through Aggieville to Manhattan Avenue. The parade will proceed to the City Park where it will disband. The ROTC Band will lead the parade. A prize will be given to the best decorated automobile or bicycle in the parade.

The Topeka Round-up Club will participate in the parade. The group will perform their well known square dance on horseback at tonight's show.

$1,100 in Prizes Sam Kourney, president of the Chaparajos said that a close estimate of the prize money which will be awarded to winners will total $1,100. The Chaparajos are donating $250 of the prize money.

Entry fees are: saddle bronc riding, $8; bareback bronc riding, $8; bull riding, $8; calf roping, $12; bull dogging, $12. Wyoming University has entered 11 men in the contest, two of which have entered all events. Western Colorado State has entered four men and Colorado A and M is sending 15 contestants. Oklahoma A and M has entered a five-man team with five additional entries.

Any Student Eligible College students may enter the rodeo contests providing the entry fees are paid by 2 p. m. today, Koury said.

One event of ribbon roping will be open to persons other than Kansas State College students. The ribbon roping is strictly a pot roping event, with the entry fee decided by the contestants, Koury explained.

Rodeo headquarters will be in the dressing room at Griffith Stadium. Regular events of calf roping, bull dogging, bull riding, saddle and bareback bronc riding will be presented. Added attractions of trick riding, trick roping, a performance by a high school horse and stunts by a trained Brahma bull will be given.

Audience Chooses Cowgirl The Friday night audience will help select the Coed Cowgirl, Koury said.

The Saturday and Sunday afternoon sessions will include the second half of a matched roping contest between K-State and Oklahoma A and M. The first session of this contest was held at Stillwater, Okla., April 8 and 9.

The Champion Intercollegiate Cowboy will be given an engraved gold overall silver belt buckle. State championship awards of cups and medals will be made to winners of the high school division of the rodeo.

Twins Will Perform The England twins of Ottawa, who have performed in Madison Square Garden, will do trick riding, trick roping, and give performances with their high school horse. "The death drag" will be performed by one of the twins.

Emmet Breen, backfield coach in the athletics department, will do fancy trick roping. Judges are Russel Lewis and Ralph Warren of Arkansas City. After the Saturday night performance the Chaparajos will sponsor a dance at the American Legion Hall. Dick Jepson, dance manager, says that the dance, open to the public, will consist of both square and social dancing.

Four Attend Opera Robert Richey, speech instructor, and three KSC students attended the opera "Tosca" by Puccini Wednesday in Lincoln, Neb.

The students were Garth Grissom, John Hepler and John Haines. Jussi Boerling, featured in the Artist series last fall, was the star of Tosca.

Grading Sheets Out Teacher evaluation sheets are now available in the Counseling bureau, Dean A. L. Pugsley has announced.

Any instructor wishing to give these forms to students to fill out may obtain them free of charge but they must tabulate their own results, Dean Pugsley said.

K. U.-K-STATE RIVALRY BEGAN EARLY

K.U. Jealousy Threatened KSC Engineers in '09

By RUSTY GRIFFIN

When the morning Union Pacific train chugged into the Manhattan station February 3, 1909, there were automobiles parked as far as the eye could see down the broad streets and practically every citizen had turned out. They had come to meet members of the state legislature who were arriving from Topeka. The legislature was faced with making the decision of whether the engineering school at the College would be abolished.

It all had started when the chancellor of K. U., Dr. Frank Strong, in a paper he prepared, suggested that the engineering curriculum offered here was duplicating the work offered at K. U. During President Nichols' administration, the engineering courses offered at the College had increased in scope and enrollment until they were considered a threat to the engineering school at K. U.

When the legislature convened January 20, 1909, a bill was introduced providing the engineering school be moved from Kansas State to Kansas University to eliminate duplication of any work in the two schools.

K-States Aroused

By this time friends of Kansas State and Manhattanites were aroused over the situation. They swamped members of the legislature with letters protesting the change. Students of the College wrote to influential friends, parents and legislators. A scathing attack on Chancellor

Strong and K. U.'s attitude was published in the January 30, 1909 issue of the Kansas State Industrialist, in which the entire affair was attributed to K. U.'s jealousy over the Kansas State Engineering School.

On January 26, a mass meeting was held in the College Auditorium and the students decided to invite members of the state legislature to visit the College. Contributions of $1 were taken to finance a special train. The legislature accepted the invitation.

Upon alighting from the train, the members of the legislature were conducted to the College by the students. They were taken on a tour of the campus and were shown through the Engineering School. After an all-College assembly the men were taken to Calvin Hall to eat a dinner which had been prepared by domestic science students.

Good Food Has Effect When the time came to return to Topeka the men were still under the effects of the good food and the friendliness of the Kansas State students.

The Committee on Educational Institutions recommended on February 11, that the bill to move the engineering school from Kansas State not be passed.

The decision of the legislature has been justified by the phenomenal growth of the engineering school at the College since 1903. The enrollment has increased from a handful of students to 2087 this semester. A staff of 160 instructors teach in eight curricula.

GoodNeighbor Policy

From The Christian Science Monitor

Passengers got off the big air liner at the Kansas City Municipal Airport. Among them was a young man from Peru, who hailed a nearby taxi. The driver opened the door and the young man got in.

"Where to, Sir?"

"Take me to Kansas State College," the young Peruvian said, mustering all the English he knew.

The startled driver protested that the college was halfway across the State of Kansas and that such a drive would be impossible for him to make with his taxi. But the Peruvian could not understand.

Then the driver took him to the Union Station, parked the taxi, bought a railroad ticket, put the foreigner on the train and instructed the conductor, "See that he gets off at Manhattan."

While the taxi driver may have missed a number of fares that morning, Bruno Linares did get to Manhattan, where he is now a student in milling at the college.

Editor's Note: Yes Bruno Linares did make it to Kansas State College and it has been our privilege to know him. Never have we seen such a rapid transformation of a South American boy to a typical U. S. collegian.

Bruno has not only learned our language remarkably well, but he has taken to our American games of basketball and softball to such an extent that he has put many of the natives to shame in intramurals and physical education classes.

If we Americans could go to South America and absorb and appreciate their cultures as quickly as Bruno Linares has ours instead of looking down our noses at everything we see, there would be little, if any trouble between us and our brothers to the south.

OUTSIDE the Ivy WALLS

Problems facing the United Nations are, as Mrs. Ruth Bryan Owen Rohde told an audience Wednesday morning. It acquired much or one recently when the Jews appealed to the U. N. to stop the threatened invasion of Palestine by the Arabs. Arab leaders have adopted a plan for immediate military action with armies from Trans-Jordan, Syria, Lebanon and Egypt, to overcome the Jewish successes in the Holy Land. Abdullah, King of Trans-Jordan, expects to take command of the armies and move into Palestine by Saturday. The U. N. is making plans to safeguard Jerusalem.

Ex-G. I.'s at K-State will receive increased subsistence payments this month. To what extent the larger payments will benefit the students may be determined by the size of the U. S. Air Force.

A 70-group force would add to inflation, said Defense Secretary Forrestal, testifying before the Senate Appropriations Committee. Forrestal wants a 66-group force, at a cost of $3,481,000,000. It would be in addition to the $11,000,000,000 armed forces budget for the year beginning July 1.

Military expenditures must be limited unless Congress places controls on prices and supplies. "If you leave it to the military, they'll fortify the moon," he said. The House has already approved a 70-group Air Force.

Unless wage demands are met this week, a nation-wide railroad strike may be called by three operating unions. Wednesday ended a 30-day cooling off period, which removed the last legal barrier to such a strike. The unions represent 125,000 firemen, engineers and switchmen.

They have decided to set a strike date as soon as possible. A 15 and one half-cent hourly raise, recommended by a federal fact-finding board, was accepted by the railroads, but the unions rejected it.

Italy recently paid the United States $5,000,000 to meet American citizens' claims arising from World War II. This is the first payment the U. S. has received since V. J. day, except for interest payments on Export-Import bank loans. During the same period America has added Italy with amounts of nearly $2,000,000,000.

Nearly 8,000 Koreans rioted in Kobe, Japan, over an education issue. U. S. military police jailed 800 persons following the riot. Seven of them were Japanese communists. Troops also were needed in Osaka to quell disturbances.

It was the first time troops have been called out during the occupation of Japan. The Koreans were rebelling against the insistence that they be taught Japanese, in Japanese supported schools. They want to maintain Korean education, and the Communists have been sympathetic in their fight.

"A stupid act may start a war—a stupid act that puts some nation in a position from which it feels it cannot withdraw." So said General Dwight D. Eisenhower, guest speaker at the Kansas Junior Chamber of Commerce State Convention at Wichita Sunday. The U. S. must follow a course of internationalism, he said, and the most important thing is for the U. S. to do its job. The General was a week-end guest in Manhattan.

The Collegian, along with other student publications, is polling students on their presidential preferences. If returns from the various state primary elections are any indication, it will be Stassen all the way. Victor in the Wisconsin and Nebraska primaries, and leading in the latest election in Pennsylvania, Stassen is proving a strong candidate.

Letters to the Editor

VOX STUDENS

(Editor's note: The opinions presented in this column may or may not express the opinion of The Collegian. The letters are presented here for student information.)

To the Editor:

There is a great deal of concern about whether our democracy, with its freedom, can survive. May I present the following thoughts?

If our democracy is to live, we must return to the ideas and principles of the people who founded our present form of Government. They were religious, God-fearing people, who believed that God has given all men certain inalienable rights, but they also knew that duties accompany these rights. The trouble with our democracy today is that everyone seems to want his rights without wanting to perform his duties. All too few of our citizens take advantage of their privilege of voting. Most are little concerned when the rights of someone else are abused. We need capable people in our government, but capable people avoid the responsibilities of public service, and political ambition rather than ability fills our public offices. Democracy must be kept growing; if it does not grow, it decays—it cannot stand still.

To meet this problem of getting active support of our democracy, we must use every training and educational facility we have. The home is first. It is the responsibility of parents to impart to their children a realization of their civic duties, by word, by example, and by directing them to other places they will receive such training.

Second is the church. Every person needs religious training if he is to be completely educated and prepared to carry on his responsibilities. Anyone with sound religious training will realize his place in this Creation's universe, will understand and appreciate his part in the affairs of his fellow man, and will see that it is his duty to strive that others as well as he may have their rights.

Finally, the schools, and every youth and civic organization must play a full and active part in developing this sense of responsibility, promoting our democratic ideals in every way possible.

We students here in college have far better opportunities than most people to train ourselves in the broader responsibilities of our American democratic life and ideals, but too few take any interest in anything outside of themselves and a small circle of friends. I wonder—what's wrong with us?

Our ancestors fought for freedom. It was handed to us on a silver platter. But we must exert every effort to keep it. May God help us to do it.

Sincerely,

—John Welch.

"Things were popping" at the Keplinger trailer Wednesday morning when a faulty lighting fixture set the ceiling and upper portion of the wall on fire. Mrs. Keplinger said she was just going out the door when the ceiling and wall burst into flames. Grabbing a fire extinguisher Mrs. Keplinger began to extinguish the flames, but some of the chemical fell into her baby's eyes. Mrs. Keplinger ran from the trailer with her child, calling for help.

Relatives visiting Benton Starks, of trailer 66 put out the flames. Damage to baby and trailer were both negligible.

At a council meeting Wednesday evening, plans were made for the Campus Courts picnic to be held May 12, at Sunset Park. Transportation will be furnished for all those not having rides.

Frank S. Hamlin of trailer 89, senior in mechanical engineering, took second place honors in the recent A. S. M. E. essay contest. Mr. Hamlin will journey to Tulsa, Okla. May 13, to speak at a convention.

9:45 a. m. Pacemakers' Class (young married couples).
10 a. m. Special Worship Service at the Methodist Church. "Guidance in a World of Confusion," is the title of the sermon.

The Fellowship Hour and the Sunday Nite Lunch will be cancelled this week.

6 p. m. A movie, "And Now I See," election of officers, and a whistling solo by Helen Cool will highlight the Student Forum at the Temple. Kenneth Alderman has charge of the Meditations.

First Baptist Church

B. Y. F. will have an Installation Service for the new officers at the church Saturday night at 3:30. A wiener roast will precede the service.

Church School is at 9:45 a. m. and the Morning Worship is at 11. The evening B. U. F. service will begin with a lunch at 5:30.

Christian Church

C. S. F. Students will meet at the Student Center at 1633 Anderson at 5 p. m. Sunday for an outdoor meeting. Bring flashlights and wear your sport clothes.

Pat McVey will speak at the forum on "Youth in Europe." Installation of officers will be at Vespers. The four elected officers of the church will install the four elected officers of C. Y. F. and Roy Cartee will install the others.

Don't forget the Saturday night pow-wow. Those wanting tickets see Roy Cartee immediately.

Lutheran Student Association

The Lutheran Student Association will spend Sunday, with the Lutheran Student group at Bethany College, Lindsborg. Meet at the First Lutheran Church, Tenth and Poyntz, at 8:30 a. m. Sunday. If you can go to Lindsborg, contact Paul Lundgren or Bob Helene.

Episcopal Church

Collegiate young married couples will have their regular meeting and covered dish supper at 6:30 p. m. today at the church.

Canterbury Club members and their guests will meet at the church at 5 p. m. Sunday for a regular meeting and supper. Russell Beers will call a square dance afterward.

Dances at Union

An hour dance, to be held from 7 to 8 each Wednesday evening in the Student Union, is the latest attempt to give students a chance to dance. Bill West, student union manager, has announced. The dances, to be held each Wednesday till the end of the semester, are being planned by the Student Union Planning committee with Tom James in charge.

Spring Practice to End With Intra-Squad Game

Coach Ralph Graham will place his 1948 Wildcat grid machine on display for the final time during spring football practice tonight in the third and final intra-squad football game of the season. Highlight of the evening will be the halftime ceremonies which will find Jack Gardner and his conference champions cagers receiving awards and honors.

Kickoff for the intra-squad battle is slated for 8 p. m. at Memorial Stadium. Coach Graham will field two teams attired in blue and gold jerseys.

Although the squad has participated in two scrimmages, sessions previously, the game tomorrow is expected to be more nearly like a regular season contest than either of the Saturday afternoon engagements.

The Wildcat coaching staff will remain off the field and officials will handle the battle as though it were a regular season tilt. The college band will also be present to add color to the evening's events.

Seating capacity for the game will be limited to the West Stadium. The East Stadium will not be opened to the public unless an overflow crowd seems probable. According to Athletic Director Thurlow McCrady, the reason for using the West Stadium is so that the public address system for the halftime ceremonies will be more efficient. The system will be set up so that spectators sitting on the West side will be the only ones able to hear it.

When the two squads leave the field for their 15 minute halftime rest, the Junior Chamber of Commerce and the Student Council will take over the spotlight for the presentation of gifts to the basketball squad and coaches.

Players and coaches will receive white woolen blankets with purple lettering on them signifying that they won the 1948 Big Seven basketball crown. Team members who did not letter will receive pen and pencil sets. These awards will be made by the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

A representative of the Student Council at K-State will take over the giving role to present each player and coach with a piece of leather luggage. Funds for the luggage were raised by the "Gifts for Gardner and the Boys" drive on the campus recently.

Coach Gardner will then present Kansas State with the team trophy for the Big Seven championship and the NCAA fourth place trophy.

UNBEATEN BUFFS NEXT STATE FOE

K-State's title-minded Wildcats will undergo a serious test Friday and Saturday, when they cross bats with undefeated Colorado University. Currently at the top of the Big Seven heap, Colorado has won nine straight contests. Her Big Seven victories are from the Oklahoma Sooners, whom they defeated twice.

Colorado is reportedly a power team. Seven members of the squad are hitting over .300, with two over .400 and one man, left fielder Hugh Graham, over .500. The Wildcats will likely face the Buffs' best pitchers, Bill Fanning and Pete Click. Fanning is a 26-year-old, 165 pound sophomore and Click is a 22-year-old, 197 pound second year man. These two have won seven games, Fanning four and Click three.

The Colorado boys are coached by Frank Prentup, who graduated from K-State in 1932. While at Manhattan, Prentup lettered in baseball, football, swimming and boxing. Following his graduation, he turned to the coaching profession and has tutored at Geneseo, Frankfort, Beloit and Manhattan. He went to the University of Colorado in 1941, and is in his third season as head coach of baseball. Prentup is also a member of the football staff and physical education staff at Boulder.

Coach Lud Fiser and his squad Boulder. The Wildcat starting of 15 left Thursday morning for line-up is expected to be the same as the one which handed the KU Jayhawks a twin defeat last Monday and Tuesday. The starting pitcher will probably be Jack Dean, unless big Jack Bell is able to take his turn. Bell's injured heel will probably prevent his appearance, however. Other pitchers available for duty are Bob McClure, Al Fillmore, and Duane Holder, the boy who beat KU in the last game.

Hill, Long at Meeting

Dr. Randall C. Hill and Prof. Glenn W. Long, both of the economics and sociology department, are attending the Midwest Sociological Society annual meeting in Minneapolis, Minn.

Spring Drill

Two more sports, basketball and wrestling, will begin spring workouts starting Monday. Coaches Jack Gardner and "Red" Reynard have issued the call for all men not out for other spring sports to report.

Intramurals

Bob Fansher, pitcher for the Deacons softball team, came within one hit of pitching a no-hitter Tuesday against the Yanks. Willard Greene, Yanks third baseman, spoiled Fansher's dream game with a line single to center in the first inning. After Greene's single Fansher completely quieted the Yanks bats. He kept the four bases on balls that he allowed well scattered. The Deacons played flawless ball behind Fansher as they pounded out the 6 to 0 win.

Intramural games postponed Thursday and Friday because of rain were played Monday and Tuesday of this week.

In games played Monday the Black Cats received a 1 to 0 forfeit from West Stadium. The Dark Horses, undefeated so far this season, were partially halted by an 8 to 8 tie with the Collegiate 4-H team. Last year the Dark Horses were Independent and All College softball champions. The House of Williams nine, rolled over George's Hall 11 to 2. The game between the Poultry Club and Barracks No. 6 was not played because of a shortage of umpires.

Tuesday the Pi Kappa Alpha defeated Delta Tau 11 to 7 and Sigma Phi Nothing beat the Gamma Delta's 7 to 3. The Boozedoes continued their winning ways by defeating the Ag. Ed. Club 9 to 5. The Sigma Alpha Epsilon team, which has been leading Group 1 in the fraternity bracket, was defeated by last year's fraternity champions Tau Kappa Epsilon 8 to 5. Root's Rangers defeated the Van Zile Hopefuls 10 to 2.

Geppert to Present Music Recital Sunday

"Scherzo," a composition by David Geppert, assistant professor of music, will be on the program of the Chamber Music Recital at 4 p. m. Sunday in Recreation Center. The recital is the opening event of music week.

The ensembles performing are composed of faculty members and students. Students in the woodwind quintet to play Professor Geppert's number are: Eugene Kenney, flute; Richard Coy, clarinet; William Harper, horn; and Paul Swan, bassoon.

Jean Hedlund, faculty member of the music department, will be oboist. The other two numbers are "Cassazione" by Mozart and "The Dance of the Sorcerer," from the ballet, "The Garden of Paradise," by Tansman.

Mary Young, graduate assistant in music, will be piano accompanist in the final number. The faculty piano quartet will play Dvorak's "Quartet in E flat major, Op. 87." Members include Charles Stratton, piano; Luther Leavengood, violin; Max Martin, viola; and Stephanie Sulinski, violin cello.

JAYHAWKS HERE FOR DUAL CINDER MEET WITH CATS

Points will be at a premium this weekend when the Kansas University Jayhawks invade Manhattan for the Kansas-Kansas State dual meet tomorrow. The win fever is mounting high in the Wildcat camp and indications are that which ever way the meet goes, not many points will separate the teams. The meet is the only home engagement for the Wildcats this spring.

The Hayletmen will be attempting to continue the surge of strength which they developed last weekend in the wind-and-snow-blown Colorado Relays in sweeping the boards in most of the events which were staged.

Down-the-Kaw scribes describe the talents under the tutelage of Coach Bill Easton as rather thinly spread, and that Easton must parlay every man into every possible event. They concede Kansas State victories in the high hurdles to Elliott and Danielson who ran one-two in the 50 yard high at Colorado Saturday, and to the lanky cager Howard Shannon. Red and blue hopes are also down in all three spots in the pole vault.

The Jayhawks will be strongest in the javelin throw with a trio of performers in Bob Drumm, Bruce Henoch and LeRoy Robinson hoping to repeat last year's shutout in that event. Bill Binter, Johnny Stites and Dick Wagstaff will be strong contenders in the quarter mile.

Coach Haylett will be looking to Rick Harman when it comes to distance runs. Harman turned in a highly satisfactory quarter in the mile relay last weekend in his first conference competition of the season. Howard Shannon will also be one of Haylett's strong contenders in the broad jump, hurdles and high jump, provided his aching back is up to well enough to compete the strenuous events.

Heavyweight Rollin Prather is expected to crack the meet record of 145 feet 7 inches in the discus. That mark was set by Peters of Kansas State in 1941.

Coach Haylett says he thinks the meet will be peculiar in that each team has strength on different events.

Students Featured

Three Kansas State College students are featured in the May issue of McCall's Magazine. Laverna Lehnhart, Norman Held, and Dale Apel, together with Betty Jane Good, of Winfield represented the Kansas 4-H Clubs at the National 4-H Club Camp in Washington, D. C. last June where most of the pictures were taken.

Entitled "It's Cherry Blossom Time in Washington" pictures of the four Kansas 4-H Club members, together with J. Harold Johnson and Margaret Burdett, both K-State extension officials, were taken in Washington, on the KSC campus and at the farms of Laverna Lehnhart and Norman Held. Pictures taken on the K-State campus include one of the Kansas 4-H group as they start on their trip from the steps of Anderson Hall.

ferent events. He says there will be few individual events closely contested. The hottest race is expected to develop in the low hurdles. Both McClay of K-State and Schlusser of Kansas have turned in times of 23.8 seconds in the lows.

AT STATE

Once again ivy is covering K-State's native stone walls. Coeds are exchanging sweaters and skirts for gay print dresses. The campus is dotted with students sitting on the green grass of one of the most beautiful campuses in the world. Kansas State is also one of the busiest campuses from the looks of the social affairs taking place this week-end.

Tonight is the Phi Kappa dinner and dance from 6 to midnight at the Country Club. Amicosem's spring formal will be in the Wareham Flame Room from 9 to 12. The Avalon is the scene of the Waltham and East Stadium dance.

Saturday is the date of the Alpha Kappa Lambda dinner dance at the Wareham and the Avalon—starting at 7 p. m. The Chaparajos Club is having a dance at the American Legion Ballroom. A Hobo Dance will be given by the Cadet Officers Club at the Air Lab from 8 to 12. The Community House will be used for the Jr. A. V. M. A. dance.

Chocolates were passed Wednesday evening at the Tri Delta house by Georgi Gress and Gilbert Dawson. Georgi is a junior in Arts and Sciences. Both are from Medicine Lodge.

Beta's will have a picnic and house party at 6 tomorrow night at the chapter house.

Cigar smoke at the Tau Kappa Epsilon house Wednesday evening announced the engagement of Larry McClaughry, a graduate of the class of '46.

Phi Kappa Alphas and their dates will attend a picnic and party at the chapter house Saturday night from 5 to midnight.

Another picnic is scheduled by the Sig Alphas. It will be tomorrow at the chapter house from 6 to 12.

Cigars at the Sigma Nu house Wednesday announced the engagement of Ray Hanna to Joyce Crippen. Ray is a junior in electrical engineering. Joyce was graduated from K-State last spring and is teaching music in the Minneapolis school system.

Moro Courts will have a party tomorrow night from 8 to 12 in Recreation Center.

Arthur Hildenbrand has been elected as the new president of Tau Kappa Epsilon. Other officers include: Casey Edell, vice-president; Lowell Scoggin, secretary; Guy Bemis, treasurer; Floyd Sageser, historian; Sid Hamilton, chaplain; Earl Elliott, sergeant-at-arms; Dale Relihan, pledge-master; Fred Schwab, assistant pledge master; Dick Imel, business manager; and Casey Edell, inter-fraternity council representative.

Chocolates at Coed Court, Wednesday announced the engagement of Donna Gail Groberg to Darrel Stiger. Donna, a junior in Arts and Sciences, is from Clifton. Darrel is a junior in architecture from Wellington.

The annual 4-H picnic will be tomorrow at the Rock Springs Ranch.

More and more picnics. This time it is at Woodson's Ranch for the Theta Xis starting at 5 p. m. this evening.

The Collegiate Young Republican group will have a picnic tonight at the Rotary picnic grounds at 5:30.

A tea for seniors in home economics will be given by Dean Justin at 321 North Delaware Saturday at 2:30.

Mothers are to be honored at a tea at the Sig Alpha house on Sunday from 2 to 5.

Former Students Drown in Lake

Three former Kansas State students drowned Saturday night after a motor boat from which they had been fishing became disabled and was overturned on the Lake of the Ozarks. One other member of the party managed to swim to shore after struggling to the boat for about 50 minutes.

The three victims were Robert Schwartz, 26, Loren Douglass, 24, and Charles Douglass, 22. The latter two are brothers and all three are from Kansas City, Kansas. Schwartz was graduated in January, 1943, and was a varsity basketball letterman and intramural doubles champion in tennis.

Loren Douglass was graduated last January in Mechanical Engineering, and his brother Charles was a student in Chemical Engineering and graduated last May. Both were members of the Delta Tau Delta social fraternity at K-State, and were employed by the Phillips Petroleum Company.

The boat was overturned in a terrific windstorm which reached near-hurricane force. The bodies of the victims had not been found Sunday night. There was no trace of the boat after the storm subsided. Only an oar was found drifting on the water.

Davis Gives Plan to Combat Reds

"Communism is an inhuman policy," said Kenneth S. Davis, assistant to President Milton S. Eisenhower, in a speech before the UNESCO meeting Thursday evening. "The principle of communism completely submerges the individual."

As a defense against the communistic threat, Davis suggested letting the communist speak and write freely. "In the end his false propaganda will not affect our people, and democracy and truth will triumph," he said.

"In democracy the individual is supreme," said Davis, "but the communistic state denies flexibility to the individual's actions."

The speaker condemned those who label a man a communist without thorough investigation. "The basic test of whether a man is a communist is to observe him over a period of time. You would probably find him opposed to the Marshall Plan and he would profess a dislike for the futile efforts of Earl Browder."

"The real answer to the communistic threat is for democracy to prove that through democratic processes it can operate against all dependencies such as the economic distribution of goods."

Kansas State is one of 27 midwest colleges and universities participating in the laboratory, operated by the U. S. Atomic Energy Commission. Staff members and graduate students at KSC are using facilities of the laboratory for research in physics, chemistry, engineering and biological sciences.

Honors Won by Home Ec Dean in Contest

Miss Margaret Justin, dean of the School of Home Economics, has been named as state winner in a national contest for home economists conducted by Swift and Company. Entry in the contest called for the completion of the statement, "Why I'm Glad I'm a Home Economist" and prizes included a state bonus, a $15 check, and a contribution made by Swift to the home economics building fund in the name of the winner.

Wyoming Wins Weekend Rodeo; K-State Is Low

Cowboys from Wyoming University, Laramie, scored the most points to win the second Rodeo sponsored by the Chaparral Club over the weekend. They will be presented the inter-collegiate rodeo trophy which had not arrived in time for presentation at the rodeo. Kansas State ended in last place.

Champion all-round cowboy was Bill Whitney, Wyoming University. Bill won an engraved gold and silver belt buckle.

Three-day average winners are: calf roping, first place, Jim Stockton, Arkansas City Junior College; second, Clem McSpadden, Oklahoma A & M; third, Harold Emery, Oklahoma A & M.

Bulldogging, first place, Dale Harris, Wyoming University; second, Jack Warren, Arkansas City Junior College; third, Dick Warren, Kansas State.

Barrel racing, first place, Bob Poga, Western State College, Colorado; second, Curtis Lashbrook, Western State College; third, a tie between Harry Dader, Colorado A & M and John Gammon, Wyoming University.

Bull riding, first, Bill Whitney, Wyoming University; second, Bob Ames, Colorado A & M. Bud Stiles and John Gammon, both of Wyoming University, tied for third place.

Saddle bronc riding was not averaged over three days. Winners for each day are: Friday evening, Chuck Nachtrieb, Western State College. Sunday afternoon, Bill Holland, Colorado A & M. Sunday evening, Chuck Terrill, Colorado A & M.

Coed Cowgirl, Iris Rahn, a junior in home economics, presided over the show.

Reactivate a Course

A program to train persons entering extension work will be reactivated at the College, according to Leonard F. Neff, of the district agents' office here.

The program, dropped during the war, provides for training as Junior Assistants and a series of courses dealing with extension methods. Students are eligible to work as Junior Assistants between their junior and senior year of College, Neff said.

To Give Memorial

Relatives in Chevy Chase Md., are establishing a memorial in the Meditation wing of the all-faith chapel honoring a former faculty member and his daughter.

Two pews will be given in memory of George Failyer, faculty member from 1878 to 1897, and his daughter, Mrs. R. J. Kinzer.

A graduate of 1877, Mr. Failyer lived on a farm near Manhattan until his death in 1945. His daughter, a graduate of 1903, died the following year.

IT WON'T LAST LONG

Veterans Opinions Vary As to $10 Pay Increase

By Darrell Cowell
May Day meant more than a day of festivities and the beginning of the last month of the spring session to the 4,000 veterans on the campus. The first day of May brought to a reality the long discussed, finally passed $10 raise to former GI's attending school.

The Collegian, realizing a chance for student opinion on a national subject, dispatched a reporter to conduct a survey among College veterans. After interviewing several students, both married and single, the reporter found that in a very few instances, veterans actually could place their finger on a particular item their increase would allow them.

The question asked was: How will you spend your $10 pay increase?
Harold Hines, senior in milling, said, "Manhattan merchants will figure out how to take care of the increase for me."

Kenneth Bretz, sophomore in agriculture, said, "I think the raise is fine, but I believe that price increases in the next six months will allow the veterans not much more than the original $65."

Rod Boyles, freshman in business administration, declared, "I could have gotten along on the $65. I think it is a fine thing for married veterans to receive the increased subsistence, but I don't believe the single vets deserved it. I have no plans on how to spend my extra $10."

Ted Paul, sophomore in architecture, joked, "I'll spend it foolishly, as I did the other $3 out of the former $65."

Don Alexander, married veteran in journalism, said, "I don't think I'll have to worry about spending it."

Mae Weaver, former officer in the WACS, and married, said, "I'm going to buy clothes. I don't have the 'new look' and will use the pay increase to add to my wardrobe."

Ralph Cornett, married and a junior in journalism, said, "It gives me a chance to pay up some of my old bills."

"I actually drove into a Manhattan filling station the first of the month and said those immortal words, 'have you any gas?' Bob Duwe, junior in mechanical engineering, said, "I sure felt good to feel that extra $10 bill, even if it was for only five minutes. You see, I have two cars and a motor boat."

Dance Manager

Applications for next year's dance manager should be turned in now, Dick Lindblom, president of the Student Council, announced today. Anyone interested in the position may send their applications either to Lindblom or to the Student Council.

Washburn Receives Service Award

Prof. L. P. Washburn of the Kansas State physical education department has been awarded the men's service pin by the Riley County American Red Cross in recognition of 20 years outstanding service to that organization. During that time he has served as chairman of the first aid, water safety and accident prevention committee. The award is the second ever given by the Riley County Red Cross. The other award was presented to Dan Casement, well-known stockman. Miss Katherine Geyer, head of women's physical education, succeeded Professor Washburn as head of the Red Cross committee.

The honor was the second given Washburn within a week. He recently became president of the central district of the Health, Physical Education and Recreation association which includes the nine-state area of Minnesota, Iowa, Missouri, Kansas, Nebraska, North Dakota, South Dakota, Colorado and Wyoming. He was president-elect last year. Washburn succeeds Elizabeth Graybeal of the Duluth branch of the University of Minnesota.

Hort Profs Plan Project with M. U.

A joint meeting between horticulturists of Kansas State College and the University of Missouri was held last week to make plans for supplementing and dividing horticultural work of the two colleges.

Kansas State has a young orchard in Doniphan County and Missouri U. has one just across the river in Missouri. The two schools will cooperate and supplement each other rather than competing along the same lines. Dr. W. F. Pickett, head of the Department of Horticulture said.

Those from Kansas State who attended the meeting are Dr. Pickett, Prof. W. R. Campbell of the horticulture department, Prof. Harvey Kopper from the economics department and Prof. W. G. Amstein of the extension division.

YM Spring Picnic to Be Saturday

The annual spring picnic of the YMCA will be this Saturday afternoon in Sunset Park. Included in the entertainment will be a tour of the zoo.

Transportation will be furnished and those going should contact the Y office. The group will leave at 2 p. m. from the Student Union. Thirty cents will be assessed to cover the cost of the food.

A Cappella to Sing Numbers Thursday

Numbers sung on the recent statewide tour of the Kansas State's A Cappella Choir will be on the assembly program Thursday morning. The assembly will be in the auditorium at 9:30. The program is part of the college observance of National Music Week.

Four-H Club Leaders Meet Here Thursday

Four-H Club leaders will hold their annual conference here on the campus next Thursday in the Extension Building of the 4-H offices.

The 18 club agents expected to be here for the meeting are in complete charge of the 4-H program in their counties. They work cooperatively with county agents and home demonstration agents.

Charles Pence, one of the agents of Saline County, is now serving as president of the National 4-H Club Agents Association.

Pi Kappa Delta to Initiate Debaters

Five College debaters will be initiated by Pi Kappa Delta, national forensic fraternity at a banquet meeting at Emporia State Teachers College this evening.

K-State initiates are Dick Dethloff, Jim Tucker, Marshall Schirer, Norman Collins and John Tasker. Vernon McGuire, debate coach, accompanied the men to Emporia.

Members are chosen for outstanding work in debate, extemporaneous speech and other forensic activities.

During the season this year, Kansas State's debate team rated excellent at Nebraska University's debate and discussion conference. They won second place at a forensic tournament in Winfield and second among colleges in Kansas, Nebraska and Colorado at the regional Pi Kappa Delta conference in Fort Collins, Colo.

The team carried away honors in eight of twelve debates in a tournament at Texas University.

Shirley Smith and Garth Grissom, both dramatics students, also were on Kansas State's debate team this year.

Newspaper Manager Talks to Ag Writers

Homer Theiman, manager of the Kansas City Drovers Telegram, was guest speaker at the last meeting of the Plover and Pen Club, organization for agriculture journalists. Theiman spoke on the subject of employer-employee relations in the journalistic field.

Election of officers for next year was held. Dale Wiseman was elected president; Bob Fisser, vice-president; Ralph C. Arnold, secretary; Don Tarver, treasurer and Loren Riley, reporter.

Show, Picnic, Dance Top Senior Program

"Ticket sales indicate that Kansas State seniors are going all out for Senior Day," says Dave Schirmer, chairman of the Senior Day committee.

After sleeping till noon Wednesday, if they wish, students will be ready to take in a free movie. After the show is out at 3:30, adjournment will be to Sunset Park for a picnic with all the trimmings. Seniors can work up appetites playing baseball. To finish off the day, Matt Betton will play for a dance in the Community Building from 9 to 12.

According to the Faculty Council all women classified as seniors may have a 1 a. m. night. Any underclassmen attending the dance must either be in by 10 p. m. or take a semester special.

Gets Dietetics Job

Myrna Adey has accepted appointment as a dietetic intern at Oklahoma A. and M. College, Stillwater, effective September 1, the School of Home Economics has announced.

Miss Adey is a senior in home economics and dietetics. She will be graduated this spring.

Attends Conference

Dr. Josephine Kramer, head of the Department of Household Management, is in Washington, D.C. this week attending the National Conference on Family Life. She will be home management representative in her discussion group.

Now in its third year, the choir has a total membership of 85 students with every school in the College represented. In addition to the recent week-long tour in Kansas, the choir has sung for General "Ike" Eisenhower, members of the state legislature committees and annual Christmas vespers.

Prof. Luther P. Leavenworth will direct the choir, which he organized in 1945. A small group three years ago, it has become the largest vocal organization on the campus.

"Summertime" from Gershwin's "Porgy and Bess" will be among numbers in the opening group. Other numbers include "Salvation is Created," by Tschinkoff; "O Fili et Filiae," by Ingegneri; a Russian folk song, "The Birch Tree," by Dett; "Heavenly Light," a traditional number of the choir sung at all performance, by Kopoylow; "Hospodui Pomilui," a Russian liturgical number, and Thompson's "Alleluia."

Two spirituals are among the last group to be sung in selections. They are "Listen to the Lambs," by Dett, and "I am a Poor, Wayfaring Stranger." Other numbers include "Echo Song," by di Lasso; Hindemith's "The Doe" and "Since All is Passing;" "Kolyada," a Puskian carol; a Ukrainian folk song, "Lullaby" and "The Peasant and His Oxen," a Jugo-Slav number.

Friday morning the choir will sing for an assembly of junior and senior high school students in the high school building.

Class Schedule
7:00-7:50 will meet 7:00-7:40
8:00-8:50 will meet 7:50-8:30
9:00-9:50 will meet 8:40-9:20

Wichita Speaker at '48 Commencement

Dr. J. Henry Hornung, Wichita, will be speaker at Kansas State College's 85th annual Commencement exercises May 30. A. L. Pugsley, dean of administration, announced yesterday.

The College will grant some 650 degrees, largest number in history.

Dr. Hornung is in his 24th year as minister of the Plymouth Congregational-Christian Church in Wichita. He holds degrees from Heidelberg in Tiffin, Ohio; Toledo University, and Washburn in Topeka.

Dr. Hornung gave the baccalaureate address at Kansas State in 1936. He also has given commencement and baccalaureate addresses at Washburn and Wichita universities and Doane College, Crete, Neb., and many high school commencement addresses.

Commencement exercises will be held at Memorial Stadium, weather permitting. If it rains, the program will be held in the College Auditorium, Dean Pugsley said.

Plans Outlined for Vets Going Abroad

The veterans administration has outlined the procedures to be followed by veterans now in college who wish to study abroad during the summer months, according to Orval Edwards, College veterans service officer.

Veterans must first get a letter of acceptance from the VA along with a supplemental certificate of eligibility from the approved foreign institution VA regional office.

The letter of acceptance and supplemental certificate must then be presented to the State Department to obtain passports and visas. Veterans must pay their own transportation costs.

The veterans administration strongly recommends that foreign study be in a country in which the VA has an Attache for Veterans Affairs. These include Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Belgium, Britain, Mexico, France, Switzerland and Italy.

TELL THEM IT'S A SORORITY HOUSE, THEY'LL MAKE BETTER TIME.

A Key to Peace

Almost every day we see hollow-eyed, starving European children staring at us from the newsreel screen or from newspaper or magazine pictures. These children are the victims of one of nature's cruelest jokes—that of being brought into a world that has neither the interest nor ability to bring them up properly and decently.

These children hold the key to Europe, and possibly the world's hope for lasting peace. But will these children choose to fit the key in the right lock? Will they become so hardened and indifferent from their sufferings that they will open the door to a holocaust that will engulf the world or will they respond to the friendship and generosity of countries and organizations that are trying to help them?

The possibility of the latter is being strengthened by the United Nations Appeal for Children which is being made in this country through American Overseas Aid as a Crusade for Children.

Kansas UNESCO is playing a definite part in this drive. County UNESCO commissions have accepted the responsibility of conducting or sponsoring the drives in their counties.

President Milton S. Eisenhower, chairman of the U. S. National Commission for UNESCO believes that children represent "a fresh start, a new hope for the disillusioned, weary race of men." In the faces of children one sees aspects of a possible good life and decent world in the future.

But, according to President Eisenhower, if one gazes honestly into the eyes of today's children, in tortured Asia and Europe, one does not see this alone. "You can see ghosts of a terrible future if they remain unexercised," he discloses.

The twisted neurotic souls who flock to the banners of totalitarianism, because they lack inner stability and so long for some external authority, are souls which were shaped in children.

Dr. Nabours Breeds Grasshoppers to Study Laws of Heredity at KSC

By Blaine B. Phillips
 In the southeastern corner of the campus greenhouse, behind a scarred paint door secured against intruders by an old Yale lock, stand row upon row of little-below-waist-high tables holding what look to be simply many large glass jars covered with screen wire.

Through the dusty windows, you can usually see someone studying these screened jars. At each step, this "someone" makes a series of marks on a closely gripped clipboard, meanwhile apparently unconcerned with anything but this little world behind the scarred paint door with the old Yale lock.

Go down a center aisle through the "little - below - waist-high tables," turn right and you'll find the man responsible for this strange world under glass.

A neatly dressed man of a medium build, gray hair, and wearing gold-framed spectacles protected from offensive glare by an old green eye shade, Dr. Robert K. Nabours appears to be a man in his early 60's.

World Under Glass
 And this world under glass? It is the spot where for 38 years Dr. Nabours has experimented with the genetics of grasshoppers. This extensive research was started at K-State in 1910, the year Dr. Nabours came here to work on his doctor's thesis.

The large glass jars covered with screen wire — the ones where the grasshoppers are observed and studied—seem to be the nucleus of the doctor's life. At a recent counting, this man who breeds grasshoppers in Kansas, found that 416,795 specimens had been preserved in 46,833 vials. These grasshoppers represent areas from Manhattan to Vera Cruz, Mexico.

Besides his studies on grasshoppers, Dr. Nabours also has been engaged in the study of sheep genetics and sheep characteristics. Within the last 38 years, this work has involved two and one half trips around the world.

35 Collecting Expeditions
 However, the grasshopper study has captured more of the doctor's time. This work has called for some 35 collecting expeditions into southeastern Texas and Mexico. These trips have given Dr. Nabours some of his most highly prized specimens.

The burden of expense has not been entirely on the state, for several of the more extensive exploratory and collecting excursions were provided for by grants-in-aid by the National Research Council, the American Academy of Science and the Carnegie Institution.

Thinking back, the doctor relates that he has examined nearly ten million specimens in order to select the desired characteristics. Of this number he and his assistants have bred experimentally at least a million in his laboratory.

This would mean that Dr. Nabours possesses the most references on this subject and that his collection would no doubt constitute the greatest number of grasshoppers anywhere.

"Prof" Nabours, as his students call him, has been teaching a class in human genetics at Kansas State for some 25 or 30 years. He started as an instructor and within a few years worked up to head of the department of zoology. He held this position until 1944.

His time now is devoted to research.

Discovers Laws of Heredity
 The zoologist pointed out that these years of intensive research in the study of grasshoppers, or grouse locusts as he likes to call them, has been of no economic importance so far as the insects are concerned, but that these laws of heredity learned from grasshopper study, and the laws that others have learned in the study of the guinea pig, fruit fly and chicken, can be applied to the highly developed animal we know as the human being.

Milling Fraternity Honors Nineteen
 New members of the Kansas State College chapter of Alpha Mu, honorary milling fraternity, will be honored at a banquet this evening in the Wareham Hotel, according to J. A. Shellenberger, milling department head.

Pat Uhlman of the Midland Flour Mills Company, Kansas City, Mo., is speaker for the evening program. Nineteen initiates and two recently voted honorary membership in the fraternity have been invited to the program. Shellenberger said.

The two honorary members are John Cain, president of the Midland Flour Mills Company, Kansas City, Mo., and Elmer Reed, vice-president and general manager of the Shellenberger Mills, Salina.

Denison Hall, physics, chemical and electrical engineering building was constructed in 1902. It was destroyed by fire in 1934. The building was located northeast of Anderson Hall.

In 1912, Kansas State's first radio station started broadcasting daily weather reports in Morse code. This is believed to have been the first broadcasting in the country of weather reports by radio on a fixed schedule.

VOX STUDENS

(Editor's note: The opinions presented in this column may or may not express the opinion of The Collegian. The letters are presented here for the student information. In order to conserve space, will writers please limit their letters to no more than 300 words.)

Dear Editor,

Though I heartily agree with the tenor of Mr. Welch's thinking—I fail to see how we can return to the past and at the same time be sure democracy is kept growing. As I see it, the one is the antithesis of the other. We cannot both go back and grow.

I agree there is a need for a greater recognition of the responsibilities incumbent upon the citizen of a modern democratic republic—but to reaffirm those duties and obligations can not, so it seems to me, be construed to require a return to any bygone ideology. To emphasize the ideals of democracy to regress but to recognize those dynamic principles as being no more the unique property of our ancestors than of this generation, or the next. They belong to all time since their birth in the hearts and minds of such radicals (to their contemporaries) as Christ, Luther, Paine and Jefferson. To bring about a clearer understanding of them is but a part of the maturation of our republic.

Therefore, I believe that—in the home, in the church and in the school—we need, not return or 'going back', but simply to wake up and face the forward end of the horse.

Respectfully,
 PHIL RUDE

On Other Campuses

By V. L. Nicholson

Two University of Chicago students have found an easy method of working their way through school. Yesterday they ran a $300 stake up to $700 in a Reno club. Last summer they made $12,000 off a similar stake. They say it's all done according to a formula they worked out in a math class. Getting out, not getting out of Social World.

A survey at Michigan State college revealed that the average date costs the fellow five dollars. One coed said that she had had "a plenty good time without spending any money. After all," she pointed out, "Spring is here to be enjoyed."

A group of Iowa State professors are discussing the need for more difficult entrance examinations. If they really want to get at the root of the trouble they could just make finals easier. Gettin' out, not getting in, is what worries me.

A sociology professor at the University of Oklahoma has said that "necking should be brought out of the woods and into the open." He expressed doubt, though, that the ones in the woods would want to come out.

General Mac Arthur received one vote in the recent University of Wichita May Queen election. Maybe the General has given up the presidential race and decided he would rather be "Queen for a Day."

A group of KU students recently ejected several Negro students from a Lawrence restaurant. Hand in hand, higher education and democracy stride onward.

It looks as if bridge and poker are on their way out and education is coming into its own at the University of Oklahoma. Last week residents of Kingfisher Hall spent $80 to convert their game room into a study.

Dual Meet To K.U.; New Dicus Record

One meet record was smashed and another equaled by the K-State trackmen here Saturday as the Wildcats fell 70 to 61 before the Kansas Jayhawks in the only home meet of the season. The final event of the day, the mile relay, was the deciding factor in which way the title would go. In that event Jayhawk runners Stites, Wagstaff, Binter and Shea romped home in 3.22 to clinch the meet for the Kansans.

Hefty Rollin Prather arched the discus 152 feet 2 3/4 inches to top the meet record of 145 feet 7 inches set by Dick Peters of State back in 1940. Prather also won the shotput with a heave of 51 feet 3 1/2 inches.

Hurdles master Earl Elliott continued his season's array of flashy performances by clipping off the 120 yard high hurdles in 14.9 seconds to tie the old record set by a fellow Wildcat Dick Hotchkiss in 1939 and Ed Darden in 1940.

Heaviest scorer of the day for the Wildcats was Rodney McClay who collected 14 points by winning two dashes and a tie for first place in the pole vault. McClay traveled the 100 yard dash in 10 seconds and also won the 220 yard dash in 22 seconds. In the pole vault he cleared 11 feet 3 inches to tie for first place with Kansas University's Wilson. Johnson of K-State took the third place in that event.

All-American hoop ace, Howard Shannon, was airborne for 23 feet 7-8 inch to take first place in the broad jump. Shannon also had a full day as he went on to cop a second in the low hurdles and another second in the high jump.

Two days before the meet Coach Ward Haylett predicted a Jayhawk victory by one point. He estimated the score to be 66-65. Had the Wildcats won the last event, the mile relay, the final score would have been just the reverse, 66-65 favoring the Wildcats.

Meet results: 100 yard dash — McClay, KS; Schlusser, KU; Wagstaff, KU; 10.0. 220 yard dash — McClay, KS; Wagstaff, KU; Stites, KU; 22.0. 440 yard dash — Stites, KU; Binter, KU; Thomas, KS; 49.5. 880 yard dash — Shea, KU; Studt, KU; Hildenbrand, KS; 1:56.4. Mile run — Moore, KU; Karnes, KU; Neasure, KS; 4:21. 2 mile run — Karnes, KU; Van Haverbeke, KS; Moore, KU; 9:37.6. 4 mile run — Elliott, KS; 19.0. 120 yard high hurdles — Elliott, KS; Thornton, KS; 14.9. (Tied meet record). 220 yard low hurdles — Schlusser, KU; Shannon, KS; Kiser, KS; 24.3. Pole vault — McClay, KS; and Wilson, KU (tie); Johnson, KS; 11-3. High jump — Schotfield, KU; Shannon, KS; and Danielson, KS (tie); 6-3. Broad jump — Shannon, KS; Kiser, KS; Crowley, KU; 23-7.8. Shotput — Prather, KS; Robison, KU; Harman, KS; 51-3 1/2. Discus — Prather, KS; Robison, KU; Payne, KS; 152-2 1/2. (New meet record). Javelin — Henoch, KU; Williams, KS; Robison, KU; 126-3 7/8. Mile relay — Kansas University; Stites; Wagstaff; Binter; Shea; 3:22.

K-State Golf Squad Meets Hawks Today

After absorbing three straight losses the K-State golf team was hoping to get back into the win column in their matches with the Missouri and Kansas linksters yesterday and today. Coach Bennie York and the team left Sunday for Columbia where they met the Tigers yesterday. The Cats will interrupt their homeward journey with a stop at K.U. for a round with the Jayhawk linksters today.

In their last three starts, the Wildcats have bowed to Wichita 17 1/2 to 1/2, Oklahoma U. 16 to 4. Earlier this season the Kansas Wesleyan team was easily defeated by the Wildcats 15 1/2 to 5 1/2.

Chalk Talk

By NORV GISH

Those who know Ward Haylett, K-State's veteran track coach, agree that the long time boss of the Wildcat cinder artists really knows his business. During his reign as track mentor, Haylett has consistently gotten the most from the none too abundant material available. He has developed some outstanding stars here at K-State, and in doing so has won nationwide fame for himself and for Kansas State College.

The agreeable thincial tutor is recognized as one of the deans of track coaching in America. In 1936, he was with the United States Olympic squad at the international games in Berlin. Again this year, he will be a member of the U. S. Olympic coaching staff, for he has been named coach of the American decathlon entrants.

Haylett's selection for the honor came some time ago, but little mention was made of it. At a time when K-State athletic fortunes are again on the upswing after a disastrous period of continuous defeat, due recognition should be given to

A climax to the "Gifts for Gardner and the Boys" campaign was reached Friday night when the team and coaches were presented with their gifts. The presentation was made in Memorial Stadium between halves of the final intra-squad football game of spring training.

The high point of the ceremony came when a 1948 Chevrolet Fleetline sedan was driven around the track and the keys handed over to basketball coach Jack Gardner. Following this, Gardner spoke to the 4,000 people present and thanked all who contributed to the campaign. He also expressed the appreciation felt by himself and the team for the spirit and backing shown by the students at Kansas State during the basketball season.

He presented the trophies won by the team this year to President Milton S. Eisenhower. The trophies were for winning the Big Seven Invitational Tournament at Kansas City, the Big Seven Conference title, and for winning second in the NCAA western play-offs.

The team was first presented with "K" blankets by Chet Brewer, on behalf of the Manhattan Chamber of Commerce. Don Ford, retiring president of the Student Council, gave the players and assistant coach Tex Winter, the luggage that was purchased by money obtained from the "Gifts" campaign. Four men, who did not let their year, and two trainers received pen and pencil sets engraved with their names.

Howard Shannon was awarded a certificate from the Helms Foundation for being picked on their all-American basketball team. Despite cries of speech, the slender guard declined the offer to speak. Coach Gardner commented that he "was glad Shannon wasn't that modest on the basketball court."

Cats Snap Buff Winning Streak at Ten Straight

A hustling, hard hitting team of Wildcats stopped Colorado University's winning streak at ten games Saturday, by defeating the Buffs 6 to 4. K-State lost the first contest 4 to 3, Friday afternoon.

Rained Out

The scheduled baseball game between the Wildcats and Kansas Wesleyan Monday night was called off because of rain. The contest was to have been played in Salina. It was the second time the game has been postponed.

Wildcat Gridders Check in Suits; Graham Satisfied

"We've come a long way this spring, but we have a longer way yet to go," was Coach Ralph Graham's comment following the final intra-squad football game Friday night. "The boys showed a lot of spirit and enthusiasm, something that is hard to do in spring practice, when there is no weekend game to look forward to."

The "Gold" team won 34-19, although the "Blues" put up a hard fight and made the game an even affair. The Blue team was never out of the running and showed they were still there when they came back to score the last touchdown of the game.

Gerald Hackney opened the scoring for the Gold team when he crashed through the line into the end-zone for a touchdown. Hackney scored again later in the game on a series of line plunges.

Estes Stars
Ross Estes, former letterman, turned in the longest run of the evening when he sprinted 45 yards for a touchdown. He was the most consistent ground gainer on the squad and made several dashes of 30 yards or more from his wingback position.

"The first three lines looked good and especially at the ends. We have the best end prospects seen at K-State in some time," Graham said. "Our lines, as a whole, aren't bad, but we do need reserve strength, particularly at the guards."

In the backfield, the fullback position seems to be the strongest point. Hackney, Johnson, and Stehley all played a good game. Harold Bryan, another fullback, was unable to play because of a leg injury. "What we need most in the backfield," according to Graham, "is a good, fast breakaway halfback. One that can get through the line and go all the way."

Rough Intramural Tennis Competition

An original field of 15 entries in the all-college intramural tennis tournament has been pared to eight in the independent bracket and 16 remaining in the fraternity division. Play started the first of April and will not be concluded for another two weeks.

In the fraternity doubles bracket, 15 teams remain, while six independent pairs remain in competition. Quarterfinal matches in the independent singles will find Wilbur Engelland playing Bob Thorn. Tom Leathers vs. Carmen Wilcox, and Billy Langhofer vs. Maurice Wear. Bill Brainard advanced to the semifinal round by forfeit.

Opponents in the singles matches of the fraternity division are: M. Peck vs. J. White, Charles Werhan vs. Ward

Intramural

By Keith Duckers

Dates for the intramural track meet have been set for May 12 and 17, according to L. F. Washburn, Director of Intramurals. "Members of the freshmen and varsity track squads will be ineligible for intramural competition in the track meet," Washburn stated.

Softball games that resulted in ties during the season will be re-scheduled and posted on the intramural bulletin board in the gym.

Results of games played Wednesday are: Sigma Epsilon 6, Alpha Tau Omega 4; Phi Kappa 11, Beta Theta Pi 2; Phi Delta Theta 3, Alpha Kappa Lambda 5; Jr. A. V. M. A. 4, Y. M. C. A. 3; Sigma Nu 6, Delta Sigma Phi 1; Kappa Sigma 6, Farm House 3; Theta Xi 17, Alpha Gamma Rho 1; and Varsity Vampires 10, Moro Courts No. 4, 1.

Thursday's results: Baggett Students 6, Gung Ho Kids 3; Wesleyan Foundation 1, West Stadium 6 (forfeit); Dark Horace 5, Black Cats 5; and Poultry Club shut out Barracks No. 4, 2 to 0.

SOCIETY

AT STATE

K-State will be minus several hundred students tomorrow. It's not a walk-out or a convention . . . but Senior Day. It sounds like a big day, too. The committee has been working hard to make it a success. Events will start at 1 p.m. with a free movie. Following the show will be a huge picnic in Sunset Park. The day will wind up at the Community House where seniors and their dates will dance from 9 to 12 to the music of Matt Betton's band. Now for the social events at State over the week-end.

Roses at Hills' Heights announced the June 6 wedding of Marjorie Goeken and Harold VanAmburg. Marjorie is a freshman in home economics from Linn. Harold is a sophomore with a biological science major. He is from Washington and a member of Theta Xi.

May Day was the theme of the Alpha Kappa Lambda dinner-dance Saturday night. The dinner was at the Wareham. Dancing at the Avalon followed the dinner. Yellow, white and green streamers carried out their theme.

In the receiving line were: Mrs. Helen McCarroll, George Smith, Beverly Babb, Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Price, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Anderson and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Brehm.

Pi Beta Phi sorority had its 81st annual Founders Day dinner at the Country Club Wednesday night.

Roses were received twice at Pal-O-Mie this weekend. May 24 is the date set for the wedding of Vada Volkening of Alma to Don Drayer, Manhattan. Both were graduated from K-State at the end of the fall semester. Don is working in Oak Ridge, Tenn.

Wanda Snyder announced her approaching marriage to Otis Gilliland on June 20 at Liberal. Wanda is a junior in arts and sciences from Moscow. Otis is a senior in electrical engineering from Girard.

Twenty-five mothers were guests at the Alpha Delta Pi Mother's Day dinner Sunday at the chapter house.

Alpha Gamma Rho initiated nine members Sunday morning. The initiates are: Jack Savage, Ralph Crow, Jr., Thomas Keigwin, Gene Crackle, Lawrence McCarty, Virgil Lair, Harry Brownlee, Hal Ramsbottom and Dick Ransom.

Howard Wood is a new active of Acacia following weekend initiation ceremonies. Twenty-one members of the K. U. chapter were also initiated. This was the activation of the

Two hundred dollars in cash prizes will be awarded to winners of the crops judging contest being held Saturday, at 1 p. m., in East Ag. 308.

All students are eligible to enter the contest, which will be divided into freshman, junior, and senior divisions. The contest is sponsored by the Klot and Kernel Klub, agronomy organization.

Prizes will be awarded at a meeting at 6:00 that same evening. Carl Carlson, chairman of the prize committee, announced yesterday.

Organizations making cash contributions for the contest include the Kansas City Board of Trade, $50; Weekly Kansas City Star, $20; Quaker Oats Co., $20; Kansas Crop Improvement Assoc., $20; Sears Roebuck Foundation, $15; Associated Millers of Kansas Wheat, $10; John Deere Plow Co., $10; Kansas City Chamber of Commerce, $10; Dekalb Agriculture Assoc. Inc., $10; Barteldes Seed Co., $5; Southwestern Miller, $5; International Harvester Co., $5.

Companies contributing seed corn to be used as prizes included the following: two bushels by Earl May Co. and Ed F. Mangelsdorf and Brothers Inc.; one bushel by the Kansas Hybrids Assoc., Peppard Hybrid Seed Co., Missouri Hybrids Assoc., and Cornell Hybrid Seed Co.

Other merchandise contributed included a number 694 Trug Soil Reaction tester, Urbana Soil Reaction tester, two LoMotte test kits, 100 pounds of Anacodon triple superphosphate fertilizer, one bolt of toweling from the Chase Towing Co., and a $5 credit card from Henry Fields.

Subscriptions to Successful Farming, Cappers Farmer, and Kansas Farmer will also be included in the prizes.

Lip Reading Course May Be Taught Here

A course in lip reading for veterans with hearing difficulties will be taught at Kansas State this summer if at least 10 veteran students sign up for it. A. L. Pugsley, dean of the summer school, has announced. No credit is offered for the training, which will be taught for one hour each day, if offered. Veterans who have GI Bill time can take it at government expense. If the course materializes, a limited number of additional non-veterans may be admitted on a fee basis.

Agnes Garthune, Wichita teacher who taught a similar course at Pittsburg State Teachers' College last summer, will be contracted to teach the course if it is offered. The course at Kansas State would last nine weeks and would begin on June 10.

All students interested in the course should sign up immediately at the Veterans Service Office, room 3 in the basement of Anderson Hall and in no case later than 5 p. m., Monday, May 10, Dean Pugsley said.

Fall Collegian Staff Announced by Gish

Staff positions for the fall semester Collegian have been filled, Norville Gish, editor, has announced.

Assistant editors will be Don Alexander and Bill Krause. Both are copy desk assistants on The Collegian this semester.

Charles Lyon will handle the copy desk editors job. Lyon was assistant copy desk editor last semester. Max McRae, Mary Alice Wolf and Ralph Arnold will assist Lyon.

Neil Erdwien will be sports editor and Joe Henderson will assist with sports. Both have written sports for The Collegian this semester.

Society will be written by Janice Addington next fall. She is working as a Collegian reporter and feature writer at present.

A new Collegian staff position has been added to the roster by Gish. The new post is re-write editor which will be filled by Barbara Holmes.

Extension Picnic

A picnic for the personnel and families of the College extension division will be Saturday at the 4-H camp at Rock Springs. Food for the occasion will be prepared by dieticians at Thompson Cafeteria.

KSC CATALOG IS NOW READY

The book most in demand at the College this week has a dull gray jacket and 302 pictureless pages.

It is the new edition of the Kansas State catalog which arrived this week from the printers. The book contains a description of all courses offered at the College, rules, student organizations, requirements for the various degrees, an academic calendar, all curriculums available, awards, scholarships and other information concerning the College.

Some 11,000 copies of the catalog are to be used to fill a backlog of requests, according to R. W. Babcock, dean of the school of arts and sciences. A large percentage of them go to prospective students.

Only 4,000 additional copies were received for distribution to faculty and students and to fill future requests, Dean Babcock said.

More catalogs have been ordered from the printer. Meantime students and faculty vie for the few remaining copies. Students on the campus took some of the catalogs from envelopes addressed to others, leaving the envelopes to be refilled.

Student to Give Concert Sunday

Italian, French, German and English songs will be sung by Mary Collier, soprano, in her senior vocal recital Sunday. The recital will be given at 4 p. m. in the auditorium.

Miss Collier, voice major, is a pupil of Prof. J. Forrest West of the voice faculty. She spent her sophomore year studying voice at New York University. Last year she gave her junior recital at the College.

English numbers in the last group selections include Rachmaninoff's "In the Silence of Night"; "Will of the Wind" by Charles Spross; "Moon Marketing" and James Roger's "The Last Song."

Play Try-Outs to Be Held This Evening

Try-outs for four one-act plays will be at 4 p. m. today in G 206, according to Prof. Earl G. Hoover. The plays will include "The Wedding" by John Cook Patrick, "The Red Peppers" by Noel Coward, "The Blue Teapot" by Jean Lee Lathen and one play to be selected.

Student directors for the productions will be Cliff Hunt, Mary Frances Weaver, Jane McDonald and Helen Hammond. Mr. Hunt, Miss Weaver and Miss McDonald have been student directors for recent Kansas State Player major productions. Miss Hammond recently directed a 4-H club show that was judged second in a state contest.

One-act experimental productions provide an excellent opportunity for students interested in drama to gain stage experience, Professor Hoover said.

Merchants Deny Charges of Raising Prices to Absorb G. I. Increase

By TOM LEATHERS

The recent G. I. increase in subsistence allowance brought hearty approval from more than 4,000 veterans on the campus. According to a Collegian survey, some are going to use the extra money to pay old bills, splurge on some new clothes, or take in a couple extra shows a month.

But in the last few days several veterans have written to The Collegian complaining that Manhattan merchants were absorbing the extra cash by increasing their prices. Two of these letters are reprinted elsewhere in the paper.

However, Aggieville and Manhattan quickly defended themselves from these accusations.

Meat Prices Increase

"The price of beef has jumped 23 cents since January, and hamburger has increased from 39 cents to 60 cents," said Jay Gould, owner of an Aggieville cafe. "It's true I raised the price of my dinners five cents

Denver U. Head Will Get Degree

Dr. J. F. Price, recently named Chancellor of Denver U., will receive an honorary doctor of laws degree at Kansas State College's 55th annual commencement exercises in Memorial Stadium here May 30, President Milton S. Eisenhower of Kansas State announced today.

The son of Prof. and Mrs. Ralph R. Price of Manhattan, Chancellor Price was graduated from Kansas State in 1927 with a degree in rural commerce. He also holds two degrees from Stanford University, Palo Alto, Calif. His father has been with the Kansas State history department since 1903.

The Chancellor was president of Kansas State Teachers College at Emporia from 1943 to 1945 when he went to Denver University as head of the law and commerce departments. He had previously been dean of law school at Washburn University, Topeka. He was acting chancellor six months prior to his appointment as chancellor.

He will arrive in Manhattan May 29 and will speak at an alumni day dinner that evening.

Friesen Is Winner of Ag Fellowship

Max J. Friesen is winner of the 1948 Danforth fellowship award at the College. C. W. Mullen, assistant dean of the School of Agriculture, announced today.

Friesen, a junior in agricultural administration, will spend two weeks as guest of the Ralston Purina company in St. Louis and two weeks at the American Youth Foundation Camp Minnawana at Shelby, Mich., as award winners.

Students from 36 agricultural colleges in the United States and Canada received the award, granted annually.

Non-Mother Begins Mother's Day Idea

By RUSTY CRIFFIN

Many K-S students are planning a trip home Sunday to pay tribute to their mothers. Strangely enough, Mother's Day was originated by a woman who was not a mother nor ever married.

It was in 1907 that Miss Anna M. Jarvis of Philadelphia conceived the idea of a day which would pay tribute to mothers. One Sunday in May, Miss Jarvis arranged for special services at her church. She asked those attending services to wear white carnations to honor their mothers.

The services and the idea of honoring mothers were so appealing that the following year similar services were held in more churches. Gradually the idea grew until in 1911 special church services were held in every state in the United States. The second Sunday in May was agreed upon as a suitable date for Mother's Day.

The International Mother's Day Association was formed in 1912. In 1914, Congress officially designated the second Sunday in May as Mother's Day in the United States, Mexico, Canada, South America and China also have set aside a day to honor mothers.

Through the years the custom of wearing flowers on Mother's Day has grown. A red flower signifies the wearer's Mother is living—a white one that she is deceased. The painting Whistler did of his mother also has come to symbolize this day.

Need Short Essays

Several short essays of 1,000 words or less are needed for the 1949 edition of the Kansas Magazine, according to Professor Robert Conover, editor of the magazine. College students of Kansas are eligible to write the essays.

Double Trouble

The housing problem was doubly increased Tuesday morning for Mr. and Mrs. Joe Moses of Goodnow Courts with the arrival of twin boys, Richard and Roger. The twins were born in Lawrence. Mr. and Mrs. Moses have one other child. Joe is a senior in mechanical engineering from Mc-Louth.

Lambda Chi Alpha to Reactivate

Lambda Chi Alpha, social fraternity, which has been inactive at Kansas State since 1937, will be reactivated and will initiate 27 new members at the Methodist Temple Saturday afternoon. The Kansas City Alumni Association of Lambda Chi will send a degree team here for the initiation.

The fraternity will have an informal banquet Saturday evening at the Wareham Hotel to observe its reactivation. Included in the program or on the guest list are V. D. Foltz, faculty adviser for fraternities; President Milton S. Eisenhower; Walter McKee, new president of the chapter; Dr. H. V. Feist, a member of the Kansas City organization; R. W. Babcock, dean of arts and sciences; and Colman Nolen, a representative of the national organization of Lambda Chi Alpha.

Desmond Wait, an active from the chapter at the University of Alberta, Canada, will be the toastmaster at the banquet. There are chapters of Lambda Chi Alpha at all the Big Seven schools. A chapter was installed at the University of Kansas last year.

Lambda Chi Alpha was active at Kansas State from 1924 to 1937. It built the house at 1221 Thurston, which is now the Kappa Sigma house. The chapter is searching for a house now and hopes to have one by September.

This conference is bringing together representatives of 125 national organizations who will discuss various problems confronting the American family today.

Morrison Cautions Vets in Employment

"Veterans leaving the campus can sidestep serious snafu by not applying for servicemen's readjustment allowance for unemployment until after their subsistence allowance for education has been discontinued." That word of caution is from John Morrison of Topeka, director of the Kansas Employment Security Division, the agency which handles the SRA payments in Kansas. Federal law subjects veterans who accept allowances for which they are not eligible to heavy penalties and forfeiture of all future allowances.

"Further, to qualify for SRA between school terms the veteran must be seeking any type of work usually performed by students at vacation time. In other words the veteran available for work during the summer cannot be extremely 'choosy' and still draw SRA," according to Morrison.

Both SRA and employment applications are handled by the Kansas State Employment Service offices, which give veterans first chance at every job for which they can qualify. With job opportunities fairly plentiful, we will be able to direct many veterans to satisfactory employment, Morrison said.

Veterans who want either summer or permanent jobs should apply to the KSES office nearest where they want to work. Offices are located in Arkansas, Atchison, Chanute, Coffeyville, Concordia, Dodge City, El Dorado, Emporia, Ft. Scott, Garden City, Goodland, Great Bend, Hays, Hutchinson, Independence, Kansas City, Lawrence, McPherson, Manhattan, Marysville, Newton, Olathe, Ottawa, Parsons, Pittsburg, Salina, Topeka and Wichita.

Within a few days of the date the veteran's subsistence increased, the Yellow Cab Company prices increased its fee 10 cents for trips to certain areas near the end of the city limits. Included is the campus housing units. An official of the company said the reason for the increase was because of the expansion of the city. "We've been taking people three miles for a quarter, while it's costing us 20 cents a mile," said the official.

One possible solution to the problem of increased commodity costs is offered in the plan of the college cafeteria. There, when prices go to high on a certain meat they just cut that item off the menu and offer meat substitutes or meat extenders.

Glen H. Beck, associate professor of dairy husbandry, will sponsor the club during the 1948-49 school year.

Commencement Exercises May 30; Partial List of Graduates Released

Two of Faculty Are Scientist Chairmen

Two College faculty members were elected chairmen of section of the Kansas Academy of Science in Pittsburg last week.

Dr. W. G. Schrenk of the chemistry department was elected head of the chemistry section. New chairman of the physics section is Dr. R. H. McFarland of the physics department.

Those of the chemistry department attending the meeting were Schrenk, J. S. Hughes, A. T. Perkins and H. E. Scheid, a graduate student. E. K. Chapin, Boris Leaf, McFarland and a graduate student, C. S. Clay, represented the physics department.

Schrenk presented a paper on chemical analysis of representative Kansas soils written by Perkins and himself.

A paper on the vitamin A content of the blood of cats and dogs, written by D. B. Parrish, of the chemistry department and Roy Coleman, senior in industrial chemistry, was given by Hughes.

K-Staters to Attend Family Life Confab

Dr. Lois R. Schulz, head of the Department of Child Welfare and Euthenics, Dr. Josephine Kremer, head of the Department of Household Economics and Mrs. Russell Dury, state chairman of Family Life and Parent Education for the Parent Teachers Association are attending the National Conference on Family Life in Washington, D. C., this weekend.

This conference is bringing together representatives of 125 national organizations who will discuss various problems confronting the American family today.

Students Draw Up City Expansion Plan

Five Kansas State students will report on future expansion of Manhattan business districts at a meeting of the Co-op Club Monday evening. These students are members of a civic arts class of the horticulture department who used this expansion as a class problem this semester.

The class has made a study of the present and future needs of both the downtown and Aggieville business districts. They have drawn up maps showing their suggestions for the best possible methods of expanding. Parking and widening of present residential streets has been provided for in their plans for the future Manhattan.

Their plans have been presented to the Manhattan City Commission along with the class's recommendation for the location of future municipal building.

The five students making the report are Bob Bell, Howard Borchardt, Charles McCarthy, Ralph Ricklefs, Jr., and Don Roepke.

Alpha Mu Initiates Honorary Members

Honorary members initiated into the Alpha Mu, honorary milling fraternity, were John Cain, head of Midland Flour Mills Company, Kansas City, Mo. and Elmer Reed, vice-president and general manager of the Shellabarger Mills of Salina.

John McLinden, Fred Merrill, W. L. Williams, Don Sundberg, Wallace Champney, Howard Rinkel, Tom Flahive, John Cain Jr.

A partial list of candidates for degrees was released yesterday by Miss Eleanor Tibbetts, registrar. Commencement exercises will be held May 30 in Memorial Stadium.

Alumni in Drive for Membership Among Graduates

Faculty members of the college "Alumni" Association will conduct a drive from May 11 to May 25 in an effort to get seniors and graduate students to join the association. Personal contact will be made with each person receiving a degree by a faculty member from his department.

A strengthened Alumni Association is especially desirable this year, Kenny L. Ford, alumni secretary, pointed out, if the organization is to take on the new project of promoting college athletics.

This year the Alumni Association is including an item in its budget to cover most of the cost of maintaining a field representative of the athletic department. Now working in this capacity is Ted Warren, a former Kansas State football star and graduate of 1939.

Since 1916 all life membership money has been used for the student loan fund. This reunion day, May 29, the returning Alumni will vote on an amendment to the association constitution to permit the Alumni Board to spend the membership money for other projects.

During the next few years the board plans to put most of the money into athletic scholarships, which conform to the NCAA rules. So far the student loan fund has built up to more than $230,000. This amount, plus future gifts and bequests from friends of the college, will carry the project through future years.

Competition Between Schools

The membership drive will be on a competitive basis between the schools. Chairmen for each school have been named and they in turn will appoint a member of each department as personal contact man.

The school chairmen are: Dean Harold Howe, Graduate School; Dean M. A. Durland, School of Engineering and Architecture; Dr. W. F. Pickett, School of Agriculture; R. K. Lashbrook, School of Arts and Sciences; Margaret Raffington, School of Home Economics; Dr. E. L. Leasure, School of Veterinary Medicine.

Dr. Pickett recalls that before the war the Department of Horticulture brought in the first 100 percent department membership for each consecutive year.

May Is Busy Month for KSC President

President Milton S. Eisenhower will give eight high school and junior college commencement addresses and be principal speaker at Central Missouri College this month.

Beginning at the Atwood high school May 11, he is scheduled to give four commencement addresses in four evenings. High School graduating classes at Oberlin, Colby and Portis will hear him in that order, May 12, 13 and 14.

May 19 he will speak at the Washington Rural High School, Bethel, and May 20, at Holton High School's commencement. Graduating seniors at Central Missouri College, Warrensburg, Mo., will hear Eisenhower at 10 a. m., May 26. That evening at 8 he will give the commencement address at the Kansas City Junior College.

The K-State president closes his month of commencement, speaking at Shawnee Mission High School in Merriam, May 27.

Produces Synthetics

A new synthetic form of fertilizer, a nitrogenous type, is undergoing experiments here at the College. Prof. K. L. Anderson of the agronomy department and John L. Parsons, senior in agriculture, are conducting the tests on bromine grass to determine its effectiveness.

Commencement speaker will be the Reverend J. Henry Hornung, pastor of Plymouth Church, Wichita. Because of space limitations, only those candidates for degrees in agriculture and engineering will be listed this time. Other candidates will be listed Tuesday.

Five two-year certificates will also be given. Candidates for the certificate in agriculture are John Elton Kemmerer, Jerome Hale McCay, William Herbert McClure, Jr., and Elmer William Stueder. Lois Reveigh Kieffer is a candidate for a two-year certificate in commercial art. Candidates for bachelor of science degrees are:

School of Agriculture
Khaled Matar, Abd. George Earl Adams, Glen Gene Allen, Thomas Buck, B. B. Charles Kermit Benton, H. H. Elmore Boyd, Ernest Wayne Brennon, Slingshot Burhead, Richard McVey Burns, William Jerome Carinder, Frank Robert Carpenter, Alfred Jackson Casner, Roser Delbert Coleman, James Delbert Coleman, James McDonald Collier, Wayne Oliver Collier, Kenneth Ray Corke, Paul Willard Dahlsten, Richard Channon Easton.

Rosecoe Ellis, Jr., Donald Lloyd Flentie, Charles Frederick Foreman, Charles Calvin Foster, Kenneth Exall, Frank Edgewood Gage, Donald Wayne George, Kenneth Leon Goetz, Roser Dale Hamilton, William Courtney Hackett, Charles Willard Herriek, John Parker Hillerman, Wilbur Alexander Howell, Henry Paul Adams, Robert Herbert Howard, Charles Morley Hunt, Clarence Irish, Kent Richard Irish.

Bachelor of Science in Agricultural Journalism
Paul Herman Gwin, Roger Leon Hecht, and John Horatio Tasker, Jr.

Bachelor of Science in Landscape Design
Howard William Borchardt, Roy Frederick Pennak, and Ralph Borton Ricklefs, Jr.

Bachelor of Science in Milling Industry
Robert Grady Brown, James Fred Conn, Britton Mario Dirks, William Benjamin Galt, Raymond Galt, John Franklin McCammon, Robert Paul McFadden, Robert James Newman, James Vincent Otto, Samuel William Porter, Henry Raymond Richards and Harold Lewis Shields.

Engineering and Architecture
Dean M. A. Durland, School of Engineering and Architecture; Dr. W. F. Pickett, School of Agriculture; R. K. Lashbrook, School of Arts and Sciences; Margaret Raffington, School of Home Economics; Dr. E. L. Leasure, School of Veterinary Medicine.

Bachelor of Science in Architectural Engineering
Francis Eliseo Billard, Gene Frederick Bohlenblatt, Lawrence Keith Collins, Charles John Edwards, John Howard Hodgson, Maurice Lorraine Johnson, James Robert Mason, Jr., Bernard Thomas Fisher, William Henry Richards and Harold Lewis Shields.

Bachelor of Science in Civil Engineering

Take Your Pick

After 15 years of lecturing at colleges all over the country, an Indiana professor has decided that all college students can be classified in just all categories. He didn't say if he had lectured at Kansas State College, but we believe most of his classifications would hold true here too. The different types of students as the professor has classified them are:

1. The athletic type—The academic processes hold no terrors for the hero of the gridiron. His fraternity brothers have a complete file of the instructors' lectures and examinations so why should he study or come to class?

2. The playboy type—The morning after finds him in class in his roommates' shoes on the wrong feet. He drops his pipe but never quite recovers it. The instructor has to hand it to him at the end of class.

3. The academic type—Probably the most objectional of all, the professor says. The head is attached to the spine on a hinge and nods back and forth during the entire lecture and the mouth and eyes utter continually, "Yes, professor, yes professor."

4. The negative type—"All right brother, you put me in this class now just try to teach me something. For gosh sakes get this over with," the teacher can almost hear him say.

5. The lovey-dovey type—Must be taken together for they are inseparable as Siamese twins. Hearts and music, violets and poetry, these love birds are majoring in Marriage and the Family.

6. Camouflager—He always brings an armload of books to class to impress the instructor. The rest of the students get on to this type, though and soon start picking on him.

7. The popular type—she had four fraternity pins this semester, three last and spends her class hour twisting the ends of her hair. The Indiana prof adds this is sure to drive any instructor insane.

8. The wholesome type—Wears what every college girl should wear, acts like every college girl should act and talks like every college girl talks—constantly.

9. The clockwatcher—She winds her watch 15 times during the lecture. Starts shuffling her feet, snapping her notebook rings and putting on her coat about 15 minutes before the end of the class.

10. The sexy type—This would-be campus queen just loves the boys, all the boys, all the time. She doesn't care what the other girls think of her clothes, they're just jealous.

Church Calendar

Wesley Foundation
Alverda Magna and Don Lancaster will have charge of the hike at the Saturday Niter. Students meet at Wesley Hall at 5:30 p. m. Food will cost 35 cents.

Christian Church
J. B. Fleming will speak on "What is Wrong with Our Programs" during the forum of the Christian Student Fellowship meeting at Koller Hall at 5:45 p. m. Sunday. The vespers program will include a musical meditation by Jim Farrar.

Methodist Church
"My Hidden Talent," under the leadership of Sue Baerth, is the theme for the Church School, Sunday at 9:40 a. m. Janet Ray will sing a solo. The meeting will be at the Burlew-Cowan Funeral Home, 618 Poyntz.

The Pace Makers' Class for young married couples will meet at 9:45 a. m. in the church. The Sosna Theater will have the special worship service at 10 a. m. "Portrait of a Christian Family" will be the sermon at the morning worship service at the church at 10:55 a. m.

An outdoor lunch and meeting will be at 5 p. m. at Wesley Hall. The Sunday Nite Lunch is at 5:30 p. m. at the church. The Young Married Couples' Sunday Niter will be at Wesley Hall at 6 p. m.

The Methodist Men's Club will meet Tuesday at 7 p. m. at Wesley Hall.

United Presbyterian
Sabbath School will be at 10 a. m. Rev. J. W. Curry will conduct the morning worship at 11 a. m. Rev. Roy Cartee, student pastor of the Christian Church

11. The tardy type—always bumps into the room in the middle of the instructor's most important statement. "Why don't somebody tell me there was an assembly," he invariably asks.

There they are. We can all probably find ourselves in one of the classifications but if we can't, let's don't break our arms patting ourselves on the back.

OUTSIDE the Ivy WALLS

Mediation efforts to avert a nation-wide railroad strike, called for next Tuesday, have been unsuccessful. The railroads are willing to give a 15 and one half cent hourly wage increase, as recommended by a federal fact-finding board, but the three unions are insisting on a 30 per cent increase and a change of rules as well. These changes were not recommended by the board.

President Truman may seize the railroads, an ODT official said. Legislation still on the statute books makes it possible for the President to order federal operation of the railroads. In a further attempt to prevent the strike, the President may call a special conference in Washington.

The official Russian press told the citizens of Berlin that the U. S. and Britain had indiscriminately bombed German cities during the war. Editorials bitterly attacking the Western powers represented the Red army as Germany's true friend. Their propaganda further stated the survival of German cities was due to the measures taken by the Red army to feed the citizens and restore public services.

Diplomats of the U. S. and the five nations of the Western European Alliance have agreed to set up a West German government some time this year. Such a government would have broad control powers over domestic affairs. Occupation powers would retain supervision of foreign policy and German exports and imports. A tentative plan calls for establishment of a two-branch congress, similar to that of the U. S., by September 1. This congress would take over law-making and would gradually assume authority over internal affairs within Western Germany.

Restrictions on the sale of real estate to Negroes, written into the title deeds, cannot be enforced in federal or state courts. A 6-0 Supreme Court ruling banned court enforcement from all-white neighborhoods because of race or color. However, restrictive voluntary agreements, without enforcement assistance by courts, violate no law.

Sen. Glen Taylor (D, Idaho), third-party vice presidential candidate, was convicted this week of disorderly conduct in Birmingham, Ala. Taylor was fined $50 and costs and sentenced to 180 days in the city jail. The jail sentence was suspended and he was placed on six months probation.

The charge resulted from Taylor's attempt to enter a church through an entrance for Negroes only. Defense attorneys said the right of free assembly had been violated. They will appeal the decision.

Many students, wondering if they will be allowed to finish their education before the draft catches up with them, will be cheered by the provision of the proposed law concerning R. O. T. C. students. This law would provide that students enrolled in advance R. O. T. C. courses would be deferred until they had completed their education and received commissions as reserve officers. It would be necessary for them to sign up for two years' service before they could get deferments, however.

A substitute proposal for a draft is a program to build up the armed forces by paying a bonus to volunteers. Representative Allen (R-Ill.) suggested payment of $1,000 for a two-year enlistment or the benefits of the G. I. bill of rights. $1,500 would be paid for a three-year enlistment.

Letters to the Editor

VOX STUDENS

(Editor's note: The opinions presented in this column may or may not express the opinion of The Collegian. The letters are presented here for student information.)

Vox Student Editor:

I, too, received a $10 raise. That, I thought I could spend for something I needed, or wanted, but I have found the 15 percent raise is equivalent to a 5 percent cut in my G. I. check.

Reason: Certain establishments on and near the "Hill" have raised their prices as much as 20 percent. These establishments are commonly called "Restaurants." Where can I get a job to make up the loss I have suffered in my monthly paycheck? Very Irritated,
C. D. LINDSEY.

Dear Editor:

Several months ago a bill passed in Congress allowing the veterans an increase in pay. It amounted to a ten dollar increase for the single veteran and a fifteen dollar increase for the married veteran.

I feel that on the part of most of us that this increase was more than welcome. It seemed that finally we were to be able to have that special date we had wanted, or to be able to eat a meal once in awhile instead of having to subsist on sandwiches.

On April 30, 1948, we received our first checks showing the increase. This good news was short lived though, as on the first of the week following, there was a substantial increase in the prices of meals at most of the restaurants.

I guess that we didn't gain anything after all. What we thought to be a good thing turned out to be another reason for a price increase.

I guess that we will just have to wait until the day when we can tell the merchant that we don't need what he has to sell to live on. Until then here's hoping we don't die of starvation.
—ROBERT L. CARLSON.

Wagner's Watch Vital to Staters

Perhaps the most important pocket watch on the campus belongs to Walter Wagner, a building and repair employee.

Three times daily Wagner climbs to the tower of Anderson hall to ring the bell, summoning students to classes. And for timing his chiming, he uses a pocket watch which he sets with the power plant clock on the campus.

To be on time for the first daily bell ringing at 6:45 a. m. Wagner relies on the earlier ringing of his alarm clock. Once this year he didn't get to Anderson on time. He says his wife failed to set his alarm clock.

The bell in Anderson is rung at 6:45, 6:50, 12:55 and just before assemblies.

Band Performs 35 Times This Year

College band members worked their hardest in history this year, Director Jean Hedlund said yesterday. The three college bands will have made a total of 35 public performances.

Twelve appearances have been made by the 62 members of the Concert Band. Performances have been for home concerts, commencement exercises, radio broadcasts, and out-of-town programs.

Other two bands include the Varsity and Football Bands. Membership in the three bands totals one hundred.

From the beginning of the school year to the end, the band will carry on. Two days before school started, during Freshman Orientation Week, was the band's first performance. One hour before school is over, the band will play for commencement.

Cats Plan Rough Welcome for Unhospitable Cowboys

By Jack Nielsen

K-State's revived Wildcat baseball team will have the chance to return some unhospitable southern hospitality today and Saturday, when the Cowboys of Oklahoma A&M come calling. The Aggies defeated the Wildcats 9 to 4 in their initial encounter at Stillwater this year. The first game of the series will be played under the Griffith Field lights tonight.

Coach Lud Fiser's squad regained their extra-base hitting stride during their trip to Colorado. In both games the Wildcats outthrew the Buffs and managed to stop their ten game winning streak by coming out on the long end of the score in the second contest.

Coach Fiser has the utmost respect for the team from down in the oil country. "They are the best ball club we have faced so far this season," he stated. "They have good pitching, fine hitting, and a couple of fellows who can break up a ball game with their hitting at any time."

Thrills Aplenty

The first meeting of these two clubs provided plenty of thrills. Until the eighth inning the game was a close contest, but in that inning the Cowpokes unleashed a broadside of base hits which secured six runs for them.

The power of the Cowboys is stored in the big stick of first baseman Frank Kellert. It was his terrific clout in the first inning that put the Cowboys ahead, and he contributed another round-tripper in the big eighth inning rally.

Kellert is not the Aggies only threat however, for shortstop "Bo" Watson can pound the ball, as can right fielder Robby Biggs.

The Aggie pitching staff is built around veterans "Turk" Tomlinson, "Red" Hutchison and Tom Jaquet.

In the second contest that was rained out at Stillwater, K-State had jumped on Tomlinson's throws for a three run lead in the first inning.

Red Hutchison started the second game, but was removed for Tom Jaquet in the sixth. Jaquet, a curve baller, was throwing directly into a strong wind so his pitches were doing more twists and turns than Hair-Kickapoo Joy Juice. No Wildcat got a hit after Jaquet put in his appearance.

Dean a Starter

Slender Jack Dean will most likely be the Wildcat's starting pitcher. Duane Holder will probably see duty Saturday, with Jack Bell held in reserve. The other K-State starters will be changed but little from the regular line-up. Clint Davis may be in the game because of his slugging and defensive play last week.

Saturday's contest will be an afternoon game.

COACHING POSTS TO CAT ATHLETES

Nine Kansas State athletes who have won varsity letters and who will be graduated this spring, have been placed in coaching positions in Kansas and Nebraska high schools, it was announced today by the College physical education department.

Bob Berry, second-team all Big Six football guard, will go to Goodland as head football and assistant basketball coach; Huck Heath, tackle, will be head track and assistant football coach at Argentine in Kansas City, Kan.; Gene Snyder, quarterback on the 1946 Wildcat grid team, will coach all sports at Arkansas City junior high school; Jack Sharp, end, will tutor football and basketball at Hamilton.

Harry Merriman, pony backfield star, will be head coach of football at Colby; Dave Weatherby, first modern-era four letterwinner in basketball, will go to Harper as head basketball coach and assistant in other sports; Carmen Wilcox, track team member, will go to Palisades, Neb., as coach of all sports. Bob Douglass, football letterman in 1937, will coach football at El Dorado junior college; and Bill Melody, football center last season, will be head basketball coach at Bonner Springs.

Other physical education graduates who will enter the coaching field are Dean Oberhelman, coach of all sports at White City; Gail Hamilton, all sports at Rossville; Charles Watkins, all sports at Waterville; Stanley Crawshaw, all sports at Morrowville. Roy Sherrill, former tennis star, plans to take graduate work in physical therapy.

Golf Match

The Kansas State golf team will try to get back in the win column tomorrow afternoon when they meet the University of Nebraska linkmen on the Manhattan Country Club course. Monday the K-State golfers will journey to Boulder for a dual with the Colorado Buffaloes.

Platter Pusher Prather Is Track All-American

Kansas State's latest contribution to the list of all-American athletes is track star Rollin Prather. The towering shotput and discus man has been named to a position on the official all-American track and field squad selected by the national track and field rules committee. Selections were made following the NCAA meet at Salt Lake City, Utah last spring.

In making the team, Prather becomes the first Wildcat to gain the honor since Elmer "One-Man-Gang" Hackney was placed on the squad for his shot putting abilities in 1940. The current Wildcat track all-American is listed by the committee of three discus standouts.

Prather is the second K-State discus thrower to make the squad. Back in the late 30's Charley Socolofsky was selected for a similar honor.

As a member of the all-American squad, Prather is ranked with some of the greatest track and field performers in history. Included in the list of team members are world record holders Harrison Dillard of Baldwin-Wallace College, Charles Fomville of Michigan University, and Herb McKenley, formerly of Illinois University.

Three men from Big Seven conference schools, in addition to Prather, were named on the squad. The league gained another position in the discus event with the selection of Missouri ace Mel Sheehan. Fortune Gordien of Minnesota University is the other member of the discus crew. Gordien is holder of the national collegiate record in the discus event.

Other Big Seven men to place on the squad were Dave Bolen, speedy quarter miler from Colorado, and Tom Schofield, high jumping king from Kansas University.

State Meet

Plans to broadcast the high school state track meet at Ahearn Field May 14 and 15 have been made cooperatively by KSAC of Manhattan and WIBW Topeka.

Announcers for the meet will be Bob Hilgendorf of KSAC and Hilton Hodges of WIBW. Fred Parris, sports publicity director at the College, will assist in the broadcasting.

Broadcasts on Friday are from 10:00 to 10:30 a. m., 1:30 to 2:00 p. m., and 4:30 to 5:30 p. m. Saturday, the stations will take to the air for four broadcasts of the finals. They will be from 9:30 to 10:30 a. m., 1:30 to 2:00 p. m., and 5:15 to 5:30 p. m. A resume of the two-day event will be held from 8:00 to 8:30 Saturday evening.

Several of the high school track and field performers, coaches and state meet officials will be interviewed during the broadcasts.

Teams from Class AA, A, and B high schools from all parts of Kansas will compete in the meet.

Cafeteria Jammed With Picnic Orders

"Potato salad, relishes, and baked beans are favorites ordered for picnics, according to Merna B. Miller, director of the cafeteria. The cafeteria limits this service to college organizations and class functions.

The college cafeteria prepared 32 gallons of potato salad and 11 large pans of baked beans for the senior picnic Wednesday. For the Feeder's Day dinner last Saturday, they baked beans and made cabbage salad for 1,500 persons, according to Miss Miller.

The cafeteria has picnic orders as far ahead as the first week in June.

Twenty-Five Men Initiated Into New Fraternity

Twenty-five men were initiated into the newly reactivated Gamma Xi Zeta chapter of Lambda Chi Alpha, social fraternity, Saturday afternoon at the Lucinda Harris Memorial temple. The new members were initiated by a degree team sent here by the Kansas University chapter of the fraternity. The chapter was active at Kansas State from 1924 to 1937.

Following the initiation Saturday was a banquet at the Warehouse Hotel to observe the reactivation of Lambda Chi Alpha at Kansas State. Included on the program were Pres. Milton S. Eisenhower, Dr. V. D. Foltz, faculty adviser for fraternities; R. W. Babcock, dean of arts and sciences; Bob McLain of the Kansas City Alumni Association; John W. Ballard, Engineer - Secretary, Kansas Contractors Association; H. Coleman Nolen, a representative of the national organization of Lambda Chi Alpha and Walter McKee, newly-installed president of the local chapter.

Desmond Watt, an active from the chapter at the University of Alberta, Canada, and now a graduate student here, was toastmaster at the banquet.

Guests in addition to those appearing on the program, included James F. Heston, Dr. B. W. Lafene, Devere Doty, Holton; Ferris F. Kimball, Kansas City, Kans.; Joe Pohlman, Gerald Bobst, Salina; C. E. Critchfield, Kansas City, Mo.

Those initiated included Ernest Shull, Lewis Larson, Gerald Outman, Walter McKee, Harold Burns Clayton Wilcox, Lawrence Crow, Arnold Eulert, Elliott Morse, Eldon Hampl, Ray Ross.

The faculty member of the chapter is Roy Goss, English instructor.

K-State May Join New Pep Fraternity

Harold Williams was elected secretary of a newly organized pep organization at a meeting of pep club representatives from 47 colleges and universities at Minneapolis, Minn., last week.

Williams represented Kansas State College pep organizations at the meeting.

Purpose of the meeting was to get a national pep fraternity organized, Williams said. Backers of the newly-formed national organization feel it will help foster better feelings between schools through work of the pep organizations, he explained.

No name has been selected for the fraternity, the KSC representative reports, but one will be chosen soon. No college officially belongs to the national organization as yet. Each representative at the meeting is to report the results of the conference to his own group and then let them and college officials decide if they wish to join.

According to Williams, plans were made to have a national pin and a national recognition award for head cheerleaders and other outstanding pep organization members at the conference.

Political Party Elects Thursday

Candidates for officers of the Commonwealth party have been selected by the party's nominating committee, Merle Siegle, party president, announced yesterday. Election will be held Thursday from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m. Polls will be in Anderson Hall.

Candidates are: for president, Harry Parker and Kenneth Jennison; for vice-president, Jack Sampson and Jesse Arganbright; for secretary, Donna Kahl, Judy Peck and Laura Belle Overly; and for treasurer, Art Blanchat and Dick Angel.

Baker to Wakeeney

Dr. H. L. Baker, head of the Department of Education and Psychology, will spend Thursday visiting Wakeeney High School. Dr. Baker will act as co-consultant for assistance in development of the school's vocational guidance program. He will be accompanied by Dr. Emory Kennedy of the State Department of Education.

'Pop' Concert Sunday

The first "Pop" concert by K-State's 65-piece Concert Band under the direction of Jean Hedlund will be Sunday. It will be in the College auditorium at 4 p. m.

Popular selections to be played include numbers by George Gershwin, Cole Porter, Dave Bennett, Morton Gould and many others.

Commissions Open in Army Air Force

Permanent Air Force commissions are open to former Air Force personnel, according to Major Gene I. Martin, military science department.

Major Martin will interview applicants in room 101, Military Science building until Thursday. Former officers will be returned to active duty in temporary grade held prior to separation from service. Former enlisted personnel selected will be appointed second lieutenants. Terminal leave promotions in the Air Reserve will not be recognized, Major Martin said.

The Air Force is especially interested in men majoring in engineering, he said. Applicants must have seen service in the Air Force since December 7, 1941. Applicants should not have reached their 27th birthday, but some exceptions may be made. Prior service must be honorable, Major Martin said.

Stage Drawings' Exhibition Here

Water color paintings and perspective drawings of stage settings will be exhibited on the second floor of Educational Hall this week. The project is work of instructor Robert Rick's stage craft class.

The drawings and paintings were taken from actual stage settings that could be used in presenting future plays. The plays illustrated are those that have become modern classics.

A model stage from William Saroyan's "The Time of Your Life" will be exhibited by Charles Whitmore, a freshman in arts and sciences.

Another Student Caught Cheating

The 12th case of dishonesty in examinations has been tried this week by the Committee on Academic Dishonesty, according to Prof. Wilson Tripp, head of the committee.

The student was caught with the crib material and admitted his guilt. The committee recommended that the student be failed in the examination and placed on probation for 18 weeks.

Aviation Cadets Examined Today

Anyone interested in the Aviation Cadets may see the Aviation Cadet Examining Board in Recreation Center between 9 a. m. and 4 p. m. today. The team, headed by Capt. W. M. Howard, is qualified to give preliminary examinations and flying aptitude tests for entrance into the Aviation Cadets.

Single men between 20 and 28 and one half years of age who have completed at least one-half the credits for a degree can apply for these examinations.

Roderick Returns

Dr. L. M. Roderick, head of the Department of Veterinary Pathology returned to Manhattan Monday after a week in Chicago.

Dr. Roderick, a member of the Committee on Research of the American Veterinary Medical Association, attended meetings of that group and also attended some special cancer research meetings.

Food Demonstration Held in Calvin Today

A food demonstration, First Aid to Meat Budgets and New Ways with Vegetables, will be given today at 7:30 p. m. in C-109. Graduate students from the Fundamentals of Demonstration class taught by Miss Elsie Miller will conduct the demonstration.

Presenting the demonstration will be Miss Hazel Hansen, Newton, Miss Vesta Hansen, Beatrice and Mrs. Alma Gilles, Wichita.

Woman Shortage

The student hospital has eleven patients today. They are Mildred Reiser in the girls ward and Carroll McNay, James Bowyer, David Mardika, Kermit Bown, Dale Apel, Gail Morrison, Martin Decker, William Blake, Emilio Viale and Dwight Reese in the mens ward.

Fraternity Sing Lists 14 Groups

Nine fraternities and five sororities will compete in the annual inter-fraternity sing tomorrow night at 7:45 p. m. in the Quadrangle between Nichols Gymnasium and the auditorium.

Competing in the women's division will be the Alpha Delta Pi, Kappa Kappa Gamma, Phi Beta Phi, Clovia and Delta Delta Delta sororities.

The men's division includes Alpha Kappa Lambda, Sigma Nu, Phi Kappa, Phi Delta Theta, Theta Xi, Delta Tau Delta, Sigma Phi Epsilon, Sigma Alpha Epsilon and Beta Theta Pi fraternities.

Judges for the sing will be J. Forrest West, associate professor of music; Mrs. Jerry Wilson, private voice teacher; and Miss Helen Gerard, vocal supervisor at Manhattan grade and high schools.

Organizations are restricted to five minutes of singing. They will be judged on a point basis. Maximums are tone quality, 20 points; pitch, 20; ensemble balance and blend, 20; diction, 10; selections and arrangement, 10; interpretation and general effect, 20.

Kindergarten Kids Receive Physicals

Pre-school physicals for children who will enter Kindergarten next fall are being held this week by the Parent-Teachers Association and the Riley County Health Department, according to S. O. Manning, of the Riley County Health Department.

Schedules for the physicals are on Tuesday from 9 to 11 a. m. at the Roosevelt School and 11 to 12 a. m. at the Douglas School. On Thursday, physicals will be given at the Blumont School from 9 to 11 a. m.

Any child who will enter school and who does not receive a physical at this time, may do so in the fall, Manning said.

Seniors Promote Alumni Association

Senior class officers are providing booths Thursday and Friday where students receiving degrees this spring may join the Alumni Association, according to Irvin Gandee, president of the senior class. This drive for memberships will be made in addition to the personal contact of seniors made by the faculty members in each department.

The motto of the student drive will be "Seniors, Build a Greater K-State."

"No college or university can live without alumni support and if a school doesn't grow and develop, the diplomas they have issued lose much value," said Kenney L. Ford, alumni secretary.

Next year $6,500 will be provided by the alumni association for the athletic program. This money will help the college to provide athletic scholarships in accordance with the NCAA rules.

Membership booths will be in Anderson Hall, West Ag. Engineering and Home Economics.

Student Gives Voice Recital Tonight 8:15

Loyal Mae Laughinghouse, soprano, will give her junior voice recital today at 8:15 p. m. in Hamilton Hall, Room 302, Nichols. She will be assisted by Robert Woodson, violinist.

A member of the a cappella choir, Miss Laughinghouse is a pupil of Prof. J. Forrest West of the voice faculty. She studied voice at the Occidental College in Los Angeles.

German, French and English selections are on the program. Mr. Woodson will play two Spanish pieces.

Speaks at Graduation

Dr. M. J. Harbaugh, professor of zoology, will give the commencement address at Wheaton high school Friday evening. Subject of his address is "Look to the Future."

Pics on Sale

Pictures that were used in this year's Royal Purple have been returned from the engraver and are now on sale at the Royal Purple business office in Kedzie Hall. Organizations having panel groups in the Royal Purple can buy the panel with their members' pictures on it if they contact the business office today.

Chase New Prexy of College 4-H Club

Dick Chase, sophomore in agriculture from El Dorado, has been elected president of the Kansas State College Collegiate 4-H Club. Taking office immediately, he will serve for the coming fall semester. Vice President elect is Laura Belle Overly from Oxford.

Other officers include secretary Ruby Dickey; reporter, Betty Byerly; corresponding secretaries, Rosalie Germann, Bill Parker, Mary Collins, Miles McKee, and Lester Goyen; song leader Ruth Kelling; pianist, Norman Collins and marshall, Robert Acre.

Two Purple Pepsters Get National Offices

Purple Pepster delegates attended the national Phi Sigma Chi convention at KU Saturday. Seven mid-western schools were represented at the meeting.

Two K-State Pepsters were elected to national offices. Jane Engle is president of the national pep organization and Marilyn Jones is publicity chairman. Other officers elected were Marjorie McCullough, KU, vice-president; Pat Black, Nebraska University, corresponding secretary; Barbara Strong, Washburn University; recording secretary; and Ileen Wolf, Omaha University, treasurer.

Other delegates from K-State were Thelma Stous, Thelma Moore, and Donna Kahl.

Three Schools at K'S C List 396 Candidates for Degrees

Wilson Will Head New Cheerleaders

Head cheerleader for next year will be Jim Wilson. He was chosen at a joint meeting Thursday of the Purple Pepsters and Wampus Cats.

The senior assistant will be cheerleader Bob Dunlap and the junior assistant, Shirley King.

Other cheerleaders chosen were: Virginia Price, Patty Sue Warnick, Yvonne Swenson, Jim Curtis and Dick Cederberg.

Alternates are Nadine Smith and Clark Dahner.

The new cheerleaders will be presented to the student body at the "Hobo Hop" next week.

Independents to Meet

Independent students at Kansas State will discuss problems involved in organizing an all-campus independent student organization at a meeting Wednesday evening from 7 to 9 o'clock in Rec Center, Art Blanchat, Amistad president, said yesterday.

Blanchat will report on the National Independent Student Association Convention. Delegates to the convention will attend the meeting and will answer questions on N. I. S. A.

Speaks at Bee Course

Dr. R. L. Parker of the KSC entomology department will be one of the principal speakers at a short course for beekeepers at Iowa State College Ames, today and tomorrow.

Dr. Parker will speak three times in the two days. He will talk on equipment management, alfalfa pollination and the importance of bee colony management.

Three hundred and ninety-six candidates are listed for degrees in the School of Arts and Sciences, School of Home Economics, and the Graduate School, according to Miss Eleanor Tibbets, registrar.

Business Majors Reactivate Frat

The K-State chapter of Alpha Kappa Psi, professional commerce fraternity for Business Administration majors, will be formally re-activated today. Initiation of twenty student members at 4 o'clock in Thompson Hall will be followed by a banquet at the Gillett Hotel at 6:30.

Out-of-town guests will be George L. McCullough, of Denver, assistant to the National Executive Secretary, and A. W. Foscoe, Jr., district counselor from Southern Methodist University. Representatives from the K. U. chapter will also attend, in addition to several Manhattan businessmen and K-State faculty members and alumni.

Dr. H. M. Stewart and Dr. A. A. Holtz, of the Department of Economics and Sociology, are faculty sponsors of the local chapter. Dr. Holtz will be the principal speaker at the banquet.

Local chapter officers, elected last week, include Ralph E. Nannings, president; Wallace L. Barrett, vice-president; Arthur L. Jewett, treasurer; Frank J. McBride, secretary; Robert F. Gantz, master of rituals. Walter D. Felske was appointed master of publicity. Inactive since 1943, the K-State chapter was originally established in 1926. Membership in the local organization is on the basis of high scholastic standing among business administration students.

Non-Progressive Vets Must Be Reinstated

Veterans dismissed from college for unsatisfactory progress at the close of the semester, who have not been re-instated by the Kansas State College Re-instatement Committee by June 14, will be reported to the Veterans Administration as unsatisfactory. The VA office has disclosed. Veterans reported to the Veterans Administration must obtain approval from the Veterans Administration before they can receive further education under the G. I. Bill.

Veterans approved for re-instatement must present a copy of their approval to the Veterans Service Office on or before June 14. This will preserve their training status as satisfactory with the Veterans Administration.

Any dismissed student will not be permitted to re-enroll until the lapse of one regular semester unless re-instated by the Re-instatement Committee. This Committee will meet as soon as the dismissal lists are available and will continue to meet through the fifteen days during which re-instatement is possible.

Poultry Students Travel to Arkansas

Prof. T. B. Avery of the poultry husbandry dept. and a class of 20 advanced poultry students returned today from a three day field trip into the "broiler" section of northwestern Arkansas.

In addition to visiting many broiler producers, the field trip included inspection tours of alfalfa dehydrating plants. Other highlights of the trip were a visit to the Farmers Association in Springfield, Mo., and a trip to a large commercial hatchery in Clinton, Mo.

Prof. L. F. Payne, department head, reports that 10 million broilers are produced in two counties alone in northwestern Arkansas.

Oscar Vote

Votes for "Oscar" awards and election of officers will be taken at the Kansas State Player's meeting to be held in 206 of Education Hall at 8:30 this evening. "Oscars" will go to the members of the Players who have made outstanding dramatic contributions to the players this season. The formal presentation of the awards will be made Friday night by the local chapter of the National Collegiate Players.

The School of Arts and Sciences lists 260 candidates for degrees. Candidates graduating from each curriculum are: business administration, 87; industrial chemistry, 9; industrial journalism, 21; music education, 4; physical education, 16. One hundred and twenty-three candidates are receiving Bachelor of Science degrees for no special curriculum and one candidate will receive a Bachelor of Music degree.

One hundred and five students are graduating from the School of Home Economics. One hundred and four candidates have majored in home economics, and one candidate majored in home economics and nursing.

The Graduate School lists 30 candidates for Master of Science degrees and one candidate for a Doctor of Philosophy degree.

Journalism Conspiracy

Harvey G. Spencer is convinced there is some conspiracy against him in the journalism department. He tells us he was left out of the list of students being honored by Phi Kappa Phi in both The Collegian and the Kansas City Star.

But the worst blow was when he didn't get included in the list of candidates for degrees in engineering Friday. We're sorry, Harvey.

Maybe They're Right

We finally had a well-attended morning assembly at Kansas State College. Last week the program sung by the student A Cappella Choir drew a bigger crowd than any lecturer, however good, has attracted to a 9:30 a.m. assembly this year. The crowd which filled the Auditorium compared in size with crowds at the College plays and at courtship and marriage lectures. Resounding applause from the throngs of students after each number the choir sang reminded us of the appreciative response the audience gave the choral groups at past Easter and Christmas assemblies.

We heard students remark enthusiastically as they left the program, "that was the best assembly we've had this year. If they had more programs like this, more students would go to more assemblies."

We overheard various comments about the all-College assemblies from students who trudged in groups down the campus walks to their next classes. We felt that the unusual number of students who attended the assembly and the approval they showed for the A Cappella's songs proved something. To substantiate our opinion that the assemblies must not be offering the students what they want, we listed comments we heard among students and solicited several from others to make a small sample poll:

"This was the only assembly I've attended in the past two years," one fellow admitted. "Let's have more like them—any kind of music." One girl carefully stated, "the best assemblies are those that show the talents of the students." A freshman quickly replied to a question on what he wanted in student assemblies, "so far we've had too many speakers. We need something entertaining, like drama or musical programs."

"Lectures are fine, and educational, of course," a blonde journalism student ventured. "However," she went on, "they get awfully tiresome."

A member of the A Cappella Choir, queried after the assembly, said, "musical assemblies should not be merely entertaining but should bring good music and culture to the students."

"So many speakers, such as those brought here for Engineers' Open House or Hospitality Days, are not generally well-known. They don't attract students from all schools on the campus, no matter how much publicity they are given," a home economics student contended.

An electrical engineering student said, "I thoroughly enjoy an assembly at which the program consists of good music, drama or dancing, because such a program is a real departure from the academic lectures I've had all week."

A modern language professor held that assemblies should be somewhat more educational than entertaining. "Students can go to the movies or listen to the radio if they want to be entertained," he argued. However, he rapped lecturers, however top-notch they were in their fields, who "talked down" to their student audience, or who tried to keep up interest in their address by using jokes. "The question and answer procedure following a formal address is good," one professor asserted.

Perhaps some changes need to be made in the whole assembly program at Kansas State College to interest larger numbers of students in attending them.

STATE STATUS QUO

by Ramsey Sherwood

"Hey, Bub, did you see where the old college made the front page of the big city daily yesterday morning. All about the date situation and how tough it is to get in with the females here."

"Yeah, Joe, I saw the place," replied Bub. "but I'm not rightly sure that gives the true picture of the situation on the hill."

"What you mean doesn't give the true picture. We've got nearly a five to one ratio at K-State," says Joe casting furtive glances at the coeds in the next booth at the "Can." "and that, like the big paper says, is pretty fierce competition. 'Mebbe so, mebbe not,' replies Bub as he taps the juke with a slug and gets Baby Face. "I agree the mathematics is o.k., but a look behind the scenes reveals something else."

"For instance that a lot of those 5,500 birds are hitched, and not exactly on the footloose and fancy free," says Bub. "To be more precise (like they're always tellin' me in Journalism, accuracy first) 1,500 of the men are tied up."

"So what," questions Joe as the coeds cast furtive glances at him. "That just narrows the margin down to 4,000 to 1,200 and that's still pretty fierce odds. I remember a date once and won. Had enough dough to take a date out in Miami on Saturday night afterwards. Getting back to State though, so I'm listenin' to your logic."

"All right," mumbles Bub as he surveys some more skirts coming in the door, "but you've gotta count out a lotta dodos."

"Dodos? Whattaya mean dodos? That's a bird ain't it."

"Not in this case. I mean squares, deadbeats—the guys who don't seem to know women are around or what they're for, and haven't had a date since high school."

"You mean," doubts Joe, "that some guys don't really know what women are for?"

"Wait a minute, Joe, not exactly that, but there are plenty of Smoos here that never date; just study all the time. Must be about 2,500 of 'em. You know the type. Usually he's enrolled in an Institute course and is wrapped up in this classroom education stuff. There must be close to 2,500 of that intellectual type."

"Perhaps you're right, Bub," agrees Joe, "but that still makes 1,500 guys to 1,200 babes. And besides how about the girl dodos. There's a few of those too."

"Yeah, but they don't count, Joe, a gal here can be a dodo, deadpan, or Phi Pi and still get a date. But just to be fair, well subtract 100 dodos from the girls' total. That makes it 1,500 to 1,100."

"So us guys still outnumber the gals."

"I'm not through," comments Bub lighting a Luckie, "we've gotta eliminate another 800 engineering students. With slide rules, atoms, and television they've got no time for women. Generally speaking they're kind of a deadbeat outfit. Actually they get most of their sex life through Intake and Exhaust, and you recall what a rag that was."

"Yeah, I recall," muses Joe, "so now we've got 1,100 gals to 700 men. Hey that's looking up in our favor."

"Finally, we have to knock off another 200 students who belong to UNESCO, and the Young Republican organization. Now we've got a ratio of 1,100 gals to 500 men eligible for dates. That means there's two gals to every guy."

"But why eliminate UNESCO and G.O.P. males?"

"Because," says Bub, "they're so busy solving the world's problems and working for repeal they haven't got time for women."

"Oh, well, guess we're set o.k. for women then, but tell me why can't I get a date?"

"Come to think of it," comments Bub, "I haven't had a date for three months myself. Oh well, if a guy couldn't wishfully think, he'd really be a dodo."

President is Honorary Ref

Milton S. Eisenhower, president of the College, will be honorary referee of the thirty-eighth annual Kansas state high school track meet here this Friday and Saturday. Regular referee of the meet will be H. W. (Bill) Hargis, former track coach of Emporia Teachers and Kansas University.

Other officials of the state meet, which will be held at K-State's Memorial Stadium, are: Thum E. McCrady, director; B. A. Thomas, starter; Ward Harlett, manager; Frank L. Myers, chief clerk; L. E. Erwin, head finish judge; and L. F. Washburn, head timer.

Finals of the meet for Class AA, A and B high schools will be broadcast cooperatively by radio stations KSAC of Kansas State and WIBW of Topeka Saturday. KSAC will devote three broadcast periods to the state meet, Friday from 10 to 10:30 a.m.; 1:30 to 2 p.m. and 4:30 to 5:30 p.m.

Saturday the meet will be broadcast from 9:30 to 10 a.m.; 1:30 to 3 p.m.; 4:15 to 4:30 p.m. and 8 to 8:30 p.m. The final period will give a resume of the meet.

Meet officials, coaches and athletes from participating schools will be interviewed during the broadcasts. Hilda Hodges of the WIBW staff and Bob Hildebrand of KSAC will direct the broadcasts.

Students Make Plans for Summer Trip Abroad

By Janice Addington

While most K-State students are worrying about final week, several students are dreaming of their UNESCO trip abroad this summer.

These world travelers, enrolled in the two-hour course "Problems in Citizenship," are probably the richest students on the campus. Each one must have $800 in his pocket by now. The course is under the direction of the Institute of Citizenship.

Dick Chase, 19-year-old sophomore in agriculture, is being backed by his hometown civic clubs. He is from El Dorado. Dick and another student, John Sjo, agricultural administration junior from Salina, will work on a Swedish farm for three weeks. The agricultural students wrote the Swedish Department of Agriculture for the job and got it. They will leave on the Dutch steamer, "Tabinta," from Quebec, Canada, June 4. John is interested in visiting England, Scotland, Switzerland, Germany and the Scandinavian countries. He is sponsored by the Kansas Farm Bureau.

A childhood spent in the Philippine Islands gives Keh Bell, 24-year-old junior in horticulture from Paola, an urge for foreign sights. The Paola Rotary Club adopted Ken as its international project and is contributing part of the needed money. Ken will help with a reconstruction project in Holland when the "Tabinta" docks at Rotterdam.

Charlotte Dorf, Manhattan, a senior in medical technology, has been working in chemical research to pay her way overseas. She is the daughter of Carl L. Dorf, instructor in chemistry at the college. After docking at Rotterdam she will go to Sweden where she will spend a month working. Mary Frances Zink, Glen Ellyn, Ill., junior in medical technology, has similar plans.

A sophomore enrolled in problems of citizenship, Edwin Prick, Manhattan, will leave for Europe with a group of Cornell students on a Benley Student Tour June 18. She is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. E. J. Prick.

Daily Judging Class Takes Two-day Trip

Students in the advanced dairy judging class and senior students in dairy production made a field trip covering twelve dairy farms in Johnson County Saturday and Sunday.

A study of methods of dairying, farm management, barn construction, handling and marketing of milk, and dairy cattle judging was designed to give the 31 students who made the trip practical instruction in the farm in conjunction with the dairy industry.

F. W. Atkeson, head of the dairy husbandry department, and G. H. Beck, professor of dairy husbandry, assisted the students on the field trip.

Honor Group Initiates

Phi Kappa Phi will hold initiation for new members Friday at 4 p. m. in C208, according to Leah Ascham, secretary of the organization. At 8:15 a banquet will be held in Thompson Hall with Dr. Clara Dow as speaker. She will speak on "Citizen Scholars." Reservations for the banquet will be closed today, Miss Ascham said.

Cat Nine Battles O U Here Today

K-State baseball Wildcats were scheduled to get back to the conference grind this week with a Monday-Tuesday series with the Oklahoma Sooners providing the weather man agrees. The Cats, currently traveling in third place, need to maintain their winning pace to stay in the championship battle.

The first game of the series was slated for last night at Griffith Field. At Collegen press time, rain had not fallen and officials expected the game to be played on schedule. The series finale is to be played this afternoon at 3:30. No classes will be dismissed for the contest.

The Sooners, last year's conference champs, blew into town Sunday after absorbing two straight defeats at the hands of the league leading Nebraska Cornhuskers. The twin Oklahoma defeat give the Sooners something in common with the Cats since two of the three Wildcat loop losses were to the Huskers.

Despite their record of four wins and eight losses, in loop competition, the Oklahomans can't be counted as a soft touch by any team. Coach Lud Fiser has expressed great respect for the potentialities of the Sooner lineup. To prove his fears, the Wildcat boss planned to throw both of his ace hurlers at the southerners. Jack Bell, was slated for mound duty last night and Jack Dean is the probable hurler for the game today.

The remainder of the K-State lineup will probably be nearly the same as it has been all season. Clint Davis is a possible starter at the catching post. In that case, Gabby Chew will be moved into the outfield in order to make the most of his powerful hitting.

Several well known Oklahoma athletes are included on the Sooner baseball roster. Most of them are basketball stars. Lefty Paul County is the Oklahoma first baseman. Kenny Pryor is an infielder, and big Bill Waters is a star moundsman.

Intramurals

By K. G. Duckers

The Sigma Phi Epsilon softball nine became the fraternity champs last Friday when they downed the Phi Kappa team 5 to 4 in the finals of the fraternity playoffs. The Deacons and the Poultry Club will meet Thursday afternoon for the independent championship and the right to meet the Sig Eps for the all-college crown. The finals are tentatively scheduled for Friday afternoon.

Hal Howey, K-State case star and pitcher for the Sig Eps team, allowed 8 hits and 4 runs to the Phi Kappas. Bill Markey, the Phi Kappa hurler who tossed a one-hitter at the Sig Eps earlier this season, was charged with the defeat as he allowed 9 hits and 5 runs.

In the semi-finals of the independent playoffs the Varsity Vampires were downed by the Poultry Club 4 to 1. The Poultry Club combined 2 hits and 2 errors for 4 runs in the third inning. Bill Johnson was the winning pitcher. Root's Rangers were dropped from the running by the Deacons 4 to 3. Earl Bartell was the winning pitcher and Bill Fansher was the loser.

Intramural Track Meet

The first half of the annual Intramural Track Meet gets under way tomorrow at Memorial Stadium under the guidance of L. P. Washburn, director of intramurals. Events on tap for tomorrow afternoon include the 100-yard dash, 440-yard dash, pole vault, shot put, and broad jump. The second half of the meet is scheduled for next Monday. Students wishing to enter an event who have not received an entry blank, may pick one up at the intramural office in Nichols gym.

Glee Club Travels

Fifty members of the Men's Glee Club left on a trip to Wiley and Junction City this morning where they will sing on assembly programs at the local high schools. This is their last public appearance before the annual spring concert which will be presented in the Auditorium on Friday, May 21 at 8:15 p. m.

Road Trip

Details of arrangements for a three-game basketball trip, which will pit the 1948-49 Kansas State Wildcats against St. Louis University, Indiana University, and Long Island University, in rapid succession, were completed yesterday by Thurlie McCrady, director of athletics.

The three Wildcat foes will be met within a five-day period. The Cats will play St. Louis at St. Louis, December 14; Indiana at Bloomington, December 16; and L.I.U. at Madison Square Garden, December 18. Last season the K-Staters defeated Indiana in Kansas City, Mo., and lost to Long Island U. in New York. The Wildcats have not met St. Louis in basketball since 1933 when the Billikins won 26-24. In all, K-State and St. Louis have played six games. The Wildcats hold only one victory in the series, a 16-15 decision in 1931.

Cage Coach Jack Gardner said yesterday that the schedule for the 1948-49 season is not completed but that he expects it to include 23 or 24 contests.

Cats Split Series with O Aggies; Seventh KS Win

By Jack Nielsen

The K-State Wildcats had their revenge from the Oklahoma Aggies Saturday afternoon, when they dished the Cowboys 5 to 2. Oklahoma won the first contest 6 to 2, Friday night.

Duke Holder was the winning pitcher Saturday. The Independence, Mo., boy has been the surprise package of the year. He has three wins to his credit and not a single loss, making his record the best of any K-State moundman.

The Wildcats put their best bats forward in the first inning Saturday. The Aggies had counted in their half, but their lead was a short one. With two men out, Dana Atkins singled, advanced on Dale Carr's first of two hits, and scored on a passed ball.

In the third, Gabe Bartley led off with a single, went to second on a fielder's choice and rode home on Atkins' single.

In the fifth, Bartley scored again by singling, advancing on two infield outs, and scoring when Carr singled to center.

The Aggies added one in the seventh when Mini Free, Cowboy center fielder who has not been struck out in his three years of college competition, singled, stole second and scored on "Bo" Watson's single.

Holder by Atkins

The Wildcats were far from idle in the seventh. Ted Grimes went to first when he was hit by the pitcher, Atkins contributed his third hit of the afternoon, this one a home run down the right field foul line. The blow put the game on ice for the Wildcats.

Without a doubt, the most outstanding player on the Aggie team was shortstop Watson. He played a brilliant defensive game and was the team's leading slugger at the plate.

Box score Friday night.

State Tennis Team Cops First Win 4-3

In their first victory of the season, the Wildcat tennis team dropped the University of Nebraska netmen on the K-State courts 4 to 3 Saturday. Although the double matches were split, the Cats won three of five single matches.

Singles results:

Bob Slezak, N. U., defeated Louis Thompson, K-State, 6-3, 6-4.

Jack Cady, N. U., defeated Roy Sherrill, K-State, 6-3, 10-8.

Marvin Dungan, K-State, defeated Woody Osterhard, N. U., 6-4, 8-6.

Dick Powers, K-State, defeated Jim Baumann, N. U., 7-5, 6-0.

Jim Neumann, K-State, defeated George Lee, N. U., 3-6, 6-3, 6-4.

Doubles results:

Slezak and Osterhard, N. U., defeated Sherrill and Dungan, K-State, 6-1, 6-1.

Powers and Neumann, K-State, defeated Cady and Baumann, N. U., 6-4, 6-4.

have finally found a left handed hitter. Cliff Schumacher, who caught the second game hits from the port side and got two singles off the Aggie pitcher.

Fielding in the first contest was ragged in spots. With the Wildcats committing six errors, The plague of faulty fielding kept pitcher Jack Dean in a troubled state most of the evening. Dean allowed only seven hits, but two were home runs.

Cats Score First

K-State scored first. In the second inning, with one away, "Mumbles" Bremner was hit by the Aggie pitcher, Turk Tomlinson. Dale Carr drove Bremner to third with a long double and Gabe Bartley chased them both home with a single.

The Aggies came back in a wild third inning, scoring three runs on three hits and two errors. They added another one in the fifth on Watson's home run.

In the sixth Roby Biggs started off with a double, and scored when catcher "Red" Coleman singled to right.

The final Aggie run came on left fielder Joe Thomas' home run over the right field fence.

Tigers Top Cats in Cinder Meet; Marks by Prather

A rampaging Missouri track squad more than doubled the score on Kansas State Saturday afternoon at Columbia as the Tigers bested cinder meet records to win 88 1-3 to 42 2-3. Top scorer for the meet was Wildcat strongman, Rollin Prather, with wins in the shot put and discus and a second place in the javelin throw.

Prather continued his individual meet record-setting pace by arching the discus 154 feet 6.1-2 inches, topping the old meet record, set in 1924, by 16 feet. In the Kansas dual meet here, Prather also set a new meet record with a toss of 152 feet 2 3-4 inches. In topping the shotput field, Prather edged the old record by more than eight inches, chalking up a heave of 53 feet 3 3-4 inches.

Bud Gantner, Missouri's artful hurdler, clipped nearly a full second off the old meet record as he romped over the 220-yard lows in 22 seconds flat. He also took the 220-yard highs, finishing a tenth of a second ahead of the record set in 1940 by Missouri's Johnson.

Meet summaries:

Shotput - Prather, KS, Quirk, MU, 53 feet 3 3-4 inches. (New meet record, former record 52 feet 6 inches, by Hackney, KS, 1940.)

High jump - Howard, MU; Shannon, KS; Danielson, KS, and Gilbert, MU, tied for second, 6 feet 3-4 inch. (New meet record, former record 5 feet 11 1-2 inches, by Miller, MU, 1940.)

440-yd. dash - Autt, MU; Schmitt, MU, and Phillips, MU, tied, 50.3 inches. (This meet record by Schmitt, MU, 1940.)

220-yd. high hurdles - Gantner, MU; Blakeley, MU; Elliott, KS, 14.5. (New meet record, former record, 14.6 by Johnson, MU, 1940.)

880-yd. run - Lancaster, MU; Wolfe, MU; Hildebrand, KS, 1:57.1. (New meet record, former record, 1:57.3, by Reeves, MU, 1940.)

Discus throw - Prather, KS; Schmitt, MU; Peltz, MU, 154 feet 6 1-2 inches. (New meet record, former record, 138 feet 6 3-4 inches, by Richardson, MU, 1940.)

Pole vault - Knapp, MU; Vane, MU; and Mosley, KS, tied, 22 feet 10 3-4 inches. (New meet record, former record, 22 feet 6 inches, by Higgins, MU, 1940.)

Broad jump - Ted, MU; Danielson, KS; Shannon, KS, 23 feet 4 5-8 inches. (New meet record, former record 22 feet 1 inch, by Simpson, MU, 1942.)

Javelin throw - Williams, KS; Prather, KS; Lewis, KS, 180 feet 3 inches.

220-yd. dash - Prather, MU; Autt, MU; Kline, MU, 21.3. (New meet record, former record, 22.0 by Nield, MU, 1915 and Akers, KS, 1940.)

3-mile run - VanLaverack, Mad-den, MU; Wells, MU, 19:02.

220-yd. low hurdles - Gantner, MU; Autt, MU; McClay, KS, 23.8. (New meet record, former record 24.4, by Simpson, MU, 1915.)

Mile relay - Missouri (Wolfe, Lancaster, Schmitt, Kline). (New meet record, former record, 3:29.6, by MU, 1940.)

Traveling Baseball Nine Gets Scenic Education

By Jack Nielsen

"The traveling squad will be—". Those words from the coach of an athletic team signals the beginning of an adventure for the few who are fortunate enough to be chosen.

When a team travels to another college to test its grit and strength, many times the by-products and events of the trip are remembered longer than the actual contests.

Each new trip is accompanied by a different variety of experiences. These experiences usually are not planned, but are always unusual and completely entertaining.

Sometimes these events are educational. For instance, while traveling from Nebraska to Iowa State, the baseball team had the opportunity of seeing and exploring Father Flannigan's renowned Boy's Town. They were escorted on a brief but extensive tour through the town, its church, dormitories and gymnasium.

The excursion was complete, with an official guide to describe and explain everything. The trip to Colorado furnished the best scenery of the season. When driving through Western Kansas, the boys used the speedometers on the cars to determine the length of those fabulous wheat fields that part of the country is famous for. The wheat was about eight inches high, and here and there near the roadside or in the middle of a field, the bright, scarlet head of a pheasant could be seen.

In one piece of waste-land, eight antelopes were counted and two more were seen further on.

When the team arrived in Boulder, Colorado, some of the boys went to the top of a mountain near the town. The mountain was covered with huge, flat pieces of granite, called "flat iron rocks" by the natives. On the top of this mountain the boys could look over several states and see numerous deep blue lakes and more of the snow-capped Rocky Mountains.

That first morning in Colorado, most of the squad drove through Estes Park and Rocky Mountain National Park. Cameras were plentiful, so the scenery for which the parks are famous, was brought back to wives and friends in Kansas.

There are some portions of the trip that are remembered better than the educational aspects. Someone invariably runs into a relative, friend or buddy from the service, and a rehashing of by-gone days always follows.

Good fellowship is fostered also. The fellows live, eat and sleep together. They learn more about the ideals, background and temperament of their teammates, and so become closer knit and more understanding of each other. A team of good friends is hard to beat.

After the game, which is replayed play by play at dinner, the boys attend a movie or just stroll around in groups; comparing the town and its inhabitants with the one they like to leave, but which looks so good to come back to.

Even though the basic reason for the traveling squad is to defeat K-State's opponents in their own back yard, the desire to see just how green is the other guy's grass certainly is a prime factor in the excitement which surrounds these athletic expeditions.

defeated Lovell and Bishop, K-State, 2-1.

Moss and Batt, K-State, defeated Hyland and Stroh, N. U., 3-0.

Track Treat

Track fans have a treat in store for them Friday and Saturday when high school athletes from Class AA, A and B schools in Kansas gather on K-State's Memorial Stadium cinders for the annual state high school track meet.

Preliminaries in all events and a few finals will be run off Friday. Finals in most of the events in all three classes are scheduled for Saturday. There will be activity in the mornings as well as the afternoons on both days.

Several hundred athletes are expected to compete in the meet.

AT STATE

Fifteen days, two week-ends, three hundred and sixty hours remain until finals. Before last minute mad typing of term papers, and catching up on reading textbooks from chapter two of the week-end, some K-Staters took time to attend spring formal, pass chocolates or to announce their approaching marriage.

Cigars at the Tau Kappa Epsilon house Friday night announced the engagement of Harold Williams to Marion Colton. Harold is a freshman in mechanical engineering from Topeka. Marion is from Topeka.

Delta Delta Delta's annual Dream Garden formal held Friday night at the Avalon was preceded by a dinner in the Green Room of the Wareham. Arrangements of spring flowers and candles entwined by strung pearls, the sorority gem, decorated the dinner tables.

Tri Deltas and guests entered the ballroom through an arch and green arbor. A nocturnal setting was achieved by the use of dark blue paper covering for the walls and a ceiling of white criss-cross crepe paper. Crepe paper roses and vines were entwined into the ceiling and over the archway. The Delta Delta Delta crescent and three stars were suspended from the ceiling and three Deltas in gold were in back of the band. The outdoor idea was emphasized by a rock garden and pool and a fountain. Matt Metton and his orchestra played.

In the receiving line were Mary Alice Wolf, Ed Shaw, Mrs. Edward Schaefer, Dean Helen Moore, Mr. and Mrs. Hobart Felen and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Smith.

Chocolates. When—Friday night. Where—Van Zile. Why—announcing the engagement of Marjorie Thiesman, Beloit, to Kenneth Havel, Cuba. Marjorie is a sophomore in home economics and Ken is a junior in agriculture.

Joan Beggs, Chi Omega, was named "Dream Girl of PIKA" at the annual Dixie Ball at the Avalon Saturday night. Joan was introduced by Master of Ceremonies Bill Christian and presented with a bouquet of roses and a bracelet inscribed, "PIKA's Dream Girl of '48." The ballroom was decorated with the fraternity colors, garnet and gold. One side was covered with a rainbow effect made of multi-colored streamers falling to the floor. The ceiling was blanketed with garnet and gold and decorated with diamonds covered with gold glitter. Rotating in the center of the floor was a six-foot, three dimensional diamond bearing the fraternity's letters. Music was furnished by Matt Betton's band.

Sigma Nu held its annual Parents Day Sunday. Parents were dinner guests and were entertained by group singing following the dinner.

About thirty mothers were guests at the Phi Delta Theta house Sunday.

Cigars at the Sigma Alpha Epsilon house announced the engagement of Doyle Lowell to Maxine Childers. Maxine passed chocolates to her Alpha Delta Pi sisters. Maxine is a senior in industrial journalism from Mission and Doyle is from Glasco.

Instead of choosing one of their girl friends as TKE Sweetheart at their annual Sweetheart Formal, the Tekes presented at their dinner-dance Friday night, their 1948 Sweetheart, Mrs. Blanche Jackson, their housemother.

Twenty-one years of housemother duties will be ended this spring when Mrs. Jackson retires to her home in Cottonwood Falls. Her 21 years at TKE housemother is a record among local housemothers. Mrs. Jackson has served as mother, friend and personal confidante to two generations of Tekes.

Roses at Van Zile Hall Sunday announced the approaching marriage on June 6th of Jane Keith to William Knapp. Jane, home economics junior, and Bill, mechanical engineering sophomore, are both from Burlington.

Arcadia will have its annual dinner for graduating seniors tonight.

"A Spring Garden" was the theme of the Delta Tau Delta formal Saturday night. A bubbling water fountain and streamers carried out the theme. The music was furnished by Skipper Hawkins and his orchestra.

In the receiving line were Jim Davis, Ann Huddleston, Mrs. Brickhouse Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Haines, Dr. and Mrs. R. F. Morse.

It was Parents Day at the Alpha Xi Delta house Sunday.

Latest initiates into Kappa Alpha Psi include: Leslie Billingsley, Jackie L. Papin, James Alexander, Robert Turner, Hartzell Whyte, Fred Wilhoite and Frank Leevells. Percy H. Lee, Polemarch of Midwestern Province was guest of honor at the ceremony.

One hundred fifty people attended the Mothers Day dinner at the Theta Xi house yesterday.

Coads of Moore th' Merrier and dates had a picnic on Wildcat Creek Saturday evening.

Men's Glee Club members and dates held a picnic and singfest at Sunset Thursday evening.

Clovia has been having its share of chocolates. Margaret Farrant passed the traditional sweets announcing her engagement and approaching marriage on June 12 to Henry Bledron. Margaret was graduated from K-State in 1944. Since that time has been doing physical therapy work.

Another round of sweets came from Virginia Sedwick and Bob Weatherby. Virginia, Bonner Springs, is a sophomore in home economics. Bob, Kansas City, is a sophomore in architectural engineering.

More chocolates Sunday came from Willa Deanne Mills. She announced her engagement to Merle Eye-stone. Willa Deanne is a sophomore in home economics from Lansing. Merle was graduated from K-State in '47 and is now 4-H agent in Shawnee County.

Nearly 200 persons attended the first annual spring party of Kappa Alpha Psi in Douglas recreation center Saturday evening.

Music was by the Night Watchmen. Fraternity members sang the Kappa Hymn, the Pin and Sweetheart songs and other fraternity songs during intermission.

Dr. V. D. Foltz, Dr. Fritz Moore, fraternity sponsor, and Jean Hedlund were guests.

Milling Profs Attend Chicago Meet May 17

Four faculty members of the milling industry will attend the annual meeting of the Operative Millers Association in Chicago, May 17 to 20. They are R. O. Pence, Warren Keller, Arlan Ward and Frank Wischer.

Frank Wischer will present a paper on a comparative study of three qualities of wheat. The paper was prepared by Wischer and Dr. Shellenberger, head of the department.

R. O. Pence is a member of the research committee and Warren Keller is a member of the education committee of the association.

Color in Food Attracts Staters

By Barbara Dean Clark

If food looks good, you'll buy it! In the College Cafeteria the appearance on the counter is part of the psychology in selling food, declares Miss Merna Miller, head of the Cafeteria.

Food colors, shapes and textures are three of the most important factors in buying food and planning the cafeteria's menu, said Mrs. Helen Radke, instructor in institutional management. Sizes must vary to keep the food display attractive. Supervisors make up the menu two weeks in advance.

Cost and seasonability are important in making the choice for meat, vegetables and fruit. When prices go up on a certain meat it stays off the cafeteria menu, Miss Miller explained. Meat substitutes and meat extenders are used to keep prices down.

Arrangement on the counter must be according to an attractive color scheme, since color attracts the customer to the food, Miss Miller pointed out. Using salad as an example, to explain that color variety is necessary, she told how supervisors arrange a green salad, tomato salad and cole slaw to make a tempting display.

Supervisors and students make up the menus. Classes in institutional management plan menus. Before being used menus are checked by the supervisors.

Two shifts of cooks manage the meals. A separate staff cooks for banquets held in Thompson. Students help serve and wash dishes.

"Splinterville" dining hall is run on the same basis as the College Cafeteria, Miss Miller said. Anyone may eat in the cafeteria, she added. Both halls will be open during summer school.

Dramatic Readings to Be Presented

Six dramatic readings will be presented Thursday at 8 p.m. in Education Hall. The program will be open to the public. The six students are members of Mrs. Gladys Gough's class in speech recital.

Students and their selections are Eleanor Hardin, "Conflict"; Barbara Dean Clark, "The Death Disk"; Barbara King, "The Selfish Giant"; Helen Hammond, "Later"; Rosemary Leonard, "The Waltz"; Ree Katz, "College Days-Carefree Ways".

Molly Hoover, daughter of Earl Hoover, director of dramatics, will appear in the number given by Barbara King.

Helen Deane Dameron will introduce the recital. Ushers are Mary V. Gee, Frances Hardy, Mildred Hall, Jo Ann Jeffries and Patsy Laughlin. Technicians are John Hepler, Mary Beth Needham, Mary Irene Hope, Ben Stewart and Mary Young.

Awarded $25 Prize by Phi Alpha Mu

Joan Aldous was awarded the Margaret Russell scholarship of $25 for having the highest grade average of the graduating seniors. She was presented the award at a tea given by the Kansas State chapter of Phi Alpha Mu, national honorary organization for junior and senior women in arts and sciences. Sophomore women with two point grade averages were entertained at the tea.

Choir Practice Ready

Pictures ordered by choir members may now be obtained in the music office, Luther Leavengood, music department head, announced. Please call for them as soon as possible.

Two New Editors Appointed for Mag

Two new associate editors have been appointed by the Board of Directors of the Kansas Magazine, according to Robert Conover, editor of the magazine.

Helen Kramer Cook of Manhattan will be the new associate editor, replacing Ted Peterson, a member of the Journalism faculty. Mrs. Cook is the wife of W. W. Cook, professor of sociology and economics at the College.

Poetry editor for the new edition will be May Williams Ward from Wellington, who succeeds Kenneth Porter. She is a nationally known poet and has published several volumes of verse.

History Profs Speak

Two members of the history and government department are planning to give commencement addresses to high schools next week. Dr. P. L. Parrish, head of the department, will speak at Soldier Thursday evening. He has also planned to speak at Morrowville on May 19 and Humboldt on May 20.

Dr. A. B. Sageser, professor of history, will speak Thursday at Onedia. He will make a commencement address at Frankfort May 20.

SPC Meets Thursday

Final meeting of the Student Planning Committee will be Thursday in Education 206. Plans for the Camp Wood conference, scheduled for August 30, 31 and September 1, will be discussed at the meeting. Officers of the committee ask that all students interested in attending the conference attend the meeting.

CAMPUS CAPERS

with LIZ.

Hi Kids! Did you have a big week-end? Gee, there were certainly a lot of formal parties. The PIKA party was Saturday night and they certainly had to hurry with their decorating, as the Tri Delta party was the night before. Then, there was the Delta Tau Delta party, which was also Saturday night. We understand they brought in a band from Wichita that was very good. But, boys, what we want to know is, how long did the jam-session last afterwards? You did have one didn't you? This semester is certainly flying by, and before we know it, final week will be here. This term has been so crammed full of things to be done and obligations, that, if you are anything like me, you're pretty far behind in your studies. But don't worry. I have just the solution! Why don't you try a book from the College Outline Series. This series covers all major college courses, and is a great help, since it expresses everything in concise and definite terms. So, for that rough course, come in and get a book from the College Outline Series, and that course will be easier before you know it! ... What's this about Shirley King making Marvis (Shuffles) Kramer take her to a cowboy movie? Ah ah, Shuffles, watch that. Those shoot-em-ups have a peculiar effect on some people! ... There's one consolation for the seniors! After finals comes graduation, and then, they are through! Must be a wonderful feeling! Down at the Campus Book Store, we have the thing for that special graduation gift. We got in some new Sheaffer pen and pencil sets. They come in several colors, and some with gold or silver caps. The pens are guaranteed for life, and there isn't a nicer gift anywhere. Come in today and select from our wide assortment! ... What about Dick Schmitt? Is he lovely? Is he engaged? Rumor has it that he is! Why don't you tell anybody. Dick. ... You know, down at the book store, we carry Kem playing cards. Kem is the only genuine plastic card. We also have Congress playing cards, in double and single decks. We do engraving work, and personalized playing cards would make a smart gift for any senior. Also—for those parties you will be giving—you may need cards or party napkins. We have napkins in all colors, and they, too, can be personalized. Come in soon, and let us help you. ... Jim Curtis and Lyle Laughinghouse made quite the charming couple last Sunday afternoon. Why, Jim, I didn't know you were musically inclined! ... And for you kids who were in the store during the last few weeks, I have this to report about the Mother's Day stationery contest. Pat Shannon won the contest with 56 boxes sold. (Howard you can read about Pat for a change). Lavina Schurle was second and Pat Hunt was third. Me. . . I Well—I always was a little backward. We did have a lot of fun during the contest and we want to again thank all of you that bought the 177 boxes sold.

Welcome Trackmen

Some 800 track athletes are on the campus today and tomorrow competing in the annual State High School Track meet. Kansas State College is happy to again be host to such an outstanding group of high school students. The Collegian feels that it speaks for all the students at K-State when it says "Welcome, trackmen. We hope your brief stay on the campus is a pleasant one and if you decide to come to college, Kansas State College is a pretty good place to go."

Overdue Award

Gold "K" key awards were given to 63 students for outstanding work on student publications Tuesday night at the recognition banquet at the Country Club. These awards, presented by the Board of Student Publications, are an annual affair, but Tuesday night an award was given that was long overdue.

The award we are referring to is the FM, AM, table model radio presented by the Board to C. J. "Chief" Medlin, graduate manager of student publications. Never have we seen anyone so deserving, as surprised as Chief when presented with the radio.

For 12 years the Royal Purple has taken all-American ratings. To many students this has little significance, but it is really quite an honor. Less than half a dozen school annuals in the whole country get such an award each year. We are not belittling in the least past or present RP editors (and we are sure they will agree) that the person chiefly responsible for these awards has been C. J. Medlin.

He hasn't gotten his picture spread all over the pages of the Royal Purple, nor has he, outside of Kiddie Hall, received much recognition for his efforts here at the College. But he has been behind the scenes all the time in the production of the yearbook. Chief's patience with "rookie" editors, on the Collegian and Royal Purple, as well as his background of years of experience in the trade, have proved invaluable in putting out the two publications.

If anyone ever deserved such an award, you do Chief, and whether or not the Royal Purple continues to get the nation's top ratings in the future, we are sure that under such capable guidance, it will continue to be a service to the students and a credit to Kansas State College.

OUTSIDE the Ivy WALLS

By Max McRae
Possibly the last foreign policy legislation that Congress will be asked to pass this session is being considered by Secretary of State Marshall and other administration leaders. Two measures are under consideration. One resolves that Congress is in favor of U. N. regional defense systems for the political strengthening and military protection of Western Europe. The other measure would give President Truman temporary authority during the Congressional recess to provide arms and military equipment to any Marshall Plan country needing them.

An opponent of Communism became the first President of the Italian republic when Luigi Einaudi was elected to serve a seven-year term. He will name Alcide de Gasperi as premier to form a new cabinet.

The United States has made a bid to Russia for "decent and reasonable relations" between the two countries. Russia has agreed to the proposal and is ready to follow a policy of peace and cooperation with the U. S., according to a Moscow broadcast. American observers in Russia reported excitement among the Russian people and attached great significance to the fact that the countries are trying to patch up their quarrels. President Truman said that the attempt to reach an agreement between the two countries is no new departure in American policy.

Final approval by Congress of a bill for a 70-group air force will probably be signed by President Truman, despite his objections to it. Defense Secretary Forrestal has said the bill will throw the defense program out of balance. The naval and army air forces will place orders for about 4,200 new planes as soon as the President signs the bill.

Chrysler Corporation employees went on strike Wednesday after federal mediators failed to head it off. The C. I. O. United Automobile Workers, 75,000 of them, went on strike in 16 plants in 3 states. The union had reduced its wage demands from a 30-cent hourly increase to 17 cents. Chrysler officials would not accept these terms. This is the first major strike in the automobile industry since November, 1945, when the workers walked out of General Motors Corporation. That strike lasted 113 days.

Jerusalem will become an open city under Red Cross protection with the formal agreement of U. N. representatives, the Palestine government and the Arab and Jewish political and military authorities. Jerusalem will no longer be a fighting area. All troops will be withdrawn. Food supplies will be transported into the city unhindered.

Government action averted the threatened nationwide railway strike. President Truman proclaimed seizure of all the railroads in the name of the government. Federal Judge T. Alan Goldsborough issued a restraining order commanding the union chiefs to cancel the strike order and not to encourage a walkout. The unions, faced with strong penalties for contempt if they failed to comply, cancelled the strike. Railroad operations are now back to normal.

A joint proposal by the United States, Great Britain and France recommended a formal suspension of the United Nations Atomic Energy Commission's attempt to establish an atomic energy control authority. Further negotiations are useless, they believe, as long as Russia maintains its present attitude. Russia must be included in a system of control, however, to prevent an atomic armament race among the countries. It is believed that an agreement must be reached at a higher political level than that of the Atomic Energy Commission.

Church Calendar
A special workshop service at the Sosna Theater is cancelled this week.
A Special Joash service will be held at the church at 11 a. m. Sunday. Trinity choir under the direction of Elbert M. Fly and the church choir under the direction of Rev. Wm. Lindquist will sing two anthems.

There will be no fellowship hours or Sunday nite luncheon for the remainder of the year. Installation of officers and a flute solo by Mabel Frey will highlight the Student Forum at 6 p. m. at Wesley Hall.

Howard Lindholm will be in charge of meditations.
Lutheran Student Association
A semi-annual banquet is scheduled for 6:30 p. m. Saturday at the church. Rev. Emert Eklund of Bethany College, of Lindsay, Kansas, will be guest speaker. There will be no meeting Sunday.

Episcopal Church
Episcopal Young Married Couples will meet at the City Park Friday evening. Couples should bring a dish of food for six persons to the shelter house in the park at 6:15 p. m., according to Mrs. Dorothy Godfrey, head of the group.

Nineteen in Hospital
Nineteen Kansas State students were in the hospital Wednesday. They are Helen Weissbeck, Jo Ann Stroup, Mildred Reimer, Joyce Pratt, Melba Langor, Carroll McNay, George Damiani, David Mardiks, Robert Mushrush, Eugene Snell, Emilio Viale, Martin Decker, William Blake, Bud Nace, Jackie Neal, Stewart Ritchey, John Downie, Dale Tracy, and Dean McCracken.

Letters to the Editor

VOX STUDENS

(Editor's note: The opinions presented in this column may or may not express the opinion of The Collegian. The letters are presented here for student information.)

Dear Editor:
It really is very painful to see students stepping on the grass and making passages through the grass to be able to go from one building to another. It really is a shame to see how students jaywalk and by doing this kill the grass.

Do they do it because of being lazy? I imagine so, therefore, let me have the pleasure to ask you dear friends:

What are sidewalks made for anyway? Let me also remind those who always forget that Kansas State is one of the most beautiful colleges in America and I mean America (North, Central, and South, because I have had the opportunity to see and visit universities in my own country, other South American countries, and Central American countries. I have even visited 17 universities in the Union, and believe me, friends, I do not think, and I never did think, that they were better looking than K-State so my dear friends, don't you think it is time to do something about it?

How can we stop students jaywalking? The Collegian has said many things about it and signs have been put all over the campus, but do I find any difference? NO I do not. So let's do something, something that may really work.

That would be to put some FENCES around the corners to destroy the students' BAD HABITS of JAYWALKING and to teach them at the same time that: SIDEWALKS ARE MADE TO WALK ON.

Sincerely,
Bruno Linares.

A two-day garden school will be held on the campus this June, Prof. L. R. Quinlan of the horticulture department, has announced.

The school is to be June 8 and 9 and will offer special instruction in flower show judging. It will be conducted by the horticulture department and is sponsored by the National Council 110 and all members are urged to attend, Beck said.

BANTAM PLANE MADE AT WICHITA READY FOR ITS MARKET HOP-OFF

Wichita, May 10.—The bantam of airplanes warmed up today for its market take-off amid talk by its producer that it can fly cross-country on $12 even in these days of high priced gasoline.

The B-18, as it is called, is only 18 feet long with a 27-foot wing-spread and tips the scale at a scant 450 pounds—with room for a 250-pound load.

Its designer, chief engineer Al Mooney of the Mooney Aircraft Company here, says it can be produced for half the cost of present light planes and eventually his company hopes to sell it for $1,500.

Mooney—who has designed or improved 35 different planes in the last 18 years—claims his aerial flivver's eight-gallon tank gives it a six-hour flying range of around 400 miles.

The tiny one-seater is built of metal from the nose to behind the pilot's seat and of wood from there to the tail. It is powered by a 50-pound-Cobra engine, produced by Crosley Motors, Inc. Mooney insists the plane can climb to 16,000 feet.

Pennell Crosley Jr., president of Crosley Motors, Inc., is scheduled to take another look at the tiny air mite here tomorrow. He recently watched Mooney put it thru its paces at Crosley's private airfield near Cincinnati.

"I've already seen enough," Crosley said, "to convince me Mooney has met the requirements of sound, efficient and low-priced part of the lightweight, low priced aircraft with his aerial counter-car."

NEW CROSLY STATION WAGON

Smart! Practical! Costs $400 to $700 less than any other station wagon—operates for about 1/2 as much. Seats 4 in comfort. With rear seat removed hauls 1/2 ton load.

Convertible! If you love sun and air. Panel! Delivery! Full 1/2 ton capacity.

Pickups! Cuts service and delivery costs.

Sports-Utility! For work or play—four seat obtainable. Low priced—seven for CROSLY—$120 less than station wagon.

All models have new 4-cylinder engine.

Even after this first rush, many pictures still remain and the picture of your favorite girl or boy friend may still be waiting for you.

Kansas Jobs for Kansans Is Slogan of Engineers

By RUSTY GRIFFIN
"Kansas jobs for Kansans people" is the slogan of the Placement Committee of the Engineering Experiment Station.

Last year 50 percent of the graduating engineers went to work for Kansas industries, thanks to the committee which has been working for the past year and a half to place technically trained people in Kansas industries.

This year letters and questionnaires were sent to nearly every industry in Kansas urging them to cooperate. John D. Bender of the Placement Committee emphasized the fact that they are working to coordinate the efforts of each department in the engineering school to find jobs for graduating engineers.

The present program is the culmination of a study made by Leland S. Hobson, industrial engineer and professor at the College. From his research, Professor Hobson concluded that the industrial slump in Kansas in the years following 1919 could be traced to the severe shortage of trained men. The greater majority of men graduating from Kansas schools were going East to work. It was not because they particularly wanted to work in the East. A poll showed that 70 percent of the students wanted to remain in Kansas. The problem lay in coordinating the interests of these men with the industrialists.

This gave Professor Hobson an idea. "Why not send a questionnaire to Kansas industries asking them to cooperate in getting jobs for Kansans men," he mused. The answers which poured in indicated that there were plenty of jobs available and that salaries offered were as high if not higher than in the East.

Students then were asked to fill out an information sheet about themselves which was mimeographed and filed. When a request for a job came in, the mimeographed sheets of students were sent to the firm. This enabled the employers to select the men they wanted to interview; and from then on students and industrialists dealt directly with each other.

Phi Beta Kappa to Honor Anderson

William Anderson of Manhattan will receive this year's award of Phi Beta Kappa next week, for making the highest grades in Option A in the School of Arts and Sciences during the last four years at KSC. This award is given each year by the Kansas Association of Phi Beta Kappa.

KSC has no chapter of Phi Beta Kappa because charters are granted only to liberal arts colleges, but alumni members of the organization here have formed a society known as Alpha of Kansas. Each year the society makes a presentation of ten dollars to an Option A student, according to Cornellia Crittenden, member of the local organization. The Option A curriculum corresponds to arts and sciences of liberal arts colleges. "The winners of the award would probably have been elected to Phi Beta Kappa if they had gone to a liberal arts school," Miss Crittenden said.

Phi Beta Kappa was founded in 1776 at the College of William and Mary in Williamsburg, Virginia. It was the first Greek letter society in the United States. The first two charters were granted to Harvard and Yale. Women were first admitted in 1875 at the University of Vermont. There are now 141 chapters of Phi Beta Kappa in the United States with approximately 125,000 members, Miss Crittenden said.

Service Helps Find Jobs for Summer

"May 30 will soon be here, and students who want a job when school closes should apply to the Kansas State Employment Service," states John Morrison of Topeka, director of the Kansas Employment Security Division.

By applying to the KSES, students can not only find out about job opportunities in the locality of the office, but also about jobs in other parts of the state and in other states, Morrison says. However, persons in the vicinity of the job are given first consideration, so K-Staters are advised to apply in the

Carlson Leads Ag Frat for Next Year

Carl Carlson will head Alpha Zeta, honorary agricultural fraternity at Kansas State College next year, it was announced here today.

Other officers elected for the 1948-49 year include Ray Boyen, censor; Fletcher Riggs, scribe; Howard Lindholm, treasurer; Harry Ainslie, chronicler; and John Sjo, program chairman.

KSES office in the area where they want to work, he added.

Veterans who apply to the KSES for jobs are given first chance at any work they can do, he pointed out. With employment high in most occupations and in most parts of the state, any student applying to the KSES will have a good chance of getting a job, he predicted.

Students who live in the Manhattan vicinity, or who want jobs in this area should apply to the office at 114 South Third, he said.

Essay Contest Offers $200 to Ten Winners

Two hundred dollars in cash prizes are being offered by the American Potash Institute for winning essays submitted prior to June 1, 1948. Harold E. Jones, Assistant Professor of agronomy, has announced.

The title of the essay is to be: "Soil Factors Affecting the Nutritive Value of a Foreign Crop." Any undergraduate student is eligible to enter the contest according to Professor Jones.

Students graduating in June must submit their papers before graduation and a certificate of undergraduate classification, signed by the proper college authority must accompany each paper.

The contest is being sponsored by the student section of the American Society of Agronomy. Prize money will be distributed as follows: First place, $50; second, $35; third, $30; fourth, $25; fifth, $20; sixth, $15; seventh, $10; eighth, $7.50; ninth, $5; and tenth, $2.50. In addition, the three high men will receive appropriate medals and a year's subscription to the Journal of the American Society of Agronomy.

Papers should be typed double spaced and not less than three thousand nor more than thirty-five hundred words in length, according to Professor Jones. Also, abstracts of not more than

Speaks at Graduations

Dr. Howard T. Hill, head of the speech department, left Monday to speak at high school commencements during the week. He will return Saturday.

The itinerary for Dr. Hill's trip included Hugoton, Monday; Blaines, Tuesday; Meade, Wednesday; Cimarron, Thursday and Sublette, today.

Faculty Exhibits Art

Prints, oils and water colors by three faculty members will be included in the Art Festival at Sublette today and tomorrow. John F. Helm, Louis Martzoff and Earl D. Layman of the architecture department have contributed to the exhibit of Kansas work.

Students Quizzed on Drink Problem

Questionnaires have been distributed to organized houses, fraternities and sororities, and housing projects by the Religious Federation, in an effort to determine student opinion on the proposed amendment to prohibition.

Questions asked in the survey include "Do you think Kansas a 'back number' state because of prohibition?" "Do you believe legalizing liquor in Kansas would aid in cutting the consumption of liquor?" and "If you drink, do you do so because you like the taste of alcohol?"

Students who have not yet filled out the questionnaires are urged to do so by the Religious Federation. Blanks may be obtained in Recreation Center.

Four Millers Attend Cereal Chemists Meet

Two professors and two graduate students at Kansas State will attend the 33rd annual meeting of the American Association of Cereal Chemists in Cincinnati, May 23 to 28. Dr. A. H. Shellenbarger, milling industry head at the College, announced today.

Those attending the meeting will be Shellenbarger and Prof. Max Miller of the College milling staff and Byron Miller and Marlo Dirks, graduate students.

Shellenbarger is chairman of the Association's program committee. Miller will preside at a grain storage symposium.

Miller and Dirks will present a paper on removing complex organic substances from wheat flour.

Send Water Colors to British Display

Water colors by Kansas painters may be sent to England to be exhibited for a year, according to John F. Helm of the architecture department.

The paintings, representative of work of this region, would be exchanged for a comparable English exhibit and would be done through the UNESCO organization as a part of their plan to provide an interchange of cultures. The English water colors would be exhibited in several cities throughout Kansas.

Professor Helm, Director of the Kansas Federation of Art, recently attended a meeting of the UNESCO Committee and the Federation. Plans for the exchange project were discussed at the meeting.

Vet Enrollment Figures Released

By Ralph Burdick
If all the veterans at Kansas State College should suddenly disappear, the College would lose more than half its student body. A recent survey by the Veterans Service Office shows 4,096 veterans enrolled in Kansas State.

There are 3,721 students under Law 3461 and 375 students under Public Law 16. The women veterans numbered 46, three of whom are disabled.

Of the total, 41 percent are married. These students have 847 children, according to the survey. Three veterans have four children and one proud father has five.

More than 16 students are classified as juniors than any of the other four classes. They make up 35.6 percent of the disabled veterans. Sophomores rank second with 33.3 percent. The seniors make up 20 percent and the freshmen, 11.1 percent.

Sophomores number the highest among the P. L. 346 veterans with 39.49 percent. The veterans are 24.9 percent juniors, 20 percent freshmen and 14.8 percent seniors.

CHALK TALK

By NORV GISH

Among the opportunities we see for change around the campus is the situation existing in the press box at Griffith Stadium, home of the Wildcat baseball team. "The press box" as the structure perched high atop the Griffith grandstand is laughingly called, comes in handy in a number of ways.

It is especially handy for those faculty members and Manhattan businessmen who either arrive late and have just enough influence to talk their way past the guard or who feel they can't face the rigors of the grandstand with the common man.

Basing our words on our own observations, our camera, and the observations of several students, we see the press box becoming a haven for "misplaced" faculty members and "lost" Manhattan businessmen.

Long before the umpire calls "play ball," and long before the grandstand seats are filled, the press box gentry start their laborious trek to their point of vantage. Somehow the guard on the door fails to see them. Soon the space is jammed with people who have no connection with K-State athletics or the working press.

Meanwhile, the working members of the press section—those who turn out the reams of sports publicity for the Wildcats—sit on their thumbs in a cramped corner and take turns sitting in the few chairs placed at an inadequate press bench.

On more than one occasion, the door of the so-called "press box" has been slammed in the faces of reporters. Slammed because there was no room for them in the box. At one game, a late arriving newsman who attempted to gain entry to the press box was told to "go sit in the right field bleachers," or to "go home and listen to the game on his radio."

The galling part of the situation to reporters is the fact that the very men who slam the door (or order it slammed) in the faces of press representatives are those who scream the loudest and the loudest for more and better athletic publicity.

There are, however, certain high officials of the school who have every right in the box. With their presence we see no fault. It is at those faculty members and businessmen who insist on pushing the student reporters aside that we cast a disapproving eye. We wonder what their reaction would be if a student in their classroom or a customer in their store denied them the right to enter their rightful place of business. Without doubt the green hills of the Kaw Valley would ring with the sounds of their protesting voices.—N.G.

KSC TRACKMEN BATTLE I-STATE IN DUAL MEET

Wildcat track mentor Ward Haylett leaves for Ames, Iowa, today with his squad of cindermen to meet Iowa State in the last dual meet of the season for the Cats. Records so far this season indicate that Iowa is not up to the par they maintained some years ago when they won four conference championships in a row. The Iowans have won meets with Drake and Iowa Teachers, neither of them showing too much competition.

Iowa State took both indoor and outdoor conference championships from 1943 to 1945, but have lost considerable strength in the past two years. Corn-state coach George Brettnall will have his greatest power in the high jump, quarter and mile run, and the mile relay. The Iowans have two of the better milers in the conference in Arlen and Everett. Arlen has topped both indoor and outdoor championships in the past.

Injuries still plague Haylett's efforts to field the strongest possible entries for State. While Howard Shannon is entered in both running and jumping events, his strained back will probably keep him from everything but the high and broad jump. Coach Haylett indicated a strong possibility that the lanky Texan may not even make the trip, but instead would remain at home so as to be in top form for next Saturday's conference meet in Lincoln.

The Wildcats are favored heavily in all the field events outside the high jump if Rodney McClay is sufficiently recovered to hold his own in the sprints. McClay bruised his leg during gym class, playing football.

K-State entries:
100-yard dash—Rodney McClay, Harold Kiser, Howard Shannon, Bill Bond.
200-yard dash—Rodney McClay, Rick Harman, Carmen Wilcox, Bill Bond.

George Leasure, Richard Chase.
120-yard hurdles—Earl Elliott, Harold Kiser, Jim Danielson, Howard Shannon, Joe Thornton.

220-yard hurdles—Rod McClay, Joe Thornton, Howard Shannon, Harold Kiser, Earl Elliott, Carmen Wilcox.
Relay—Art Hildebrand, Bob Lewis, Rick Harman, Bill Stuart, Carmen Wilcox, Dick Hanson.

Shotput—Rollin Prather, Rick Harman, Richard Payne.
Discus—Prather, Payne, Larry King, Bob Johnson.
Javelin—Williams, Prather, Lewis, King.
High jump—Shannon, Danielson.
Broad jump—Shannon, Danielson, Kiser.

Wildcats to Battle Tigers Monday for Second Place

The scramble for second place in the Big Seven Conference baseball race may be settled Monday and Tuesday when Kansas State meets Missouri on the Tiger's home diamond. The team from the "show me" state currently is in second place behind the Nebraska Cornhuskers. If Coach Lud Fiser's nine can win both ends of the series the positions will be reversed and the Wildcats will be in second place, a game behind Nebraska.

A starting pitcher has not been named by Fiser but the baseball mentor has indicated that either Duane Holder or Jack Bell will receive the nod. Monday is Holder's regular turn on the mound but Bell may open for the Wildcats to insure the fireballer a shot at the Tigers in the event that rain causes postponement of the second game.

Englert a Starter
Coach John "Hi" Simmons, of Missouri, will probably lead with his ace, Robert Englert, sophomore right-hander with a 5-3 record last season. Bob Boehlow or Gene Crenshaw may start the second game for the Tigers.

Missouri is fielding a veteran team with nine lettermen back from last year's second place team. Top infielders are First baseman Jack Prier, Second baseman Bill Entock, Shortstop Jack Moran, and Third baseman Elliott Alberts. In the outfield, Herb Wackerle, Wilbur Volz, and team captain, Bob Spinks, will again snag the flies. Volz is leading the Tiger batsmen with a .490 average.

"The Tigers are a good defensive team and have good pitching," Fiser said. "Their hitting isn't too heavy, but then ours hasn't been either."

Fiser Undecided
Fiser was undecided on a starting catcher. "Schuacker and Davis both have been doing good jobs behind the plate. Don 'Gabby' Chew, one of the 'Cats' leading hitters, will probably patrol the right field garden if his back injury does not slow him down. Jack Nielsen may get a starting assignment in the infield according to Fiser. Charley Springer, utility infield man, is out for the season with dislocated bones in his wrist.

The two teams will return to Manhattan Friday and Saturday for another two game series. Both games will be afternoon affairs starting at 3:30 on Friday and 2 o'clock on Saturday. The game Monday will be the first meeting of the two schools on the baseball diamond this year. Last year the Wildcats won two out of three games from the Tigers, and one game was postponed because of bad weather.

Enters West Point

Lyle C. Parrish, sophomore in mechanical engineering, will report to West Point as a cadet on July 1. Out of a competitive examination, he was the only man from the Kansas National Guard unit to receive an appointment. He is a member of the 110th Ordnance Medium Maintenance of Manhattan.

Chems Have Picnic

Chemistry department staff members and their families will have a picnic in the City Park pavilion Tuesday at 5:30 p. m. An inter-departmental baseball game will be played. Staff members whose offices are in the basement or on the first floor of Willard Hall will play members from the second and third floors.

Interview Seniors

Representatives of two dairy-affiliated industries visited the campus recently to interview graduating seniors in the dairy department.

The Pet Milk Company's representative, Frank Reynolds, was here Monday, and E. D. Edquist, manager of the Fairmont Creamery, Concordia, was on the campus Friday, May 7.

Cage Champ Pick All-Opponent Team

Kansas State's Big Seven basketball champions came up with a belated vote for their all-opponents team today. In selecting their worst foes, the Wildcats picked both a non-conference and a conference team.

Oklahoma and Missouri players dominated the conference all-opponents selections with each school placing two men. The Wildcat-picked squad included Paul Courty of Oklahoma and Dan Pippin of Missouri at forwards; Otto Schnellbacher of Kansas, center; Ken Pryor of Oklahoma and Thornton Jenkins of Missouri at guards.

The non-conference foes rated highest by the Cats included Jackie Robinson of Baylor and Tex Ritter of Indiana, forwards; George Kaftan of Holy Cross, center; A. L. Bennett of Oklahoma A and M and Max Peyton of Wyoming, guards.

No player received an unanimous vote for the team. Paul Courty ranked highest, however, with ten votes.

made up for his previous bobbles by lining a double to center field. Right fielder Green then scored Eubanks with a single.

In their half of the eighth, the Wildcats tried, but didn't have that reserve kick left for the stretch run. Sheriff walked, went clear to third on an error, and scored on a long fly by Dean.

Shattered Arm No Handicap for Ace Hurler Jack Bell

By Joe Henderson.
When Jim Kekeris, 300 lb. Missouri football tackle led a wave of interference over Jack Bell's left end position in a K-State-Missouri football game, it looked as if the latter's pitching days were over. Bell emerged from the pile-up with his pitching arm dangling limp at his side. The broken arm did not heal as it should, and remained crooked. Despite this handicap, big Jack has become one of the brightest pitching prospects seen at K-State since the days of Elden Auker. The present condition of Bell's arm was demonstrated last Monday night when he whiffed 17 Oklahoma batters in beating the Sooners 5-1.

Jack lettered in basketball at Kansas State in the '44-45 season, baseball last year, and would have lettered in football in '44 had he not been injured. On graduation from Salina High School in 1944 he had earned letters in football, basketball, and tennis. He was named all-state basketball guard, and captained the basketball and tennis teams. Bell is well remembered by Manhattan baseball fans for leading Manhattan to the ABLA championship last summer when he won seven and dropped one.

While he was serving as an athletic instructor in the army, he pitched for the Camp Polk team which won the 4th Army championship. The team later placed third in the state semi-pro baseball tournament. Jack's best pitch is a fast ball that works on the principle, "you can't hit what you can't see." Last year, he had the lowest earned-run average in the conference. Like most pitchers, Bell would rather talk of the hits he gets than the strikeouts he racks up. He proved his ability at handling a bat when he won a bunting contest held this spring by Coach "Lud" Fiser.

Although he does not admit that he has same superstitions, Jack carefully avoids stepping on a baseline when he starts to the pitching mound. He refuses to shave before he is to pitch and usually will not have his hair cut before a game. Jack is majoring in Physical Education and plans to be a coach when he graduates. He has had offers from six major league baseball clubs but is undecided about the future concerning professional ball.

Despite the fact that he is forced to miss school during basketball and baseball seasons, "Boomer" Bell manages to keep his grade average at a two point or better. The 21-year-old sophomore is a member of Beta Theta Pi, social fraternity, and the K-Fraternity, letterman's club at Kansas State.

PE FRAT WILL SPONSOR CAGERS
Spring basketball practice will come to a close next Tuesday night in Nichols Gymnasium at 7:45 with an intra-squad scrimmage under regular game conditions.

Phi Epsilon Kappa, professional fraternity for physical education majors, is sponsoring the game. Admission will be 25 cents. Dale Relihan, president of Phi Epsilon Kappa, said the game is being held in order to raise money to buy a new football scoreboard.

"Phi Epsilon Kappa," said Relihan, "has plans for several money-raising deals this year and next. We hope to have the necessary $1500 by the end of next year."

The basketball squad will be evenly divided for the game. The teams will be composed of members of last seasons Big Seven champs out for spring practice; as well as members of this year's freshman crop. In addition there are several boys out who did not play either varsity or frosh ball last winter. All members of the spring practice squad will be introduced to the crowd before the game.

"Anyone who wants to help buy a new electric football scoreboard, and also see a basketball game, can attend," says Pres. Relihan.

ATO, PEM Head Track Brackets in School Meet

With five events completed, the intramural track meet has developed into a four way battle in the fraternity bracket and a runaway for the P. E. M.s in the independent division. Alpha Tau Omega leads the fraternities with Sigma Phi Epsilon, Beta Theta Pi, and Kappa Alpha Psi following close behind.

The independent race shows the PEM's leading with 37 points and the Black Cats second with 12½. The ATO's have 15 points to head the frats while the Sig Eps have 14 and the Betas and Kappa Alpha Psi are tied with 13 apiece.

No records were broken in any of the events but several good performances were turned in. Louis Debord, Beta Theta Pi, copped the 100-yard dash in the fraternity bracket when he split the tape in 10.3 seconds.

He was followed by Jack Papin, Kappa Alpha Psi, Bruce Karns, Alpha Tau Omega, and Hubert Smith, Alpha Kappa Lambda. Gerald Hackney won the independent 100-yard dash in 10.7 seconds. Bill Langhofer of the Black Cats and Charles Watkins, P. E. M., tied for second and third. Charles Medcalf, Black Cats, came in fourth.

Glenn Channell, frosh basketball star, won the 440-yard dash for the Betas in the fraternity bracket in 52.5 seconds. He was followed by Jack Papin, Kappa Alpha Psi, Don Button and Harold Mitchell, S. P. E. Curtis Tarrant of the Deasabells won the independent 440-yard dash in 55.7 seconds. Following Tarrant were Raymond Schmarzeld and Elvin Bowen of the Black Cats, John Walsey, of A.V.M.A., and Reginald Asher of the Gut-terbuns.

Howey Wins Pole Vault
Harold Howey, Sigma Phi Epsilon, won the fraternity pole vault with a jump of 11 feet. Following Howey were Jim Neumann, Phi Delta Theta, John Fleener, Pi Kappa Alpha, and Bill Aye, Sigma Alpha Epsilon. Gale Hamilton of the P.E.M. team also jumped 11 feet as he took the independent pole vault event. Harold Mosier, also of P.E.M., took second and Calvin Winter, unattached, and B. R. Brake, A.V.M.A. tied for third and fourth.

AT STATE

It's here! The last week-end before finals will be starting in the face. Looking ahead to vacation Nancy Diggle passed roses at the Pi Phi house Tuesday revealing her August 1 wedding date to Yearl Root. Nancy is from Mission and was graduated in January. Yearl is a junior in psychology from Centralia.

Cigars at the Phi Delt House Tuesday announced the engagement of Stewart Rankin, Topeka, to Jean Beck. Jean attended Emporia State and is a member of Sigma Sigma Sigma sorority. Stewart is a sophomore in electrical engineering.

Dean Emeritus Mary Pierce was dinner guest at the Pi Kappa Alpha house Sunday.

Tri Deltas will have their annual senior picnic tonight at Sunset.

It is a Delta Tau Delta square that Amy Lou Pearl now has chained to her Kappa key. Amy Lou announced her engagement to Bob Feldner Tuesday evening by passing sweets at the Kappa house. Bob, of Wichita, passed cigars at the Delt house.

Farm House members and their dates will meet at the chapter house, at 2 Sunday, before leaving for a barbeque.

August 1 is the date of the wedding of Lois Folck and Arlan Potwin. Lois is from Junction City and a member of Alpha Xi Delta. Arlan is a Sigma Nu from Lyons.

Sig Eps will have a picnic tonight following the all school champion softball game.

TKEs are having an Alumni Round-up Sunday with a picnic in Sunset at 1 p. m.

Epsilon Chi Alpha fraternity is having its spring formal tonight at the Avalon.

The Country Club will be the scene of the Sigma Alpha Epsilon spring formal from 6 to 12.

West Stadium Hall is having a party tonight in Recreation Center from 8 to 12.

Van Zile Hall is having a date picnic Saturday evening at 6.

Pi Beta Phi will have a picnic Sunday from 6 to 10.

Coads from Keims Kabana and dates will have a picnic Saturday evening.

The Delta Sigma Phi Sailor's Ball will be tomorrow night from 8 to 12 at the chapter house.

Chi Sigma, petitioning Sigma Chi, will have a picnic Saturday night in Sunset.

Alpha Delta Theta held formal pledging Thursday night for the following girls: Betty Fritzler, Jeannette Doran, Muriel Frey, Rella Lou Blood, Lesley Denison, Lois Brown, Donna Berry, Jayne Lawson, Marjorie Dunn, Lois Jones, Jane Fenton, Leta Petroff, Susan Lovell, Joan Knight, Norma Jean Wolfe. The week before a potluck supper was held at the home of Charlotte Mager Dorf for all of the old and new officers of the sorority.

Van Zile Hall held its annual formal dinner Wednesday night. Muriel Frey was awarded the freshman scholarship plaque. House guests were Dean Helen Moore and Mrs. Bessie B. West. The surprise of the evening was roses from Ruthann Loomis announcing her approaching marriage on June 1 to Donald Rogge. Ruthann, Valley Falls, is a senior in home economics; and Donald, Barnes, is a sophomore in landscape design.

Pyramid club of Tau Delta Phi held a dinner meeting Wednesday evening in Thompson hall. Guest for the evening was Mr. Marvin Gordon of Topeka, an alumnus of Tau Delta Phi.

House guest at the Delta Sigma Phi house this week was Edward Roth, traveling secretary of the fraternity.

Melvin Burkhead surprised his TKE brothers with cigars last night announcing his engagement to Doris Byer. Doris passed chocolates at an East Stadium picnic last night. Melvin is a senior in agriculture from Eloit and Doris is a sophomore in home economics from Stafford.

El Ropos at the Phi Kappa house Monday night heralded the announcement by Paul Scully that he had lost his pin to Polly Noone. Polly is from Denver, Colorado and Paul is an electrical engineering junior from Topeka.

The biggest surprise of the year for Clovia girls came Wednesday night when Ann Barton, Junction City passed chocolates announcing her engagement to Hays Beck, Manhattan. Ann is a freshman in physical education and Hays is a freshman in agriculture.

needed night when Ann Barton, Junction City passed chocolates announcing her engagement to Hays Beck, Manhattan. Ann is a freshman in physical education and Hays is a freshman in agriculture.

Margaret Richardson, Hoxie, was married to Delphos Menninger, Marion, last Sunday. Margaret is a Clovia alumna and was graduated from K-State in 1947.

Students Do Not Dress Adequately, Snook Complains

Warm weather and picnics are keeping the student hospital staff busier than usual.

Dr. R. R. Snook, head of the Student Health Service, says his staff is treating an abnormal number of severe throat infections, tonsillitis and similar diseases.

The hospital is crowded with students who require the constant attention of a doctor. Daily a large number of students are treated in the student health clinic than is normal for this time of year, the student health head reports.

"For the most part, the trouble is with the student himself," Dr. Snook said. "Students insist on coming to school or going on picnics without dressing adequately. Summer isn't here yet and the body can't take care of the added strain caused by improper dressing this season."

Dr. Snook's advice is dress warmly and save yourself the inconvenience of becoming ill just before final examinations.

Engineers Elect New Officers, Adopt Laws

A new constitution was adopted and officers were elected for 1948-49 at the recent annual meeting of the Kansas State Engineering Association.

New officers are Jack Roth, president; Charles Smith, vice-president; James Bondurant, secretary; Dewey Huston, treasurer; Merle Siegle, junior representative and Ward Keller, Open House chairman.

Speaker Believes Loss of Victory Due to Confusion

We are so confused we are about to snatch defeat from the arms of victory, Earl S. Johnson of the University of Chicago told nearly 400 students recognized for scholarship and leadership and others at an all-College assembly yesterday morning.

Our confusion is from not knowing who our real enemies are, he said, and immediately identified them as ignorance, middle-headedness and moral apathy.

To combat our enemies, Dr. Johnson said, we have abundant knowledge, a method of inquiry and a body of ideals as old as civilization.

Formula for Intelligence To be intelligent, he said, is to have knowledge and apply it to the advancement of the values in our trusteeship. "These are the values of the Judeo-Christian-Democratic Faith," he said.

But it's a risky business, and the man of intelligence will be called a radical, Johnson remarked.

Johnson is disappointed that students seek right answers rather than right questions; that they are asked to remember rather than to inquire.

As evidence of ignorance, middle-headedness and moral apathy, Johnson cited answers given by College freshmen to statements he called "first rate nonsense and false."

"We know so many things which aren't true," Johnson said. The school's first task is to discover the unreason and nonsense of students and get them to abandon it.

Schools are only one of the many agencies producing intellectual and moral changes to give tomorrow's society its character, Johnson said. Other forces he named include newspapers, movies, economic opportunity, the side of the track one was born on, quality of statemanship practiced, and "thousands of other things not labeled as education but which are."

If the educational institutions fail to be both right and wise about the place of education in democracy, Johnson said, "then it were folly to believe that democracy can survive."

Naming the family, the church, and economic and political institutions as means of accomplishing ideals, Johnson said they should be questioned. Structures of an agrarian civilization may not meet the demands of an urban civilization.

Should Examine Politics Likewise political institutions which gave us peace in the 19th century should be examined. Can they bring us peace now? Johnson asked.

The principle of equal political rights of citizens in a democratically organized world society must have institutions through which it can live.

In building institutions for the community's physical and mental well-being, we encounter other ideals. According to logic, they are subject to examination and reconstruction. "It is to this quest that intelligence invites you, whatever the risks may be," Johnson concluded.

Businessmen Attend Engineering Program

Businessmen from Topeka and Manhattan, attended a program last night put on the Factory Design class in the engineering department.

Members of the class reported on a study they had made for setting up factories for different products. The reports were the result of a semester's study made by the students. Plans for setting up an air conditioning plant, an electric lawn mower plant and a shoe factory were among those represented.

John D. Bender and Leland S. Hobson, who instruct the class, plan to make the program an annual affair.

Varied Program at Final AVMA Meet

An election, an address, a movie and a vocal quartette are all on the program for the final spring meeting of the Junior AVMA tonight at 7:30 in VLS.

Election of officers for next year will be the main feature of the program. "Biologicals in the Field" will be the topic of an address by H. A. Quinn of the Jensen-Sellsbury Laboratories, Kansas City, Mo.

The Alpha Kappa Lambda Quartette will sing selections which won them a Y-Orpheum award.

Alumni Program Covers All U. S.; 30 Seniors Join

Approximately 60 Kansas State alumni meetings were held during the past year throughout the United States, Kenney L. Ford, executive secretary of the KSC Alumni Association said yesterday.

One of the activities of the association is to help alumni clubs throughout the country in arranging meetings, obtaining speakers, college movies and other entertainment.

Ford listed other services of the organization: during the school year The Kansas Industrialist, the weekly alumni paper, is sent to all members; a complete geographic, alphabetical, and class file is kept on the 20,000 alumni of the college; up-to-date alumni addresses and class lists are furnished to organizations or individuals; student loan funds are provided for students in need of financial assistance; arrangements are made for alumni five-year class reunions during Commencement week; the official college ring and pin are available through the office; assistance is given the college in securing much needed legislative appropriations.

The following faculty members of the association will promote memberships by personally contacting all seniors in their departments this week:

Home Economics, Mrs. Jane Barnes, Iva Mullen, Esther Cornman, Ruth Wise.

Arts and Sciences, Melville Mudge, Wendell G. Johnson, John O. Harris, Dale Jones, Leona Maas, H. R. Bryson, Homer Socolofsky, Golda Crawford, Earl Herrick, Johnny De Mand, Randall Hill, Ruth Kindred, Bill Langworthy, Merle Gugler, Larry Van Meir, Jim Hoath, Mrs. Lois Harley, Charles Stratton, Mary Ann Montgomery, Fred Parris, Fritz Knorr.

Engineering and Architecture, George Larson, Bob Keith, Dean Braden, John McEntyre, Leon Findley, Donald Moss, J. Lester Hooper, David Ebleins, Gerald Koloky.

Agriculture, Harvey Cooper, Tom Avery, Glen H. Beck, Dale Rake, Arlin Ward, Boyd Cathcart, Ronald W. Campbell.

Graduate School, Harold Howe.

Veterinary Medicine, No graduating seniors.

Drop Proposed Course The proposed lip reading course will not be given, Dean of Administration A. L. Pugley has announced. Only five veterans and two non-veterans indicated any interest in the course and that was not enough to justify offering the course, Dean Pugley said.

Dancing at Union

Student Union management has completed arrangements for "The Nightwatchmen" to play at the Union Thursday at 7 p. m. The orchestra will provide music for an hour at the all-College dance.

Swiss Professor to Talk Thursday

Dr. J. G. Baer of the University of Neuchatel, Switzerland, will lecture twice at the College Thursday, according to Dr. J. E. Ackert of the zoology department.

Baer will discuss the solution of Switzerland's war-time food problems at 4 p. m. in Fairchild Hall. He will talk again at 7:30 p. m. in the same building on a zoological subject.

Eleven departments at the College are cooperating with the zoology department in sponsoring Dr. Baer's appearance here, Ackert said.

Dr. Baer is in the United States to attend the Fourth International Congress on Tropical Medicine and Malaria in Washington, D. C.

Universities on the speaking tour that brings Baer to Kansas State are Wichita, Nebraska, Illinois and Michigan.

The public is invited to hear both lectures by this "eminent biologist," Dr. Ackert said.

OH, THOSE DRY BONES!

Former K-State Student Gained World Fame, Recognition As Paleontologist

By DAVID MEIER

A grave in Sunset Cemetery, marked with a small stone is about the only present-day reminder of Dr. Samuel W. Williston, world-famed paleontologist, who was Kansas State graduate.

In 1857, Sam Williston, then a bright-eyed, quick-witted five-year-old, made the long trek westward from Massachusetts to Kansas with his parents. The boy was eager to learn, and learn he did, grasping every educational opportunity that the thriving little pioneer town of Manhattan had to offer.

At 17, he entered K-State, emerging after six years of hard work with a B. S. degree and a well-deserved reputation as a promising young paleontologist. Paleontology, for the benefit of the unfilled, is the study of fossil remains to determine the life existing during past geologic periods.

Got Degrees from Yale Williston spent the next 13 years as chief assistant to O. C. Marsh, noted Yale paleontologist. They collected bones and data in the dinosaur-bearing rock-beds of Colorado and Montana. Sam found time to continue his formal schooling. He received an M. D. from the Yale Medical School and a Ph. D. from Yale proper.

In 1890 he was recalled to Kansas to teach at Kansas University. Remaining there until 1902, he served as Professor of Geology and Paleontology. In 1898 he became Dean of the School of Medicine.

By this time, he was recognized as one of the three leading world authorities on winged insects. His book on their classification formed the basis for a whole concept of entomological study in both Europe and America.

Judging Winners Get Free Trips

Winners of the Annual Student Livestock Judging Contest were announced last night, during a program held in the Judging Pavilion. The five high individuals in the Senior Division of the contest will receive free trips to a marketing school held and sponsored by the St. Joseph Livestock Exchange.

First place was won by Hal Ramsbottom. Second high individual was Dale Gillan. Other winners in order of individual rank were: Fred Germann, Tom Carleton and Bobbie Steele.

Harold Gentry, who was high individual in the junior division, was presented a pair of bronze bookends by the Kansas Hereford Association. Second high individual in this division was Miles McKee. Other winners in order of individual rank were Howard Thomas, Clifford Houghton and Sykes Trieb.

High individuals in each class of livestock in the senior division were beef cattle, Hal Ramsbottom; swine, Fred Germann; sheep, Glenn McCormick, and horses, Jack Graham.

High individuals in each class of livestock in the junior division were beef cattle and sheep, Miles McKee; swine, Elliot Taylor; horses, Lloyd Luthi.

K-State Grads Vie for Same Office

Dr. Abby L. Mariatt, associate professor of food and nutrition, is a candidate for secretary of the foods and nutrition division in the national organization, the American Home Economics Association. Her opponent for the office is Dr. Bessie B. Cook, University of California. Both are Kansas State graduates. The election is being conducted by mail.

K-State alumni who look over the rest of the ballot will find five other fellow-alumni members seeking office for next year.

Ruth McCammon, state extension agent, State College of Washington, and Lois Oberhelman, extension specialist in nutrition in Indiana are both candidates for vice-president of the extension service division.

Other K-State grads listed on the ballot are Virginia Messenger, head of department of home life, Oklahoma A. & M. College, Zorada A. Titus, consultant on standards of assistance, division of public assistance, Kansas State Department of Social Welfare, and Bess V. Morrison, head of textiles and clothing division, Bureau of Human Nutrition and Home Economics, USDA, Washington.

Four lines will be formed for handing out the annuals and checking the eligibility cards. Students, with last names starting with the letters A to E inclusive will receive their books in Kedzie 105E. Initials F to K inclusive will line up for K105C and initials L to R and S to Z will form two lines in K106, the large room on the first floor of Kedzie Hall.

All members of the Royal Purple staff, as well as part-time office assistants have been requested to report to the business office before Thursday, the editor said. Staff members will assist in distributing the books.

Inter-Frat Council Holds Final Meeting The final meeting of the Inter-Fraternity Pledge Council will be at 7:30 o'clock tonight at Delta Tau Delta chapter house, according to Jim McCausland, president.

Plans for a pledge get-acquainted dance will be made. All old business will be discussed and terminated. Refreshments will be served following the meeting.

Advise Caution Because the covers were delayed, the book-binders have been forced to rush the final process in order to insure delivery before the end of the semester, according to Prof. C. J. Medlin, graduate manager of student publications.

"There is absolutely nothing the matter with the books, but they may arrive a little 'green' and will require care for the first few days," he said. "A little precaution in handling the new books may add years to its life." Medlin explained that the new books should be opened gradually—preferably on a flat surface—in order to avoid opening them too widely at first and thus causing a "split" in the binding. The special care is necessary for two or three days until the glue has had time to complete its hardening.

Every student who has attended school for the past two semesters and who has paid the activity fee during those periods is entitled to the book with no further charge.

"There are a few extra copies available," the editor said, "and those students who were in school only one semester may get a copy of the annual by paying $2.30, the amount which would have gone into the Royal Purple from the second semester's activity fee. The extra copies are limited in number and will be issued to those who call for them first."

Samuel W. Williston may be remembered by this and all succeeding generations of his fellow Kansans with justifiable pride.

Engineer Award

Staff members of the Kansas State Engineer will be awarded service keys or certificates at a special staff meeting this afternoon at 4 p. m. in E212. Any engineers interested in working on the magazine next fall are urged to attend this meeting, according to Murlin Hodgell, editor.

Royal Purples Go to Students Late This Week

Distribution of the New Royal Purple, college yearbook, will begin either Thursday or Friday in Kedzie Hall, depending on the time of their arrival from the binders in Kansas City.

Plans for the manner of distributing the new book were announced yesterday by Virginia Gierich, editor. Students will not need activity books or receipts of any kind when calling for their copy, she said, as full records of entitlement are kept by the Royal Purple business office.

The exact date of delivery is not certain, the editor said, but the first shipment has been promised by Thursday.

"There has been a two or three day delay in delivery because the binders had to wait on the covers. The covers were shipped by truck line from Chicago to Kansas City, she explained, supposedly a 24 hour trip—but the driver took too many coffee stops and didn't make it till five days later."

Group IV will be designated by the letter T. This group includes all lectures, recitations and laboratories meeting Thursday only. Students shall receive their examinations at regular class hours on May 20. All other classes meet as usual.

Group V will be designated by the letter S. This group includes all lectures, recitations and laboratories, the regular schedule for which is Saturday only, at any of the first five recitation periods. Classes in this group shall receive their examinations at regular class hours on May 22. All other classes meet as usual.

Group VI will be designated by the letter F. This group includes all lectures, recitations and laboratories meeting Friday only, at any of the nine recitation periods. Classes in this group will receive their examinations at regular class hours on May 21.

Examinations in classes not provided for in the above groups (classes whose schedule involves combinations of the days Monday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday) shall receive their examinations the last two scheduled meetings of the class prior to examination period or by special arrangement.

The notation, Tu-8, indicates the classes in Group I meeting at 8:00 a. m. W-10 indicates the classes in Group II meeting at 10 a. m.

A class meeting on two or more consecutive class hours is scheduled as belonging to the first hour of the period.

Officers Inspect ROTC Unit Today

Kansas State College's ROTC unit is being inspected by a federal team from Fifth Army Headquarters, Chicago today, according to Col. A. G. Hutchinson, head of the military science department.

The inspection team is of Army and Air Force officers headed by Col. Tyler Calhoun, Jr. They are spending two full days with the training and administration inspection, Col. Hutchinson said. Yesterday was the first day of the inspection.

Honorary Col. Donna Cronk, selected to preside at the annual military ball, and her staff were present for the battalion review and inspection on the playing field west of the College heating plant Monday.

Talks on Physical Ed

Dr. H. L. Baker, head of the Department of Education and Psychology, spoke on "Opportunities in Teaching and Coaching Physical Education" to a group of physical education majors yesterday evening in Willard 115.

Officers of the Cosmopolitan Club for next fall were elected last week. Dr. El-Sayed Gassaf was elected president. Keith Brown, vice president; Mildred Lubroth, secretary; Wayne Cowell, treasurer and Reine Muehl, corresponding secretary.

Faculty advisors on teacher education will meet at 4:00 today in G 101 to discuss new developments in requirements for preparation for teaching. Dr. H. L. Baker, head of the Department of Education and Psychology, is chairman of the group.

Advisors Meet Today Faculty advisors on teacher education will meet at 4:00 today in G 101 to discuss new developments in requirements for preparation for teaching. Dr. H. L. Baker, head of the Department of Education and Psychology, is chairman of the group.

Dangerous Bad Days

While turning a corner the other day, we inadvertently turned in front of a car that was coming from the other way and forced him to slow down. When the car drew abreast of ours, the driver stuck his head out of the window, proceeded to cast reflections on our ancestry and then roared off around the corner on two wheels.

We wouldn't be surprised but what that motorist is the soul of discretion and a perfect gentleman—in his home and his office. But he evidently was one of thousands of Americans who are turned into foot-heavy, reckless maniacs once they get behind the wheel. What is the cause of this "Jekyll and Hyde" characteristic? Some persons are that way all the time, but we believe that others are like that on just their "bad" days.

The statement by safety specialists that the majority of traffic accidents can be traced to emotional disturbances on the part of drivers is not particularly surprising when we think of our own days when everything goes wrong.

We stub a toe getting out of bed, cut ourselves while shaving, slip on the soap, get our socks on backward and growl at the coffee. Then we slam into the car, race the motor, strip the gears, graze the garage doors and are off in a fog from the flooded carburetor. We may, or may not, be a four-star driver other days, but today we're a menace to all and a natural for a bad accident.

All this is human nature, of course, but that doesn't mean that nothing can be done about it if drivers are willing to make a sincere effort for the sake of safety. Disciplining one's emotions is always hard, but it's nowhere nearly so hard as the physical and mental suffering that follows an accident.

What is called for, figuratively speaking, is a Safe Driver Personality, to be donned the moment the motorist gets in the car and kept on until he gets out. Specifically, it means being so safety conscious (or danger conscious) that when he puts his hands on the wheel, he automatically puts aside irritations and worries and lets a completely new set of reflexes take over. That isn't impossible; it can be done; it saves lives.

Driving is a full-time job. It demands not only automatic skills, but alertness and plenty of emotional control. With thousands more cars on the roads than ever before, death and injuries will increase proportionately unless motorists will take the trouble to discipline their emotions in the cause of safe driving.

STATE STATUS QUO

By Ramsey Sherwood

This column has received a complaint from the KKGs stating that we have been ignoring them. "Why," said the letter written in a mysterious handwriting and bearing a Blumont postmark, "don't you ever say nuthin' about the Kappas. All the time you're writing about them other sororities, but never us Kappas."

Well, we would say something about the Kappas this week, or any other week, but what have they done? Like Sam Scamalt's cousin Ivan was saying just the other day, "You mean there is a Kappa house at K-State?" Course Ivan's here only two years, so really hasn't been around too much.

With the Tri Deltas, always there's something to write about—like getting shot in the vestibule (Ouch Henry! It's the left one)—or the Chi Omegas, well they're pretty! and then the Pi Phi, they're lovable.

Just to be on the fair side, though, we asked 10 people what they thought of the Kappas and got 10 different answers: 1. The Kappas have a high scholastic average. 2. Kappas? What's that? 3. The Kappas have a terrific grade level. 4. The pillars in front of their house are pretty. 5. They all make A's in the comprehensives. 6. You mean Kapp Deltas, swell bunch? 7. Oh yeah, that's the house right up the street from the Alpha Chi's. 8. Why don't they pull their shades? 9. Got the highest grade average in their block; and one guy reserved his opinion ... 10. Wait'll I take one out.

So summarized, that shows people know a little about the Kappas' grade average but little else. Probably the KKGs are a pretty decent bunch, but who can tell?

"Ha, Ha," said the little red man with a South African accent, "you can't be a pole vaulter and a ... (continued next week)"

This is for people that want to laugh in the face of insatiable members and "liberals." Henry A. Wallace's initials spell haw. So when someone starts spelling about Wallace's virtues, just give 'em a haw haw. Suggested campaign slogan for the third party, "We're for Wallace, raw, raw, raw! He'll make us happy haw, haw, haw!"

On a side trip this week-end one of our readers informs of discovering a secluded nook called, "Idle Hour Lane (Members Only)." Being not a member, but being adventurous, the reader wandered, and found an isolated cabin, complete with everything for that Lost Weekend including a record player, cola drink, running water, kerosene lamps, and a lake near by. Conducted tours by appointment.

Alexandre Dumas once said: "The Bible says that woman is the last thing God made. He must have made it Saturday night. It shows fatigue." Dumas must have remembered this one from his college days.

If you don't like this column, you're probably not alone. Read it next week when we will pay tribute, and give our annual Wildcat awards, to outstanding (?) students, who in our opinion, have contributed plenty to old K-State this year.

VOX STUDENS

(Editor's note: The opinions presented in this column may or may not express the opinion of The Collegian. The letters are presented here for the student information. In order to conserve space, will writers please limit their letters to no more than 300 words.)

To the Editor:

I used to think the talk of the K-State campus as being one of the nation's most beautiful was just a well-overdone joke. But I have now seen the east half where before I saw only the west, when I visited. I have read and heard statements of persons who have seen other campuses saying ours ranks with any and above most. But as I look over the campus I still see many blots on the landscape.

One such blot, among others, is the great dirt-path system linking buildings, and sidewalks not serving present needs. New buildings have been built; more will be built soon. New traffic lanes must be established to connect these buildings with the older ones. More students are here to travel these traffic lanes, and so paths are created.

Surely we must do something about the situation. The only way to stop students' jaywalking is to put them on walks. The answer is NOT barbed wire fences. This is only running away from a problem which is before us. I ask you, which would look worse on our campus, the concentration-camp appearance of fences, or dirt paths. So I say, "Pave the paths."

Now I can hear a hundred voices raised in unison, "By that idea, you'd have to pave the whole campus, if you're going to catch every route the students walk." In response, I say that WELL-PLANNED sidewalks are in order; planned in accord with present traffic lanes; planned with regard to future buildings and their function with present ones; planned according to the amount of traffic using the paths, and the size of the paths. Yes, sidewalks are made to walk on, so let's make sidewalks to walk on.

Mu Phi Epsilon Sponsors Movie

Tickets for "Song of My Heart," a movie sponsored by the K-State music sorority, will go on sale in Anderson Wednesday. The movie will be at the Wareham Friday through Sunday. Tickets also are being sold by members of Mu Phi Epsilon, the music sorority.

Tchaikowsky compositions in the film include the Piano Concerto in B-flat, "The Nutcracker Suite," and "None but the Lonely Heart." Popular tunes based on Tchaikowsky themes are "Tonight We Love" and "The Story of a Starry Night." Frank Sundstrom, movie newcomer, stars as Tchaikowsky. Audrey Long is the leading lady.

ROTC's May Apply for Tour of Duty

Requests for short active tours from members of the ROTC being commissioned in June are being accepted now, announced Col. A. G. Hutchison, professor of military science and tactics.

The requests will be recorded and sent to Fifth Army headquarters. The number of requests approved will depend upon training funds available for the next fiscal year, said Colonel Hutchison. After approval of requests, orders will be sent by Fifth Army headquarters to individual applicants.

Glee Club to Sing

The Mens Glee Club will broadcast a program of folk songs and popular melodies over KSAC at 5:15 Wednesday. At the same time the group will cut two 15-minute transcriptions for rebroadcast over three other Kansas stations. The numbers used on this radio broadcast are a few of those that will be used at the annual Spring Concert to be held in the Auditorium at 8:15 Friday.

Agronomy Seminars

Two special agronomy seminars will be today and Thursday. Both are at 4 p.m. in East Waters hall.

Dr. H. H. Finnel, researcher with the United States Soil Conservation Service, Amarillo, Tex., will speak on "Land Use Changes in Southwestern Kansas" Tuesday.

Thursday Dr. M. L. Nichols, chief of the SCS Research Division, Washington, D. C., will discuss the research program of the SCS.

On Other Campuses

Students at the University of Oregon will present a musical, "Unto the Hills," next Sunday. I wonder if this has anything to do with finals beginning the following week?

University of Illinois police have announced that cars will not be permitted to go down Green Street at more than 40 miles per hour without drivers. That's the kind of level-headed legislation we need in these troubled times.

The president of the University of Wichita has decided to expel the students who smeared the names of political candidates on campus buildings on the grounds that "they aren't learning anything any way." I hope they don't start anything like that around here.

Torrance to Denver

Paul Torrance, assistant professor and counselor, will be visiting consultant and lecturer at a Denver University workshop on Communication and Inter-personal Relations to be held next month.

Last 'Ag Student' to Be Issued Today

The last issue of the Ag Student will be off the press today, according to John Tasker, retiring editor of the Ag magazine. Ags may pick up their copy in Dean Mullen's office, East Ag 105, said Tasker.

The cover features Harry Ainslie, champion dairy showman of the Little American Royal, with his prize winning Jersey cow. The center spread shows other winners of the Little Royal. The magazine contains pictures of the new Ag Association officers and also a picture of the Ag Student staff for the ensuing year.

Tasker has edited the Ag Student three semesters. He will graduate this spring in Agricultural Journalism.

Urges Industrial Arts Students to Teach

Prof. Earl G. Darby, sponsor of the Industrial Arts Club, urged more industrial arts students to take up teaching as a profession in a lecture to the club last Thursday.

Professor Darby emphasized the personal satisfactions of teaching as more important than the monetary compensations.

"You can make a comfortable living, enjoy three months vacation and have the opportunity to make a real contribution to the standards and ideals of the young people in your charge. Watching the accomplishments and successes of my former students gives me a feeling of great satisfaction," he said.

New Type Drinking Fountain Installed

Drinking fountains of the electric water cooling type have been recently installed in a number of buildings on the campus, according to L. W. Joines, acting superintendent of building and repair.

Buildings having the new type coolers are Anderson Hall, Calvin, Dickens, Education, the Library, Kedzie and the Auditorium. The Library has two of the new coolers, one in the basement and one on the first floor.

Labor Shortage Hits Senior Dinner Plans

The College Cafeteria is faced with the problem of obtaining labor for the Senior-Alumni dinner. Because final exams will be completed at noon Saturday, May 29, most students will be gone, creating an absence of student help.

Nearly 100 persons are needed to help the preparation, table setting, service and general clean-up work following the dinner. Students who can help with the dinner will receive pay and their evening meal. They should contact Miss Merna Miller at the College Cafeteria.

Sister Program Has Breakfast Meeting

The College Sister Program, under the sponsorship of the YWCA, began Sunday with a breakfast in Thompson Hall. Big sisters, town mothers and advisory board members were present. The college sister program is set up for upperclassmen to act as sisters to freshman girls to help them to become oriented to college life.

Two parties will be held next fall, one in the homes of the town mothers and one in Nichols Gym for all women students.

Any upperclassmen who would like to join this program stop at the Y office and leave their summer address. There is still a need for about 100 students to act as big sisters.

Navy Will Explain Air Program Monday

The U. S. Navy's new flight training program will be explained by a Naval Flight Surgeon Monday at 9 a.m. in Willard 115, Dean of Administration, A. L. Pugsley, has announced.

This new program is available only to college graduates between the ages of 19 and 25. Candidates who are accepted are given commissions immediately as Ensign and take an 18-month flight training course.

Folders may be picked up in the Veteran's Service Office. Personal interviews will be given by the flight surgeon in room 5 of Anderson Hall after 10 a.m.

Three Get Positions in Home Economics

Three senior women in the School of Home Economics at Kansas State College have accepted positions as county home demonstration agents. Margaret K. Burtis, district HD agent at the College, has announced.

The women and assignments are Miriam Dunbar, to Atchison County, July 19; Carol Ramsey, to Leavenworth County, July 5, and Lucy Reardon, to Wyandotte County, April 1. Moiss Reardon previously served as emergency HDA in Shawnee County. The women will work with 4-H Clubs and farm folks in the College's home economics program in their respective counties.

THEY'VE BEEN THROUGH THE MILL

Modernization of KSC Mill Will Allow Doubled Enrollment in Department

By Keith Tabor

The College mill is in for a major job of plastic surgery in the near future.

Representatives of the milling industry have agreed to help College officials with the plans for the modernization. When they inspected the mill in East Waters Hall last summer, they found much of its equipment out-of-date.

To retain the College's lead in training men for milling fields, the legislature recently appropriated $10,000. Another $5,000 was given by the Miller's National Federation. The mill is bringing offers of equipment from milling machinery manufacturers. A Humphrey "Man-Lift" and a Hoffman "Dust-Collector" system already have been installed.

"We hope to be actively engaged in replacing equipment this summer," said Dr. J. A. Shellenberger, head of the milling industry department. "The modernization of the mill will allow us to handle 125 students. The present mill curtails enrollment to 65."

Department Is Unique

Since 1910, when the milling department consisted of a desk in the corner of a large office room, it has pioneered in milling studies. The department is the only one of its kind in North or South America. Dr. Shellenberger points out. Students come to the College from all parts of the world to study milling.

The story of the milling department is the story of Swedish-born Dr. C. O. Swanson, who died last winter.

Progress Under Swanson
 Dr. Swanson, then in the chemistry department, helped out with many tests on grain for the milling department. The progress of the department was slow until 1923 when Dr. Swanson was drafted as its head.

The first thing he did was ask the President for a classroom and separate chemistry and baking laboratories. He got them.

Next, Dr. Swanson got a $12,000 allotment from the legislature to set up student laboratories. Milling machinery manufacturers gave $9,000 in equipment. The mill, installed in 1913, was expanded to its present capacity.

Curriculum Changes
 A curriculum in flour mill engineering was adopted in 1917. This curriculum was replaced in 1933 by one called milling industry.

Despite the depression, Dr. Swanson devised new curricula in 1937 and got them adopted. They called for milling technology, milling administration and milling chemistry. They have been changed little since.

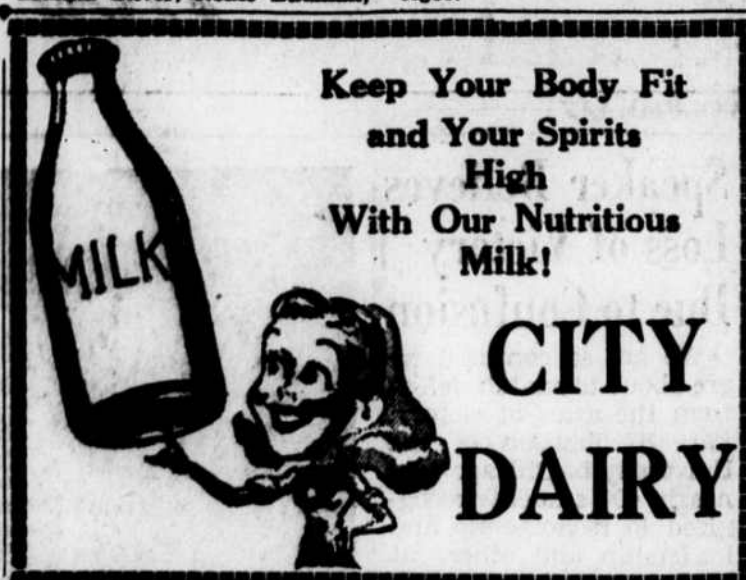

After heading the department for 16 years, Dr. Swanson retired to full time teaching in 1939. In 1944, his teaching load was reduced to part time. He was professor emeritus from 1945 until his death.

Now in the capable hands of Dr. Shellenberger, and with an expanded staff and some much-needed funds, the milling department is looking to the future with the assurance of serving the industry even better than it has before.

Cats Face Tigers in Crucial Series

Championship chances were hanging in the balance when the K-State Wildcats and the Missouri Tigers started the first game of their four-game baseball series at Columbia yesterday. Both squads were banking on a win to keep them in the running for the loop crown. Results of yesterday's game were not available at Collegian press time last night, but the two squads are scheduled to meet again today on the Columbia diamond.

The Nebraska Cornhuskers, currently in first place in the league title chase, are rapidly moving in the direction of the Big Seven championship. The Huskers, victorious in 10 of 13 conference encounters, meet last place Kansas in a two game series this week.

The Wildcats and the Tigers are currently occupying third and second places respectively. Following their two-game series at Columbia, they will return to Manhattan for another twin engagement Friday and Saturday. The two games will be the last home appearances for the Wildcats who finish the season with a pair of contests against the Kansas Jayhawks at Lawrence.

Bell to Mound
Big Jack Bell was slated to go to the mound for the Cats yesterday, with either Duane Holder or Jack Dean on tap for today's game. The same three pitchers will probably do most of the mound work for Lud Fiser when the two teams meet here this weekend.

Nearly all of Fiser's regulars were in good shape for the Columbia engagements, and the K-State coach's biggest worry when the Cats left for the Tiger homeland was picking the starting lineup that would present the Missouri pitchers with the most difficulty.

Both K-State and Missouri have been about equal in hitting power this season. Both have good pitchers, with the Tigers perhaps having a slight edge in total strength. Roger Englert and Don McMillen are the aces of the Missouri staff.

The Bengals hold a one game lead over the Cats in the loop standings. The Missourians have won seven and lost three while K-State has a six won and four lost mark.

When the Wildcats return home for their final appearances of the season on Griffith Field, they will be battling to remain in the first division or they will still be in the championship picture depending on the outcome of the two games at Columbia.

Cats Down Cyclones in Home Tennis Meet

The Kansas State tennis squad came through with their second win of the season here Saturday as they downed the Cyclones of Iowa State, 4 to 3. Wildcat courtmen dominated the singles as Sherrell, Dungan, and Powers won, but the Cyclones came back to sweep the Doubles.

Results: Singles:
Harold Johnson (I.S.) defeated Louis Thompson (K.S.) 6-2, 6-4.

Roy Sherrell (K.S.) defeated Kent Brummond (I.S.) 6-4, 1-6, 6-3.
Marvin Dungan (K.S.) defeated Gene Gildermaster (I.S.) 7-7, 5, 7-2.

Tye Powers (K.S.) defeated Lisle Gildermaster (I.S.) 6-0, 6-1.

Doubles:
Johnson and G. Gildermaster (I.S.) defeated Sherrell and Dungan (K.S.) 4-6, 6-4, 6-4.

Brummond and Harris (I.S.) defeated Powers and Neumann, 6-4, 6-3.

Accidents Plague Cat Tracksters in I-State Dual

Plagued by a series of injuries to key men and a few mishaps on the cinders, the favored K-State thincads experienced a mild upset Saturday at Ames as they fought the Cyclones to a 65½-65½ tie in the last dual meet of the season. Nine meet records were broken during the afternoon. Six were topped by Wildcat performers and three by Iowans.

Records broken included the marks in the mile, 100 yard dash, high hurdles, 220 yard dash, two-mile run, javelin, shotput, discus, and mile relay.

Rollin Prather set two marks as he broke his own standards in the shot and discus. Red Williams of K-State hurled the javelin 168 feet 1 inch to establish a new record in that event. On the track, Rodney McClay travelled the century in 9.9 seconds to break his own record in that event. Earl Elliott topped the meet mark in the high hurdles, and Dave Vanhaverbeke broke the record in the two-mile run.

Marks Set Last Year
Iowa State runners topped three meet marks in the 220 yard dash, the mile run, and the mile relay. All marks were set in the dual meet last year.

As the meet progressed at Ames, it became evident that the Wildcats were running in hard luck. Two K-Staters fell during their races and cost the Wildcats points in each case. Another Cat runner was fouled and finished farther back than he would have had the foul not occurred.

Jim Danielson fell in the 120 yard high hurdle race and failed to finish in the first three. Observers stated that Danielson might have placed second had he kept his feet. Another accident occurred in the low hurdles. Rodney McClay, the Wildcat hurdle ace, was leading the race but tripped and fell. He regained his feet, however, and went on to finish in third place.

In the 440 yard dash, Bill Stuart was fouled and despite the disqualification of the man who fouled him, Stuart could only place third.

Sweep Javelin
The K-Staters scored a clean sweep in the javelin with Williams placing first; Prather, second; and Lewis, third.

Complete summaries were not available for the meet, but a list of the Kansas State men who placed includes:

100 yard dash—Rodney McClay, first, 9.9 sec.
220 yard dash—Rick Harman, third.
440 yard dash—Bill Stuart, third.
880 yard run—Art Hildenbrand, second; Rufus Miller, third.
Mile—George Leasure, second.
Two-mile—Dave Vanhaverbeke, first, 10:05.7.

120 yard high hurdles—Earl Elliott, first, 15.0 seconds.
220 yard low hurdles—Elliott, second; McClay, third.

Mile relay—Won by Iowa State.
Shotput—Prather, first; Harman, second, 51 feet, 5 inches.
Discus—Prather, first; Payne, second, 150 feet.

Javelin—Williams, first; Prather, second; Lewis, third.
Broad jump—Danielson, first; Kiser, second, 22 feet, 3 3/4 inches.

Captain

Howard Shannon, the Wildcats' all-American basketball guard, received another honor last week. The slim, likable Texan, who led the K-State cagers to their first conference championship in 30 years, was named honorary captain by his teammates.

Shannon, who set a national collegiate record by hitting 33 consecutive free throws, was the first Kansas State athlete to make an all-American basketball team.

Members of the varsity court squad elected Shannon for the honorary post at a recent meeting.

Intra-Squad Tilt Tonight at 7:45

Twenty-five cents admission will enable any K-State basketball fan to see a preview of next year's basketball team tonight in the Nichols Gym as Spring practice sessions close with an intra-squad game. The tip-off will be at 7:45.

Phi Epsilon Kappa, professional fraternity for physical education majors, is sponsoring the intra-squad fracas, according to Dale Reihan, president.

The profit made from the game will go into the Phi Epsilon Kappa fund for an electric football scoreboard. President Reihan explained that the new scoreboard will cost about $1,500 and they hoped to have the necessary cash by the end of next year.

Coach Jack Gardner has divided the 19-man spring practice squad into two even teams. Gardner said most of the varsity men were out for some other spring sport and consequently would not be seen in action tonight.

Starting at forwards on one team will be Jack Stone and Ed Head. Big Glenn Channell will hold down the center post. Ernie Barrett and Ken Mahoney will fill the guard positions. Milt Bozanic, Ken Hartung, Buddy Tomlins, Joe Conley and Don Rogers will be on hand for reserve duty.

Opposing them will be Walt Way and Dan Upson at forwards, Bill Dresser at center and Henry Specht and Norman Mortimer at guards. Reserves are Bernard Williams, Dale Tolin, Bill Bolden, Bill Thuston and Don Button.

Awarded $25 Prize by Phi Alpha Mu

Joan Aldous was awarded the Margaret Russell scholarship of $25 for having the highest grade average of the graduating seniors. She was presented the award at a tea given by the Kansas State chapter of Phi Alpha Mu, national honorary organization for junior and senior women in arts and sciences. Sophomore women with two point grade averages were entertained at the tea.

Howey Is Lost to Cage Squad Late This Week

K-State's bright basketball prospects for 1948-49 were somewhat dimmed when star forward Harold Howey announced yesterday that he would not be back for another season of competition.

The curly-topped speedster told a Collegian reporter that he plans to graduate at the end of summer school regardless of any decision concerning his basketball eligibility. Howey's eligibility case was due for consideration this month at a meeting of the conference eligibility committee.

"I have only seven hours left to complete after this semester," said the Wildcat ace, "and I plan to graduate at the end of the summer session."

His plans following graduation are still indefinite, according to Howey. He is a physical education major and plans to enter the coaching field or play professional basketball. Coaching offers have already been received by the energetic cager.

Wildcat Golfers Down Iowa State

The Kansas State golfers, under the direction of Coach Benny York, maintained their recent winning pace Saturday with their second straight win over Big Seven competition. The Wildcats downed the Iowa State Cyclones 11 to 7 in a match played on the Manhattan Country Club course.

Three members of the Wildcat crew copped singles matches and one of the KS doubles teams tied with their Iowa opponents to register the win for K-State.

Singles:
Don Bishop (KS) defeated Jack Webb (IS) 2-1.
Mike Meyers (KS) defeated Bruce Perkins (IS) 3-0.

SOCIETY

AT STATE

Who is it? A frequent question this week-end as roses and chocolates caused suspense and excitement at many of the houses. Since Sunday many new diamonds and frat pins are proudly being worn by K-State coeds.

Chocolates were passed to her Pi Phi sisters Thursday night when Marilyn Moore of Manhattan announced she is now wearing the Phi Delta pin of Dick Groff, Topeka. The traditional smooch line followed the announcement. Marilyn is a junior in Arts and Sciences and Dick is a sophomore in vet medicine.

A dinner for the coeds of Skywood Hall with the graduating seniors as guests of honor was given last night by the house mother, Mrs. Nell Swanson.

Roses and chocolates both at Van Zile Hall Sunday. Sweeties from Beverly Loy told of her engagement to Lee Keck, Beverly, Chapman, a senior in home economics and teaching. Lee is a journalism sophomore from Hiawatha and a member of the Collegian business staff.

Roses extended an invitation to the June 6 wedding of Lorine Fieser and Howard Lindholm. Lorine is a senior in home economics and dietetics from Norwich. Howard, Farm House, is a junior in agriculture from Cheney.

The next red rose bouquet came from Marjory Shaw, Waterville, and Joe Lundholm, Osage City. June 6 is also their wedding day. Marjory is a home economics sophomore and Joe, TKE, is an instructor in the physics department.

A picnic was held at Sunset park by Kappa Sigmas followed by a house party at the chapter house Saturday evening.

For Chi Omegas chocolates. Cigars for Sig Alpha. The announcement was made by Becky Tice and Ken Whitney. Becky is a physical education senior from Hutchinson. Ken is from Libertyville, Ill., and an electrical engineering sophomore.

More cigars at the Sig Alpha house announced the engagement of Ronnie Webster to Jeanette Walker, both of Manhattan. Ronnie is a sophomore in civil engineering.

Seniors were the guests of honor at the Chatterbox dinner party Sunday noon at the Gillett dining room.

Senior Day and Founder's Day were observed at the Alpha Delta Pi house with a formal dinner and program. Many alumnae of ADPI were present to help celebrate the 97th anniversary of the founding of the sorority.

Graduating seniors honored were: Gloria Buckles, Barbara Cartier, Maxine Childers, Dorothy Gifford, JoAnn Jeffries, Georgeanne Jenkins, Rebecca Lamoreaux, Jeanne Miller, Cyrilka Roseberry, Audrey Schmidt and Mickey Throckmorton.

Pi Phi Marty Peckman, of Topeka, passed chocolates Sunday to announce she is now pinned to Jim Kilkenny, Beta Theta Pi. A smooch line was held for both Marty and Jim at the Pi Phi house.

The bi-annual district convention of Pi Kappa Alpha was held with K. U. at the chapter house over the weekend. Don Baker, district president, from Blue Springs, Mo., presided over the meeting. The district convention is a preliminary to the national to be in Salt Lake City in August. Local alumni attended the meeting Saturday evening and joined in a hamburger fry.

Chocolates appeared twice on the menu of Waldheim Hall last week. Thursday evening Jeanette Harper passed them to announce her engagement to Carl Dalke. Both are juniors from Hutchinson. Jeanette is in industrial journalism and Carl in pre-med. Mary Ann Bebermeyer announced her engagement Sunday to Wayne George. She is a senior in home economics from Robinson. Wayne, a junior in business administration, is from Oswego.

Tau Kappa Epsilon held its annual spring alumni round-up Sunday. Alumni members were honored with a buffet luncheon.

New officers installed at the Kappa Sigma house are Dick Holmes, president and Mike Slattery, vice-president. Other officers will be installed next fall.

Roses announced to her Pi Phi sisters that Thekla Jo Stedham and Bob Reed, Sig Alpha have chosen their wedding date. It will be held in the First Methodist Church of Salina on July 18.

Coeds from Skywood Hall were guests of La Piel at a picnic Thursday evening.

An island party high-lighted events at the Sigma Alpha Epsilon chapter house Saturday evening.

Kathy Lewis of Chatterbox has announced her engagement to Jack Bushnell. Kathy is a senior in Arts and Sciences from Kansas City, Mo. Jack, Independence, is an electrical engineering senior.

Top of the world was the scene of the Pi Phi picnic held Sunday evening for members and their dates. Guests included Mrs. Gertrude Torrey, housemother, and Mr. and Mrs. D. G. Moss.

The S. S. Delta Sigma Phi was launched Saturday night at the first annual Sailor's Ball held at the chapter house. The entire house was decorated in a nautical theme.

The Delta Sigs, in sailor's garb, and their dates, who were colorfully costumed as girls from every port, were piped aboard ship at 2030. The main deck was used for dancing throughout the evening.

At intermission time a short musical program was presented with piano selections and two numbers from the quartet. A reading was also given by Bob Finley. At the close of the program, an engraved compact was presented to Miss Larry Abbott, who was chosen the Delta Sigma Phi Sweetheart, and Bob Redmond was given a cigarette case for being voted "ideal pledge of 1948."

Mary Alice Doll, Clovia, became the bride of Harold L. McKinney in Coldwater last Sunday. Mary Alice was graduated from K-State in '45 and has been an home demonstration agent in Coldwater.

Spring was the theme of the annual Sig Alpha formal at the Avalon Friday night. The hall was decorated resembling a garden atmosphere. Matt Bettinson's orchestra played. Everett Stevenson, Nancy Martin, Mrs. Claren, Mr. and Mrs. Luther Leavengood and Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Hill were in the receiving line.

New wearers of the coral, green and white pledge ribbons of Clovia are Marceline McCoy of Wellington and Doris Hopkins of Clearwater.

Guests at the Delta Sigma Phi House over the weekend were: Loody Lentz, Frank Davis, Gary Kirsten, Jim Earhart, and Del Miller from the K.U. chapter, and Ensign Bob Wise from Wichita.

Hort Men, Florists Discuss Projects
Co-operative projects between the Department of Horticulture and the Kansas State Association were discussed yesterday in a meeting at Wichita. Prof. W. W. Willis represented the horticulture department in the meeting.

Bender Will Make Community Survey

An industrial community and site survey of Manhattan will be conducted by the College engineering experiment station, according to John Bender, industrial engineer at the College.

Bender recently completed such a survey for Winfield.

The survey shows such information as market locations, population, raw materials available, transportation facilities, utilities and living conditions. It also includes a study of existing industries, research facilities in the community and community legislation and assessments. All locations that have industrial possibilities are listed in the site survey. Any community in Kansas may have such a survey conducted, Bender said.

The Winfield survey contained more than 100 pages and was completed in three months.

Civil Service Topic

Ralph E. Young, assistant director of Kansas State Civil Service, will speak in G109 Thursday at 4:00 p. m. on the subject of employment opportunities in civil service and public personnel. The meeting, open to the public, is particularly recommended to psychology majors interested in personnel work.

Chapel, Athletes, Playground Get Veterans' Funds

The last chapter of World War II on the Kansas State Campus came to a close last week.

The student organization, The Associated Veterans of World War II, will not be on the campus next year. At an officer's meeting held Monday night it was decided to disband and liquidate the remaining funds. The funds will go to the College Chapel fund, the athletic fund, and to the building of a children's playground, to be constructed west of Campus Courts.

Started in 1946

Started in the fall of 1946 by veterans returning to college, the association first started the project of a Veterans' Co-op Exchange grocery store, to combat the high prices veterans were facing. A corporation was formed and stock was sold at $10 a share to all veterans students wishing to become stockholders. The board of directors of the corporation at that time included Loyd Northern, chairman; Oakley Scrimshaw, Robert Howland, Earl Coder and Dan Craven. The first commander of the Vets' Association was Reed Larsen.

An extensive campaign was carried out and due to the publicity and interest shown, plans were soon completed for the store. The grand opening of the Co-op Exchange was November 13, 1946, with Paul Graham as manager. Delivery service was established and every convenience was given to the shopper.

The Association did not stop with that. A housing campaign to obtain rooms for veterans was started. The town was canvassed by members to obtain all available space for students wishing to enroll at K-State.

The social calendar was not neglected by the Association either. The highlight of the season last year was the "Comic Playland" Dance held December 13, 1946 in Nichols Gym. Other dances and gatherings were held for veterans throughout the year.

Had Book Exchange

The Veterans Book Exchange, a system whereby students could obtain badly needed textbooks, was another successful project carried out by Association members.

To keep members informed of progress and to have a medium to air gripes and comment, the Association maintained its own weekly paper, "The Ruptured Duck." Editors of the "Duck" at various times last year were: Mae Weaver, Paul Gwin and Bill Miller.

This year things were more nearly back to normal. Veterans were more adjusted and problems were not so great as they were the year before. No active projects were undertaken this year. The Co-op Exchange was the main project handled this year.

Officers of the Association when the decision was made to disband were: Earl Gorrell, commander; Ted Jones, Ellis Stack-Zeth, Bill English, Dwight Parker, Chester Tennlar, and Williams-Beck. Dr. Wolf was faculty sponsor of the group this year.

So, the veterans of Kansas State College say farewell to their organization, an organization that has accomplished much in the short time it was active.

Prints of French Lithographer Shown

Famous prints of the 19th century French lithographer Honore Daumier are on display by the art department on the second floor of Anderson hall. The 38 prints have been selected from a European collection which was brought to America before the war.

Daumier, the greatest lithographer of the time, gained prominence by drawing for two French newspapers, the Caricature and the Charivari. Prints from the latter paper comprise this exhibition.

Honore Daumier's lithographs did much in the 19th century to aid in social reform. The lithographs are noted not only for their artistic perfection, but also for the prevailing humor found in each. And this Daumier Bar-Cook head of the art department. The exhibition will be on the campus until May 25.

Last Cafeteria Meal Is Breakfast, May 29

The College cafeteria will close after breakfast May 29 and reopen for breakfast June 7, Prof. Bessie B. West, manager, announced today.

The alumni luncheon and senior dinner will be served in the cafeteria May 29. Delegates to the annual 4-H club round-up will eat at the cafeteria June 1 to 5, Professor West said.

Moro Courts dining room will close for the summer following the evening meal May 30, she indicated. It will be open May 29 and 30 to accommodate alumni here for Commencement activities.

Darlene Lygrisse Is Frat Queen

Darlene Lygrisse of Fredonia, a sophomore and a member of Alpha Xi Delta sorority, has been named by the local chapter of Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity as the Kansas State candidate for national queen of the fraternity.

Miss Lygrisse was selected from portraits submitted by each sorority and organized house. Members of the newly reactivated Lambda Chi Alpha chapter, assisted by Barney Balch, traveling secretary of the fraternity, selected Miss Lygrisse as their candidate.

Darlene Lygrisse

Candidates are being selected by each of the 124 chapters of Lambda Chi Alpha in the United States. Portraits will be judged by a person named by the national office of the fraternity in Indianapolis, Indiana. The winning girl will reign as queen of Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity at the organization's national convention late in June at Grove Park Inn, Asheville, North Carolina. The national queen will have an all-expenses-paid trip to the convention.

The Lambda Chi's will entertain Miss Lygrisse at a dinner in her honor, Sunday.

Top Essayists Listed By Ag Magazine

Three essay contest cash winners at the College were announced this week by The Agricultural Student, magazine for ag students.

The winners are Alfred Koch, James L. Rockers and Herbert A. Matey. They received prizes of $75, $50 and $25 for the three top essays in a contest sponsored by Thompson Phosphate company, Chicago.

Koch wrote on "The Availability of Soil Forms of Phosphorus Under Various Soil Conditions"; Rockers, "The Place of Phosphorus in Plant Nutrition," and Matey, "Our Good Earth—Where Will It Be in 1988?"

NEW SPC HEAD IS WEATHERBIE

Bob Weatherbie, junior in architectural engineering was named as the new chairman of the Student Planning Committee by the Student Council this week. Weatherbie succeeds Hardy Berry in the chairmanship.

In electing the new chairman, the Council paid tribute to Berry for having done "an excellent job in a tedious and difficult field in the student interest." As chairman last year, Berry conducted all meetings during the fall and spring terms as well as at the three day conference in Camp Wood.

The new chairman said yesterday that plans for the 1948-49 SPC are already formulated. The conference will be at Camp Wood, near Elmdale, for three days from August 30 to September 1. Many students are already signed to attend this year, Weatherbie said, and about 50 more are being contacted by telephone.

"In the past," he explained, "the SPC delegates have been appointed by sororities, fraternities, independent houses and other societies and student groups on the campus. This year, the conference is open to all students interested."

Transportation from the campus to the camp, and back, is to be paid by the Student Council. A total fee of $6.75 is paid by the students. This covers all expenses for food and lodging, the chairman said, and there will be no further charges for use of any of the recreational equipment at the camp itself. Students who plan to attend the camp have been asked to contact Weatherbie before the end of the present semester.

Ackert to Washington for Medicine Meeting

Dr. James E. Ackert of the Zoology department returned this week from Washington, D. C., where he represented the College at the Fourth International Congress of Tropical Medicine and Malaria.

The Congresses were conducted by the State Department. Representatives of 47 countries attended. Dr. Ackert reported. A system of head phones enabled delegates to hear each talk translated into English, French or Spanish.

Dr. Ackert also visited several research projects on phases of parasitology in and near Washington.

Collins Wins Award

Norman Collins, Topeka, is winner of the first postwar Alpha Zeta scholarship award for the highest freshman scholastic rating in the ag school.

Discontinued during the war, the award will be given annually to a sophomore in the ag school, based on freshman grades.

Awards to Seven KSC Journalists

Seven K-State journalism students were given nine awards at the journalism awards seminar yesterday. Included in the awards presented were three Memorial Fund Awards, a Capper award, and five Sigma Delta Chi awards.

Roger Medlin was presented the outstanding male journalism award for his work on the business staff of The Collegian for the last three semesters.

Three $50 Memorial Fund Awards were given to Norville Gish, Virginia Gingrich and Roger Medlin. These awards were given in memory of three K-State journalists who died in World War II.

Four Sigma Delta Chi awards were presented to journalism seniors for their high scholarship records. Winners were Nancy Diggle, John Tasker, June DuPhorne and Marjorie Nace.

John Tasker, a senior in ag journalism, received the Capper award.

Miss Gingrich received an award from the Stan Dwyer Memorial unit of the fund for the outstanding editorial contribution to The Royal Purple, college yearbook. Gish's award was made from the Kendall Evans unit of the Memorial Fund for the outstanding contribution to the Collegian's editorial staff.

Roger Medlin's award was made from the Ed Potter unit of the fund for his outstanding contributions to the business side of the two College publications.

Ralph Salisbury, president of Sigma Delta Chi, presented the awards from that organization. Ralph Lashbrook, head of the journalism department at K-State, presented the other awards.

Prix Elects Officers

Officers of Prix, junior women's honorary, were elected Tuesday for next year. They are president, Arvilla Johnson; vice-president, Norma Lou Myers; secretary-treasurer, Joann Beggs and marshal and membership chairman, Betty Jean Harris.

Sacred numbers include "O Sacrum Convivium"; "Misers mei Deus" by Allegri; "Emmille Spiritum" by Schuetky, and Cesar Franck's "Psalm 150."

Prof. Charles Stratton of the piano faculty will play the following selections: "The Juggler" by Tochi; Gershwin's "Prelude No. 2"; and Debussy's "General Lavine."

Vocal soloists will be Shirley King, contralto; Mary Jo Staley, soprano; Don Vandagriff, 1st tenor. The glee club will sing soft background accompaniment.

The Varsity YMCA Quartet will sing two numbers—"O Come Ye Servants of the Lord" by Christopher Tye, and "Now is the Month of Maying" by Thomas Morley. Student members are Don Vandagriff, 1st tenor; Lyle Morris, 2nd tenor; Dan Clark, baritone; and John Bascom, Bass.

Seven in Hospital

Seven students are in the Student Hospital today. They are Phyllis Johnson, Mary Collins, Carroll McNay, David Mardicks, Charles Sampson, William Chandler and Paul Degenhardt.

As I hope as I have two good legs, it doesn't matter having two bad eyes."

He and his wife like to go to the show. "That's about all there is to do around here, isn't it?" said John, smiling.

He believes it's almost certain we'll have another war, but thinks Congress should take more drastic measures to try to avoid it. "I'm in favor of universal training and the draft. It might save a lot of bloodshed in four or five years."

"All the instructors have been swell to me," said John. "They arrange for special oral exams covering the same material the other students have." The day before the exam he listens to the recordings of the material, and then he and his wife review it.

Royal Purple

Two more trucks loaded with Royal Purple left Kansas City yesterday for Manhattan, and were expected to arrive late last night or early this morning.

Yesterday 1280 R. P.'s arrived by truck about noon and in an hour and 45 minutes all had been passed out by staff members.

According to C. J. Medlin, graduate manager of publications, Royal Purple were ordered for everyone who had paid their activity fee both semesters or who has already paid cash for an annual. "All books should be here and delivered to the students by Monday at the latest," said Medlin.

Gretzinger Elected Blue Key President

Cramming three big activities into a single night, members of Blue Key, honorary fraternity for senior men, initiated the 13 new members for next year, elected the years officers for the club and attended a steak dinner for members, wives and dates Tuesday night.

James Gretzinger was elected to succeed John Aiken as Blue Key president. Ralph Salisbury was selected as vice-president, Norville Gish is the new recording secretary, Ward Haylett, Jr., is the corresponding secretary and Jim Davis is treasurer. In addition to the new officers, the initiates for the next year, include Kenneth Bell, Arthur Cotts, Jack Dean, Richard Gorman, Bob Heline, Jack Roth, Dean Schowengerdt, and John Woolsey.

Following the initiation in the President's office, both the new and the graduating members and dates attended a banquet at the K. D. R. club. President and Mrs. Eisenhower were dinner guests. President Eisenhower is the faculty sponsor for the Blue Key group.

Tribute to Secretary in Ag Magazine

A full-page tribute to Mrs. Gertrude Musil is carried in the Agricultural Student, being distributed today.

Mrs. Musil, wife of J. F. Musil, clerk of the district court in Riley county, resigned Saturday as secretary to Dean C. W. Mullen of the agriculture school.

She had worked in the ag experiment station since 1925 and has thousands of friends among the school's graduates, the student magazine stated.

Arthur Capper, Topeka, is chairman of the committee.

Blue Key to Sponsor Two Negro Scholarships

Two athletic scholarships at Kansas State College will be made available to outstanding Negro athletes next year, according to an announcement made yesterday by Blue Key, national honorary fraternity for senior men.

The scholarships will be completely financed by Blue Key and will be awarded only to applicants from Kansas. Both the awards will be made in accordance with NCAA rules and will be administered by Dean M. A. Durland, chairman of the committee governing scholarships. The students will be selected by members of the athletic department and Dean Durland's committee on the basis of ability, need, and satisfactory scholastic standing.

In announcing the awards, John Aiken, Blue Key president, said that Negroes have not been barred from Kansas State athletic teams in the past, "but Blue Key feels that this is not commonly known. Consequently, many outstanding Negro athletes have not considered enrolling here. We feel that the color race represents an untapped source of athletic talent which might well be utilized."

Makes Policy Clear

The policies of the K-State Athletic Council were stated for The Collegian by the Council chairman, Dr. H. H. Haymaker. "The Council is unanimous in favoring the promotion of racial tolerance throughout the Big Seven conference. There has been a mistaken idea that Negroes have been discriminated against in athletic competition here at the College."

"This idea is incorrect," Dr. Haymaker asserted. "This is shown by the fact that several Negroes have tried out for teams, have been issued equipment and have been coached in exactly the same manner as have other candidates."

Negroes Welcome

"So far, however, they have not displayed sufficient ability to make the team. The authorities not only do not discriminate against them, but hope that some will enter school here and show the ability to improve the quality of our teams."

The Blue Key president said that anyone knowing an outstanding athlete is invited to recommend him for the scholarship awards. The suggestions, according to Aiken, should be made directly to the athletic department where they will be forwarded for action by the scholarship committee.

Jennings Named Head of College Quill Club

Quill Club, national organization of college students interested in creative writing, elected officers at its final meeting of the current year last Wednesday evening.

The 1948-49 Chancellor will be Dana Jennings; Vice-Chancellor Roy Goss; Keeper of the Parchment Joseph Periale; Scribe Julius Harman; Oliver Maskil was re-elected Warden of the Purse.

A full program for the coming school year was announced by Joy Reinhardt, graduating Chancellor. An intensive membership drive will be made immediately after classes resume in September. Interested writers are urged to begin now to prepare manuscripts of short stories, poems, sketches, plays, or essays to qualify for election to membership at that time. Outstanding manuscripts are published in the semi-annual Parchment, which is distributed nationally.

Mrs. Reinhardt announced also a new departure in future programs. Recognized writers and former club members still active in original composition will be invited to address the group on matters literary.

Quill will not be active during the summer because not enough members will be in school.

Grad Is Clerk

James M. Kendall, journalism graduate in 1941, is chief clerk of the United States Senate committee on agriculture and forestry, according to word received by Ralph Lashbrook, journalism department head.

Arthur Capper, Topeka, is chairman of the committee.

Correction

A. E. White, chairman of the committee on assignment and schedule, calls our attention to the fact that we did not say in our story on final examinations that instructors may give their final exams before May 25 provided it is given at the last scheduled meeting in a one-hour course.

In a two, or more, hour course, the final may be given at the last two scheduled meetings of the class prior to 1 p.m. Tuesday.

On Final Exams

Final Exams! Just those two little five-letter words are liable to make the bravest individual, a person who would perhaps be unafraid of man or beast, mentally pick up his coattails and run.

What is there about these two minute members of the English language family that makes normal, intelligent adults literally "freeze up" and forget everything they ever knew?

Perhaps it is the psychological significance of the word "final." "Here," many perspiring students say to themselves, "is my last chance to hit that instructor for that A or B," or whatever it is. But more likely our imaginary college Joe, or Jane, realizes that they have been sliding along most of the semester and that what they get out of course depends to some extent what they do on the final.

But whatever the case may be, the thought of "those lousy finals" put many students in a mental frenzy. They say to themselves, "I've just got to hit that final. If I don't, I might as well sell my pogo stick and go to Siberia."

So many harried students resolve (some cases that is as far as it gets) to stay up the next six or eight nights burning the midnight oil. They get three or four hours of sleep at night. They go around the campus with a dazed look on their faces. Friends greet them and all they get is a blank look for the efforts. It all boils down to the fact that many persons work and talk themselves into a mental blank.

We are not belittling the value of a lot of good, old fashioned cramming, but psychologists and educators have proven that in many cases to pass a test it is necessary to have a clear mind, a mind that is able to think and reason out the answers. It is almost impossible for a person to do this if his mind is clouded from worry and exhausted from lack of sleep.

Educators also point out that the time to make your grade is the first five weeks, not the last five days. But if the former is not the case perhaps if more of us would say this to ourselves, "Finals, sure I know they are coming next week. I guess I had better go over my class notes and review the book a little but no more of this 4 a. m. stuff for me. I tried that last semester and it didn't do me any good," we would have a better chance to really hit those tests.

Nevertheless it takes a pretty strong personality to overcome those "final week blues" so if we meet you with a blank gaze and fail to say hello, you will know the reason. Final Exams!

OUTSIDE the Ivy WALLS

The efficiency of the atomic bombs under development by the U. S. was proved recently by tests at Eniwetok Atoll. The bombs have been greatly improved since Hiroshima and the time of the tests at Bikini. None of the latest tests were made under water or from the air, according to officials. They expressed themselves pleased with the results of the tests, but refused to give exact information for security reasons.

The U. S. State Department has announced that world problems cannot be settled by the U. S. and Russia alone. Other countries have an interest in settling important issues. This announcement followed Stalin's latest "peace" proposal, asking for prohibition of atomic warfare, and direct negotiations between Russia and the U. S.

Registration of communists in the U. S. may soon be required by law. The House of Representatives refused to kill a bill designed to curb communist activities here. The bill would require registration and filing of an annual financial statement by communists. Another provision is that anyone advocating establishment of a total Sitarian government controlled from abroad would be liable to imprisonment. The bill is opposed on the grounds that it would tend to drive the communists underground, and that passage of such a bill would be an act similar to that of a totalitarian government.

Presidential candidates Dewey and Stassen recently debated the question, on a nation-wide broadcast, of whether communism should be outlawed. Dewey is against such legislation, while Stassen believes it is time to stop "coddling" the communists.

At the government's request, the civil contempt conviction against John L. Lewis and the United Mine Workers has been dismissed. Attorney General Tom Clark told the court that the miners are back at work and the public interest is secure. Under consideration by Federal Judge T. Alan Goldsborough is another government request to end the anti-strike injunction against Lewis and the union. Goldsborough said that he is not yet convinced that there is no danger of a new coal strike.

Syria challenged the right of the U. S. to recognize the new state of Israel. Warren R. Austin, chief U. S. delegate to the U. N., countered with the statement that no country could question the right, nor any tribunal pass upon the legality, of the act of recognition.

The outstanding cadet officer at the University of Texas was awarded an engraved saber at the final review of troops last Wednesday. That isn't what they gave me when I was in the service. It wasn't even engraved.

Spring was heralded by the arrival of several thousand evening grosbeaks at Oregon State College. All we had here was more letters to the editor about campus paths.

Knitting seems to be the favorite winter hobby of most college girls around the country. Well, you can never tell what you might run in to.

Professors at the Universities of Illinois and Oklahoma have co-authored an article, "Analysis of the Milky Way in Northern Cassiopeia and Cepheus." I do an article on, "Analysis of Snickers during Social World lecture."

Down at the University of Texas students have asked for a course explaining the "great issues" of the day. And when they find a man to teach that course, I want a seat.

Honorary Fraternity Initiates 26 Men

Pi Tau Sigma, national honorary fraternity for mechanical engineers, recently held a banquet and initiation services for 26 new initiates at the College cafeteria.

New members are: Carroll Amos, Bruce Appling, Lowell Boughton, Willis Bell, Dale Brees, Alan Carlson, Robert Culbertson, William Goodbar, Donald Gray, Buff Haff, Norman Hansen, Robert Hawley, Roger Lachman, Claude Lindsey, Lee Long, Russell Lowe, Dale Mattson, Jerry Nims, Charles Peterson, John Peterson, William Schultz, Forrest Slief, Libbourn Steinert, Dale Thompson, Samuel Wallick, Richard Willis.

After the banquet, election of officers for the coming year was held, and the following men were elected: president, Tom Jefferson; vice-president, George Curry; secretary, John Lindholm; treasurer, Wilbur Neel.

Presentation of the keys to the new members was made by Professor A. O. Flinner, of the department of mechanical engineering.

Has Article Accepted

Mike Burns, Topeka, a senior in agriculture at Kansas State College recently has had an article on the Feeders' Day program at the College accepted for publication by the Farm Journal magazine.

Banquet

Graduating seniors and persons receiving advanced degrees this May should pick up tickets for the Alumni-Senior Banquet in the alumni office by tomorrow noon, according to Kenny Ford, alumni secretary.

Seniors and alumni attending the banquet should be in the College Auditorium by 5:50 p. m. Saturday, May 29, Ford added.

Wind Tunnel Makes Big Blow from Little Gust

A wind tunnel laboratory is used in machine design classes to test air resistance of certain objects. It was built entirely by students and building and repair men under the direction of C. E. Pearce, professor in mechanical engineering.

Construction on the demonstration tunnel was begun six years ago. During that time it has grown from a small box with a 1-4 h. p. engine to a tunnel two feet high and several feet long with a 1-2 h. p. engine and an eight-blade fan.

Air is sucked through the tunnel by a fan at one end. The pressure inside the testing box is slightly below atmospheric pressure. Glass windows permit students to observe the effect of pressure on spindles, spheres and plates which are suspended inside the testing box from a wire. The wire is connected to a gauge which measures the drag of the objects.

The demonstration tunnel enables students to see why some designs are more practical than others and the advantage of streamlining.

"Other colleges are using large demonstration tunnels, some of which cost as much as $18,000. Ours cost less than $300," pointed out Professor Pearce.

Two More Cheating Cases Are Reported

Two new cases of cheating have been acted upon by the Committee on Academic Dishonesty, Dean of Administration A. L. Pugsley has revealed. Both students were found guilty of cheating in an examination after they had been apprehended with crib material.

The findings of the Committee were upheld by Dean Pugsley.

Wildcats, Tigers Continue Diamond Rivalry Today

Coach Lud Fiser's baseball Wildcats and the Missouri Tigers will continue their battle for second place in the Big Seven conference standings this afternoon at Griffith Field in the first tilt of a two-game series. The teams will meet again tomorrow afternoon in the final home contest for the Wildcats. Today's battle is slated to get under way at 3:30 while Saturday's game will start at 2.

Earlier this week, the two schools met in a pair of contests on the Columbia diamond. The Cats won the first 4-1 on Jack Bell's 7 hit hurling but dropped the second game 11-4 as the Tigers put on a display of hitting power.

2-10 lead ..... Coach Lud Fiser's Jack Dean is slated to go to the hill for K-State today. Dean did not make the trip to Missouri earlier this week, but remained at home to rest for today's game and catch up on some academic work.

Coach Fiser has not announced a starting hurler for Saturday but most observers expect him to send fireballer Jack Bell to the mound. Bell is the leading hurler on the club, having lost only one game.

Competition between the two teams has reached a high pitch following the recent series at Columbia. Both teams are expected to play their hardest to climb into the second place position.

Missouri is currently riding in second place just one game ahead of the Wildcats. The Tigers have won 8 and lost 4 while K-State has 7 wins and 5 losses. A double win for the K-Staters will give them undisputed possession of the runner-up spot while a series split keeps Missouri on top. The Nebraska Cornhuskers are leading the league with a record of 12 wins and 3 defeats.

K-STATE SPLITS WITH MISSOURI

By Jack Nielsen

K-State's hope for the Big Seven baseball title vanished Tuesday, when the Missouri Tigers beat them by a 11 to 4 margin. K-State won the initial contest 4 to 1.

Big Jack Bell, K-State's answer to rocket speed, pitched and hit the Wildcats to victory Monday. The blaze-baller was in complete command of the situation. He faltered only once and during this momentary weakness, the Tigers slipped their lone tally across. Bell kept the Tigers caged, with less than one hit per inning.

The game was a fast, hard-played thriller. Bell struck out eight men, including three in the sixth. The leading hitter was Al Sheriff with two singles in four times at bat.

What a 7th Inning
In the seventh inning the game was halted for a few moments while one of those females Stephens College is noted for, left the game. This particular young lady was gowned in a light blue, clinging, bare shouldered, "afternoon" dress, evidently designed to present her head and thighs to the best advantage. The players, fans and umpires all joined in a outburst of a wolf's mating howl, much to her escort's chagrin.

Missouri Wins Second

The Tigers won the second game of the series. Missouri found some of the hits they had misplaced the day before. They scored in the first and second innings. Three more runs were added in the third on a single, a fielder's choice, two successive singles, a walk and an error.

Starting pitcher Duane Holder left the game in the sixth inning, after the Tigers had added another run. Bob McClure took over the pitching duties and he was hit for four runs in the eighth.

Holder was charged with his first loss of the season as a result of this contest. The Wildcats were guilty of four fielding errors, and those played a

P.E.M. and Sigma Phi Epsilon have been announced as winners of the independent and greek brackets in the recent intramural track meet. According to L. P. Washburn, director of intramurals, the Physical Education Majors piled up 87 points to win the independent title while the Sig Eps amassed 53.7 points in edging past the Alpha Tau Omegas and the Betas.

The Black Cats were second in the independent division with 45 points and the Gutterbums collected 38 points to finish third.

ATO scored 53 points to finish as runner up in the fraternity division while the Betas were close behind with 52 points.

Sig Eps Win Softball Title on Howey Homer

Harold Howey, all-Big Seven cage star, bowed out of the sporting limelight at K-State Wednesday in a blaze of glory by pitching and hitting the Sigma Phi Epsilon softball nine to the all-College intramural softball championship with a 7 to 6 triumph over the Poultry Club.

The Poultrymen got off to a two run lead in the first inning and added three more in the third while their pitcher, Bill Johnson, was holding the Sig Eps scoreless.

After scoring one run in the fourth inning the Sig Eps got back into the ball game in the fifth with four runs. The runs came as a result of three consecutive singles by John Chaltas, Don Button, and Harold Hines, and a home run by Howey. This was the first of two homers by Howey.

The Sig Eps held the Poultry Club to one run in the sixth while they were scoring one to again tie-up the ball game. In the seventh the Poultrymen went scoreless while the Sig Eps scored once to walk off with the title.

CHALK TALK

Pete Engelken

First of all we would like to spike a rumor that is currently making the rounds, to the effect that Pitcher Jack Dean has quit the baseball squad. The rumor started when Jack did not make the trip to Missouri earlier this week with the team. The straight dope on the matter is that the lanky hurler is still very much in the Wildcat diamond picture. He is scheduled to take the mound this afternoon against Missouri.

The fact that it was not Dean's turn to pitch in either of the two road games, plus being forced to study for a couple of pretty stiff exams staring him in the face, was sufficient to keep him in Manhattan. Just for good measure Jack was also initiated into Blue Key.

Orchids, Too
In this column we like to hand out plaudits as well as well-meant criticisms at times, so this time the orchids go to the Wildcat baseball followers. In the past Kansas State had a reputation of being an extremely difficult and at times unsportsmanlike group of spectators at athletic contests.

This year that criticism of the fans has certainly been repudiated. Continually we have heard applause for particularly good playing by opposing teams and individuals—yes, even Kansas University.

So during the last two home games of Coach Lud Fiser's crew tonight and tomorrow afternoon, let's keep the applause rolling when it is warranted and make opposing teams keep on thinking of K-Staters as Okay Joes.

Schnelly Leaves

Kansas University grid mentor, Johnny Sikes, can add another discordant note to those sounded with the loss of All-American Ray Evans to his 1948 squad. Another big gun in the Jayhawk lineup will also be absent come next pigskin parade time. Otto Schnellbacher, who still has one more year of eligibility left, will graduate in June and has signed to play with the New York Yankees pro grid team. Semi-official estimates put the signing figure at $8,000 to $10,000.

The intra-squad basketball game Tuesday night provided fans with a few of the B-team ball handling antics of Ken Mahoney. Mahoney was the only varsity player on the floor and he shared the top-performance spotlight with frosh Ed Head. The anemic Californian, Head, is

We Done Beat Kansas Again!

(Ed. note: Both this headline and this story are reprinted word-for-word from the May 18 DAILY KANSAS of K. U. We can think of no way of improving on them.)

Kansas State college officials were toying with the idea of declaring a school holiday today following the Wildcats' first tennis victory over the Jayhawkers in ten years Monday. The score was 4 to 3, and the match was played on the Wildcats courts.

Oh, Yes, The Wildcats' golf team also beat our boys, 13 1-4 to 4 1-2.

Now, about the tennis licking. Dick Richards and Glenn Tongier, our number one and two players respectively stayed at home to study, but they whipped the subs fairly and squarely. Here are the scores to prove it.

Louis Thompson, K. S., defeated Hervey Macferran, 6-1, 6-0. Dick Cray, Kansas, trounced Roy Sherrill, 6-4, 6-3, and Charlie Carson, Kansas, defeated Marvin Dungan, 4-6, 6-1, 6-2; Dave Cowley defeated Dick Powers, 6-3, 8-6. We had them 3 to 1 at this point. Jim Neumann of K-State defeated Art Fitch, 6-1, 6-4.

In the doubles we really fell apart. Sherrill-Thompson defeated Carson-Macferran, 6-2, 6-4, but Cray-Cowley came near pulling the match out of the fire before losing to Powers-Neumann, 5-7, 6-1, 7-5.

Now, about that golf match. Of course we lost, but our regular golfers thought it was more important to study than to play Kansas State.

Anyway they threw a fellow named Don Bishop at us right off the bat and he shot an eight-under-par 62 (sand greens), just one stroke off the course record. That was mighty discouraging for our Bob Meeker, who did all

Fishermen

We plan to run a regular fishing column on the sports page of the summer school Collegian. We need your cooperation to make it a success. If you have had good luck fishing, write us and give us the details for publication. There are a lot of fisherman students, who even if they don't land the big ones themselves, like to read about other people's luck.

Drop your contributions in the College post office or in the Collegian office addressed to Pat Patterson, sports editor. Hope to hear from all of you rod benders.

right for himself on grass greens. But Bob could not tie the course record so he lost to Bishop, 0-3.

In case you are interested here are the rest of the scores: Murray Regier, Kansas, defeated Junior Lovell, 3-0; Bob Moss, Kansas State, defeated Carl Markwell, 3-0; Mike Myers, Kansas State, defeated Glenn Scott, 2-1; Bishop-Lovell defeated Regier-Meeker, 2 1/4-1/4; Moss-Myers defeated Scott-Markwell, 3-0.

Burchfiel, Linscheid Cop Tennis Honors

Stan Burchfiel and Ronald Linscheid became the all-College intramural tennis doubles champions and added more points for the intramural teams of Beta Theta Pi Fraternity this week when they defeated Sid Branson and Earl Bozeman, 6-1 and 7-5. Branson and Bozeman, representing the Y.M.C.A., entered the championship match after wins over Richard Lill and Reginald Asher of the Gutterbums.

John Stout romped over Archie Kloxin in the fraternity singles final and now will meet independent Bill Brainerd for the all-College singles championship.

AT STATE

Seniors are deeply in the midst of finals. For 650 K-State students college days are just about over.

On this last week-end of the semester Kappa Kappa Gamma is having its formal dinner dance tonight at the Country Club from 6 to 12. Saturday night is the date of the Alpha Delta Pi spring dinner dance at the Wareham and Avalon.

Roses at the Alpha Xi Delta house announced the wedding date of Carol Clark and Don Ford. Carol, who is now working in Topeka, and Don, TKE, will be married on May 30 at Topeka.

It's chocolates again at the Pi Phi house! Gwen Wilson made the announcement at dinner Wednesday night telling of her engagement to Bob Campbell, Sigma Alpha Epsilon. Sig Alpa who received cigars from Bob arrived at the Pi Phi house for a smooch line.

Chocolates from Nadine Noyes announced her engagement to John Flam, AKL, at Van Zile Tuesday night. Traditional smooch lines were formed. Nadine, home economics and dietitian senior, is from Emporia, and John, dairy manufacturing junior, is from Winfield.

A farewell tea will be given at the TKE house Sunday afternoon in honor of their retiring housemother Mrs. Blanche Jackson. Mrs. Jackson has been a house mother for 21 years.

It was excitement at the Kappa house Wednesday evening when Majol Pellom announced her engagement to Ray Thompson, Sig Alph. Majol and Ray are both from Manhattan. Smooch lines were formed for Majol and Ray at the Kappa house.

Ann Dean was presented the Scholarship Award at the annual Kappa Delta recognition dinner. Alumnae were guests at the dinner.

Wedding bells will ring for Barbara Adece and Murlin Nutter in Belleville, May 31, announced roses at Van Zile Hall Wednesday night. Barbara is from Belleville, and Murlin, from Peabody.

Norma Van Buren passed roses to her Kappa Delta sisters Wednesday night announcing her June 9 wedding to Vic Zimmerman. They are both from Alta Vista. Norma attended K-State last year.

More than fifty members and dates of Alpha Tau Omega attended a picnic at the Westmoreland Lake Friday night. The picnic was followed by a dance.

ONE OF THE NEW HOME MANAGEMENT HOUSES nears completion. Being constructed south of Van Zile Hall, the houses will make it possible for home management girls to get practical training in their work by planning menus, ordering food and keeping the house in order.—Photo by Walter Warren.

GIRLS' PLAY HOUSE; NO PAPA NEEDED

Want to Beat the Housing Shortage? Enroll in Home Management Course

By Janice Addington

House-hunters drooling over the two new resident houses in construction on the campus had better forget about renting dreams. Thirty-six home economics students will call the houses home for the next semester.

The two home management houses, faced with native limestone, are a block west of the Bertrand Street campus entrance. These houses will each accommodate 18 coeds for two nine-week periods a semester. Six women and an advisor will live in each of the two sections of the duplex and another six and an advisor will live in the Ellen Richards Lodge.

"Students living in the houses are responsible for good group relationship and household operation," said Dr. Josephine Kremer, head of the department of household economics.

Each of the three sections is planned and equipped appropriate to three economic levels.

The Ellen Richards Lodge is the higher income house with an electric range, refrigerator having a frozen food storage space, dishwasher, sink with a garbage disposal unit and a rotary ironer. The medium income section is the Margaret Ahlborn Lodge which has a gas range, an electrical refrigerator with a top unit including a meat keeper and a vegetable crisper and a flat plate ironer. Women living in the lower income section, the Ula Dow Cottage, will have an oil stove, a stripped model of an electric refrigerator and a wringer washing machine.

Students who will take up residence in these houses are home economics students preparing for teaching, home demonstration work, or food and equipment demonstration work. They register for the course and then draw for the income section in which they will live for four and a half weeks. After four and a half weeks they move in rotation to the next section. Rotation order for the sections is from the Ellen Richards Lodge to the Margaret Ahlborn Lodge and then to the Ula Dow Cottage. Women having the Ula Dow Cottage then move to the Ellen Richards Lodge.

Each group tries to experience something they have lacked in home living. Miss Kremer says. If the majority of the students in the sections want experience in giving a tea, a tea is given. Each group also entertains members of the faculty and friends.

Both Margaret Ahlborn Lodge and Ula Dow Cottage were named for former faculty members in the home economics school. Margaret Ahlborn, former assistant to Dean Justin, resigned in 1937. She now lives in Iowa. Ula Dow was once a member of the home economics staff and was given an honorary doctor's degree in 1938. Ellen Richards was founder of formal home economics training in the United States.

Former KSC Profs Drown in Colorado

Two former Kansas State College faculty members were drowned Saturday in the South Platte River near Castle Rock, Colo. Victims of the tragedy were Dr. John Greene and Dr. Ralph Conrad. Conrad's daughter Martha Lou, 12, was also drowned.

Although details are still incomplete, reports reaching here Monday indicate that Greene, Conrad, Conrad's daughter and a fourth member of the party, H. Terrell Barber, Denver, had started down the turbulent stream in Green's rubber boat when the accident happened.

Dr. Conrad, son of Dr. L. E. Conrad, former head of the civil engineering department here at the College, was graduated from Kansas State in 1933. He received his Master of Science and Doctor of Philosophy degrees from Iowa University. He joined the College staff in 1936 as assistant professor of poultry chemistry. He left KSC in 1946 to accept a position in the chemistry department at the University of Denver.

John Greene was graduated from the University of Washington in 1926. He received his Master of Science from Carnegie Institute of Technology in 1927 and his Doctor of Philosophy degree from the University of Pittsburgh in 1930.

He accepted a position at the College as assistant professor in the chemistry department in 1937. He resigned his post here in August of 1946 to go to the University of Denver as head of the Department of Chemical Engineering.

Engineer Officers

Officers of the Engineering Association recently elected for the 1948-1949 school year here are Jack Roth, president; Charles Smith, vice-president; James Bondurant, secretary; Dewey Huston, treasurer; Merle Siegle, junior representative; and Ward Keller, Open House chairman.

Swiss Prof Talks on Rationing

Switzerland had strict food rationing with no lining up in the food stores, according to Dr. J. G. Baer of the University of Neuchatel there. He discussed Switzerland's solution of the wartime food problem at Kansas State College Thursday.

A differential rationing system allowed for occupations and illness. Different colored cards gave protein rations in meat or cheese, according to likes and incomes of the Swiss people, Doctor Baer explained. The rationing system also provided more fats in winter.

School children in Switzerland got concentrated vitamins B, C and D in February when deficiencies ordinarily would appear.

Swiss persons got 3,200 calories daily before the war. During the war, it dropped to 2,750 at first and later to 1,783, Baer said. The Swiss army and persons "detained there" got the army ration, although international law did not permit the government to compel them to work, he said.

Although fats are still rationed in Switzerland and rationing of wheat went off only two months ago, potatoes, fruits and fish were never rationed, Baer said. Switzerland's adequate milk supply at all times was an important reason for the success of their rationing system, Baer believes.

During the war the Swiss decreased cattle supplies but not milk-producing animals. Food for animals also had to be rationed as Switzerland, in normal times, imports more than half its food requirements, Baer said.

The Swiss professor is in the United States to attend the Fourth International Congress on Tropical Medicine and Malaria. His trip to Kansas State was arranged by Dr. J. E. Ackert of the zoology department.

Builders Use Ancient Stone

By Howard Sparks
Stone used nearly 90 years ago in the construction of the forerunner of Kansas State College will be used again to build a house on the horticulture department's farm. The stone has been removed from a stone wall on the hort farm of the old Bluemont Central College, which was founded in 1858.

The house, to be used by the farm foreman, will have five rooms and a full basement. Construction is to start on the house this morning and should be completed sometime this summer, according to Dr. W. F. Pickett, head of the Department of Horticulture.

The campus of Bluemont College was about one mile west of the present campus. In 1863, under the Morrill Act of 1862, the buildings and land were transferred to the state as a nucleus of a state agricultural college. The present campus of Kansas State was acquired in 1871. The first building of the new campus was built in 1872 and is still standing. It is the Farm Machinery Hall, north of the veterinary building and is not used for classrooms at the present.

In 1942, a barn was built on the hort farm of the same old stone. The buildings are designed to look as if they had been there for years, Dr. Pickett said.

Five More Seniors are Grad Candidates

The Collegian has received notice from the Registrar that these names have been omitted from last week's story on candidates for graduation.

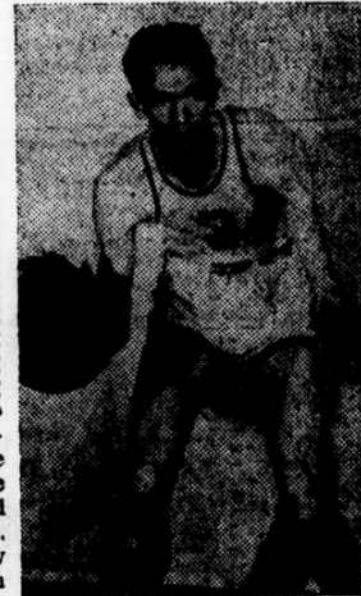

Those names omitted were: Darrel George Mounkes, agriculture; Joan Ruth Myers, Bachelor of Science; Vonda Gates Price, Bachelor of Science; Elmer Vogt, business administration; and Gladys Mourine Johnson, home economics.

Howard Shannon Ruled Ineligible By Big 7 Heads

Kansas State's basketball stock took a terrific drop Friday as a result of a rule interpretation by Big Seven faculty representatives that is expected to cost the Wildcats the services of Howard Shannon, Cat court captain.

Shannon recently was named to the Helms Foundation All-America second team, and was expected to play another season at K-State. He has previously played two seasons with a junior college team, another season with a teacher's college, in addition to last winter here.

The rule, as interpreted by the conference representatives at Lincoln Friday, means that with men who entered school before May 1, 1947, each year of Junior College competition shall count as a year of participation.

Howard Shannon

Previously, the rule was interpreted to read that two years of J. C. participation represented only one year against a player's eligibility record.

Also, athletes who played freshman sports against other freshmen would be limited to four years of play, with the year of freshman competition counting as one of the four years.

However, students who entered college after May 1, 1947, will be able to count two years of junior college play as only one year of competition. But after playing two seasons at a J. C., this latter year is only entitled to two years of varsity competition in the Big Seven.

The rule interpretation, introduced by Sam Shirky, Missouri faculty representative, was adopted by a vote of 5 to 2, with K. U. and Kansas State's faculty representatives vigorously opposing the action. Shannon played one season for North Texas State Teachers College, two seasons for North Texas Agricultural Junior College, and last season for the Wildcats.

K-State and K. U. officials voiced vigorous protests yesterday against the ruling. It was reported that five Kansas U. football players would fall under the same ax that cut off Shannon's competition. Coach Jack Gardner termed it "the worst thing that's ever happened to Kansas State."

There is no justice in a rule that's made one way when a boy comes to school, and then changed after he's in and playing. "This ruling's going to affect every school in the conference, since there's going to be plenty of them caught in the 'purge', said Gardner.

"I'm just going to have to start all over next year, with Shannon and Howey gone," Harold Howey, Wildcat forward, will graduate at the end of the summer school session.

Shannon Will Stay
When reached at his home yesterday, Shannon was still hopeful that somehow the ruling would not affect his eligibility. But if it does, he said he would just stay in school and get his degree. He said he was making no plans to play on any independent or AAU teams next winter.

"The rule is right," said Thurlo McCrady, director of athletics, "but the time they're interpreting it is wrong. It's unfair to the boys who are already in school."

Eisenhower Says
K-State's president, Milton S. Eisenhower, said yesterday he is strongly opposed to the new measure. "It has been the understanding of everyone here that junior college athletic experience counted as only one year's competition so far as Big Seven rules are concerned. (Continued on Page Two)

Yearbooks

A shipment of 1,200 Royal Purples left Kansas City yesterday afternoon and will be here some time this morning, according to C. J. Medlin, graduate manager of student publications. The remainder of the books will be shipped today and should be ready for distribution Wednesday, he added.

"Every student who has paid an activity fee for both semesters or who enrolled in February and paid the balance of $2.30 will receive a yearbook," Medlin said. "We suggest that students not leaving Manhattan until Wednesday wait until then to pick up their Royal Purples, so that students who have to leave Tuesday can get theirs today."

Alumni to Elect Officers; Present Program, May 29

Five directors of the Kansas State College Alumni Association will be elected at the annual alumni business meeting May 29 at the College, according to Kenney L. Ford, executive secretary of the association.

He had charge of several projects in the Engineering Experiment Station and is co-author of two bulletins relating to investigations of atmospheric resistance to motor vehicles.

Professor Conrad was active in many professional and honorary societies and served on many college committees.

Dr. Harman came to Kansas State in 1912 with a B. S. and M. A. and a PhD degree from Indiana University. She has been full professor since 1921.

She attended the Biological Laboratory at Naples, Italy in 1929 as a fellow of American Association of University Women. She developed and was the first in the department to teach courses in embryology, ornithology and microbiology.

Doctor Harman served as advisor to Chi Omega sorority 18 years. She served as an informal advisor to pre-medics and was faculty sponsor of the pre-med "Clinic Club" at the College. She has been president of the Kansas Academy of Science and was on its editorial board eight years.

Despite a heavy teaching load, she did much research and made contributions in the field of cytology and embryology.

Although Doctor Brubaker has been a professor of chemistry at Whitman College, an honorary fellow of Cornell University and a chemist with the Carnegie Institute of Technology before he came to Kansas State, he served here 35 years.

Placed in charge of laboratory work in freshman chemistry, Doctor Brubaker organized and developed the freshman courses. He was then put in charge of the analytical section of the department where he continued until July of last year.

H. Umberger is known throughout Kansas. He was dean of the extension division from 1919 to 1947. While directing a state-wide program of adult and rural youth education, he kept one foot in the soil by operating a cattle ranch in Chase county, where he was born.

Dean Umberger was graduated from Kansas State in 1905. He became scientific assistant in the Bureau of Soils, USDA, in 1906 and scientific assistant in the Bureau of Plant Industry in 1907. He also did cereal work in Texas and established and was superintendent of the Experiment Station at Moro, Ore.

A list of the committees, associations and organizations Dean Umberger served fill a full page. Among them are Kansas Crop Improvement Association, director; Kansas Farm Bureau, temporary secretary; KSC Alumni Association, president; National Committee on Education by Radio, vice president; Regional Advisory Committee on Land Use Practices, chairman; Southern Great Plains Council, chairman; American Country Life Association, vice president; the Kansas Committee for the Nationwide War-time Food Management Program.

He is vice-grand director of the national honorary fraternity for extension service workers and was awarded the distinguished Service Ruby by that organization in 1942.

Will Honor Five Emeritus Profs at Alumni Dinner

Five emeritus faculty members with a total of 193 years service to Kansas State College will be honored with emeritus certificates at the alumni dinner here May 29, President Milton S. Eisenhower has announced.

Those to be honored and their years service to the College are Ina Holroyd, 48; L. E. Conrad, 40; Mary T. Harman, 36; H. W. Brubaker, 35; and H. Umberger, 34.

Miss Holroyd was on the staff from 1899 to 1947. Because "there were few good mathematics teachers," President Nichols asked her to shift from English to mathematics, which she did in 1909.

In addition to her work at Kansas State, Miss Holroyd has studied at Emporia State Teachers, Harvard, Cornell and Chicago and Columbia Universities.

She initiated the quarterly Bulletin of the Kansas Association of Teachers of Mathematics in 1926 and edited it until 1944.

On the College staff 40 years, Professor Conrad was for 38 years head of the civil engineering department. Starting with a curriculum but no students, he developed that department.

He had charge of several projects in the Engineering Experiment Station and is co-author of two bulletins relating to investigations of atmospheric resistance to motor vehicles.

Professor Conrad was active in many professional and honorary societies and served on many college committees.

Union Shows $172 Profit This Year

The Temporary Student Union has deposited $25,398.99 during its first six-month period of operation, according to figures just released by Murlin Hodgell, Student Union Finance Chairman.

Visiting Teachers to Lead Workshop

Workshop courses taught by visiting staff members, will be offered to beginning teachers in various fields for graduate credit during the summer session, Dr. H. L. Baker, head of the Department of Education and Psychology, said yesterday. The workshops are being offered in addition to the regular courses in the curriculum.

The workshops, instructors, and dates of presentation are as follows:

May 24-June 7: Vocational Agriculture (for beginning teachers), Lawrence Hall, In-service trainer, Department of Education and Psychology.

June 7-June 26: Local School Administration, W. R. Godwin, Superintendent, Hutchinson public schools.

June 28-July 17: The School Plan, Charles Hawks, Superintendent, Topeka public schools.

June 28-July 17: Secondary School Administration, George Cleland, Principal, Ingalls Junior-Senior High School, Atchison.

July 19-Aug. 7: Audio-Visual Aids in Instruction, C. D. Miller, visual aids co-ordinator, Wichita public schools.

July 19-Aug. 7: County, State and Federal School Administration and Support, Floyd Herr, State Department of Public Instruction certification director.

Peterson Is Top Civil Engineer

Lloyd E. Peterson was named the outstanding senior civil engineering student at Kansas State College at a dinner meeting of the Kansas section of the American Society of Civil Engineers Friday night in Thompson Hall. Honored along with Peterson was William Joel Hall, top civil engineering senior at the University of Kansas.

The award, offered annually by the ASCE, consists of junior membership in the Society, a junior membership badge and

According to Bill West, manager, 18,500 Cokes were sold during April. The Union profit on each Coke is two-tenths of a cent. The Union fares slightly better on coffee, with half-a-cent profit on each nickel cup.

Student members of the Temporary Union Committee this year have been Dick Winger, chairman, Jim Davis, Murlin Hodgell and Mae Weaver. Faculty committeemen include Dean A. L. Pugsley, A. R. Jones and M. D. Woff.

Ben Stewart, vice-president of Kansas State Players, presented six Oscars to outstanding members of the Players last Friday evening. The presentation took place between plays presented before more than 100 persons in Education Hall.

Oscars were awarded to Garth Grissom for his appearance in "Twelfth Night" and "Pygmalion;" Marvin Altman for his work in "Twelfth Night" and "Angel Street;" Ines Strutt for her acting in "Twelfth Night" and "Angel Street;" Rebecca Lamoreaux for "Pygmalion;" Mary Hensen for backstage work on all this year's shows and John Hepler for lighting effects on this year's productions.

The four one-act plays presented included "The Red Peppers," a story based on show business. It was directed by Jane McDonald. Tony Ceranich, Lorraine Halbower, Herb Langer, George Nelson, Margaret MacGregor and Wolfram Woltz were members of the cast.

"All of My Life" told the story of an ambitious mother and her daughter. The show was directed by Mary Frances Weaver. The cast included Patricia Kirkendall, Frances Jewett, Donna Cronk and Joan Newcomer.

Clifford Hunt directed "The Wedding," a story of a wedding that almost did not occur because of a lost collar button. The cast included Garth Grissom, Carl Kish, Nancy Frey, Larry Hartory, Carolyn Myers, Si Crites and Pat Doebele.

"The Blue Teapot" portrayed the troubles of a poor boy-rich girl marriage. It was directed by Helen Hammond. The cast included Georgia Scholl, Bob Kelly, Jack Sampson and Janet Ray.

John Hepler was lighting director for all plays. Rose Miller managed properties for the productions.

Funds to Playground

The now defunct veteran's association will not distribute the remaining funds in their treasury to the Chapel fund, and the athletic fund as was originally reported. According to Ted Jones, one of the officers when the organization disbanded, the funds in the treasury were not sufficient to be distributed among more than one fund so the Association officers have decided to put all the remaining money into a fund to help build a children's playground to be constructed west of Campus Courts.

A Right Step

A step in the right direction toward making it possible for Negroes to participate in Kansas State athletics has been made by Blue Key, national honorary fraternity for senior men.

The question of whether Negroes should be allowed to participate in Big Seven athletics has long been a pressing question. Student bodies of Kansas State College, the University of Kansas, the University of Nebraska, the University of Colorado and Iowa State College have all taken a definite stand that Negro athletes be allowed to participate in athletic competition on equal basis with white students. Both the Universities of Missouri and Oklahoma have held firm to their stand that Negroes will not even be allowed on the campus.

But until last week, when Blue Key revealed its intention to aid Negro athletics, nothing more had been done about the matter.

Although Negro athletes have never been barred from athletic competition at Kansas State there never has been one who has made a varsity squad. College athletic officials say that several have tried out for various teams but have never made the grade.

At the present time there are several outstanding Negro athletes in Kansas high schools. Such topnotch competitors as Bill Baker, hard-driving Manhattan fullback; Herb Clark, shifty back and certainly no track slouch from Junction City, and Clarence Jernigan, Wichita East's star sprint man would be a definite asset to Kansas State athletics.

Changes Peacock's Ways —All But Their Voices

By Harold Brown

Research has been so interesting to Loyal F. Payne, head of the College poultry department, that he even carries it into his hobby. His hobby is the raising of peafowl (more commonly known as peacocks). The hobby began in 1939, when Doctor Payne obtained a pair of peafowl from a California breeder. His purpose in starting the hobby was to improve some of the peafowl's characteristics. The normal egg production of a peafowl is from three to seven eggs a year. One of Payne's hens laid 26 eggs in one year. This is thought to be a record production, Doctor Payne said.

The ordinary peafowl is a drab color. By certain operative techniques, Doctor Payne obtained very colorful female birds.

He also tried to eliminate the squawk of the male bird but was unsuccessful. The squawk, which resembles a scream on the inner-sanctum program, is heard during the mating season. The removing of the male organs, which stops crowing in roosters had no effect on the peacock's squawk.

Besides being an ornamental bird, the peafowl is considered a delectable dish for the table, Doctor Payne said.

Grad Is New Agent for Graham County

David B. Rector, Graham county farm home administration supervisor, has accepted the position of Graham county farm agent, effective June 1.

R. W. McBurney, present Graham county agent, has resigned to become manager of the Farmers Union Cooperative, an elevator and locker plant at Quinter, Kan.

Rector was graduated from Kansas State College in 1943. He taught vocational agriculture in the Waterville, Kan., high school.

Amstutz Appointed

Mrs. Joan Amstutz has been appointed home demonstration agent for Washington county, Kan., effective July 1. It was announced today at the College.

Mrs. Amstutz will receive a bachelor's degree in home economics this spring. Before entering college she was active in 4-H clubs in Geary county.

The scholarships that Blue Key will present to some deserving athlete of the colored race will go a long way toward promoting racial tolerance in the Big Seven conference. Blue Key and Kansas State College have taken a long stride toward removing the discrimination blot on the conference record. It remains to be seen whether or not other schools in the league follow this example.

STATE STATUS QUO

By Ramsey Sherwood
Awards, awards! Everybody's getting awards. They're giving them for everything from sweep-out the R. P. office to milk production records on Kanastol XXXIII. Also for chasing rats out of home ec storerooms.

Some chums, however have been left out in the award winning marathon, or if they haven't been left out they've been overlooked. But, don't flip your lids, kids—we've got our own awards. The annual (presented each year) Society for the Promulgation of More School Spirit, Better Blanket Parties, Less Studying, and More Beer awards will try to make everyone happy.

The Oblivion award—for the most obscure contribution to the Collegian this year (So many applicants for this honor that four were given at Slim's last week)—Winners: Flerd Sadister (alias Floyd Sageser, Tom Leathers (alias Tom Leathers), Roger Swanson and Darrel Cowell. These guys lost out in the Memorial award race, but then what's 50 bucks?

Award For Outstanding Contribution to Status Quo column—(This was a tough one to pick since hardly anybody was outstanding)—Winner: Delta Delta Delta, for their vestibule, their vivaciousness their fine personalities (if a gal has a personality, what else counts?) et al.

Most Studious Group on the Campus—Chi Omegas, who are well but spend so many hours in study hall that it's hard to tell. "Can you go out tonight? I'd love to but—study hall." This is a situation, which according to Ivan Smalza, Sam's brother, definitely needs to be revised for next year. The Chi O's are also pretty (they don't need much of a personality).

The Pink Shade Award for Outstanding Contribution to "Liberalism"—Dr. A. Robert Trotter, and Thomas Pendant (no revelation of alias—we can't afford a libel suit). These gents have done much for—er they contributed to—, 'er they've helped—Gad, what have they done?

Order of the Striped Garter—Presented to that gent, who has wowed the ladies—Winner: Dr. S. A. Nook (Good luck at Briarcliff, Bub, we'll miss you). How'd we get the garter you say? Yock, Yock, that'd be telling. Ask Erd-wien.

Mostly Deeply Entrenched award—This goes to the guy who is harder to see than anyone else on the campus. One Joe with an aching back had to see 37 secretaries, 12 nurses, and make four phone calls before getting in. Winner: Dr. S. O. Book.

Tough Luck, but There's Always Next Year award—Lardy Beanie, alias Hardy Berry, who faced, as all politicians must face, his first defeat at the polls. More activities than a fraternity pledge during health week.

I'm Engaged, But What Difference Does That Make award—Jim Clinger, who is seen with more women at more times in more places than almost anyone. A question, "What has this guy got on the ball?"

They're Engaged, They're Lovely, They Can Have Their Choice of Five Men—This award to all those lovelies who have become pinned. (Duch, Henry) or engaged the past year. At the last count 407 gals had been placed in this category. At K-State a girl doesn't even need Ponds. To the losers, better hunting next year.

Most Comfortable Sofa award—Van Zile parlor, where it's spring and the young man's fancy turns all year 'round.

Next Most Comfortable Sofa award—Waltheim hall; they're learning from the Van Zile group.

Only One of Its Kind award—Bill Richards, who hasn't missed much inside the Ivy Walls this year. Besides Betty, he has all the honors from Alpha through Zeta. But as George Shushingwell was saying just the other night, "I'd be satisfied with just Betty."

Royalty and Finery awards—To all queens and attendants at dances, grid clashes, etc. They have proved that K-State has some pretty girls.

To everyone else, have a swell vacation, and thanks. See you in the fall.

Betton to Estes Park

Matt Betton's orchestra was chosen from 15 bands in the Middle West to play for two weeks in Riverside Park, located in Estes Park, Colo., beginning August 18. G. H. Gillen, manager of the park, chose Betton's band after an extended tour of Missouri, Iowa, Nebraska, Oklahoma, Colorado, and Kansas. Gillen listened to 15 bands before choosing Betton.

Final Varsities

Farewell varsities for students will be this week end at the Avalon.

The all-College varsity will be Friday and the all-Greek varsity on Saturday. Matt Betton's orchestra will play both nights starting at 9 o'clock. The Faculty Council on Student Affairs has authorized 1:30 nights for organized houses.

New Transformers

New transformers arrived Tuesday for increasing substation transformer capacity in the Auditorium, R. F. Gingrich, superintendent of building and repair, said yesterday. The old substation will be taken from the Auditorium and moved to Thompson Hall. This will provide sufficient transformer capacity to operate additional electrical equipment in the cafeteria and mess hall, Mr. Gingrich said.

VOX STUDENS

(Editor's note: The opinions presented in this column may or may not express the opinion of The Collegian. The letters are presented here for the student information. In order to conserve space, will writers please limit their letters to no more than 300 words.)

Dear Editor:

Finally some group has taken it upon themselves to press a situation that has long been a sore spot in the Big Seven conference. We are referring to the problem of Negro athletes participating in conference athletic events. Blue Key's announcement that they would provide scholarships for two deserving athletes of that race should go a long way to help foster athletic equality here in the Midwest.

Although Negroes have never actually been barred from competition at the state colleges and universities of Nebraska, Kansas and Iowa, there still hasn't been any Negro actually participating in major sports at these colleges. They weren't barred but they certainly weren't encouraged.

The providing of scholarships by Blue Key should certainly "start the ball rolling" in the conference. It should point the way to other schools in the Big Seven to do something besides register their approval of Negro competition.

Whether or not a young colored athlete would be able to make a varsity team here at Kansas State remains to be seen. But we are certain the coaching staff will give them every possible opportunity to make good. A Negro backfield star named Linwood Sexton was the big gun in Coach Ralph Graham's Wichita University team last year that played him a post-season bowl game.

As it stands now, Missouri and Oklahoma would probably not permit a Negro to play against them on their home fields since they don't even allow them to attend school but when they came to Kansas State they would have to play against them and like it.

Blue Key has pointed the way to greater racial understanding in Big Seven Schools, as well as a possible shot in the arm to Kansas State athletics. We hope their plan succeeds and that they are able to carry it through.

Sincerely,
Ralph C. Arnold.

Shannon Is Ineligible

I am therefore shocked to learn that the Big Seven has ruled otherwise. I think the whole problem should be reconsidered at the earliest possible moment. The new ruling is terribly unfair to G. I.'s. It forces us to break faith with them—a thing an institution of higher learning should never do," said Eisenhower.

At Lawrence, Chancellor Deane W. Malott of the University of Kansas, yesterday protested against "the retroactive and discriminatory rule interpretation." The new ruling is reported to end the gridiron career of Jayhawk stalwarts. Don Fambrough, Tom Scott, Marvin Small, Gene Sherwood, and Red Hogan.

New Room in Kedzie to Be Finished Soon

The new room in the basement of Kedzie should be ready for use by June 20, according to R. F. Gingrich, superintendent of building and repair. Concrete work and the retaining walls have been completed. Plastering of walls, and installation of lighting fixtures and a Celetex ceiling will start soon. Basement windows are being installed on the north and east of Kedzie to allow additional light for the new room. The room will be used by the College printing department.

Some telephone numbers
you ought to know

516,500—It takes this number of men and women to operate the twenty-two Bell Telephone Companies. Each operating company is responsible for furnishing telephone service within its own territory.

26,000—The number of people who are employed in the Long Lines Department of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company. It is their function to provide Long Distance and Overseas service.

131,400—This numbers the employees of the Western Electric Company who manufacture, purchase and distribute equipment and supplies for the entire Bell System.

6,000—That's the number of people in Bell Telephone Laboratories. Through research and development they constantly improve this country's telephone service—already the finest in the world.

2,100—That's the number of people in the American Telephone and Telegraph Company. Through advice and assistance, they coordinate the activities of the entire Bell System.

In all, there are some 682,000 men and women in the Bell System. As this country's communications service is expanded and improved, opportunities will grow still greater. There's a future in telephony.

Prather Sets New Big Seven Record

The Missouri Tigers bore out pre-meet predictions at Lincoln, Nebr., Saturday as they scored 143 points to cop the Big Seven outdoor track and field championship. K-State's Wildcats surprised fans and coaches alike as they piled up 59 points to finish fourth in the team totals.

Rollin Prather, Cat weight star, led a trio of record breakers as he tossed the shot 53 feet, 2-7/8 inches for a new meet standard. Dick Ault and Bud Garliser of Missouri were the other performers who turned in record times in their events. Ault stepped out to a new mark in the 220 yard hurdles. His time of 23.3 seconds clipped a tenth of a second from the old record. Garliser ran the high sticks in 14.2 seconds to eclipse the old standard of 14.5 seconds.

The meet had three dual winners. In addition to his record performance in the shot, Rollin Prather tossed the discus 157 feet 1/2 inch to cop first in that event. It was Prather's best toss of the year in actual competition and set a new K-State varsity record.

Harry McGinnis of Nebraska and Bob Kearnes of Kansas were the other double winners. McGinnis took the 100 and 220-yard dashes while Kearnes won first in the mile and two-mile run.

The team scores were: Missouri, 143; Nebraska, 93; Kansas, 67; K-State, 59; Colorado, 48; Oklahoma, 40; Iowa State, 12.

The meet summaries: Shot put: 1. Rollin Prather, Kansas State, 53 feet 2-7/8 inches (new record of 52 feet 1-1/4 inches set by Bill Bangert, Missouri, in 1945); 2. Edward Quirk, Missouri, 50 feet 11 inches; 3. Dick Piderit, Nebraska, 50 feet 1-5/8 inches; 4. Jim Allen, Colorado, 48 feet 4-5/8 inches; 5. Mel Sheehan, Missouri, 46 feet 3-5/8 inches; 6. Jim McConnell, Nebraska, 45 feet 8-3/8 inches.

120-yard high hurdles: 1. Madill Garliser, Missouri; 2. Robert Blakeley, Missouri; 3. Earl Elliott, Kansas State; 4. Bob Barkshire, Nebraska; 5. William Self, Missouri; 6. Ray Magamen, Nebraska. Time 14.2 seconds (new record—old record of 14.5 seconds set by Bob Hager of Iowa State in 1930).

800-yard run: 1. Dick Shea, Kansas; 2. Charles Lancaster, Missouri;

4. Jim Finley, Oklahoma; 5. Alan Thompson, Nebraska; 6. Chris Steinbach, Iowa State. Time 23.3 seconds (new record—old record of 23.4 seconds set by Heye Lambertus, Nebraska in 1922).

One mile relay: 1. Missouri (Gilbert Phillips, Charles Lancaster, Richard Schmidt, Elmer Klein); 2. Nebraska; 3. Oklahoma; 4. Iowa State; 5. Kansas; 6. Colorado. Time 3 minutes 18.3 seconds.

Pole vault: 1. Warren Bateman, Colorado, 13 feet 7 inches; 2. tie between Don Cooper, Nebraska; Clare Gregg, Colorado; and Bill Carroll, Oklahoma, 13 feet 3-4 inches; 3. tie between Justin Knapp, Missouri; Clarence McKee, Colorado; and C. D. Vandyne, Missouri. Height 12 feet 6 inches.

Discus throw: 1. Rollin Prather, Kansas State, 157 feet 1/2 inch; 2. Mel Sheehan, Missouri, 150 feet 6-1/2 inches; 3. tie between Wayne Sees, Nebraska, and Leroy Robinson, Kansas, 141 feet 7 inches; 4. Harold Briggs, Colorado, 138 feet 3-5/8 inches; 5. Dick Payne, Kansas State, 132 feet 8-1/4 inches.

220-yard low hurdles: 1. Richard Ault, Missouri; 2. Madill Garliser, Missouri; 3. Hobo Gilstrap, Oklahoma;

Big Jack Bell tossed a neat 5 hitter at the Bengals in the Saturday fray but saw the game slip away as his mates gave him poor support. The Wildcat fireballer fanned 11 Tigers and batted out two hits but couldn't win the game by himself.

Gabby Chew was the batting star of the game for the K-Staters. The versatile catcher-outfielder batted in all three of the K-State runs.

K-State pulled a fourth inning squeeze play to score first. With Ted Grimes on third, the Missouri pitcher attempted to walk Chew intentionally. But Gabby stepped across the plate and bunted a wide toss down the first base line while Grimes thundered home with the first score of the contest.

Rain halted the game in the eighth inning but play was resumed after a short delay.

Jayhawk Game Stopped by Rain

The scheduled baseball game with the Kansas Jayhawks at Lawrence Monday was postponed after KU officials telephoned that the diamond was too wet for play. K-State athletic officials said they didn't know whether the teams would meet in today's scheduled game or not.

If today's game is played, coach Laid Fiser said he expects to start Duane Holder on the mound. In case Holder is unable to go, Bill Grimes, Jack Bell, or Al Sheriff will probably see duty.

Injuries have hit the Wildcats in the last days of the season. Jack Dean has turned in his toes after an attack of appendicitis. Catcher Clint Davis is in the hospital with a pulled leg muscle.

The two games with K. U. were the final contests of the season for the Wildcats. The K-Staters are currently in third place in the conference while Kansas is resting peacefully on the bottom.

Howey Ends Sparkling College Sports Career

By Joseph P. Henderson, Jr.
When the final whistle blew in Madison Square Garden ending the K-State-Holy Cross basketball game, it brought to a close the College career of Harold Howey, flashy Wildcat forward. The 24-year-old star has announced that he will graduate at the end of summer school, thus ending rumors that he might return for another year of basketball.

"I only need seven hours to graduate," the curly-headed speedster said, "and I don't believe it would pay in the long run for me to return next year." This year saw the realization of a life-long ambition—that was to win the play-off game and go into an NCAA basketball tournament. "I think that winning that play-off game with Oklahoma A. and M. was probably my greatest thrill since I began playing basketball," he said.

Howey named the championship game of the Big Seven pre-season tournament in Kansas City as his best game of the year. In that game he scored 18 points to lead the Purple and White team to a 50-43 victory over Oklahoma A. and M. He pointed to the Nebraska game of last year when he scored 27 points as his best college game at K-State. This scoring effort came within two points of tying the record for most points scored in one game held by Dave Weatherby and Frank Grove.

Hal came to Kansas State from Iowa Junior College where he was top conference scorer in both basketball and football, and was named all-state half-back both years he was there. His first contact with K-State came when he played at Olathe Naval Base under Coach Jack Gardner. After talking with Gardner, Howey was convinced that K-State was the place for him. Words were also being whispered in his ear by Coach "Phog" Allen of Kansas U. "I've never regretted my decision to come here instead of K. U.," he said, "especially after this last year when we trimmed the Jayhawks three times."

When asked how he got his start in basketball, Howey said it just came natural to him. "When I was in the 6th grade, they stuck a basketball in my hands and said to throw it through the hoop, and that's about all there was to it."

Hal has been active in intramurals, playing for Sigma Phi Epsilon, social fraternity, which won the Greek intramural championship this year. He played touch-football and won the pole-vault for the second consecutive year at the intramural track meet. He pitched on the Sig Ep softball team, all-school champions, and hit two home-runs in the championship game to win it for the Greeks.

Besides football and basketball, Hal played baseball before injuring his elbow last year. He played three years of Ban Johnson ball with Iola and Parsons. While in the Navy he played with Olathe and New Orleans. He plays in the outfield and batted close to .400 for his three years of Ban Johnson ball. "I like all sports,"

Two Milers

An added attraction at next year's K-State-Kansas football clash on A-hearn Field will be the running of the Big Seven two-mile championship race. The race was awarded to K-State at the recent meeting of the Big Seven commissioners in Lincoln, Nebr.

he said, "everything from football to ping-pong and swimming."

Concerning the future, Howey says he is undecided. "I would like to coach in some good high school if I could get the right kind of an offer. I may play AAU or professional basketball, depending on how things go. I haven't made any definite contacts yet, since I just decided to graduate this summer."

AT STATE

Can there be any chocolates or red roses left in Manhattan stores? From the looks of all the announcements today anyone contemplating had better make a check. This last minute before finals has brought the most surprises of any week-end this semester.

Now as the end nears it means the starting of vacations for a few, back to work for some, summer school for others and a farewell to seniors.

Mildred Hall, home economics senior, announced August 8 as the date of her marriage to Duane Babcock, with roses at the Chi Omega house.

New president of Alpha Tau Omega is J. B. Wohlberg. Other officers are Kenneth Bell, chaplain; Kent Slyhoff, secretary; Bill Asher, treasurer; historian, George Holloway; Dick Krizman, rush chairman; Alton Wilson, usher.

Cigars came to the Chi Omega house when Gordon Burns, house boy, announced his approaching marriage. Gordon, mechanical engineering junior from Pomona, will be married June 1 to Betty Poston of Quenemo who graduates from Stormont nursing school this year.

Virginia Schmidt was named the outstanding Kappa Delta of the year. She was presented a gold crested picture frame.

The sword and shield of Phi Delta is now attached to her Chi O pin. The wearer—Joan Howell. The guy—Don Gray. Jean is a sophomore in medical technology from Ottawa. Don is from Kansas City and a junior in mechanical engineering.

Surprise chocolates were passed at the Phi Phi house Sunday when Nancy Schoonover from Topeka announced her engagement to Kay Cleavinger, Beta Theta Pi from Manhattan. Kay passed cigars to the Beta and after dinner they arrived at the Phi Phi house for a smooch line.

Senior girls, Marjorie Bunge and Dorothy McGeorge, were honored at a breakfast Sunday at Clark's Gables.

Following the breakfast Marjorie Bunge and Aubrey Bostwick passed roses telling of her September 5 wedding date. Marjorie is from Davenport and Aubrey is from Hort.

Gifts were presented the graduating seniors and three summer brides. Thelma Stadel, Laverna Lenhart and Marjorie.

Surprise event of the year at the Chi O and Phi Delta houses was the announcement of the February 13 marriage of Joan Dykeman and John Fuller. Tinkle is from Wellington and John is from Winfield.

Chocolates at Waltham Sunday announced the engagement of Iris Rahn of Arkansas City to Walter David from Winfield. Iris is a junior in home economics and Walter is a freshman in electrical engineering.

Dinner guests at Waltham for the occasion were Don Kiper, Gerald Reece and Harvey Arand.

June 6 is the wedding date of Kathy Lowell, Chi Omega, to F. M. O. C. Al Langston, Sig Ep. They will be married at the Methodist Church in Concordia.

Another wearer of Clovia's pledge ribbons is Marjorie Cornelius of Westmoreland.

Roses again for Alpha Delta Pi's. The announcement told of the August 8 wedding date of Mary Ann Burgwin and Frank Eaton, Sig Alpha. They are both from Manhattan.

Coads from Skywood Hall attended church as a group Sunday morning. Mrs. Nell Swanson, their housemother, and Mr. Swanson, were their dinner guests at the Wareham after church.

East Stadium spent a busy week. Jacques Glaze announced her engagement to Paul Williamson Wednesday evening with the traditional sweets. She is a sophomore in physical education from Larned. Paul, a freshman in civil engineering, is from Walnut.

On Friday Dorothea Young from Kansas City, Mo., announced her engagement to John E. Winters from Manhattan. Dorothea is a sophomore in home economics, John was a grad student but now is working at the Omar Mills in Nebraska.

Doris Downing presented the Stadium with roses announcing of her August marriage to Jim Chenoweth. Doris, a sophomore in home economics is from Bird City. Jim is a junior in ag and is from Grinnell.

Chocolates were the treats at the Kappa house Sunday when Phyllis Badger of Kansas City announced her engagement to Dave Eckleman of Wichita. Dave surprised his Sig Alpha brothers with cigars followed by a smooch line. Phyllis was graduated last spring from K-State.

Roses climaxed the dinner at the Kappa spring party Friday night revealing the August 18 wedding date of Mary Lou Ford and Glenn Utt, Beta. Mary Lou is from Marysville and Glen is from Neodesha.

Roses at Van Zile Hall Friday announced the approaching marriage on June 8 of Betty Engle and Marvin Poland, both of Chapman. Betty was graduated in '46 and has been teaching at Linn.

Hi kids Well, it's here at last—the end of school This week finds the seniors loafing and playing around, because their finals are all over To these lucky individuals, we would like to extend our heartfelt congratulations and wish them a lot of luck. But oh—these poor underclassmen. These last few days are going to be pretty hard! ... I want to thank all of you from the bottom of my heart for making this column a success. I have had a lot of fun writing it, but that was just a part of the fun of working at the Campus Book Store. I certainly hope I didn't rub anybody the wrong way, but gee, without you I wouldn't have anybody to write about! I realize I can't make everybody happy, but at any rate, I hope we are still friends! ... We, at the book store, would also like to thank you for your patronage throughout the year. We have tried to please you in every way, and sincerely hope that you have enjoyed the friendly atmosphere of our store. We shall be looking forward to next year and hope we'll see you again then ... Our big store picnic is to be this Sunday. We're going out to Lake Wabauunsee, and big plans are made. That is swimming, boating, eating, fishing—this could go on for hours! This will be our first big event of the summer, so it will really start off with a bang! For some of us, it will be a farewell party. Betty Bicknell and Jane Scott are graduating, and Ruthetta Maxwell won't be back. As for me—looks as if I'm here to stay! At any rate, I'll be back next year. One thing about college is that you make so many nice friends, and when it's over they go in all directions. Oh well, guess that is what makes the world go 'round! I find it a lot of fun to sit in the canteen these last few days and listen to everybody tell of their interesting plans for the summer. Some of them sound awfully exciting, and there seems to be a great deal of traveling planned. Yours truly is going to Canada, and I don't think that will be very hard to take! Then there are those who plan to attend summer school. It gets pretty hot, kids, but it's a lot of fun. I know, 'cause I went last summer. After class that old swimming hole looks mighty good! The Campus Book Store will be open all summer, too, so don't forget to come in to see us ... Well, enough of this chatter. I leave you now in peace! I hope you all have a real wonderful summer, and I'll see you again next fall. Till then—Farewell.

Dykstra Quizzed on Enrollment in V. Med School

By O. O. VIEUX
At the request of many pre-veterinary students, The Collegian recently assigned a reporter to interview Dr. R. R. Dykstra, dean of the School of Veterinary Medicine, concerning the number of students admitted to the school each semester.

After a lengthy interview with the dean, the only conclusion definitely reached was that the policy of limiting enrollees in the school will be continued.

The dean was asked the number of applications received this semester for admittance to the school.

"At present, there are 157 applications. Of this number, 60 will be admitted," Dykstra replied.

Q—How many students can be accommodated with the facilities now present?

A—We have facilities for 60 students per semester. Actually, we only have lab room for 30, so we must conduct two laboratory sections.

Q—What has been done to enlarge the veterinary school so that more students could be admitted?

No Comment
Dean Dykstra declined to comment on this question.

Q—Will the 97 applicants who will not be admitted this semester have any preference over new students when the next group is chosen?

A—No, we wipe the slate clean for each new enrollment.

Q—Then some of the students might as well give up and go home?

I wouldn't recommend that anyone stop his education. They can transfer to some other curriculum. I have talked to many students who have failed to be admitted to the school and have enrolled in animal husbandry or some other curriculum, and they have told me that they are just as happy.

Q—What reasons do you give for the large number of students wanting to become veterinarians?

A—Several factors. Probably the biggest reason is the high price of cattle and the desire of stockmen to have each individual animal receive medical attention. The result—good profitable returns for veterinarians.

No Night Class
Q—What are the possibilities of holding night classes to enable more students to take veterinary medicine?

A—This is impossible. Where would we get clinical material? The farmers aren't going to bring their animals to the hospital at night.

At this point, Dean Dykstra expressed the opinion that it would be extremely embarrassing to the school to have the fact publicized that so many students were unable to get in the vet school.

Q—Isn't it just as embarrassing for a large number of students to still be listed as freshmen after completing four, six or even more semesters of college work because they were hanging on, hoping to be admitted to the vet school?

A—I know of no students who have taken that many semesters work to get in the school. They would have enough hours to obtain a degree in some other curriculum.

[A check of the official school records show that several students have been enrolled in the pre-veterinarian curriculum for as many as six semesters.]

Limited Since '38
Q—How long has the Veterinary School been on a limitation basis?

A—Since 1936. Until four years ago we were able to handle all qualified Kansas applicants. The policy of limiting enrollment is practiced in all medical schools, as well as other veterinary schools throughout the nation.

After this question, Dean Dykstra looked at his watch and said he hoped he had answered all the questions because he had another appointment. The interview was ended.

Pool Opens Monday

EMIL MILLER, K-State's grounds keeper, prepares to line the track with lime. Miller has held the position for 20 years.—Photo by Walter Warren.

K-State Grounds Keeper Cares for Sports Plant

By Dale Wiseman

Maybe he doesn't have an office in Nichols gym or get his name and pictures printed in the basketball and football programs, but Emil Miller can probably give you more inside dope on Kansas State athletics and the athletic plant consisting of stadium, gym, tennis courts, etc., than any other man on the campus. Miller's official title is Grounds Keeper II.

Emil is the short-stocky guy usually seen in blue overalls and denim cap who has the responsibility of getting the seats erected at basketball games, keeping the track smooth for track meets and practice sessions and also to see that some grass grows on Ahearn Field.

The friendly groundskeeper was farming when World War I broke out. He enlisted and spent nearly two years in the service. After being discharged he worked first for the Chevrolet Company and then the Illinois Iron and Bolt Company. Emil returned to Manhattan in 1923 under a year's leave of absence from the Illinois company when his father-in-law, then Grounds Keeper I at KSC, became ill. Emil liked his father-in-law's job so well that he has been here ever since.

Emil smiles when discussing his pet peeves and shrugs them off with, "I guess they aren't so bad, everyone has a few." Probably his chief ones are when he sees people walking on the football field when it is wet or students who play on wet clay tennis courts with street shoes. Also working overtime without pay doesn't make him too happy but he imagines that is what comes for working under civil service.

Who's Whoot Is Ready for Annual Round-up

The 1948 Who's Whoot, Kansas 4-H Club yearbook, is off the press and ready for distribution at the annual 4-H Club Roundup and through county agricultural agents. Virginia Grandfield, announced today.

This year's book, the 21st to be published, carries programs of clubs in 91 counties of the state. Also shown in 216 pages are pictures of the state 4-H camp at Rock Springs Ranch near Junction City, Rural Life organizations throughout the state and activities of the Collegiate 4-H Club.

The book has grown from 40 pages in 1927 to its present size, according to Miss Grandfield.

At the end of 1947 the total obligation owed by the state of Kansas in benefit district funds was $10,229,000; with the State Highway Commission required by statute to retire this debt at the rate of one million dollars a year.

When Kansas State won its first, and only, football title in 1934, there probably wasn't a more tickled man in Manhattan than Emil Miller. "I guess I'll never forget that. I sure wish it would hurry up and happen again," he remarked with a smile.

Other highlights in his long career here at the College are when he was told Kansas State was finally going to get a fieldhouse and when this year's basketball team won at Kansas City so many times.

In 1938 the stadium gang, composed of athletes helping to earn their way through school by working at various jobs around the athletic department, presented him with an engraved cigarette lighter and case as a "gift from the boys."

During his 20 years as ground keeper, Emil has seen seven football coaches come and go. He rates A. N. "Bo" McMillan as tops in his book because he was so easy to work for, so considerate and fair to everyone. Emil considers K-State's present football coach, Ralph Graham, one of the best athletes he has known.

Although work around the stadium keeps him busy, Emil still finds time for his favorite hobby, fishing. Not too long ago he came back from a fishing expedition with a seven-pound blue catfish.

Emil considers his associations with the athletes working on his stadium gang one of the most pleasant parts of his job. "There have been a lot of good boys pass through the athletics department since I have been here and I expect to see a lot more like them," he remarked.

Langer to Represent KSC at Hillel Meet

Herbert Langer has been elected to represent the Kansas State chapter of Hillel Foundation, Jewish counselorship, at a national convention in New York August 31 to September 8.

New officers for Hillel are Jerry Auerbach, president; Bill Fiden, vice-president; Barbara Auerbach, secretary and Herbert Langer, treasurer. Tobias Schwartzberg has been named editor of the newspaper, the Announcer, published monthly by Hillel and circulated throughout the United States.

King to RFD Post

Allen D. King has been appointed a rural mail carrier in Riley County. King is a sophomore in mechanical engineering at the College. He will complete his second year of college before reporting for duty June 1.

Kansas has 129,000 miles of rural roads, the second largest total of any state.

Speakers Named

Two speakers have been announced for the ninth annual state assembly of the Kansas Home Demonstration Council at Kansas State College June 8 to 11. They are Edward D. Greenwood, Topeka, and Mrs. T. Allen Beck, Denver.

Greenwood is chairman of the Kansas Medical Society committee on mental hygiene. He will discuss the need for improved care of the mentally ill in Kansas. Mrs. Beck will speak on ways the UN affects Kansans.

Round-up Starts Here Next Week

More than 1,200 Kansas 4-H boys and girls have registered for the Annual 4-H Roundup at the College, June 1-5. Every county in the state will be represented at the Roundup.

The number of 4-H members now registered is the maximum number that College housing can handle, according to Glenn Busset, assistant state 4-H club leader. Girls, their leaders, and home demonstration agents will be housed in Moro Courts. Boys, their leaders, and county agents will stay at the stadium and Nichols Gym.

The Roundup will begin Tuesday evening, when the annual group picture will be taken east of Anderson Hall.

The entire group will go to Rock Springs, the state 4-H camp, Thursday for an afternoon program and evening meal. Governor Frank Carlson will speak at the annual banquet on Friday evening.

Plays, musical games, demonstrations, promotional talks and musical numbers will be given by some of the individual 4-H clubs. County clubs which will entertain at the Roundup include Comanche County, band; Greeley County, musical game; Edwards County, chorus and instrument ensemble; Shawnee County, chorus and instrument ensemble; Riley County, vocal ensemble; Franklin County, vocal ensemble; Decatur County, vocal ensemble; Johnson County, demonstration; Miami County, demonstration; and Thomas County, play.

Seven Are Initiated into Sigma Delta Chi

Seven men students of journalism were initiated into Sigma Delta Chi, national professional journalism fraternity, Wednesday night.

Membership is limited to outstanding students who plan to be professional journalists.

The initiates are Max McRae, Neil Erdwin, Edgar J. Engleken, Jim Orton, Wayne Turner, William V. Krause and Earl Nieberger. One more student, Paul Gwin, will be initiated this week.

SHEPHERD OF THE ISLES

English Farm Lad Journeys to Kansas; Wins Wide Acclaim as College Shepherd

Darrell Cowell
Thirty seven years ago, at the age of 18, a shepherd strayed away from his sheep. This one strayed clear across the Atlantic ocean to a hard looking land covered with snow and swept with cold winds.

A long ride from New York, in a cattle-car, took him to the Middle West. As he traveled westward, the land looked better and the snow ceased. The shepherd again found a flock as the Shepherd of Kansas State College.

Tom Dean, the shepherd, was born at Barlestone, Leicestershire, England. His early manhood was spent in the middle section of England, which is famous for its good horses and sheep. From the time he was a boy until he reached manhood, he devoted his time to Shire draft horses and Shropshire sheep in England.

American importers were busy buying great numbers of English livestock. Among the largest horse importers at the time was the firm of Watson, Woods Brothers and Kelly, of Lincoln, Neb. Tom Dean watched their activity with a great deal of interest, and like most other young men of that time longed for a trip to America. His opportunity came in February, 1911, when one of the partners employed him to bring 40 head of Shire, Percheron and Belgian horses to America.

Tom worked with the firm at Lincoln for nearly seven years,

Agronomy Field Days Announced

Agronomy field days sponsored by the Kansas State Agricultural Experiment Station are being staged in all parts of the state. The program will end June 22. The Extension division of the college will cooperate in the program, sending representatives to appear at the meetings with experiment station men.

The field days will be to study work with small grains, emphasizing wheat, barley and oats in the western part of the state. Different varieties and cultural practices will be exhibited and variety tests examined in the field.

In eastern and central Kansas demonstrations of variety will be supplemented with studies of use of commercial fertilizers, principally phosphate and nitrogen. Legume tests of alfalfa and sweet clover will be observed.

Inspection of ground plots at the various stations and demonstration fields, together with talks at the plots, will be the main program. Farmers and other interested parties will have the opportunity to study experimental work as it is carried on in the field.

The tours began Tuesday with inspection of the Wichita experimental field and conclude with a meeting at the Belleville field June 22.

Six in Hospital

Six students, five men and a woman, were in the Student Hospital yesterday. They were Ruby Jo Morgan, Carroll McNay, James Tomlin, Lewis Hayes, Harry Elvin and Carl Schwaeder.

TOM DEAN, the shepherd of Kansas State College, exhibits one of his prize-winning sheep. Dean manages five separate and distinct breeds of sheep for the College.

during which time he delivered horses to all parts of the United States. He also fitted and showed horses at numerous fairs and shows. In October, 1917, Tom enlisted in the army. He got his chance to return to England when serving with the 89th Division in Europe.

Returning to the U. S. in 1919, the shepherd took a position with another breeding and exporting firm, this time in Illinois. It was after the close of the International Livestock Exhibition of 1919, in Chicago, that he decided to come to Kansas State College as Shepherd—the position he still holds.

Tom became interested in Kansas State through Prof. Harold Muggleston, then superintendent of the poultry farm and a former acquaintance in England.

Stock Wins Awards
Sheep produced at Kansas State under the feeding and care of Tom Dean (and some later purchased and shown by others) have won championships included in these shows have and first prizes at many shows. been the International, American Royal, Southwestern Exposition and Stock Show, Canadian National Exposition, and the National Western Livestock Show at Denver, Colo.

Not only has the shepherd been an outstanding success in the show business, but he is also distinguished in the less conspicuous role of manager of all flocks at the College. Keeping

R. P. Deadline

The last shipment of the Royal Purple, College yearbook, arrived yesterday. Copies are now available for all students. Those who paid the activity fee during both semesters this year are entitled to the annual at no further charge.

Virginia Gingrich, editor of the book, warned yesterday that copies should be claimed before noon Saturday. She said that if students fail to pick up their books and desire their copies mailed later, there will be an extra charge for wrapping and postage.

Students to Work as County Agents

Some 16 students will work as junior assistants to county agricultural agents or to home demonstration agents this summer. Leonard Neff, district supervisor of extension service, announced here today.

Women students who will work under home demonstration agents are Iris Rahn, Mary Cook, Betty Warren, Enid Karswatter, Vada Walston and Dalena Currier.

Ten men will be assistants to county agents. They include Charles Armstrong, Keith Bailey, Darwin Householder, Donald Lloyd, Glen Nichols, Frank Overly.

Emmett Scott, Keith Tuggle, LeRoy Vineyard and Charles Whitney.

The training is for students who plan to do extension work following graduation from the College.

Last Collegian

This is the last issue of the Collegian until June 9. It will be published every Wednesday during the summer term.

Commencement Speaker Will Be Doctor Hornung

The largest graduating class in Kansas State history will receive degrees in the eighty-fifth annual commencement exercises Sunday 8 p. m. in Memorial Stadium.

Dr. J. Henry Hornung, Wichita, will address the 650 graduates on "The State of the World." He is minister of the Congregational-Christian church in Wichita. Dr. Hornung has given commencement and baccalaureate addresses at scores of Kansas high schools and at Wichita and Washburn universities; Doane College, Crete, Neb.; and at Kansas State College.

Receiving an honorary doctor of laws degree from the college is the recently-named Chancellor of Denver University, James P. Price. He is the son of Prof. and Mrs. Ralph R. Price of Manhattan. Professor Price has been with the Kansas State history department 45 years.

The Chancellor was president of Kansas State Teachers College at Emporia from 1943 to 1945. He had previously been dean of the law school at Wash-

Ramsey has been nominated to the United States Senate by President Truman for a direct commission in the Regular Army. He was senior cadet officer of the cadet corps at K-State this year.

Awards, presented at the ceremonies, to outstanding military students will include two medals from the Kansas Society of the Sons of the American Revolution, a medal from the Coast Artillery Association and several others, not yet designated.

The reserve commissions will be presented by President Milton S. Eisenhower. Principal speaker will be Maj. Gen. John T. Lewis, Fort Riley.

Students who will receive the reserve commissions include:

Artillery—James Morgan, Duane Nelson, William Nicholson, Robert Palmer Robert Pettit, Morris W. Werner, Richard Winger, and Peterson and Shields.

Danny Ryan, Glen W. Scanlan, William Shafer, Lester Shriver, Philip Stallard, Benton Starks, Maurice Thorne, Charles Thornton, Glenn Utt Jr., Robert Woodson and Robert Yates.

Meals for Round-up Present Big Problems

"Preparing meals for 1,200 4-H members here at the annual Roundup next week will be a lot of work," said Mrs. Bessie B. West, Cafeteria manager, in an appeal for help yesterday.

Help is needed badly in the cafeteria next week, she said, especially boys to help with lifting heavy trays, large amounts of food and heavy cooking utensils.

Any high school or college student wishing to work next week should see Miss Merna Miller at the cafeteria, according to Mrs. West.

Soph to Represent 4-H Club Overseas

Armin Samuelson, a sophomore at the College has been chosen to go to England and Sweden as a representative of Kansas 4-H Clubs in the International Farm Youth Exchange project for 1948.

Samuelson is one of 18 representing state 4-H clubs in the exchange. The champion 4-H dairy judging team, an adult 4-H leader and an extension dairy specialist will complete the youth delegation.

They will sail from New York June 17 and return after October 1.

Dr. J. Henry Hornung, Wichita University, Topeka, graduated from Kansas State in 1927, he also holds two degrees from Stanford University, Palo Alto, Calif.

The College Concert Band will open the exercises with the "Festival March" conducted by Jean Hedlund. The Rev. C. T. Brewster of the First Congregational Church, Manhattan will give the invocation.

Greetings from the Board of Regents will be given by Willis N. Kelly. The commencement address will follow congratulations from the Honorable Frank Carlson, Governor of Kansas.

Kenney L. Ford, alumni secretary, will introduce visiting members of the classes of 1883, 1888, 1898, 1903 and 1908. Invitations have been sent to alumni now living in all parts of the country.

Degrees will be conferred by President Milton S. Eisenhower. The benediction by the Rev. Brewster will end the exercises.

Summer Sports Program Planned

Recreational activities planned for the summer season at Kansas State College indicate it's to be "all play and no work" here this summer.

Planned activities go from badminton to free movies in Memorial stadium. They include baseball, softball, swimming, picnics, tennis, dances and parties.

A summer school play, a band concert and other musical activities are on the agenda—even recreational reading!

Kids of softball hats and balls and horseshoes will be available for groups to take on picnics, according to present plans.

Intramurals will be offered in nearly any sport—summer school students request.

Then there's a catalog listing college courses one may study.

Need Caps, Gowns

Any faculty member who has an available cap and gown should notify the Alumni Office immediately, said Kenney L. Ford, alumni secretary. Nine reservations came in after the gowns were ordered.

Sixty-six members of the classes of '83, '88, '93, '98, '03, and '08 are returning for the alumni day activities, and will wear commencement robes. These graduates of 40 years or more will march in the Academic Procession and will be introduced at the Commencement Exercises.

Our Swan Song

Once again the end of another semester rolls around. Summer vacation is almost here. Already the campus is beginning to look a little bare and deserted. Those of us who are still here are preparing to take those late finals or perhaps we are doing a little celebrating now that it is over for a while or we are eagerly discussing our plans for the summer.

With mingling feelings of regret and relief, we of The Collegian staff put the paper "to bed" last night. For some of us it was the last time that we would be actively associated with The Collegian, for others it means merely a short vacation.

We have enjoyed making this paper possible for the 18 short weeks that it has been our responsibility. We have tried to make it a paper that you, the student body and faculty as well as ourselves, would be proud of. We hope we have done this.

Yes, we've made mistakes, plenty of them but we have always tried to correct them as soon as possible when they were called to our attention. If they weren't corrected, it was because we didn't realize we had made them.

The success of any college paper depends on the cooperation given it by every student and every faculty member on the campus. And to you students and faculty we say "thanks". You have helped us out more than you realize. Of course a few of you have been "on our backs" but your criticism was nearly all constructive, and the pats on the back you gave us more than over-balanced the gripes.

To the members of the journalism faculty and help have been invaluable in helping us put out The Collegian twice a week.

So now as we close our desk top down in our little office in the west end of Kedzie we can think of little more to say except it's been a pleasure making The Collegian possible each week—thanks a lot for everything and we'll see you next semester. —FES.

OUTSIDE the Ivy WALL

President Truman will leave Washington Thursday on a cross-country speaking tour, the White House has announced. He will speak in five large cities and several others. The subjects of his addresses probably will include American foreign policy, defense, displaced persons and public power. He will return to Washington June 16.

Prospects for economic recovery in Japan have been improved by American aid, the Japanese Economic Stabilization Board reported recently. Inflation has subsided to a certain extent and more food is available. Much hard work is necessary, however, to improve living conditions.

Charles F. Brannan has been named to succeed Clinton P. Anderson as Secretary of Agriculture. Anderson resigned May 10 to become a candidate for the U. S. Senate in New Mexico. Brannan said that, if his nomination is confirmed by the Senate, he will carry out Anderson's policies.

General Motors granted a 11-cent an hour wage increase to its 225,000 workers. A strike had been set for today. The increased pay-rate will cost G. M. an estimated $75,000,000 a year, and will bring the workers' average wage to $1.61 an hour. Later wage scales will be adjusted to the cost of living.

Twenty railroad unions have asked the federal government to take steps toward assuming complete ownership of the rail industry. The unions charged the management with failures to serve the public properly. The railroads are temporarily under government operation, legalized to avert a strike of engineers, firemen and switchmen.

Russia's 25th veto was used recently in the United Nations. The veto prevented adoption of a Chilean proposal for an investigation of the communist coup in Czechoslovakia. Chile asked the council to investigate Russia's influence in the communist seizure of the government in France.

Living costs hit a new high in April, according to the Bureau of Labor Statistics and a Federal Reserve Board statement. Inflation will increase even more during the last half of the year, with increases in prices. The April increase more than offset the price drop in January. Government spending, as for the new defense program, and expanding bank credit are expected to carry inflation to new heights.

Negotiations have ceased after two years of attempting to write a peace treaty for Austria. Yugoslavia has demanded 800 square miles of Austrian territory. The United States has insisted that Austrian borders remain as they were in 1938, and that Austria pay no reparations.

Letters to the Editor

VOX STUDENS

(Editor's note: The opinions presented in this column may or may not express the opinion of The Collegian. The letters are presented here for student information.)

Dear Editor:

Your feature in last week's Collegian, "Want to Beat the Housing Shortage? Enroll in Home Management Course," may sound good to some, but how about the man with a wife in school? Don't take my word for it; ask the man who owns one. Of course it would be all right if you had $120 a month to spend on rent, but the majority of the married students only receive $105 which must be spent for a bite to eat now and then as well as rent.

There can be no doubt in anyone's mind about the value of this training for "Home-Owners," but it looks like some allowance could be made for married students who enrolled in Home Economics not knowing about it.

For instance, one couple I know have only the alternatives to change schools, quit school, or rob a bank. This same couple pays in the neighborhood of $45 per month rent. Their government check won't go far when they pay $60 a month for her Home Management fee, $45 for rent and an additional $50 for his food bill.

Of course, it isn't exactly necessary for a girl to enroll in the Home Management course except that it is nearly impossible to get signatures on your application for a job when you graduate.

Sincerely,

Jack L. Waddell

On Other Campuses

By V. L. NICHOLSON

University of Kansas archeology students are going on an eight-day trip this summer to dig for Indian remains. They have several things over there they can give back to them while they're at it.

Iowa State College apparently isn't too confident about the young men and women it is sending out into the world. The student daily has advised them that no matter how badly they are treated in the outside world they are always welcome back in the Student Union.

A group of sorority girls at the University of Indiana were giving their house a spring-cleaning when they discovered that the trellis on the rear of the house was broken down. Somebody probably mistook it for the ladder to success.

Students of astronomy at Oregon State College are spending the last couple of weeks of school sitting on the roof and looking at stars through telescopes. Probably trying to receive a message about finals.

The rumor is that Missouri is responsible for the new Big Seven eligibility ruling. The "Show Me" boys have apparently been shown enough by the boys from those big Kansas schools.

Bibler, the University of Kansas cartoonist, is one of the most popular on campuses throughout the country. His cartoons are now appearing in the University of Texas and Oregon State student newspapers. He is the only syndicated college cartoonist in the country.

No sooner had spring thrown her hat in the ring than student politicians around the country began jumping on it and harrying the passers-by. Up Iowa way the student paper has asked office-seekers to provide voters with a "solid platform." Seems a few planks have fallen out of the old ones and the politicians have proved themselves unable to stand on their own two feet.

Memorial Established in K-State Chapel

A choir stall and front will be established in the Memorial Chapel in memory of four members of the Tudor Charles family, according to Kenny L. Ford, alumni secretary.

The memorial will be for Mr. and Mrs. Tudor Charles and their daughter, Ethel, and son, Tudor, Jr.

It is being established by William Charles, Alexandria, Va.; Francis Eugene Charles, Moline, Ill.; Donald Charles, Republic, Mo.; and Mrs. Esther Wright, Westmoreland, sons and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tudor Charles.

'Youth for Christ' Head to Speak Here Sunday

Speaking in Manhattan Sunday will be Dr. Torrey M. Johnson of Chicago, Ill., president of "Youth for Christ" International. He will give an address at the College Baptist Church for morning and evening services.

Dr. Johnson became president of the organization in October, 1945. Since that time, he has traveled in 14 foreign countries in behalf of Youth for Christ with two trips to Europe. He is a graduate of Wheaton College, Wheaton, Ill., Northwestern Baptist Seminary, Chicago, and holds honorary doctorate degrees from Wheaton College and Bob Jones University.

Dr. Johnson is coming to Manhattan following a speaking tour of the west coast.

The Kansas State Highway system totals 2,905 bridges and 9,383 miles made up of 1,357 miles of pavement, 5,406 miles of asphaltic oil, 2,201 miles of gravel and stone and 419 miles of earthen road.

Plans Outlined for Vets Going Abroad

The veterans administration has outlined the procedures to be followed by veterans now in college who wish to study abroad during the summer months, according to Orval Ebberts, College veterans service officer.

Veterans must first get a letter of acceptance from the VA along with a supplemental certificate of eligibility from the VA regional office.

The letter of acceptance and supplemental certificate must then be presented to the State Department to obtain passports and visas. Veterans must pay their own transportation costs.

The veterans administration strongly recommends that foreign study be in a country in which the VA has an Attaché for Veterans Affairs. These include Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Belgium, Britain, Mexico, France, Switzerland and Italy.

Photocopying of books is gaining popularity in many libraries because the magnifying instrument is needed.

Church Calendar

By JIM VYCITAL

Because most of the students are going home this weekend most of the church activities have been slowed down to a stop. However most of the churches will continue their activities after the summer school gets started. Picnics and outdoor meetings will frequent the schedule this summer.

Methodist Church

"Standing in the Need of Prayer" will be the theme of the Church School Sunday at 9:40 a. m. at the church. The Peace-makers' Class (for young married couples) will meet at Memorial Temple at 9:45 a. m. There will be no special morning worship service at the Sosna Theater this week. The morning worship service at the church is at 10:55 a. m. There will be no Student Forum this week.

The Saturday Niter, and the Student Forum will be continued during the summer school.

Y Groups to Estes Via Chartered Bus

A chartered bus will take students from Kansas State College to the annual Rocky Mountain Area camp in Estes Park, Colo., in June if 40 or more YMCA and YWCA students make the trip. Bill West executive secretary of the YM has announced. Delegates from midwest college Y's go to Estes each spring for a ten-day conference stressing fellowship, religion, leadership and education.

Jacobs is Prexy of Ag. Ed. Club

Clinton Jacobs was elected president of the Ag Education Club for the fall semester.

Other officers elected include Robert Whitaker, vice president; Evan West, parliamentarian; Oliver Russ, secretary; Jack McClaskoy, treasurer; Gerald Lawrence, reporter; and Duane McCune, sentinel.

The Michigan State News, student daily, has come up with a substitute for midterm exams. The editors suggest a week's vacation, during which the student could "re-gird his loins in preparation for his next headlong plunge into studies." This may be just what K-State needs. We have old loins which may not stand another headlong plunge without some re-girding.

Campus Courts

By Jack Waddell

Mr. and Mrs. Benton Starkes, Trailer No. 66, will be in Eldon, Mo., over the weekend. They plan to visit Mr. Stark's relatives.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Goodman, trailer 101, are Mr. and Mrs. Paul Dudley, recently returned from Mexico.

Mr. Dudley, a Kansas State graduate and a former Campus Courts resident, has been employed by the U. S. Bureau of Animal Industry in Mexico, combating the hoof and mouth disease there.

The Dudleys made their home in Mexico City and Guadalajara while in Mexico. They do not plan to return to Mexico.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Goodman, trailer 101, are Mr. and Mrs. Paul Dudley who have returned recently from Mexico. Mr. Dudley, a former Campus Courts last fall. He has been in Mexico since he graduated, combating the hoof and mouth disease with the U. S. Bureau of Animal Industry. They made their home in Mexico City and Guadalajara.

Howard Rix, trailer 81, plans to return home this week and from Dover, New Hampshire, where he attended the funeral of his father. Mr. Rix left Manhattan May 15.

Many Campus Courts residents have accepted jobs and are moving at the end of the semester. Those leaving the "Trailer Camp" are:

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Bishop are moving to Kansas City, Kan. He has accepted a job with the Phillips Refining Co. Both Mr. and Mrs. Bishop are graduating.

Mr. and Mrs. Marie Hunt, trailer 87, are going to Tulsa, Okla., where Mr. Hunt will work for the Carnation Co.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hamlin are moving to Bartlesville, Okla. He will work for the Phillips Engineering Department.

Mr. and Mrs. "Whitey" Steele, trailer 57, are moving to Larned, where Mr. Steele will be employed with the Soil Conservation Commission.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Osborn, trailer 26, are moving to Tulsa, Okla. Mr. Osborn has accepted a job with Cities Service.

Varsity Mag Reports on Presidential Poll

Reports from Varsity Magazine on the presidential candidate poll being carried on by college newspapers indicate that results collected by The Collegian are nearly the same as those turned in by other papers throughout the country.

Of the total vote so far, 35.6 percent have indicated that Stassen is their choice for president. Forty-six percent of the K-Staters who voted picked Stassen. Dewey and Eisenhower are running second in the Varsity poll with 12.1 and 11.9 percent of the votes respectively. These two candidates finished in that order in The Collegian poll, also.

Truman is fourth with 9.6 percent, Wallace has 9.5, Vandenberg 8.0, Taft 2.9, and other candidates 10.4.

Twelve Wildcats Entered in Missouri Valley AAU

A group of 12 Kansas State track and field athletes headed by Rollin Prather, Big Seven conference shotput and discus champion, will compete in the Missouri Valley A. A. U. Track and Field meet at Kansas City, Kan., Saturday, it was announced here today.

Prather, who last week established a new Big Seven shotput mark with a toss of 53 feet, 2 7/8 inches, is a definite Olympic prospect and a favorite to capture two of the weight events at the Missouri Valley A. A. U. meet. He threw the discus 157 feet, 1-2 inch at Lincoln, Nebr., last week to establish an all-time K-State varsity mark.

Shannon in Hop-Step-Jump
While most of the pre-meet buildup has centered on the giant Prather, several other Wildcats will be in the thick of the running for first place honors. Howard Shannon, K-State's first basketball all-American, will try his ability at the hop, step and jump event. The spring-legged Wildcat hopes to develop enough skill in the event so that he may be a serious candidate for the Olympic team. He broad-jumped 24 feet, 5-8 inch in the Big Seven meet to establish a new K-State varsity mark.

Other broadjumpers who will show their wares alongside Shannon are a pair of Wildcat freshmen, George Uyeda of Honolulu and Herb Hoskins of Bennington, the Class B high school champion in 1947. Hoskins leaped 23 feet, 7 1/2 inches this spring to tie the old varsity mark and Uyeda has jumped 23 feet, 5 1/2 inches.

Harold Wiley of Sedgwick, another freshman, will be a strong contender in the high jump. He has done 6 feet, 4 1/2 inches and was Class B high school champion in 1947.

McClay to Run
Rodney McClay, K-State's versatile man, will try for honors in the dashes, low hurdles and pole-vault. He was third in the 100 yard dash in the Big Seven meet.

Other Wildcats who will compete Saturday night are Earl Elliott, hurdles; David Vanhaverbeke, distances; Art Hildenbrand and Billy Stuart, middle distances; Jim Danielson, hurdles, high jump and broadjump; Dean Nunn, a freshman from Neodesha, broad jump and pole-vault.

Ward Haylett, the Kansas State coach, is chairman of the Missouri Valley A. A. U. meet. He will coach the U. S. Olympic decathlon team this summer.

Intramurals

Sigma Phi Epsilon coped the College intramurals with a total of 797 7-10 points, while the Physical Education Majors came in second with 752 points and Beta Theta Pi was third with 542 points.

Golf, touch football, horse shoes, basketball, volleyball, table tennis, softball, tennis and track were events included in the intramural activities.

A list of the top three winners in each event follows with the number of winning points.

Golf—Delta Tau Delta 20, Physical Education Majors 14, Pi Kappa Alpha 12; touch football—Physical Education Majors 214, Sigma Phi Epsilon 187, Sigma Phi Nothing 171, horseshoes—Alpha Gamma Rho 66, Jr. A. V. M. A. 60, Sigma Phi Epsilon 58, basketball—Setups 160, Sigma Phi Epsilon 130, Physical Edmen tied with 110, volleyball—Beta Theta Pi 139, Physical Education Majors 114, Delta Tau Delta, Sigma Phi Epsilon, Gutterbums and W. F. A. C. all tied with 96, table tennis—Phi Delta Theta 73, Tau Kappa Epsilon 64, Physical Education Majors 49, softball—Poultry Club 216, Sigma Phi Epsilon 187, Phi Kappa and Roots Rangers both tied with 144, tennis—Y. M. C. A. 64, Beta Theta Pi 58, Sigma Alpha

Huskers Champs; K-State Third in Baseball Chase

The final standings of the Big Seven baseball season found the Nebraska Cornhuskers on top of the heap. They supported a record of 14 wins and only 3 losses. At home the Cornhuskers had a perfect record, not losing a single game. Missouri finished second with an 11 won, 5 loss season. K-State's Wildcats ended up third, winning seven and losing eight.

The Cornhuskers won their first baseball title since the formation of the Big Six. They were victorious in both games with the Wildcats, winning by 3 to 1 and 5 to 4 scores.

THE FINAL STANDINGS
	W	L	Pct.
Nebraska	14	3	.824
Missouri	11	5	.688
Kansas State	7	8	.467
Colorado	4	6	.400
Iowa State	5	8	.385
Oklahoma	5	9	.357
Kansas	4	11	.267

Epsilon 49, track—Physical Education Majors 87, Sigma Phi Epsilon 53 7-10, Alpha Tau Omega 53.

The top ten in the fraternity bracket and their winning points are Sigma Phi Epsilon 797 7-10, Beta Theta Pi 542, Tau Kappa Epsilon 494 1/2, Phi Delta Theta 476 7-10, Pi Kappa Alpha 460 7-10, Sigma Alpha Epsilon 440 9-10, Delta Tau Delta 400, Phi Kappa 389, Farm House 370, Alpha Kappa Lambda 352.

Leaders in the independent bracket and their point are Physical Education Majors 752, Jr. A. V. M. A. 464 1/2, Gutterbums 416, Y. M. C. A. 412, Boozdoes 408, W. F. A. C. 392, Sigma Phi Nothing 384, Poultry Club 349, Black Cats 323, House of Williams 304.

Previous reports that the Sig Eps had won the intramural track meet were corrected by announcement from the intramural office yesterday that Alpha Tau Omega won first place by .3 of a point. A qualification point was given to a Sig Ep man for throwing the discus the qualifying 80 feet. Upon further investigation it was found that this man could not qualify and thus the championship was exchanged, the Sig Eps then taking second place.

The Sig Eps started off last fall by rolling over the Pi KA's 13 to 0, in the fraternity football final. During the intramural football campaign the Sig Eps were led by Don Button, passing star, who passed for the two touchdowns that gave the Sig Eps the title.

Climaxing a rough basketball season, the Sig Eps stopped the Betas, 34 to 29. All-American trackman, Rollin Prather, poured in points from all over the court as the Sig Eps won their second intramural sport of the season.

The first setback of the season came in the finals of the volleyball tourney when the Betas bounced back to send the Sig Eps down in defeat.

The softball season was much rougher competition for the challenging Sig Eps. Phi Kappa, behind the fireballing of Bill Markey, looked like a sure bet in the fraternity playoffs but a Texas-leaguer by a Sig Ep who had struck out three times previously in the game gave another championship to the Sig Eps.

As a finale to the intramural season SPE was edged by the ATO fraternity in the track meet, the final score being Sig Ep 52.7 and ATO 53.

K-STATE ERRORS AID KU CAUSE IN 10-2 DEFEAT

The baseball season ended at K-State Tuesday night, with the Wildcats going down to defeat by their own hands, feet and arms. K. U. won the error-saturated game 10 to 2, with the help of 10 Wildcat miscues.

The game was fairly close until the disastrous sixth inning. The Jayhawkers were leading 2 to 0 when they came to bat. Then all they had to do was hit the ball somewhere and the Wildcats would boot it, miss it, or throw it away. A total of seven errors was rung up in that inning, giving the Jayhawkers eight runs. They also added a couple of base knocks for good measure, and received two free passes.

Errors, Errors, Errors
The orgy began when Dale Carr muffed Bertuzzi's roller. French was safe when Jack Nielsen pulled Bremner off first with a high throw. Deluna then added a single. Gilkinson was safe on an error by Gabby Chew.

May hit a bounder to Holder, and the Wildcat pitcher missed it. Medlock was safe on another error by Chew. Gilkinson was caught on a force at home. May went out on a fielder's choice but Springer walked.

Shaw then added his second single of the evening. Bertuzzi, batting for the second time that inning, hit a fly ball to right field. Al Sheriff got under it, but the ball popped out of his glove. Big Jack Bell then made his appearance for the Wildcats, and French walked. The inning finally came to a halt when Deluna grounded out. Totals for the inning were eight runs, two hits, two walks and seven errors. A total of twelve men went to bat.

The Wildcats' only scores came in the eighth inning. Bob Ives walked. Jack Bell then hit a double to center, scoring Ives. Bell advanced to third and scored when Bartley was thrown out by the second baseman.

Outfit Jays
K-State outthit the Jayhawkers 5 to 3, but again they could not find their power when men were on the bases. The Kansas coach, Russ Sehon, showed plenty of baseball savvy, by using four pitchers against the Wildcats. The Fishermen never had the chance to become used to the offering of any one hurler. Each time a Wildcat came to bat, he was looking at a different pitcher than the one he previously faced.

The Kansas fans had a field day hooting at the Wildcats. The Jayhawkers are notorious for their poor fielding and the fans delighted in seeing another team exhibit the same faults.

The Box Score:
K-State	AB	R	H	E
Bartley	5	0	0	0

It's all over now but the bad news and we, like all true students, are insanely happy over the long awaited arrival of semester's end. Now it becomes our pleasant task to hand the reins of the sports staff to a new editor and to pass quietly out in the shade of the nearest tree.

For their willing assistance we thank the coaches and officials of the athletic department. Except in a very few instances, we received the best of treatment at their hands.

More thanks to the student reporters and to assistant sports editor Pete Engelken. Pete, Neil Erdwien, Joe Henderson, Jack Nielson, and Keith Duckers have done the lion's share of the work all semester with little credit.

Then there is Fred Parris, director of sports publicity. But this rose parade could go on for a full column so let's just say thanks to everyone who helped—and turn off the wind.

It's been an interesting semester behind the sports desk, with the Wildcat athletic teams rising to new heights in the conference standings and "Phog" Allen maintaining his position as chief "controversy collector."

We've had our troubles and our good times, but we still say there is nothing like a good old "controversy" discussion with the good doctor and his cohorts from down the Kaw to keep in shape.

We're turning over our sports writer's badge and our precious pressbox ticket to Duane "Pat" Patterson. Keep an eye on his column throughout the summer session. We'll guarantee an interesting review of the sports sidelights.

For those who'll be passing the summer months in places other than the path-marked hill of old K-State, come on back next fall and watch those Wildcats buck heck out of that football losing streak. And when you come back, don't forget and leave that star high school athlete behind. We can use him here at State.

Scott Is Elected Prexy of Players
Bill Scott was elected president of the Kansas State chapter of the National Collegiate Players here this week.

Fly to Coast

Kansas State College's basketball team will play two games on the West Coast next December with San Francisco University and Santa Clara, Jack Gardner, head basketball coach announced yesterday.

Gardner said his team would meet San Francisco Dec. 10 and move on to play Santa Clara Dec. 11. The trip to and from California will be made by air so that the Wildcats can return home in time to begin a tour of the middle west and east Dec. 14.

Games on the eastern tour include St. Louis University at St. Louis, Dec. 14; Indiana University at Bloomington, Dec. 16 and Long Island U. in Madison Square Garden, New York City, Dec. 18.

this spring, according to a bulletin received by the Counseling Bureau. Scholarships will be given on or before June 1.

The program is designed for women interested in high school and college personnel work. Each assistantship is equivalent to a grant of $600 to $800 per year. Scholarships are limited to students who will give two years to their elected program of study. Student personnel courses are open to women holding a bachelor's degree from any accredited college in the United States or Canada, according to the bulletin.

Those who are interested in this program should contact the Counseling Bureau, said Dr. Maurice Woolf, director.

There are over 700,000 automobiles, trucks, trailers and motorcycles in the state of Kansas.

AN IMPRESSIVE PATTERN of graduating seniors uniformly attired in caps and gowns was formed in Memorial Stadium May 30 as 650 seniors waited anxiously for their diplomas.

Seniors and Grads Receive Diplomas

Approximately 650 bachelor degrees and 37 advanced degrees were received by K-State students at Commencement exercises in Memorial Stadium May 30. Dr. J. Henry Hornung delivered the school's 85th annual Commencement address to the largest graduating class in the history of the college. Doctor Hornung is a minister of the Congregation-Christian Church in Wichita.

Chancellor James Price, Denver University, son of Prof. and Mrs. R. R. Price, was granted an honorary Doctor of Laws degree. Professor Price is a member of the history department here. President Milton S. Eisenhower presented the sheepskins.

The Rev. C. T. Brewster, First Congregational Church in Manhattan, gave the invocation and benediction.

Citing race, industrial and international strife, Doctor Hornung told graduating seniors "the state of the world is not so hopeful." He stressed human attitudes as a means of improving world affairs.

Schools, colleges, universities and churches must develop, he said, the finer aspects of human nature, he said. Life should be intelligent in its aims and determined in its effort.

He recommended that the College graduates develop and use their finer potentialities. In doing that one can make his greatest contribution to life, he said.

Earlier in the afternoon, President and Mrs. Eisenhower entertained alumni and seniors at a reception in the President's home on the campus.

Faculty Raise Conferred on 32

Advances in rank for 32 faculty members have been announced by President Milton S. Eisenhower.

The announcement named five full professors, eight associate professors, 15 assistant professors and four instructors.

Those advanced to full professor are Frank O. Blecha, extension; Earl Hoover, speech; Jack H. Gardner, physical education; George D. Wilcoxson, history; and Nellie Aberle, English.

Advanced to associate professor are Ellis P. Torrance, counseling bureau; Wilfred H. Pine, agricultural economics; Floyd W. Smith, agronomy; Ralph E. Cathcart, dairy husbandry; John E. DeVries, chemistry; Karl Stacy, geology; S. Thomas Parker, mathematics; and Paul W. Griffith, extension.

To assistant professor are Lewis A. Schafter, botany; Carl A. Dorf, Russell A. Beers and H. L. Mitchell, all chemistry; Dale V. Jones and William Koch, English; David Geppert and Jean Hedlund, music; Gladys B. Gough, speech; Otto Tiemeier, zoology; A. L. Hjoft, Glenn Bussett and Velma McGaugh, Martha E. Drill and Marion W. Pearce, all extension.

To instructor—Irene L. Davis, Mildred M. Eshnaur, Mildred Moore and Elizabeth Richard, all in the library.

Faculty Salary Raise Approved by Regents

Salary raises totaling $180,138 for faculty members were approved by the Board of Regents in the College budget for the 1948-49 fiscal year, the office of President Milton S. Eisenhower has announced.

Raises in the salary budget were largely offset by reductions in other phases of the budget, such as departmental allotments. President Eisenhower said.

The larger budget for salaries will permit increases averaging 7.2 percent. State civil service regulations, however, prohibit salary raises of more than five percent at any one time. Classified personnel at the College are under civil service regulations.

Play Tryouts

Students who are interested in dramatics are invited to tryout for the summer play production to be presented July 23, according to Earl Hoover, professor of dramatics. Tryouts will be June 14, 15, and 16.

The plays considered are "John Loves Mary," "Parlor Story" and "Importance of Being Earnest." All members of the student body are eligible to tryout whether they have taken dramatics or not, Professor Hoover said.

Tebow Appointed to New Position

State board of regents approval of the appointment of Eric T. Tebow as Director of Admissions effective July 1, has been announced by President Milton S. Eisenhower.

Tebow, an associate professor of education on the staff of the Institute of Citizenship at the College, succeeds Dr. S. A. Nock, resigned.

As Director of Admissions, Prof. Tebow will have charge of applications for admission to the College, assignment and registration, catalog publications and registrar's records.

Tebow came to Kansas State January 1, 1947, from five and one-half years photographic service with the ground forces of the army. Overseas 42 months, he was chief of the photographic branch of General Bradley's 12 Army Group. He directed the Army Pictorial Service in the European Theater and was plans and training officer on the staff of the theater photographic officer. He also planned and supervised ground force photographic coverage of the invasion of France and the campaign through France and Germany. Tebow was awarded five battle stars for campaigns in Europe and three citations including the Legion of Merit, Bronze Star and French Croix de Guerre.

He earned a bachelor's degree here in 1926 and holds the M. A. degree from Columbia University. While at Kansas State, he was center on the Wildcat basketball team three years, a member of K fraternity, Scabbard and Blade, Alpha Kappa Psi and Phi Delta Theta, social fraternity.

Alumni Committees Appointed Here

Dr. J. A. Bogue, Wichita, newly elected president of the Kansas State College Alumni Association, has announced appointments to four standing committees of the alumni association for the coming year.

The appointments: Athletic committee—L. W. Newcomer, El Dorado, chairman; F. W. Boyd, Jr., Manhattan; Bill Beezley, Girard; and M. A. Durland.

Legislative committee—Harvey F. Lutz, Sharon Springs, chairman; F. W. Boyd, Jr., Manhattan; Max Dickerson, Hallowell; H. Milton Skaggs, Jr., Dodge City.

Finance and membership committee—Dwight Tolle, Salina, chairman; L. E. Garrison, Abilene; Helen Correll Browne, Norton and Ralph Perry.

Memorial chapel campaign committee—Hazel Russell Zimmerman, Whitewater, chairman; Hubert L. Collins, Topeka; Earl Ward, Kansas City, Mo.; and Milton Skaggs, Jr., Dodge City.

At the annual business meeting of the association Saturday members voted to establish scholarships for worthy students of the College. For the past 32 years the main financial project of the association has been student loan funds.

Teaching Jobs Filled by 111 K-State Grads

Leasure Is Dean of Vet School

Dr. Elden E. Leasure has been appointed dean of the School of Veterinary Medicine at Kansas State College, effective July 1, to succeed Dean R. R. Dykstra who will retire as dean and become full-time professor and Dean emeritus, President Milton S. Eisenhower announced today.

Now professor and head of the physiology department, Dr. Leasure received the Doctor of Veterinary Medicine degree from Kansas State in 1923 and a master's degree in 1930. He joined the College staff as instructor of pathology in 1923, was made full professor in 1935 and head of the department in 1944. He has done research on many diseases affecting cattle, horses, cats and other animals.

Dr. Leasure is a member of both the Kansas and American Veterinary Medical Associations. He is a member of Alpha Psi, Sigma Xi, Phi Kappa Phi, the Manhattan Country Club, Manhattan Chamber of Commerce and Tau Kappa Epsilon, social fraternity. He also is a 32nd degree Mason and a Shriner.

The School of Veterinary Medicine at Kansas State is one of the older of 13 such schools in the United States. Effective in 1949 the school will switch to a six-year curriculum. Students then will spend two years in pre-veterinary medicine study and receive a bachelor's degree in addition to the Doctor of Veterinary Medicine at the end of six years.

YMCA Secretary to Speak at Estes

William E. West, executive secretary of the college YMCA will leave this morning for Estes Park, Colorado where he will attend the YW-YM camp for ten days as a leader of one of the discussion groups. He will be accompanied by more than 20 Kansas State students.

West will be leader of the group discussing "Christianity and Vocations." According to West there will be no vocational clinic and vocational tests will be given.

"The purpose of this group is to find out how Christianity can be combined with your occupation," Mr. West said.

Maloney Named Assignment Head

Richard C. Maloney has been named assignment officer at Kansas State College, effective July 1, President Milton S. Eisenhower announced this week.

Maloney, assistant dean of

the Schools of Arts and Sciences at Kansas State, came to the College as an English instructor in 1946. He has had 16 years experience as a teacher, principal and supervisor in the public schools of New Hampshire and Massachusetts and served four years in the navy.

As assignment officer, Maloney will have charge of enrollment and assignment of students. He also will assign classes to various rooms and buildings on the campus.

Maloney spent nine summer seasons in stock and repertory theater companies including Nantucket Players, the Yacht Club Players and Pawcett Players. His various capacities with the theater companies included actor, business manager and stage designer.

He is the author of "Symbols of Freedom" and other features for educational publications. He also has written special articles for the Boston Evening Transcript and was a reporter on the New Bedford, Mass., Standard. Maloney is a member of Beta Theta Pi, social fraternity, Knights of Columbus and the Manhattan Chamber of Commerce.

Enrollment to Be Completed Today

Long lines of students in and around Anderson Hall and the constant shuffle of students and faculty between Anderson and Nichols Gym once again provided the old familiar sight to a brand new 1948 Summer School enrollment.

Varied Recreation Ahead for Students

A concert by the Manhattan municipal band at 8 p. m. tomorrow will launch this year's summer school recreational program. The musical program will be held in the campus quadrangle north of Nichols Gym.

Another phase of the program of recreation planned for K-Staters is intramural sports. Men students interested in playing on teams can register any time in Nichols 107, according to an announcement by Washburn, director of men's intramurals and a member of the recreation planning committee. Women can sign up for sports in N 101. A meeting of all students who register for teams will be held in Nichols 207 at 4 p. m., June 14. Tennis, horseshoe, golf and table tennis tournaments if the students want them, Washburn said.

The men's swimming pool will not be open this summer, unless there is sufficient demand for its use. The women's pool will be open during the summer session.

Friday night at 8 o'clock a movie of the KU, K-State game and the Madison Square Garden K-State-Holy Cross basketball game will be shown in Memorial Stadium. Fred Winter, member of the basketball coaching staff, will be narrator.

The film, "Jacare" and two colored cartoon comedies will be presented June 15. One regular feature movie and two animated cartoons will be shown every week in the stadium during the summer session.

Four outdoor parties and dances are included in the recreational program. Matt Betton and his orchestra will furnish music for the first dance June 18 at the tennis courts. A night exhibition of fireworks will be included in the Independence Day celebration and all-school party July 2 at the City Park.

A three-act play will be presented for summer school students by the speech department July 23. The Student Union will be open for fountain service, dancing, music, ping pong, cards and other table games. The library will be available for recreational reading all summer. Included in the summer school recreation fee is subscription to the weekly issue of the Collegian.

Starting at 8 o'clock yesterday and ending sometime this afternoon, approximately 2,400 students are expected to fill Kansas State's classrooms according to Miss Eleanor Tibbets, head of the office of registration. Regular classes will begin tomorrow at 7 a. m.

The School of Engineering and Architecture topped the enrollment list with the School of Arts and Sciences and the School of Agriculture following second and third respectively. A breakdown of the enrollment for all of the schools at 2 p. m. yesterday was based on the 1,244 students enrolled at that time.

Enrollment for the individual schools were as follows: The School of Agriculture, 179; School of Engineering and Architecture, 438; School of Arts and Sciences, 417; School of Home Economics, 69; School of Veterinary Medicine, 2 and Graduate School, 149.

The 2400 enrollment estimation for this year's session is about the same as last summer's mark of 2475 students. More than half of the students were enrolled yesterday, with the heaviest enrollment occurring in economics, English and mathematics, according to Professor A. E. White, director of admissions.

Changes inaugurated last Fall and Spring semesters in the enrollment procedure and routine have speeded up enrollment this summer, Miss Tibbets said.

The new look in College education has been installed on the campus this year with the addition of workshops for graduate study. These workshops consist of three week courses in a variety of subjects including agriculture and tallorin. The workshop will offer the grad regular college credits. Plenty of housing space and fewer students are the principal reasons for the decrease in enrollment difficulties this summer, Professor White said. Summer school enrollment is never as difficult to handle as Fall and Spring semesters' enrollments, White added.

Auerbach Tops Hillel

Jerry Auerbach will head Hillel Foundation next year. He was chosen president at a recent meeting of the organization for Jewish students.

Other officers elected include Bill Fiden, vice president; Barbara Auerbach, secretary; Herbert Langer, treasurer; and Tobias Schwartzberg, editor of the organization magazine.

Dean R.R. Dykstra Retires as Head of Veterinary School after 30 Years

Dean Ralph R. Dykstra will retire as head of the School of Veterinary Medicine July 1 after serving more than 31 years in that position. He will remain with the Veterinary School as Professor of Surgery and Medicine.

Dean Dykstra came to Kansas State as an assistant professor of Veterinary Surgery in 1911 in which was then the Department of Veterinary Medicine in the Division of Agriculture. Upon the resignation of Dr. F. S. Schoenleber, President Waters informally named Dykstra acting head of the veterinary department in March 1917. Two years later in 1919 he was officially named head of the department. Later the same year the Veterinary department was made a separate division with Dykstra as its first Dean.

Tribute by President "Dean Dykstra has served the College and state faithfully as dean of veterinary medicine for nearly 30 years," President Eisenhower said in paying tribute to the retiring head. "The prestige that the School of Veterinary Medicine now enjoys in the profession and at large is the result of his efforts."

"At the request of the College, Dean Dykstra unselfishly guided the veterinary school through the immediate post-war period despite the fact that he had become eligible for retirement," President Eisenhower said. "We appreciate his devotion to duty."

DR. R. R. DYKSTRA

During Dean Dykstra's tenure as head of the Veterinary School it has greatly increased in size. The faculty has increased from five to 23 members. Enrollment has been upped in about the same proportions. About 10 or 12 students were receiving degrees in veterinary medicine 30 years ago. The number is now about 60 each year.

Due to the large number of applicants for admittance to the Veterinary curriculum, a limitation was authorized in 1936. The school now accepts only 60 new students each year thus making the number of students in the four year course total 240. Degrees have been conferred on 1,135 students under Dean Dykstra.

In the early 1930's entrance requirements were upped from high school to one year of college. Effective Sept. '49, two years of college work will be necessary for admittance to the four year Veterinary course.

New Facilities

In line with the increased enrollment and faculty, new facilities have been provided. The Veterinary Hospital has been built and the Veterinary Clinic established under Dykstra's leadership. The Veterinary Reading Room has grown to more than 4,000 volumes and is now one of the two finest veterinary libraries in the United States.

Since 1919 he has every three months sent a mimeographed Alumni News Letter to all veterinary alumni. This has served to maintain the interests of the alumni in the school.

Dean Dykstra was president of the Kansas Veterinary Medical Association in 1917 and president of the American Veterinary Medical Association in 1932. He is also a member of the U. S. Livestock Sanitary Association and the American Research Workers in Animal Diseases, and an honorary member of the Nebraska, Iowa, and Eastern Iowa Veterinary Medical Associations.

He graduated from Iowa State College in 1905 and was on the veterinary faculty there from 1905 until he came to Kansas State in 1911.

ROMANCING DID ALL RIGHT, TOO.

4-H's Take Over Campus for Week of Fun, Classes, at Annual Round-up

To those who left the dear old alma mater for a week of needed vacation between semesters, the campus probably was thought to be a dead place. But to the very few who remained behind to carry out some special duty (getting this Collegian out, for instance), the place was really jumpin'.

No sooner had the 7,000 students left for home than 12:17 4-H club members stormed the campus for a four-day session of fun and play. They may not have been so great in numbers but they made it up in volume. They sang, danced, played, studied and—yes, even romanced—at the largest 4-H Round-up since the war.

Each day a special assembly was held when they heard speakers such as President Milton S. Eisenhower, Dean A. L. Pugsley, and Mrs. C. C. Cunningham. El Dorado farm homemaker who told of her trip to Europe.

They also sang. And how they sang. Led by the amiable, familiar face of Dr. Edgar B. Gordon of the University of Wisconsin, who has become a tradition at Round-up, the walls of the auditorium fairly bulged with the sound of their voices.

Attend Classes But all was not play. There were plenty of—ugh—classes to attend. Everything from soil conservation to beef production was given to the boys in morning classes on the campus. The girls, of course, learned the essentials of homemaking from the home ec profs. You know the old saying, "The way to a man's heart, etc., etc."

Then there were co-educational classes. To the few new freshmen, who haven't yet learned, and the Aggies, who seldom see such a thing on their end of the campus, this means classes with both boys and girls.

Wolf Inspires Love Probably the most popular class was Dr. Maurice Wolf's course in "How to Make Friends and Influence People." What the 4-H's didn't already know on the subject, they must have picked up from the course, because plenty of hand-holding was evident soon after the first day of classes.

Radio station KSAC kept the folks at home informed of their youngsters' activities while attending Round-up. Each day the station broadcast the afternoon assembly from the college auditorium and the familiar voice of Bob Hilgen-dorf gave interesting sidelines on the event.

Admire More Pin-ups Housing the youngsters wasn't much of a problem, since Splinterville and the East Stadium had been vacated the week before. So the boys were divided between the stadium and Nichols Gym and the girls got a big laugh out of the pin-ups in Moro Courts.

Round-up was climaxed Friday night when the entire delegation crowded into the gym for the annual banquet. The place looked like a political convention, with each county flying a banner with its name on it. Gov. Frank Carlson was guest speaker and he gave each delegate a few words of encouragement and inspiration in a short (it really was) after-dinner address.

Labette County walked off with the "best delegation" trophy for the second straight year. Participation in Round-up activities is the basis of the award. Six other counties—Barber, Bourbon, Saline, Cloud, Edwards and Hamilton—were given blue ribbons.

4-H's Return Home At last Saturday morning arrived. After breakfast and a recognition assembly, the delegates, tired but happy, climbed into the automobiles, trucks and busses and began the long trek homeward.

The campus seemed deserted once again and a peaceful calm settled over the buildings, lawns and trees. But suddenly everything came alive again and the campus awoke with a start. What had happened? Of course, summer school enrollment had begun.

Something for Norting—

Printing a paper can be lots of fun —things happen that beg for reporting.
Bring in the news, the term has begun
—some will go here, and some on page one.

Grads have returned and frosh are reporting —deans have been given departments to run.
Sports are not dead—athletes importing —births and deaths—weddings and courting.

Ed and coed, professor and nun —never forget to whom it's according.
Mellons for Hellen's is not a good pun —news cramps the fingers. Arms weigh a ton.

This issue's contents, we're not exhorting
—'twas put to bed as best could be done.
Enrollment time is never affording —the needed scribes to do the recording.

(Ya wonder why to this we're resorting? Well, Bub, it's just that our wives need supporting.)

PART OF THE STAFF of the 1948 summer school Collegian extends a warm welcome to all students, new and old. We especially welcome the student reporters who enroll in journalism... and the remainder of the staff. Our only regret is that they were not here a day or two sooner.

For Better or Worse

Returning students will notice a few changes in the Collegian. The news of the world column is omitted, at least for the present. A hunting and fishing column will be carried on the sports page—subject to the amount of student cooperation in reporting catches, or lack of same. Two guest columnists will be invited to air their opinions on any subject they may choose in each summer issue. Other students may express their comments through a letters column. (No letters will be published more than 250 words in length. We reserve the right to cut longer letters to fit.)

A new staff position has been established—that of features editor. Among features will be a weekly survey of campus opinion on a current topic. Children born to married students will be announced through the society page columns. (We can check only Manhattan hospitals. If you know of others, tell us about them.) We're trying to improve your paper. Your opinions will be most welcome.

Don't Overrate Rate

We moved this week. Nearly everyone in school did that, but at least we are in a position to sympathize. Our move was a short one—from a basement apartment to another in the same house. But even a move from apartment seven to apartment five entails much bothersome technicality. For example, we called the telephone company to disconnect our wire and plug it in to the phone already in our new home upstairs. This, the company said, costs one dollar. Reasonable enough. But guess what happened.

Wednesday night they took out the phone upstairs—wall-box and all. On Thursday (only 40 hours later) they made another trip and put it back in. They knew it was to go in, and when. We told 'em. We took the same kind of phone, the same kind of line service and the same number—in the same house. On the second trip they took out the basement phone—wall-box and all. It goes back in next week.

The very next day we received a letter. It was from the telephone company, and nicely written, too. It seems that the telephone company is losing money in

She Said, She Said—She Said

"Studies show that two years after college the average student has forgotten 85 percent of the facts he memorized during four years at college," Dean Margaret Justin of the School of Home Economics said at the third annual home economics workshop of the College home economics faculty last week.

Members of the home economics faculty at the College meet annually between spring and summer sessions to analyze and study teaching aims and techniques.

Since students forget so rapidly, the good teacher teaches not a mass of facts but how to do critical thinking, according to Dean Justin. Students must do more than to repeat parrot-fashion, facts given them in a text or lecture, she said, she said, she said.

Prexy Commends S.P.C.

By Milton S. Eisenhower
(President, Kansas State College)
My family and I will be fishing in Wisconsin when the Student Planning Conference meets late this summer. While I like every minute spent in the Northern lake country, I confess I am disappointed by the fact that I'll not be at Camp Woods when some eighty student leaders gather there.

This will be the first time I've missed the SPC deliberations at Camp Woods. SPC has become one of the most useful institutions at Kansas State. Last year, those participating in the conference developed about 75 recommendations regarding all phases of College life. Most of these were in effect a few months later.

SPC recommendations receive considerable publicity. But there is another great value of SPC which is not publicized: That is the exchange of information and the consequent clearing away of misunderstandings which develop whenever students, faculty, or administrators lack essential information about a given situation—from athletics to housing, from academic work to traffic regulations.

Fortunately, relationships between students, faculty, and administrators at Kansas State are as congenial and helpful as those at any institution I know. If a strain does show up here and there on rare occasions, it is almost certain that someone involved is temporarily lacking in relevant information.

I hope summer school students will submit suggestions for improvement of the Kansas program to the officers of SPC. Such suggestions will be considered by the student leaders and their faculty advisers at Camp Woods. The result will be, as before, that College life on the K-State campus will be a little bit improved—though, mind you, I thought things were pretty good as they were this past year.

Advocates Workshop—

By Sister M. Arsenia, O.S.B.
(Ed. Note: Sister Arsenia is one of several Sisters enrolled in graduate courses this summer. She is from the Mt. St. Scholastica College, of Atchison, Kansas.)

Many years ago, when I was teaching in the little town of Manhattan, I heard of the Manhattan Agricultural College, and of the little town called Aggieville.

This morning, as I walked along the spacious parkway, accompanied by Sister Felicitas, it was hard to realize that the Kansas State College of Manhattan, at which I was to register for summer school, was the same place that I had heard of years before. Did I say the same? Yes, the same location, but how it had expanded. Beautiful ivy covered stone buildings stretch from one end of the campus to the other. It is hard to estimate the size of the campus. There are so many buildings and so many departments.

If we are not kept too busy this summer, we certainly are going to take advantage of seeing all of the campus; but in order not to get lost we might have to resort to the corn-dropping device. We only hope the birds won't eat the corn before we find our way back.

Registration this morning for the workshop courses was quite a novelty; a little different than for the regular courses. We went from one place to another and back again.

And now we are nicely settled on the ground floor of the Education building taking a workshop course in Supervision. We are looking forward to a very pleasant summer, and we advise anyone who needs credit hours in Education—and what administrator doesn't these days—to get them in workshop courses. They really are nice. We have already had one whole day's experience.

Kansas—lots of money. The rates are not high enough, the company contends. Coming in the middle of moving, when we were mad at the world anyhow, we couldn't help wondering if low rates were the only cause.

Enrollees in Music

Grade and high school students who plan to study voice, piano and string and woodwind instruments this summer will enroll Friday and Saturday.

Luther Leavengood, music department head, announced today.

Enrollment for former students is Friday in the music office. New students will enroll Saturday morning. Leavengood said. Registration by telephone will be accepted, he said.

Nichols gym was named in honor of Ernest R. Nichols, head of the physics department 1890 to 1900 and president of the college from 1899 to 1909. In addition to work in physical education, the building provided quarters for the military department.

Langer to Represent KSC at Hillel Meet

Herbert Langer has been elected to represent the Kansas State chapter of Hillel Foundation, Jewish counselorship, at a national convention in New York August 31 to September 8.

New officers for Hillel are Jerry Auerbach, president; Bill Fiden, vice-president; Barbara Auerbach, secretary and Herbert Langer, treasurer. Tobias Schwartzberg has been named editor of the newspaper, the Announcer, published monthly by Hillel and circulated throughout the United States.

Grad Is Awarded Research Fellowship

Dr. Orville T. Bonnett, a graduate, has been awarded a Guggenheim Memorial fellowship for next year, Lyle Longsdorf, extension editor, disclosed.

Bonnett was graduated in 1918; he took a master's degree in 1927, after being county agent of Marshall county and vocational ag instructor at Alton. He went from here to the University of Wyoming and later to Illinois University.

The honor is for "original research on the morphological developments of small grain crops."

Myers on Field Day

Dr. Harold E. Myers, agronomy department head is visiting southeast Kansas experimental fields on the "field day" tours of that section of the state yesterday and today.

Dr. Myers is inspecting experimental work done on the Kansas State Experiment Station fields at Thayer and Columbus and other outlying plots in that section of the state.

In addition to viewing the experimental fields on the tour, Dr. Myers will study soil and crop problems of southeast Kansas.

Lyman Will Head KSC Section of ASAE

Paul Lyman has been elected president of the Kansas State College branch of the American Society of Agricultural Engineers. Other officers are Dick Newcomb, vice-president; Harold Stanton, secretary and treasurer; and Bob Sayler, scribe.

Officers were elected Thursday at the Society's regular meeting. Films were shown by a representative of the Risco Laminated Products, Inc., illustrating raft construction and the lumber industry in the United States.

Utah H S Coaches Hear Jack Gardner

Basketball Coach Jack Gardner is at Logan, Utah this week revealing the secrets of his court success to Utah high school coaches. Gardner, who receives top billing with Michigan's Fritz Crisler, is lecturing on the various offenses and defenses used by the Wildcats. Crisler is in charge of the football clinic.

In five short seasons as head of Kansas State basketball, Gardner lifted the club from its position as the conference doormat to the attic. His 1947-48 "Cinderella" team amazed the sports enthusiasts and experts alike. Doped to occupy the usual basement quarters, the Wildcats brought the national spotlight to the K-State Campus.

Both Gardner and Crisler will head the instruction in their respective sports at Kansas coaching clinic to be held at Wichita August 16.

Prof. H. W. Davis became head of the Department of English in 1921.

The Rod Bender's Report

By the Sports Editor

With a quick twist of the journalist's slide rule, we figured that nearly 50 percent of the male students enrolled in summer school will spend about 8,000 man hours a week matching wits with uncooperative inhabitants of Manhattan area streams. With this in mind, the staff decided a regular column "Rod Benders" would be proper.

Our fishing excursions do not furnish enough copy to run a pencil over. We need your help. Fishing news and conditions are interesting. Send your stories (a journalist's term, not an insinuation) to "The Rod Bender" in care of the Collegian. Tell us about your party. How many anglers, the kind of bait, and if you care to where and at what time you had your luck.

They're still razzing Frank "Muscles" Myers of the athletics department about the one that got away. About two weeks ago Frank was angling along the river. Suddenly his line drew taut and took out like a P-38, whizz, whir, whir. "Muscles" matched brain and brawn with the big fellow to no avail.

The fish kept going despite Frank's efforts to put a halt to the foolishness until it tangled itself in some far away brush. "Muscles" tugged and pulled. The line refused to give. Finally tiring, Myers cut the line and tied it firmly to the bank. Then went back to town and got a friend with a boat. They reached the brush pile, pulled together on the still secure line falling back into the skiff with a thud as the 30 lb. test string broke.

"Muscles" is still bemoaning about his fish of the year. He has marks and heeled shoes to prove the futile fight to stop the flight of "the biggest one that got away."

ADD THREE CONTESTS TO CAGE SCHEDULE

Three basketball contests have been added to the 1948-49 schedule Jack Gardner, head coach, announced recently. The Wildcats will pry the lid off the campaign December 1, meeting Emporia Teachers at Emporia. The Emporia State game was added to the schedule last week. The Hornets are usually one of the top Kansas college teams.

The other additions are inter-sectional contests with Santa Clara and San Francisco on the West Coast and Long Island University in New York's Madison Square Garden. The L.I.U. outfit broke the Wildcats' ten game winning streak last season in a Garden contest.

Prather Aims at Berth on U.S. Olympic Team

It's vacation time for some, school time for others but for Big Roland Prather, Kansas State's weight tossing expert, it's Olympic time. Prather is spending these warm spring days in intense preparation for the Olympic Tryouts later this month and, he hopes, the Olympic Games in London.

Prather, although only a sophomore, has been track coach Ward Haylett's top point getter in track meets for the past two years. He has set a stack of new records during that time and if he keeps improving at his present rate it will probably take a quarto volume by the time he graduates. At the present time he holds more than 25 records including some that he has broken as many as three times.

Last year as a freshman the big fellow won a berth on the All-American track team for outstanding performances in the discus throw. This year at the Big Seven Track Meet at Lincoln, Neb., he was presented with the Shulte Award as the outstanding athlete in the meet. At that meet he set a new conference record in the discus at 157 feet 1-2 inch, and a new shot put record of 53 feet 2 and 7-8 inches.

During this season he also set new records in the discus throw at the Iowa State dual, the Missouri dual, the Colorado Relays and the Kansas U. dual meets. In the shot, in addition to the conference record, Prather broke the present standard in the Iowa and Missouri dual meets.

One of Prather's performances, which Coach Haylett praised as "the most remarkable thing he ever saw," was at the Colorado Relays this spring. It was raining and snowing at Boulder that day and the meet was finally transferred inside. But before the events were moved indoors, Prather set a new record in the discus. He tossed the platter more than 150 feet despite the fact that the ground was soggy, the weather was foul and the saucer covered with ice and snow.

In addition to his track prowess, big Roland has lettered two years in football and was on the second string basketball team his freshman year. As a matter of fact the big lad bids fair to be one of Kansas State's better all time football players. He played at end, tackle and in the backfield as coaches have searched for the best place to utilize his 220 pounds.

In seeking a place on the American Olympic Team, he will be competing with such outstanding weight stars as Fortune Gordien, the Minnesota Norseman and Charley Fonville, the dusky Big Nine shot champ.

SOCIETY

AT STATE

By Ruthe Peg Thackrey

May and June have really been the months for brides, especially at Kansas State. And there are a lot more coeds with the plans for their special day, such as—

Jean Geffert, daughter of Mrs. Grace Geffert of Manhattan is engaged to R. L. Newkirk of Wichita. Jean attended Manhattan High School and Kansas State. She was a member of the college acapella choir. R. L. and Jean will be married this summer.

Two more K-Staters, Virginia Bramwell of Manhattan and George Dick Pierce of Topeka, have announced their engagement and have planned a late summer wedding. Virginia was graduated from Kansas State in home economics in June of 1947. She is a member of Delta Delta Delta sorority and has been teaching foods and clothing in the Ottawa Junior High School the last year. George is a senior at Kansas. He is a member of Phi Delta Theta fraternity.

FAIRMAN—ENGELLAND

Miss Patricia Pembroke Fairman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Fairman, of Manhattan, became the bride of Monday, May 31, at 4 p. m. in St. Paul's Episcopal church. The Rev. Charles R. Davies performed the double ring ceremony. Patricia Moll, organist, played the traditional wedding marches and Mrs. Anne Wilcox sang. The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor length gown with a net yoke and a skirt of white frosted organza. She wore a fingertip veil and carried carnations on a white prayer book. Mrs. Virginia Scott Fairman of Topeka was the matron of honor and the bridesmaids were Beryl Weshe and Ruth Fenton. The groom's attendant was Gaylord Johnson of Sterling. Following a reception the young couple left for two week's honeymoon in Canada. Upon their return to Iowa City, Mr. Engelland will enroll in the graduate school at Iowa University. The bride was graduated from Kansas State in 1947, was president of the YWCA that year, was a member of Chi Omega sorority. Mortar board and was listed in Who's Who. She taught one year in the public schools in Minneapolis, Kansas. The bride-groom is a member of Alpha Tau Omega fraternity, president of YMCA in 1948, and a graduate of Kansas State this year with a degree in psychology.

PEDDICORD—PRICKETT

Mary E. Peddicord and David E. Prickett were married in the Wamego Methodist church, Friday, May 28, with the Rev. Judd Jones performing the double ring ceremony. The organ was played by Patricia Moll and soloists were Mrs. Steve Briscoe, Clovia, sister of the bride and Joe Morgan, fraternity brother of the groom. The bride wore a street length dress and a halo of Madonna lily white petals and carried an arm bouquet of Madonna lilies. Her only attendant was her sister, Mrs. Ellis Wise, matron of honor. George Peddicord, brother of the bride, was best man. The bride attended Wamego High School and Kansas State, and received a degree in home economics in 1947. She was a member of Clovia sorority. She has been teaching in the public school at Gridley. The bridegroom attended Alta Vista High School and is now a student of architecture at Kansas State and a member of Acacia fraternity.

Laughlin-Ratts

Miss Norma Allene Laughlin and Robert Cincient Ratts, both of Manhattan, were united in marriage Sunday, May 30, by the Rev. David Townley of Abilene. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Laughlin of this city. The double ring ceremony took place in the First Presbyterian church. The organist was Patricia Moll and the soloist Patricia Hale. The bride wore a gown of heavy white jersey with a three-yard train. She carried a bouquet of white and red roses. Matron of honor was Mrs. Maxine Masten, sister of the bride. Candlelighters were Mary Ann Gist and Jo Morgan. The groom was attended by his brother, Frank Ratts. After a wedding trip the couple will be at home in Manhattan. The bride is employed at the Universal Securities. She is a member of the Beta Sigma Phi and Business and Professional Women's Club. The bride-groom is enrolled at Kansas State in mechanical engineering and is a member of the Kappa Sigma fraternity.

Bicknell-Richards
The marriage of Miss Betty

Bicknell and William H. Richards was solemnized Saturday, June 5, at 9:00 a. m. in the Seven Dolors church. Miss Bicknell is the daughter of Mrs. Fern Bicknell of Kansas City, Kansas. Mr. Richards is from Manhattan. Monsignor Luckey read the vows at the nuptial mass. Mrs. J. B. Collier, organist, played the traditional wedding marches and Mary Jo Staley sang. The bride's gown was of white satin. She wore a fingertip veil and her flowers were an orchid with rose buds carried on a white prayer book. She was given in marriage by her brother, Max Bicknell of Garden City, Kansas. Bridesmaids were Rose Marie Jones and Doris Thorton of Kansas City, Kansas. Groomsman were Michael Myers of Marysville and Louis Otto of Manhattan. Following a reception at the Gold Room of the Wareham Hotel, the couple left for a trip to Colorado. They will be at home in Oakland, California where Mr. Richards will be employed. The bride is a member of Chi Omega sorority and graduated from Kansas State this spring. The bride-groom is a member of Beta Theta Pi, Blue Key honor society, Phi Kappa Phi and is listed in Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities. He was graduated this spring from Kansas State.

Washburn-Cobb

A double ring ceremony uniting Miss Jean Washburn and Howell Cobb in marriage was held in the First Congregational church Tuesday, June 1. Miss Washburn is the daughter of Prof. and Mrs. L. P. Washburn of Manhattan. Mr. Cobb is from Athens, Georgia. Candlelighters were Mary Helm and Mrs. Carlisle Cobb, Jr. Miss Marion Pelton played the organ and Miss Hilda Grossman sang. Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor length heather-rose chiton gown. She carried a white orchid and pink heirloom fan. The matron of honor was Mrs. Robert B. Washburn. Attending the bride-groom was his brother, Carlisle Cobb, Jr. A reception was held in Pioneer Hall. Mrs. Cobb is assistant professor in the architecture department at Kansas State College. The bride-groom is assistant professor in the architecture department. After a short trip, the couple will reside at 1020 McCollum Street.

Masten-Ralston

Mrs. Maxine Masten, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Laughlin, was married at high noon, Saturday, June 5, to Glen Ralston, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Ralston of Wichita. The Rev. Herbert Cockerill read the vows in the First Presbyterian church. The bride wore a beige suit with an orchid. Her attendant was Gwen Lee Erichsen. The bride-groom was attended by Clee Ralston. # The Kansas State Collegian

VOLUME LIV

Kansas State College, Manhattan, Kansas, June 16, 1948

Number 6

One person who works his way downward in the world is George Champney of Topeka, seen here atop the 92-foot chimney which was torn down after more than 20 years of idleness. The stack leaned dangerously toward the shops and several times bricks have dropped through the roofs of other buildings. "The ivy and the brick above each brick was the only thing holding the chimney up," Champney claimed.

Former Power Plant Smoke-Stack Is Torn Down by Daredevil Wrecker

By Don Alexander

The old octagonal smoke stack south of the shops has weathered its last storm. It has been a contrary structure for some time, occasionally a little dangerous. Bricks have frequently fallen through roofs of near-by buildings and for several years the chimney has leaned perilously toward the north.

"If the stack had fallen, it would have gone right through the shop building," R. F. Gingrich, superintendent of building and repair, declared. "The top was cracked and the mortar gone from most of the bricks."

The stack has not been in use since 1928, when the present power plant was put into operation.

Wrecking the stack was quite a problem. It could not be knocked down because it was too close to other buildings. Dynamiting was out of the question. So a contract was let to the Champney Waterproofing Company of Topeka. To George Champney the task was simple, but it involved a lot of hard work.

First, a ladder was constructed from two by sixes. It had to be built in sections inside the chimney. That part was easy.

Then the dangerous job of removing the thousand-pound cast iron cap confronted the men and trouble intervened. A rope was tied to the cap to guide it down, but the wind diverted it to the roof of a storage building. It went on through to the basement where it shattered into a thousand pieces.

The top of the chimney was nine bricks thick and narrowed down to two beneath the cap. At the base the thickness was about five bricks. Champney and his only helper on this job, Bill Gerhart of Topeka, estimate they averaged 20 feet a day in tearing down the chimney.

The bricks weren't hard to break loose. The toughest part of the job was getting them to fall free of surrounding buildings. Boards were placed on roofs for protection, but a large chunk would have gone on through Champney says. The men worked around the top, standing on the ledge and on the ladder rungs. The ladder was dismantled as they worked downward.

Work at the top in this type of job is limited to a few hours at a time. "We could go all day if we didn't get thirsty," Champney declares, "but there is so much dust that we have to get water occasionally. The heat doesn't bother us, though."

To see them working around the stack, seemingly oblivious of any danger, they look like men of iron. And that's not far from wrong, as Champney's experiences will bear out.

When the Nazarene church burned in Topeka, he was given the job of wrecking the structure. While working on a gable, 68 feet in the air, he lost his footing and fell, landing on the debris inside the building. Death certainly was not around that day, because he walked away uninjured and soon was back on the job.

The first job he contracted was caking and coping an eight story building. He fell this time, too, and the only thing that saved him was the gutter on the fifth story, which he grabbed in the nick of time. He hit his head while falling and 12 stitches were required to close the cut, he was back on the job an hour later.

Cowboy Prof Here for Assembly Friday

Dr. Edward Everett Dale, Oklahoma author, poet, teacher and rancher will be guest speaker at the all-College assembly Friday at 9:30 a. m. in the Auditorium. The topic of his address will be "Culture on the Frontier."

"Dr. Dale comes to us with high recommendations from Prof. A. B. Sageser of the history and government department," A. L. Pugsley, dean of the summer school, said.

"Dale's numerous activities vary from service as volunteer policeman in South Boston during the Police Strike of 1919 to acting dean of the graduate school at the University of Oklahoma," Pugsley remarked. "He is an authority on the history of the West, Indian and ranch life and the social and economic development of the frontier." Pugsley will introduce the assembly speaker.

To Address KSC Historians Dale will also speak at a meeting of social science students and faculty members at 2 p. m. Friday in F202. His address at that time will be on "Adventures in Research."

A research professor of history at the University of Oklahoma and director of the Frank Phillips historical collection, Dr. Dale is a graduate of that University. He received his A. M. degree and doctorate from Harvard. Before going to Oklahoma University as an instructor in history he was a cowboy and ranchman, a county school teacher and a public school superintendent.

Historical societies to which he belongs includes the American Historical Association, Mississippi Valley Historical Association, Agricultural History Society, Oklahoma Historical Association and the Oklahoma

Dr. E. E. Dale

State Folk Lore Association. He has been president or director of several of the societies.

The class schedule for Friday morning is as follows: 1 hour classes normally meeting 7:00 to 7:50 will meet 7:00 to 7:40; 1 1/2 hour classes normally meeting 7:30 to 8:50 will meet 7:10 to 8:30; 1 hour classes normally meeting 8:00 to 8:50 will meet 7:50 to 8:30; 1 hour classes normally meeting 8:40 to 9:20; assembly 9:30 to meeting 9:00 to 10:20 will meet 10:20; 1 hour classes normally meeting 10:00 to 10:50 will meet 10:30 to 11:05; 1 1/2 hour classes normally meeting 10:30 to 11:50 will meet as usual; 1 hour classes normally meeting 11:00 to 11:50 will meet 11:15 to 11:50.

SPC Will Meet Again This Fall at Camp Wood

The annual meeting of the Student Planning Committee will be August 30 to September 1. Any student may attend the three day camp this year.

The full cost of transportation both to and from the conference will be paid by the Student Council. Only expense to the attending students, according to Robert Weatherbie, chairman for the group, will be $6.75, which will cover meals and lodging for the three-day camp.

In a progress report released yesterday, Weatherbie named the tentative committees which will be most active at the conference. The Social and Recreation Committee will study problems concerned with the Student Union, National Students Association, and the All-College Open House; the Student-Faculty Relations Committee confers on campus parking, student re-instatement, and cheating; the Intramural Committee will look into the intramural activities.

Other committees are the Curriculum, Orientation, and Pre-Enrollment Committee, to work on questions dealing with general curriculum, pre-enrollment, and counseling and orientation; the Public Relations Committee, which will deal with the News Bureau, radio station KSAC programs, and bulletin boards on and around the campus; and the Undergraduate Employment and Graduate Placement Committee, which will discuss plans for centralization of files of Kansas State students, in order to facilitate classification for employment purposes. All business not handled by the committees, will be adopted in the form of general resolutions at the conclusion of the conference.

Topics Announced

"The two most important matters before the conference," according to Weatherbie, "will be those of intramural activities and the question of pre-enrollment for upper-classmen." "The latter is of utmost importance at a time when the college enrollment is on a definite up-sweep," he said. "Completion of a pre-enrollment plan would facilitate matters for all concerned, including newly-arrived freshmen, upper classmen, and the faculty as a whole."

Operating as a sub-committee of the Student Council, the S. P. C. comes under the direct supervision of this group. Organized in 1946, the SPC held its first summer meeting at Camp Woods, near Elmdale, Kansas. Again in 1947, the organization held its annual meeting at the same place.

"While comparatively new to the college," Weatherbie said, "the SPC has established itself as a necessary and vitally interesting organization." "The prime purposes of the committee are basic with every student who is interested in the college. The most important of these concepts is the accurate and thorough interpretation of student opinion and ultimate striving to bring about effective results along those lines," the chairman explained. "In addition, it is the purpose of the Student Planning Committee to stimulate student participation in all extra-curricular activities. This, however, does not constitute an attempt by the committee to govern campus activities, but merely to make recommendations as it may see fit to do."

Weatherbie estimated the attendance for this year's camp at about 100 people, to include those who have already submitted their names as members.

"I want as many students to participate as care to," Weatherbie urged, "and I would like to have all organized groups send delegates. Our present plans call for entertainment of various kinds to supplement the daily business at camp, so everyone will be sure to have a good time."

Attend Poultry Meet

The 37th Annual Poultry Science Association meeting will be held June 21-24 at Colorado A&M, Fort Collins, Colo. Five members of the poultry department and one from the chemistry department will represent K-State at the meeting. They will each formally present a paper to the group. The following will attend and present papers: Dr. F. A. Kummerow, Dr. C. D. Muller, Prof. L. F. Payne, Prof. T. B. Avery, Dick Eaton, and Floyd Hixon.

Seven Frats Remain Open

Seven fraternity houses at Kansas State have remained open this summer, according to Prof. V. D. Foltz, who is in charge of Greek affairs at the College.

Although some of the regular house mothers have left Manhattan for the summer, other chaperons have been approved and the houses are providing living quarters for a large number of summer school students. Sorority houses were not in such demand. Not one of the nine houses has remained open this summer. Sorority members who are here for summer school have taken quarters in other approved houses.

Hughes Named New Chem Head

In an announcement Saturday, President Milton S. Eisenhower named Dr. J. S. Hughes as the acting head of the chemistry department effective July 1.

Dr. Hughes will fill the position left by the retirement of Dr. H. H. King. Dr. King will remain on the chemistry staff as professor and emeritus department head.

Dr. Hughes was first an assistant in the chemistry department in 1910. He became an associate in 1914 an associate professor in 1918 and a professor in 1920. He holds B. S. and B. A. degrees from Ohio Wesleyan University and M. A. and PhD degrees from Ohio State.

He belongs to the American Chemical Society, American Society of Biochemists and the American Institute of Nutrition, all professional organizations. Honor societies to which he belongs include Phi Beta Kappa, Sigma Xi, Phi Kappa Phi and Phi Lambda Upsilon.

He has done special research in animal nutrition and is the author of a number of scientific articles and bulletins related to biochemistry and animal nutrition.

Dr. King holds four degrees: A. B. and A. M. from EWing

Dr. J. S. Hughes

College, M. S. from Kansas State College and a PhD from the University of Chicago.

An avid sports fan, Dr. King was Kansas State's representative on the Big Seven Faculty Athletic Council. He is a four-time Country Club golf course champion winning the title in 1921, 1922, 1925 and 1935. He still holds the low score at 28 on the first nine holes.

Enrollment Near Summer Record

Regular school enrollment reached 2,412 Saturday noon with an additional 62 enrolled in three workshop courses. About 150 more students are expected to enroll. Most of the remaining number will attend workshops. Seven more workshops will be held this summer, according to Dean A. L. Pugsley, dean of administration and director of the summer school.

Summer school enrollment will pass the 2,487 mark set last summer, according to Dean Pugsley. Over 2,500 students are expected to attend summer classes.

Veterans led the number to enroll with a total of 1,716 Tuesday. The Veteran Service Office reported 1,418 veterans attending school under Public Law 346, 256 under Public Law 16, and 17 under state rehabilitation, scholarships and army officers. Another 25 veterans are attending workshop courses.

K-State Journalism Judged Among Top Schools of U.S.

Council on Education for Journalism Recognizes Four Major Fields Here

The Journalism department at Kansas State College is one of 35 schools and departments of journalism in the United States which have been accredited by the American Council on Education for Journalism, according to an announcement received by Ralph Lashbrook, head of the department. The announcement from Dr. Earl English of the ACEJ followed an inspection program which began more than two years ago.

The University of Kansas and Kansas State College were the only Kansas institutions accredited. The University of Kansas was accredited for its news-editorial and advertising-management sequences. Kansas State College was accredited for its four major sequences: news-editorial, radio journalism, and agricultural journalism.

The University of Missouri and the University of Minnesota were accredited for seven sequences each. The average was 2.7 sequences per school.

"Representatives of the five major newspaper publisher associations, assisted by teachers of journalism, spent several years in planning the accreditation program. They worked intensively on it the past two years. They have made a thorough investigation and have publicly approved the work of 35 schools," Lashbrook explained.

Accredited Only Seven Percent "There are more than 500 colleges offering some instruction in journalism. Only 35 have developed their work sufficiently to meet the council's standards," he declared.

Forty-nine schools applied for accreditation. Eight dropped out and 41 were visited and investigated. Accreditation was sought for 140 sequences; only 67 per cent were approved. Several schools which had been accredited for many years failed to meet the standards. Four schools, not previously accredited were able to meet the standards.

The Carnegie Corporation, the American Newspaper Publishers Association, Southern Newspaper Publishers Association, Inland Daily Press Association, National Editorial Association, the American Society of Newspaper Editors, Editor and Publisher magazine, and the American Association of Schools and Departments of Journalism financed and conducted the accreditation. The total budget for the two years was more than $20,000.

Visited All Schools

Representatives of the accrediting committee visited colleges, attended classes, inspected facilities, interviewed faculty members and administrative officers and students, sent questionnaires to employers of journalism graduates, and checked on the journalism departments' relations with the newspapers in the state and area before announcing the approved list.

The accrediting committee visited Kansas State College November 21 and 22. Members of the group included Gideon Seymour, executive editor of the Minneapolis, Minn., Star-Tribune, Oscar Stauffer, of Stauffer, Publications and a member of the state board of regents, Veri Bratton, general manager of Radio Station WREN, Dr. Raymond Nixon of Emory University, Atlanta, Ga., and Dr. Earl English of the University of Missouri.

Consider Four Factors

In studying the subjects of specialization or sequences the accrediting committee considered, among other factors, that

1) approximately the full time of a faculty member or part time equivalent be devoted to the area in teaching and counseling.

2) there be a substantial grouping of background courses that contribute to the specialization in the area.

3) a group of students identifies itself with the sequence and that the school maintain records of students' commitment to the program.

4) a sequence have been in operation over a sufficiently long period to have graduated students who are working in the field and whose accomplishments can thus be appraised.

Name Accredited Schools

The 35 accredited schools are California, Colorado, Columbia, Emory, Georgia, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa State, Kansas State, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Louisiana State, Marquette, Michigan, Minnesota, (Continued on Page Two)

Time Changed for Chorus Class

Mr. J. Forrest West, director of the Summer School College Chorus has arranged a more convenient time for practices. The Chorus will now meet on Monday, Tuesday, and Thursday at 4 p. m. The class was originally scheduled for Monday, Wednesday and Friday at 10 A. M. One hour credit will be given for this class, or attendance as an activity will be permitted.

New Students Violate Campus Traffic Laws

Many summer school students have gotten tickets for illegal parking on the campus according to Dean Rodney Babcock. He believes that most of the offenders are new students who are not familiar with the present traffic regulations.

The present rules for operation and parking of motor vehicles on the campus were put into effect last September. Due to the huge increase in the number of student-owned vehicles, the administration decided that more stringent regulations were in order.

Traffic violations are severely dealt with. A student is warned for the first offense, put on probation for the second and suspended for a third violation. Faculty members are warned for one violation, put on probation for two, given a leave without pay for three and dismissed for a fourth offense.

Following are a few important excerpts from the traffic rules:

I. Motor vehicles may be parked on the campus only in accord with posted traffic control signs. No vehicle should be parked so as to interfere with normal vehicular or pedestrian traffic or with entrances or exits to parking areas. The limitations as to reserved areas and limited time parking do not apply between 5 p. m. and 7 a. m. or on Saturday afternoons, Sundays or holidays.

II. Anyone wishing to park or operate a vehicle on the campus must place an identification sticker in the lower right hand corner of the windshield. These stickers are available at the Comptroller's Office, 101 Anderson for a small fee.

III. Persons living within four blocks of the campus are requested not to park on the campus if it is not absolutely necessary.

IV. Motor vehicles shall be operated with care and at a safe speed at all times. Thirty miles per hour is the maximum campus speed limit.

V. The following areas are declared public parking areas:

1. All campus roads except as limited by traffic control signs.

2. Parking areas north of Engineering Building, except pit.

3. Parking area north and northeast of East Waters Hall, north of service drive.

4. Parking area west and southwest of Engineering Drafting Barracks.

5. Parking area north of Temporary Faculty offices and classrooms.

6. Parking area across the township road and northeast of West Waters Hall.

7. Parking area north of Student Union.

8. The following areas are reserved for motorcycles and motor scooters.

a. Parking area immediately east of Illustrations Building.

b. Such stalls as are marked in other areas.

Several other areas are reserved for faculty or college employees and a special faculty-staff sticker is required to park in them. Other areas are reserved for handicapped persons and residents of College housing projects.

Several changes in present regulations have been announced by the parking rules committee. The changes will be effective in September and will not change during the summer term.

Picnickers

College organizations scheduling games at picnics this summer, can borrow softball, volleyball and horse shoe equipment from the Department of Physical Education, Prof. L. P. Washburn has announced. No fee will be charged for use of the equipment.

A. D. Weber Name to New Position

Dr. A. D. Weber, head of the animal husbandry department at Kansas State College, has been appointed assistant director of the Kansas State Agricultural Experiment Station, President Milton S. Eisenhower announced this week.

Dr. Weber will remain as head of the Department of Animal Husbandry.

An instructor in animal husbandry from 1923 to 1926, Dr. Weber went to the University of Nebraska in 1926 and returned to Kansas State in 1931 as a full professor. He earned both his B. S. and M. S. degrees at Kansas State and the PhD degree at Purdue University. He also has attended the University of Wyoming.

Dr. Weber is a member of several honor societies including Sigma Xi, Phi Kappa Phi, Gamma Sigma Delta and Alpha Zeta. He is a Scottish Rite Schriener, a member of Farm House Fraternity and Kiwanis Club. He also is a member of the American Society for Animal Production and the American Association for the Advancement of Science, professional organization.

Dr. Weber has done special research on animal nutrition and feeding and management of farm animals. He is the author of numerous bulletins on animal feeding tests.

Livestock men, who call him "Dad," ask Dr. Weber to address their association meetings frequently. The Kansas Livestock Association this year set up a student loan fund at the College in his name.

Perhaps the outstanding beef cattle judge in the nation, Weber is asked to judge at nearly every major livestock show. He judges regularly at the American Royal in Kansas City, the International Livestock Exposition in Chicago, at the Denver show and at nearly all other livestock shows and expositions in the Midwest.

We'll Print It!

Want your name in the paper? We'll put it there—barring no unusual competition, that is. Yes, we'll print your name and even a sketch of your life history. All you have to do is fail to obey a few simple rules—driving rules.

Of course it may not be you that disregards the rules. It may be—and frequently is—the other driver's fault. Manhattan and surrounding cities have seen several gruesome accidents in the last week. In every case, one driver could very truly say that the other driver was at fault. But the accidents did happen.

As you get this paper, there are six people in the Manhattan hospital as a direct result of automobile accidents. Three others have been released—and are still recovering. The hospital reports that several others have been treated for cuts and bruises, but were not confined within the hospital. All this happened this week.

Students Not Involved

Luckily, none of the local accidents this week involved College students. In fact, very few of the serious accidents in the past year have involved College students. We are proud of this record. Last semester nearly one student in every three enrolled owned a car and brought it to school. For the most part, they were sane and cautious drivers.

The city of Manhattan was recently awarded a plaque for being the safest city of its class in the state. We think this is most commendable. We believe that College students, as well as local residents, had a definite part in earning this recognition. Credit should be given where credit is due.

The Collegian feels that this credit has not been given. In reporting the award, a local paper quoted Mr. C. A. Burlew, Manhattan businessman and chairman of the Chamber of Commerce safety committee. Mr. Burlew, according to the report, said "the success of the safety campaigns have been due to the fine cooperation and unselfish effort of members of Manhattan's civic clubs and other organizations." No mention of the thousands of automobile drivers, or for that matter, of the men, women and children who have been careful in walking rules. No mention of an exceptional student safety record. (The city's police chief did give credit to "the city's automobile drivers and pedestrians.")

Mis-quoted or Thoughtless?

We wonder if our brother newsmen could have mis-quoted Mr. Burlew—or if he really made such an asinine statement. We, too, believe that the Chamber of Commerce and other organizations have worked hard for safety. But they are not alone in their efforts.

Every student can be proud of our safety record. But it must be remembered that you can't get your name in the paper for being a safe driver. Go ahead and break a rule—take a chance. We'll print the story.

Have a Heart, Profs!

"Not only do I have a lot of stuff to read for tomorrow, I have to cover that many pages every night," complained a summer school student as she mopped her brow.

Many other students were finding that a K-Stater can't let many assignments slip and keep up the pell-mell summer school pace.

In addition to term assignments, students had to double their speed on regular course work, despite the hot weather. Typical daily assignments made by instructors on the first day of school were: ESSENTIALS OF READING, Mrs. Z. Hockett—an autobiography plus a list of suggestions of problems to be discussed during the course this summer plus a paper on the philosophy of education. DIAGNOSIS AND PRESCRIPTION, Frank Thompson—read and outline the first 52 pages of the text.

NEW AMERICAN NATION, Prof. A. B. Sager—30 to 50 pages a day in the text plus an 800-page report to read for the next week.

Classifies Ad Columns

By Helen Peterson

(Ed. Note: Helen is a former editor of the Collegian and a journalism graduate. She is now employed on the campus as UNESCO publications director.)

Threatened, and depressed by the news that papers have been printing on their front pages lately, I've hunted for escape. When anyone says it is impossible to find romance in the want ads, I bring up the tender story of Ray and Gladys. I first met Ray about a year ago in the Kansas City Star. "FOUND—ladies bracelet at skating rink. Owner can have same by meeting me there Saturday night."

I didn't hear any more from Ray until about two months later when I recognized his phone number on this item: "WANTED—small apt. downtown by newly married couple."

I made a mental note to keep my eye peeled for "WANTED—second-hand baby carriage" advertisements. I didn't know then what was to follow. But then one evening about six months afterwards there was this notice with Ray's name and phone number: "I will no longer be responsible for debts contracted by my wife Gladys or by anyone other than myself."

Sadly I read this ad—also with Ray's phone number—in the same paper. "FOR RENT—small apt. downtown."

I have even found a success story in the want ads. Emory broke into print about a month ago and has been there almost every evening since. His debut, a simple one, was made in the swap column: "Will swap fountain pen for wrist watch." The next evening Emory was back again: "Will swap men's wrist watch for radio." And the next night Emory was still there: "Will swap radio for second-hand motorcycle."

The last ad I mentioned appeared three weeks ago. Right now I'm told Emory is trying to swap a cottage on lake Waunsee for a fairly good grain and feed business, although I understand he has several other irons in the fire.

Lauds Student Voice

By Dean A. L. Pugsley

Often at national meetings of college administrators I hear the question, "How much of a voice should students have in determining the program and policy of the College?"

On many college campuses I find they have none. On other campuses individual students and student organizations make limited recommendations to their administration. At some schools such recommendations are tossed into the wastebasket, but at others they are considered fully and often they are put into effect. On still a few other campuses students are included in the working groups engaged in formulating the program of the college. Not many colleges follow this last practice, but it seems to me that for a truly democratic institution this practice permits the student viewpoint to be heard and considered at the time it is most needed.

Much of the work and planning for activities of this College is handled by committees. Faculty members of our all-College committees are appointed by the President, after consulting with the deans and other staff members. Last year, acting upon the advice of the Student Planning Conference the President increased the number of students on most of these all-College committees to two, and the students he appointed were recommended by the Student Council.

From all over the campus we have had favorable reports concerning the contributions these students have made in the committee work. This year again students will be included on the membership lists of all-College committees, with favorable reports concerning the contribution that they will contribute to the College.

When the committee lists are published it seems to me that most students will wish to identify the student members on each committee, and then discuss their own ideas with these student committee-men concerning the problems confronting the committee. As a matter of fact these student committee members are pretty important people. They will keep on being important, too, just as long as they continue to reflect the viewpoint of most of the students.

Two summer school students look over the latest information posted on the new permanent bulletin board at the main entrance to the College. The board was built as a gift to the College from the senior class of 1948 and was completed this week. Funds for the project were solicited by mail. Class President Irvin Gandee made the arrangements for construction of the bulletin board.

Radio Journalism programs in these 13 schools received the Council's endorsement: Emory University, University of Georgia, University of Illinois, Iowa University, Kansas State College, University of Minnesota, University of Missouri, Montana State University, Northwestern University, Ohio State University, University of Oregon, Syracuse University and University of Wisconsin.

Agricultural Journalism curriculum in six land-grant colleges met the Council's standards: Iowa State College, Kansas State College, University of Minnesota, University of Missouri, Oklahoma A. & M. College and the department of agricultural journalism at the University of Wisconsin.

Recognized Ag. Journalism
Iowa State, Kansas State, Oklahoma A. & M. and the University of Wisconsin department of agricultural journalism received approval for work being offered in home economics journalism.

The Council also announced that the first steps in evaluating several schools which did not apply for inclusion on the present list is already under way. A deadline of September 30 has been set for applications from schools desiring to be added to the accredited list during the 1948-49 year. The Council plans to revise its list of accredited schools each year.

Schools on the present list will be asked to submit to re-examination within a five-year period, the Council announced.

Kansas Nurserymen
Met Here Monday

More than 75 nurserymen and horticulturalists from all parts of the state were in their annual conference Monday at the College.

This morning they visited greenhouses on the campus, the College floral gardens, the shrub arboretum and other landscaped areas.

At the horticulture farm, southeast of Manhattan the conference delegates inspected the vineyard and cherry, apple, peach and plum orchards. They also visited the rootstock experiments, strawberry plots and vegetable plots.

Among those present were Emmett Blood, Wichita, president of the State Horticultural organization; H. L. Drake, Bethel, past president; G. W. Kinkead, Topeka, secretary-treasurer; and R. B. Ricklefs, Salina, president of the Kansas Nurserymen's Association.

Prather Starts Olympic Trials

Rollin Prather, K-State's hope for an Olympic position, left this morning with track coach Ward Haylett and Director of Athletics Thurlio McCrady for Minneapolis, Minn., on the first leg of an Olympic qualifying jaunt. Prather will compete in the shotput and discus events in the National Collegiate Athletic Association track and field meet June 18 and 19.

Haylett will move on to Bloomfield, N. J., to conduct the Olympic trials in the decathlon following the Minnesota meet. He is coach of the American decathlon team. Prather and McCrady will return to Manhattan.

The big field star will meet his coach in Milwaukee July 2. He will enter the same events there at the National Amateur Athletic Union meet July 2 and 3. To be eligible for the final Olympic tryout meet at Northwestern July 8 and 9, Prather must finish among the first six places in either the NCAA or AAU meets. He can qualify for the Olympic meet in either the shotput or discus or both.

Haylett considers Prather's chances of reaching the Olympic tryout finals as "far above average." To make the American track and field squad, which will compete in England in the international games, Prather must place in any of the first three places in either event in the tryout finals.

Regardless of Prather's performance, Haylett will sail with the American team and his decathlon squad from New York on July 10. The popular track coach will not return to Manhattan from England until September 1.

Baseball at K-State, by K-Staters will continue through the summer months. Most of the members of the 1948 Wildcat team who are too old for ABLA competition have formed a club called the "Manhattan Aggies." The Aggies will receive their first test tonight when they cross bats with Cleburne at Griffith Stadium at 8 o'clock.

Many of the names in the line-up will be familiar to followers of K-State baseball fortunes. Gabe Bartley, who sparked so many of the Wildcat rallies last season, will be in centerfield. Bob Ives, Billy Melody and Dorsey Askew also will probably see considerable duty in the outfield.

The infield will have Don Nelsen at first base, Jack Nelsen at second, Oren Blaser at shortstop and Al Sheriff, who is managing the club, at third. Jack Shagool will see utility duty. All of this aggregation has at one time or another been associated with the Wildcat baseball squad, so they should all give the opposition's grounders a bad time.

The catching will be handled by Luther Moore. His is probably the only name unfamiliar to local fans. He has shown to be a capable receiver and possesses power at the plate.

The pitching staff will be Bill Springer, Ray Henton, Carl Lemon and Sheriff. Lemons is known by his reputation as an ABLA third base star. He will be used in the infield if any trouble is encountered there.

Last season Cleburne was beaten only three times. So far this year its record isn't too impressive. The local ABLA team has encountered Cleburne once this season and came out on the long end of an 8 to 2 score.

Coeds Go for a Cool Daily Dip

"Swimming is by far the most popular physical education course with Kansas State coeds this summer," states Prof. Katherine Geyer, head of the women's physical education department. "The pool on the women's side of Nichols Gym must be a welcome refuge from the hot sun and stuffy classrooms," she laughed.

More than 50 women have enrolled in the three sections open this summer. Beginners try to learn at 9 and 2 o'clock every day. Women who already know who but are trying to improve their skill swim at 11 a. m. daily. The intermediate swimmers may practice life saving techniques later this summer, Miss Geyer said.

"Our beginners are fast losing their tendency to be water shy," Miss Geyer said. She and Assoc. Prof. Eva Lyman are teaching the swimming courses this summer.

Athletic Shift Advances Myers, Knorr Saturday

Fritz Knorr and Frank Myers were the figures involved in an athletic department shift announced Saturday night by Thurlio E. McCrady, director of athletics.

Genial Frank Myers, assistant to the director since 1926, has moved into the intramural office to guide men's intramural activities under the direction of L. P. Washburn, head of men's physical education. Myers will oversee an expanding intramural program.

"We have needed a full-time man for our intramural program for some time and feel that Frank will fulfill that need," McCrady said.

Washburn and Frank Thompson have run intramural program while under the burden and responsibilities of a teaching schedule.

Knorr, a former K-State football, basketball and wrestling star, has moved into the vacancy created by Myers' transfer. Prior to this move, he was serving as physical education instructor, assistant freshman football coach and football scout. His new job will consist of handling athletic department business matters.

Knorr came to K-State as a physical education instructor in 1942. During basketball Coach Jack Gardner's navy tenure, he guided Wildcat cage fortunes. He was line coach of the 1945 Wildcat football team. Myers was graduated from Kansas State in 1925, Knorr in 1932.

Intramurals

Men's Intramural Letter: At an intramural meeting Monday, June 14, we decided in favor of an Intramural Softball Tournament for the summer session. The tournament will be handled similar to the one last summer when we had nine-team league and ran a single round-robin schedule.

If your organization is interested in entering a team, please contact the Intramural Office, N 107, immediately. The following rules were agreed upon: (1) An eligibility list, giving names of all members of the team. This must be turned in no later than Monday, June 21. (2) All games will be played at 5:15 p. m. and the number of nights of the week will be determined by the number of teams entered. (3) There will be two fields, designated as West Field (old varsity ball field which is west and north across the intersection from the engineering building, and East Field, which is on the east campus.

Just as soon as all entries are in we will draw up a schedule which will be posted on the Intramural Bulletin Board, located at the West entrance of Nichols gym.

Please understand that this is merely a recreational program and while no trophies or medals will be awarded we feel sure that a lot of enjoyment and diversion can be obtained by those participating.

All notices, schedules and other information pertinent to the Intramural program will be posted on the Intramural Bulletin Board. Make it a habit of consulting this board daily.

Signed,
Frank Myers, Director of Men's Intramurals.

Five representatives of organized teams were present at the men's intramural meeting today, according to Myers. Teams that signed to play softball and their managers are: Outcasts, Don Borthwick; Cubs, Warren Harding; Tekes, Helihan; Sig Alpha, Bob McKee and Physical Education Majors, Ray Robbins.

Myers emphasized that a tennis tournament could be conducted if enough men were interested. He asked that all interested in this sport contact the Intramural Office immediately.

Women's Intramural Notes—Miss Katherine Geyer, head of the women's physical education department, announced a regular swimming hour from 4 to 5 p. m. Monday through Thursday throughout the summer session for women students. She also advised women interested in ping pong and tennis to contact her immediately.

FRANK MYERS

Chalk Talk

By Pat Patterson

When Ralph Graham first took over the skipper-ship of K-State football last spring, he said his biggest job would be overcoming the defeatist attitude of the team. He really believed it impossible that the Cats were as poor man for man and team for team as the 1947 season's record seemed to indicate.

Frank Myers, left, and Fritz Knorr, received new jobs in a recent athletic department shake-up. Myers will take over a newly created spot in the expanding intramurals program while Knorr takes over Myers' old job as business manager and assistant to the director.

We have been talking to some of the footballers who went through Graham's spring school and who will be on hand for opening of fall practice on September 1. Their confidence and flat predictions of approaching Wildcat victories were both encouraging and amazing. Almost to a man, they called the spirit "great."

1948 victories were predicted by both veterans and newcomers. Included on the probable victim list were Iowa State, Colorado, Arkansas State and St. Louis.

"Sure," you laugh. I've heard that song before. It's easy to win 'em on paper. Well, that's the kind of fight Coach Graham is looking for. When he got his charges coming out of spring practice looking forward to whipping the opposition next fall he considered a big part of his reconstruction job completed. It'll be easier to teach those kind of fellows what they need to know to follow up the words than the "tail between the legs" kind. We think it is a downright encouraging sign when a team can predict three or four victories in the face of ridicule from those who remember 26 straight times the Cats have been on the bottom.

If Jack Gardner's basketball team had come out last September and said it would win the conference championship, you'd have laughed then. Yet the same team that finished last in 1946-47, with the valuable addition of one important man, drove on to that championship. It didn't say it verbally, but if you don't think confidence and determination had anything to do with weathering that cage campaign, then brother you don't think! Before the team left to play Oklahoma A & M in the NCAA fifth district playoff, man for man it predicted a victory. And it played with that confidence.

We're simply saying that it's a good sign when a team that has tasted defeat for 26 straight times, has the courage to predict without reservation that it will win three or four games.

Plunge Open

Approximately one-fourth of the season tickets sold at the Municipal Swimming Pool in the city park were purchased by students and faculty members of Kansas State College.

Robert Swengel is general manager of the pool. John Chitwood, Earl Williams and Dick Sigman, are life-guards at the pool. They are all K-State students.

As a result of the large enrollment and warm weather thus far, the pool has proven to be one of Manhattan's most frequented recreational spots.

K-State Ag Student Killed in Accident

Edwin Draney 19, Fairview, Kansas, junior in animal husbandry here last semester, died Monday at the St. Anthony hospital in Sabetha from injuries received last Thursday. Draney lost control of his 1947 Pontiac sedan, which skidded 200 feet and turned over.

Draney was a member of the Alpha Gamma Rho fraternity, the Animal Husbandry club and a cadet lieutenant in the Kansas State R. O. T. C. unit. Funeral services are today at the St. Augustus Catholic church, Fidelity Kansas.

Wildcat Club Sets Ticket Mark

Further optimism toward the approaching football season was evidenced recently when Fritz Knorr, newly appointed athletics business manager, received the largest single order for a block of reserved season football tickets ever made at K-State. The record order came from the Wildcat Club, an organization of Wildcat athletic boosters.

The 1,000 reservations also surpasses the total pre-season sale made for any one K-State football season.

Thilo McCrady, director of athletics said indications are that football attendance may reach a new high at K-State this fall.

With Same Company

Five 1948 Kansas State graduates are working for the same company. The company is the Stanolind Oil and Gas company with general offices in Tulsa, Okla.

The graduates with their degrees and present addresses are: W. R. Elkhart, Jr., business administration, working in the accounting department, general office, Tulsa, Okla.; R. S. Harvey, business administration, working in the producing department, Ulysses, Kans.; J. E. Henderson, business administration, working in the producing department, Gorham, Kans.; D. J. Howard, business administration, working in the producing department, Ellinwood, Kans.; and C. T. Sultor, electrical engineering and business administration, working in the producing department, Gorham, Kans.

Hal Totten, farm director for radio station WGN was among campus visitors yesterday. Totten made recordings of faculty interviews for future use on the station's farm programs.

Nine K-State Grads to Teaching Positions

Names of nine graduates who have accepted high school teaching positions recently have been announced by H. Leigh Baker, education and psychology department head. They are Carl M. Smith, to be principal of the Glen Elder high school; Billy Buzenbark, to be a biology instructor at Karney, Neb.; Ernest Biery, commerce at Glen Elder; Clifford Ann Timmermeyer, home economics, at Atchison; Willis Elaine Cross, home economics at Soldier.

Alberta Broves, home economics at Hope; Thelma Elaine Pierce, home economics at Olathe; Bert Eklund, physical education and science at Lindsborg, and Jack Larson, social science at Larned.

Wins Golf Cup

C. J. "Chief" Medlin, graduate manager of student publications, returned from Wichita Sunday with a large loving cup won in the Kansas Editorial Association golf tournament Friday and Saturday. Medlin captured first place in the consolation flight.

Officers Elected by Demonstrators

Mr. John Burge, Lyons, was elected treasurer of the Kansas Home Demonstration Council at the ninth annual assembly of the council which closed here Friday. Mrs. Hilston Waite, Scandia, is the new northwest district director to succeed Mrs. Peter Janousek, Wilson. Mrs. Burge replaces Mrs. Lindsay Rochat, Wilsey.

The remainder of the council officers were re-elected to serve out their three years' term. Mrs. Verne W. Alden, Wells-ville, continues as president.

Mrs. L. Allen Beck, Denver, executive secretary of the American Association for the United Nations, told the 150 rural women leaders attending the Sears-Roebuck Foundation dinner that it was their duty as Christian women to work and pray for the success of the United Nations.

"You must have faith and knowledge and translate this faith and knowledge into action," she declared. "You can go to work immediately in your own precincts to advance the cause of peace. Apply your minds to the mastery of the machinery of the United Nations."

"The church has not done away with sin, neither has the school done away with ignorance, yet none of us would consider these great institutions failures. By the same token, the United Nations has not done away with war as yet, but its support will mean that there will be less war and less insecurity."

Chairman of council committees appointed for the coming year are: Mrs. Cleo McAtee, Lyons, program of work; Mrs. Reuben Royer, Newton, standard of excellence; Mrs. Paul Edgar, Topeka, legislation; Mrs. O. L. Norton, Glasco, publicity; and Mrs. R. E. Mehl, Kinsley, constitution and by-laws.

National Writers Tour the State

Writers for the national magazines and newspapers and others from the east interested in livestock are swinging through Kansas on a tour of the central and southwest livestock producing regions of the United States.

The Kansas tour began at Topeka, where the group left a special railway car and were brought here by automobile. They were entertained by the Kansas Livestock Association Tuesday evening in Wichita. Will J. Miller, KLA secretary, arranged transportation and staff members of the College planned the day's itinerary.

The group visited the 1,143-acre grass utilization project here this morning and were to be President Milton S. Eisenhower's guests at a luncheon in the College cafeteria at noon, according to R. I. Throckmorton, dean of the School of Agriculture at the College.

At the College pastures, A. G. Pickett of the animal husbandry department will describe work in progress to develop a system of beef production which will include grass as an important part of the animal's feed. Capt. Dan D. Casement, Manhattan rancher, will address the group at the luncheon.

SOCIETY

AT STATE

Sometimes summer school takes the whirl out of society, but don't let the sun melt your ideas of chocolates or roses. Have some parties or officers elections, too. By the way, I don't know where all the social lights glow this summer so if something does happen, just come into Kedzie and leave any item of interest on the Society hook.

Merlene Nutter of Peabody and Harold Snyder of Topeka were married June 6 at the Methodist Church in Peabody. They are both attending school this summer.

Ralph Rickles and Marjorie Perucell, both of Salina were married June 13. Ralph, a member of Beta Theta Pi, graduated this spring.

Bill Faith and Elain Muscil, both of Manhattan, were married June 12 in the Methodist Church. Elain is a graduate of Kansas State, and Bill, a Kappa Sig, is still in school.

Jean Greenough of Solomon has been elected as president of Van Zile Hall for the summer. Joan Knight, Bonner Springs, is the new secretary and treasurer, Dorcas Wilson of Burr Oak is social chairman and Vena Ferguson, Hutchinson, is the song leader. These girls were elected Monday night by the seventy-nine summer residents of Van Zile.

Thelma Stadel of Riley and Clarence Harr of Emporia will be married June 22 at Riley. They were both Kansas State students last year.

Jerry Brotherson, TKE from Kansas City, and Betty Daily of Manhattan, were married June 6 in Manhattan. Jerry is attending summer school.

It might have been a White Summer Rose Dance Sunday evening, for there were 35 Sigma Nus and their dates dancing to the music of Johnnie Long at Meadow Acres in Topeka.

Carol Crow, student of Kansas University, was wearing the pin of Duane Gregg. Duane is a Sigma Nu from Hiawatha.

Ruth Daily, Alpha Xi of Manhattan and Charles Becker, TKE from Logan, will be married June 19 at the Seven Dolors Church in Manhattan. They are both in school this summer.

Don Ford, TKE from Marysville, and Carol Clark, Alpha Xi of Topeka, were married in Topeka Sunday afternoon, May 21. Don, who graduated from Kansas State Sunday evening, May 30, is going to be a math teacher next fall.

Al Langton, SPE from Wichita, was married to Katherine Lowell in Concordia, June 6. Kathie is a member of Chi Omega and Al was FMOC last year.

Joe Lundholm, graduate student, was married to Marjorie Show, June 6. Marjorie is from

College Library Offers Variety Of Magazines

They don't do it, but the librarians at Kansas State College could boast "Name the magazine you want, and we will hand it to you."

The librarians, however, admit having enough non-serious reading material to be part of the summer school recreation program.

First floor of the library contains more than 1,000 current magazines and periodicals, ranging alphabetically from the French Adademie d'Agriculture to the German Zuchtungskunde, also an agricultural publication.

But the magazines are not all technical, dry publications. Anyone thinking so should look at France Illustration. Its advertisements for cognac, perfume, lingerie and other items leave little for the imagination.

"Just enough," they'd probably tell you in Paris. "Parer sa nudite," the lingerie ad says. With the illustration accompanying the ad, one need not know French to see what they are talking about. But there's nothing wrong. They are only trying to sell lingerie.

Most of the magazines are American. Life, U. S. News, Colliers, Fortune, Saturday Evening Post, National Geographic and Holiday are among the most popular.

Regardless of one's interests, he may likely find his favorite magazine in the College library. Lining three walls of the first floor reading room are magazines on nature, music, national parks, taxes, writing, selling, buying, bees, cattle, horses, sheep, atomic scientists and so on.

If a student is thinking seriously of a matrimonial plunge, he or she might like Better Homes and Gardens, Good Housekeeping, The House Beautiful, The American Home or Woman's Home Companion. If, on the other hand, she's recently been jilted, there is "The Independent Woman." In extreme cases, one might want "The Modern Cemetery."

For the mother or father, Child Welfare, Parents and other magazines and books with similar titles are available.

The student planning a vacation between summer school and September may start enjoying it now by reading about the national parks or other places he plans to visit. Books to be displayed next week at the library feature travel, outdoor sports, building, handicrafts and other hobbies and recreation.

Also on the first floor for recreational reading are papers from nearly every town and county in Kansas. Your home town paper is likely among them, the librarians say. If you're looking for recreational reading, the College library is the place to go, they say.

Addition to Kedzie Nears Completion

A new binding room in the basement of Kedzie is rapidly nearing completion. Long cramped for ample space, this addition will provide approximately 1,135 square feet of additional floor space.

The present binding room is to be occupied in the future by printing equipment, according to Prof. E. T. Keith of the Journalism department.

This addition was requested by Prof. Ralph Lashbrook, head of the Department of Industrial Journalism, and was approved by the President's office.

To Florist Meeting

The Kansas State Florist Association will have a meeting June 22-23 in Wichita, Kans. Dr. W. F. Pickett announced.

Prof. R. A. Keen, W. W. Willis and W. F. Pickett will attend the meeting. Professor Keen will be on the program, and conduct a round-table discussion on Recent Developments in Greenhouse Management. Dr. Pickett will serve on a committee conferring with the state board of directors.

Damage Slight in Rainstorm

About two and one half inches of rain fell in less than three hours early Tuesday morning. One and three-tenths inches fell in less than 30 minutes. At press time the entire lot occupied by Moro Courts was still under water.

Despite heavy wind and rain very little damage was done to buildings and trees on the campus.

Although water was to be found in the basement of Anderson Hall and several other buildings on the campus, damage was very slight, according to R. F. Gingrich of maintenance.

The water had to be removed from the floors which in several cases involved carrying it out in buckets. Water seeping into basements of buildings during heavy rains is not uncommon Gingrich said.

A few limbs were broken from trees but damage was not believed to be serious, according to caretakers.

O. U. Professor Tells Assembly Culture Present

Although people in the west lived in sod houses they did have a certain amount of culture, Edward Everett Dale, policeman, cowboy, author and research professor of history at the University of Oklahoma, told students and faculty members at the first summer assembly Friday.

Despite the fact the home was built of sod or logs it usually overlooked a place of beauty and with the addition of a few shrubs, vines and flowers became as much a place of beauty to the settlers as our homes of today.

Interior decorations were provided by both husband and wife, the Oklahoma historian said. The husband contributed his bit by carving pieces of furniture and the wife furnished fine linens, from the east, crocheting and patchwork quilts which added to the beauty of the home.

Two types of musical instruments existed in general on the Western frontier, the Jews harp and the French harp accompanied by the wailing of the family dog. Each community always had one gifted musician who played the fiddle during community gatherings.

The works of literature from the pioneers consisted chiefly of the tall tales of the frontier, "Two-gun" Dale, as he is of the tall tales of the frontier, friends. The few books that did exist were read over and over and were sometimes the cause of the burnt offerings that wives placed before the family as a meal, Dale said. Sheets of news and newspapers that were printed were read from beginning to end. Dale told that many frontier children learned to read by studying advertisements and took great pride in reading receipts.

In closing he recited one of his poems entitled, "The Road," which told how sad it was to go, but how cheerful it was to return.

Order Soon

Orders for senior commencement invitations should be placed at the sales counter, Kedzie 101, by July 6, according to Prof. E. T. Keith, head of the printing department.

Students should order invitations at the earliest possible date, Professor Keith said. No orders will be accepted after the deadline, according to Professor Keith. All candidates for degrees should order caps and gowns from the Campus Book Store before July 1, according to Eleanor Tibbets, registrar. Applications for degrees should be made in the registrar's office and commencement fees paid in the business office before July 8, Miss Tibbets said.

YM - YW Members from Estes Park

Twenty-four YMCA and YWCA members returned this week from a 10 day conference at Estes Park, Colo., according to Bill West, YMCA executive secretary. West and Miss Billie Parkins, YWCA executive secretary, accompanied the group on the trip.

The conference was built around three general meetings each day, West said. Worship services were held each morning at the park. A platform address was given by Dr. Daniel Williams of the Chicago Theological Seminary who spoke daily on the meaning of religion. Miss Muriel Jacobson, national secretary of the YWCA, spoke on the evening platform on the social analysis of our times. West led the group on vocational guidance.

Three K-State students were elected to national or state offices at the conference. Bob Weatherby was elected district representative, Pat Nelson, state intercollegiate chairman, and Roger Wilk, delegate at large to the regional council.

Miss Parkins left the conference for Los Angeles, Calif., where she reported June 15 to take charge of a student industry project.

Tjerandsen Succeeds Walker in Institute of Citizenship

Playground Soon in Elliot Courts

An organized playground for children of student veterans living in Campus Courts is nearing completion on a vacant plot at the northeast corner of Elliot Courts, according to Mrs. Philip Rude, chairman of the playground organizing committee of the Student Wives Education Association.

Contributions from the Kansas State College Veterans Association, the College Housing office and a canvass of the housing units are responsible for the playground and its equipment, Mrs. Rude said.

Equipment, being built by donated labor includes swings, teetertotters, sand boxes, slides, a climbing tower, jungle gym, baby gym and box swings.

Dr. R. A. Walker's resignation as director of Kansas State College's Institute of Citizenship, Professor Carl Tjerandsen's appointment as new director, and Dr. Earl E. Edgar's promotion to associate director were announced here today by President Milton S. Eisenhower. All three administrative changes are effective September 1.

Slow Down

Speed limits for Seventeenth and Eighteenth Streets and the streets running through Hilltop and Elliot Courts, College-operated housing units, will be 15 miles per hour, according to an announcement by A. Thornton Edwards, housing director. The speed limit for the road running along the north boundary of the courts will be 20 miles per hour, he added. Signs have been posted indicating the new limits, and students living in each of the courts have been deputized by county sheriff B. E. Deckert to enforce them.

Doctor Walker has resigned to become assistant director of the Foreign Service Institute in the U. S. Department of State, Washington, D. C. He has headed the Institute of Citizenship since its establishment, in September, 1945. He has also been chairman of the Kansas Commission for UNESCO, since the constitutional convention of the Commission in December, 1947.

New Director with OSS Professor Tjerandsen, the new director, has also been with the Institute since its inception, coming here from the Office of Strategic Services.

MORE THAN 100 COUPLES WAITING

Housing Office Policy Announced by Edwards

By Ralph Alden

More than 100 couples are on the fall semester waiting lists for College operated housing units. In releasing the housing figures for the fall term yesterday, Housing Director A. Thornton Edwards said that only married veterans students and faculty members are eligible for the College operated units.

Those on the lists include 66 student veterans with children, 30 without children, and five faculty members. There are 469 accommodations for married student veterans and faculty members.

The college can also accommodate, in addition to those in the city, 530 single students. Consequently, there is no shortage of rooms for single students.

Last July, 87 student veterans with children and 69 without children were on waiting lists for college housing. A separate list for faculty members was not maintained at that time.

According to Mr. Edwards, the present policy of the Housing office in regard to reservation lists is as follows:

Lists will be kept separately for each college semester or enrollment period. The sections for the PHA apartments are: full - time veterans students with children; teaching faculty including teaching graduate assistants (with or without children), paid $100 or more per month, but excluding anyone receiving a family income of more than $350 per month; and full-time veterans without children.

For the fall semester of 1948-49, vacancies will be filled in the ratio of three full time veterans with children to one faculty member. For the spring semester of 1949, two full time veterans with children and one faculty member will be taken from the lists. For the summer session of 1949 and thereafter, the vacancies will be supplied on the basis of one veteran with children and one faculty member. In all cases, veterans without children will be considered when the other two lists are exhausted.

Lists for trailers and trailer parking space will be kept singly with no priorities. Those listed must be full time veteran students, veteran teaching faculty or veteran teaching graduate assistants.

A deposit will place a depositor's name on one of the lists, i. e., fall, spring or summer. The particular list must be designated by the depositor. A depositor may have his name placed on more than one list by making a $10 deposit for each list.

When an enrollment period passes and the depositor has not been accommodated, he may recover his deposit or request that it be placed on another list. Each such entry will be made at the bottom of the future list.

If accommodations are made available at any time before a deposit is withdrawn and the depositor does not accept, his $10 deposit will not be refunded. If accommodations are available, no deposit will be refunded within 21 days of the first enrollment date of each semester, for reservations should not be made unless the depositor wishes accommodations. At the depositor's request a deposit may be changed from the current list to a future list at any time before 21 days previous to the first enrollment date of the current semester. A deposit once forfeited cannot later be applied on another list. When a depositor accepts accommodations, he may apply the deposit as rent.

Hughes Will Speak To Student Wives

Dr. J. S. Hughes, chemistry professor, will be the speaker at the meeting of the Student Wives next Wednesday night, June 30, at 8 o'clock in Anderson Hall, room 221.

The subject for his talk will be "Why We Look and Act the Way We Do." It will concern vitamins and their effect upon individuals. A feature of the lecture will be a pictorial presentation by the use of slides.

Tom Sawyer Is Free Pic June 19

"The Adventures of Tom Sawyer" will be the free movie shown to summer school students, faculty members and their families next Tuesday evening, June 29, at 8 o'clock, in the Memorial Stadium.

The movie tells the adventure-packed story of the boyhood of the author, Samuel Clemens, better known as Mark Twain. Set in Twain's home town, Hannibal, Mo., around 1845, the story is depicted for movie audiences in a film starring Tom Kelley as Tom Sawyer, May Robson as Aunt Polly and Walter Brennan as Huck Finn's drunken "Pop." Two colored animated cartoons also will be presented. In case of rain the movie will be shown in W115.

Tailoring Workshop Closes; 23 Graduate

One woman from Oregon and another from Virginia were among 23 members of the two-weeks workshop in advanced tailoring which closed here Friday. Others were instructors in Kansas colleges and high schools, according to Martha M. Kramer, assistant dean of the home economics school.

By devoting eight hours a day to one course, the workshops cover a full semester's work in two weeks.

The second workshop sponsored by the School of Home Economics this summer is called Home Furnishings. Starting Monday morning, the course will be on the repair of wood and upholstered furniture, according to Dean Kramer. The course will be concluded in two weeks.

Dr. Lester E. Erwin, assistant professor of bacteriology at Kansas State College, is in Fort Collins, Colo., this week attending a meeting of the National Poultry Science Association.

$500 Scholarship to Oliver Steele

Oliver P. Steele Junior in electrical engineering, is the winner of the 1948-49 Westinghouse scholarship. A letter and a certificate from the Westinghouse Educational Foundation were mailed to Steele yesterday at his home in Washington, Kansas, according to information released by the President's office. The award includes $500 cash to be used by Steele during his senior year.

The prize is awarded annually to an outstanding student in electrical engineering. Both scholarship and leadership are considered in the judging. The committee for the award was headed this year by Prof. R. G. Kioeffler, of the E. E. department. Last year's winner was Gabe Sellers, of Manhattan.

The $500 has been received from Westinghouse and deposited with the office of the comptroller, where Steele may claim it upon enrollment this fall. Steele is a member of Eta Kappa Nu honorary organization for electrical engineering students.

Boost Announced For Subsistence

Veteran's claims for increase in the rate of subsistence for dependents are subject to a new ruling Orval Ebberts, head of the Veterans Service Office, said yesterday.

Veterans who had dependents on April 1 have until July 1 to establish those dependencies with the Veterans Administration and will receive increased subsistence from April 1 when proof of the dependencies has been furnished to the Veterans Administration.

After July 1, the Veterans Administration will pay increased subsistence for dependents beginning the date the evidence of the dependencies is received by the Veterans Administration.

Attend Workshop

Paul Griffith, extension economist and Miss Gladys Myers, extension home management specialist, are attending a regional farm and home planning workshop at the University of Illinois, Champaign, from Monday through Saturday this week.

Staff Conducts Alfalfa Research

Alfalfa dehydrating experiments now underway here on the campus may save thousands of dollars to the farmers of the state, according to Prof. William H. Honstead, head of the chemical engineering department. The experiments, financed by the Kansas Industrial Development Commission, are conducted in the chemical engineering building by College staff members.

John Koegle, graduate research assistant, is in charge of the alfalfa project. Assisting Koegle are Professor Honstead and Dean Braden, assistant professor in the department.

"We are attempting to discover the effect upon the rate of drying," Professor Honstead explained, "of moisture content of the alfalfa, the temperature of the gases involved, the air velocity, and the rate of rotation of the cylinder."

"When we have done this," he said, "the quality of the dried alfalfa will be correlated with this other data."

"We are doing all of our experimental work in the basement of the chemical engineering building," Professor Honstead added, "on a pilot model of an actual dehydrator, plans for which were designed here at the College."

Stressing the importance of alfalfa meal as feed, Professor Honstead said, "Alfalfa meal is an important source of carotene, and the retention of this essential material is a factor of prime importance in the conducting of these experiments."

"The experiments, begun in 1944, will continue for some time," according to the professor.

K-State Senior Files For Representative

Kansas State College has an entry in the Republican candidates for state representatives. He is Albert B. Fletcher, Jr., a senior from Junction City who has filed for the Republican nomination for state representative from Geary County.

Fletcher, who will receive his degree from the College at the completion of the present summer session, spent two years during the war with the air corps in Italy. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Byrne Fletcher of Junction City.

RESEARCH FINDS NEW HOME

Modern Small Animal Laboratory Is to Be Complete for Spring Semester

By James Mall

Work will be completed on the College's new Small Animal Laboratory in time for the spring semester, according to an announcement yesterday by W. B. Duncan, state supervising architect. The new building will replace the former quarters for research equipment, which was destroyed by fire in 1941.

As a result of the fire the Kansas Legislature appropriated $125,000 to construct a replacement building. War was soon declared, and the reconstruction program was temporarily abandoned. A new start on the building began last fall. Progress was hindered by a shortage of materials and rising costs. An additional grant of $75,000 was voted by the legislature from the Kansas Educational Fund.

Location of the new Small Animal Laboratory is between West Waters Hall and the

The structure is to be completely waterproof and fire-proof and it will be air-conditioned throughout. Plans call for a special internal incinerator for the disposal of dead animals.

Research workers of the Kansas Agriculture Experiment Station, as well as the College will use the laboratory facilities. Five different types of studies will be carried on in the new building. They include genetics, nutrition, parasitology, endocrinology and bacteriology. Separation of the various experiments is planned to enable a higher degree of accuracy in the work.

Oat Room

A special oat sprouting room is being constructed in the building. The room will be used for raising winter feed. Dr. H. L. Isen, of the animal husbandry department will conduct research work in the genetics phase of the program. He parasites of domestic animals. Dr. Ackert will employ units of apparatus which furnish an artificial digestive system. This is a new approach to investigation of parasites of poultry and other domestic animals.

A small scale pasture and corral will provide an opportunity to observe life cycles of parasites. An investigation of particular importance will be the effect of moisture on the survival of larva and eggs. These parasites studied are those which infest the larger animals. This is the first experiment of this kind to be conducted in Kansas.

Endocrinology research will be carried on by Prof. E. H. Herrick, of the zoology department. His experimental animals will be primarily chickens. In his work he intends to study the physiology of reproduction in the fowl. Dr. Herrick is especially interested in the re-

Military Science building. It is being constructed of native limestone similar to others on the campus. The exterior is trimmed in Silverdale, a smooth-faced limestone quarried in Silverdale, Kansas. The stone was transported to Nebraska for the finishing process. The whole structure is reinforced with concrete and the laboratory will be the only College building having glazed tile interior walls.

The entrance hall, vestibule and the main floors are being laid with asphalt tile. A layer of red coloring and waterproof material topping cement make up the remainder of the floors.

will carry out investigations dealing with factors of inbreeding which apply to large animals.

The nutrition section of the research program will be headed by Prof. B. D. Westerman, of the home economics department. Working principally with white rats Dr. Westerman and her staff will do research pertaining to nutritional experiments.

Research work in parasitology will be under the direction of Dr. J. E. Ackert, of the zoology department. Working with rabbits and chickens he will carry out investigations of biology and control of internal relationship of hormones to the bird functions.

Prof. L. D. Bushnell, of the bacteriology department, will conduct research in this particular field. Working with chickens, rabbits and guinea pigs, Dr. Bushnell will investigate various phases of poultry diseases. His primary interest is experiments dealing with Newcastle disease in chickens.

The Small Animal Laboratory will be one of the few buildings of its type in the country. Results of investigations being carried out will be of utmost importance to Kansas farmers and stockmen, according to Dr. Isen.

No Help Wanted

One of the local matrons had a shocking experience this week. It happened like this.

A good friend of ours, Joe Crain, likes to fish in old clothes. He keeps his dearly beloved old trousers until they are 90 percent patches. Anyhow, last week he decided to wear them while cutting the grass in his front yard.

Joe had the lawn about half finished when a new car stopped in front of the house and a lady called to him. "What do you charge to cut lawns?" the elderly lady inquired. "My yard needs mowing and the gardener is on his vacation."

Joe didn't quite understand.

"What do you get paid for gardening?" the lady asked again. "I'll pay you as much—or more—to cut mine."

Crain walked over to the car, where no one but the lady could hear. Then he said confidentially "Well, I have a pretty good set-up here. You see, Mrs. Crain lives here." Glancing over his shoulder, he added "I cut the grass—and she lets me sleep with her."

The car drove on.

Praises K - State

By HAROLD HOWEY

(Ed. note: We asked Howey to give his opinion of the athletic situation at this school. Howey is nationally known as a basketball champion.)

I came to this college two years ago. I will graduate this August. As a Kansas Stater, I have gained some recognition as an athlete, but more important is what this college has given to me.

No matter what my job, or where I will be located, no one will be able to erase my memories of Kansas State. My team-mates, whose hearts never stopped and winning spirit never faded; my professors, who prepared me for a chosen profession; the student body and my fraternity brothers—combined, they have contributed to make my college career a successful one.

Three years ago, the N C A A play-offs were a dream. This college made them real.

College spirit is high at Kansas State. Win, lose or draw, the students have provided the friendly spirit that has been a tradition at Kansas State through the years.

I could not have chosen a better college. It has been a privilege to play with the best team-mates of my college and navy careers.

The students should feel fortunate and lucky in having Milton Eisenhower as President of the College. Any president who has backed the college, backed the team, win or lose, has

Prof Starts Weekly KSAC News Show

His experience in the newspaper field includes work on the Waterloo, (Iowa) Daily Courier, the Des Moines Register and Tribune and The Daily Iowan, Iowa City.

Since his release from the service, where he was a public relations officer, Dennis has been political columnist for the Daily Iowan and newscaster on station WSVI in Iowa City. His columns and newscasts were on politics and international affairs.

my respect, as well as every Kansas State student I have talked with.

When August 8th rolls around and if I am a graduating senior—I'll be proud, and lucky, to receive my K-State degree. I'll be just as proud to be a Kansas State Alumnus.

Letter of the Law

By HARRY MORRIS

(Ed. note: Harry is the official College policeman, familiar to all. Legally, he is a deputy sheriff of Riley County. Comes next semester, Harry will blossom in a new uniform, to be purchased soon by College officials.)

For 14 years I have been making the rounds of the campus every hour from 8 to 5 in weather of 117 degrees above or 30 degrees below. I came to the campus in 1926 to help build the library. From 1927 to 1934 I was a college custodian. Now I am officially called the Campus Patrolman.

My duties are to tag cars, check lots and to see that college stickers are on the windshields of cars on the campus.

I give out a lot of tickets at beginning of semesters. When people catch on I give out about 14 to 15 a day. When someone gets three tickets their car is kicked off the campus. If it comes back on the campus they are kicked out of school.

Some people argue about their tickets . . . these include faculty members. Some try to give them back; some just stand there and tear them up. I tell them to go ahead because I have the other half of the ticket. Some try to increase the parking space by tearing down the no parking signs. One day some boys rolled a little Crosley over so they could park in its place.

The first day President Eisenhower was on the campus I gave him a ticket. I felt embarrassed when I found out about it and I haven't seen his car on the campus since then. One noon a car tried to go past the signs by Anderson. I put my foot on the bumper and told him to turn back. He threw his lapel back, showing his badge and said "I'm the sheriff of Chase county." I reached in my pocket and showed him I had one of those sheriff stars too. He finally backed up. No one's gone through yet!

No one seems to stay mad at me. Lots of campus visitors come shake my hand and say, 'Are you still here, Harry.' This is the first year my picture wasn't in the Royal Purple. The Van Zile girls came and took my picture and pasted it in their books.

There have been many changes since 1926 but the one I can't get used to is seeing people smoke on the campus.

I like my job. I know lots of peoples' faces but I don't know many names. The students are very fine . . . very friendly. Everyone speaks and calls me Harry.

to Pay Dividend

By VERNE L. KELLEY

(Ed. note: Mr. Kelley was recently appointed Contact Representative on the Campus for the Veteran's Administration succeeding former representative William Burkholder. The premium plans announced this week by the V. A. will affect many students and faculty members.)

This article is in response to numerous inquiries concerning payment of dividends on National Service Life Insurance. Information is very meager at this time therefore these remarks are somewhat general.

NSLI is mutual insurance. Premium payments are deposited in a separate NSLI fund. The money is invested in government securities, the interest earned by these investments is added to the fund. Death claims are paid from this NSLI fund, sufficient reserves must be kept in the fund to pay all probable future death claims. Anything above this amount may from time to time be declared surplus. The usual practice in mutual insurance is to return this surplus to policy holders in the form of dividends.

The Veterans Administration has declared several times that it wanted to pay a dividend, and would as soon as it could be determined that the fund would contain a surplus, the amount of the surplus, and to whom it should be paid. This depended to a large extent on a case which was ruled on by the United States Supreme Court just last week. Until this Supreme Court ruling the V. A. could not figure the extent of its liability on existing policies. Now that the liability has been fixed the V. A. can determine what the surplus will be and begin work on the dividends themselves.

Working On Payments

The V. A. is now working on a dividend scale, this scale is to be used in figuring dividend payments to the men and women who carried G-I Insurance. The V. A. will have to apply this scale to each of the more than 19 million separate insurance policies carried by approximately 15 million veterans.

The amount of dividend to the veterans will be based on the amount of insurance carried, the period of time that it remained in force, and the age of the insured when the insurance was issued. The V. A. will proceed with the long tedious process of applying the scale to each of the 19 million accounts.

Last weeks issue of the Kansas State Collegian gave the enrollment of veterans in summer school of over 1700. It is expected that most of these veterans will participate in the dividend. Veterans should not expect their dividend checks in the next few days or weeks. Due to all the computing, checking and rechecking, the distributing of checks is still a matter of months. Now that the big hold up has been settled by the Supreme Court ruling, the gears can start turning, bringing the dividends from the realm of the uncertainty to just the question of time.

SCOUTING the CAMPUS

One of the most colorful national Republican conventions may be the one meeting this week in Philadelphia. Long before the actual balloting began Republicans and Democrats alike were voicing predictions as to which of the candidates would receive the Republican nomination for President of the United States. This week political activity has been increasing feverishly in the old city, in whose history political activity has always played such an important role.

At Kansas State, too, student voters were voicing their opinions and making predictions about Republican candidates. Each student queried stated which candidate they thought would be the best choice and why. Each voter, whether Republican, Democrat or Third Party, predicted which Republican they thought would get the nomination. Some of the opinions listed Monday were:

PHIL RUDE—"Dewey will probably be nominated and I think he would be the best president because of his laudable record as governor of New York."

KENT IRISH, graduate in plant pathology—"Vandenberg will probably get it, but I think Dewey would be the best selection. He is intelligent, a good leader with a good record, and he wouldn't forget our domestic problems and spend all his time and attention on foreign affairs."

CLYDE RINKER, a junior in electrical engineering—"Vandenberg is the man they should nominate, since he knows more about how to handle international affairs than any other candidate, but Dewey is the one they'll probably pick."

KATHERINE GENTRY, a graduate in chemistry—"I don't favor any of them, but I think Vandenberg is the least unfit of all the Republican candidates for the office of President. Stassen or Dewey will be nominated, though."

L. D. COSGROVE, junior in electrical engineering—"It looks like the nomination will be a toss-up between Dewey and Stassen. Personally, I'd rather see Taft be the Republican choice because of his ideas on foreign policy."

DAN CLARK, senior in arts and sciences—"I favor Vandenberg because he probably knows American foreign policy better than any other man in the nation. Either he or Dewey will get the nomination."

H. H. ROBINSON, graduate in education—"On the basis of his efficient, capable handling of the governorship of New York State, I would say Governor Dewey is the best leader of the Republican candidates. I predict that he will get the nomination."

LEONARD MOULDEN, graduate in education—"I admire Stassen most, because of his qualities of leadership, his frankness, sincerity, and his understanding of the total world situation. However, Vandenberg will probably be nominated."

LEO WANIEWSKI, civil engineering student from Palestine—"I favor Dewey's international point of view above that of the other candidates. Taft is too isolationist; if Vandenberg is elected President, the United States will soon be at war again."

ROBERT HUGHES, graduate in music—"Dewey will get it and he's the best suited for it. He has the best understanding of this country's needs and has the biggest political backing."

ALICE ELLIOTT, graduate in zoology—"Vandenberg's foreign policy and his background in foreign affairs convince me that he would be the best candidate. He will probably be chosen."

JOHN T. SANCHEZ, junior in arts and sciences—"The nomination will be a toss-up between Stassen and Dewey. Dewey is my choice, although I'm a Democrat, because he has plenty of experience in administration already."

ROBERT WEAVER, junior in veterinary medicine—"I won't predict who will get the nomination, but either Stassen or Vandenberg would be a good choice. Stassen is the most liberal of the Republicans and Vandenberg, as chairman of the Senate foreign affairs committee, could handle our international relations most effectively."

Seventeen '48 Grads Employed by Phillips

Seventeen 1948 Kansas State graduates are employed by the Phillips Petroleum Company, of Bartlesville, Okla.

This information was received in a letter from the firm to Professor Leland S. Hobson, Secretary of the Placement Committee, in the School of Engineering.

The graduates, with the degrees they received here, are L. J. Allen, electrical engineering; K. A. Askins, electrical engineering; H. L. Bishop, electrical engineering; R. E. Bogue, mechanical engineering; R. H. Brooks, mechanical engineering; K. L. Cook, civil engineering; G. D. Dawson, civil engineering; Q. A. Donnellan, electrical engineering.

R. L. Fedell, mechanical engineering; C. D. Garton, mechanical engineering; C. G. Goss, mechanical engineering; F. S. Hamlin, mechanical engineering; E. C. Johnson, architectural engineering; D. L. Leslie, electrical engineering; J. W. Rieg, chemical engineering; R. E. Shaw, mechanical engineering; and G. H. Weekley, chemical engineering.

Course Established in Urban Sociology

A course in urban sociology will be offered at Kansas State this fall for the first time, according to Dr. R. C. Hill of the sociology staff, who is scheduled to teach the course.

More than half of the people in the United States live in cities of more than 2,500 population. Even in agricultural states like Kansas, rural areas are interdependent with cities, Doctor Hill explained. We feel there is definite need for a course of this type, he said.

58 ROTC Students Check in at Camps

Fifty-eight advanced ROTC students from Kansas State reported to camps in Denver, Fort Riley and Fort Monmouth, N. J., Saturday and Monday, according to Col. A. G. Hutchinson of the College military science department.

Thirty-four Air Cadets were due in Denver, Colo., Monday for six weeks aviation training at the Lowery Air Base; 18 infantry and artillery cadets reported at Fort Riley Saturday. Six, due Saturday at Fort Monmouth, will take advanced field training with the signal corps.

Prather Qualifies for Olympic Tryouts

Rollin Prather, Kansas State's sensational track star, has qualified for the United States Olympic tryouts in Chicago, July 9.

Prather qualified at the National Collegiate Amateur Association meet in Minneapolis, Minn., last Saturday.

Heaving the shot put for third place honors and throwing the discus for fourth place honors, Prather surprised competing athletes, coaches, meet officials, and track dopsters by his outstanding performance.

Surprise Performance
Before the meet, and during warm-ups, few had realized Prather as a serious contender in the shot and discus. Ranked by many as thirteenth in the discus in pro-meet placings, Prather's victories brought applause comments from officials and competitors to the unknown Kansas State track star.

Rain, mud and a slight breeze hindered the national tracksters during the meet.
Beat by Ponville, Michigan U., and Gordien of Minnesota U. in the shot and discus, Prather threw the shot 52 feet and 4 inches and discus 154 feet and 1 inch.

Prather has constantly hit above the 53 foot mark several times this year.

Good Toss Fouled
Prather tossed the discus 162 feet at the meet, but the toss was judged foul by the official in charge of that event. The 162 foot mark would have placed Prather third instead of fourth in the discus, and would have set a Kansas State varsity record for Prather.

A few onlookers at the meet were skeptical of Gordien's shot put mark. Some thought he fouled on the throw that beat Prather out of second place.

Prather will leave for the Amateur Athletic Union meet in Milwaukee, Wisc., June 30. Prather was National AAU Junior Champion in the shot put in the 1946 national meet.

He is working out at Eureka and Wichita this week in preparation for the Milwaukee meet.

Equipment Keeper Finds Two Heels in 20,000 Shoes

By Jack Nielson

"Go see Mac, he'll fix you up." That is usually the coach's answer to any athlete's question about equipment, whether it be a broken shoestring or a complete outfitting of game gear.

The man you see behind his bank-teller-like cage is a slender, grey-haired fellow, of medium height, just a few years beyond his prime of life. This is Mac.

Mac is officially registered on the tax records as J. L. McKinley, of 1022 Laramie. His place of business is in the East Stadium, surrounded by lockers, shoes, towels, "white gear," and athletes. Here, for the past 13 years, he has issued all of the athletic equipment used in football, baseball and track.

Before becoming the coaches' right-hand and the athlete's helping hand, Mac owned and operated retail establishments of various kinds. These were principally grocery stores, dry goods or department stores.

When the chance came for Mac to work with the athletic department, he didn't hesitate to accept. He has always followed and thrived upon sports, and knew he would enjoy working with the young fellows. Besides his interest in the younger generation, he believes that association with the student set will keep him from becoming stagnant in his ideas and thinking.

"In those 13 years here in the equipment room, I have found only two boys who have been other than first class," he said with a touch of pride in his voice. "That's a pretty darned good percentage considering that I have associated with nearly 10,000 boys. One of those two was a fine athlete, but he would lie at the drop of a hat, had no sense of loyalty, and would steal from a blind beggar." Mac then grew quite vehement in his further descriptions of the lad, but unfortunately, the style book of this college forbids the use of such "flowery" terms.

The other misfit was not a markable top athlete. But he was as remarkable a heel. He was continually antagonistic, always seeking to cause discord. "Hardly worth speaking of," Mac said.

One of the requirements of Mac's job is to see that when the teams take the field, they are properly equipped for the

Bell Pitches Win in Pro Ball Debut

Jack Bell, fireballing right-handed pitcher of the 1947 and 1948 Wildcat baseball teams, has signed a professional contract with the Topeka Owls of the class C Western Association.

Big Jack Bell made his play for pay debut in fine fashion last week by setting down the St. Joe Cardinals 5 to 0 at St. Joe. Not only was the win a good send-off to a pro start, but it was precedent breaking for the fifth place floundering Flock. Bell's four hit performance broke a 15-game Topeka road drought and was the first time the Owls have downed the Cards in St. Joe this season.

Other Topeka newcomers whose names may have a familiar ring to K-State sports followers are John "Bernie" Zawatski and Lou Hammer. Zawatski played on the 1946

FROM SCHOLARSHIP TO THE ROCK FILE

High School All-American to College All-American Shows Real Champion

By Darrell Cowell

What is the process of building an All-American track star? When and where should his training begin? What makes a champion?

A look at an All-American's records, performances and training schedule might place a ray of light on how a champion is born.

Rollin "Tiny" Prather, 230 pound All-American track star from Kansas State has the amazing performance of breaking 24 collegiate records, receiving three Big Seven shot put titles and one discus title, and gaining one national title while in only two years of competitive varsity track at Kansas State.

High School Performance
Prather first gained national recognition as a track star while attending Eureka High School, Eureka, Kas. While at Eureka, Prather set the Kansas State high school record in the discus and was placed on Look magazine's annual High School All-American Track Team. Other high school records were at the Fredonia Relays, shot put; the Eureka Regional meet, discus; and the Tri Valley shot put record.

Prather's first desire to put the shot was while he was taking a state scholarship test in his sophomore year in high school. After taking the test, Prather ventured over to the state track meet, being held in the same city. From thereon, he decided he was going to be a shot putter.

Tosses Rock
He started by tossing rocks on his parents' ranch near Eureka. He gained more practice the summer after school was out by tossing rocks in his spare time. His rock-tossing paid off in his junior year, Monday, July 26, Tau Kappa Epsilon vs the "Outlaws" on the West field. P. E. M.'s vs the Hort. Club on the East field.

Tuesday July 27, Beta Theta Pi vs "Cigs" on the West field. The "Cubs" vs Outlaws" on the East field.

Wednesday, July 28, Sigma Alpha Epsilon vs the Hort. Club on the West field. Tau Kappa Epsilon vs P. E. M.'s on the East field.

Several Summer School intramural softball rules and regulations have been installed by the department, Myers said. The rules are:

The first team mentioned in each game is considered the home team and has home-team duties and privileges. Each team in a game must keep score on the official score card. These score cards may be obtained in the intramural office and must be returned to that office not later than 24 hours following the game played. All games must be started promptly on time. If either team fails to have its team on the field within ten minutes after the official starting time, the game will be forfeited to the other team, provided it is present. Five innings shall constitute a game. Umpires will be appointed from the intramural office. Team managers must have all score cards signed by both umpires of their respective when he placed second in the shot put with a 46 foot toss at the state track meet. After another summer's practice of rock tossing, Prather was tossing the shot over 50 feet at the end of his high school career.

It didn't take long for Prather to gain collegiate recognition. In his freshman year, he was well started on his record-breaking Kansas State career. As a sophomore this year, he was chosen as the outstanding Big Seven trackster at the Big Seven meet in Lincoln, receiving the Shulte award for this feat.

The true texture of a champion shows in Prather by his ability to give his best performance at a meet. The tougher the competition, the better the performance.

Warm-Up Procedure
Prather always warms up for 30 minutes and rests for five minutes before entering the shot put ring.

His warm up procedure includes three or four laps around the track and then a list of strenuous exercises which loosens his muscular body from the tight tension of nervousness and coldness. He strives to give his best performance in his early tosses, both in the shot put and discus. This places a pressure on his competitors and keeps him on his toes each time his turn rolls around.

Prather has a good chance of placing on the United States Olympic track team this month at the Chicago tryouts. Fonville of Michigan University and Wassor of Illinois University are the only two in the U. S. who have bettered Prather's mark in the shot this year. Prather beat Wassor at the Kansas University Relays earlier this year. By the latest Olympic Committee's rating, Prather was rated third in the shot put and second in the discus. The Olympic Committee rates national stars weekly in preparation for the Chicago tryouts this month. Prather's performances for the last two years will be weighed by the committee in choosing the weight stars to be entered by the U. S. Olympic track team. Prather has already received the blanks and forms to be filed in the event that he places a berth on the Olympic squad.

Increases Performances
Prather has increased his shot put tosses this year by better than two feet over last year's performances.

Credit to his success can be given to Prather's desire to make good, and to his outstanding coach, Ward Haylett. Haylett has been named decathlon coach for the U. S. Olympic track team. Haylett has had years of success in making small Kansas State College a recognized name in track throughout the nation and the world, particularly by his ability to spot and train weight stars.

games. A scheduled contest may be postponed only with the unanimous consent of both team managers and the intramural director, Myers. In league-tournaments postponed contests may be played at any time agreed upon by the three managers mentioned above, provided they are played before the regular schedule is completed.

Chalk Talk

By Pat Patterson

Reports from Logan, Utah, indicate a further progression of basketball Coach Jack Gardner into the circle of reputed court master-teachers. From the word we received from the director of the Utah state coaching school for high school mentors, Jack made a big hit.

E. L. "Dick" Romney, founder and director of the Utah clinic, calls Gardner a "colorful coach." Speaking of the Wildcat tactician's classes on basketball Romney said:

"He gained momentum as the clinic advanced and some say his course was as good as any ever presented. He gave a very definite plan for offense and defense. He is very well liked and has made an impressive showing at the school."

Gardner's instruction included movies of his system in action. He supplemented his lectures by showing movies of K-State's 1947-48 invasion into the top circles of the nation's basketball.

We're happy that Jack had those pictures of our fine team to aid him. But besides that, what an excellent opportunity it was to work in some fine publicity for K-State and the possible future of winning Wildcat basketball.

Draft Law—Basketball?
Look for the newest in coaching lamentations to be coming out soon in connection with the impending draft law. It's bad enough that a lot of future Wildcat football rebuilding material will probably be lost for awhile, but take a look at what it can do to our basketball roster next year. With the evident loss of all-American Howard Shannon due to a revision in the conference eligibility rules, the further possible loss to the army of Rick Harmon and outstanding frosh talent like Ernie Barrett and Ed Head and others will make Jack Gardner's job plenty tough.

Band Day at the University of Nebraska, November 6, will feature as guests several outstanding Nebraska high school musical aggregations and the Kansas State football team. We're hoping the Wildcats forget the etiquette of the guest and take too big a helping of corn.

Patterson a Huckster
B. R. "Pat" Patterson, Nebraska wrestling coach and chairman of the Olympic Wrestling Committee, is doing a bit of huckstering in benefit of the American Olympic Fund. The former K-State mat mentor is selling 100 official Olympic programs. Forty cents from each $1 sale price goes into the fund.

"The Olympic Committee is in desperate need of money to finance the American team," the conscientious Patterson said.

Tryouts Announced
Summer school orchestra rehearsals will be Tuesday nights in the College auditorium at 7:30 p. m. Luther Leavengood, head of the music department and conductor, announced today. The first rehearsal was last night.

Townpeople, College students and high school students are eligible to try out for the orchestra, Leavengood said.

To Regional Meet
Dr. Abby Mariatt left last weekend for Minneapolis, Minn., to attend a committee meeting of a regional research project on the nutritional status of children.

Dr. Mariatt is an associate professor of foods and nutrition at the College. She also will attend the American Home Economics Convention in Minneapolis this week.

Aggies Win 8 to 6 From First Foe
"The ballteam built for fun," the Manhattan Aggies, was victorious in its initial contest of the season, downing Cleburne by an 8 to 6 score Wednesday. Although it did not set any records for base hits or long blows, the team of K-State students took advantage of every opportunity and also of the five enemy errors.

The Aggies scored one run in the first inning, two in the third, two in the fourth, one each in the fifth and sixth and their final tally in the eighth.

Bill Springer, who has done some pitching for the Wildcats, was credited with the win but he was preceded by some fine hurling by Carl Lemon.

If any June co-ed missed the college mixer Friday night at the tennis courts, she missed her chance to be belle of the ball. In spite of the eternal "more men than women" ratio and the too cool evening, the dance was a success. Perhaps after a few more mixers like that, everyone will know everyone else and this column will buzz...

Rollin Prather, of Eureka, has given his Sig Ep pin to Ann Russell of Wichita. Rollin is the Kansas State shot put star. Ann is a member of Phi Beta Phi.

Willie Deanne Mills, president of Clovia last year, will be married to Merle Eyston June 27, at her home in Lansing. Merle also of Lansing, graduated from Kansas State last year. He is the 4-H Club agent in Shawnee County.

Van Zile Hall will have its first house dance next Thursday night at 7 p. m. This dance will be for all fraternity men on the campus. Next Tuesday there will be another house dance for independent men.

Kate Clark, Clovia, and Rex Archer, of Manhattan, were married in Wellington June 4. Kate graduated this spring and Rex will be back in school this fall.

Marjorie Ketterman has been elected as president of Arcadia for the summer. She is a junior from Topeka.

Betty Boutwell, Clovia, and Frank Plecter, were married at the Methodist Church in Manhattan May 29. Betty is from Topeka and Frank, a member of Acacia Fraternity, is from Alta Vista. He will attend Washburn University next fall.

Clarice Cooper, of Gridley, visited overnight at La Fiel June 18. She and Miss Rafington were on their way to a Home Economics Convention in Minnesota. Later she will fly to New York to visit LaVerne Loti. From there, Clarice will go to the Kappa Phi Convention in Weyles, Mass. Clarice is president of the Kansas State Home Ec Club, and president of Kappa Phi, the Methodist church sorority.

Loreta Strickland, Clovia from Agenda, and Dean Tleman were married at Westburro, Mo., June 6. She graduated this spring and Dean graduated in 1946.

Harold Mitchell of Greenfield, Ill., and Jean Douglas, of Bartlesville, Okla., have announced their engagement. Jean, Kappa Delta, graduated this spring and Harold was initiated into Sigma Phi Epsilon May 28.

Cigars at the Sig Alph house last week announced the engagement of Harry Hixson of Iola to Norine Van Husing also of Iola. She has been at Ward Belmont in Nashville, Tenn., and will be at Kansas State next fall. Harry will be a sophomore.

Bob Yereance, Sig Ep, is working on his masters in physics at Kansas State. He graduated from Worcester, Mass. last year.

Mary Peddicord, Clovia, and Dave Prickett, Acacia, were married May 28 in Wamego, Dave, from Alta Vista, will be in school next fall, and Mary will teach Home Ec in Alta Vista.

Harold Harckrott, KS graduate from Winston, married Ruth Maechten of Clearwater, June 20. Harold is a member of Farm House fraternity and Ruth is a Clovia.

Miss Ruthanne Loomis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alden H. Loomis of Valley Falls and Mr. Donald P. Roepke, Waterville, were married in the Valley Falls Methodist Church June 1.

Following their honeymoon, the couple came to Manhattan and are at home at 331 Moro. Ruthanne is a graduate of Kansas State with a degree in dietetics. Donald is a junior in landscape design.

Mary Alice Wolf of McPherson, president of Delta Delta and Liz Mustard of Abilene, are the chapter representatives to the Tri Delta National Convention in Banff, Canada next week. Mrs. C. M. Haines, a delegate of the Manhattan Alliance, will also attend.

Betty Shaffer of Dighton and Gene Burrell of Los Angeles, were married June 12 in the chapel of the First Methodist Church in Topeka. Mr. and Mrs. Burrell are spending two weeks in Colorado. This summer they are making their home in Topeka. Mr. Burrell is a student in mechanical engineering at

Kansas State.

Brunette Barbara Baker turned out to be "Miss X" and Bob Ives received the prize and "special recognition" for being the seventh man to dance with her at the all-College mixer last Friday night on the concrete tennis courts. For his first award Bob received a yellow plastic toy horn, and for his special recognition he was requested to play "Sweet Sue" on the horn with Matt Bettin's orchestra. Bob was presented with a more conventional prize, shaving lotion, after he finished the number.

A crowd of approximately 200 couples attended the dance. Miss Katherine Geyer, head of the women's physical education department, had charge of circle dances. The Y-Quartet sang, appropriate to an open-air dance on concrete, "Mister Moon" and "Sidewalks of New York."

Miss Norma White, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Warren White of Hill City, became the bride of Mr. Donald Torkelson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Torkelson of Manhattan, June 6, at the First Presbyterian Church. The Rev. J. Russell Linn read the double ring ceremony.

The organist played "Ave Maria" and "Clare de Lune" before the ceremony. Charles Thornton of Winfield, a fraternity brother of the groom, sang "Because" and "Tell Me Why." The organist played "At Dawning" as the candlelighter lighted the tapers, and the soloist sang "I Love You Truly."

The bride wore a white bridal satin gown which she designed and made herself. Miss Anna Bell White of Hill City, sister of the bride, attended the bride as maid of honor. Mary Gee of Chanute and Virginia Torkelson of Horton were the bridesmaids.

Richard Groff of Topeka, fraternity brother of the groom, served as best man. Ushers were Bob Linn of Manhattan, Charles Fouts of Kansas City, Mo., Robert Hudelson of Pomona and Warren White of Hill City.

A reception was held in the church parlors. The bride made the three-tiered cake, decorated with pink roses and the miniature bride couple on top. The couple took a wedding trip to Denver, Colo. This fall they will make their home in Manhattan.

Mrs. Torkelson will be a junior in home economics at Kansas State next fall. Mr. Torkelson is a graduate of Manhattan High. He served three years in the armed forces and will be a junior this fall in veterinary medicine.

The stork comes in spite of the rain. Mr. and Mrs. Michael Roller, 1425 Laramie, are the parents of a baby girl named Claudia Jean. Claudia was born June 15.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Rienietts, 1022 Moro, have named their son William Henry Jr. He was born June 18.

Victoria Lynn is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marion Szatalowicz, 1864 Platt. She arrived June 19.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Griffen, 29 B Elliot Court, haven't named their son.

College President Buys Chapel Window

President Milton S. Eisenhower has purchased a stained glass window in the All-Faith Chapel as a memorial to his father and mother, David J. and Ida Stover Eisenhower. It was announced today by Kenneth L. Ford, alumni secretary.

A pioneer family of the state, David Eisenhower came to Kansas as a youth with his parents in 1878 and settled on a farm near Abilene. Except for two years that they lived in Texas, David and Ida Eisenhower spent their entire married lives in Kansas. Dwight was the only one of their seven sons to be born outside the state.

In 1945 national recognition was paid to Mrs. David J. Eisenhower when she was chosen Kansas Mother of the Year. The World War II Memorial Chapel is being built here at a cost of $275,000. Already 90 individual memorials have been selected to be housed in the chapel.

Amistad to Hold Election Tomorrow

Amistad opened the summer session with a mixer dance in Recreation Center last Wednesday evening. There will be a meeting each Wednesday 7 to 9 p. m. Summer school students who were elected to office for the fall semester will hold their respective offices this semester.

"All independents are invited to attend," said president Everett Christiansen. June 23 there will be a dance and meeting in Recreation Center. The offices of secretary, social chairman, and membership chairman will be voted on at the next meeting.

K.C. Dean to Speak Thursday Morning

Dr. Norman N. Royall, Jr., Dean of the College at the University of Kansas City, will address an All-College Assembly at 9:30 a.m. Thursday in College Auditorium. "The Position of the Liberal in a World Divided Between Right and Left," will be the subject of Dean Royall's talk.

The Assembly is sponsored by the Assembly Committee and the Institute of Citizenship. The Institute sponsors five or six all-College assemblies per year at which speakers are presented who have something important to say concerning public issues of the day.

"Dean Royall is an active young educator who has been energetically promoting better liberal education, both in college and among adults," Dr. R. A. Walker, head of the institute, said.

Doctor Royall is local chairman of the advisory committee on the adult Great Books Program for the Kansas City area, which is sponsored by the Institute of Citizenship.

Effective Speaker
"He was recommended to us as a vigorous and effective speaker whom everyone will enjoy," Doctor Walker added.

As a lieutenant commander, Dr. Royall was on active duty with the Navy for more than four years. He was a staff officer for anti-submarine training at the headquarters of the Commander-in-Chief in Washington and was a member of the U.S. Naval Mission to Peru.

Dr. Royall has served on the faculties at Winthrop College, Georgia Tech and Brown University. He has attended the University of North Carolina, John B. Stetson University, Emory, Brown and Harvard Universities. His degrees include B.S., M.S., A.M., and Ph.D. He is a cousin of the Hon. Kenneth C. Royall, Secretary of the Army.

Classes will be shortened as follows:

7:00-7:50 will meet 7:00-7:40

8:00-8:50 will meet 7:50-8:30

9:00-9:50 will meet 8:40-9:20

Assembly

10:15-10:50 will meet 10:30-11:05

11:00-11:50 will meet 11:15-11:50.

College to Test Wheat Samples

Samples of every variety of wheat grown in the state are arriving in Manhattan to be threshed at the Kansas State College Experiment Station, according to C. D. Davis, associate professor of farm crops at the College.

The wheat is from the 10-rod plots of different varieties planted side by side at experiment stations and on farms throughout the state.

Workers at the College thresh the separate varieties from each plot to determine yields, test weight, disease resistance, resistance to drought and other agronomic factors. The wheat then goes to the College milling department, where each variety is tested for its bread-making qualities.

Similar tests are conducted on barley, oats, flax, alfalfa, broom grass and other Kansas crops.

Information obtained from the experiments is used in making recommendations to farmers in the state, according to Davis.

Alum of '76 at Party

One of K-State's oldest alumni, Mrs. Nellie Sawyer Kedzie Jones of the class of 1876, attended a Kansas State College coffee hour in Minneapolis, Minn., recently.

Mrs. Jones, for whom Kedzie Hall was named, was in charge of home economics work at the College from 1882 to 1897. She also is an emeritus professor of home economics at the University of Wisconsin.

Vacation Versified

Visiting in Texas, fishing in Canada, and helping harvest wheat near Wichita, Kans., were crammed into a ten-day vacation just completed by C. P. Wilson, associate professor of economics and sociology at the College.

Professor Wilson traveled by plane. He was accompanied on the trip to Canada by Mrs. Wilson and their daughter, Susan.

June Rain Mark Set This Week

The all-time precipitation record for the month of June has been broken. Last weekend's deluge added the total to 11.61 inches which breaks the previous Manhattan record of 10.18 inches. The records are kept by the College physics department under the direction of Dr. A. B. Cardwell.

The weekend rains in the city measured 3.47 inches. Many streets and sewers in the city were flooded in Sunday night's heavy downpour. A defective sewer east of the College caused several basements on Vattier and Blumont to be flooded.

Should another 1.37 inches of rain fall before midnight tonight, the record for rain in any month of the year will be broken. In May of 1903, 12.97 inches of rain was measured here. That year a flood struck Manhattan that has not been equaled during the 93 years since 1855 when records were first kept here.

The wettest June prior to this year was 1908. Despite the fact that this year's record rainfall has come almost entirely in the last half of the month, no serious flood seems likely here at present. Z. R. Hook, the river observer, reports that although the Blue and Kaw rivers are both very full, they are still below flood stage. The Blue is already receding with no large amount of water reported upstream.

The Kaw, however, will probably remain high for several days as its tributaries are all carrying heavy run-offs.

A flash flood on Sand Creek four miles east of Manhattan caused Highway 40 to be closed several hours Monday morning. The overflow also washed out a stretch of the Union Pacific's track and repairs were necessary to restore normal rail traffic.

Rains during the past two weeks have been very general over the state although most areas have not received as much rain as Manhattan. The wheat harvest in this area and elsewhere has been delayed and serious losses are expected if dry weather doesn't set in soon. Weather forecasts do not indicate a complete cessation of the wet season but considerably less rain and more sun does seem to be in prospect.

Announce Meats Essay Contest

The annual Medal Essay Contest of the Saddle and Sirolo Club of Chicago has been announced. The subject of the contest will be "The Rib of Beef."

Competing essays should be approximately 2,000 words in length. Essays must be typewritten on one side of paper only. Papers submitted should not bear identification marks, names and addresses of contestants being written plainly on a separate sheet. All essays will be judged by a committee of competent men, and awards announced at the annual dinner of the American Society of Animal Production at the Saddle and Sirolo Club.

The deadline for entrance is November 1, 1948, and the contest is open to all undergraduates in agricultural colleges in the United States and Canada.

The first three prizes are Gold, Silver and Bronze Medals, respectively. Prizes for fourth to tenth place receive a choice of popular books dealing with agriculture, including: "Feeds and Feeding" by Morrison; "Types and Market Classes of Live Stock" by Vaughn; "Pork Production" by Smith; "Beef Cattle" by Snapp; and many others.

All students enrolled in "Meats" courses are required to enter this contest or the Swift Essay Contest, states David L. Mackintosh, professor of meats.

Send essays to, Charles E. Snyder, 836 Exchange Avenue, Chicago 9, Illinois.

Math Club Lecture

The Mathematics Club will meet in X101 at 4 p. m. on Thursday 1, July, 1948. Prof. Albert Furman will speak on "The principle of finite induction as a postulate for the positive integers."

OUTSTANDING SENIOR

Ralph Rickles, of Salina, has been designated outstanding senior in landscape design at Kansas State College this year, according to L. R. Quinn, horticulture professor. Rickles' name will be engraved on a plaque at the College, Quinn said. He also will receive a key and $10 in cash.

Bathing Beauties and Swim Champs Starred

K-Staters and Families Swim Free at Park Friday

A bathing beauty contest, a swimming contest and a diving exhibition will be provided for entertainment at the all-college swimming party at the City Park pool this Friday from 3 to 5 p. m.

The party planned by the summer school recreation committee, is for all summer school students, faculty members and their families. Jim Clinger will be master of ceremonies. No admission will be charged to K-Staters, according to Prof. Eric Tebow, chairman of the committee, since the blanket admission was paid from student activity funds. Bleachers will be set up around the edge of the pool for the audience.

Swimming Contests

"Students who want to enter the swimming contests should fill out application blanks by Thursday noon," stated C. S. "Cooney" Moll, College swimming coach in charge of the contests. Men can sign up in Mr. Moll's office, Nichols 107, and women swimmers in N 101, the office of Miss Katherine Geyer, women's physical education head.

Events open for men will be the 25-yard free style, 50-yard free style, 100-yard free style, 50-yard back stroke, 50-yard breast stroke, and a free style four-man relay. Relay teams must be formed before entrants come to the pool Friday, Moll said.

Events scheduled for women are the 25-yard free style and the 50-yard free style. Medals will be awarded to first and second place winners of each event and to each member of the winning relay team.

Moll is also in charge of the diving exhibition right after the swimming contests. Miss Alice Becker will do exhibition dives for the crowd. "Miss K-State of '48"

The contest to select "Miss Kansas State of '48" will be held at 4 p. m. Open to all K-State coeds who register for it in N 101 by noon Thursday, the contest will be judged by three K-State art professors. Amistad, Van Zile Hall, Campus Courts, Goodnow, Elliott Courts, Hilltop, West Elliott and each professor.

Between contests and after the bathing beauty show the pool will be available to all Kansas State swimmers.

"Students are also invited to bring their supper and table service and enjoy a picnic supper in the park after their swim," stated Loren Haynes, chairman of the party committee. No fireworks exhibition will be presented this year because of the expense, Haynes explained.

Yearling Named 'Miss Wheaties' Aids Chapel Fund

The sale of a Palomino yearling, Miss Wheaties, at the Jeff Wheat saddle horse sale near Allen, added more than $500 to the College's World War II Memorial Chapel fund, Kenney L. Ford, alumni secretary, announced this week.

The filly sold twice with proceeds from both sales going to the All-Faith chapel fund. First buyer, A. L. Duckwall Stores Company, bid $300 and immediately turned the horse back to sell again, this time to C. F. Brough, Cottonwood Falls, for $150. Others contributed $80 more for a $530 chapel fund total.

The $300 gift made by the A. L. Duckwall Stores Company is in addition to the $35,000 organ which is being purchased as a family memorial in the College chapel by the Duckwall family. The corporation has 50 stores in Kansas with general headquarters in Abilene.

The 70 horses sold by Wheat brought more than $9,000. Yearlings sold for an average of $175 each; older horses, $200. Dick Jacobs, Kansas City, Mo., made the high bid of the day, $600, for a stallion.

Vet. Med. School In Record Month

Exactly 2,682 animals were treated in one month by the School of Veterinary Medicine at Kansas State College, according to Dr. E. J. Frick, surgery and medicine department head. The animal patients were treated during April, the record month of the year to date.

Included were 1,942 ambulatory, and 940 hospital cases. Of the hospital cases, 542 were classed as small animal cases; 398, large animal cases.

Dr. Frick credited efficiency of the staff under his supervision for the large number of cases handled in the short period of time. Veterinary medicine students also aid in the treatments, some of which involve long trips to farms and pasture areas.

Both the new courses require upperclass or graduate standing, Montgomery said.

Classes Crowded

Students from nearly every college curriculum are representing their schools in the Ag Journalism classes this summer, according to enrollment figures announced this week. Of the 87 students enrolled in journalism courses, forty-seven are taking Agricultural Journalism.

These figures show an increasing interest in the close relationship between journalism and industry of all kinds, according to Prof. Ralph Lashbrook, head of the journalism department. The department offers a four year curriculum in technical writing for both agriculture and home economics students.

Eight Attend V. M. Conference in K. C.

Eight members of the veterinary conference in the municipal auditorium in Kansas City, Mo.

They are Dr. E. E. Leasure, E. J. Frick, L. M. Roderick, E. R. Frank, J. W. Lumb, R. E. Witter, R. D. Barner and J. E. Mosier. Doctors Roderick, Witter and Mosier will present papers at the conference sponsored by the Kansas-Missouri Veterinary Medical Association.

Effects of New Draft Law Are Studied by College Authorities

Tjerandsen Named New UNESCO Head

At an executive meeting of UNESCO held in Topeka recently, Dr. Robert A. Walker resigned as chairman and Professor Carl Tjerandsen, newly appointed head of the Institute of Citizenship, was elected to succeed him.

Tjerandsen will act as chairman for the rest of this season. A new executive secretary was also elected. He is Richard Parker of Manhattan, Parker, who just received his master's degree at Kansas State, will succeed Helen Peterson.

Other business which took place at the meeting was a review of the progress the UNESCO commission has made in the first six months. Plans were also started for the second annual conference which will be held in Topeka in November.

Free Flickers Tuesday Eve

Another free movie has been scheduled for College students and their families. The movie will be in the Stadium at 8 p. m., Tuesday, July 6, according to A. Thornton Edwards, chairman of the summer recreation committee. In the event it rains, the movie will be in Willard 115.

The picture will be "The Kansas," starring Richard Dix, Jane Wyman, Albert Dekker and Eugene Pallette. It is the movie version of a stirring book on American frontier days, the committee director said. Two cartoon comedies will be included in the program.

Sociology Will Offer New Courses In Fall

Wilfred Pine, associate professor of economics and sociology, returned to Kansas State College this week after a year's leave of absence for advanced study at the University of Minnesota.

Pine, who was granted the doctor of philosophy degree this month, will teach a new course, Economics of Land Utilization, the second semester. His thesis for the PhD degree was on "Methods of Classifying Kansas Land According to Economic Productivity."

Another course will be offered for the first time this fall, according to George Montgomery, head of the sociology department. The course, Agricultural Policy, will be taught by Ray J. Doll. Doll also was granted a PhD degree at Minnesota this June. Title of his thesis was "Agricultural Policy in Relation to the Beef Cattle Industry."

Both the new courses require upperclass or graduate standing, Montgomery said.

Bring Own Suppers

Between contests and after the bathing beauty show the pool will be available to all Kansas State swimmers.

"Students are also invited to bring their supper and table service and enjoy a picnic supper in the park after their swim," stated Loren Haynes, chairman of the party committee. No fireworks exhibition will be presented this year because of the expense, Haynes explained.

Recently Signed Conscription Measure Will Exempt Many Kansas State Students

College authorities said here today that, while it was "absolutely impossible" to make close predictions, the newly passed peacetime draft law was not expected to have any great effect "one way or the other" on college enrollments. Copies of the law, received by the President's office, are being given careful study.

Where's the Fire, Bud?

We once dated a girl who kept a "cussin' jar." It was an ordinary fruit-jar, with a slot in the top. Every time a guest blurted out with sultry phrasing she ran for the jar and collected a 25-cent fine. Yes, we once dated her—or should we say dated once? She got a lot of quarters but she shed potential husbands like the well known duck.

Fifteen years ago, a neighboring town to the east achieved quite a reputation. The town fathers discovered a delightful new source of income—one that did not come directly out of the taxpayer's pocket. They employed a town marshal who spent the day parked beside the busy highway which was the main thoroughfare of the community. He arrested (and ultimately fined) every passing stranger who ventured through the town a mile or two per hour faster than the local laws prescribed.

That was at least fifteen years ago, but we still remember the town. We know others who swear that they have never spent a cent in the town since the policy started. People don't forget.

The "little town to the east" is not alone in its reputation. There are such ill-reputed villages to the west, north and south. Although coast-to-coast highways pass through the very heart of their business districts, they are still villages. They do not benefit from the thousands of passing gasoline-hungry cars and tens of thousands of tired and hungry tourists. They have a reputation for frequent arrests on petty charges. Of course, they got a lot of quarters.

NEWS ITEM:

Manhattan, June 27—Police hung up a new record Friday night when they arrested 16 persons for traffic violations, making a total of 31 arrested since Thursday morning. Cash taken in Saturday morning in police court amounted to $221. Among the 31 persons arrested during the two-day period were 21 who listed no Manhattan address.

Among those paying fines, and the offense for which arrested were: Warren Allen of Ord, careless driving; Those forfeiting and their offenses were: R. W. Welch of Fort Riley, speeding and possession of liquor; Harry W. Ballinger of Harrisonville, Mo., no muffler; Ronald Keith Kendall of Leonardville, careless driving and no muffler; George L. King of St. Louis, speeding; Charles Grandpre of Concordia, no muffler; Sgt. Merwin Travis of Fort Riley, speeding; Vern C. Koepke of Kansas City, speeding; R. E. McCullough of Topeka careless driving; W. H. Ebert of St. James, Mo., speeding.

Among those arrested Friday were: James G. Manie of Kansas City, speeding; F. B. Oppenheimer of Salina, reckless driving; D. L. Gordon of Lakeview Drive, N. J., careless driving; D. W. Osborn of Junction City, speeding. Forfeiting bonds after arrest on Thursday were: Neil J. Wegbreit of Wamego, speeding; Melvin R. Nelson, no address given, reckless driving; C. V. Minnick of Junction City, speeding; William R. Head of Richmond, Calif., speeding and careless driving; Billie Ray Kelley of Junction City, no muffler, speeding and careless driving... (and ten Manhattan drivers.)

Manhattan, June 28—A total of 25 arrests, made over the weekend, turned the Monday morning session of police court into a $250 run-of-business according to word from Police Judge C. A. Kimball. Kenneth Rowe, St. George, was fined $25 for possession of liquor. Among new cases were Blaine Wells, Mahaska; Samuel Martin, Fort Riley; Mark R. Whittle, Fort Riley.

Among bonds forfeited Monday, and the amounts, were those of persons arrested from: Longs Park, Colo., $10; Kansas City, $10; Garrison, $5; Junction City, $15; Alta Vista, $5; Kansas City, Mo., $5; Camp Funston, $5; Springfield, Mo., $10; Paxico, $5; Pueblo, Colo., $10; Council Grove, $10; Wamego, $25; Canton, N. C., $10... and nine drivers from Manhattan and its rural routes.

The city of Manhattan is going "quarter-crazy" with its cussin' jar. Why?

The amazing flurry of police activity apparently began about a week ago, following a severe reprimand from the Chamber of Commerce. One thing is certain. There is no need for further reprimand of the police department of Manhattan for inactivity.

But what about the extremely high percentage of out-of-town arrests? According to the report carried in one Manhattan paper, 21 out of 31 police actions were for drivers having no Manhattan address. The tickets issued were not warnings or "guest tickets" as are issued to tourists in so many cities.

This situation does concern College students. Many are residents of the city, who would like to see the city grow and maintain a reputation as a friendly city... welcoming business and visitors who benefit that business. Those who do not live here permanently are still subject to quicker arrest in surrounding towns as a direct result of the "unfriendly attitude" shown by the law enforcement agencies in Manhattan.

We do not know the reason for this situation. Surely there are not that percentage of out-of-town violators in proportion to the homegrown crop. Setting up a series of pure suppositions, we say that 1) IF the police department is arresting violators in that proportion, then they are hurting the efforts of the Chamber of Commerce far more than the Chamber hurt the police department. 2) IF the police are arresting a greater number of Manhattan violators than appears on the surface, then somewhere along the line the charges are being dropped against local residents and not for the passing "guests" we see listed so profusely. 3) IF anyone can prove that neither of these cases exists, we'll promptly print both the proof and our apologies.

We believe in law enforcement. It is a necessity in any growing community. The increased number of arrests are a good thing. They should help to make both the city and the campus a safer place in which to live. But we do not believe in "cussin' jars" and we know hundreds of persons who agree with us.

Think This Over

By William West

(Ed. Note: "Bill" West, secretary for the Y.M.C.A. and manager of the Student Union, has just returned from a student conference at Estes Park. Students from eight Mid-Western States were at the meet. Bill's report of the students' activities is well worth considering.)

Where are we going educationally? Have we lost sight of the presuppositions on which the university was established? Are our colleges merely glorified trade schools? Why are students unable to think their way through a problem?

Among a group of college students from the mid-west area, I found the amazing lack of the ability to think logically about present day situations. For example in a speech built upon the idea that the solution for the present day problems is a planned economy complete with national ownership of utilities and all forms of agrarian endeavor I was shocked and amazed to witness the blind acceptance of these ideals. Not one of the 300 students asked the speaker a question.

Students Not Thinkers

Apparently one of two things may be assumed, either that this approach is acceptable and desirable as far as the group is concerned or that little or no thinking was done by the group. I prefer to assume that there was little thinking done. A written survey of this group indicated that they favored the capitalistic system and placed definite emphasis upon private enterprise and fewer governmental controls of business. Secondly, in another speech the speaker advocated free enterprise and complete freedom from government interference in all matters. Again no questions were asked and complete acceptance seemed to be shown.

Students Immature

Secularization of the university and its faculty is responsible for the immature and unfinished products leaving our colleges today. Professors for the most part maintain a neutral path which, in my opinion, does not build an integral college. An integral college must have a unity in its community life and an integrity which attempts to analyze the whole truth, dispelling all dishonest thinking.

This certainly can not be accomplished when students do not think past the facts and text book statements received during the class room period. As you will note, memorizing and repeating the facts accurately is all that is required to get a letter grade in most courses. The regurgitating of information does not teach the student to think logically and clearly. It seems to me that this process is the path of least resistance and a neutral, almost negative approach to higher education.

Guidance Wasted

Much emphasis has been placed on vocational guidance and counseling but this is wasted unless the student finds the deeper and fundamental basis of work. It is very necessary and essential that the student pursue a vocation that is in line with his aptitudes and abilities but the deeper values of self satisfaction, service to God and man must not be overlooked.

I do not mean to advocate that any particular confession be taught nor do I advocate a required chapel, nor do I mean to say that Christianity has a corner on good behavior. In short, college education should aim at an integral system for the individual and enable him to see related parts and associate them with a panoramic view of life.

A college education must find basic values on which to stand. A college education must give purpose and meaning to life. It must explore not only the immediate values but the deeper human values. If we can not do this is a college, we have failed the students and have failed the world community.

SCOUTING the CAMPUS

Be Prepared!

Most of the fellows at Kansas State are in favor of the new draft law, if an hour's interviewing of students selected at random over the campus is an indication.

Men who favored the law said that the United States needs to build up the strength of her armed forces to be prepared for an emergency. The few students found who opposed the drafting of young men into the armed services again only three years after the end of World War II termed the draft a poor solution, a waste of the taxpayer's money and a step toward World War III.

A sample of opinions expressed yesterday about the law are:

WILLIAM YENN, sophomore history major: "The law seems a good thing, providing the exemptions are observed. Interruptions of college students' education should be avoided."

JOE LEWIS, junior in electrical engineering: "The armed services will provide a good education the 18 months to two years young fellows are in and it makes them more prepared for life afterwards. It would also help in our dealings with Russia."

GEORGE TIMMONS, an economics sophomore: "The world is in a badly upset condition and we need the draft to provide more men for defense of the nation in event of war."

GLENN UTT, electrical engineering senior: "The draft is a good idea—as long as I don't have to go! We need to keep an armed reserve."

RAYMOND LEMON, agriculture junior: "If I were going to be drafted I might have a different opinion, but due to world conditions I think we need to build up our armed strength."

RICHARD MACK, graduate in physical education: "I'm for the draft because of the chaotic situation the world is in now."

VERNE BATHURST, soil conservation junior: "The draft will be good for everyone concerned. We need to bluff Russia with a big army."

JOHN ROBINS, agronomy senior: "I'm certainly for the draft, but I don't like the provision that allows exemptions for these guys in the National Guard. That organization does neither the fellows or the country any good."

DAVE RELIHAN, physical education senior: "The draft is basically a good thing for fellows just out of high school."

ELLIS STACKFLETH, industrial psychology senior: "It is imperative that we maintain a certain amount of ground force training—we in the air force realize the need for it. However, I'm against the clause that exempts youth from the draft because of College ROTC and National Guard service."

LARRY RYAN, senior in business administration: "Certainly I'm for the draft. We should be well prepared for any emergency that might come up. We won't be as open for attack if we can stay militarily strong."

JIM CLARK, history junior: "We must back up our right with might."

RAY JARANILLA, graduate in education: "Why should we expect the veterans of World War II to be our only armed reserve? These young fellows who have never served should be drafted."

BILL HULSIZER, junior in radio: "The draft is the best thing for our public relations. Perhaps other nations will get a confused notion of our armed strength and be more respectable in their dealings with us."

JIM PATTERSON, electrical engineering junior: "I'm against the draft because I never did think military training was a solution for America's defense problem. There will be nothing good gained from it."

SHELTON HOWARD, geology senior: "The draft will be a waste of the taxpayer's money. This peacetime army will just 'goof around' and not accomplish anything of value. We have plenty of reserve now—military service will merely lead these young kids to drinking and gambling."

BOB COLLINS, music sophomore: "Once we build up a military machine it will become so unwieldy and unruly that the only way to handle it will be either to let them out again or start a war to keep the young draftees busy."

A student is not admitted to Kansas State College later than ten days after the opening of a semester, except by special permission of his dean.

Study Kansas Wheat

E. D. Hansing and Charles C. Johnston are completing a 1,000-mile survey trip through wheat fields in Kansas. Hansing, associate plant pathologist at the agricultural experimental station, is making an extensive study of wheat smuts. Johnston is a cereal rust investigator for the United States Department of Agriculture.

The two men visited all regular agricultural experimental stations in the state and numerous farms whose owners cooperate with the Experiment Station by planting different varieties of wheat.

The studies are to help the station develop more adaptable strains of wheat for Kansas farmers and to determine best methods of wheat cultivation in the various sections of the state.

Including the campus of 155 acres, the Kansas State College owns 1,428.7 acres of land at Manhattan, valued at $415,093.

Outside the campus proper, all the land is devoted to educational and experimental work in agriculture.

AT STATE

The only thing better than a beautiful woman is a bathing beauty. Friday afternoon at the city pool there will be a contest complete with scant suits, healthy tans and long legs. Every one of the contestants will have to meet rigid requirements—they must all be over 15 years old and female. So if your morale has been equaling the low temperature don't fail to be at the pool at 3 p.m. with your binoculars or bifocals to see Miss K-State of '48.

This week, these people are making the news...

Thelma Jo Stedham, member of Pi Beta Phi, and Robert Reed, Sig Alpha, will be married July 18. Thelma Jo graduates this spring from Kansas State and Robert will be a junior in electrical engineering next fall. They are both from Salina.

Delores Montague, president of Alpha Delta Pi, and Marjorie Mitchell, rush captain, are in Spring Lake, N. J., attending the national convention of Alpha Delta Pi at the Hotel Essex and Sussex. The sorority is celebrating the 97th anniversary of its founding.

Ronnie Webster and Jeanette Walker, both of Manhattan, will be married July 18. Ronnie, a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon, will be a junior in civil engineering next fall.

MIMI KS of '48
Mr. and Mrs. Glen Jones left for Altadena, Calif. June 22, after spending a week with Mrs. Jones' parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Holm. Lieutenant Jones will sail for overseas duty July 15 and Mrs. Jones, the former Corrine Holm, will return home and enroll in college here this fall.

George L. Wilson, graduate of Kansas State and Marilyn Oborg, attending Kansas University, were married June 20 at the Immanuel Lutheran church in Salina. The groom, who received a degree in mechanical engineering, is employed by Salina Supply Company. He is a member of Sigma Nu fraternity.

The marriage of Patricia McKean of Manhattan to Frank Nelson Jr. of Dallas, Tex., on Jan. 27 at Clay Center has been announced. The Rev. E. A. Hull, minister of the First Methodist Church, performed the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Nelson attended the couple. Both Mr. and Mrs. Nelson are students of Kansas State and will be back to school this fall.

Pribble - Gard
Miss Beverly Pribble and John Phillip Gard, both of Salina, were married in the Episcopal Church of Salina Thursday afternoon, June 24. The bride wore a white street length dress, white hat and carried a white Bible. Mrs. Rogers, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Benton Eagle was the best man.

The reception, following the wedding, was at the Northview Country Club.

Following a short honeymoon, Mr. and Mrs. Gard came to their home in Manhattan where Phil is attending summer school. Beverly was graduated this spring from Kansas State and will teach in Manhattan this fall.

The bride is a member of Pi Beta Phi and the groom is a Sigma Phi Epsilon.

Haylett - Billings

Alice Joan Haylett, of Manhattan and Mr. Ronald Glenn Billings of Topeka were married in the home of the bride June 15. Dr. A. A. Holtz officiated, reading the double ring service. Miss Joan Myers played "Clair De Lune," "I Love You Truly," and "The Bridal March" from "Lohengrin." The bride, unattended, descended a flower decked stairway.

The bride wore a gown of frost white marquisette over tulle, fashioned with a sheer yolk, scalloped bertha collar in draped shoulder effect, fitted bodice, long sleeves tapered over the hands, and a bouffant skirt with a sweep train. She carried a white Bible and an orchid.

Following the ceremony a dinner was served at the Hartmann House for the immediate families.

The bride is a graduate of Kansas State College with a degree in arts and sciences. She is a member of Pi Beta Phi sorority.

Mr. Billings was graduated from Kansas State in July, 1946. He was a member of Phi Kappa Phi, Alpha Mu, Alpha Zeta and Gamma Sigma Delta. He has been enrolled at the Harvard University Graduate School of Business Administration and received his masters degree in June. He is a veteran of World War II.

The couple is living in Minneapolis, Miss. where the Mr. Billings is employed at the treasurer's department of Pillsbury Mills, Inc.

Holmgren - Keller

Jean Annette Holmgren, Pi Beta Phi of Kansas City, and Ward A. Keller, Delta Tau Delta of Manhattan, were married at the Wornall Road Baptist Church, Kansas City, Mo., June 26.

The tapers in candleabra and green plants and ferns formed a background setting for baskets of white gladioli, larkspur and daisies. Mrs. Miller played on the organ, "To an Evening Star," "Love Theme," and "Dreams." Miss June Joyce sang "Because," "I Love You Truly," and "The Lord's Prayer." During the ceremony, Mrs. Miller played "Speed Thee My Arrow," Pi Beta Phi sweetheart song.

The bride wore a gown of candlelight slipper satin with a beauteous neckline and a molded bodice. The hoop-skirted skirt was festooned in back to form a bustle which lengthened into a long aisle-wide train. The bridal bouquet was of white roses and a white orchid. She carried her grandmother's wedding handkerchief.

Miss Mary Lou Schovee of Topeka was maid of honor. Miss Patricia Piffer of Kansas City, Miss Jean Sorensen of McPherson, and Miss Beatrice Tuggle of Clay Center were the bridesmaids.

Mr. Keller was attended by Mr. J. William Faubron of Manhattan as best man. The reception was at Blue Hills Country Club. Mr. and Mrs. Keller are driving east on their honeymoon.

Fince-Badley
Miss Morleen Janice Fince of Kansas City, Kans., and Willis W. Badley of Salina were married in the First Presbyterian church of Kansas City, June 18.

The bride wore a gown of cloudwhite Mechlin lace. Her fingertip length veil was held in place by a French bonnet, of matching lace. She carried a white Bible topped with a white orchid.

Mrs. Robert Hassig, Kansas City, Kans., was matron of honor and Miss Phyllis Badger, also of Kansas City, was bridesmaid. Miss Rosabelle Allen of Salina was junior bridesmaid, Joseph Crowther of Salina was best man.

Following the wedding a reception was held at the home of the bride.

After their wedding trip the couple will beat home in San Antonio, Texas, where Mr. Badley will attend Officers' Candidate School.

Mrs. Badley is a graduate of Kansas State and has completed an internship as medical technician at the University of Kansas Medical Center. The bridegroom attended Kansas Wesleyan and Kansas State before he entered the Air Corps last fall.

The rains came and with them came these latest arrivals to Kansas State—

Mr. and Mrs. Royce Pence of 810 Thurston have named their son Thomas Victor. He was born June 22.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Coy, 93 Campus Court, have a daughter named Kathleen Ann born June 22.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Griffin have a boy called Jay William. They live at 29B Elliot Courts.

Ann is the new daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Galen Christiansen, of 715 Bertrand. She was born June 23.

Mr. and Mrs. Dale Hills, 1605 Anderson, named their girl Linda Lee. Linda was born June 24.

Mary Beth is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marion Sack of 417 Pierre. She arrived the 25th.

Mr. and Mrs. Carmel Ramsey of 55 Campus Courts have named their new daughter Elizabeth Dianne. She was born June 27.

Gary Bruce was also born the 27th. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ross, 71D Hilltop Courts.

Johnson to Direct New Modern Bakery

John A. Johnson, associate professor of milling industry, will have charge of the modern bakery plant now being constructed here. Dr. J. A. Shellenberger, department head announced today.

Johnson returned to Kansas State this month from the University of Minnesota where he completed resident requirements for a doctor of philosophy degree in biological chemistry. He has been on leave the past two semesters. Some research and the required thesis for his Ph.D. degree will be completed here. Johnson's major work was in the biochemistry field.

Grade Hen's Efforts

Quality of eggs in Kansas ranked favorably with that of 12 North Central states in the first egg-grading project to determine loss of quality in eggs while they are being shipped from the producer to the carlot shipper, according to Joe W. Koudele of the economics department at the College.

The grading, first of its kind, is to determine the part deterioration plays in the cost of marketing eggs. It is being done in cooperation with the Production and Marketing Administration of the Department of Agriculture.

No Sun!—No Hospital Care

The student health department reports very little activity this summer. There have been no epidemics, or serious accidents or fractures, according to Doctor Snook, head of the department.

Doctor Snook states that students now attending Kansas State are older and more mature and don't do silly little things that land them in the hospital. "They don't lie in the sun for hours at a stretch and then drink gallons of water. In general they take better care of themselves," he claims.

The normal percentage would keep about five to ten students in the hospital. So far this summer, the number has kept well within those figures.

Strawberries Saved by Applying 2,4-D

Strawberries are not damaged by proper application of 2,4-D, experiments made at the College indicate, according to Ronald Campbell of the horticulture department. This is the first time weed control in strawberries has been attempted in Kansas by spraying.

Using the weed-killing chemical in an eight to 10,000 mixture required less than one pound an acre for each application, Campbell said.

Smartweeds that had been permitted to grow in strawberries set out March 25 were wiped out completely by the chemical. With two sprayings completed and another scheduled for Saturday, Campbell said it looked as if the pigweeds also will be killed in the experiment.

A plan using amine, ester and sodium forms of 2,4-D to control weeds in strawberries will be used later, he indicated.

Research assistants are Ronald W. Livers, agronomy; Charles A. Simkins, agronomy; John W. Schmidt, agronomy; Winston H. Wingerd, chemistry; and Mrs. Harriett F. Taylor, chemistry.

Richard B. Parker will be assistant in the Institute of Citizenship. Nancy Jane Diggle, assistant to the Dean of Women, and Merrill Toburen, assistant in the department of chemistry. Harold B. Miller will be a radio engineer at station KSCA and Melvin N. Snyder, library assistant in the agriculture department.

English Tests

All Juniors and Seniors assigned to English proficiency for the Summer Session should report to their respective deans by Saturday, in order to sign a record card, according to Nellie Aberle, chairman of the English proficiency committee. A student will not be permitted to take the examination on July 12 who has not signed a record card.

Each student will also be assigned a number to use in taking the examination and will be given an instruction sheet concerning the exam. The examination is to be given Monday, July 12 from 7 to 10 p. m. in rooms and buildings to be listed on the instruction sheet.

Senior Deadline

Senior commencement fees are due Thursday, according to A. R. Jones, College comptroller. Thursday, Jones said, will be the absolute deadline. Commencement will be August 8, in the stadium.

Sears and Kroger Awards Given

Winners of 14 scholarships from the Sears Roebuck Foundation and two from the Kroger Company were announced this week by Dean Margaret M. Justin of the home economics school at the College.

Ten of the scholarships are for $200; six, $100. Winners are all Kansas high school girls who will enter the College this fall to study home economics.

Recipients of the $200 awards from the Sears Foundation are Mary Baerth, Soldier; Eunice Riggs, Quinter; Virginia Smith, Shawnee; Ruth Horach, Wellington; Joana Mae Lessor, Vesper; Joan Shinn, Conway Springs; Louise Starr, Paola; Frances Irene Pigg, McPherson. Marjorie Cates, 1240 Nebraska, Kansas City, and Joyceyn Kohler, Hill City, won the two $100 Kroger awards.

Six $100 Sears scholarships go to Leona Fry, Sedgwick; Regis L. Downey, Glasco; Nathalie Brown, Osborne; Dorothy Van Horn, Pomona; Iris Arlene Carswell, Downs; Virginia Ann Sandy, Troy.

Beginning in 1944, Sears Foundation has granted 65 awards at this school in home economics. Kroger made two awards last year, two this year. The sixteen 1948 winners were selected from 49 applicants, Dean Justin said. Scholarship, general ability, character and need were considered in choosing the winners.

Will Attend National Baby Chick Meeting

The largest poultry organization in the United States with approximately 8,000 members will meet in St. Louis, Mo., July 13-16, according to Prof. L. F. Payne, head of the poultry department. Dr. C. D. Mueller, poultry geneticist, and Professor Payne will attend the annual International Baby Chick Association Convention.

Eighty-five thousand square feet of the exhibition hall in Kiel Auditorium in St. Louis has been reserved for show purposes. Space has been reserved by 150 commercial firms, 16 of which are holding exhibitions for the first time.

The National Collegiate Poultry Club will assemble July 14-16 in St. Louis, according to Prof. T. B. Avery, adviser to the group. Tom Kelgwin and Bob Coombs were selected to represent the College Poultry Club at the meeting.

The NCPA president, Tom James of KSC, will not attend the national meeting. Presiding over the group will be William Chaffin of Kentucky, vice-president of the club. Emphasis on closer cooperation between college clubs will be stressed at the business meeting, commented Tom James.

Dropped during the war, the NCPA is in its second year of activity. Ties between the clubs are maintained by the exchange of newsletters. Promotion of poultry interest and the exchange of ideas between poultry students, explained Tom James, is the purpose of the NCPA.

Chickens Get It Too!

Annual vaccination of all young stock at the College poultry farm for fowl pox will be carried out this week, according to Prof. L. F. Payne, head of the poultry department. The process will involve the vaccination of approximately 5,000 birds. Employees of the College farm and the entire staff will cooperate in carrying out the preventive program. Work will be under the direction of Professor Payne.

VETS TREAT TO A DAY

An average of more than 70 animals were treated for each working day in May in the School of Veterinary Medicine. Dr. H. J. Frick, surgery and medicine department head, has disclosed.

The total for the month, 1,634, was slightly less than the number treated in May.

Two Siamese in Grad School

The applications of two new Siamese students for graduate study in industrial chemistry for the fall semester have been approved by Dean Harold Howe, head of the Graduate School.

Mr. and Mrs. Vadhana Vadanavongs, residents of Bangkok, Siam, will be the first Siamese students to enroll at Kansas State, according to Dean Howe.

Both have degrees of Bachelor of Science in Chemistry from Chulalongkorn University of Siam granted in 1943.

The Vadanavongs' completed college courses consist of four years of chemistry and physics, two years of mathematics, a year of English and one of mineralogy.

Dean Howe reports that the two students have not secured a place to live, but every effort is being made to find one.

A Wet Time at KSCS Swim Party

A crowd of nearly 600 students attended the first all-College swimming party ever to be held for Kansas State students last Friday. Students and their families began gathering at the pool early in the afternoon to spend the afternoon swimming and watching swimming contests, diving exhibitions and the bathing beauty contest.

The party was the first swim ever to be given for the whole College according to my records," stated College historian J. T. Willard.

Miss KSC, '48, Nancy Martin, brunette, golden-tanned co-ed sponsored by Phi Delta Theta in the bathing beauty contest, was chosen "Miss K-State of '48." She was presented a gold-plated silver loving cup. A white banner, bearing the words, "Miss KSC, '48" in purple was pinned across her bright gold-colored bathing suit after she was announced winner.

The crowd "oh'd" and "ah'd" as diving exhibitionists Alice Becker, Jackie Compton, Jim Orloff and Vic Emmel twisted their agile bodies in mid-air after they left the high springboard and then plummeted straight into the pool. They did jack knife, half-twist, half-gainer and other dives besides exhibitions of springboard acrobatics. Jim Orloff dressed in an old-model bathing suit and performed several clown dives for the crowd.

Took Top Awards
Orloff and Dewey Huston won more awards in the swimming contests than most of the other entrants. Orloff was on the winning relay team and was first in the 50 yard back (Continued on Page Four)

Hilltop Election

A special meeting for Hilltop court residents has been called for Thursday, 7:30 p. m., Vet hall, room 13, according to C. A. Kearns, Hilltop mayor.

Election of officers will be the business of the meeting. Kearns said.

Kansas State's Library Subscribes to Thousands of Magazines on Hundreds of Varied Subjects

By Bill Krause

Want to read a magazine? "The Saturday Evening Post?" "Harper's Bazaar?" "The Philippine Journal of Agriculture?" The College Library has them all and hundreds more.

On the shelves that line the walls of the first floor of the library are dozens and dozens of periodicals that you've probably never even heard of, much less read. Included are magazines of general circulation, technical magazines, quarterly reports of scientific societies and many others. Nearly every type is represented—with the exception of pulp fiction magazines.

For example, if you are interested in sheep raising, there is the "Sheep Breeder." If Shorthorn cattle are your favorites, you'll want to read the "Shorthorn World." If you are seeking the word on Russia, you might read the "Russian Review."

A great many of the publications carried by the library are

Greek Expenses Proved Smaller than Others

By KSC News Bureau

It costs less to board and room at a fraternity or sorority house than to live independently of the social organizations at the College.

This is shown by the 18th annual fraternity and sorority report to the Faculty Council on Student Affairs, released today, at the College. Total average charge by sororities is $55 a month. The average for fraternities is $58, the report indicates. These totals include charges for room, board, chapter dues and assessments.

Students living in rooming houses say they find it impossible to cut monthly expenses for board and room below $60. Likewise students who recently pledged social organizations say it costs less to be in a fraternity or sorority.

Only a small percentage of the students at Kansas State College can live in fraternity or sorority houses. Only 639, 11 percent of the 5,700 men students lived in fraternity houses at the College last spring; 326 of the 1412 women, 22 percent, were sorority residents.

Both fraternity and sorority houses are full. "Too many women," "Rooms too small," and "Too many men" were listed on several individual reports on the social organizations.

Seventy-three women and 474 men could not live in their fraternity and sorority houses last year. In many cases activities moved out to make room in the house for pledges.

Fire inspection reports showed no serious hazards at any of the fraternities or sororities and sanitary conditions are good, the report indicates.

Sponsor Fowl Fry for All College Men

A chicken fry for all men students and faculty men in summer school will be given Wednesday evening, July 14, by Phi Delta Kappa honorary education fraternity, according to Don Ford, president of the organization. The event will begin at 5 p. m. and will be in Sunset Park.

The Phi Delta Kappa chicken fry was an annual event before the war and is now being revived. Tickets for the event will be on sale all this week at the housing office and at the education office. The price is $1.00.

Keynotes Conference

Kenney L. Ford, President of The American Alumni Council, will give the keynote address at the opening luncheon of the 33rd Annual National Alumni conference in Ann Arbor, July 12. He will speak to alumni directors representing 400 American and Canadian colleges on the question, "The Alumni Secretary—What Is He?"

As executive alumni secretary of Kansas State College for 20 years, Ford has been a member of the A. A. C. since 1929. He has held office as district director, director of regional conferences and director for alumni offices.

G. I. Books

The deadline for veterans receiving summer text books will be July 17, according to the Veterans Administration.

Veterans, under the G. I. Bills should have gotten their books by that time and schedules should have been arranged so as to let the veteran know what text books he needs, the VA said.

Abstammungs und Vererbung

Das gesamte Getreidewesen. Publications in German and French deal with various scientific subjects including medicine, chemistry, biology and etymology. Most of these periodicals, particularly the German, are pre-war issues.

One of the most popular seems to be to call it a Journal. Well over 100 publications are titled "The Journal of..." completed with whatever the journal happens to be about. This does not include such titles as "The Ladies Home Journal" and others that use the word journal but not as the first of the title.

As might be expected, the names of the magazines vary tremendously in length. Among the shorter titles are "Pic" and the "Auk," a "Journal of Ornithology." Longer titles run to the length of "The Journal of the American Society of Farm Managers and Rural Appraisers."

A vast fund of knowledge and information is stored in the considerably more than 2000 different publications listed in the library. In addition to the scientific journals already

Chapel Speaker Says Civilization Needs Liberalism

"The liberal position is the way of civilization," declared Dr. Norman N. Royall, Jr., dean of the college at the University of Kansas City, in the all-College assembly last Thursday.

Dr. Royall, who spoke on the subject, "The Position of the Liberal in a World Divided Between Right and Left," was introduced by Dr. Robert Walker, retiring director of the Institute of Citizenship.

"Liberalism is not a new thing," Dr. Royall said. "Liberalism dates back to the time of Plato, but gained popularity in England in 1939 just nine years before the Liberal party in England made such noted achievements. In England the Liberal party abolished slavery, stood for public health, legalized trade unions, ballot voting and many others."

"There are four points of view in politics," the Dean said. "They are reactionary, conservative, liberal, and radical. In defining the types, one must look at the objects or ends desired and the method of achieving those ends as the significant factors."

In explaining the liberals of today, Dr. Royall emphasized that they believe in the alteration of certain problems for the betterment of mankind. Furthermore, they "operate under the compulsion of restraint of discourse and persuasion."

Dr. Royall ended his address by saying that war is the ultimate challenge to the Liberal party, but they do and will still believe that mankind is ethical and rational. He added that a liberal must believe man is a rational being and can solve the problems by reason.

The assembly was sponsored by the Assembly Committee and the Institute of Citizenship.

Dean Royall is local chairman of the advisory committee on the adult Great Books program for the Kansas City area, sponsored by the Institute of Citizenship.

As a lieutenant commander, Dr. Royall was on active duty with the anti-submarine service in the Navy. Dr. Royall has served on the faculties at Winthrop College, Georgia Tech and Brown University. He has attended the University of North Carolina, Johns Hopkins University, Emory, Brown and Harvard Universities. His degrees include B. S., M. S., A. M., and Ph. D. He is a cousin of the Hon. Kenneth C. Royall, Secretary of the Army.

Students who want jobs and would-be employers who have jobs to be filled are brought together by the student employment bureau of the college Y. M. C. A.

During the last twelve months, 569 jobs have been filled with the help of the Y. M. C. A., according to William E. West, Sec.

In his annual report to President Milton S. Eisenhower he said that the Y. M. C. A. maintains an active and up to date file of jobs. These jobs are checked at regular intervals to determine whether or not they are still available.

Students who want jobs and would-be employers who have jobs to be filled are brought together by the student employment bureau of the college Y. M. C. A.

During the last twelve months, 569 jobs have been filled with the help of the Y. M. C. A., according to William E. West, Sec.

In his annual report to President Milton S. Eisenhower he said that the Y. M. C. A. maintains an active and up to date file of jobs. These jobs are checked at regular intervals to determine whether or not they are still available.

Of the 569 jobs filled in the last fiscal year 414 were odd jobs averaging three hours per job. Approximately 134 were steady part-time jobs which averaged three to six hours daily and continued during the semester or school year. Full time jobs numbered 21, with an 8-hour per day minimum.

The Y's employment bureau maintains a file of students desiring employment. During the last six months 169 students have filed applications for steady part-time work.

All requests for employment information are referred to the employment bureau, according to West. So many have come in that West drafted a mimeographed letter, which he has sent to 431 persons seeking employment information. Interviews with students, and interviews with persons desiring to employ students are arranged by the bureau.

Dallas Announces July Movie List

Seventeen first run moving pictures are scheduled for Manhattan's four theaters, according to Dave Dallas, theater manager. Seven of these pictures will be shown at the Wareham theater.

In a statement this week, Dallas reviewed the policy of the four Manhattan theaters of the Wareham chain. The Wareham theater shows only first run grade A pictures. The Sosna carries alternate first run pictures and movies that have previously been shown at the Wareham. The Carlton shows movies that have been run before in either the Wareham or the Sosna. The State theater uses first run B pictures and Westerns.

Several widely publicized pictures will be shown this month in Manhattan. Among them are "The Voice of the Turtle" starring Robert Reagan and Eleanor Parker, "If Winter Comes" with Walter Pidgeon and Deborah Kerr, and "Green Grass of Wyoming" in technicolor with Peggy Cummins and Charles Colburn.

Also to be shown this month are "T-Men" with Dennis O'Keefe, "Sleep My Love" starring Claudette Colbert, and "Dick Tracy Meets Gruesome" with Ralph Byrd and Boris Karloff.

Assisting Mrs. Ahearn will be Dr. Harold Howe, dean of the Graduate School; Msgr. A. J. Luckey of the Manhattan Catholic Church; J. P. Callahan, professor of English, and the president of Newman Club, Catholic student organization.

Journalism Sorority Nationally Recognized

National honorable mention for the best presentation of the year's activities has been awarded the Kansas State chapter of Theta Sigma Phi, professional organization for women in journalism. Jeanette Harper, a member of the club, prepared the scrapbook which was shown at the national convention in Milwaukee, Wis., last week.

Oris Cantrell, journalism student at KSC last semester and now assistant women's editor of "Progressive Farmer" in Birmingham, Ala., was initiated as an associate member of Theta Sigma Phi at ceremonies at the convention. Barbara Holmes, president of the Kansas State chapter, was official delegate to the convention.

One Cost Is Down

Students at the College got ripe cherries for 10 cents a pound here this week from the College horticulture farm. They picked the cherries themselves. Many married student veterans and their wives picked enough to can or put in cold storage.

Chairmen Selected for Alumni Drive

An Alumni drive for seniors graduating at the end of the summer term is in full swing this week, according to Kenny Ford, secretary of the Alumni Association.

Chairmen for each of the schools in the College have been selected. They include Professors Abbie L. Marlatt, Home Economics; M. A. Durland, Engineering; W. F. Pickett, Agriculture; R. R. Lashbrook, Arts and Science and Dean Harold Howe, head of graduate school. These chairmen

Financial Report OK'd For Greeks

The nine sororities and 18 fraternities of the College are in strong financial condition, their 18th annual report, released this week, indicates.

Twenty-five of the 27 Greek-letter groups own real estate valued at an estimated $85,000. Two fraternities own no real estate. Total indebtedness of the social organizations is only $287,000. All but $16,000 of this amount is indebtedness on real estate.

Average value of real estate owned by fraternities at Kansas State is $29,000. Average value of the nine sorority houses at the College is more than $41,000.

Approximately 21 percent of the students at Kansas State belong to Greek-letter social organizations. Only 13 percent live in fraternity or sorority houses. All the houses are operating at capacity, the report stated.

There can be no increase in the number of students housed by social organizations until existing houses are enlarged or new ones erected or purchased, according to the report.

SPC will meet INDEPENDENT OISMH. All persons who plan to attend the Student Planning Committee conference this summer are invited to a meeting to be held in Calvin Hall at 7 p. m. Tuesday, July 13. This meeting will be to discuss final plans made in preparation for the conference, which will be August 30 to September 1 at Camp Wood.

Referring to the expected attendance at the conference, Weatherble said ninety students and 10 faculty members have indicated their intentions of attending the camp.

"This invitation," Weatherble added, "also applies to any students who are interested in the Student Planning Committee and would like to attend the conference."

Committee Will Pick Chapel Furnishings

Mrs. Mary Ahearn, widow of the late Coach Mike Ahearn, has been named chairman of a committee to arrange for altars and other furnishings needed for Catholic services in the All-Faith Memorial Chapel, Kenney L. Ford, alumni secretary, has announced.

Dr. Max Milner of the College milling department and the president of Hill Foundation, College organization for Jewish students, were named the committee to make arrangements necessary for Jewish services.

Assisting Mrs. Ahearn will be Dr. Harold Howe, dean of the Graduate School; Msgr. A. J. Luckey of the Manhattan Catholic Church; J. P. Callahan, professor of English, and the president of Newman Club, Catholic student organization.

Will Support Athletics

Next year the Alumni Association will provide $6,500 from life membership money for the College athletic program. The money will aid in establishing athletic scholarships. Students who are in need of financial assistance are helped by funds provided by the organization. Also the association assists the College in securing much needed legislative appropriations.

"The organization offers the most effective means of promoting, by organized efforts, the best interests of the College," explained Mr. Ford.

Will Photograph Grade Records

As a means of calculating freshman honor students, about 2,500 grade records are being photographed during the month of July, according to Mr. Charles V. Crooks, transcript photographer for the College.

A daily routine of about 50 prints of transcripts are run through the department, according to Mr. Crooks. Persons who are transferring to other schools or those who are looking for positions are the main customers.

One recent project completed by the department was making photostatic copies of birth certificates of children for veterans who could claim increased subsistence pay for children born before July 1, 1948.

Financial Report OK'd For Greeks

The nine sororities and 18 fraternities of the College are in strong financial condition, their 18th annual report, released this week, indicates.

Twenty-five of the 27 Greek-letter groups own real estate valued at an estimated $85,000. Two fraternities own no real estate. Total indebtedness of the social organizations is only $287,000. All but $16,000 of this amount is indebtedness on real estate.

Average value of real estate owned by fraternities at Kansas State is $29,000. Average value of the nine sorority houses at the College is more than $41,000.

Approximately 21 percent of the students at Kansas State belong to Greek-letter social organizations. Only 13 percent live in fraternity or sorority houses. All the houses are operating at capacity, the report stated.

There can be no increase in the number of students housed by social organizations until existing houses are enlarged or new ones erected or purchased, according to the report.

SPC will meet INDEPENDENT OISMH. All persons who plan to attend the Student Planning Committee conference this summer are invited to a meeting to be held in Calvin Hall at 7 p. m. Tuesday, July 13. This meeting will be to discuss final plans made in preparation for the conference, which will be August 30 to September 1 at Camp Wood.

Referring to the expected attendance at the conference, Weatherble said ninety students and 10 faculty members have indicated their intentions of attending the camp.

"This invitation," Weatherble added, "also applies to any students who are interested in the Student Planning Committee and would like to attend the conference."

Committee Will Pick Chapel Furnishings

Mrs. Mary Ahearn, widow of the late Coach Mike Ahearn, has been named chairman of a committee to arrange for altars and other furnishings needed for Catholic services in the All-Faith Memorial Chapel, Kenney L. Ford, alumni secretary, has announced.

Dr. Max Milner of the College milling department and the president of Hill Foundation, College organization for Jewish students, were named the committee to make arrangements necessary for Jewish services.

Assisting Mrs. Ahearn will be Dr. Harold Howe, dean of the Graduate School; Msgr. A. J. Luckey of the Manhattan Catholic Church; J. P. Callahan, professor of English, and the president of Newman Club, Catholic student organization.

Will Support Athletics

Evans Returns as Golf Mentor; P. E. Instructor

T. M. (Mickey) Evans, former K-State football and baseball star, has been named head golf coach and assistant professor of physical education at K-State. It was announced today by Thurlio McCrady, director of athletics. His appointment is effective September 1.

Evans formerly was an instructor of physical education and assistant football coach at K-State from January 1943 to the spring of 1946 when he left to spend a year as instructor of physical education at Oklahoma A. and M. At present he is teaching summer school at Drake University. He has been at Drake the past one and one-half years.

Evans graduated from K-State in 1930 with a degree in physical education. He received his master's degree from the University of Michigan in 1941. During his undergraduate days, Evans lettered as a football quarterback at K-State under Charlie Bachman and Bo McMillan. He was an infielder on Wildcat baseball teams which took two conference championships.

He is a member of Phi Epsilon Kappa, honorary physical education fraternity and of Phi Delta Kappa, honorary education fraternity. Before entering the college teaching field, Evans taught physical education for six years at Argentine Junior-Senior high school in Kansas City, Kan., and six years at Iola high school.

Wildcat footballers John Conley, left, and Kenny Johnston take time out from their afternoon work to get the feel of the old "pigskin" and talk over the approaching season. Conley, a center, and Johnston, a fullback, are working daily giving the stadium seats their annual paint job.

Chalk Talk

By Pat Patterson

A situation has developed as a result of recent action by the Big Seven faculty representatives that can easily cause a break-up of the newly formed conference. The future of the conference isn't in the hands of the faculty dads now, but rather the responsibility rests on the shoulders of the leaders of Kansas University, an eminent member of the association. Its leaders have decided to defy the decision on eligibility that passed the ruling body in May.

In effect, here is the interpretation, right or wrong, that was voted in by the faculty representatives: Any athlete entering a Big Seven school prior or subsequent to May, 1947 shall be entitled to but three years of varsity competition. Two years of junior college, and one of varsity participation as a freshman shall each be considered as one year of varsity competition. Until this measure was renewed (it was pre-war rule) the conference was permitting four years of varsity competition.

K. U. considers the reinterpretation as "retroactive and discriminatory" on the basis of commitments made to the athletes entering before May, 1947. Undoubtedly it is fighting for its players who have been led to believe they would be entitled to four years of play. That is admirable. President Eisenhower went to bat for a K-State athlete counted ineligible under the same ruling. But he decided to go along with the men who make the rules. Chancellor Mallot of K. U., backed by the Kansas Board of Regents and the Governor, has decided to go against these men. Where will it lead? Someone has to give ground or the conference can split at the seams. If K. U. holds on and the conference lives in, the result is another loss of prestige for its ruling authority.

Victor and Vanquished

The K. U. leaders have decided to place their institution and their football fortunes above the conference ruling. If conference teams suffer athletic losses at the hands of the Jayhawkers they have a right to demand forfeits. K. U. will consider itself the victor no matter if the others consider it the vanquished. The results of protested games will go into the Kansas archives as victories. It may consider itself champion while six other schools consider it last place in record and what is more important, sportsmanship.

You may remember way back in 1948 when K. U. made a loud noise over the eligibility of a certain K-State basketball player. We asked for and got a clean bill of health on that player. Again the rulers' decision might have been wrong. But everyone except K. U. was satisfied with it.

Bob Dellinger, sports editor of the Daily Kansas at that time, put it this way in his paper. "If Kansas State does win the championship, it will leave an all-time black mark on the first-year record of the new conference. It certainly will be a step in the wrong direction for the new league if the first place title is won in opposition to conference statutes." What reverberations these hallowed words have!

Back to the Right We can appeal to the K. U. men to put aside their threats. We can ask them to come back to the right and help make this the top conference in the nation. We can congratulate them on fighting for what they think is right. We can advise them to abide by the decisions of the majority. We can realize the majority is not always right. But you've got to have a ruling body with some authority. And we'd like to advise the Governor of Kansas to stay in politics. He

Prather Has Poor Day at AUU Meet

Tossing the discus for fourth place honors and failing to place in the shot put, Rollin Prather had a poor day Saturday at the National A. A. U. meet in Milwaukee, Wis. Prather had one of the poorest days of his college career at the meet which was filled with upsets in both weight and dash stars. Along with Prather's poor performance, Harrison Dillard, ace hurdler and dash star, was beaten for the first time in 82 starts. Failing to place in the shot put doesn't affect Prather's qualifying for the Olympic tryouts in Chicago Thursday and Friday.

K-Stater Wins in Links Tourney

Two K-State students and one former student placed high in the prize winning in the annual Manhattan Country Club Invitational Golf Tournament Sunday and Monday.

Don Bishop, veteran Wildcat golfer, won fourth place honors in the 54 hole championship medal play. Elmer Lutz, former K-State student and present Manhattan golf star, captured the championship first flight with a brilliant 201, nine under par. Bishop won a dozen golf balls and Lutz was presented with a beautiful blond leather golf bag. Lutz also won the longest ball award in the driving contest.

John Conley, Wildcat football center, won the first flight. Conley was never hard pressed as he won his four matches 5 and 4, 3 and 2, 6 and 5 and 4. His prize was a $50 wrist watch.

College 4-H'ers to Summer Camps

Kansas State's participation in state and national activities has been scheduled for the summer. Four members of the 4-H Club division of the Department of Extension will attend the annual interstate 4-H conference in Waynesville, Mo., an Ozarks resort town, from July 13 to 16. The four, all state club leaders, are J. Harold Johnson, Mary Elsie Border, Velma McGaugh and Roger E. Regnier. Representatives from eight states will attend the conference.

K-State 4-H leaders will also help in the supervision of the state health camp for Kansas 4-Hers July 21 to 24 at Rock Springs ranch near Junction City. One boy and one girl from each county will attend the camp. The 20 students will be selected for their interest in health, leadership ability and physical fitness. Will include music, crafts, horseback riding and other sports.

The College 4-H office has announced the names of six Kansas 4-H club members who won scholarships entitling them to two weeks of camping and leadership training at the American Youth Foundation near Shelby, Mich., August 2 to 15 and August 18 to 29. Girls will attend camp for the first session and the boys will go for the second two weeks.

Winners were chosen for outstanding records in club, church, school and community work and on an essay each wrote on "The Importance of Well-Balanced Development."

Students who won the scholarships are Harlan Copeland, ry Mor b—rql,n—shrdlu cmf Eric; Lester Seuser, Blson; Henry Morgan, Greeley, Ger-aldine Cooper, Marysville; Dorothy Vanskike, Arkansas City and Geraldine Stoskopf, Great Bend.

To Extension Meet

Three College extension specialists plan to leave Saturday for Nemo, S. D., to attend a Northern Great Plains health council meeting next week. They are C. R. Jaccard, agricultural accountant; Miss Martha Brill, state health specialist; Miss Georgianna Smurthwaite, state home demonstration leader. They plan to return to Manhattan on July 11.

Illustrations Hall at Kansas State College is now used for Religious departments, photographers department and other offices. It was first used for horticulture and kindred subjects. Greenhouses were to the north of the building.

Fritz Knorr, recently appointed assistant to the director of athletics, points to a chart of the stadium seating showing the sections sold in-block to the Wildcat Club for the 1948 season. The order for 1,000 reserved season tickets, set an all-time high for a single K-State football ticket order. Knorr and Athletic Director Thurlio McCrady predict a record reserved seat sale for the 1948 football year.

Winfield Gets Sires

The dairy herd of the state training school at Winfield is being improved by using sires from Kansas State, according to Franklin E. Eldridge, associate professor of dairy husbandry at the college. Kanstacol Foremost and Killowatt Madcap Climax are being used in the training school's herd of 75 cows. Both are spring satisfactory daughters, Eldridge said.

Silver Lines Clouds

There is at least one bright aspect for farmers in southeast Kansas in the two weeks of flooding rains.

Recent downpours practically eliminated clench bugs from wheat and barley fields in that area, according to E. G. Kelly, extension entomologist at Kansas State College.

Kelly said that until the heavy rains wiped most of them out, the little brown and red bugs had been thriving in dry weather of April and May and were a threat to wheat and oats and later to sorghums and later to sorghum and corn.

There is at Kansas State College a chapter of the Association of Cosmopolitan Clubs in Universities and Colleges of America. The active membership consists of foreign and American students, both men and women. The objective of the club is to promote international understanding through friendship among students of various nationalities.

SOCIETY

AT STATE

After the banged-up weekend of firecrackers and all that goes with celebrating, the students are returning in various conditions to this summer resort (or last resort). There isn't too much brewing in such high degree weather, but the calendar for July holds a certain amount of interest. For example, there's a band concert at 8 p.m. in the city park Thursday and Friday marks the half way mark for the summer session. Then on July 12, at 6:45, all juniors get to take their English proficiency exams. The stadium is running competition for the Sosna July 13, for at 8 p.m. there will be the movie "Knickerbocker Holiday." There will be more band concerts on July 15 and 22, and the next dance on the tennis courts will be July 16. On the 27th K-State Players will present their play the "Parlor Story." Of course there will be multi-sorority rush parties and various meetings, assemblies, parties and the like so July ought to fly.

Margaret Rickles, Delta Delta Delta of Salina, and Jack Jones, Sigma Phi Epsilon of Ottawa, have announced their engagement and plan to be married August 29. Margaret will be a senior in landscape design, and Jack will be a senior in architecture this fall when they return to school.

The nine women living at the Chatterbox this summer had a birthday celebration in honor of Virginia Sedgwick July 1. It isn't fair to tell a woman's age, but this fall Virginia can vote.

Georganna Sells and Norman Clark, both of Kansas City, have announced their engagement. They will be married Sept. 7. Miss Sells is a student in the school of nursing at Kansas University. Mr. Clark is a student in mechanical engineering at Kansas State.

Doris Marshall, Delta Delta Delta of Topeka, and John Cook of Abilene, have announced their wedding for August 8. It will take place at 3 p.m. at the Westminster Presbyterian Church. Dr. Bryan Stoffer, president of Washburn University, will read the ceremony.

Doris graduated from Kansas State in June. John, who attended Kansas State, is engaged in farming near Abilene.

Betty Cary and Donald Heuben of Kansas City, have announced their engagement. They plan to be married Sept. 4.

Miss Cary is a graduate of Kansas University where she was a member of Phi Beta Phi. Mr. Heuben is a member of Phi Delta Theta at Kansas State.

Jean Hagans, Delta Delta Delta, and Darlene Meisner, Kappa Delta, left last Wednesday for Sunset Girls Camp, near Chicago, where they will be counselors this summer.

Marilyn Larson, Delta Delta Delta, of Wamego, and Louis Otto, Beta Theta Pi, of Manhattan have announced their wedding date of August 15. Marilyn graduated this spring and Lou will be a sophomore in veterinary medicine next fall. After their marriage, the couple will make their home in Wakefield, Kansas, where Marilyn will teach home economics and Lou will commute to Kansas State.

Lorene Talbot, of Greenleaf, and Darwin Housholder, of Scandia, were married July 1. Father Schott officiated at the ceremony at the Catholic Rectory.

The bride wore a white gabardine suit and a corsage of orchids. Miss Doris Woodworth, of Garrison, was her attendant.

Mr. Dean Mitchell, Republican, was best man.

Mrs. Housholder is a graduate of the Greenleaf High School and the St. Mary School of Nursing. For the past six months she has been employed at the St. Luke hospital in Kansas City.

Mr. Housholder will be a senior in the school of agriculture next fall.

Following the ceremony, the couple left for a honeymoon in California. On their return they will be at home at Tribune, where Mr. Housholder will be employed as assistant county agent for the remainder of the summer. They will return to Manhattan in the fall.

Garris-Maloney
Betty Jane Garris of Kansas City was married to Richard Maloney of Shawnee, Kansas. The ceremony was solemnized by Msgr. John Keyes at 11 a. m. June 26, at the St. James Catholic Church.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white wedding ring sat in fashion with a drop shoulder tulle yoke bordered with a band of jewels, and the skirt lengthened into an aisle-wide train.

Miss Carol Helmers was maid of honor. Miss Barbara Garris, cousin of the bride, and Miss Jo Fitzpatrick, were bridesmaids. Mr. Gerald Maloney was best man and Mr. Paul Pflum and Mr. Lynn Winslow were the groomsmen.

The couple left for their honeymoon in Colorado Springs. After Aug. 1, Mr. and Mrs. Maloney will be at their home in Topeka. The bride is a member of Delta Delta Delta.

A new type of punk on the Fourth of July.

Mr. and Mrs. James Krink, of 515 Pierre, are the parents of a daughter named Marilyn. She was born June 5, in the St. Mary hospital in Kansas City.

Mr. and Mrs. James McKie, Jr., of 816 Juliette, have named their son Robert Andrew. He was born June 30.

Frances Irene is the new daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Peacock, of 1002 Houston. She arrived July 1.

Don Stanley is his name, and Mr. and Mrs. Don Hite are his parents. They live at 816 Juliette, and little Don was born July 2.

Ardis Ann was the celebration for Mr. and Mrs. Arden Kemler on July 4. They live at 1017 Laramie.

Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Rundus, of 1640 Fairview, have named their son Vencil John. He was born July 6.

Examinations Given for Civil Service

An announcement was released this week by the Kansas Joint Merit System Council, offering examinations for twenty-seven different classes of positions.

There will be no closing date for filing applications for sixteen of these positions and examinations will be given whenever an adequate number of applications have been filed. The positions which are open for continuous recruitment are: Child Welfare Consultant, Classes I and II; Child Welfare Worker, Classes I, II, and III; Clerk; County Director, Classes IV and V; Fiscal Officer, Classes IV and V; Sanitation; Sanitation Assistant; Senior Stenographer; Stenographer; Typist; and Visitor.

For the remaining positions in this announcement, the closing date for filing applications is July 22, 1948. These positions are: Chief Consultant Nurse (CC Services); County Director, Class III; District Consultant Nurse (CC Services); District Nurse (CC Services); District Public Health Nurse (CC Services); Field Representative (Social Welfare); Informational Assistant; Public Health Nurse V; Technical Assistant I; Technical Assistant II; and Veterinary Assistant.

The official application form and complete information in regard to the duties, responsibilities, and salary ranges may be obtained from the State and County Boards of Social Welfare; State, County, and City Boards of Health; Offices of the Kansas Employment Security Division (including the Kansas State Employment Service); and the Kansas Crippled Children Commission.

Police Judge Sets Speeding Policy

Judge C. A. Kimball laid down the Police court policy on speeders yesterday at his morning session in the city hall. Although a speed of 40 miles per hour would draw a fine of $5 on Poyntz, Kimball said, $25 would not be too much on a residence street. On a residence street, he explained, 30 miles per hour is a dangerous, and 40 miles an hour a reckless speed.

Malnutrition Here

Several mild forms from nutritional deficiency are found in Kansas, according to Martha E. Brill, extension home health specialist at the College.

Among those named by Mrs. Brill from too little iron, protein and other minerals; scurvy, from a shortage of iodine, and rickets caused by a lack of calcium, phosphorus and vitamin D.

Male-Tested Winners

Extractor Is A Honey

A new electric rotary honey extractor is being installed at the College apary to speed up extraction of honey.

The new thirty-frame electric extractor replaces a four-frame hand driven centrifugal extractor. The electric rotary extractor takes honey from both sides of the honey frame at once. The centrifugal extractor would remove it from only one side at a time.

Fifty-yard free style for women: Alice Becker, first; Jackie Compton, second; Dana Foltz, third.

One hundred yard free style: Dewey Huston, first; Alvin Becker, second; Raymond Beauty, third. Time, 1 minute, 17.1 seconds.

The winning relay team was composed of Jim Orloff, Hal Rosenbaum, Dewey Huston and Dick Sigman. They swam the race in 56.8 seconds. Second place went to a team composed of Raymond Beauty, Fred Kramer, Jim Robb and Carl Lemon.

Jim Clinger, master of ceremonies, announced the events and made the awards. C. S. "Cooney" Moll, College swimming coach, was in charge of the swimming contests.

Eighteen K-State co-eds besides Miss Martin were entered in the bathing beauty contest. They were Miriam Crawford, Martha DeMeritt, Barbara Miller, Alice Becker, Donna Weikelman, Mary Ann Leonard, Dee Kiner, Patricia Dwerlottle, Marian Klozenbuecher, Anna Marie Klee, Kathleen Gilliam, Nancy Jane Klee, Marilyn Martin, Dorothy Heckman, Leone Betts, Virginia Lally, Darlene DeMeritt and Jody Yearwood.

"Hot Lips Hoolihan" John Chitwood, as the buxom "Miss Hot Lips Hoolihan" wore a tight gold bathing suit, a blond wig and a heavy coat of lipstick about his mouth to draw laughs and applause from the crowd as he strutted around the pool as a bathing beauty contestant.

Members of the committee in charge of the party were Loren Haynes, chairman; Dr. Maurice Woolf, Prof. Katherine Geyer, Bob Haas, Mae Weaver and C. S. Moll. Contest judges were Mrs. Opal Hill, Mrs. Gladys Gough and Prof. John Helm.

Kansas State students first became interested in football in 1890, but only a few faculty members looked upon the game favorably.

Four Students To Attend NSA Meet

Four students will represent Kansas State College at a national student association conference in Madison, Wis., August 23 to 28.

The College representatives include John W. Hall, Manhattan; Robert Lehnen, Dubuque, Iowa; Howard Furumoto, Hawaii; Arthur Cotts, Kansas City, Mo. They were appointed by the K-State student council.

Representatives from some 200 colleges and universities are to attend the conference, Cotts said. They will study problems common to college students throughout the United States.

Hall and Cotts will return in time to report to the Kansas State Student Planning conference at Camp Wood, near Elmdale, August 30-31, September 1.

Herman L. Isben, geneticist at the College, has arrived in Sweden where he will present a paper at the Eighth International Congress of Genetics in Stockholm next week, according to word received at the College.

Isben's paper deals with color inheritance in cattle.

In addition to attending the genetics congress, Isben will visit relatives in Norway and tour France, Belgium, Denmark, Germany, Netherlands, Switzerland and Italy while abroad.

He plans to be back at Kansas State for the fall term.

Beats Herby's Tree

Five-year old cherry trees on the horticulture farm here yielded an average of 25 pounds a tree this year, according to Ronald W. Campbell, professor in the horticulture department.

Plantings at the College include Early Richmond, Montmorency and a few English Morello.

Ordinarily cherry trees do not begin yielding heavily until their fifth year, Campbell said. The 25-pound average is exceptionally good.

The Nine Lives of We

By and About the Editor

Last week's editorial column, as you may remember, was dedicated to the poor fellow whose Wife Has Gone Away A Week Or So. Last week he didn't know the half of it.

Mary is back now, along with the kids. She had a nice trip and his life is back to its happy normalcy. Except for an occasional nightmare, that is, when I think of the last week without her. What happened to me shouldn't happen to a professor.

The week started out as might be expected—I dirtied every shirt in the closet and every dish in the cupboard. On Wednesday I bought two new shirts and started eating out, usually dining on popcorn and a picture show. Then came Thursday. Unlucky Thursday. Damn Thursday.

Thursday I took a picture over in the bugology lab in the basement of Fairchild Hall. I wanted to send it to the engravers so it could be used with Cowell's feature in this paper. I developed the film during the noon hour and hung it to drip on the already wet concrete floor of the dark room. Then I reached for the fan to blow it dry.

I got the full force of the College's beloved 220 volts—and couldn't let go of the fan. It knocked me down and I turned a complete somersault on the wet floor. I got back to one knee and somehow to both feet—trying to beat the paralyzing, muscle-tearing pain from my hand. I knew a full minute of insane terror.

Finally, just as I was getting my second wind—on the fourth or fifth lap around the nightmarish obstacle course of the stygian darkroom—I stumbled against something and went down again. And the pain suddenly let go. I was soaking with perspiration. The fan lay viciously spitting blue flames at little puddles on the floor. I reached the door and let in vast draughts of precious light. Miraculous daylight.

Minutes later, perhaps ten, just as my heart was enjoying the last comforting throbs of its adrenalin jag, I came to a sudden realization. I was no longer perspiring. In fact, I hadn't been perspiring. The "something" I had luckily stumbled against had been a two-gallon pan of photographer's Hypo. Hypo is a powerful bleach. It eats holes in things. My hair was wet with it, my clothes were soaked in it, my shoes were full of it.

I paid the cab and ran for the house, switched on my old fishing pants and threw all my clothes into the washing machine.

Too late I discovered what every housewife and a few bachelors know. Black fades into brown. Both black and brown fade into white. Wednesday's new shirt was a mess.

I drained the tub and started all over again, this time with just the white. "Clorox... that's what she uses." And so did I. It worked, too. The shirt came white—beautifully white and clean. It had about a dozen of the cleanest little holes I have ever seen.

Then she told me. The neighbor lady calmly informed me that Clorox eats holes in things too. And I only used half the bottle.

How about Friday? Don't get impatient, bud, it's still Thursday. Damn Thursday. I still had the brown pants to do—and the black socks. (which I would never have been wearing with brown and white if Mary had been home.) The brown washed all right, except that the cuffs washed out of the pants. I have a pair of the post-war kind, you know.

I carefully folded in the cuffs again, patted them down smooth with my hand and ran them into wringer. Yes, both the cuffs and my hand. (Wringing hands across the water, but never the cuff shall I sing....) I went a little batty Thursday. Unfortunately I got the wringer stopped just short of the elbow—maybe my funny-bone would have got a bust out of it. As it happened, none of the other bones did.

I couldn't find the clothes pins, but using younger daughter's safety pins, elder daughter's hair-ribbons and a few assorted pieces of the butcher's dollar-a-foot meat string, I got the clothes hung up. Then I set out to clean up myself. It might have been Hypo, but for all I know I'd turned half albino.

I put on the coffee pot and went wearily to fill the bath tub. I washed my hair, and like the clothes, it seemed to fade together and back to its normal color. Everything was at last calmed down. But it was still Thursday.

After sprinkling in a generous portion of what I thought was water softener and getting a new bar of soap, I settled luxuriously into the warm bath. What comfort. What utter relaxation. Life can be beautiful.

Once I was sitting in a coffee shop and for no good reason, I happened to glance at the ceiling straight above me. There was a little neatly lettered sign that said "What in H are you looking up here for?"

For no good reason, I happened to glance at the little blue box of water softener. "CALGON, the wonder softener... CALGON Normalizes water"—it should have said. It took a moment to comprehend. Instead, the letters neatly said "Mother GERBER'S Powdered Baby Cereal."

O. K. bud, you win. It was Friday before I got the darned stuff all off me. It took the whole bar of soap for me and three pads of steel wool on the bath tub.

Of course the coffee boiled dry and the pot burned up, but that's a small matter.

.....

Now I've come to four conclusions regarding my week's experience as a bachelor. They may or may not be of interest.

1). It's no wonder many babies prefer goat's milk. They must have a goat's stomach if they can digest that sticky breakfast food.

2). If a man's wife goes to visit his mother-in-law, he should go with her. Let the Collegian go hang. A man needs a wife to take care of.

3). A cat is said to have nine lives. Judging from the happenings this week, so does me. I mean wet. With this in mind, we shall have no further qualms about the use of the "editorial WE" and WE shall use the term with a free conscience henceforth and forevermore.

4). "We" are not going to get out of bed tomorrow. Damn Thursday.

Do You Write Well?

By Nellie Aberle

(Ed. Note: Professor Oberle is chairman of the Administrative Committee for English Proficiency.)

"Why do students fail to pass the English Proficiency Examination?" is one of the most frequent questions asked concerning English Proficiency.

Some students fail to pass English Proficiency because they do not take time enough to write an acceptable paper. Other students fail because they worry until they cannot write a passing paper. A large number of students fail because they are inadequately prepared in English.

There are procedures for students who have failed to follow. The careless student can't take time to write an acceptable paper. Conferences with a member of the Administrative Committee for English Proficiency will usually make it possible for the student who worries to overcome his handicap.

There is a hard task ahead for the student who is inadequately prepared. A student who has failed in English Proficiency may have conferences concerning his paper. If a student desires to do so, he may write essays for criticism or try to overcome deficiencies in grammar, punctuation, diction or spelling. Help is offered to a student; he is not required to accept it.

If a student fails to pass English Proficiency twice, he is required to take Sub-freshman English (Remedial) before he is eligible to take the English Proficiency Examination at third time. Students are fortunate that Remedial English is available for them. It offers an excellent opportunity to overcome deficiencies in English.

Physical Checkups for Vets' Children

"Well child" conferences for Veterans' infant and pre-school children are held the third Monday of each month by the Riley County Health Department in the basement of the County Court House, according to Dr. P. B. Bestgen, Riley County Health Officer. Children are weighed, measured, immunized and given a physical checkup, at no charge to the veterans.

The next conference for Veterans' children will be Monday, July 19, from 1 to 4 p. m. Appointments may be made for it by calling the County Health Office—2521. No arrangements need be made through the College.

Insect Research

 the insecticide and nematode testing work.

"The research job is not to find the best chemical killer product," Smith said. "We can't discriminate against any certain compounds as each compound has its own particular value."

Nematodes Like Tomatoes
 For that rich full life, tomato plants are raised to feed the nematodes, usually called root-knot worms. These worms cause a swelling in tomato roots.

Three or four thousand fruit flies are raised in the laboratory a day. Although not harmful, fruit flies are easy to rear and are good for testing experiments.

Several graduate students under the supervision of Dahm and Smith are assisting with the research. The most critical need for carrying on this important work is the need for additional space, Dahm declared.

"Bull Exerciser"

An electric motor has been rigged up to lead bulls at the College.

It seems that animals not on range do not get enough exercise to keep them in top condition. So building and repair workmen at the College built what they call a "bull exerciser."

It is an electric motor which drives a rotor of four lengths of pipe. Bulls' chains may be attached to the ends of the pipes. From then on it is just a matter of snapping on the electric motor switch.

Psychology Majors Visit State School

Members from two psychology classes will leave tomorrow on a field trip to Topeka, according to Prof. John DeMand, of the psychology department. They will be conducted on a tour of the Boys Industrial School by Superintendent Gardner.

Students from Dr. Showalter's Educational Measurement class and Dr. Peterson's Mental Tests class will comprise the group. The former is a class composed of a group of school administrators. Some of the students will eat lunch with the school inmates. Talks by the school psychologist and educational director will follow the luncheon. The purpose of the trip, explained Prof. DeMand, is to study the type of training and the way the school is run.

MATH CLUB

The Mathematics Club will meet at 4 p. m. Thursday, July 15 in Mathematics Hall 101.

Mr. J. I. Northam will speak on "The Elementary Theory of the Linear Recurrent Relation."

Miss Nancy Martin, pictured above, was chosen Miss K-State of '48 at a recent beauty contest. Miss Martin who comes from Topeka, was sponsored by Phi Delta Theta.

Miss Dorf and Miss Zink will work in a Swedish hospital. They are both students in medical technology at Kansas State. Miss Lamoreaux, meanwhile, will tour France.

Mr. and Mrs. Schowengerdt and Miss Frick are traveling with a group of students from Cornell University on tour arranged by the Westminster Foundation. They plan to help with the reconstruction work in Holland during July and August.

Mrs. Schowengerdt and Miss Frick will work with German and Dutch college students in the fruit harvest in Holland. Schowengerdt will work in a construction camp in Holland. Bell, who has been touring England with the other group of students, will join Schowengerdt to work in the Dutch construction camp. This group also plans tours of England, France, Belgium, and Luxembourg.

Interesting Sidelight

Miss Dorf relates a few of the interesting sidelights of their trip in her letters.

Small groups visited the tower of London and saw the crown jewels, in addition to visiting the Bank of England, London Bridge, and St. Paul's Cathedral.

See King George

The group also spent some time in Windsor Castle. Miss Dorf writes, "We wandered around on our own and guess what? We were really lucky. We saw the King! We were looking toward the Royal Apartments where the family is in residence and someone started to drive around the yard in a car. It turned out to be the King. He passed about 10 feet from us, and then drove out the gate to another part of the castle."

Of post-war London, she says that it still shows the effects of the war. There are large bombed-out areas everywhere.

See Bard's Home

At Stratford-on-Avon, the birthplace of William Shakespeare, the group saw a play at the Shakespeare Memorial Theatre. Miss Dorf writes that the costumes, scenery, and lighting were exceptional.

"We had our first real coke in weeks," she stated, "and I had a candy bar on my rations yesterday. The only other sweets we get are cakes and desserts. It's amazing how they have the knack of making the best food flat and tasteless. They call ice cream ices, and have little carts all over selling it. There is a stand on every corner selling tomatoes and the hugest strawberries you ever saw, and they are very high-priced."

It is expected that the group will leave to return to the United States about September 1.

Hear UNESCO Speaker

"Your Contribution to World Peace" will be the discussion topic at a supper and fellowship meeting of the Baptist Youth organization Sunday, July 18. The meeting will begin at 5:30 and will be in the basement of the First Baptist Church at the corner of Juliette and Humboldt. The meeting is open to the public.

Mrs. Helen Peterson, executive secretary for the Kansas commission of UNESCO, will be guest speaker. She will discuss "The Student's Role in Working Toward World Peace."

VOX STUDENS

(Editor's note: The opinions presented in this column may or may not express the opinion of The Collegian. The letters are presented here for the student information. In order to conserve space, will writers please limit their letters to no more than 300 words.)

K-STATE STAYS IN

To the editor:

An article in the Kansas City Times, dated July 12, with the heading "Silence at KU" includes in the last paragraph, "Still cloaked in speculation is whether the Kansas board of regents would force Kansas State to cancel its games with other members if KU stands fast and doesn't get back into the good graces of the conference."

We, the undersigned, feel that K-State can and should speak for itself. The recent ruling made by the Big 7 conference is undoubtedly an unfair one, however, since the rule has been made it should be upheld. We at State know that KU is not the only school of the conference that has lost players under the ruling. Probably most of the schools have lost players, but the ruling seems to be a matter of majority opinion and we feel it should be upheld.

In the past years KU has displayed unsportsmanlike conduct in their unwillingness to abide by Big 7 rulings. If KU doesn't like the ruling let them fight their own battle, but let's not have Kansas State drag out of the conference through the back door by the board of regents. We feel that Kansas State is perfectly capable of speaking for itself and if it wants out of the conference it can say so.

League Hands K. U. an Ultimatum

Conference Moguls Demand July 24 Answer on Eligibility

The ticklish eligibility question involving Kansas University and the Big Seven Conference was taken up at a special meeting last Saturday in Kansas City with the vote going 5 to 1 against the Jayhawkers. The faculty representatives, convening to discuss and vote on the K.U. threat to play athletes recently declared ineligible by a recent rule interpretation, handed the wayward school an edict with a reply due on or before July 24. The ultimatum demanded a K.U. retraction of Chancellor Deane Mallott's defiance. It read:

"Be it resolved that all athletic contests scheduled between the University of Kansas and other M.V.I.A.A. (Missouri Valley Intercollegiate Athletic Association, known as the Big Seven) members for the academic years of 1948-49 be automatically cancelled, that no individual team representing the University of Kansas be permitted to participate in any M.V.I.A.A. meet or tournament during said year, and that all commitments and obligations of other M.V.I.A.A. members to the University of Kansas for said year are discharged unless the University of Kansas shall, by July 24, 1948, officially notify the members of this association of its intention to abide by the rules of this association.

"That the members regret the necessity of this action and express the hope that the University of Kansas will reconsider its decision so as to prevent this action from becoming effective."

A proposal by Dr. W. W. Davis, K. U. representative, that the school be allowed to fulfill its schedule obligations and forfeit all contests was voted down.

The vote on the above faculty decision was taken at the afternoon continuance of the session. Dr. Davis voted against. Dr. H. H. Haymaker of K-State passed the balloting but said, "We will abide by all the rules and regulations of the conference."

The K. U. Argument

The Kansas defiance, recently made public, brought around the need for the meeting. Chancellor Mallott protested a May decision that decreed that freshman and first-year college competition counted as one of four years of eligibility allowed athletes who entered member schools prior to May 1, 1947; that for athletes entering after that date, the pre-war basis would be in force under which men would be entitled to three years of varsity competition, the first year of junior college and freshman play not counting as one of the three. Mallott asserted that men who came in with the understanding they would be permitted four years of varsity competition were being discriminated against.

Although the rule affected all schools, it appears that K. U. is the hardest hit. Ineligible football stars Don Fambrough, all-conference guard and co-captain of last year's team; Tom Scott, quarterback; Marvin Small, end and Gene Sherwood, tackle. Jack Eskridge, basketball regular is also involved.

Chancellor Mallott is attending a naval ROTC cruise and is not expected back in Lawrence for three weeks. Raymond Nichols, executive secretary to Chancellor Mallott, said attempts would be made to contact him.

Student Reaction on Kansas' Defiance Polled

In accord with the recent developments in the Big Seven regarding the defiance of K. U. concerning a recent eligibility ruling, the Collegian has attempted to get a representative opinion of the K-State student body. Due to the limits of time and space, the number of people interviewed was restricted. We are printing the opinions of all whom we talked to. The primary purpose of the poll is to influence rumored Board of Regents action regarding the case. It is to be emphasized that the Board of Regents has not committed itself in any way except by giving its support to the K. U. stand. The rumors are though, that the Board may request K-State to withdraw from the loop for one year with K. U.

Dale Tolin, EE, 2, "K. U. shouldn't have gone against the Big Seven. I am glad K-State stuck with the conference. I definitely don't think the Board of Regents should ask us to string along with K. U. if that school doesn't decide to abide by the rules."

Lewis Boys, CE, 2—"I don't think K. U.'s action is sportsmanlike. Even if the ruling did hurt the school, it should have abided by the majority. I don't see any reason whatsoever for us to drop out. I think the Board of Regents should have no jurisdiction in our athletic policy."

Robert Ewing, EE, 4—"K. U. has a good point. But since the group ok'd as a ruling body, made the decision, they should abide by it. I don't think the Board of Regents should ask us to withdraw because K. U. does. If we withdrew we would have to play small schools—schedule would be wrecked."

Kathryn Gates, HE, 4—"The rule may be wrong and K. U. right, but it shouldn't go against the majority. I am not in favor of the Board of Regents asking us to withdraw."

Phil Rude, AS,—"I think K. U. is right in defying. It should go further and demand no segregation for racial reasons. The problem goes deeper than flouting the majority, to the promise that was made to fellows when they went to K. U. The withdrawal question depends on whether people think democratic principles or money are more important. I don't think the majority rule is democratic in this case because it is an ex post facto rule."

Jesse Settler, A ED 3—"I think K. U. should drop their players and continue to play in the conference, even though some of them are star players. I don't believe Kansas State should drop out of the conference if K. U. should."

Herbert Sigger, grad student in psychology—"I think they should stop being stubborn. After all, they aren't the only school losing players. The rule was decided by democratic means. I also don't see why we should get mixed up in it. Our representative has already said we would abide by the recent ruling."

J. R. Benner, BA 3—"I think they're wrong. They should come back into the conference. I don't think there's any kick coming. Other teams are also losing players. But I was glad to see K-State stick up for K. U."

David W. Imel, Ag 2—"I think K. U.'s players are ineligible and should be dropped."

Chalk Talk

By Pat Patterson

The conference gave no ground and offered an ultimatum. . . . A July 24 Kansas non-retractable reply may create a problem here. . . . Speculation has the State Board of Regents interfering with K-State policy. . . .

This column today is based on rumor and speculation. We want it understood it contains no accusations or indictments. It is hoped it will have an influence on the situation that will develop if the rumor is true.

At its special meeting last Saturday, the Big Seven faculty representative body cemented its previous ruling which declared some veteran athletes ineligible for further competition. The vote was 5 to 1 to uphold the May verdict. The negative ballot was cast by K. U., with K-State abstaining.

While the conference majority gave no ground, neither did the minority. Kansas representative, Dr. W. W. Davis, gave no indication of putting aside that school's threat to play the players in question regardless. The result was a brief two-point ultimatum delivered by the league dads.

It May Only Be A Rumor

Although H. H. Haymaker, K-State representative declared the Wildcat school would abide by the decision, the Kansas City Star has twice carried speculative paragraphs to the effect that there is a possibility the Board of Regents would ask K-State to cancel its games also and join K. U. in the walk-out. The Star gave no authority for the statements. But it must have had grounds. A paper as credible as the Star just doesn't make unqualified comments.

We believe we are speaking for the entire K-State student body by asking the Board, if it is entertaining any such thoughts, to allow us to maintain and govern our own athletic policy. We don't want to be holdouts. We don't have anything to hold out for.

Two Wrongs Don't Make A Right

K. U. has established its defiance in connection with a moral obligation. It doesn't want to break its promise to its athletes. Again, as we said last week, that is admirable. But what about its obligations to the remainder of the student body, the people of Kansas and the conference?

Kansas State has obligations also. Athletes attending the school have indicated a preference for participating at a school in a conference that has excellent national recog-

6-2, 6-3; Wm. Brown defeated John Stout, forfeit; C. L. Ellison defeated Warren Quinlisk, 6-2, 6-4; Sid Branson defeated C. L. Ellison, 3-6, 7-5, 9-7; Guy Allen defeated Jack Shagool 6-8, 6-3, 6-2, and Guy Allen defeated Ed McNaughton 6-0, 6-0.

The second round in the summer session tourney must be completed by Tuesday, Frank Myers, director of men's intramurals said.

ped. Just because they were conference champions last year doesn't make any difference. I don't see where K. U. will get any games if they don't follow the rules. I don't believe that the Board of Regents should have the right to force us to drop out of the conference if K. U. should do that."

Phyllis Werner, graduate student—"I don't think K. U. is doing right by defying the conference. I don't think the Board of Regents should ask us to give up our standing in the league."

Darrell B. Cowell, IJ 4—"Kansas University is absolutely right in defending its status on the eligibility of its athletes. I believe the Big Seven Athletic Council was a little hasty in arriving at the eligibility ruling last spring. I will place my faith in President Eisenhower to do what is right. I don't think the Board of Regents should interfere with Kansas State College athletic policies, that's the Big Seven's job.

AT STATE

The best thing about summer is that it doesn't last all year around. In spite of heat, there is lots of news, so let's not loiter . . .

Kathleen Gossett, Chi Omega from Wichita, and Doran Barham, Sigma Nu of Manhattan, are going to be married July 26 in Wichita. Kathleen will be a junior in home economics, and Doran will be a junior in architecture next fall when they return to school.

The nine girls living at Arcadia and three other friends had a surprise birthday party for Delaine Flowers last Thursday night.

Jean Scott of Manhattan and David E. Bogart, of Beverly, have announced their engagement. Mr. Bogart is a senior in agricultural education. No date has been set for the wedding.

Rollin Prather, Kansas State's shot put and discus star, visited the Beta Chapter of Sigma Phi Epsilon at the University of Chicago and the Sig Ep Chapter at the University of Minnesota in Milwaukee.

The engagement of Miss Martha Jane Henne, of Kansas City, and Carl Morgan of Siloam Springs, Ark., has been announced.

The wedding will take place in Kansas City August 22.

Martha Jane and Carl will be seniors at Kansas State this fall. She is a member of Alpha Xi Delta sorority and he is a member of Delta Sigma Phi fraternity.

Edna Gilmore of El Dorado and Stanton Moncrief, of Wichita, will be married July 17, at the Methodist Church in El Dorado. The couple will live in Wichita where Stanton will be a florist. Edna, a member of Alpha Xi Delta sorority, graduated this spring in home economics. Stanton, also a 1943 graduate, is a Kappa Sig.

Marjorie Cornelius, Clovia from Westmoreland and Harold Mosher, Delta Upsilon of Alden, have announced their engagement. Harold attended Kansas University before he came to Kansas State, where he is now a senior in physical education. Marjorie is a junior in home economics.

Jack Kincheloe, Kappa Sig from Cunningham and Barbara Mae Clark of El Dorado will be married at the Christian Church in El Dorado, July 25. Jack is a sophomore in business administration.

Sally Martin, Alpha Chi Omega, and Bob Yadon, Sigma Phi Epsilon are engaged. Sally is from Wichita. Bob is from Oswego, and they plan to be married in September.

Ruthetta Maxwell, Alpha Delta Pi of Kansas City, and Charles Halbower, Beta Theta Pi of Anthony, have set their wedding date for August 24. Ruthetta is a senior in psychology and Charles is a graduate student.

Ted Grimes, Pi Kappa Alpha of Manhattan, and Lenna Riley of Lyons, have announced their engagement.

Miss Riley attended Colorado Woman's College in Denver, and is now employed at the Beauty Garden in Lyons. Ted is a pre-medical junior here.

August 1 is the date Miss Elaine Nelson, of Riley, has chosen for her marriage to Mr. Calvin Bruns, also of Riley. Miss Nelson is a graduate of St. Luke's school of nursing, Kansas City, Mo. She has been employed at Christ's Hospital in Topeka.

Mr. Bruns is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Bruns of Riley. He has been attending Kansas State College.

Joan Clark, of Clay Center, is wearing the Theta Xi pin of Leslie Demeritt of Lawrence. Joan will be a junior in business administration next fall, and Leslie will be a junior in agricultural education. They are both attending summer school.

Sig Alphas had a rush party Friday night at the Sig Alpha house. A buffet dinner was served for the members and their ten guests.

Roman-Otto Miss Loretta Roman, of Chicago, Ill., and Mr. James Otto of Kansas City, Mo., were married June 13 in the Blackstone Hotel in Chicago. The bride, gowned in white satin and lace, was attended by her sister, Alice. Mr. Edward Otto, brother of the groom, was best man. The reception immediately following the ceremony was held in the Chinese Room of the hotel. The couple left for a honeymoon at Bigwin Inn, Lake of the Bays, Ontario, Canada.

After July 1 they will be at home in Abilene, where Mr. Otto will be cereal chemist for Sunflower Mills.

Mr. James Otto received his degree in milling from Kansas State this spring.

Stadel-Harr Miss Thelma Stadel, of Riley, became the bride of Mr. Clarence Harr of Emporia, Sunday, June 27. The ceremony was solemnized at 3 p. m. in the Riley Presbyterian Church.

The bride was attended by Dorothy McGeorge, maid of honor, and Helen Cochran and Norma Heikes, bridesmaids. Mr. Ray Notson was best man and Mr. Harr's brothers, Don, Cleveland and Jerry Harr, were ushers.

The bride wore a white satin gown with lace trim. The skirt terminated in a long train. She carried orchids and staphonotis on a white Bible.

A reception in the church parlors followed the ceremony. After a short honeymoon the couple will be at home in Emporia until this fall, when they will return to Kansas State. Mr. Harr is majoring in geology.

Mr. and Mrs. Clark, their daughter, Lorain, and Helen Cochran, of Clark's Gables, were guests from Manhattan.

Green-Dickson Miss Genevieve Elizabeth Green of Reading, and Mr. Eugene Dickson of Leonardville, were united in marriage at the home of the bride's parents in Reading at 4 p. m. Sunday, July 4.

The double ring ceremony was read by the bride's father, the Rev. W. C. Green.

Mrs. Mary Dickson Simpson was matron of honor and Mr. Wayne Klocks was best man. Mrs. Stanley Gseen played "I Love You Truly" while the candles were lighted. The three brothers of the bride sang Lohengrin's "Bridal Chorus" and "Bless This House."

The bride wore a white satin wedding gown, made and worn by her sister, Neola. The bride carried a Colonial bouquet of rose gladioli, white carnations with rose center and white satin streamers.

Mrs. Dickson received her R. N. degree from the nurses training school at Bethany hospital in Kansas City in 1947, and has completed one year of college work at Kansas State.

Immediately following the reception the couple left for a brief wedding trip. They expect to continue their school work this fall.

Lambert-Cable Wedding bells rang July 4 for Charlotte Anne Lambert and Louis R. Cable, both members of the KSC Class of 1943, at the Methodist Church in Hiawatha. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Perry H. Lambert of Hiawatha and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. T. V. Cable of Wichita.

The ceremony took place at 2 p. m. Twin arrangements of pink gladioli, palms, and lighted tapers decorated the altar. Attending the bride were her sister, Mrs. James Kinley, and a sister of the groom, Miss Doris Cable. Mrs. Kinley is the former Jane Lambert, a member of the Class of 1941.

Candles were lighted by Miss Shirley Van Gilder, a junior in Home Economics from Oswatomie, and Miss Jo Mugier, a senior in Home Economics from Clay Center.

Mr. Robert G. Carlson, a junior in mechanical engineering from Salina, acted as best man. The ushers were Mr. James Kinley of Kansas City, Mr. Charles H. Roy, Overland Park, Class of 1948, and Mr. Phillip A. Hedman, Kansas City, a junior in horticulture.

The reception was held at Sunrise Farm, home of the bride's parents. Wedding cake and punch were served to the guests. Miss Florence Merriam, Class of 1947, presided at the punch bowl.

The couple is living at 3200 Washington, Kansas City, Mo. Mr. Cable is employed by the Vendo Company, and Mrs. Cable is with the KCKN Broadcasting Company.

Mrs. Lambert is the former Fae Paddock, a member of the Class of 1914 and Mr. Lambert is a member of the Class of 1913.

Bryan-Burchfiel The Methodist Church in Anthony was the scene of an afternoon ceremony on June 27, uniting in marriage Miss Marilyn Bryan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Bryan, Anthony, and Charles Stanley Burchfiel, of Anthony. The Rev. Alfred H. Tebben, officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Preceding the ceremony, Mrs. Johnnie Johnitz, aunt of the groom, sang "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life" and "At Dawn-ing." The "Lord's Prayer" was sung at the conclusion of the ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white satin with a molded basque. Her full skirt lengthened into a swirling train and her fingertip veil was of bridal illusion. She carried a white Prayer Book topped by a white orchid and streamers.

Miss Ruth Gilek, of Anthony, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss June Alefs and Miss Letha Brown.

Mr. Kenneth Foster, uncle of the groom was best man. Ushers were J. R. Bryan, Mike Meyers, Wendell Pollock and Howard Gillespie.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church parlors.

The couple left for a two weeks trip to Evergreen, Colo., after which they will return to Anthony, for the remainder of the summer. They plan to continue their studies at Kansas State this fall.

Mrs. Burchfiel attended Kansas State for her first time last year and is a member of the Chi Omega sorority. She was chosen as the Royal Purple Beauty Queen this spring. Mr. Burchfiel will be a senior at Kansas State next fall. He is a member of Beta Theta Phi.

Little ones that highlight the news—

Mr. and Mrs. William Mor-dick, 908 Bertrand, are the parents of a boy born July 8. His name is Douglas Byron.

Mr. and Mrs. John Hinton, 725 Colorado, have not yet named their daughter, born July 1.

Mr. and Mrs. Duane Chapman, 731 Blumont, have named their son Douglas Duane. He was born July 11.

Suzanne Marie is the new daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Shubert, 1212 N. 11th St. She was born July 12.

Only three students are in the student hospital at this time. Philip Burns, senior in electrical engineering from Mayetta, Allen London, a senior from Chapman, and Jack Mac-Caskey, a junior in agricultural education, are the unfortunate three.

Lucille Hostetter, from Hoisington, is in the St. Luke's Hospital in Kansas City, suffering from third degree burns. She was an assistant staff member of the Collegian the first part of the summer.

Candidates Speak at Senior Dinner

Four candidates for degrees and Kenney L. Ford, alumni secretary, will be speakers at a senior dinner Friday evening, August 6, in Thompson Hall. The dinner will start at 6 p. m.

Guests at the dinner will be graduating seniors at the College. About 235 seniors and graduate students will receive diplomas August 8.

The program includes "The Next Step," by Beatrice Tuggle, HE, Clay Center, who will be toastmistress; "Teamwork" by Norman Woolgar, ME, Manhattan; "Why Alumni?" by Fletcher Riggs, AG, Kansas City, Mo.; "The Alumnus and His College" by Richard C. Maloney, masters' degree in A and S, Manhattan; and "Informal Remarks" by Kenney L. Ford, Ivan Rundus, '50, Belleville, will sing two solos and Mrs. Melvin Dewees, Manhattan, will accompany him.

Free tickets to the dinner are being distributed by the alumni office to members of the graduating class. Seniors may call for their tickets before Saturday, July 31.

"The dinner will be only for graduating seniors but extra chairs will be placed in the banquet room for wives, husbands and friends who wish to attend the program," Bonnie Woods, of the alumni office, said.

The speakers for the dinner represent each school which will be awarding degrees at the end of summer session at the college.

Graduation Costs Create Problem

The rising spiral of costs has finally caught up with the commencement fee at Kansas State College. Dean A. L. Pugsley, director of the summer school, has announced that either the fee will have to be raised or certain of the items that it now includes must be reduced or eliminated. College officials are definitely opposed to raising the fee, if it can be avoided.

As an immediate measure the Council of Deans voted on July 12 that the commencement scheduled for 8 p.m., Sunday, Aug. 8, for this year's summer school will be in the Auditorium instead of in the stadium. This will represent a saving of from $750 to $1000 to the Commencement fund, Dean Pugsley said. The faculty will participate in the commencement in the Auditorium as previously announced for the stadium.

What additional steps shall be taken constitutes one of the problems to be considered at the Student Planning Conference meeting August 30 to September 1, at which some 80 students and 20 faculty members will study and recommend the College, the dean asserted.

One suggestion proposes that since not all seniors want to attend the Alumni-Senior banquet, hereafter seniors who do attend the Alumni-Senior banquet pay for their dinner tickets in the same way that the faculty now pay. In the past, seniors' tickets were paid out of the commencement fund because some seniors would pick up the ticket entitling them to attend the banquet and then would fail to appear, causing food to be wasted and preventing others who wished to attend from doing so, Dean Pugsley said.

Another suggestion is that the College hereafter have only one commencement a year instead of three as it now has, Pugsley said.

A student who would meet requirements for a degree at the end of the summer school, would take part in commencement exercises at the end of the spring semester, but the diploma would be withheld until the student had completed summer school.

"This would also save the college money for commencement exercises," the dean continued, "since the expense would have to be met only once a year instead of three times."

In the event the college would have only one commencement, the exercises would be held in the stadium, Dean Pugsley said.

Plagues Pheasant

A pheasant hen has adopted a brood of young turkey poults at the poultry farm.

The pheasant shows the young poults, leads them to shade, takes them in out of the rain and even seems to enjoy frolicking with them, according to Norman D. Smith, research assistant at the poultry farm, who originally put the pheasant in with the poults to see how she would react.

Big Hour Load Small Handicap Survey Indicates

Students who carry the largest scholastic loads make the best grades, a casual study in the School of Agriculture at Kansas State College has disclosed.

Figures were checked on all agriculture students by personnel in the office of C. W. Mullen, assistant dean in the school of agriculture.

Percentage of hours failed increased as the student hour-load decreased, records in the agriculture dean's office show. Students in the ag school carrying 11 hours last semester failed 50 percent of their studies. Those carrying 19 hours failed only 17 percent. The dean's office made no explanation for the unusual phenomenon.

Twelve percent of the ag school students (156) failed at least one hour of credit during the spring semester. The 156 students failed 693 credit hours or an average of 4.4 hours each. The nearly 700 hours failed represented 3.5 percent of all credit hours assigned to agriculture students.

Under College policy 1st year students are put on probation one semester if they fail one-third of their work; others, if they fail one-fourth their work. Being placed on probation three times results in the student's dismissal from college.

A first year student is dismissed from college also, if he fails one-half his work; others, if they fail two-fifths their studies.

SPC Pre-Confab Meeting Tonight in Calvin Lounge

There will be a meeting of all students planning to attend the SPC conference in Calvin Lounge tonight at 7 p.m.

"This meeting," says Bob Weatherbie, SPC chairman, "will be concerned chiefly with the consideration of problems connected with the executive functioning of the Student Planning Committee, as well as matters pertaining to membership in the organization."

Weatherbie also announced the appointment of the co-chairmen who will take charge of group discussions at the summer camp. They are: Orpha Masters, Anthony, and Ted Volsky, Jr., Pittsfield, Social and Recreation Committee; Joan Beggs, Kansas City, Mo., and Richard Winger, McCune, Student-Faculty Relations Committee; Jim Clinger, Augusta, and Lewis Fairbanks, Topeka, Intramural Athletics Committee.

Martha Miller, Dodge City, and Joyce Pratt, Pampa, Texas, Curriculum Orientation, and Pre-Enrollment Committee; Don Alexander, Junction City, and Norville Gish, Hiawatha, Public Relations Committee; Hardy Berry, Lenora, and John Tow, Des Moines, Iowa, Undergraduate Employment and Graduate Placement Committee.

The summer camp will be held at Camp Woods August 30 through September 1.

Union Tomatoes - What Next

The Student Union may be able to put slices of its own home-grown tomatoes on bacon and tomato sandwiches sometime this summer, boasts Dan Clark, Union snack bar employee.

Yesterday Dan was proudly exhibiting two healthy tomato plants in full blossom outside the east door of the building. They were the only sign of a vegetable garden in sight, however. "We must have thrown some rotten tomatoes out the door and they took!" Dan concluded.

Rude Elected Mayor

Phil Rude, student in the Institute of Citizenship has been elected mayor of Hilltop Courts in an election by residents of that campus housing unit.

Precinct councilmen elected for the area include Neil Thompson, Warren Keeler, William R. Flindley, V. McIntosh, Ned Rocky, Frank Nye, Howard Bridges, Benjamin Brake, Lawrence Van Mier and J. Zuloff.

Charles Kearns is retiring mayor.

SQUEAKY OWL HAS RUBBER LUNGS

Barred Owls Contribute to Research in Zoology

By Bob Chisholm
A pair of baby barred owls recently received by Dr. Herschel T. Gier, associate professor of zoology, have been used in three research projects.

Professor Arthur L. Goodrich presented two three-week-old owlets to Dr. Gier for use in his research on air sacs, growth and diet of the bird. "When it was hungry it would squeak and the only way that I could tell when it was full was when it stopped squeaking," he said. "Then a half hour later it would start to squeak again."

Owlet II, in addition to being noisy, was photogenic. Dr. Gier set him in a tree on the east side of Fairchild Hall. After the respiratory organs of birds. Dr. Gier killed one of the owlets immediately and injected liquid rubber into its respiratory system so that he might dissect out all of the air sacs. "All birds have respiratory extensions into the body cavity and tissues and even into the bones," Dr. Gier said. He has preserved and stuffed the skin of the down-covered owlet and it is in the college museum in Fairchild Hall.

Owlet II led a more interesting life—for a while. Dr. Gier built a sparrow trap and set it up in his yard at 920 Ratone. Each day he trapped enough sparrows to feed the owl. At first it only ate three a day, then four and in the last week it ate five sparrows a day. Dr. Gier kept data on the waving a plate holder at his squeaky bird and taking several shots. Dr. Gier came up with some good pictures of his owlet.

Like all well-thought-of owlets that fall into zoologists' hands, Owlet II is about to reappear in the college museum with his twin, Owlet I. When it became two months old the daily sparrow catching detail became quite a problem. Also, Owlet II had a nice, fully developed set of air sacs.

Last week Dr. Gier prepared the skin and feathers of Owlet II for stuffing. The respiratory system with its many air sacs has been injected with rubber and is ready for further research. Now Dr. Gier is looking around for a new specimen for further research.

$85,000 Increase In Salaries of KSC Personnel

The $85,000 represents about 8.6 percent of the classified payroll of $990,000 as of June this year. A. R. Jones, comptroller, said. However, it does not indicate an increase for each classified employee.

Money for a 10 percent increase at this time, as permitted by a recent civil service ruling, was not made available by state appropriation, he said. Hence, granting a full 10 percent increase to each employee would necessitate taking money planned for other purposes such as equipment and maintenance, Jones explained.

Third Raise in Year
Civil service employees, in general, have been granted 10 percent increases July, 1947; 5 percent, January 1, 1948; and now 8.6 percent this July 1, Jones said.

Several weeks ago the State Civil Service Board ordered all state agencies to increase salaries of classified employees by 10 percent. Shortly thereafter the board rescinded its mandatory order and made it permissive.

A full 10 percent increase would have cost the College about $99,000 rather than the $85,000 as actually granted under the permissive ruling of the Civil Service Board.

All classified employees at the bottom step of their pay ranges, were granted the two 5 percent increases. Increases recently granted College faculty members for the fiscal year averaged 7.2 percent.

Put Heat On Kedzie Crowd

The heat was on in Kedzie Hall yesterday. Perhaps with the intent of 'making it hot' for the journalists in Kedzie, someone, who remains unidentified, turned the heat into the steam pipes and radiators. The building and repair department, when called, disclaimed knowledge of the deed. A prominent professor got steamed up about the affair but managed to keep cool with the aid of an opportune breeze the fortunately came up.

Those chosen from the School of Agriculture were Glen Gene Allen, Harry Walter Mudge, Jr., Raymond Oliver Tompkins, Joseph Edward VanCleve and Richard Winger.

Home Ec candidates were Mrs. Kathryn L. Miller Gates, Betty Jean Runyon Jenkins, and Beatrice Evelyn Tuggle. Chosen from the Graduate School were Hurley Cook, Verne Finker, Lucile Johnson, Richard C. Maloney, Edwin Martin, Theodore Peterson, and Margaret Smull.

Six faculty candidates were chosen: They are Prof. Ralph Richard Lashbrook, Asst. Prof. Gertrude Elise Lienkaemper, Dean Helen Moore, Prof. Wilson Tripp, Prof. Stuart Ester Donald Alden Wilbur.

Additional business included a revision of the By-Laws to coordinate student selection with the present college point system.

Quiz Chisellers Have Tough Time

Student-Prof Committee on Cheating Finds 14 Guilty In Past Year

BY MAE WEAVER

Within the past year 14 K-Staters have been found guilty of cheating on exams by the student-faculty committee on Academic Dishonesty. Three summer school students found cheating have been tried so far this summer. However, no student has been caught trying to cheat a second time, states Prof. Wilson Tripp, chairman of the committee. Case number 20 was tried yesterday.

Guilty students have not restricted their attempts to cheat to any particular courses or to certain types of exams, the committee has found. They have been found using crib notes on essay exams as well as true-false quizzes.

The committee, Mr. Tripp points out, has a rule that a student's possession of crib notes shall be construed as an attempt to use them.

"B" Students, Too
It is not always the students who are failing who cheat. Usually it is the students who are "flunking" a course who resort to cheating on exams, Mr. Tripp said, but sometimes the cheaters are B students who try by unethical means to become A students.

The Academic Dishonesty Committee is young, as KSC committees go. It was set up in April, 1947, after the Faculty council on student affairs found it imperative that a central committee on cheating be set up. The committee members were appointed by members recommended by the Faculty Council and students suggested by the Student Council. The committee for the past year has been composed of faculty members Prof. Tripp, Prof. Helen Hostetter and Dr. George Wilcox and student members Virginia Eddy, Elmer Blankenhagen, Dale Olsen, Mike Burns and John Welch.

Needed Uniform Policy
A need for such a committee existed, Mr. Tripp explained, because no uniform procedure had been used previously for handling cheating cases and levying penalties. If a student in the School of Agriculture, for instance, was found cheating in an Arts and Sciences course, no definite rule existed as to which dean should try the case. The investigation, trial and sentence were all up to which ever dean to whose lot it fell to handle the case. No uniform College policy as a guide for handling such cases existed. The teacher's part in cheating cases is finished when he sends a written report of the offense and the student involved to the committee unless it is eventually necessary to obtain more testimony from him. The committee sends a note to the student to appear for inquiry. The name of the offending student is withheld completely from the public. The recommendations of the

Prof's Ambitions in 'Parlor Story' Plot

Curtain goes up at 8:30 Friday on the first of the K-State Players' two summer shows. The play is "Parlor Story," an uproarious farce by William McCleery, according to Director Earl G. Hoover.

Students who have not yet secured tickets for "Parlor Story" or "Laura," which will be given July 30, may do so by presenting their fee receipts at the Auditorium box-office, open from 3 to 6 p.m. daily.

The plot of "Parlor Story" concerns a journalism professor, played by John Bascom, who has an intense desire to be appointed President of the State University. Political pressure forces him to choose between losing this coveted job or expelling a promising young student, played by Harold Burris. Since the boy is also the professor's prospective son-in-law, the problem is more difficult. The professor's decision brings about a climax to a show that Theater Arts magazine called "stimulating and intelligent... an adult evening in the theater."

The professor's wife, who cannot resist meddling in politics in her husband's behalf, in spite of his disapproval, is played by Lucille Lambert. Carl Kish appears as the pompous but weak-willed governor, with Anita Shields as his wife. John Haines plays Mal Granite, power-mad publisher and political boss. Norma Kimmel and Floy Buckles are the professor's two adolescent daughters. Larry Hartory and Dave Meier provide broad comic relief as state troopers.

According to Director Earl G. Hoover, "Parlor Story" is more than just another farce. "Although it is loaded with laughs," Hoover said, "it contains much food for thought and takes a healthy swing at the evils of corrupt state politics."

Mrs. Betty Irish is assistant director of the play. Carl Kish and Kay Wortman are supervising the designing and construction of a unit set which will also be used, with alterations, for "Laura."

One week after "Parlor Story" is presented, on Friday, July 30, the Players will offer their second summer show, "Laura," the celebrated mystery hit already famous as a novel and movie. Student Director William Scott says that the stage version of this classic chiller retains all of the story's suspense and sparkle. Jody Yearwood has the title role in "Laura," with Joe Adams as the resourceful young detective, Mark McPherson, and Clifford Hunt as the cynical columnist, Waldo Lydecker. Others in the cast are St. Crites, Mary Clingman, Bob Larson, Ken Carson and Ruby Mann.

Home Ec candidates were Mrs. Kathryn L. Miller Gates, Betty Jean Runyon Jenkins, and Beatrice Evelyn Tuggle. Chosen from the Graduate School were Hurley Cook, Verne Finker, Lucile Johnson, Richard C. Maloney, Edwin Martin, Theodore Peterson, and Margaret Smull.

The committee sends a note to the student to appear for inquiry. The name of the offending student is withheld completely from the public. The recommendations of the committee are forwarded to A. L. Pugsley, dean of administration. In the report sent to Dean Pugsley are included the Registrar's records of the student, Counseling Bureau records, the exam paper and crib notes used. Dean Pugsley notifies the student as to the committee's findings—guilty or not guilty—and the penalty to be invoked if the verdict was "guilty." If the student desires, he may appeal his case to Dean Pugsley.

Hard-Working Committee
"Sometimes the testimony and investigation compiled makes a small book. We spent more than 50 hours in careful investigation of one case before handing down a verdict," Prof. Tripp said. "Some critics say that student members of the committee would be apt to be too lenient, but in reality their appraisal of students who cheat is sometimes more severe than that of faculty members," he declared.

For a first offense a student usually receives a zero on the exam and is placed on probation for 18 College weeks. If the exam is a final he gets an F for the course. If he is caught cheating a second time, he is suspended for one year, and if he is found guilty a third time, he is dismissed from Kansas State for all time.

Do Your Fowl Feel Frowzy?

Farmer's Ailing Chickens Diagnosed by College Bacteriology Department

By J. A. Mall

"Hey, Doc, what's the matter with my chickens? Last night they were all-right, and this morning they're dying off like flies!" This is a routine question asked daily of Dr. L. E. Erwin, of the bacteriology department. Few people realize the complicated procedure involved in the simple answer mailed out to the owners.

Banged up dirty old crates arrive each day directed to Dr. Erwin. These crates usually contain (in equally sad condition) chickens suffering with some unknown disease. The problem is simple—which of over 100 odd diseases infect the birds? Nailing down the specific cause is sometimes a lengthy and tedious process.

Autopsies Performed

An autopsy often contributes a clue which aids in identification. The abdomen is laid open and the vital organs are inspected. Abnormal conditions of the heart, lungs, spleen or liver is the object of the search. Any single or combination of abnormalities may indicate a specific disease. An off color appearance, enlargement or even deterioration of organs will accompany the presence of a disease organism. Visual inspection never settles the final diagnosis.

Obtaining a sample of blood is the first step in the tracking down procedure. A drop of blood is placed on a glass plate, and some antigen added. The latter is a commercial preparation to stimulate production of antibodies by the body which fight disease. If the blood tends to clump then the bird is positive for Pullorum disease. If the blood fails to clump the reaction is negative. The latter is about the most serious menace to the flock owners in Kansas, commented Dr. Erwin.

Bacteria Sought

Next different organs of the chicken are drawn over culture medium plates. These plates contain food material upon which microorganisms grow. If they produce bacterial growth it is transferred to iron agar slants. A reddish nutrient material suspended in gelatin make-up the slants. They are placed in an incubator for twenty-four hours. Bacterial growth in the slants may produce gas and force the material up in the tube. It may be black or yellow the red agar material depending upon the type of organism.

After the growth period in the incubator the colonies of organisms are transferred to sugar broth tubes. These green colored tubes contain food material in solution. A small tube within the larger tube traps any gas given off. Frequently the organ is placed in an enrichment broth to speed up the whole process of growth. Another twenty-four hours is spent in the incubator. The rainbow-like color reactions of the sugar tubes narrow the cause to a single choice. As much as three days time is taken up by the last two steps.

Symptoms Alike

Many symptoms of diseases are very much alike. Also frequently the birds will harbor more than one disease. Dr. Erwin is now ready to venture forth with his diagnosis. A short letter is mailed out to the flock owner naming the disease, and adding recommendations for treatment.

Case histories of birds that have passed through Dr. Erwin's laboratory are quite interesting. Some chickens come into the department without a feather on their body. Did you ever see a chicken eight weeks old, with feathers on his legs and only three inches in height? Or one that runs backward in circles with his head twisted upwards? All sorts of freaks and queer looking birds are to be found in the cages of Dr. Erwin's laboratory.

No Charge For Service

Many farmers from all over Kansas and neighboring states send in diseased birds for diagnosis. Also hatcherymen who must maintain rigid standards under the National Poultry Improvement Plan use the service of the College. It's all for free, with no fee attached to the work performed. Dr. Erwin feels that increased use of the facilities would aid greatly in reducing the disease rate in Kansas.

Vets' Kids Enjoy New Playground

Housewives living in college housing units can now leave their children in an organized playground during morning hours while they do house work, shopping or other jobs. The playground, located on the campus, is under the supervision of Mrs. Bea Vyff.

Children from the age of 18 months to five years may be enrolled under the organized supervision. Fifty children are enrolled at the present time. Mrs. Philip Rude, chairman of the project, said that at least 60 children are needed to make the playground a success.

Each morning, every child is given a health examination for sore throat or contagious diseases. Organized games, a story hour, and art work are provided for these children. Work in clay and finger painting is to be included in the art instruction. Three sewer pipes and one old log are big attractions for the children, said Mrs. Rude.

Other equipment in the playground includes swings, slides, and a rocking seat. Mothers of the children enrolled at the playground alternate in assisting with the supervision work.

Heavy Honey Flow

Unusual weather this year has given a larger than normal flow of honey from bees in eastern Kansas, according to R. L. Parker, professor of apiculture.

After finishing one species of plants, bees do no field work for about a week before starting on another species. Parker explained. Unusual spring and summer weather caused an overlapping of nectar-producing blossoms and extended the blooming period of yellow sweet clover. So there has been little lost time between honey flows this season, according to Parker.

Two 'Workshops' Start This Week

Two three-weeks workshops for advanced credit opened here Monday. Dr. W. Leigh Baker, education department head, announced today.

They are Audio-Visual Aids in Instruction and County, State and Federal School Administration and Support. Each is a three-hour course of advanced standing. The latter may be used toward both a school administrator's certificate and a master's degree, Dr. Baker said.

Clifford D. Miller, president of the Kansas Audio-Visual Instruction Association, is conducting the audio-visual course. He has been director of audio-visual education in the Wichita public schools and instructor in audio-visual education at Wichita University.

May Work on Own Problems

The course will give school administrators, teachers and others interested an opportunity to work on problems pertaining to their personal work, Dr. Baker said. The course includes movies, film strips, and use of opaque projector and the micro-projector.

Floyd Herr, member of the Kansas State Department of Education, Topeka, is teaching the school administration and support course. He holds bachelor's and master's degrees from Kansas State College, is a former superintendent of schools and former secretary of the State Board of Education.

Elect Grad Officers

Officers of the Graduate Club for the fall semester were elected at a recent picnic held in Sunset Park.

The elected officers are Henry Hoffman, president; Shue Sun Kwong, vice-president; Olga Bays, secretary-treasurer; Ruth Kindred, social chairman; Eleanor Harding Conn, Don Ford, program co-chairmen; and Mary Louise Markley, parliamentarian.

And all for one dollar

All in all, we've run a pretty gripey editorial column this summer—except for a couple of weeks when we could think of nothing to be unhappy about. We figure it's about time we gave a little credit for the good things that are going on, in addition to screaming about the bad.

Perhaps the most outstanding "do-gooder" program on this campus during the current term has been the work of the Recreation Committee. The student and faculty group has done an excellent job on limited finances. There are but few students who have not benefited from the efforts of this group of workers this summer.

Under the direction and general supervision of Dean A. L. Pugsley, (papa of the entire summer-school session) the committee has been headed by affable Eric Tebow of the Institute of Citizenship.

The Summer School Recreation Committee, was given a total budget of less than $2400 with which to provide recreation for the entire student body throughout the semester. An amazing number of projects have been successfully arranged with this meager financing.

Seven full-length movies and 14 cartoon-comedies, plus two films on K-State athletics have been shown free to all students and their families. These movies are presented every Thursday, with the last scheduled for August 3. There have been three-all-school parties and dances, with still another planned for July 30.

The Committee has helped materially in financing the Collegian during the summer months. Each student gets the paper at no charge. Also free, through the efforts of the Committee are not one, but TWO summer school plays. These plays will be July 23 and July 30. (Formerly plays have been financed by appropriation from the student activity fee.)

Athletic kits (including balls, bats, horseshoes and other recreational equipment) have been purchased by the Committee and made available to students for picnics and other private gatherings. Intramural sports equipment has also been provided.

There will be a Chamber Music recital, free to students, in Rec Center, Sunday, July 25, at 4 p.m. The City Band will give a free concert in the Quad on July 29. The Recreation Committee has made all arrangements, including the necessary chairs, lights, microphones and so on.

Four students have made outstanding contributions as members of the Committee this year. They are Mae Weaver, Robert Haas, Loren Haynes and Herbert Weekly. Other members of the Recreation group are faculty members from nearly every College department. All members have given their time and much sincere effort to see that recreation was provided for us.

Let's give them credit. They have done a fine job—and we appreciate it.

A territorial law in the state required that "roads be kept clear of trees and of all stumps over eight inches high."

Profs Are Human Too!

By GUY ALLEN
(Student in Journalism)

Not long ago I was wrestling with a character. He was too fit a plot which I thought might sell to what we call in journalistic jargon, a "Slick." After a few days of turbulent mental effort I concluded that I did not know a Prof. well enough to create a reasonable facsimile thereof.

I began to name those with whom I had a speaking acquaintance. They had to be listed, filed according to school, then filed alphabetically.

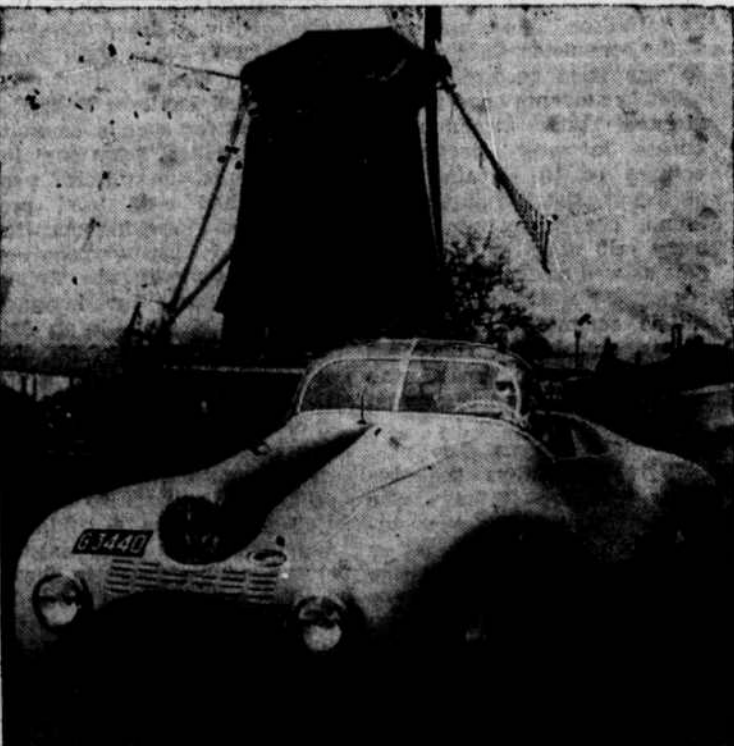

Then came those whom I knew well. I

$4,600 Granted for Study Here

Receipt of three grants totaling $4,600 by the Agricultural Experiment Station at the College was announced today by Dean R. I. Throckmorton, experiment station director.

The grants included $2,000 from the Seymour Packing Company, Topeka, for studies in the performance of eggs and egg products and their use in foods; $1,400 from the Refrigeration Research Foundation, Berkeley, Calif., for a continuation of studies on the effect of freezing and refrigerated storage on the quality of precooked foods; $1,200 from the same foundation for studying the effect different frozen storage temperatures have on certain characteristics of pork.

Studies on precooked foods will be limited to meats for the present. Dr. Gladys Vail of the School of Home Economics will have direct charge of the experiments.

bent one finger, hesitated and decided to be truthful, at least with myself, and straightened the finger again.

What is the difference between a college and an education Willow Run? Take it from me it is student-faculty relations.

This summer I have been doing archaeological research. Believe me it is very gratifying to discover that the supposed renegade from the Paleolithic period who has been adding scar tissue to your brain is really a mass of red and white corpuscles like you; that his heart speeds up during a Beethoven quartet; that he plays chess, tennis and bridge; and his conversation is full of animation when discussing the latest avant-garde of would be authors like myself.

Yes, Profs are human. But who will not agree that too many try too hard not to appear to be so. In my opinion they should take more interest in us because what we are to be are now becoming. And brother, the process of becoming is no joke.

Defines 'Grad Student'

By Dr. Fred A. Kummerow

(Since he came to Kansas State in 1945, Dr. Kummerow, associate professor of chemistry, has directed the senior problems of 13 chemistry majors and the research and thesis work of 10 students who have received or will receive M. S. or Ph. D. degrees in chemistry. This summer he is in charge of 10 graduate students, one of whom is working for a doctorate.)

It seems to me that the graduate student at K-State does not fit into the picture described by previous contributors to this column. To me, the term "graduate student" represents a state of mind and not merely a piece of paper signifying that various requirements have been fulfilled. The term signifies a student with mental maturity and an understanding of the world community.

It is difficult to say when a student becomes a "graduate student." It is analogous to driving a car out of the night and into the dawn. The change from night to day is so gradual that the best one can do is to consider the sunrise the turning point. To a student, the turning point at which he can begin considering himself a "graduate" is the point at which he sees a purpose in going to school.

A problem in the senior year is many times the point at which the student sees the light. For the first time in his career he is on his own. His instructor knows and he knows when he finds himself. When a student voluntarily plans an experiment which compels him to come to Willard Hall at 3 a.m. night after night, as Bob Allen does, or forgets about his supper and stays at school until 7 p.m. tinkering with some apparatus, as George Potter does, the graduate status has been achieved.

There is only one tragic note in the picture for all too many capable graduate students—the facilities are too limited all over the country. If he does not stay at this College to do graduate work, the best chance for the Kansas Stater is one of the Big 10 schools, and they are already overcrowded.

The philosophy of a graduate student was recently well expressed in a statement by one of my students, Pat Randolph: "If I had only had the point of view I have now when I was an undergraduate, look what I could have accomplished!" With a smile she added, "The trouble is, you couldn't have told me that when I was a freshman here at K-State."

SCOUTING the CAMPUS

"What point would there be in trying to do your best work if the best you could make would be the grade, 'satisfactory,' counter-queried most of the students asked this weeks question by the Campus Scout.

Asked which grading system they preferred, the A-B-C-D-F system with which most of them were acquainted, or the Satisfactory - Unsatisfactory system used in some schools, nearly all the interviewees denounced the latter method and favored the system used now at K-State. Only two Staters definitely backed the S-U system. Some of the opinions offered are:

WINSTON WINGERD, grad in chemistry: "The S-U system doesn't give you enough incentive to do your best work."

DAVID MEIER, journalism junior: "The A-B-C-D-F system gives the student a better idea of where he stands, whereas the S-U system would be too vague."

WU-CHIEH CHENG, grad in chemistry: "The A to F system is more fair to the excellent students; under this system the harder you study the higher grades you receive."

BOB CHISHOLM, journalism sophomore: "The S-U method is too slipshod. A student transferring from a school which used that grading system to a school which used the conventional A to F system would encounter difficulty, as that school might not accept his credits."

KATY ROBERSON, grad in home ec. education: "A student given a letter grade of A, B, C, D or F is given a better indication of where he stands in relation to his fellow students."

JERRY BAKER, mechanical engineering sophomore: "Under the S-U system excellent students cannot be differentiated from barely passing students."

HOWARD NEAL, electrical engineering junior: "There's no incentive to exert one's best efforts under the S-U system."

DEWEY CARPENTER, music education junior: "I'm on the fence about the matter. There's too much differentiation in the A to F system and not enough in the S-U system."

CHARLES MARSH, ag administration junior: "Although I favor the A to F system, I can see weak points in it. There is lots of competition just for grades. For instance, some pre-vets here who would make excellent veterinarians can't get into the vet school because their grades aren't high enough."

FORREST MUSSON, mechanical engineering junior: "The A to F system differentiates between class levels and gives students an incentive to work to their fullest capacity."

IRVIN JAFFE, pre-med: "S and U grades wouldn't do for transferring to other colleges. With A to F grades a student's ability is better indicated."

DOROTHEA NIELSON, grad in home ec. education: "Grades of A to F are more definite and mean more to the student and to a prospective employer."

SPENCER DAINES, grad in ag engineering: "Might be easier to grade a student under the S-U system, but there would be a tendency for your best students to let down and not do their best work."

EUGENE LEWIS, chemistry senior: "The A to F system differentiates between the merely passing and the excellent students, as well as gives more information to prospective employers."

HARRY SINGER, psychology grad: "The S-U system cuts down on unnecessary competition. However, there should be a 'conditional' grade issued along with this system; average and above students should get 'S', borderline students 'conditional', and failures should get 'U's'."

DONALD CHAMBERS, chemical engineering senior: "The S-U system wouldn't make any difference in the amount of time I'd spend studying. Students should study for the knowledge they acquire rather than the grade, anyway."

Prof. Takes Leave

Prof. V. R. Easterling, department of history and government, has taken a leave-of-absence in order that he can work on his doctor's degree in history.

Professor Easterling is at the University of Colorado writing his thesis on the history of the navy's transport service. Easterling served in the transport service in the Mediterranean during the last war before coming to the College.

Chickens—PU!

Letter to the Editor:

I like to eat chicken. I used to like chickens. I have cleaned, sprayed, culled and dipped chickens. I have even sung to them when I was working around them. The odor of a chicken, mingled with fresh country air, is wholesome and unoffensive.

However, from now on, chickens (the feathered variety) and I are through. Every morning at 8 o'clock the odor of chickens—old worn-out roosters, innocent young ones and withering hens—comes drifting from the basement of Fairchild to the stairs to our third floor history class. The nauseating odor oozes into the nostrils of every student in the room. What a rude awakening! Yet, the smell blends beautifully with the study of some former U. S. politics. I only hope that the chicken experiment downstairs turns out as well as the new Republican administration will. I also hope that the chicken experiment will soon be finished.

Cheating Committee

er which reached each department on the campus last week disclosed that most faculty members are doing all they can to cooperate with the committee by using precautions to prevent or discourage cheating.

Many Preventative Measures
Various procedures listed by professors were to: 1. disperse students over the room as much as space will permit, 2. give different tests in different sections of the same course, 3. alter tests from semester to semester and year to year, 4. keep the rough drafts of tests in safe keeping prior to mimeographing and oversee mimeographing, 5. keep tests locked up until distributed during an exam, 6. provide two or even three sets of exam questions in crowded rooms, 7. have alternating students begin taking a test from back to front, 8. instruct students to close all books, put away notes during exams, 9. give essay exams or assign problems in which it will not be to the student's advantage to cheat and 10. supervise students taking exams.

The most unique procedure is that used in the vet medicine school. There most tests are taken in the amphitheatre in V13. During tests the chairs, which ordinarily face the pit where the instructor stands, are reversed and students face uphill. The problem of craning necks to see a neighbor's paper cramps the style of the would-be cheaters.

Frick Attends Meet In San Francisco

Dr. E. J. Frick, head of the Department of Surgery and Medicine at the College, will attend the National American Veterinary Medicine Association meeting in San Francisco Aug. 15-17. He will preside as moderator of large animal hospital practice panels.

Dr. Frick has invented new surgical instruments, developed operating techniques and has written numerous articles in professional veterinary journals.

He has supervised the Department of Surgery and Medicine at the College 29 years.

Don Good to Judge Livestock at Fairs

Don Good, livestock judging coach at Kansas State, has accepted invitations to judge livestock at three fairs in Kansas in August and September.

He will be in Oberlin to judge livestock exhibited at the Decatur county fair August 24. The next day he will judge livestock at the northwest Kansas fair at Goodland. September 1 he will judge at the Coffey county fair at Burlington.

Calves Go for College Milk

A 10-day old calf will drink 35 pounds of milk daily (more than four gallons), according to experiments made here at the College.

To find the most economical and best feeding methods for producing veal, F. C. Fountaine of the college dairy bandy department, recently had calves divided into five groups for experimental feeding. Those that drank 35 pounds a day were fed through nipples.

Others were fed from buckets and one group nursed, two to a cow. They were given warm and cold skimmed milk and "filled" milk in the experiments.

Medlin to Teach Yearbook School

C. J. Medlin, associate professor of journalism here, has accepted an invitation to direct a short course for high school yearbook advisers at the University of Illinois, Urbana, August 26 to 28. Ralph Lashbrook, journalism department head at Kansas State, announced today.

Professor Medlin directed a week's course of the same kind at the University of Minnesota last summer. He has been an annual speaker at the national convention of high school yearbook staff members and advisers and also at the college yearbook national conference.

Professor Medlin is faculty adviser of the Royal Purple, yearbook which has won all American honors in national competition 12 consecutive years.

Fall Registration Begins September 8

Registration for fall semester at Kansas State College will begin September 8 with classes starting a week later, according to a revised academic calendar for the 1948-49 school year, released yesterday at the College.

Freshmen and transfer students will take aptitude tests and physical examinations September 7. Registration follows immediately, September 8 to 14, with classes starting at 7 a.m. the next morning, according to the calendar. The 7 a.m. schedule was started to accommodate increased enrollments following the war.

The August term, omitted this year, is to be omitted again next year.

The calendar lists five student vacation periods: Thanksgiving from 10 p.m. November 23 to 7 a.m. November 29; Christmas from noon December 18 to January 3 at 7 a.m.; four days at Easter and one each for Memorial and Independence Days.

Geologists Are Half Thru State Survey

Four teams of students and instructors from the College are more than half through with geological surveys of construction materials in four Kansas counties, according to Dr. Frank Byrne, project chief.

To be made when the project is completed are a geologic map of each county and an inventory of all geologic materials that can be used in engineering structures such as highways, dams, airports and railways, according to Byrne.

So much construction is scheduled in the state that locating needed materials close at hand can save thousands of dollars of both public and private money, he said.

The project is a cooperative one between the Geological Department of the State Highway Commission and the Section of Engineering Geology, United States Geological Survey. It also is integrated with the program of the Kansas Geological Survey.

Casual Observers Overlook Strange Museum Exhibits

"Hey, mister, where's the two-headed calf?" three young Manhattanites asked several students in Fairchild Hall Saturday morning.

"Is there one?" a startled student asked. "Beats me," replied another. One student suggested that it might be in Veterinary Hall and the three youngsters disappeared to the north.

More interesting than the non-existent two-headed calf are the many exhibition cases which the Zoology Department maintains in Fairchild Hall and which, according to department professors, are examined only by eager beaver students who arrive early for classes.

One of these cases, the existence of which is unknown even to some zoology majors, is the embryo case, located in an extension of the west corridor on the first floor. It contains six human fetuses ranging in development from six weeks to six months. One of them has been stained to show the development of bones.

Shows Embryo Growth
An embryonic series shows the growth of a chicken embryo at different day-intervals of three days, five, six, nine, twelve, eighteen and twenty-two days. A completely developed calf attached to the placenta is another of the specimens on display.

Other animal embryos in the exhibits are those of a dog, cat, sheep, rabbit, pig, fish and several armadillos.

Another exhibition case nearby shows the primary stages of development from a single cell through to the more complex stages where features begin to appear.

A telephone line was first used at Kansas State College beginning in 1883. Later, in 1895, a College telephone exchange was installed.

Misses Olympics; but Coaches Call 'Tiny' 5th Best

Rollin "Tiny" Prather, All-American track star, didn't make the United States Olympic squad but he did have the satisfaction of being called the "Fifth Best Shot Putter in the World," according to Coach Ward Haylett and other U. S. Olympic coaches at the tryouts in Chicago.

All of the first ten shot putters at the tryouts would have placed at the Olympics in London, England. Prather, in placing fifth at the tryouts, missed breaking the world Olympic record by 1-16 of an inch.

Fuchs of Yale University was the dark horse that came through in the shot put to beat Prather out of an Olympic berth.

Prather had previously beaten Fuchs at the AAU meet the week before and at the NCAA meet three weeks in advance.

Prather officially placed third over Fonville in the preliminaries. Although they tied at 53 feet and 1 3-4 inches, Prather's second best toss had beaten Fonville's second best.

If preliminary placings would have remained in the finals, Prather would have been on the Olympic squad. As it was, he was on the squad for one day—the first day of the meet.

All Better Than Usual

All of the shot putters extended themselves above their previous marks, Prather said. He added that he couldn't complain about his fifth place performance because he was near his top.

Fonville, Prather said, was nursing a bad back and didn't get as much workout as he should have had. He appeared to tie up when under the meet's terrific pressure.

Wilbur Thompson from Los Angeles placed fifth in the preliminaries, but beat Fonville and Prather in the finals to shove them into fourth and fifth place respectively.

Prather missed qualifying for the discus by four inches. With 156 feet required for qualifying, Prather threw the discus 155 feet 7 and 3-4 inches.

Only One Big Seven Athlete

The only Big Seven athlete to make the Olympic squad was Dick Ault from Missouri University. Ault squeezed into the finals in the 400 meter hurdles by a photo finish for third place.

Ault again flashed to a photo finish in the hurdles in the finals. But this time it was for second place.

The tryout had more ties in field events than had been expected in pre-meet calculations. The hop-skip-jump event was tied at first place with 8 feet and 3-16 inches. Prather tied Fonville for third in the preliminaries for third place. The broad jump was tied at second place with a 25 feet 2 and 1-2 inches. High jump and pole vault events ended in ties. Most of the dashes had to be decided by photo finishes.

Upsets are Common
What is... etain shrdum Practically every single event had an upset or two. Fans were delighted at what is thought to be one of the greatest track meets in history.

The popular conception of the fans and coaches were that the United States left a track team at home that could have made almost as many points as the official United States Olympic Track team.

Most of the Olympic team were made up of AAU athletes that had been out of college for several years.

The most spectacular event of the tryouts was Barney Ewell's upset over Mel Patton of California. The focus of attention was turned on the 200 meter race where Patton reversed the placings, beating Ewell.

Prather Leads Parade
The track hopefuls were welcomed to Chicago by an Olympic Tryout Parade the Wednesday, July 7, before the meet.

Prother, Mel Patton of the University of California, and Westbrook of Oklahoma were in the leading car caravan of 55 brand new 1949 Fords.

The parade reached a climax when the Olympic hopefuls were taken to see the mayor of Chicago. A sight seeing trip along the lake shore Drive ended the parade.

The tracksters were also taken on a tour through the Great Lakes Naval Training Station and had their July 4 dinner at the Naval Station on Monday, July 5.

Haylett is Confident
Ward Haylett, K-State's Olympic track coach left for New York City Sunday, according to Prather. Haylett will take the Americana, luxury liner, to London. Prather said Haylett was confident of his decathlon boys and expected to place all three boys in the Olympic finals at London.

Now that Olympic tryouts are over and Prather's sun is setting over the 1948 track season, Prather is going to take a three weeks vacation at his home and traveling. After the vacation, he will start getting in shape for the 1948 Wildcat football schedule. Prather played right end on the varsity last year.

Barkless Dog Is In Hospital

A dog that does not bark, shed its hair, have a body odor or over eats has been admitted at the School of Veterinary Medicine, Kansas State College, for treatment.

It is a Basenji, owned by Cecil D. Hunter, Manhattan. Called African barkless dogs, Basenjis are all like this one, according to Hunter. They were first introduced in the United States seven years ago, he said. All in this country are pedigreed.

Dairy Department Buys New Machines

Like farmers throughout the state, the dairy department at the College has been purchasing new equipment which was not available during the war, according to Ballard K. Bennett, assistant professor of dairy husbandry.

Among machines recently purchased are a tractor, manure loader, two-bottom plow, tandem disc, lister planter with hydraulic lift, cultivator, hay loader, side-delivery rake, heavy duty rubber-tired wagon, hammer mill and a portable elevator.

The College dairy barn and other dairy buildings also were recently given a new coat of white paint, Ballard said.

Poor Potato Yield
Fall potato production has been unsatisfactory throughout the state, according to W. G. Amstein, extension horticulturist at Kansas State College.

Amstein bases this statement on inquiries received and the effects of recent wet from throughout the state weather on keeping qualities of potatoes.

Check Grass Cattle
Cattle on bluestem pastures should be checked to see that they are gaining properly, warns R. B. Catchcart, assistant professor of animal husbandry at Kansas State College.

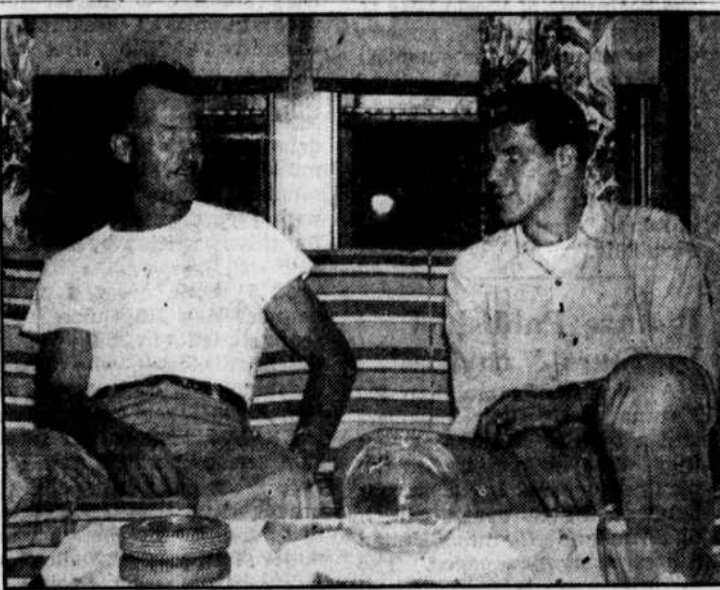

If they are not making expected gains, grain should be added to the grass or the cattle should be moved to dry lots for feeding, the professor said.

Judges Barrow Show

D. L. Mackintosh has been chosen one of the judges of the National Barrow show in Austin, Minn., September 13. It was disclosed here today. He is a professor in the animal husbandry department.

Ward Haylett, left K-State's Olympic coach, has achieved success and world fame with his Kansas State athletes. Haylett is now in England as decathlon coach for the U. S. Olympic team. Haylett's present track prodigy is Rollin Prather, right, an outstanding weight star. Haylett rates Prather as the fifth best shot putter in the world.

Rollin Prather (right), Kansas State's all-American field star, chats with Elmer Hackney, former K-State football and track great, before leaving for the Olympic tryouts held at Evansville, Ill. Prather, who failed to qualify for the Olympic team by taking fifth, worked out with Hackney, an all-Big Seven shot putter in his day, prior to his trip east.

August 30 Is Date For Registration Under Draft Law

President Harry S. Truman

issued a proclamation yesterday calling for draft registration to begin August 30. On that date, all persons born after August 30, 1922, will register.

The proclamation fixes the following dates for the registration of men between the ages of 18 and 26.

1. Persons born in the year 1923: Aug. 31, and Sept. 1.
2. Persons born in 1924: Sept. 2 and Sept. 3.
3. Persons born in the year 1925: Sept. 4 or Sept. 7.
4. Persons born in the year 1926: Sept. 8-9.
5. Persons born in the year 1927: Sept. 10-11.
6. Persons born in the year 1928: Sept. 12-14.
7. Persons born in the year 1929: Sept. 15-16.
8. Persons born in 1930 before Sept. 19: Sept. 17-18.

Boys born on or after Sept. 19, 1930, under the proclamation, will be registered on the day they are 18 years old or within five days thereafter.

The President's proclamation called on the governors of each of the states and the territories of Alaska, Hawaii, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands and the commissioners of the District of Columbia to comply with the drafting program to "accomplish effective and complete registration."

There was nothing in the proclamation to indicate when actual inductions into the armed services will begin. By law, the draft can't start until Sept. 22. That is 90 days after Mr. Truman signed the selective service act.

Selective service officials may make their first draft grab at 25-year-olds—who otherwise would be ineligible after one more birthday.

Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, selective service director during World War II, made that known as he was sworn in as head of the new draft setup.

Eighteen-year olds can avoid the draft by enlisting for one year and then serving for a longer period in the reserves. Such enlistments will be accepted starting tomorrow.

Hershey said he does not know how many men will be needed, or when they will be called up. The law says drafting cannot get underway until Sept. 22.

Flies to Columbia

Shot of the Year by Abilene Senior

The first hole-in-one of the Manhattan golfing year was dunked by Dale Kirkpatrick, BA 4, Thursday at Stag Hill. Kirkpatrick got his ace on the 175 yard-par 3 number 8 hole. He hit a soft number 4 iron using a slight tail wind. The green is masked from the tee.

The Abilene senior, a near par shooter, was playing in a foursome with Prof. L. M. Jorgenson, C. S. Breese, and D. R. Byron. He had defeated Jorgenson in a first-flight match in the current Stag Hill tournament just prior to playing the eighth hole.

D. G. Pelischek, club professional, said Kirkpatrick would be awarded a case of Wheaties and a certificate. It was the first ace of Kirkpatrick's golfing career. The ball is retired.

Students Attend Topeka Meetings

Students in a three-weeks workshop course here are attending a series of meetings of county superintendents of public instruction, and the State Department of Education in Topeka today.

Floyd Herr, a member of the state department of education, teaches the course called County, State and Federal School Administration and Support. Its object is to familiarize school administrators and teachers with problems of organizing and financing public schools.

Sitting in on meetings of county superintendents from throughout Kansas will give the students an opportunity to get first-hand information on problems facing school administrators and teachers of the state, H. Leigh Baker, education department head at the College, said.

By devoting eight hours a day to the one course, students earn three hours college credit in three weeks, Baker said.

The administration and support course and another on Audio-Visual Aids of Instruction opened yesterday. Enrollment in both courses is still open, Baker said.

Last Free Hop

The last free all-College dance this summer will be this Friday evening from 9 to 12 o'clock on the concrete tennis courts, announces Loren Haynes, chairman of the dance committee. In case of rain the dance will be in Nichols Gym.

"Students can attend the summer school play and then come on down to the dance afterwards and make a full evening of it," Haynes suggested. "Special entertainment will also be provided at the dance," he added.

Five-tenths of the monthly grade was deducted in 1876 for absence from chapel at Kansas State College. Seats were assigned for an easy roll check.

Veterans to Settle Summer Leave Plans

Veterans of Kansas State College training under Public Law 16 are requested by Jerry B. Varner, training officer, to report to their training officers at the Veterans Guidance Center to sign their applications for leave to cover the period between semesters. The Regional Office at Wichita must be notified by Friday, July 23, Varner said. This offers an opportunity for veterans who wish to save training time to do so. Cards for the final grades for summer session also may be picked up now, Varner said.

Ammonia Seeps; Students Weep

Students with tears in their eyes came pouring from classes, in West Waters hall, agriculture building last week.

But the professors were not guilty.

Workmen, installing an ice cream freezing unit in the basement, knocked a joint loose on a pipe carrying ammonia. Before the workmen could don gas masks and repair the joint, ammonia fumes had filled the entire building. Used as a refrigerant, ammonia in quantities will damage persons' lungs. One dairy student commented that while spilled milk may not be something to cry over, spilled ammonia "most definitely—sob—is!"

Chamber Music Recital Sunday

A recital of chamber music by the music department will be presented in the College auditorium Sunday at 4 p. m. Luther Leavengood, department head, announced today. Two unpublished works, recently composed and still in manuscript form, will be presented. David Geppert, assistant professor of music, is composer of one; George Keith, LaCrosse, the other. Geppert's is the first movement to a new string quartet; Keith's, an "Interlude for a Clarinet Quartet."

Also on the program are a trio for piano, flute and oboe by Jean Baptiste Loeillet, and a "Piano Quartet in A Major" by Ernest Chausson.

The music department also will present an all-College assembly program Wednesday, July 28, at 9:30 a. m. Professor Leavengood said.

Announce Birth

Mr. and Mrs. A. G. McNaught, Portland, Ore., announce the birth of a son, Craig Jameson, June 13. Mrs. McNaught is the former Margaret Wunach, a graduate in journalism and assistant in the news bureau at Kansas State College before her marriage.

In the earlier days of Kansas State College, when students and faculty members drove to school with horses and buggies, they were permitted to erect shelters for their vehicles on the campus.

Cage Hopes Dim as 'Clancy' Quits

K-State's 1948-49 basketball expectations took another sharp dip for the worse with the announcement yesterday by Clarence Brannum that he was leaving school.

The hard-driving all-conference center gave financial difficulties as his reason for withdrawing. He is the father of three children.

"Big Clancy" hopes to play professional or A.A.U. basketball. He has been approached by officials of various teams but has not found a satisfactory offer as yet.

A better than average golfer and capable of playing in near par figures Clarence wants to capitalize on his links ability. He would like to land a club professional's job during the off-basketball season.

Coach Jack Gardner, who is out of town, could not be reached for comment on Brannum's decision.

All-American forward Shannon recently signed a professional contract with Providence, R. I.

SOCIETY

AT STATE

Most students are counting only 18 more days 'till vacation, but people around here say only three more Collegians. Only three times more for Ed. Ralph and his conscientious staff to produce, through their blood, sweat, and practical jokes, this weekly refuge for its faithful readers. And then it's all over.

The Sig Ep summer rush party will be this Saturday night. The dancing, eating and general gaiety will take place at the Sig Ep house.

Janet Ray and Fred Freely, both of Manhattan, have announced their engagement. Both will be sophomores here next fall.

Barbie Bross, of Manhattan, gave a shower and dinner last night for Doris Marshall, of Topeka, Virginia Bramwell of Manhattan, and Marilyn Larson of Wamego. Those present were Arvilla Johnson, Jean Greenough, Marjorie Dunn, Mary Collister, Nancy Bramwell and Joan Argabright, Virginia, Doris and Marilyn will be married in August. Those present were members of Delta Delta Delta.

Marian Swan and Jack Weltsch, juniors in business administration next fall, have announced their engagement. They have not set the date for the wedding yet. Marian and Jack are both from Manhattan.

A surprise shower was given for Kathy Brainard July 12 by Jo Harriet Hofess. Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority sisters of Kathy gave her a variety of useful gifts. Those present were: Mrs. Marvin Snyder, Mrs. Payne Oberst, Mrs. Russell Jones, Mrs. Ben Pickering, Mrs. Marilyn Taylor, Mrs. Robert Fletcher and Mrs. Warren Seiff, and Gwen Grove, Bea Tuggle, Pat Nelson, Mary Ann Leonard, Virginia Gingrich, Frances Jewett, Marjorie Polom and Miriam Hobbs.

Kathy will be married August 29 to Clifford Batton, Beta Theta Pi of Manhattan.

Virginia Urban and Fred Merrill, both of Kansas City, have announced their engagement. Virginia was graduated from Kansas University where she belonged to Gamma Phi Beta sorority. Fred is a Phi Delta at Kansas State. Their marriage will take place in the early fall.

Sigma Nus had a punch party Sunday night. There were 13 members present at the stag affair.

Rose Messer of Lawrence, and Hans von Unworth of Kansas City are engaged. They will be married in early September. Rose is a graduate of Kansas University, and Hans graduated from Kansas State where he is a member of Beta Theta Pi fraternity.

Kappa Kappa Gamma had their Manhattan summer rush party Saturday night, at the home of Mrs. Blake Wareham, Sunny Side Slope. The theme of the party was a treasure hunt. Later in the evening, there was a picnic supper, and group singing.

Hills Heights has received chocolates, announcing the engagement of Lois Blaser of Waterville and Glen Anderson of Osburg.

Leone Betts of Abilene also announced her engagement to Kenneth Simpson of Enterprise.

THE men entertained their dates at a house party Saturday night. About ten men of the thirty couples present were Tau Kappa Epsilon members from other schools. They are now stationed at Fort Riley.

Norma Greep of Kansas City and Gene Frederick Bohnblust of Longford, have announced their engagement. Norma was graduated from the University of Kansas school of nursing this spring. Gene is a graduate of Kansas State.

Ericksen-Burtis
Gwen Lee Ericksen and David Burtis were married at 4 p. m. Saturday. The Rev. J. Ray Wonder, of the Methodist Church, officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The bride wore a gown of white moire taffeta with fitted bodice and long sleeves. A peplum in front lengthened into a train in the back. Miss Jean Scott was her attendant.

Mr. Orville Burtis, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. The reception following the wedding, was at the home of the bridegroom.

Mr. and Mrs. Burtis left for a honeymoon in Colorado. When they return they will be at home on Route 2, Manhattan.

Mr. Burtis attended Kansas State and is now engaged in farming.

Kappas Send Aid

New American shoes bring a smile to this little French schoolgirl. Her devastated school is now receiving aid from the Save the Children Federation as part of the Dorothy Canfield Fisher Project of Kappa Kappa Gamma, national women's fraternity.

Only four births are reported this week. They are the sons and daughters of Mrs. Gray Cat. Monday noon, Mabel (the cat) wandered into Van Zile Hall, chose a comfortable looking room, climbed onto the soft bed, and became the mother of her four likewise gray kittens.

The family has been placed in the hands of the zoology department, home for the homeless.

Two students watch the rains from hospital beds this week. The student health reports. They are Phillip Burns, who was there last week, and Donna Skinner, a junior in journalism from Fairview.

Seven Appointed To College Staff

Seven appointments to the Kansas State College faculty were announced this week by President Milton S. Eisenhower. They include an associate professor, an assistant professor, an instructor and four graduate assistants.

The appointments — Ernest L. Mader, associate professor in the agronomy department; Philip A. Bonhag, assistant professor in entomology; Ruthann Roepke, instructor in the library; graduate assistants: Howard H. Depew, electrical engineering; Mary L. Markley, education and psychology; Roland L. Fischer, entomology, and Lois E. Wheeler, mathematics.

All of the appointments, except Miss Roepke's, are effective September 1; hers is for October 1.

Sandzen Painting Is Donated to School

A Birger Sandzen painting, "Poplars by Moonlight," has been given to the College by the Lawson family of McPherson. President Milton S. Eisenhower, disclosed this week.

Done about 30 years ago, the canvas is "an excellent example of Sandzen's strong, early period." John F. Helm, Jr., professor of architecture at the College, said. It is unusual in its cool color arrangement of blues and greens in contrast to the warm colors Sandzen uses later, he said.

Donors of the canvas are Lorin W. Lawson, owner of the Lawson Landscaping Service; his wife, Jessie Mary Lawson, and the late Eva M. Lawson, all of McPherson. Lawson was graduated from the College in 1907; Mrs. Lawson in 1906; and the late Miss Lawson in 1916.

The canvas is hung in Anderson Hall, College administration building.

Kansas Raises Its Proved Bull Record

Kansas should be among the top half-dozen states in number of bulls proved by dairy herds this year, according to James W. Linn, dairy specialist in the extension division at Kansas State College.

Number of Kansas proved bulls nearly doubled the average for other states in 1946 and Kansas ranked fifth in the nation last year, Linn said.

A proved bull is one with not less than five dam-daughters whose production records have been compared on the basis of 305-day lactation records. The state ranked third in the nation the first quarter of this year in bulls proved, Linn said, and has maintained that trend since.

Milling Head to Central America

Prof. J. A. Shellenberger, milling industry department head at the College, will leave August 1 for Costa Rica and El Salvador. His trip is for the Institute of Inter-American Affairs and the United Nations Food and Agriculture Organization.

Shellenberger's assignment is to study food conservation and grain storage problems in the two countries and to make recommendations to the organizations sponsoring the trip.

He plans to spend most of his time in San Jose, Costa Rica, and La Libertad, El Salvador.

Highway Department Prints Official Map

The new official Kansas highway map has been completed and is ready for distribution, according to an announcement made by Roy W. Cox, director of highways, this week. The new map is published by the state and is printed in four colors by the state printer's office.

Beautiful color views of agricultural, historical and recreational offerings of the state are included—14 pictures in all. Three of the pictures are from the Manhattan vicinity. They include a wheat picture, a dairy scene and the first territorial capitol building at Fort Riley.

Along with the travel information, the map lists populations, locations of towns and the recreational facilities available in the various state lakes and parks.

Only 75,000 of the maps have been printed for this year, Cox said. "This means that only those desiring the maps for actual travel purposes should write for their free copies."

Library Folder Helps Traveler

Appealing to the perspiring K-State summer school students' desire to get away from the steamy, sun-drenched campus after classes, "The Armchair Traveler," a folder recently issued by the Library, lists 35 avenues of retreat from immediate reality.

The folder, which lists 35 books assembled by the committee on recreational reading, begins with a narrative on an imaginary tour of distant climes and swings into a list of the 35 recently published books. Offering an extra hour away from study, the list includes a variety of travel stories, which can be checked out from the loan desk for two weeks.

"The reader," suggests the "Armchair Traveler," "can wander with Clifford Gessler over a land of many contrasts discovering 'The Pattern of Mexico' or take to the air over Africa and South America in Anne Morrow Lindbergh's 'Listen! The Wind.'"

Behind-the-headlines analyses of the Indian question, South American problems, and Jewish-Arab strife is offered in "Here Is India," "The Pan-American Highway," and "Inside Pan-Arabia."

Old favorites like Yates Brown's "Lives of a Bengal Lancer" and Mukerji's "My Brother's Face" are included, but most of the books suggested were published since the beginning of World War II.

Titles suggesting mystery and romance for the summer-time reader are "A Vagabond Journey Around the World," "Tombs, Travel, and Trouble," "The Royal Road to Romance," "Petticoat Vagabond," "Four Years in Paradise," "The Magic Island," and "The Ghosts of Piccadilly."

Picture Published In 'Stars & Stripes'

A picture of more than 400 Kansas 4-H Club members and a map of Kansas which they formed posing for the picture appeared in a recent issue of the European edition of Stars and Stripes, United States Army newspaper. The picture was taken by Floyd Hanna, College photographer.

In the picture an outline of the state and a figure "48" inside it were formed by Kansas 4-H youth attending the 24th annual roundup of their organization on the College Campus.

Church Fix-It Party

Baptist students will have a "fix-it" party at the First Baptist Church, Juliette and Humboldt, at 7:30 p. m. Saturday. Students are advised to wear work clothes to the party, as repairs on the church building will be included in the evening's activities. Refreshments will be served.

"David and Jonathan's Friendship" will be the discussion guide in the College Bible Study class at 9:45 Sunday morning at the church. Supper will be served at the church at 5:30 that evening.

KSAC Presents Local Talent on The Air

By Milton Eisenhower, Jr.
Talent from six different departments of the College is now being broadcast over KSAC in cooperation with the summer program. Among the new summer programs are those developed by the department of chemistry, music, agriculture, radio, journalism, and speech.

All programs are now in progress and will continue until the first of October.

Monday at 4:30 in the afternoon, Jim Orton, senior in agriculture, presents five minutes of the latest news in the agriculture world. At 5:15 Dan Clark, junior in speech, reads selections of poetry to a background of music on a fifteen-minute program entitled "Easy Listening."

Tuesday brings Mary Collister, graduate student in the department of music, and Bob Hilgendorf, regular station announcer to the microphone.

Mary comes on at 4:30 with a quarter hour of singing and an interpretation of the songs that she sings. At 4:45 Bob presents "Preview of Tomorrow," a fifteen-minute program of Associated Press releases on science and its effect on the citizen of the future.

Music again highlights Wednesday's programs when Pat Hale, freshman in music, begins at 4:45 with fifteen minutes of singing.

Contrary to popular belief, chemistry is not as difficult as it may seem. To support this, the American Chemical Society in cooperation with the Kansas State Department of Chemistry presents a quarter hour program entitled "Headlines in Chemistry."

The first five minutes consists of an interview with a member of the College chemistry staff. Then the department broadcasts ten minutes of popular drama, concerning science in connection with everyday life. The script for this is written by the A. C. S.

Know How to Vote? -We Don't Either

By A Collegian Staff Member

About the only thing the Collegian knows for sure after a quest for information for student voters at the City Clerk's office is that K-Staters have to be at least 21 years old to vote. That fact was pointed out several times to the inquiring reporter, particularly after the City Official Who Should Know found it in The Book.

As for information on absentee voting for the many students here from other states, information on registration for the general election in November, and even whether K-Staters of voting age who have been here for several years should be entitled to vote at Manhattan residents. The Official "didn't know for sure."

Embarrassed and Confused
Apparently embarrassed that he wasn't better informed on elections with the primary and city election only six days away and the general election coming up in three months. The Official nervously warned the reporter, "Now don't use my name on anything I've told you today. Some of this stuff is so confusing I don't understand it myself."

The City Official did know that the registration books are already closed for the primary August 3. Deadline for voters to register in Kansas is 10 days before an election. If students registered for the primary, whether they vote in it or not, they don't have to register again for the general election. However, if students did not register for the primary they are not disqualified to vote in the general election. "They must," The Official ventured, "be sure to register by—well, let's see, I'll have to call someone to find out when the general election is, so I can figure out the registration deadline."

General Election
Beaming triumphantly, The Official returned from the phone. "The general election is always the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, so it comes on November 2 this year," he echoed. Thus, the reporter gathered, students can register until October 22 in The City Official's office on the second floor of the City Hall, in the 100 block on North Third Street.

According to a paragraph The Official finally found in a book on Kansas election laws, persons must be residents of this state for six months prior to the registration deadline to be eligible to vote in state and national elections. Residence in a municipality for 30 days before the registration deadline is an eligibility requirement for voting in city elections.

Too Deep For Me
How do the election judges determine whether a student who has lived in Manhattan more than 30 days is a bona-fide resident? The Official, eyeing with a worried look a passage in The Book stating that persons temporarily confined to an institution are not qualified to vote said that maybe Kansas State students should not really have a right to vote in Manhattan elections. The Official thought that "a man's residence should be wherever his wife lived, so maybe students should be allowed to vote in Manhattan after all. It's something I haven't yet been able to figure out." The Official said resignedly, "We've been letting students register here, but maybe we shouldn't," he said as he shrugged his shoulders.

No Right to Vote?
In reply to the reporter's question as to whether student residents who spend as large a proportion of their income with Manhattan merchants as other residents, send their children to Manhattan schools, get their cars, their personal property taxed here should have a voice in the choice of city officials. The Official countered, "the law could be interpreted so as to disqualify Kansas State students as Manhattan residents and thus eliminate the student vote in city elections."

He confided that "many of the Manhattan taxpayers wish that the College students who don't own real estate here would be disqualified as Manhattan voters anyway. Students are inclined to vote for big bond issues for municipal improvement, such as the new Civic Auditorium, but they do not have to pay any taxes to help pay for them."

Absentee Students
The official said he didn't know anything about absentee ballots for students or the procedure about getting them. Fortunately a student, Bob Dally, was able to find out from some source for the Collegian that "any registered student can go to the nearest polling place, sign an affidavit confirming his identity, and obtain an in-state absentee ballot." To get an out-of-state ballot, Bob advises students to contact the county clerk in the county in which they are registered.

Out to the Country

Students living in the various housing units on the campus and in Manhattan have asked the Collegian to find out for them where they are to vote, since there seems to be confusing rumors prevalent as to where they cast their ballots. The official wasn't sure of that, either, so he phoned somebody about it. He found that students who live inside the campus boundaries are not residents of the city of Manhattan, so they will have to go out to Strong school house, located 1/2 mile north of Manhattan on Highway 13, to exercise their right of franchise on August 3. Campus residents include students living at Van Zile, East and West Stadiums, Moro Courts, Campus Courts, Hilltop and Elliot Courts. Students at Waltham Hall, Goodnow, Long's Park, Honeywell and any place else inside the city limits will vote in the wards in which their residences are located.

Polling Places

In information on the address of each polling place will be published before the election in the local papers.

The reporter had asked the official early Monday afternoon to write an informative article for this Collegian issue for the benefit of student voters, but was refused. "When I have more time and have a chance to learn more about these elections after the primary and city elections are over, I'll write you an article under my name for publication this fall," he said as the reporter departed.

Of course, the elections will be over then, but the Collegian might print the article anyway, as reference material for the 1952 election.

(Ed note: We have received requests to print information on student voting from the Veterans Service fraternity, the Young Republican's Club, Hilltop and Elliot housing areas and from several other sources. We regret that we are unable to print brief, precise instructions on a matter of such importance. In fairness to the city official of the foregoing article, we should explain that his official duties include registration of voters for LOCAL elections who are RESIDENTS of Manhattan only.—R.W.S.)

An ensemble composed of Dick Coy, first clarinet, Rodney Boyles, second clarinet, Elmer Simon, alto clarinet and Robert Smith, bass clarinet will play "Clarinet Rhapsody" and "Interlude." As a final number the summer school orchestra conducted by Leavengood will play the "Symphony No. 35, First movement" by Mozart.

Found 'Guilty' of Exam Cheating

A K-Stater recently caught with a readily-accessible crib sheet during an examination was tried last week by the Committee on Academic Dishonesty and found guilty, reports A. L. Pugsley, Dean of Administration.

The committee recommended to Dean Pugsley that the student receive an F in the exam and be placed on probation for 18 College weeks. The recommendations have been placed in effect, Mr. Pugsley says.

Another student has also been referred to the committee. The student had written formulas on the back of his quiz blank, had partially erased them but had left them legible enough for use in the examination.

The committee recommended that the student be placed on probation for 18 College weeks, and that the case be published in the Collegian.

These are the 19th and 20th cases reported since the dishonesty committee was formed. "In all cases referred to the Committee the possession of review or crib materials in close proximity to the exam paper is considered to be conclusive evidence of intent to cheat," Pugsley declared.

275 Pct. Increase In Enrollment Of Home Service

Correction

In the July 21 issue of the Collegian the following paragraph appeared on page two under the story "Fall Registration Begins September 8."

"Freshmen and transfer students will take aptitude tests and physical examinations September 7."

This should have read that aptitude tests and physical examinations for transfer students will be September 7, but that testing, orientation and physical examinations for freshmen will be taken September 8-11.

Enrollments have increased 275 percent more than in previous years in the Home Study Service Department of the College Extension Service, according to Prof. Jesse M. Schall, who became director of Home Study Service July 1. "The load is so heavy that we are sometimes forced to work Saturday afternoons," he said. The enrollment in the Home Study Service is somewhat seasonal, Professor Schall said. During the summer many teachers and students who had conflicts while in residence take courses causing a considerable increase in correspondence students. A few of the students are repeating courses which they have failed in residence. Most of the students are simply getting extra credit hours.

Professor Schall said that every attempt is made to grade and return all papers within one week. Because of the unusually heavy load this summer a few graduate students have been hired to read and grade some of the courses.

Graded Within Department

The College's Home Study Service is "probably the only service of its kind in the country that does not farm out its work to resident faculty members for grading." This policy, Professor Schall explained, aids the department's work, as the professors on the staff are more conscientious and the correspondence courses "are not treated as secondary matters."

Community Hygiene High

The highest enrollments during the past year have been in Personal and Community Hygiene, Principles of Geography, Children's Literature and Educational Psychology. Professor Schall said. More than 2500 persons annually register for the 56 courses offered by the Home Study Service.

Contrary to common belief, enrollment in the correspondence service practically parallels resident enrollments in the college. "When people do not have money to attend college," Professor Schall explained, "they do not have money for extension courses either."

Low Meal Prices at 1948 Food Costs Are Main Objective of KSC Cafeteria

Reasonable food prices to students and limited expenses are the two main objectives of a college cafeteria, pointed out Mrs. Bessie Brooks West, manager of the College Cafeteria, during an interview Tuesday morning at Kedzie.

During the past year the Department of Institutional Management served 552,826 meals. At present 57.6 cents from every dollar is spent for raw food. Twenty-five to 30 cents are spent on labor and the balance is expended for miscellaneous items, including utilities. The cafeteria, Mrs. West said, should have a 6 percent surplus for the purchase of new equipment and maintenance of the building. Last year the surplus was not that large and the cost of equipment and maintenance has gone up.

Food Costs Doubled

As an example of the price increases that the Department of Institutional Management has to cope with, Mrs. West said that in 1940, five gallons of salad oil cost $4.25. Last week she signed a purchase order for salad oil and five gallons now cost $17.75, an increase of 318 percent. Over-all food prices have more than doubled since 1939, Mrs. West said.

Put Meal Prices Low

Such food as dairy products, fresh fruits, and cereals are kept at a minimum to encourage students to include them in their diet, Mrs. West explained. Unsold meats are stored in a deep-freeze unit as an economy measure to be used again in other dishes such as omelettes, casseroles, and soups.

Players to Give Mystery Chiller 'Laura' Friday

The second summer production of the K-State Players will be presented at 8:30 Friday evening. Students may obtain tickets by presenting their fee receipts at the Auditorium box office, open from 3 to 6 p. m. daily.

"Laura," by Vera Caspary and George Sklar, has already delighted thousands of mystery fans in its book and film versions. In play form, it is "exciting theater," according to the New York Sun, and the New York World-Telegram called it "ingenious... elusive but haunting... superbly done, with sophistication and snap."

In Title Role

Judy Yearwood has the title role in the play, a version of this celebrated thriller. Believed murdered, she returns to reveal that another girl was the victim—and she herself becomes the chief suspect. Joe Adams plays Mark MacPherson, the idealistic young detective who falls in love with Laura. Clifford Hunt appears as Waldo Lydecker, the acid-tongued columnist. Si Crites plays Shelby Carpenter, Laura's caddish Southern fiancé.

Others in the cast are Mary Clingman, Bob Larson, Ken Carson, and Ruby Mann.

"A Thrilling Play"

Student director Bill Scott said that he was confident that the play's suspenseful plot would provide "a thrilling evening of effective theater. The cast and crew have cooperated splendidly," Scott added, "and I'm sure that the results of our efforts will please everyone."

The set used in last week's production, "Parlor Story," will be modified and altered for use in the play. Carl Kish and Kay Wortman supervised the design and construction of the set.

To Annual Picnic

More than 150 members and alumni of the Farm House fraternity met in an annual summer picnic in the city park Sunday. Many alumni from distant states attended the feed.

Prof. Harold Kugler, of the ag engineering department, addressed the group. Howard W. Birchard led in group singing during the program.

Whole Egg or None

The utilization of eggs broken during the frying process is an important and unsolved problem, as yet. The broken eggs, Mrs. West said, cannot be scrambled and served, for the antipathy of the ex-GI towards powdered eggs still prevails. "He refuses any but whole eggs. An egg, whether sunny-side up or turned over, must present a

This picture should be self-explanatory. Even though it may be a few steps closer to class from the rear end of the parking lot, it's just not a good idea to pull a stunt like this—especially on a slick, muddy day. We think it needlessly cruel to tell the name of the driver who pulled this stunt, but it took three days arguing with ourselves before we decided not to divulge her sex.

Get VA's OK for Flight Training

A new rule by the Veterans Administration requires that any veteran who plans to take the course, flight instruction I under the G. I. Bill of Rights must get special and individual approval from the Veterans Administration before he can enroll, announces Dean A. L. Pugsley, chairman of the Veterans Affairs Committee. In addition the credit must be used as an elective toward his degree. This new rule is a part of Public Law 862, passed by the 80th Congress.

Provisions of Public Law 862 prohibit expenditure of government funds for courses vocational or recreational in character.

Any veteran who plans to enroll for flight instruction I this fall must start procedures immediately if he is to receive the required V. A. approval by enrollment time. Pugsley pointed out. These procedures require that the student's Dean must prescribe or recommend machine design 127, flight instruction I as an elective for the curriculum in which the student is enrolled.

Forms available from the Veterans Service Office must be filled out by the student and his Dean indicating that the dean approves the course as an acceptable elective toward the degree and that the veteran has excess eligibility over that required for the degree.

The forms should be accompanied by a letter of justification prepared by the veteran together with satisfactory evidence of physical fitness and should be sent to the Veterans Administration by the veteran. Veterans interested in taking this course should report to the Veterans Service Office (Room 3, basement of Anderson Hall) for complete information before contacting the Veterans Administration for approval, Pugsley said.

Former Grad says Politics Needs College Students

College students, especially those majoring in journalism or in history and government, should go into politics. So declared James Kendall, K-State grad now serving as clerk of the Senate agricultural committee, when he visited the campus last week.

If every student after graduation would be willing to give at least two years of service to the government—city, state, or federal—public affairs would be much better handled he asserted.

Better pay and increased personal satisfaction for college trained government officials are already attracting more persons, he said.

Kendall was editor of the Collegian the fall of 1941, and was graduated the next spring. He started his career in Washington, D. C., as one of Senator Capper's secretaries, handling the more routine letters that came in the Senator's mail. After Kendall's return from army service the Senator, who is chairman of the committee on agriculture picked him for the influential post of clerk of that committee.

As clerk of this committee he has four main duties: to serve as a liaison officer between the committee and senators not on the committee, to direct bills for the busy committee, to serve as contact man for the press, and to schedule hearings on various bills. He said that his work is interesting and varied.

His visit on the campus was a hurried one because of the special session of Congress called by President Truman. He flew back to Washington, D. C. on Saturday.

Honorary Frat Takes Fourteen

Fourteen new members were initiated into Phi Delta Kappa Fraternity Monday evening, according to Prof. Jesse M. Schall, secretary. Phi Delta Kappa is a national professional education organization.

Initiation ceremonies were conducted in Education Hall by Don Ford, president; E. Thornton Edwards, vice-president; Charles Glotzbach and Prof. Jesse M. Schall.

A supper and meeting were held in Thompson Hall following the initiation. Charles Hawkes, superintendent of schools in Salina spoke on "School Public Relations." Prof. William E. Koch of the English Department entertained with several songs. He was accompanied by Mrs. Robert Gilmer.

The new members are Lester C. Griffith, Emporia; Cecil L. Gyer, Olsburg; Herbert H. Bishop, Manhattan, Principal of the Manhattan High School; J. A. Buckles, Principal of the Dwight, Kansas, High School; J. W. Paden, Hudson; Roy H. Goss, Manhattan; Burnett E. Johnson, Jamestown, New York; Robert R. Rein-king, Smith Center; Stephen G. Ryan, Lillis; William D. Scott, Coffeyville; Robert B. Smith, Manhattan; Eric T. Tebow, Manhattan; Paul Torrance, Manhattan and Otto C.ahn, Hutchinson.

Name Kroger Winners

Winners of two $200 Kroger scholarships in agriculture were announced today by the office of the Dean of Agriculture. They are Harland Fridie, Burrton, and James B. Warren, Garnett. Both are high school graduates who will enter Kansas State this fall.

Winners were selected for scholarship, accomplishment in agriculture, leadership and personality.

Next Collegian to Be Published On September 14

This is the last issue of the Collegian during the summer session. The next Collegian will be published September 14 with a new staff in charge.

Heading the editorial staff will be Norville Gish, senior in agricultural journalism, from Manhattan. He is the first ag journalism student to edit the paper. Gish is vice president of both the agricultural association and Sigma Delta Chi, national professional fraternity for journalism men. He also belongs to Alpha Zeta, honorary ag fraternity, and is recording secretary of Blue Key, honorary senior men's fraternity.

Gish was sports editor of The Collegian this spring and has also worked for The Manhattan Mercury-Chronicle and The Tribune-News, local newspapers.

Assistant editors on the staff will be Bill Krause and Don Alexander. Krause is a senior in industrial journalism from Belleville. Before coming to Kansas State, Krause attended City College in New York two semesters. He has served two semesters on the Collegian staff, as copy desk assistant and assistant editor of the paper this summer. He is also of Sigma Delta Chi.

Don Alexander is from Junction City and is also a senior in agricultural journalism. He is treasurer of Sigma Delta Chi and a member of Alpha Zeta.

He served one semester as copy desk assistant on the Collegian and was copy desk editor this summer. He has also worked for The Manhattan Mercury-Chronicle. Other members of the staff include Charles Lyons, copy desk editor; Max McRae, Mary Alice Wolf and Ralph Arnold, copy desk assistants; and Janice Addington, society editor.

Heading the sports desk will be Neil Erdwin. Joe Henderson will be assistant sports editor. A new position, rewrite editor, will be filled by Barbara Holmes.

Business manager of the Fall Collegian will be Bill Mall, senior in industrial journalism from Manhattan. Mall served as assistant business manager two semesters and as an advertising salesman one semester. He is also a member of Sigma Delta Chi. Assistant business manager will be Clyde Osburn, senior in industrial journalism from Salina.

Published by the students at the Kansas State College of Agriculture and Applied Science each Tuesday and Friday.

Entered as second-class matter at the post-office, Manhattan, Kansas.

We've Had It, Bud

This is the last issue of the Summer School Collegian. Believe it or not, we regret it. When the summer began, we started counting the days 'til it would be over. Now we wish that we had at least one more issue to print.

Of course the nice thing would be to graduate, get a diploma, and THEN print one more issue.

Several things contribute to our desire. One of these is this business of student voting in the forthcoming elections. The situation stinks to high heaven. The idea of forcing students—many of whom have no transportation—to vote in a school house a quarter-of-a-mile north of someplace-or-other, out in the woods, is really a beauty. It doesn't seem very democratic. (We've heard rumors that it wasn't, but that's beside the point.) So the parties get busy and furnish free bus service. So the student is obligated before he reaches the poll. Fine.

—And it does seem that in a city where there are two college students for every three permanent residents, that at least ONE city official should be able to tell the students quickly and accurately, WHERE, WHEN, and HOW to register.

Of course a lot of the blame for this situation is at home right here on the campus. In the office of the Collegian and in the homes of every individual student. In the past there has never been enough interest in elections to move the proper officials to look up the data on registration. This is OUR fault.

As we said, this is the last issue of the summer school Collegian. So we're not going to get all worked up about voting or anything else. It's too hot.

Putting out the weekly issues of your summer paper has been a lot of fun. We have enjoyed it. We have learned much in accomplishing it. Much of the paper has been staff written. We have got (H. W. Davis says never use "gotten") along with only three reporters enrolled in Industrial Writing, where during the normal school year there are more than forty.

Assistant editors Darrell Cowell, Bill

Krause and Copy Desk Editor Don Alexander have turned in numerous and lengthy stories for every issue. All this in addition to their regular duties in the office. Mae Weaver has done many of the feature stories, as well as the "Scouting the Campus" column throughout the summer. Duane Patterson and Joan Argabright have filled the sports and society pages almost without assistance.

Business manager Clyde Osburn, his assistant Lee Keck and ad salesman Jack Wise have done an exceptional job in raking up the necessary finance for your newspaper. Feature stories by student reporters have been by-lined individually. All of the crew has done a wonderful job. Otherwise we would never have had a paper with the limited number who have worked on it. (We really should give thanks, too, to the News Bureau. We've "stolen" a good bit of their copy.) But it's all been fun. We've enjoyed it.

As we said, this is the last issue of the Collegian. So we're not going to write an editorial and get all worked up about anything. In fact, why write one at all? Let the picture on the front page represent our editorial. That's us—always the easy way out.

Enjoy your vacation. —R. W. S.

Your GUEST COLUMNIST

By DR. MAURICE WOOLF

(Ed. Note: Doctor Woolf is head of the K-State Counseling Bureau.)

"I didn't like the 80th Congress and when I get out of college I'm going to do something about it," said a 24-year-old veteran. This student felt that as long as he was in college he was in an artificial protected environment apart from the real world. Do we unintentionally create the feeling in students that life really begins after College—that they can't start living as citizens exercising their full rights—that while in college they should do as they are told in class and out and not raise too many questions?

Pace at Minnesota University made a survey showing less participation in civic affairs on the part of college graduates than by high school graduates. Is there something about the structure of our curricula or extra-curricula that causes students to take a four-year vacation from civic and political responsibility? What causes the deterioration in motivation during the college years?

Motivation usually deteriorates when there is little or no reward or delayed reward for acting in a certain way. Perhaps we need to look over our courses and extra-class program to see which lend themselves to group action, where participation pays off in good times, raised prestige, feelings of belongingness, intellectual exercise of a creative nature, better government and government services for the individual, and a sense of making a contribution to group welfare.

SCOUTING the CAMPUS

Maybe Monday and Tuesday were too hot for students to think of either constructive suggestions or gripes about the various phases of campus life here at Kansas State. At any rate, many of the students questioned about what recommendations they would like to see made at the Student Planning Conference at Camp Wood August 31 to September 2 couldn't think of anything wrong with the status quo here. Several students ventured some suggestions:

GUY ALLEN, journalism junior: "We need to change the name of the Student Union to Student-Faculty Union, so faculty members won't feel they have no business in there. Also, Calvin Lounge should be the place for the music department's Noon Day Record Hour, since Rec Center is so noisy with people shuffling in and out that a student who really wants to hear the music can't. My third suggestion is that a drive should be started to eliminate social fraternities and sororities at K-State."

L. V. BAKER, senior in dietetics: "We need to eliminate the 'pig trails' over the campus and keep this campus free of scattered paper wrappings, cigarette butts, and the like."

A GRAD STUDENT WHO IS ALSO AN INSTRUCTOR: "The teacher evaluation system should be continued every semester. These evaluations bring out what every teacher should know about himself; they can be analyzed to point out to the instructor things he doesn't realize about himself. Lots of instructors who have received poor grades on them say that the evaluations are of limited value. However, if we really want to improve the quality of our instruction, we should be appraised by the students regularly, just as we grade them."

ROBERT HUGHES, graduate in music: "We need a new Auditorium. The entire music department should be housed in that Auditorium so that heavy musical instruments can be located there permanently."

JACK MCINTYRE, physical science senior: "A better intramural program would benefit more students than any of the other programs which could be devised. Students on the intramural committee at camp should work hard to work out a more inclusive plan for intramural sports. Also, the student-faculty teas should be continued, since it gives students an opportunity to get better acquainted with faculty members they like, and vice versa."

MAUDE DANIELS, senior in arts and sciences: "I wish that the summer term would get started earlier, so we could have more time for vacation before the fall semester begins, and to do work we must accomplish before school starts."

CARL JOHNSON, physical science senior: "The enrollment plan should be improved. I hate this standing in line. We need a pre-enrollment system here to take care of all the details."

MARTIN CURRIER and BILL NOYCE, architectural engineering seniors: "We're going to let those younger fellows figure out what improvements should be made around here, since we're graduating this summer. We'd like to see a decent Student Union and a Field House before too long though."

H. E. BOOK, chemical engineering senior: "I have no gripes about K-State, so no suggestions for improvement, either."

TOM WALKER, citizenship senior: "The SPC group should push the general education curriculum the Arts and Sciences faculty tentatively tabled; eliminate the policy of compulsory attendance at classes, as all the big, really good schools have done. An optional attendance system will make for self-responsibility among the students, 'filter out the chaff' and stop this paternalistic attitude of the College. The Greek system has to be crashed some way. It is the responsibility of the faculty members and College authorities to get rid of this system, which generates class and preferential thinking. There is too much faculty support for the Greek system—Independent students and other faculty members so far can't get anywhere in trying to break down the lines between Greek and Independent students."

R. B. Hamilton, chemical engineering senior: "Since we chem engineers are located here in our own little corner of the campus and don't care what happens to the rest of the campus, we don't care what proposals the SPC makes."

alism department, one of the two accredited in the state, probably will get part of the scholarship winners, college officials indicated here yesterday.

Prof. Conover, editor of the Kansas Magazine and a member of the College English staff, spoke at the Saturday meeting.

Milling Division Takes 37 Tyros

Thirty-seven undergraduate students have been admitted to the department of milling industry for the fall semester. R. I. Throckmorton, dean of the agriculture school, announced today.

Eighteen were admitted to the curriculum in milling administration; 13 in milling technology, and six in milling chemistry. They, with graduate students, will bring total enrollment in the department to 135. J. A. Shellenberger, department head, said.

All applicants with satisfactory past grades were admitted for study, Shellenberger said. Students admitted to milling administration are Russell Baker, Robert Clark, Roland Doyle, James Farnen, Richard Hackney, Robert Hanlon, Morris Clark, Frank Huddleston, Hart A. King, Wayne A. Lawrence, Donald McKee, Glen Elynn, Jack Nightengale, William Norris, Forrest Pierce, Donald Rockers, Richard Walters, Phil Wisenberger, and James E. Whiffeld.

New milling chemistry students will be John Amstutz, Bruce Detter, Stanley Funston, John Konecny, James Mills, and David Ward.

Milling technology beginners will be Verlin Deutscher, Earl Fichner, Edwin Galle, John Jackman, Bedford Knipschild, James Libby, Clair Risser, Clarence Mauman, Wallace Odden, Derald C. Raines, Stephen Taylor, Charles Stuart Thompson, and Ingenior Malcolm Turnqvist.

Low Meal Prices

unified appearance or it doesn't sell."

It is estimated that approximately 60 percent of the students purchase meal tickets. This is a 100 percent convenience for the patron as far as the cafeteria is concerned, for the process of finding and punching each meal ticket separately is far more laborious and time consuming than accepting bills and counting out small change.

Careful Dishwashers Concerning the dumb-waiter system and the dishwashing process, Mrs. West explained that at the bottom of the two continuously revolving dumbwaiters there is an efficient and organized dish-washing room, working full time. The breakage of dishes is unusually low, approximately 1-4 of 1 percent, even though some of the patrons do manage to send down their trays faster than usual by forgetting to hook them on the lugs of the dumb-waiter belt.

Silverware Vanishes Disappearance of the cafeteria silver is another disturbing expenditure, according to Mrs. West. A total of 3,070 pieces were missing at the end of this last year. "Many customers, who wouldn't attempt to take money from the cash register, calmly walk out with some or all of their utensils. They seem to think that no one will notice a few missing pieces," she said.

The cafeteria and management willingly accept criticisms from the customers and try to enforce such rules and practices as will remedy the apparent faults but, she noted, the customer is sometimes at fault himself. Customers have a tendency to lean on trays, finger bread and eating utensils, and measure food servings, thus, the affair of open criticism is two-sided.

Mrs. West observed that the veterans tend to select better balanced meals than either the girls or the younger men students who were not in the service.

Baptists Talk, Eat

Issues involved in the coming elections will be the discussion topic at the First Baptist College Fellowship meeting this Sunday at 5:30 p. m. in the church basement, announces Miriam Adams, president.

This Friday evening the group will attend the annual Baptist Church picnic in the south end of the City Park. "Members need only to bring a basket lunch—the church will furnish ice cream and lemonade," Miss Adams said.

Writes Mag. Article

Kay Siron is author of an article in the current issue of Midwestern Drugist Magazine. The article is a personality sketch of a long-time Pleasanton drugist. Siron, a journalism student, prepared the article as an assignment in magazine writing class at the College.

Dance Error

The last free all-College dance will be this Friday, July 30 from 9 to 12 p. m. on the concrete tennis courts, states Loren Haynes, dance chairman. Announcement of the dance was placed in last week's Collegian by mistake.

The dance will be informal, Haynes says. Matt Betton and his orchestra will furnish music and special entertainment will be provided.

Editor Gets First Seaton Scholarship

Ralph W. Salisbury, a junior in industrial journalism and editor of this summer's Collegian, will receive the first annual Fay N. Seaton scholarship for students of journalism at the College. Announcement of the award was made by Ralph R. Lashbrook, head of the department, after the selection had been made by the journalism faculty and approved by President Milton S. Eisenhower.

Salisbury was assistant editor of the 1948 Royal Purple is editor of the 1949 yearbook.

The $150 scholarship is made possible through income derived from gifts totaling $6,000 by Fay N. Seaton, publisher of the Manhattan Mercury-Chronicle and other newspapers in several mid-western states.

Salisbury will be a laboratory assistant in the department of journalism during the coming school year. He will process film and make photographic prints for the department, including News Bureau and sports publicity activities.

G. I. Insurance

The deadline for reinstating G. I. insurance is July 31, according to Verne L. Kelley, contact representative.

Any veteran who has allowed his insurance to lapse may have it put back in force in the same or a lesser amount by paying two premiums on the amount that he decides to re-instate. After the July 31 deadline, the government insurance may still be put back into effect but a physical examination will be necessary.

Kelley will be in the Veterans Guidance Center tomorrow to help any veteran who desires to have his lapsed policy re-instated.

Hen Peck Order May Get in Life

Life magazine may use a four-page pictorial essay on the social order of chickens in an early issue, possibly this week, according to A. M. Guhl, associate professor of zoology at Kansas State College.

Final draft of the pictorial essay was checked last week with Professor Guhl who has been studying the social order of chickens as a project of the Kansas State Agricultural Experiment Station here.

Life photographers Wallace Kirkland spent seven days taking pictures at the College poultry farm in May and three days in June. He exposed some 600 negatives from which selections were made for the magazine article, Guhl said.

At times Kirkland shot three cameras simultaneously. He was assisted during his assignment at the College by Richard Eaton, graduate student in poultry husbandry. Eaton is Guhl's assistant in the poultry experiment.

While in Manhattan Kirkland also took pictures of the Little Gobi Desert, and of Prof. L. F. Payne's hen peacock which grew plumage like a male peacock following injections of male hormone.

Eisenhower to Go Abroad This Fall

President Milton S. Eisenhower has been designated deputy chairman of the United States delegation to the General Conference of UNESCO, to be held at Beirut, Lebanon, October 18 to November 10, according to word received at the College from the Department of State this week.

Accompanying Pres. Eisenhower as his assistant will be Kenneth S. Davis, who has served as special assistant to the president for the past year. Both men will attend a special meeting of representatives of national commissions for UNESCO, in Beirut October 15 and 16. Eisenhower is chairman of the U. S. National Commission for UNESCO.

The delegation will sail on the Queen Elizabeth from New York and fly to Beirut from London.

The General Conference is the annual legislative meeting of official representatives of the 40 member nations of UNESCO. Chairman of the American delegation is George V. Allen, Assistant Secretary of State for Public Affairs. Among the 10 representatives will be Luther Evans, Librarian of Congress; Mrs. Anne O'Hare McCormick of the New York Times; and Frank Capra, the Hollywood motion picture director.

Among the 13 advisors to the delegation will be Kermit Eby, who spoke at the College's Labor-Management Conference last spring. Eby is director of education and research for the CIO and is a member of the executive committee of the National Commission.

KPWA Scholarships

A woman student will receive a scholarship to attend one of the state schools of journalism, it was decided at the Kansas Press Woman's Association meeting in Topeka Saturday.

Kansas State College's journalism department, one of the two accredited in the state, probably will get part of the scholarship winners, college officials indicated here yesterday.

Prof. Conover, editor of the Kansas Magazine and a member of the College English staff, spoke at the Saturday meeting.

No Limitations

Dean R. C. Maloney, assignment officer, has announced that there will be no limitations placed upon admission to the Auditorium for commencement. Any student may have as many of his family or friends attend as he wishes, Dean Maloney said.

Approximately 231 seats will be reserved for graduating seniors and 150 for the faculty. The remainder of the seats are open to the public. Tickets will not be required for admission, he said.

alism department, one of the two accredited in the state, probably will get part of the scholarship winners, college officials indicated here yesterday.

Graham To Count On Young Huskies

Some 60 odd varsity football candidates will report to Head Coach Ralph Graham and his staff on September 1. Assisting Graham will be Emmett Breen, backfield coach, John Crawley, line coach and Paul Walker, end tutor. From performances during spring practice, the new staff expects sophomore newcomers to fill plenty of spots on the varsity. About 40 of the youngsters will get their indoctrination into Big Seven competition this fall.

End candidates are headed by lettermen Larry King, three years, and Galen Christiansen, one year. On hand to make the flank picture specially rosy are four sophomore giants. Dick Johnson, an all-state high school player at Lawrence and all-stater Glenn Channell, just up from the frosh team look like first string material to Graham. Kenny Hartung, 185 pounds, 6-1 and Jim Robb, 195 pounder are counted on for heavy duty.

Three veteran tackles will report back. Ed McNeil, three year letter winner; Verne Converse, with two years of competition and LeRoy Dawson, another two-year man will be seeking team berths. Off the frosh team will come Cliff Zumbault, 205 pounds, 6'; Loren Paul, 210, 6'; and Bob Maurer, 230, 6-3.

Guard Material Thin
The Wildcat guard situation looms as the big question mark. Crawley has but two one-year lettermen to use as a nucleus for this position. Ray Romero and Sam Muscolino are the two last year men. The newcomers listed as "most likely" are Tony McMin, 175 pounds, 5-9; Talton Pace, 195, 6'; Paul Marshall, 175, 5-10; and John Goff, 180, 5-7.

John Conley, a two-year letterman, tops the list of pivot hopefuls. His relief will be made up of Grover Nutt, one letter, and newcomers Walter Gehlbach and Duane Schimmer.

Graham has three letterman halfbacks returning. This list is headed by Dana Atkins, a fiery little two-year man. Then there are Gale Lehman from last year's team and Ross Estes, a 1945 monogram winner. Outstanding new talent at the halfback slots are Gene Ackerman, Jerry Bogue, Lou DeBord, Bill Korb, Carl Lemmon, Leon Rons and Bob Shepler. DeBord at 180 pounds is the heaviest of this lot. Ackerman and Lemmon displayed speed, shiftness and a fine sense of change of pace during their freshman stint.

Bryan Heads Backs
Harold Bryan, 1947 captain, heads the list of fullback prospects. He has two years of experience and is credited as a great runner, blocker and defensive man. Another fullback with varsity experience is Kenny Johnston. Johnston has not lettered in two seasons of play because of injuries. He is a ferocious runner and hard to bring down. If he can shake the sick list he will see plenty of action.

Harold Bryan, who was elected honorary captain by his teammates following the 1947 football season, will be on hand for his third year of Wildcat football. Bryan is heralded as a top defensive man, good blocker and punter. This season, he is expected to carry a big load of Coach Ralph Graham's single wing offense. The system is not new to Bryan as he gained all-state recognition at Needesha high school where they used the single wing.

Formation Fits Husky Harold's Talents And Bolts Him In As Grid Machine Cog

One of the big thrusts in Coach Ralph Graham's single wing offense this season will be Harold Bryan, husky Needesha fullback. The formation is built for runners of the Bryan type. He is big and powerful but lacks the speed necessary for a good T formation back.

The single wing system is Bryan's favorite. He played it four years at Needesha high school. He culminated his prep career by captaining the team and making all-state honors his senior year.

Leaving high school in 1944 with his football reputation, Bryan headed for Tulsa and the fulfillment of a scholarship. His days were numbered at Tulsa by impending military service. He was inducted before getting a chance to wear the black and gold in competition.

Two home town buddies persuaded Harold to resume his education at Kansas State after he was released from military duty. Although he liked Tulsa fine, Harold weighed its scholastic opportunities with those of K-State and decided to come to Aggie land. He has never regretted the decision. His grades have been above average and he will be a senior in physical education this fall.

A Halfback Before
In 1946 Hobbs Adams made Bryan a halfback in his T formation. Last season Sam Francis replayed him there. A great defensive back and "cut 'em down" blocker, Bryan never has gotten to show the full potential of his offensive ability under the T formation. His teammates and Graham look for him to have a great running year this season while operating from the number 2 slot on the single wing.

Last season, Bryan was the workhorse of the Wildcat backfield. He did a large portion of the punting and was a stalwart on defense. Against Texas School of Mines last season, he kicked five times for an average of 36 yards, a performance he is proud of. He finished the season as the fourth best kicker in the loop. He was seventh in pass catching and first in kickoff returns in conference play. He was honored at the end of the season by being elected captain.

"He had the best pass completion average in the conference," one of Bryan's teammates laughed. Fans will remember the pass play that went from Bryan to Branch for a touchdown against Oklahoma last season. It was Coach Francis' "dream play" and was the only time Bryan threw a ball in play that season.

College Ball Tougher
Bryan never missed a game in high school because of injuries. In fact, he never was hurt playing football until he joined the college ranks. He's got a funny laugh for an answer when you ask him if college ball is rougher than high school play. Against Oklahoma in 1946, Bryan was running a tackle slant play when a blocker missed the tackle and the big defensive man hit him under the chin. He lost the ball and started crawling dizzily for the sideline. Coach Adams held up two fingers, asked Bryan to count them and when he got the right answer said, "Get back in there."

Aggies Roll on; Have 5 - 2 Record

K-State's unofficial summer baseball team, the Manhattan Aggies, is doing nothing to bring wrinkles of worry to the brows of local baseball enthusiasts. The season so far has seen the college boys come out on the long end of the score in all but two cases. In the win column they have posted five victories.

The team was formed by former Wildcat squad members to insure some recreation for the summer months. The infield is composed of Don Nelson and Rufe Dickens at first base, Jack Nelson on second, Larry Blazer in the shortstop's hole and Al Sheriff, who contributed the time and effort which started the enterprise going, holding down third sack.

In the outfield is Gabe Bartley, Bobby Ives and "Doc" Hoarman, one of the three non-collegians on the roster. Pitching assignments go to Bill Springer, Gordon Burns, and Ray Henton, and the catching duties are divided by Lou Norris and an old-timer, Jesse Baker. Clint Davis has been doing utility duty while his injured leg has been healing.

The team was formed too late to enter any league, so the boys have been taking on all comers. They have beaten Cleburne, Westmoreland twice, Alta Vista, and Fort Riley. Their losses have been at the bats of Smoky Hill Army Air Base and Louisville.

The schedule of the remaining season is quite tentative, since any number of factors can change the picture. They are planning however, to continue playing the game as long as opponents can be found and as long as they can garner enough finances for equipment.

In the event the P.E.M.'s and the "Cubs" finish in a deadlock in the final standing, the playoff game will be held Saturday night, July 31st, at 7:30, on the City Park diamond. It will be preliminary to the Manhattan All-Star girls' game. Both teams have one game left. The "Cubs" met the "Outlaws" last night, but the results were not available by Collegian press time. The P.E.M.'s are scheduled to meet the T.K.E.'s tonight.

Tennis Tourney
Guy Allen won the finals of the upper bracket by virtue of a win over Duane Wallace. It took three sets to decide the "championship"—(5-7) (6-3) (6-2).
In the semi-finals Allen defeated William Brown (8-6) (4-6) (6-3).
Brown went into the semi-finals by winning over Murlin Nutter (6-1) (6-2) and Bob Allen won over Sidney Branson (6-0) (6-0).

AT STATE

It's very easy to make a mistake, some make one with the courses they take. Sometimes there is a lot to lose, like when you go wrong with the wife you choose. Usually, though, a fellow's forgiven, and it seldom costs a man his livin'. But the very worst plight I've ever been in, is when I committed the journalist's worst sin. Lastweek I said there were three Collegians to come, when really there was only one. Anyway I must admit—this is the last, and I'm glad of it!

Alpha Delta Pi entertained rushes at a beach party Saturday morning at the Municipal swimming pool which was reserved for the occasion. Following the swim, luncheon was served at the KDR Dining Room to 50 guests and sorority members. Decorations for the luncheon also carried out the beach party theme.

The annual picnic of Farm House was at the City Park Sunday. The group went to a local dining room Saturday night for an informal dinner and dance.

During the picnic, Clifford Houghton, Farm House member from Tipton, and Bernice Lehman, sophomore from Enterprise, announced their engagement with cigars and chocolates. They have not yet announced a wedding date.

The Sig Alphas went to a rush party in Wichita Saturday night. About 30 men, including alumni, students, and guests were present at the Yentroue Lodge, where the party was held.

Chocolates at the Arcadia House Sunday, announced the engagement of Mary Mellenbruch, of Topeka, and Jim Brown, of Manhattan. Mary is a senior in home economics and Jim is a sophomore in milling. They have not set the wedding date.

The active and alumni members of Alpha Xi Delta sorority entertained 17 rushee guests at their Ranch House Jamboree Saturday, July 10, at the Colt Corral. Saturday evening, the guests were entertained with an outdoor meal. The main dish, individually fried hamburgers, was prepared in the barbecue oven in individual containers. The latter part of the evening was spent playing cards and singing.

Sunday morning, guests received miniature felt cowboy hats as favors.

The Tri Deltas had their summer rush party, Friday night. The time was 6 p. m., the place was at the Delta Delta Delta House, and the occasion was a circus. More than 40 women, including members, alumni members and rushees were present. After a dinner, a one ring performance took place in the living room. The latter part of the evening was spent on the side porch singing traditional songs.

Ruth Fenton, daughter of Prof. and Mrs. F. C. Fenton, and John Woolsey, of Woodland, Calif., will be married this fall.

Ruth is a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma, Omicron Nu, Kappa Phi, and Mortar Board. She graduated in 1947, and will do graduate work this fall. She spent last summer at College Cevalon, Haute Loire, France, as dietitian for an international student group work. For the past two years she has taught Dickinson Co. High School.

John is a member of Blue Key, was on the student council last year, is president of Kansas Junior AVMA, and will be a senior in Vet Medicine this fall.

Alpha Chi Omega held a garden party in the backyard of Mrs. John Helm's home Saturday evening. A buffet supper was served and singing followed. Favors were dolls dressed in old fashioned sun bonnets and long dresses carrying banners inscribed with the Greek letters.

Bob Mason, a member of Farm House, and Leona Phipps, from Belle Plaine, will be married next Sunday at 6 p. m. Bob will be back in school next spring and will graduate at the end of the semester. He is from Wellington. Leona is a graduate nurse, from the Kansas City School of Nursing.

Members of Sigma Nu fraternity, and 25 Manhattan rushees, had a picnic at Sunset Park Saturday night. During the evening, the group listened to the war experiences of Paul La Croix. Later, the men went to the ball game or the picture show.

Two smooch lines added interest to the Sig Ep summer party Saturday night. Harold Hower, Kansas State basketball star from Kansas City, passed cigars announcing his of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Keller, 47C Hilltop Court. He was born July 22.

Mr. and Mrs. Emery Castle, 917 Fremont, have named their girl Cheryl Diana. She was born July 23.

Phillip Burns is still in the hospital this week. Bruce Duns-moor, a junior from Almena, and Francis Walters, a sophomore from Manhattan, are also in the student hospital.

Martha Miller was released Sunday from the St. Mary's Hospital. She is a junior from Dodge City.

Clarinet Music To Be Published

The unpublished clarinet quartet by George Keith, music instructor at La Crosse which was played at the summer school chamber music recital in the College Auditorium Sunday soon will be published, according to Luther Leavengood, music department head at the College.

Keith has word from Bossey and Hawkes, publishers, that they will bring it out soon, Leavengood said.

It will be the ninth small instrument ensemble Keith has had published. He studied under C. Hugo Grimm at Cincinnati Conservatory where he earned the Master of Music degree. He also studied under Ferde Grofe at the Juillard School of Music in New York City. Seven of his compositions are listed in the new Interlochen List and on the national list of required music.

Keith was in the audience Sunday when his composition was played by the K-State group.

Cereal Chemists Plan Meeting Here

Four sections of the American Association of Cereal Chemists will meet on the campus October 15 and 16, according to J. A. Shellenberger, milling department head.

The four sections are Lone Star, Nebraska, Kansas City and Pioneer.

Tentative program for the conference includes talks on association affairs by W. L. Haley, president of the national association; bread staling by W. F. Geddes, chief of the agricultural bio-chemistry division at the University of Minnesota; recent advances in carbohydrate chemistry by Dr. Eric Kneen of the Kurth Maltng Company, Milwaukee; development of rancidity by Dr. Fred Kummrow, chemistry professor at Kansas State.

Conduct School

Three Kansas State College experiment specialists, Lot Taylor, Ray Noss and Carl Eling, will conduct a 4-H Livestock Judging School near Council Grove August 5 and 6. It was announced by the College extension division today.

The school is for boys 14 years of age or older. Three outstanding 4-H boys from the school will compete later at a state livestock judging contest.

Senior Dinner Tickets Ready to Give Out

Only one-third of the Senior Dinner tickets have been distributed, according to Bonnie Woods, of the alumni office. All candidates for degrees this summer are eligible for tickets and should pick them up in the alumni office before Saturday noon.

The dinner will be given in the upstairs of Thompson Hall at 6 p. m., Friday, August 6. As precautions against warm weather, fans will be provided and a cool, tempting menu has been planned by Merna Miller, associate professor of institutional management.

The program will be short, informal talks by Kenney L. Ford, executive alumni secretary, and four graduating students. Beatrice Tuggle, HE; Norman Woolgar, ME; Fletcher Riggs, Ag, and Richard C. Maloney, master's degree in A and S, representing each school to award degrees this summer, will give their views on the alumnus' responsibilities to his alma mater.

Educators Display Audio-Visual Aids

Students and educators interested in audio-visual education methods will have an opportunity to see an exhibit of modern tools used in that field here next week, according to H. Leigh Baker, education department head.

The education department is planning the exhibits for persons taking the three-weeks workshop course, Audio-Visual Aids in Instruction. It will be located on the ground floor of the education building all next week. Persons interested may visit the exhibit at their convenience, Dr. Baker said.

The exhibit will include movies, film strips, an opaque projector, a micro projector and other educational aids.

Applies for Housing

The College has filed formal application for the transfer of all Public Housing Authority housing to the College. A. Thornton Edwards, housing director, announced today.

The McGregor Act, passed by the 80th Congress, permits PHA to transfer the property to colleges without cost, Edwards explained.

Language Prof Returns From South America

Dorothy Pettis, professor in modern languages, is on her way home from South America after spending almost two years in that country.

K-Staters who are interested in modern languages are happy over the news that Miss Pettis will be back teaching this fall.

According to Dr. Fritz Moore, head of the department of modern languages, many students have put off taking their language requirements in hopes of being able to enroll in Miss Pettis's classes upon her return.

On Sabbatical Leave

Miss Pettis has been on sabbatical leave visiting South America and teaching in Colegio Americano, in Santiago, Chile—a school attended by girls from all parts of South America.

She left the United States for South America in October 1946, after many delays in her sailing plans. She visited various South American ports before arriving at Buenos Aires, in Argentina where she disembarked. Her trip inland presented to her various exciting incidents. She has seen several South American rodeos.

Spending several years in foreign countries, Miss Pettis has studied Spanish at the University of Mexico City, and French for three years in and around Paris. She teaches both French and Spanish at Kansas State.

Leaders Entertain

During her visits to these foreign countries she has had the privilege of being entertained in the homes of some of the leaders in the literary, political, social and economic life of the various countries.

According to Professor Moore there may be some changes in the Spanish curriculum offered in the near future. "We do not anticipate," he said, "any shift or revision in the Spanish department until after we have had the opportunity of discussing the suggestions and ideas Miss Pettis will undoubtedly bring back from South America."

Back From Jungle

Leonard Redlinger, instructor in entomology, returned recently from Peru, S. A., where he had been collecting insects for several museums and other firms in the United States.

Redlinger returned earlier than he had planned to work for the Agricultural Bureau of Entomology and Plant Quarantine, Emilio Viale, Peruvian graduate student at the College, and Redlinger's brother continued on the jungle trip. They planned to go to the Amazon river and across the Peruvian jungle before returning to Manhattan early in September.

Redlinger went with the expedition through Panama, Columbia, Ecuador and into Peru before leaving to return here.

New Job for Smith

Jack H. Smith has accepted a position as assistant advertising manager of Kansas Power and Light company in Topeka, it has been announced at the College.

Smith was graduated in industrial journalism at the College last spring. He was editor of the Lyons Daily News several months following graduation. He was advertising manager of the same newspaper when he accepted the Topeka position.
